Foreign Ministers Hold Brief Talk; Another Set

Paris, July 1 (AP)—The Foreign Ministers of Russia, Britain and France discussed Secretary of State Marshall's proposal for American aid to Europe for an hour and a half today, and French sources said there would be another meeting tomorrow afternoon.

Earlier there was speculation that today's session—their fourth—might be the last, since Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov has virtually vetoed Marshall's suggestion.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Minister Georges Bidault were reported ready to proceed in continental economic planning without the Soviet Union if the conference does end in a deadlock.

Bidault Compromise

Bidault, in an attempt to save the conference, will offer a compromise proposal, the French Press Agency said earlier. Terms of the proposal were not disclosed.

Both British and French circles said "only a miracle" could save the conference from failure.

Today's session was the shortest since the conference convened.

Spokesmen for the British delegation scheduled a news conference at which developments were expected to be announced. The French summoned newsmen for a meeting at the same time.

Informed sources said that both Bevin and Bidault last night termed the proposal of Molotov unacceptable but, at the Russian Minister's request, agreed to seek further advice from their governments.

Request To French Cabinet

French sources had predicted that Bidault would ask the French Cabinet in a meeting today for permission—which probably would be given—to proceed on the basis of Marshall's offer without Soviet participation.

The scheduled meeting was called off, however, because Premier Paul Ramadier could not be present. Debate began in the National Assembly on the Government's economic policies, and Ramadier went there.

Bevin had already declared that Britain would carry on without Russia, if necessary.

Three-Hour Session

Molotov was reported to have made his latest statement near the end of a three-hour session late yesterday.

Informed sources said he proposed a committee setup to find out how much each European nation would need and how much the United States would supply.

They reported that Bevin and Bidault, on the other hand, declared that Europe should draw up a balance sheet of her resources, as well as needs, and adopt a program for employing these resources so as to cut the necessity for outside aid to a minimum.

"Blank Check"

French quarters interpreted Molotov's plan as meaning that the United States would have to pledge a definite amount without knowing where or how it would be used. Bevin was quoted as implying that this would be equivalent to asking for a "blank check."

Molotov was reported to have suggested a three-power general "relief committee" to be augmented by "certain other" nations and assisted by three subcommittees on food, power and machinery. These groups would represent Britain, France, Russia and two other nations.

"Suffered Most"

The two other nations, Molotov was said to have proposed, should be those which had suffered most from Nazi occupation; under this condition, White Russia, the Ukraine, Poland and Yugoslavia might be considered to be in the running.

PARIS CONFERENCE IS GIVEN REPRIEVE

France Offers Compromise Plan, Demands Prompt Answer by Reds.

PARIS, July 1—(AP) France gave the three-power foreign ministers' conference a 24-hour reprieve late today by offering a last-minute compromise proposal on European recovery which averted for the moment, at least, a collapse of the conversations.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said the new offer represented France's final position in the three-power efforts to implement the aid-Europe plan of U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

Both Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin pressed for a prompt answer from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov—French quarters reported—and put the French proposition up to Molotov on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

Compromise Offered

Bidault advanced his proposals as a compromise measure designed to meet Russian objections against "interference" in national internal affairs, and appealed to Molotov for conciliation to salvage the aid-Europe conference.

British and French sources said Molotov insisted on a full day's recess to permit him to study the French propositions. Bidault at first demanded a decision today, but Molotov said the usual practice was to allow time for study.

The session, accordingly, was adjourned after only one hour and 40 minutes. The ministers agreed to meet Wednesday afternoon, but there was no promise that the deadlock might be broken.

Bevin was said by British and French sources to have insisted that Molotov bring in a definite "yes" or "no" answer tomorrow. Molotov, however, declined to commit himself.

British circles tonight were pessimistic and French sources predicted that tomorrow would be the conference's last session. Only an hour before Bidault spoke, French quarters had predicted a sudden end at today's meeting

France Rejects Reds' Plan

Bidault, opening this afternoon's session, told Molotov that France could not accept Russia's proposal of yesterday limiting the plan to a simple declaration by European nations as to their economic needs.

He said the Soviet proposal did not provide for European self-aid and hence it would never be accepted by the United States.

Bevin spoke up in similar vein.

Bidault then [illegible] the New French proposals to establish an international cooperation committee, with six technical sub-committees, to draft a report on European resources and needs before Sept. 1.

This report, which would be the basis for aid under the Marshall plan, would be submitted "for observations" to the United Nations economic commission for Europe at Geneva. This provision seemed designed to allay Russian suspicions by giving the U.N. general supervision over the operation of the Marshall plan.

(In Geneva, Max Suetens, chairman of the International Trade Conference, said the economic commission for Europe could carry out the short-term reconstruction work under the Marshall plan and the international trade organization could handle the long-term project).

Britain Seeking Food Pacts With Hungary, Yugoslavia

LONDON, July 1—(AP) The British government is negotiating with Hungary and Yugoslavia, as well as with Russia, for large quantities of food, John Strachey, food minister, disclosed today.

Strachey said the government hoped to make agreements that would "fit in well" with the aid-Europe program of U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

He told the House of Commons that a British mission already had obtained "agreement in principle" with the Hungarian cabinet on a three-year contract covering export to Britain of bacon, eggs, poultry, lard, sunflower oil and other foodstuffs.

He added that similar negotiations were going on with Yugoslavia and said an agreement is "quite possible" within the next few weeks.

Attacked By Conservatives

Strachey made his statement in reply to conservatives who accused him of lack of foresight and urged that government bulk buying be abandoned. In announcing the negotiations with Hungary and Yugoslavia, he also touched on the British trade mission now in Moscow.

"If toleration and moderation are shown by both sides," he said, "something of great value to the economy of both countries might emerge."

Strachey linked the trade negotiations directly with the Marshall plan, declaring "it is the essence of the scheme put forward on the initiative of Mr. Marshall that Europe should help itself as a prelude to any assistance."

Meanwhile, the treasury announced tonight the signing of monetary agreements with Norway and Spain to make sterling available from current transactions freely convertible after July 15 under terms of the U. S. loan agreement.

A similar agreement with Czechoslovakia will be announced within the next few days.

The treasury also announced the signing of a payments agreement with Finland. Terms of that agreement were withheld until it is laid before parliament.

Waste Charged

The commons debate on food was opened by J. S. C. Reid, conservative, who charged that "tens of millions of dollars" had been "squandered" in buying unnecessary foods. He said Britain could have done without "a great part" of the $94,000,000 worth of food bought in the United States during the first five months of this year.

Strachey firmly defended government bulk buying of food, saying it was the only method under present conditions of assuring supplies over a long period at reasonable prices.

"There is no food crisis and there will be no food crisis between now and next harvest," he declared.

He did not say how Britain would pay for foods imported from Hungary and Yugoslavia, but presumably both countries want British machinery in exchange as Russia does.

The government announced yesterday an immediate slash in tobacco, newsprint and gasoline imports and said it would seek to place an import duty on motion pictures, most of which come from the United States. Dalton said the new "austerity" decision was necessary to conserve Britain's dwindling dollar supply.

British Reject Plea For Terrorists

London, July 1 (AP)—The British Government rejected today a move by the United Nations special committee on Palestine to halt the execution of three Irgun Zvai Leumi members convicted of terrorism.

A Foreign Office announcement also said the Government regarded the United Nations General Assembly resolution of May 15, calling for an end to all violence in Palestine, as having no bearing on "the normal processes of the administration of justice."

Both decisions, the Foreign Office said, were contained in a note handed to Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, in New York yesterday.

[At Lake Success, Lie's office said the British note would be forwarded without comment to the chairman of the United Nations Palestine Committee, Justice Emil Sandstroem, of Sweden.]

Repercussions Feared

United Nations' special investigating committee, now holding hearings in Palestine, recently sent Lie clemency appeals from the mothers of the three condemned men, who were sentenced in connection with a mass break from Acre Prison.

The committee said some of its members felt "concern" at the possible repercussions in Palestine if the men were hanged. It also referred to the May 15 anti-violence resolution by the General Assembly.

Britain's reply, made public today, said the sentences are yet to be confirmed by the British commander in chief in Palestine and, if confirmed, can be commuted by the British high commissioner.

The note added, however:

"Policy Not To Interfere"

"It is the invariable practice of his Majesty's Government not to interfere with the high commissioner's discretion whether or not to exercise this prerogative."

On the Assembly's resolution calling for cessation of all violence, the British note said: "His Majesty's Government interpret this resolution as applying to action calculated to disturb the peace in Palestine. They cannot admit its relevance to the normal processes of the administration of justice there."

Britain Seeks Europe Food

London, July 1 (AP)—Food Minister John Strachey disclosed today that Great Britain is negotiating with Hungary and Yugoslavia, as well as with Russia, for large quantities of food and has hopes of making agreements that will "fit in well" with United States Secretary of State Marshall's aid-Europe proposals.

It is the essence of the scheme put forward on the initiative of Mr. Marshall that Europe should help itself as a prelude to any assistance," Strachey told the House of Commons in a reply to Conservatives who accused him of lack of foresight and urged that Government bulk buying be abandoned.

Strachey said a British mission has obtained "agreement in principle" by the Hungarian Cabinet to a three-year contract covering export to Britain of bacon, eggs, poultry, lard, sunflower oil, and other foodstuffs. Similar negotiations, he added are going on with Yugoslavia, and an agreement is "quite possible" within the next few weeks.

Split Of Indian Army Ordered By Viceroy

London, July 1 (AP)—Viscount Mountbatten, Viceroy of India, has ordered the division of the present Indian army, navy and air force between the Union of India (Hindustan) and Pakistan, the India Office of the British Government said tonight.

Under the viceroy's order, the India office said, all military units containing a majority of Moslem personnel will be transferred to Pakistan, while units in which Moslems are in a minority will be assigned to the Union of India.

As soon as possible after August 15, the military forces will be reconstituted o na voluntary territorial basis, the India Office said, and Moslems in units serving in Hindustan will be allowed to transfer to Pakistan units, while non-Moslems in Pakistan will be allowed to join Hindustan units.

Two Convertible Currency Pacts

LONDON, July 1 (AP)—The Treasury announced tonight the signing of monetary agreements with Norway and Spain to make sterling available from current transactions freely convertible after July 15 under terms of the United States loan agreement. A similar agreement with Czechoslovakia will be signed in the next few days.

London Debates Sex Of Eros; Neuter, Says Shaftesburg

London, July 1 (AP)—The ninth Earl of Shaftesbury wrote an erudite letter to the Times today declaring authoritatively that the aluminum statue known as Eros is neither male nor female.

It's neuter, he said, and the Earl should know because he was there when Eros was unveiled in 1893 as a monument to his grandfather, the seventh Earl of Shaftesbury.

Eros is back on "its" pedestal in Piccadilly Circus after a wartime refuge in the country. Since its return last week, it has drawn throngs of delighted people.

"Shaft Being Buried"

Because Eros looks like a happy little naked man, with an arrow shaft aimed at the earth, another letter writer to the Times, one A. L. Champneys, came up with this one:

"The aluminum archer is shooting an arrow—a shaft—into the ground. The shaft is being buried, get it? Shaftes-bury."

The Earl Explains

His letter played second violin to that of the ninth Earl of Shaftesbury, however, who took umbrage to people calling the memorial a "he."

"If the figure has now become a god or something approaching an idol, I suppose the term 'he' might be correct," the 77-year-old peer wrote. "But if it remains, as intended, a figure representing Charity—of which Shaftesbury was an embodiment—being an inanimate figure, I should have thought 'it' was the more correct term."

'Black Maquis' Plan Revealed

By Mel Most

Paris, July 1 (AP)—A self-described leader of the "Black Maquis" said today in a clandestine interview that 25,000 armed men were ready to lead "a march on Paris at the appropriate moment" to establish an "anti-Communist" government.

Existence of the "Black Maquis" was disclosed yesterday by the Interior Ministry, which announced that it had arrested leaders of the movement for plotting to overthrow the Republic and establish a "military dictatorship."

In today's interview the self-described "Black Maqui" boasted:

"For every one of us they arrest there are two to take his place."

New Arrests Reported

The anonymous source talked with a reporter for five minutes on a busy corner of the Champs Elysees before disappearing down a side street.

He claimed that arrests were continuing and that "the son of an important Government official" had been taken into custody this morning.

The plotters, he said, had "no direct organizational continuity" with the old Secret Committee of Revolutionary Action (CSAR), also known as the "Cagoulards" or "hooded Ones," who were arrested on charges of plotting to overthrow the prewar Popular Front Government.

Group "Anti-German"

The self-described leader said his organization was "passionately anti-German" and was drawn "in large part from members of the resistance" during the Nazi occupation.

"Our sole object," he insisted, "is to prevent the possibility of Communist menace to French democracy. The democracy has made many mistakes, but it is up to the French people to decide their government."

The man conceded that "some members of the organizations may have been members of the CSAR at one time" but would not say whether he was one of them.

The informant would not specify where his alleged organization had its arms but said "an important center" was "the Breton Maquis—the same elements who aided your American troops to advance from Normandy." He added: "They have kept their arms."

"Some names may come out in this which will surprise all of you who followed the fight to liberate France during the war," he declared.

Summoned By Note

This reporter was summoned to the rendezvous by a note found this morning at the Associated Press office. The note, in a plain envelope, was addressed "Most" and was signed "Jean." It said: "Meet me at noon at the corner of the Triomphe and bring this note and envelope."

The note itself was surprising, since the Cafe Triomphe, which had occupied a corner of the Champs Elysees near the Associated Press office, no longer exists.

When this reporter appeared at the appointed time holding the note, the man immediately came up and took it. It could not be determined whether the man had recognized the note or the reporter. The man was unknown to this reporter, who could not recall having met him in Paris either before or since the war or at Vichy.

Earlier, Breton chapters of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's rally of the French people (RPF) took steps to purge themselves of possible unwelcome elements after an Interior Ministry assertion that "Black Maquis" plotters had tried to worm their way into the organization.

Breton Aspirations

While there was no hint of any direct connection between the RPF and the "Black Maquis," whom the Ministry accused yesterday of conspiring to overthrow the Government, RPF leaders in Brittany warned that any members of their group found in possession of weapons would be dropped from membership at once.

Breton chapters of de Gaulle's rightist organization also cautioned their members against persons who represented themselves as coming from RPF headquarters with promise of arms.

First official disclosure yesterday cerning the "Black Maqui" plot indicated it was centered in Brittany, many of whose people—clashing with the rest of France on linguistic and cultural grounds—long have nourished aspirations of independence which make the area a fertile field for sowers of dissension.

Probe Is Pressed

Rumors swept the Breton, Peninsula last night of new ramifications of the plot, with the reported discovery of tentacles of the conspiracy in numerous villages, but none of the reports were confirmed by police.

Meanwhile—with alleged leaders of the "Black Maquis" languishing in prison — Interior Minister Edouard Depreux promised to push a six-month-old investigation into the plot to a conclusion, no matter whom it may involve.

He hinted at the possibility of further sensational developments.

French Arrest Air Officer In 'Marquis' Plot Roundup

PARIS, July 1 — (AP) The National security police said today a conspirators' plot to seize all of France's military airports and her fighter and bombing planes had been smashed.

The plot evidently was part of an over-all plan by a right wing underground organization which called itself the Black Maquis to overthrow the Fourth Republic by civil war next month and establish a military dictatorship. The government announced yesterday the Black Maquis' plan had been thwarted.

Air Captain Arrested

The police organization's general information bureau said Capt. Roger Prat of the French Air Force had been arrested in connection with the military airport plot. At a given signal, the police said, many members of the air force would attempt to seize the flying fields.

As the security police ranged through France seeking to capture conspirators involved in the revolutionary conspiracy, it was announced that Claude Chauvel, 20-year-old son of the secretary-general of the foreign affairs ministry, had been arrested.

Two other men, the police said, were arrested on charges of soliciting funds for the conspirators, while a warrant was issued for Count Aurouet De Merwels, described as "one of the principal members" of the revolutionary group.

Earlier, a man who described himself as a leader in the attempt to establish an "anti-Communist" government in France said in an interview that 25,000 armed men were ready to lead a "march on Paris at the appropriate moment."

The self-designated spokesman of the Black Maquis boasted the plot would not be crushed by the arrest of conspirators.

"For every one of us they arrest," he said, "there are two to take his place."

The interview took place at a busy orner of the Champs Elysees as the result of an anonymous note to this reporter. The informant was a wan-faced and partly bald, but prosperous looking man. He obviously was nervous during the 5-minute rapid-fire conversation.

He said arrests were continuing and that "the son of an important government official' had been taken into custody this morning.

This anonymous spokesman said his organization was "passionately anti-German" and "drawn in large part from members of the resistance" during the Nazi occupation. He admitted some members of the organization might be members of the old secret committee of revolutionary action, known as the "Cagoulards" or "Hooded Ones," which was charged with plotting to overthrow the pre-war Popular Front regime. He said, however, that there was "no direct organizational continuity."

Claim Anti-Red Aim

"Our sole object," the man said, "is to prevent the possibility of a Communist menace to French democracy. The democracy has made many mistakes, but it is up to the French people to decide their government."

He would not say where his organization had its arms but said "an important center" was "The Breton Maquis—the same elements who aided your American troops to advance from Normandy. They have kept their arms."

He said his group also could "count on help from the east"—apparently referring to the rightist stronghold of Alsace Lorraine.

The note asking for the rendezvous was found this morning at the entrance desk of the Associated Press office in a plain envelope addressed "Most." It said: "Meet me at the corner of the Triomphe and bring this note and envelope." It was signed "Jean."

Ramadier Policy Debate Opens

Paris, July 1 (AP)—France's National Assembly prepared today to launch a debate upon economic policy that was expected to decide the fate of Premier Paul Ramadier's non-Communist cabinet.

With sixteen speakers ready to air their views, the debate will probably last until late tomorrow, when Ramadier will ask for a vote of confidence on his wage-and-price policies. The actual balloting will undoubtedly ensue Friday.

Despite persistent newspaper reports—buttressed by statements from his own office—Ramadier denied today that he had any intention of shaking up his Cabinet to eliminate unpopular ministers. He said this at the conclusion of a conference of his Socialist party's steering committee.

Meanwhile, the nationwide bank strike went into its twelfth day, and roughly 1,000,000 metal workers were scheduled to halt work for twenty-four hours. In defiance to their unions—and, ultimately, of the Government which hafi granted them certain concessions—several thousand coal miners still refused to return to the pits.

Mexico-Spain Trade Resumption Forecast

Paris, July 1 (AP)—Resumption of trade relations between Mexico and Spain was forecast today by Jose Figueroa, representative of the Mexican Cotton Producers, who said a trade agreement had just been reached in Madrid.

He said this will be "the first time in many years that Mexican cotton has been sent directly to Spain." During the past few years American buyers have acted as the intermediary.

Figueroa also announced that Baltasar Marquez of Mexico, had arranged to send Spain 12,500 tons of Mexican chick-peas.

68 KNOWN DEAD IN ITALIAN BLAST

Munitions Ship Explodes; Others Feared Trapped in Wreckage.

ROME, July 1—(AP) Sixty-eight persons were killed and several others were believed trapped below decks today when the Italian munitions ship Panigaglia exploded at Porto Santo Stefano, near Civitavecchia, the port of Rome, the Italian news agency Ansa reported.

The 643-ton vessel was unloading munitions which she had transported from the former Italian island fortress of Pantelleria when the blast occurred.

68 Known Dead

Ansa said that 55 crew members, 12 longshoremen and the marshal of the port were known to have been killed. Rome afternoon newspapers reported that the death toll was "more than 70."

Several hours after the blast, rescue workers reported that they heard tappings in the extreme after section of the shattered vessel and divers immediately went to work with blow torches to cut their way into the hold to determine if there were any survivors.

Only four bodies had been recovered five hours after the blast, Ansa said.

Allied military sources in Rome said the Italian navy had been transferring explosives from Pantelleria to the Italian mainland under terms of the Italian peace treaty, which calls for the demilitarization of the tiny bastion situated between Sicily and Tunis.

Allied munitions experts said that much of the explosives on Pantelleria had become "unstable," and speculated that this might have caused the blast.

Ansa reported the ship was carrying 330 tons of munitions which had been loaded under the supervision of a commission of experts charged with seeing that only "safe" explosives were moved.

The news agency said the blast sank a smaller vessel, but that the one man aboard that craft escaped without injury.

The Panigaglia was built in 1923 as a navy transport but had been used by the Italian Navy in recent years as a munitions ship. It carried a crew of 61 and 3 officers.

Five crew members were located safe ashore after the explosion.

Phone Lines Damaged

Porto Santo Stefano could not be reached by telephone, and operators said the lines were damaged by the explosion.

Explosives at Pantelleria were stored in huge underground arsenals, adjacent to underground hangars, machine shops, living quarters and hospitals.

The Italians had agreed to sink "unstable" munitions at sea, and to salvage only what was of commercial value, the authorities added.

Pope Urges Help.

Vatican City, July 1 (A. P.).—Pope Pius XII declared yesterday, in receiving the credentials of J. V. P. I. Perowne, new British Minister to the Holy See, that the British have a clear conception of the problem of European reconstruction and realize that for Britain's own benefit former enemy countries must be rehabilitated.

"Fortunately," he added, "the British people are not alone in realizing this fact, not alone in their readiness to face up to its logical conclusion. Far-seeing statesmen and dispassionate thinkers in the New World, for all its vast industrial power, have brought it to be common knowledge with their people, and in many other countries, also, unbiased men are coming to admit its cogent truth."

Commission Takes Over

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 1 (AP).—The preparatory commission for the International Refugee Organization assumed responsibility today for the world's 879,000 displaced persons and refugees.

Arthur J. Altmeyer, executive secretary, announcing the action, said about 660,000 were in Germany, 129,000 in Austria, 36,000 in Italy, 30,000 in the Middle East, 12,000 in France and 12,000 in China.

He said an additional 500,000 persons who do not require maintenance must either be repatriated or resettled.

Havana Recommended For Trade Conference

Geneva, Switzerland, July 1 (AP). Max Suetens, of Belgium, said today the preparatory committee of the United Nations conference on trade and employment had decided to recommend Havana as the site for the world trade conference to be held November 21, 1947.

Suetens, chairman of the preparatory committee now in session here, told a news conference it would take about a year to adopt a charter for a ninternational trade organization but that after that the organization would be able to handle long-term reconstruction projects under the Marshall aid-Europe plan.

However, he added, "it is not up to us to interfere."

Clay Denies U. S. Asked Schacht for His Advice

STUTTGART, Germany, July 1 (AP).—General Lucius D. Clay emphatically denied today that American occupation authorities have asked the advice of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's finance minister, on how to revive Germany's shattered economy.

"Schacht's recent interrogation was only in connection with the Nuernberg war crimes trials," General Clay said in response to a news conference question. "We are not interested in his economic ideas. We certainly don't want the kind he worked out for the Nazis."

Schacht, now serving an eight-year denazification sentence, hinted broadly in a recent interview that "high American authorities" had sought his economic advice. "I sometimes think Schacht likes to hear himself talk," General Clay said.

German 'Political Ring' Seen In Weimar Knifing

Berlin, July 1 (AP)—Russian and German authorities in Thuringia today searched for possible political accomplices of a young German who was captured yesterday after he had attacked and wounded the president of Thuringia's provincial council with a knife.

The captured man was identified in dispatches of the Russian-controlled German News Agency as Heinz Andre, 28-year-old former member of the Hitler Youth. The dispatches also identified Andre as a member of the Rightist Liberal Democratic party, but headquarters of that party in Berlin said they had no knowledge of his membership.

Attacked In His Office

The attack upon the council president, August Froelich, member of the Communist-dominated Socialist Unity party, occurred in his office at Weimar.

Andre was handed over to Russian authorities and, dispatches added, "it has not yet been determined if he is affiliated with a larger political ring."

The Russian-controlled radio in Berlin reported that public demonstrations were being held in Weimar, led by Thuringian officials, demanding "the severest punishment for the assassin, his supporters and anybody who attempts to violate the growth of our new democracy."

"Disguised In Russ Uniforms"

In the province of Saxony, Russian authorities announced the arrest of an armed band of nineteen Germans whom they accused of a nine months' career of robbery and murder "while disguised in Soviet army uniforms."

A dispatch from the official Soviet News Bureau said that the gang, captured in a rural community near Halle, was found in possession of "many Soviet uniforms," five guns and 1,350 rounds of ammunition. Among the crimes charged against the group was the fatal shooting of a German policeman during a robbery on June 5.

Labor Shortage In Reich Cited

Stuttgart, Germany, July 1 (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay told minister presidents in the United States occupation zone today that a shortage of labor is becoming a major problem in the rehabilitation of Germany's economy."

The American Military Governor charged that many Germans were getting extra food rations as heavy laborers "without actually doing the work" and suggested this might account for the manpower shortage. He said the population of the United States zone is 3,000,000 more than before the war, while its industrial output is only half as great.

Cites Record Imports

Clay said a record 432,000 tons of bread grain were imported into Germany last month by the United States and Great Britain and that $15,000,000 worth of fats were purchased to bolster the slim German rations.

He told a news conference later there had been an increase recently in illegal flights of Germans from the Russian zone into western Germany, but said there was nothing about it to suggest an organized labor exodus or an effort to escape Russian military and labor drafts.

Believes It's Hunger

"I think most of these people are just hungry and hope to get more food here," he said.

He urged the minister presidents to lead their German state governments in developing a co-ordinated program with labor and business management to supply labor deficits. He told reporters there was some evidence of labor "hoarding" by some manufacturers.

REDS' JEERS HALT SULYOK'S TALK IN PARLIAMENT

BUDAPEST, July 1—(AP) The entire parliamentary membership of Dezso Sulyok's Freedom Party walked out of parliament today after shouts and jeers of Communist party members prevented the defiant Sulyok from speaking against "economic totalitarianism" which, he declared, would result from a Communist-proposed "three year plan."

During the great din created by the Communists, one of the last audible remarks of Sulyok was:

"After this, I consider freedom of speech at the Hungarian parliament as abolished and, therefore, I refrain from my right to speak."

Amid jeers and catcalls, the Communists shouted, "when are you going to flee the country?"—an apparent reference to the action of other anti-Communist leaders who fled after the Communists seized actual control of the country last month."

The Sulyok party members started for the door and Sulyok, just before passing from the room, turned and replied:

"We will still be here when you have ceased to be."

Sulyok said two weeks ago, after a freedom party meeting at Szeged had been broken up by Communists, that he would confine his opposition tactics to parliament where free speech was guaranteed and would not hold any more open meetings soon because "we don't want to start a civil war."

The three year plan is a Hungarian version of Russia's five year plan and provides for nationalization of industry, a capital levy and, to a great extent, abolition of private enterprise. Parliament passed the enacting bill.

"Once Hungary accepts this bill," Sulyok said, "then the Hungarian state management gets off the road of democracy and takes the road to economic totalitarianism, which will result in the surrender of political liberty."

Communist Jozsef Revai leaped to his feet and shouted:

"This means there is slavery in the Soviet Union. That is what you said."

Czech Group Favors Marshall Aid Plan

Prague, July 1 (AP)—A specially appointed commission, after a study of the Marshall plan, recommended today that Czechoslovakia co-operate in a program of European economic reconstruction with United States aid.

The commission voted to advise the Cabinet to authorize Foreign Minister Jan Masatyk to take action in line with the proposal of United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

Have Own Proposals

Masaryk, the commission said, should be instructed to inform the Soviet, British and French governments that Czechoslovakia is willing to co-operate fully in creating conditions for the granting of American aid.

At the right moment, it added, Masaryk also should submit Czechoslovak proposals.

Aid To Europe Hits Small Fry, Tass Says

Moscow, July 1 (AP)—The official Soviet news agency Tass said in Paris dispatches today that the British-French approach to the Marshall aid-for-Europe plan would force small European countries to "pursue an economic policy benefiting Britain and France as well as the United States . . . at the expense of the small fry."

Of the proposal that the nations of Europe draw up an economic balance sheet and help themselves as much as possible before seeking aid, Tass declared:

"It is not difficult to visualize in what a grave position weaker countries would find themselves were they confronted with the necessity to adjust their economic life to a universal program giving expression to the requirements of stronger states whose policies are actually determined by powerful capitalist monopolies."

Credits Called "Pressure"

"American credits," the agency went on, "are meant to be used as a means of pressure, as a bait for small states. Quite a lot of high-sounding phrases are being used to present the Anglo-French project as a blessing for the European states.

"The purpose of this project, however, is quite simple. It is intended to deal with the present economic difficulties in Great Britain and France, not at the latter countries' own expense—in which case it would be necessary to dip into the pockets of their own wealthy classes—but at the expense of the 'small fry.'"

Tass said Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's proposal for a listing of European needs would promote "speedier economic rehabilitation" and "meet the true interests of the European nations."

U.S. Moscow Staff Reduced

Moscow, July 1 (AP)—Four of six American employés of the United States Information Service in the Soviet Union have been notified they are being dropped by the Moscow office because of economy moves in Washington, it was learned today.

The four include an assistant director of the office, the wife of an American correspondent in Moscow, the son of one of the service attachés in Moscow, and a woman typist-clerk.

Monitoring Affected

It was also learned the Soviet staff of the Information Service will be curtailed and that future translation work probably will be on a rate basis rather than on a straight salary.

It was indicated there may be a reduction in the local program of monitoring the Voice of America—the Russian-lauguage broadcast by the United States.

The Information Service has been paying a few individuals 30 rubles nightly for listening and reporting on the broadcast and allowing them to purchase a certain amount of American rations from the Embassy commissary.

This probably will be discontinued. [The ruble has an official rate of 5.3 to the dollar. Diplomats are permitted to buy rubles at 12 to the dollar.]

Moscow Office Curbed By Economy Moves

Moscow, July 1 (AP)—The United States information service here has drastically reduced its staff because of economy moves in Washington, it was learned today.

Four of the six American employés in the Moscow office have been notified they no longer are needed. It also was learned that the Soviet staff of the information service will be curtailed.

In addition, it was indicated, there may be a reduction in the local program of monitoring "The Vioce of America"—Russian language broadcast from the United States.

The four Americans who have received notices include an assistant director of the information service, the wife of an American correspondent in Moscow, the son o one of the service's attachés, and a woman typist-clerk.

Spanish Office Closed

[A Madrid dispatch said "Casa Americana," which the United State Embassy maintains as an information and cultural center, has been virtually closed because of a lack of funds or the fiscal year beginning today. Approximately twenty employes, including three Americans, have been dismissed.

[In Sydney, Australia, the United States Embassy said the American inormation service in Australia would be terminated July 31.]

TENSE JERUSALEM ALERTED BY FALSE BOMBING REPORTS

JERUSALEM, Wednesday, July 2 (AP)—An Arab laborer last night found what he thought was a "bomb" and his screams, heard by a passing police car, set off a general alarm. The "bomb" proved to be a stick of wood.

When the general alarm sounded, tense policemen throughout the city turned in "reports' 'of what they believed to be explosions and gunfire. Investigations showed they were false. The government itself issued one official report that no casualties had been reported.

Second False Alarm

Fourteen hours earlier a 20-minute general alarm also proved to be false.

Meanwhile, the Jewish underground defense organization, Hagana, said Arab propaganda had created a "dangerous trend of feeling in Arab quarters" and added that it was on guard against "possible attacks" against the Jews.

In a statement to the Associated Press, Hagana also announced an early end to its "temporary interruption of immigration which was halted for a time because of difficulties in ports of embarkation."

The statement said the new tension in Arab circles was caused by new security measures and by "propaganda from the Arab leadership" backing up the Arab boycott of the United Nations special committee on Palestine.

Sounds Warning

"We are prepared to perform our two-fold task of preventing as far as possible acts of dissident Jewish groups on the one hand and, on the other hand, protecting Jewish lives and property from possible attacks," Hagana said.

"We are sure both the government and the Arabs know of our readiness very well, and we hope their knowledge will prevent any possible disturbance of the peace."

Speaking of its temporary cessation of illegal immigration, Hagana declared that "we are sure we will surmount the difficulties of the British blockade of the ports of embrakation and we hope that soon a fleet of illegal ships will move again toward the coast of Palestine."

"We have stressed previously," the statement added, "that the interruption was due to technical difficulties and not to political considerations in connection with the United Nations special committee on Palestine."

Execution Plea Rejected

The Hagana declaration was made amid these other developments:

In London, the British government rejected a move by the U.N. Palestine Committee to halt the execution of three members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, convicted of terrorism in Palestine. Britain said the sentences had not been confirmed, could be commuted by the British high commissioner.

In Jerusalem, a 20-minute general alarm was caused by what police termed false reports of a shooting in Ben Yehuda street near the center of the city. Rigid security measures were clamped on the area during a search by police and troops.

The British also conducted a house to house search in the village of Al Yahudita for Arabs who yesterday attacked houses in the area of the Jewish settlement of Petah Tiqva, wounding two persons.

that the quick British action at Al Yahudita was taken to forestall possible action by Haganah, Jewish underground group which six weeks ago raided a coffee house and killed three Arabs after a similar attack on a Jewish settlement.

1,125 Men Screened

Police said ten Arabs were detained on "suspicion of belonging to gangs." All the 1,125 men in the village were assembled on the town threshing floor and screened.

Authorities said also that a large road mine was found last night about 3 miles east of Jerusalem on the Jaffa road. A convoy of cars containing minor members of the secretariat of the United Nations nquiry Commission on Palestine was stopped while the mine was dismantled.

Immigration Plea Voiced

JERUSALEM, July 1 (AP)—The United Nations committee, touring northern Palestine, stopped at Kfar Giladi today and heard an appeal from a Jewish spokesman for unlimited Jewish immigration into the Holy Land. Mrs. Judith Kaller, who recently inspected European displaced persons camps on behalf of the Jewish Agency, told the investigators that European Jews were "longing desperately for normal lives," and said that the problem of the displaced person was also a problem of "humanity."

Jerusalem Shooting Alarm Found False

Jerusalem, July 1 (AP)—Reports of a shooting in the Ben Yehuda section in the center of Jerusalem sent armed troops hurrying to that area at midmorning today and touched off alarm sirens which threw the city into intense excitement.

After a search of the area, however, authorities announced that the report apparently was a false alarm. The all-clear was sounded after twenty minutes and strict security measures which had been clamped down at the sound of the sirens were relaxed.

Village Cordoned Off

Police and British troops, meanwhile, cordoned off the Arab village of Al Yahudita in search for Arab brigands who early yesterday attacked houses in the vicinity of the Jewish settlement of Petah Tikvah, wounding two persons.

House-to-house searches were instituted in the village.

REDS CRIPPLE CHINA TROOPS

Manchurian Forces Weakened By Szepingkai Battle

JUL 1947

By JOHN RODERICK

Szepingkai, Manchuria, July 1 (AP)—Chinese Communists delivered a crippling blow to the Government's Manchurian forces in the past month of battling for Szepingkai.

This city, about halfway between Changchun, the Manchurian capital, and Mukden, now is a collection of smouldering debris over which hangs the acrid smell of charred ruins and the odor of death.

I arrived in Szepingkai 24 hours after the Communists pulled out—the first foreign correspondent to enter the pummeled city.

Headquarters In School

Alighting from a Chinese transport in company with Chinese reporters, I rode through almost indescribable ruin and rubble to headquarters of Gen. Chen Ming-zen, commander of the outnumbered 71st Army, in the middle (high) school of the Victorian Athelis teaching society, a Canadian mission, all of whose personnel escaped unhurt.

How seriously the Nationals suffered under the maddenly persistent pounding of the Communist regulars, particularly during the past seventeen days, probably will remain a military secret.

General Chen, a tough Hunanese who led his troops against the Japanese in Burma, says this is by far the worst experience he has undergone. He described last year's battle for Szepingkai as "a curtain raiser" by comparison.

Compared To Shanghai

He estimated that the battle for Szepingkai would rank second in severity of fighting only to the battle for Shanghai in the early days of the Sino-Japanese war.

Chen furnished an inkling of the size of the 71st Army's losses when he said that only one battalion remains of the 88th Division. It was the 88th Division that held the Central Bank Building and municipal offices in the face of murderous fire the past few days after the Communists fought into the city.

That is about 400 human beings still alive. The day before 7,000 answered roll call.

'They Were Brave Men'

Pressed for more exact figures on the Government's overall casualties, Chen said he could say only "they were brave men. Where once there were battalions, now only handfuls remain."

The missionaries, whose headquarters are at Montreal, fled the mission properties, including a beautiful old mission church, three minutes before the Reds marched in. Some forgot their spectacles and false teeth and all left their personal belongings in their haste.

Fourteen priests and brothers and 24 sisters, all Canadians; 37 Chinese sisters, and one Chinese priest were in the group. They found safety at the school. Among them were Bishop Louis Lapierre and Bishop Fernand Schetagne, superior of all Canadian missions in Manchuria.

Little More Than Ashes

The Canadian Catholic Church and the remainder of the mission now are little more than ashes. Around it centered the fiercest of the recent fighting. Actually, Government fighter and bomber planes destroyed it, although the Reds' heavy artillery helped.

When the Government troops withdrew under orders to a constricted area in the Chinese walled city, the planes were called on systematically to reduce three streets where the Communists maintained daytime hideouts. Air power and the imminent arrival of reinforcements from both the north and south ultimately forced the Reds to withdraw.

The havoc that planes, shells, grenades and small arms could do is apparent everywhere. Every house appeared to have been hit.

Bridge In Tatters

Near the airfield (a few miles outside the walled city) a railroad bridge hung in tatters, its great steel beams twisted on tortured forms.

Pillboxes gaped where shells had landed full on them. Roofs were missing from long rows of low brick houses the Japanese had built in the eastern section of the city.

Wounded civilians and soldiers still were being borne slowly through the streets on litters. Dozens of soldiers lay on the ground in front of one building, waiting to be tended.

At one street corner, a woman, her eyes blank and humorless, watched us drive past. Without expression, but with a mute, helpless gesture that tore at our hearts, she lifted up a naked infant for us to see. Then she fell back wearily at the roadside.

Manchu Economy Upset By Fight At Szepingkai

Mukden, July 1 (AP)—The entire economic and military position of the Chinese Government in Manchuria remains an uneasy one, despite general expressions of satisfaction over the recovery of Szepingkai, the badly damaged rail city which Chinese Communists exploited to the full, then left in ruins.

Damage done by the Reds to the Mukden-Changchun rail line, through Szepingkai, still has not been definitely surveyed but it is bound to require months to repair.

Red Losses Emphasized

Government sources have emphasized the extent of Red losses at Szepingkai. [They said 50,000 troops, three fifths of the whole Red striking force in Manchuria, had been killed or captured. The figure has not been confirmed.] No one, however, can deny that the Communist offensive has been a severe shock to the Manchurian economy.

In metric tons of foodstuffs carted away or redistributed to inhabitants of Kungchuling, Szepingkai and Kaiyuan alone,, the loss to the Government has been enormous. All three of these places held great stores of grain—enough surplus to see Government-held Manchurian areas comfortably through the remainder of the year. Now this balance has been upset.

Communists also have been raising hob with electric power, heavy industry and mining installations. Only a trickle of electricity now flows into Mukden, which once had ample power for large industrial plants.

Reds Attack Sanho Outpost

In North China, 2,000 Communist guerrillas attacked four Government outposts on the outskirts of Sanho, 30 miles east of Peiping, and routed the defenders in an all-night battle, Government reports said.

Government reinforcements recaptured Peshotien in their drive southward toward beleaguered Paoting, capital of Hopeh province, 75 miles south of Peiping.

Chinese dispatches said Government forces within the northern section of Paoting counterattacked and drove the Communists from the city's defenses.

200 Refugees End Trip

Shanghai, July 1 (AP)—Penniless, weary and ragged, 200 White Russians from the Kulja district of northwest China's Sinkiang province have reached Shanghai after a 3,000-mile journey—by truck, train and afoot—which took them nine months.

The refugees were part of a group which had been living near the Soviet frontier. They said Soviet agents had attempted to coerce them into registering as Soviet citizens, but they had refused.

They are descendants of White (Czarist) Russian families which fled from Russia between 1917 and 1923. Some of the original settlers among the group were Cossacks who had fought against the Bolsheviks and had sought sanctuary in Sinkiang.

They said other groups of refugees are on their way to Shanghai.

These first arrivals said Soviet agents, posing as Mongols, were active in Sinkiang, and that troops in Russian uniform were encamped in the disputed boundary zone between Sinkiang and Outer Mongolia.

Outer Mongolia now is supposed to be an independent republic, and very friendly to Russia.

[China accused it of invading Sinkiang last month. Outer Mongolia said China had invaded its territory.]

Yellow River Truce Is Seen By UNRRA

Shanghai, July 1 (AP)—Both Government and Communist leaders have indicated they would accept UNRRA's appeal for a civil-war truce along the Yellow River, an UNRRA source said today.

Offical confirmation is pending. The cease-fire appeal was made last week by Harlan Cleveland, director general of UNRRA's China office. He warned failure to complete repair of Yellow River dikes by the end of July might bring floods and disaster to millions of peasants in Shantung, Kiangsu and Hopeh provinces.

Cleveland urged a truce along the Yellow River and for 5 miles on either side of the dikes.

MacArthur Defended In Jap-Project Okays

1947 JUL

Tokyo, July 1 (AP)—A headquarters spokesman denied today that General MacArthur had authorized a Japanese whaling expedition and phosphate mining project on Anguar Island without "due discussions" with the Australian and British governments.

In a statement answering criticism, the spokesman said: "It is patently ridiculous to charge that these temporary and Allied controlled and supervised projects threaten the economic or military security of any of the Allies."

U.S. Saving Claimed

Norway, as well as Australia and Britain, have criticized MacArthur's approval of a new Japanese whaling expedition to the Antarctic. The British have twice objected to past activities on Anguar, American-won island in the Palau group, where Japanese will resume phosphate mining under MacArthur authorization.

The spokesman said the American taxpayer would be saved approximately $21,000,000 through the second whaling expedition and fertilizer projects at Anguar. Both activities were approved to help make up Japan's food deficit, which the headquarters statement said would have rested otherwise upon the United States "with the full concurrence" of its occupation partners.

Disagreeement Sharpened

"By Allied agreement," the spokesman said, "the United States acts on necessary matters in the absence of Allied policy. It is, accordingly, incorrect to say that the United States is acting unilaterally when it merely fulfills its administrative obligations."

The intimation of a British Foreign Office spokesman that Britain is dissatisfied with some aspects of United States policy in Japan sharpens a disagreement which has been growing for some time.

The first reaction here was that the British statement brought into the open a fundamental clash over procedure.

These are elements in the controversy:

1. Representatives of several nations say MacArthur is too independent in his post as commander for the Allied forces, and is running a predominately American occupation.

2. British and Soviet spokesmen have critized MacArthur's reform program as incomplete, too strongly conservative and too lenient toward certain Japanese.

Reparations Involved

3. Some nations, including Britain, China and Australia, contend MacArthur is trying to "soften" reparations and grant Japan a higher industrial level than desirable.

On the other hand, MacArthur is frankly impatient with international indecision. He contends privately that the American-dominated occupation of Japan has prevented the disharmony existing in Germany and has blocked a Communist offensive. He also has pointed out the United States is footing the bill for keeping Japan afloat economically, and contends other powers want a voice in affairs without paying for it.

Jap Premier Shuns Territorial Aims

Tokyo, July 1 (AP)—Japan wants "moral and economic assistance" but no territories from a peace conference to be held "as early as possible," Premier Tetsu Katayama told the nation's lawmakers today.

In his first administrative speech to the Diet (Parliament), the new Socialist Premier declared that the country's economy is facing a "fearful crisis" and food prospects for the next four months "call for the gravest anxiety."

However, he said, if Japan can surmount its economic crisis, "we should be able to join the community of nations with the benevolent assistance of the Allied powers.

JUL 1947

Cites "Fervent Desire"

"What we desire . . . are not territories. Instead, I would like to request the moral and economic assistance of the Allied powers by demonstrating the fervent desire for stabilization of national life, reconstruction of industry and permanent world peace."

Katayama's emphasis on the peace treaty drew applause from the crowded houses of representatives and councilors, which he addressed separately. Even schoolchildren who dominated the spectators' galleries joined in the unfamiliar handclapping.

The Premier spoke to a generally friendly Diet, although Conservatives have announced opposition to his proposed state control of coal.

Recent Statements

His apparent renunciation of any territorial desires at the peace table apparently was intended to quiet repercussions to recent Government statements asking "sympathetic consideration" of the future status of adjacent islands, including Okinawa.

Katayama said Japan's demilitarization and democratization has made "steady progress" during the past two years. He pledged that the Government would "spare no efforts" to fulfill Potsdam declaration terms.

U.S. Transport, 1,444 Aboard, Aground

Tokyo, July 1 (AP)—The army transport Admiral Sims, sailing from Manila to Yokohama with 1,444 soldiers, nurses and dependents, ran aground in Tokyo Bay near Yokosuka today, navy headquarters reported.

Brig. Gen. Frank McConnel, commanding the 8th Army's second major port, said the 16,000-ton ship was in no danger and that all passengers were safe. Yokosuka is 38 miles south of Tokyo.

The Navy said the vessel had rammed through a seawall and 200 feet of the ship was aground. Several holes were punched in the hull.

The Admiral Sims carried 1,393 enlisted men, 15 officers, 16 nurses and 20 dependents.

Four Java Political Parties Deadlocked On Cabinet

JUL 1947

Batavia, Java, July 1 (AP)—The leaders of the Big Four political parties in the Indonesian Republic announced tonight that they had failed in two days of effort to form a new Cabinet.

SWINTON

They were striving to organize a new government to replace that of Sutan Sjahrir, who was forced out last Friday by elements who opposed making any further concessions to the Dutch in negotiations for an interim government for the United States of Indonesia.

Political sources predicted that either Acting Defense Minister Amir Sjarifoeddin, Socialist, or Minister of Economics Dr. A. K. Gani, chairman of the Nationalist party, would emerge as Premier.

The Islamic, Nationalist, Socialist and Labor parties are collaborating in an effort to form a Cabinet to replace that of Scialist Premier Sutan Sjahrir, forced out last Friday by elements who felt that he had made too many concessions to the Dutch in independence negotiations.

Sjarifoeddin had said that in event he was chosen Premier he would ask Sjahrir to become Foreign Minister.

But a spokesman for Sjahrir said it was virtually certain that the former Premier would not accept any position in the new Cabinet.

This spokesman also denied published reports that Sjahrir was planning a trip to America and Britain.

Indonesian sources indicated that the Republican leaders, intent on solving the internal political crisis, had not begun framing a reply to a United States memorandum delivered Saturday nor to a Dutch request for clarification of President Soekarno's June 27 statement of the Republican position.

The official Republican news agency, Antara, meanwhile, reported from Pati, in Central Java, that Dutch patrol boats and Indonesian shore batteries exchanged fire from Friday through Sunday in the Djepara area along the north coast of Java.

The news agency also said that Dutch troops conducted large-scale house searches at Tjiberon

Monty In Australia For 10-Day Visit

Canberra, July 1 (AP)—British Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, chief of the imperial general staff, arrived here today on a fifteen-day visit to the commonwealth during which he will confer with Australian Government and military leaders.

Montgomery will meet with the Cabinet for an exchange of views on empire defense and to discuss means of fitting into a broad empire plan Australian proposals to take a greater responsibility in defense of the Pacific.

JAP WITNESS AT GUAM ATROCITY TRIAL SUICIDE

GUAM, Wednesday, July 2—(AP) A jungle suicide before dawn today eliminated a second Japanese witness against the 19 imperial fleet officers and men charged with the "experiment" murders of 10 American war prisoners.

Petty Officer Second Class Hiyoichi Ikeya walked out of the witness stockade at midnight, plunged into the nearby jungle growth, and slashed himself fatally across the abdomen with a razor—thus avoiding testifying for the prosecution. He had not yet appeared in the courtroom where the 19 defendants are on trial.

He left a note bidding his compatriots goodby and saying he was "sorry for this terrible act, and hope all my friends soon return to Japan."

Brazil Leaves Out Nicaragua

Rio de Janeiro, July 1 (AP)—The Brazilian Government announced officially today that it had invited all the American nations except Nicaragua to meet here August 15 to sign the projected hemisphere defense agreement. Most governments have not recognized the new Nicaraguan Government established recently after a bloodless revolution.

MARSHALL BLASTS RUSSIAN ATTACKS ON U.S. AID AIMS

JUL 1947

Sharply Denounces Charges European Program Is 'Imperialistic.'

'MALICIOUS,' HE SAYS

Bars Use of American Relief Funds for 'Political' Purposes.

WASHINGTON, July 1. — (AP) Secretary of State Marshall today assailed, as "fantastic" and "malicious," Russian charges that his aid-to-Europe plan represents dollar imperialism.

At the same time, he laid down the rule that whatever aid this country grants to war-stricken nations must not be used for "selfish economic or political" purposes but for the world's peace and security.

This was taken as his reply to critics who have demanded to know what conditions this country would attach to its assistance. Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia is reported to have raised such a question in Paris, where he is conferring with foreign ministers of Britain and France.

This conference grew out of Marshall's suggestion in a speech at Harvard University June 5 that the European nations get together to create an economic recovery program for themselves, making use first of their own resources. He promised that the United States would support that program to the fullest extent practicable.

Explains U. S. "Demands"

Marshall's remarks today, his first major speech since the Harvard address, were made before the Women's National Press Club. The occasion was the induction of Ruth Cowan of the Associated Press as the club's new president. A number of distinguished guests were present, including President Robert McLean of the Associated Press, and cabinet officers.

Marshall proclaimed four "demands" which he said the American people attach to economic assistance furnished foreign countries:

1. That it "shall be effectively used for the purpose for which it was intended" (either relief or economic reconstruction).
2. That it "should not be expended to serve selfish economic or political interests."
3. That it should be used "specifically to assist in economic rehabilitation."
4. That it should serve the purpose of "restoring hope and confidence among the people concerned that the world will know peace and security in the future."

Marshall spoke in general terms and did not specifically mention either the Paris meeting or Russia.

Scoffs at "Imperialism" Charges

He declared that "there could be no more fantastic misrepresentation, no more malicious distortion of the truth than the frequent propaganda assertions or implications that the United States has imperialist aims or that American aid has been offered in order to fasten upon the recipients some form of political and economic domination."

He declared that the United States had reduced its once powerful forces deployed from Germany to Japan down to the point where it has only small garrisons in enemy countries and that it has done so without attaching any conditions.

Similarly, he said that this country has poured into Europe since the end of the war 82,000,000 tons of goods valued at more than $9,000,000,000.

Then listing activities which American officials have frequently charged to the Soviet Union, Marshall continued:

"No political parties subservient to United States interests have been left behind in European countries to attempt conquest of governments from within.

"No American agents have sought to dominate the police establishment of European countries.

"No 'joint American-European companies' have been forced upon reluctant governments."

"I do not cite this record," the secretary of state asserted, "as evidence of our peaceful intentions by way of indulging in national boasting but merely because it is true and judging from some of the charges leveled against the United States it may be in danger of being forgotten."

Raps Smear Propaganda

Marshall said that whedever a free press operates in the world "departures from fact or principle, however skillfully promoted, can not survive very long." But he declared that such is not the case "where a free press is suppressed."

In many sections of the world, he continued, the United States is the target of "a continuous propaganda of misrepresentation."

"Our purposes are distorted, our motives impugned our traditions and institutions decried and smeared," he said.

This campaign of misrepresentation, Marshall continued, has involved both the degree and purpose of economic assistance furnished to other countries and he declared that "those responsible for this misrepresentation are doing a grave disservice to the suffering people whose future depends directly on the success of international cooperation in the economic field."

selfish economic or political interests."

Specific Use

3. Specifically be used "to assist in economic rehabilitation."
4. Serve "a great purpose in restoring hope and confidence among the peoples concerned that the world will know peace and security in the future."

Marshall did not refer directly to the Soviet Union by name or to the fact that in the Big Three conference at Paris Foreign Minister Molotov is reported to have taken a position in flat opposition to Marshall's proposals for European recovery.

The Russians have repeatedly charged, however, that the United States is trying to exploit a dollar imperialism and establish domination over countries it aids. The Soviets also have sought [illegible]erwise

Marshall Assails Russian 'Imperialism' Charges

JUL 1947

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall today denounced as "milicious distortion" the charges, which have emanated from Russian sources, that the United States has "imperialist aims" in offering assistance to foreign nations.

Marshall told the Women's National Press Club in a luncheon address that "historical records clearly show that no people have ever acted more generously and more unselfishly than the American people in tendering assistance to alleviate distress and suffering."

Lists Four Requirements

At the same time, Marshall declared that the United States would make "demands" regarding the use of its contributions to world recovery. He laid down a list of four requirements for safeguarding the employment of American aid abroad.

Speaking at the club's ceremonies incident to the inauguration of Ruth Cowan of the Associated Press as president of the organization, Marshall said that the American people "emphatically demand" that their assistance to foreign countries should:

1. Be "effectively used for the purpose for which it was intended."
2. Not "be expended to serve selfish economic or political interests."

Specific Use

3. Specifically be used "to assist in economic rehabilitation."
4. Serve "a great purpose in restoring hope and confidence among the peoples concerned that the world will know peace and security in the future."

Marshall did not refer directly to the Soviet Union by name or to the fact that in the Big Three conference at Paris Foreign Minister Molotov is reported to have taken a position in flat opposition to Marshall's proposals for European recovery.

The Russians have repeatedly charged, however, that the United States is trying to exploit a dollar imperialism and establish domination over countries it aids. The Soviets also have sought, otherwise to discredit American motives.

"Fantastic Misrepresentation"

Marshall said:

"There could be no more fantastic misrepresentation, no more malicious distortion of the truth than the frequent propaganda assertions of implications that the United States has imperialist aims or that American aid has been offered in order to fasten upon the recipients some form of political and economic domination."

He then recalled that the United States demobilized "the greatest concentration of military power that the world has ever seen" and left only small garrisons in occupied enemy countries.

The Secretary said that no conditions were attached to the withdrawal and he declared that since the end of the war "American goods in the amount of some 82,000,000 tons, valued at over $9,000,000,000, have flowed into Europe from this country."

What U. S. Has Not Do[illegible]

He continued:

"No political parties subservient to United States interests have been left behind in European countries to attempt conquest of governments from within. No American agents have sought to dominate the police establishment of European countries. No 'joint American-

European countries' have been forced upon reluctant governments.

"I do not cite this record as evidence of our peaceful intentions by way of indulging in national boasting, but merely because it is true and judging from some of the charges leveled against the United States it may be in danger of being forgotten."

Marshall said American foreign policy, as is true of the policy in any democracy, has not "the slightest chance of being effective unless it enjoys popular support" and that, he declared, can be obtained only "through the medium of the press and the radio."

"With a free press serious departures from fact or principle, however skillfully promoted, cannot survive very long," he said.

This means, he continued, that whenever a free press operates propaganda which distorts American motives tends to "correct itself within a reasonable time" but this "is not the case where a free press is suppressed."

Text of Marshall Speech

JUL 1947

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The text of Secretary of State Marshall's address today to the Women's National Press Club:

Some people think they see in the evolution of our political life evidences of radical changes in our policy on international affairs. The past two years have been replete with allegations that the coming and going of various public officials there has been an alteration of American foreign policy. Actually, the attitude of our people and of this Government has shown a remarkable degree of continuity in the face of a complicated and rapidly changing international situation.

The American people emerged from this war with an abiding determination to lay the foundations of a world order in which more could turn their hands to constructive tasks and look with confidence to the development of better lives for themselves and their children. It was for this reason, I think, that they took the prominent part they did in the establishment of the United Nations.

Popular Backing Held Essential

They have been sorely disappointed and disturbed by the setbacks which the principles of international organization have received. They recognize that the conditions of the post-war world have not proved to be as favorable as they had hoped to the development of this concept. They know that the task will be harder than appeared to be in prospect three years ago. But nothing has changed, I am sure, in their determination to create a world in which the principles of the United Nations can have a chance to take root and to flourish. It was on this determination that United States policy rested as the recent hostilities came to an end, and it is on this determination that it is based today.

In a democracy no policy, whether foreign or domestic, has the slightest chance of being effective unless it enjoys popular support. This, I think, is especially true of foreign affairs, where the remoteness of the events, and the strangeness of foreign national traditions, makes it very difficult for our people to get a clear understanding of even the elements of the problem. Under these conditions, the only way in which general or popular support can be secured for any measure relating to foreign affairs is through the medium of the press and radio.

The more complete the public understanding of the issues, the less the public will be swayed by the winds of passion and prejudice. The ideal that we could desire in this country would be a public opinion so well grounded that it would discount propaganda and would insure a steady and consistent support of the fundamental objectives of our foreign policy. We cannot expect 100 per cent support for any particular measure. Our democratic system thrives upon diversity of opinion, and it is this very diversity which operates as a correcting and improving mechanism. With a free press, serious departures from fact or principle, however skillfully promoted, cannot survive very long.

Campaign Called Deliberate

In addition to the difficulty of comprehending the multitudinous factors involved in foreign affairs, there is the fact of a continuous propaganda of misrepresentation. It is regrettable, but perhaps natural in view of our position in the world today, that much of this propaganda is directed against the United States. Our purposes are distorted, our motives impugned, our traditions and institutions decried and smeared. In countries where a free press operates, as I have remarked, such propaganda has a tendency to correct itself within a reasonable time. But this, unfortunately, is not the case where a free press is suppressed.

There has also been much of misunderstanding abroad of the degree and purpose of American economic assistance to other countries and of the conditions under which it has been extended. Much of this has been due to purposeful misrepresentation. Those responsible for this misrepresentation are doing a grave disservice to the suffering peoples, whose future depends directly on the success of international cooperation in the economic field.

Historical records clearly show that no people have ever acted more generously and more unselfishly than the American people in tendering assistance to alleviate distress and suffering. The history of past decades records numerous examples of readiness to lend a helping hand in situations where there could not possibly have been other compensation than the satisfaction that comes from assisting those in need.

But it would not be entirely accurate to say that the efforts of this Government to contribute to the restoration of world economy since the termination of the recent war have been motivated solely by considerations of charity. Our people do realize, I feel sure, that a stable and prosperous world is important to their own well-being. They also recognize that a contribution has already been made by many peoples or nations to such a world in the way of tremendous sacrifices in life and property suffered in the course of military operations. Since the United States suffered no such destruction on its own territory, although suffering heavy losses in lives and national wealth, our people felt it right that this country should make a direct contribution to reconstruction abroad.

Accordingly, they offered and expended out of the fruits of their own labor the enormous quantities of American goods and services which have gone to other countries during the past two years. And they have voiced no complaint that for the considerable part of this contribution there has been little of favorable reaction from certain areas abroad, that in fact there has been more of criticism than of appreciation.

Cites Rapid Demobilization

There could be no more fantastic misrepresentation, no more malicious distortion of the truth than the frequent propaganda assertions or implications that the United States has imperialist aims or that American aid has been offered in order to fasten upon the recipients some form of political and economic domination. At the end of the war our Government demobilized the greatest concentration of military power that the world has ever seen. Our armed strength was deployed from the Elbe in Germany to the islands of Japan. This great array was demobilized with amazing rapidity until only comparatively small garrisons of troops were left on the necessary occupation duty in the principal enemy countries. No conditions were attached to this withdrawal.

Since the termination of the war, American goods in the amount of some 82,000,000 tons, valued at over $9,000,000,000, have flowed into Europe from this country. No political parties subservient to United States interests have been left behind in European countries to attempt conquest of Governments from within. No American agents have sought to dominate the police establishment of European countries. No "joint American-European companies" have been forced upon reluctant Governments.

I do not cite this record as evidence of our peaceful intentions by way of indulging in national boasting but merely because it is true, and, judging from some of the charges leveled against the United States, it may be in danger of being forgotten.

It would be incorrect to say that the people of this country make no demands regarding the utilization of their contribution to world recovery. They emphatically demand that whatever they contribute shall be effectively used for the purpose for which it was intended; that it should not be expended to serve selfish economic or political interests, and that it should be employed specifically to assist in economic rehabilitation; finally, that it should serve a great purpose in restoring hope and confidence among the people concerned that the world will know peace and security in the future.

'Ike' Statement On Army Held Propaganda

JUL 1947

Washington, July 1 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's statement that the United States Army is a "poor second" to Russia's was labeled "propaganda for universal military training" today by Representative Short (R., Mo.).

Short suggested a congressional investigation of the army's status among world powers.

Eisenhower made the statement last week to the Senate Appropriations Committee in support of a plea that House cuts in the War Department's military budget be restored.

Short, second-ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee and an announced foe of universal training, was joined in his suggestion for an investigation by Chairman Leo E. Allen (R., Ill.) of the House Rules Committee.

Calleo "Scare" Statement

Discussing Eisenhower's testimony, Short declared:

"That is propaganda for universal military training intended to scare the American people.

"It is up to Congress to make an investigation to find out what has caused our Army to become a 'poor second' to Russia's in the face of huge appropriations and unheard-of surpluses of materials. Our army leaders should be called upon to explain what they have done with the unprecedented peacetime military appropriations. There has been too much double talk."

Short said that if the War Department's budget estimates do not "exclude" the possibility of war in 1948, as Eisenhower testified, "then they aren't doing anything to get ready for it."

Sees "Lot Of Dreaming"

"Despite the fact that we passed a stockpiling bill last year," he said, "the Army hasn't done a thing to obtain a stockpile of strategic materials that would be needed in a war. We have appropriated the necessary money, but apparently all we have got for it is a lot of dreaming. What are they waiting for? Another Pearl Harbor?"

Allen called Eisenhower's statement "surprising."

"What does he mean by a 'poor second'? does he mean quantitatively? Does he mean qualitatively?" Allen asked in a statement.

"If he means quantitatively, it might have been well for General Eisenhower to have pointed out that in manpower the United States Army never was the equal of Russia's in war or peace.

Cites Billions Allotted

"If he means qualitatively, I think the record of the United States Army in the recent war speaks more eloquently than any statement to a congressional committee. If the Army lacks quality today, I think a further explanation is needed from the General.

"We have appropriated more for the peacetime military establishment than ever before in history and certainly much more than any other nation has spent. . . . What have our military leaders been doing with all the billions furnished them?"

There was no immediate comment from Eisenhower or the War Department.

The House trimmed War Department requests by $435,000,000 in voting the Army $5,280,000,000 in cash and $280,000,000 in contractual authority for the year beginning today. The Senate has yet to act on the measure.

U.S. TO SCREEN OIL EXPORTS, BALL ASSERTS

JUL 1947

But He Tells House Group Russia Will Not Be Discriminated Against

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Max W. Ball, director of the Interior Department's oil and gas division, declared today that future exports of gasoline and oil will be "screened to see that they are in the broad national interest" of the United States.

But he told the House Commerce Committee "there is no thought of cutting off all exports, nor of discriminating against any one country." Wartime export controls over oil and petroleum were reimposed only yesterday.

Ball was called to discuss the mid-West gasoline shortage and winter fuel prospects in general, and—in particular—exports of oil and petroleum products to Russia.

Russia Gets Prewar Share

He told the committee the Russian shipments were approximately at their prewar level, amounting to about one eighth of one per cent of the United States output, and "certainly don't lead you to suspect stock-piling or anything like that."

Simultaneously, Vice Admiral W. W. Smith, chairman of the Maritime Commission, was denying before the House Merchant Marine Committee that any American flagship is transporting oil and oil products.

"The eight lend-lease tankers which Russia now has and which are operating under the Russian flag are not under the commission's control or jurisdiction, Only the State Department can get them back," he said.

"Ifs" In Winter Outlook

His assertion came in reply to contentions by Chairman Welchel (R., Ohio) that American-owned tankers are being used to ship oil abroad despite the possibility United States citizens may "freeze this winter" because of the difficulty in moving oil from one part of the country to another.

Ball told the Commerce Committee that the chances of avoiding widespread fuel shortages this winter depend upon a half dozen or more "ifs."

"If there are no further refinery strikes, if there is no prolonged coal strike, if the shipping strikes don't tie up too many tankers, if we can get tankcar construction, if there are no steel strikes and rail strikes, if—above all—there is no severe winter, then we'll get by with only spot shortages," he said.

Gasoline Shortage To Ease Off

"But," he cautioned, "if too many of these factors go bad, we'll have widespread shortages."

He expressed belief that the shortage of gasoline in the mid-West area would "ease off" by October.

Both Ball and John W. Boatwright, manager of the sales research department for Standard Oil of Indiana, blamed transportation difficulties and loss of refining capacity through plant shutdowns as contributing to the mid-West's problems.

At one point is his testimony, Ball termed John L. Lewis, coal miner union chief, the "best salesman" of oil and gas heating units, saying that Lewis has "scared more people" into buying that type of equipment than the salesmen for the industry.

He listed the "great increase" in oil burners as one factor in the shortage of oil and petroleum products being felt particularly in the mid-West.

SENATE APPROVES 13 MILLION FOR VOICE OF AMERICA

JUL 1947

WASHINGTON, July 1—(AP) The Senate agreed today to provide funds to support the State Department's foreign information program for the fiscal year beginning today.

It passed by voice vote a bill to allow $13,470,000 of the $31,381,220 which President Truman originally recommended. The measure now goes to the House, which cut the information program off without a cent.

The bill carries in all $551,813,000 to maintain the state, justice and commerce departments and the Federal judiciary. The amount is $12,836,508 more than the House voted.

Bill Now Goes to House

The House had eliminated funds for foreign information, including the "Voice of America" broadcast to Russia and other areas, on the grounds that the program was never authorized by basic legislation.

Since its passage of the appropriations bill, however, the House has approved a bill by Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.) to authorize the program.

A Senate foreign relations subcommittee will open hearings on the bill tomorrow.

The only fight prior to final passage of the appropriation measure today was over the funds for Federal aid to airports.

The appropriations committee had recommended the House-approved amount of $32,500,000 be made available to carry out the National Airport act, which authorizes grants to states and local communities on a matching basis.

Democratic Whip Lucas (D-Ill.) sought first to restore the full $65,000,000 which Mr. Truman asked in his budget, but his amendment was voted down 39 to 38.

Then he offered a substitute amendment to increase the fund to $50,000,000, but this was defeated 43 to 39.

255 Million Navy Building Plan Approved

JUL 1947

House committee okays funds and authorizations for proposed Sandy Point airfield near Annapolis. [Back page.]

Washington, July 1 (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee today approved a bill authorizing $255,000,000 in naval construction work on shore bases, and recommended appropriations of $127,800,000 for the work in the new fiscal year.

The projects include a $34,520,000 guided missile test center at Point Mugu, Cal., and a $27,650,000 aeronautical turbine laboratory at Trenton, N.J.

One Request Denied

The only project not approved in a list of 80 submitted to the committee was a Navy request to acquire 518 acres of land adjacent to the naval operating base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, for security purposes.

The Navy's new base at Guam was allocated more than $110,000,000 of the total authorized projects, and the subcommittee recommended 1948 fiscal year appropriations of more than $39,000,000 for this purpose.

To Dredge Harbor

Guam installations will include a $30,000,000 hospital, for which $7,000,000 in 1948 was recommended; installation of utilities; dredging of Apra harbor; building a bomb-proof radio communications center; a submarine and supply base, an ammunition depot and a fleet marine force base.

The committee recommended a 1948 appropriation of $16,500,000 for the Point Mugu 7,400-acre project, 40 miles north of Los Angeles.

The committee recommended $17,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning today for the Trenton laboratory.

Fund For Academy

Other projects approved on recommendation of a subcommittee included:

Facilities for flight indoctrination at the Annapolis Naval Academy, $3,000,000 recommended 1948 appropriation; $12,000,000 total authorization.

Development of post-graduate facilities at Monterey, Cal., $2,500,000 authorization and a similar recommended appropriation.

A $3,000,000 appropriation for a radio transmitting station at a location to be determined, with a total authorization of $7,000,000.

The committee recommended a total of $67,300,000 in 1948 appropriations for 44 projects in the United States and $60,500,000 for 36 others outside the country.

U.S. Part Is Approved In World Health Unit

Washington, July 1 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today approved legislation providing for American participation in the world health organization.

The organization would establish world health and drug standards, set up sanitary requirements, and develop a uniform system of drug advertising and labeling.

Truman Signs Bill Putting U.S. In IRO

Washington, July 1 (AP)—President Truman today signed legislation making the United States a member of the International Refugee Organization, saying the IRO will give the world "new reason to believe that no problem is too difficult" for solution by co-operating nations.

Mr. Truman said he was "happy to accept membership" on behalf of this country as he signed the measure at a White House ceremony. The agency will operate through the United Nations.

Authorizes $73,500,000

Besides providing for United States participation in the IRO, the legislation authorizes a $73,500,000 contribution toward the care of Europe's 900,000 displaced persons in the next twelve months.

Mr. Truman also signed the necessary membership papers for deposit with Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, by Warren R. Austin, United States representative to the United Nations.

The President said in a statement:

"This action constitutes an important step toward the creation of an operating specialized agency established by the United Nations.

"I am confident that, through the International Refugee Organization, we shall give the world new reason to believe that no problem is too difficult if the nations firmly resolve to co-operate in solving it."

Calls For Monthly Payments

The legislation provides for payments from the United States contribution on a month-to-month basis to the IRO preparatory commission. The commission expects to take over administration of the displaced-persons camps until the IRO itself is organized.

Under the bill, the United States will carry 45.75 per cent — or $69,110,000 — of IRO's operating budget, and bear 39.89 per cent — or $1,915,000 — of its administrative costs. The IRO activities will be directed by a nine-member executive committee.

House Group Votes U. S. Role in South Pacific, Caribbean

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee today approved measures authorizing United States participation in two new international organizations, the South Pacific Commission and the Caribbean Commission.

Members of the South Pacific Commission include Australia, the Netherlands, France, New Zealand and Great Britain. It was formed in February to promote the "economic and social welfare and advancement of the non-self-governing territories" in the South Pacific.

The other organization was created for similar purposes in the Caribbean area. Its members are France, the Netherlands and Britain.

WASHINGTON, July 1—The United States is sending three warships to Monrovia, Liberia, to take part in that country's centennial celebration, the State Department announced today.

President Truman's representative will be Brig. Gen. B. O. Davis, who will have the rank of Ambassador. He is the Army's only Negro general officer. The celebration runs from July 24 to Aug. 11.

The warships are the escort carrier Palau and the destroyers T. E. Frazier and Shannon.

FINAL "NO" ENDS EX G.I.'S ROMANCE

English Girl Had Changed Mind Before, It's Final Now

Chicago, July 1 (AP)—Rosanna Peveri, the English girl who balked at the altar yesterday, today said that her final decision in her international romance with ex-GI Peter Vasquez was "I'm definitely not getting married."

Rosanna, 24, traveled from London alone, against her parents' wishes, she said, to wed Vasquez, 26-year-old express company worker. But the trip to the altar last Sunday gave her qualms. In the middle of the ceremony she said, "No."

Marriage Off

That decided Peter. The marriage was off, he said, since "If she's not certain, it wouldn't be a good idea." Then Rosanna exercised her woman's prerogative again. She decided she wanted to go through with it after all.

But Peter left his parents' home, where Rosanna was staying, to live with friends. After a day's thinking it over, Rosanna made her negative decision, which she said was her final one.

"I've just gotten to feel that he's not really worth worrying about," she declared.

Will Not Return

Asked if she would return to Giovanni Castellani, the man she left behind in London, Rosanna said, "It wouldn't be right to marry someone you didn't love."

Castellani told London newsmen he had been engaged to Rosanna when she left England for the United States, and that he would be "happy to forget the past" if she would return to him. He is assistant manager of the cafe where Rosanna formerly worked as a waitress.

Like A Brother

But Rosanna described her "engagement" to Castellani as "just unofficial."

"He was more like a brother to me," she said.

The young English girl said today she would like to spend a few more days in Chicago, sightseeing, and then planned to go to live with her mother's sister, Mrs. Ida Mastrola, in Jersey City, N.J. She is attempting to arrange with the British consulate for an indefinite stay in the United States, and hopes to obtain employment doing embroidery and hand needlework.

"I don't intend to go back to England," she said.

BUDENZ DEEMS 'THIRD-PARTY' THREAT TO U.S.

JUL 1947

Views Movement As

Communist Attempt At 'Political Blackmail'

Chicago, July 1 (AP)—Louis F. Budenz, former editor of the Daily Worker, official Communist newspaper, said today the Communists are threatening the Truman Administration with a third party as "political blackmail."

Addressing the Kiwanis International convention, Budenz said that a statement in the June issue of Political Affairs, which he describes as "the official theoretical organ of the Communist party in America," proclaims "virtual warfare against the American nation."

"The third party movement in Communist hands is a piece of political blackmail directed at the present administration in the hope that this will compel a continuance of appeasement of Soviet Russia," Budenz said.

He said the June issue of Political Affairs stated that "American imperialism is seeking to Hitlerize the world."

Calls Party A Fifth Column

"To every trained Communist that term is clear," Budenz continued. "It means that the United States must be fought to the bitter end, and by every means at the disposal of the Communist conspiracy.

"To carry on this warfare against the American republic, the Communists further declare . . . that they will conduct within our country a battle for a people's peace. But what, pray, is a people's peace? It is the peace, they declare, desired by the Soviet dictatorship! It is a peace, then, in which the slave state is extended by continued aggressions, as we witness is the case."

Budenz said the Communist party in the United States was "a fifth column, having no right on American soil, totally alien to American life."

Flying Saucers Planes, Pilot Says

Portland, Ore., July 1 (AP)—A veteran Pacific coast pilot, Richard Rankin, today reported seeing the "flying saucers" over California and described them as planes.

The controversial "saucers" — some experts have questioned whether they exist—were high over Bakersfield June 23, said Rankin, a former flier who now lives in Palm Springs, Cal.

"These planes were maybe 9,000 feet up and fairly fast, maybe 300 or 400 miles an hour. I first counted ten of them in formation, going north. About 2.15 P.M. they returned on the reverse course, headed south, but there were only seven in the formation. . . . I couldn't make out the number or location of their propellers and couldn't distinguish any wings or tal. They appeared almost round. They looked just like pictures of the Navy's Flying Flapjack," Rankin told a reporter.

The Navy, however, has reported its "flying flapjack"—the XF5U-1—has never left Connecticut.

Rankin, brother of the late stunt pilot Tex Rankin, and a flyer with more than 7,000 hours in the air himself, said he hesitated to report what he saw until he read where others had reported the "saucers." He said he observed them from the ground.

Meanwhile new reports came in from Pacific Northwest residents. Two Portlanders, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Malliet, who said they "didn't believe the story" when they read it in the papers reported they saw at least ten of them flying noiselessly over the Columbia River about noon today.

Shortly afterward Mrs. R. A. Hunt, wife of the Jeffersoy county agent at Madras, Ore., 100 miles southeast of Portland, said she saw six of them high overhead.

Scientists Returning To Bikini Operation

JUL

San Diego, Cal., July 1 (AP)—Bound for Bikini Atoll, where exactly one year ago, an atomic bomb was exploded over the "Operation Crossroads" target fleet, the U.S.S. Chilton, floating headquarters for a scientific resurvey of the atoll, steamed out of San Diego harbor today.

The Chilton will be joined at Pearl Harbor by the submarine recsue vessel Coucal, and in the Marshall Islands, the task group will be completed by addition of the landing craft LCI-1016.

The ships will drop anchor in Bikini Lagoon about July 15, and for six weeks, a staff of civilian scientists and military technicians will conduct extensive studies of the entire area to determine lingering effects of the atom bomb blast.

YUGOSLAVIA RAPS U. S. IN UN TALK

Charges 'Intimidation' Tactics in Denying Balkan Accusations

JUL 1947

LAKE SUCCESS, July 1 — (AP) Yugoslavia struck back at the United States today with a veiled reference to "open intimidation" in the Balkans and a long denial that the Belgrade government ever stirred up trouble in that area.

Dr. Joza Vilfan, new Yugoslav delegate to the United Nations and former attorney general of his country, hit at the United States in an hour-long speech to the U. N. security council and, without naming names, he finally declared:

Hits at "Intimidation"

"We agree that most recently there exist in international relations methods of intimidation—no only concealed intimidation, as stated by the representative of the United States—but even open intimidation. In any event, Yugoslavia is the last country which could be accused of intimidation. But as to intimidation, the Balkan countries can tell much."

Warren R. Austin, United States delegate, charged in a sharp speech last week that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania were causing the trouble in the Balkans. A majority of the U. N. Balkans investigating commission already had decided that those three countries were mainly responsible for the Balkan disorders.

Joining Albania and Bulgaria in their previous denials, Vilfan told the security council that:

1. The commission accusation that Yugoslavia supplied Greek partisans with arms was based on "unfounded, unverified and insignificant testimony."

2. Incidents involving aid to Greek guerrillas never occurred; they were invented by the Greek government.

Vilfan urged the council to discuss each question in the report separately. The report is the longest yet submitted by a U. N. commission and this procedure would tie up the council for an indefinite period.

Surprised by Objections

Fernand Van Langenhove, Belgium, expressed surprise at objections to a United States proposal that a frontier commission be created under the security council to help settle the Balkan border difficulties. He said the objection was that this would be contrary to the sovereignty of the states concerned but that he could not hide his surprise at seeing this invoked at the present stage of development of the law of nations.

As the council argued the case, a sub-commission left in Greece by the Balkans commission to watch the trouble zone was reporting difficulties with Yugoslavia and Bulgaria over reported new incidents.

The sub-commission said that Yugoslavia on June 27 refused permission for it to cross the Yugoslav-Greek border to investigate alleged incidents. Yugoslavia told the sub-commission that her investigation showed the incidents did not occur.

The sub-commission also said it had decided to request again permission from Bulgaria to investigate alleged frontier incidents along the Bulgarian-Greek border.

THIRD LEAD ECONOMIC

BY JOSEPH E.DYNAN

PARIS,JULY 1-(AP)-FRENCH INFORMANTS SAID TODAY FRANCE'S FOREIGN MINISTER, GEORGES BIDAULT, HAD DELAYED--AT LEAST TEMPORARILY--THE COLLAPSE OF THE THREE-POWER CONFERENCE CONSIDERING AMERICAN AID FOR EUROPE BY OFFERING A NEW PROPOSAL.

THE RUSSIAN, BRITISH AND FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTERS WILL MEET AGAIN TOMORROW AFTERNOON, THESE SOURCES SAID.

TODAY'S SESSION--THE FOURTH HELD BY THE MINISTERS--LASTED FOR ONLY AN HOUR AND A HALF. BEFORE THE MINISTERS CONVENED TODAY THERE HAD BEEN SPECULATION THAT THIS MIGHT BE THEIR LAST MEETING, SINCE SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV VIRTUALLY HAS VETOED THE PROPOSAL FOR EUROPEAN AID ADVANCED BY U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL.

HOWEVER, BIDAULT KEPT THE CONFERENCE ALIVE, THE FRENCH SAID, BY SUGGESTING ESTABLISHMENT OF A SPECIAL INFORMATION GROUP COMPOSED OF THOSE EUROPEAN COUNTRIES WHICH WISHED TO AFFILIATE WITH SUCH A BODY. THE ORGANIZATION WOULD NOT INTERVENE IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF ANY F THESE COUNTRIES, AND NO ACTION WOULD BE TAKEN WHICH

ANY COUNTRY COULD CONSIDER A VIOLATION OF ITS SOVEREIGNTY.
THE COMMITTEE WOULD BE CALLED ON TO REPORT BEFORE SEPT. 1, 1947
ON EUROPE'S BALANCE SHEET OF NEEDS AND ASSETS. MARSHALL HAD SUGGESTED IN A JUNE 5 SPEECH AT HARVARD UNIVERSITY THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD CONSIDER WHAT AID IT COULD EXTEND TO EUROPE IF THE EUROPEAN NATIONS THEMSELVES AGREED ON AN OVERALL PLAN CONCERNING WHAT THEY LACKED AND WHAT THEY COULD SUPPLY THEMSELVES.
UNDER BIDAULT'S PLAN INFORMATION FOR THE "COMMITTEE OF COOPERATION" WOULD BE GIVEN VOLUNTARILY BY THE COUNTRIES THAT VOLUNTEERED TO JOIN THE GROUP.
OCCUPATION COMMANDERS IN GERMANY, THE INFORMANTS SAID, WOULD FURNISH THE BALANCE SHEET FOR THAT COUNTRY, BUT EVERY FACT INVOLVED IN GERMANY'S REPORT WOULD HAVE TO BE SUBJECT TO THE DECISIONS OF THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS AND THE CONTROL COUNCIL.
SUBCOMMITTEES OF THE COOPERATION COMMITTEE WOULD BE FORMED FOR FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, POWER, TRANSPORT, CAPITAL GOODS, EQUIPMENT AND THE STEEL INDUSTRY.
BEFORE BIDAULT'S COMPROMISE WAS OFFERED, BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY
ERNEST BEVIN AND BIDAULT WERE REPORTED READY TO PROCEED IN CONTINENTAL ECONOMIC PLANNING WITHOUT THE SOVIET UNION IF THE CONFERENCE DOES END IN FAILURE.

SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL, SPEAKING IN WASHINGTON, DENOUNCED AS A MALICIOUS DISTORTION" CHARGES FROM RUSSIAN SOURCES THAT THE UNITED STATES SOUGHT TO USE THE AID-EUROPE PLAN FOR IMPERIALISTIC AIMS.

MARSHALL SAID THE UNITED STATES WAS DETERMINED TO PREVENT ITS ASSISTANCE TO EUROPE FROM BEING USED FOR SELFISH ECONOMIC OR POLITICAL PURPOSES.

BIDAULT'S NEW PROPOSALS STRESSED THAT PARTICIPATING NATIONS WOULD FURNISH THE GENERAL COOPERATION COMMITTEE WITH INFORMATION ON THEIR NEEDS AND RESOURCES OF THEIR OWN FREE WILL. THE COMMITTEE WOULD DETERMINE HOW MUCH PRODUCTIVE DEVELOPMENT EACH NATION COULD MAKE FROM ITS OWN EFFORTS AND BY INTRA-EUROPEAN EXCHANGE OF AVAILABLE RESOURCES.

IN THE CASE OF GERMANY, SUCH INFORMATION WOULD BE SUPPLIED BY THE ALLIED COMMANDERS-IN-CHIEF FOR THE FOUR ZONES. THE DEVELOPMENT OF GERMAN PRODUCTION WOULD BE REQUIRED TO CONFORM WITH DECISIONS OF THE ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL AND THE FOREIGN MINISTERS' COUNCIL.

THE WHOLE PROJECT FOR SUCH AN ORGANIZATION, BIDAULT SUGGESTED, SHOULD BE SUBMITTED TO THE ECONOMIC COMMISSION FOR EUROPE AT ITS NEXT MEETING WHICH OPENS IN GENEVA JULY 5. THE SEAT OF THE PROPOSED NEW AGENCY WOULD BE IN PARIS.

MOLOTOV ASKED WHETHER FRANCE PROPOSED TO EMPLOY GERMANY'S RESOURCES IMMEDIATELY TO MEET EUROPEAN NEEDS WITHOUT REGARD TO REPARATIONS WHICH GERMANY IS EXPECTED TO PAY ALLIED NATIONS. BIDAULT REPLIED THAT WAS A QUESTION FOR THE FOREIGN MINISTERS' COUNCIL, AND REFERRED MOLOTOV TO THE CLAUSE IN THE FRENCH PLAN SUBJECTING ALL DECISIONS ON GERMANY TO THE ALLIED AUTHORITIES.

MOLOTOV ALSO INQUIRED WHETHER FRANCE HAD CHANGED HER VIEWS ON ALLOWING THE LEVEL OF INDUSTRY IN GERMANY TO BE RAISED. BIDAULT SAID FRENCH VIEWS ON THE LEVEL OF INDUSTRY WERE TIED TO THE SETTLEMENT OF REPARATIONS AND THE SATISFACTION OF FRENCH DEMANDS ON THE SAAR AND THE RUHR.

GENEVA, SWITZERLAND, JULY 1-(AP)-PRIVATE COMPETITIVE ENTERPRISE "CAN AND DOES PROVIDE FULL FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION WHILE PRESERVING AND DEFENDING THE FREEDOM OF THE INDIVIDUAL," JAMES DAVID ZELLERBACH, UNITED STATES EMPLOYERS DELEGATE TO THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR CONFERENCE, SAID TODAY.

ZELLERBACH, A PAPER PRODUCTS MANUFACTURER OF SAN FRANCISCO, ADDRESSED A PLENARY SESSION OF THE CONFERENCE.

DECLARING HE REGRETTED THAT IN SOME QUARTERS "IT HAS BECOME FASHIONABLE TO LOOK UPON PROFIT WITH A JAUNDICED EYE," ZELLERBACH SAID THE "RECORD HIGH LEVEL OF EMPLOYMENT IN THE UNITED STATES TODAY" COULD NOT HAVE BEEN REACHED "IF IT WERE NOT FOR THE FACT THAT A CONSIDERABLE NUMBER OF WORKERS ARE EMPLOYED IN THE PRODUCTION OF CAPITAL GOODS." HE SAID THE SOVIET UNION DESTROYS THE INCENTIVE TO PRODUCE.

FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION, THE MANUFACTURER SAID, IS A BASIC FREEDOM WHICH "CAN ONLY BE SAFEGUARDED BY ACTIVE AND CONSTRUCTIVE USE OF IT; BY WORKERS TO IMPROVE THEIR OWN CONDITIONS WITHOUT ADVERSELY AFFECTING THE RIGHTS OF OTHERS; BY EMPLOYERS TO MORE EFFECTIVELY DISCHARGE THEIR MANAGEMENT RESPONSIBILITIES."

HE ADDED THAT "FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION IS NOT AN END IN ITSELF BUT A MEANS OF ACHIEVING ENDURING PROGRESS" BOTH FOR EMPLOYES AND SOCIETY.

IN 1940, LARGELY BECAUSE OF COERCION BY SOVIET AGENTS, THEY ASSERTED, ABOUT THREE-FOURTHS OF THE REFUGEES TOOK OUT SOVIET REGISTRATION PAPERS. THE OTHERS REFUSED.

THE PRO-GOVERNMENT NEWSPAPER SIN WEN PAO REPORTED RICE RIOTS OCCURRED SATURDAY IN THE SZECHWAN PROVINCIAL CAPITAL, CHENGTU. IT SAID THE CAUSE WAS "MAN MADE FAMINE," BUT DID NOT EXPLAIN. NEITHER DID IT REPORT CASUALTIES. SEVERAL SHO'S AND FOOD STALLS WERE RAIDED.

THE EARLY JUNE OUTER MONGOL INCURSION OF SINGKIANG, REMOTE NORTHWESTERN PROVINCE, WAS RECALLED BY THE ARRIVAL OF PENNILESS, WEARY, TATTERED WHITE RUSSIANS WITH STORIES OF RUSSIAN COERCION.

THE WHITE RUSSIANS CHARGED THAT SOVIET AGENTS, POSING AS MONGOLS, TRIED TO COERCE THEM AND OTHERS INTO SIGNING SOVIET REGISTRATION PAPERS AND THAT TROOPS "IN RUSSIAN UNIFORM" WERE STATIONED IN THE DISPUTED SINKIANG-OUTER MONGOLIA BOUNDARY AREA.

OUTER MONGOLIA, A REPULIC, IS SOVIET DOMINATED.

THE REFUGEES' PARENTS HAD FLED FROM RUSSIA TO SINKIANG BETWEEN 1917 AND 1923. THEY SAID THERE WERE ABOUT 20,000 RUSSIANS IN SINKIANG, MANY OF WHOM ARRIVED IN 1936 AFTER THE PROCLAMATION OF A NEW SOVIET CONSTITUTION. THEY FURTHER CHARGED THAT THE NEWLY REGISTERED SOVIET CITIZENS PARTICIPATED IN AN OUTBREAK IN TIHWA, THE SINKIANG CAPITAL, IN NOVEMBER, 1944. THERE HAVE BEEN SEVERAL MINOR MONGOL-SINKIANG INCIDENTS THIS YEAR.

THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT CHARGED THAT OUTER MONGOLIA, WITH SOVIET AID, INVADED SINKIANG MORE THAN 50 MILES LAST MONTH BEFORE ITS TROOPS WERE WITHDRAWN. BOTH MOSCOW AND THE OUTER MONGOLIAN GOVERNMENT DENIED RESPONSIBILITY.

TOKYO,JULY 1 (AP)-THE U.S.NAVY HAS JUST ABOUT DEMILITARIZED WHAT'S LEFT OF THE JAPANESE FLEET BUT IT STILL HAS WORK TO DO IN THESE WATERS.

VICE ADMIRAL ROBERT M.GRIFFIN, WHO COMMANDS UNITED STATES NAVAL FORCES IN THE FAR EAST, SAID TODAY THERE STILL WILL BE JAPANESE SHIPPING TO WATCH, AND ANTI-SMUGGLING PATROLS WILL HAVE TO BE MAINTAINED ALONG WITH A HYDROGRAPHIC OFFICE AND AIR-SEA RESCUE WORK.

THE SHOW OF FORCE IN THE PRESENCE OF U.S.WARSHIPS IS NOT DISCOUNTED, EITHER.

GRIFFIN INTENDS TO CALL A HALT TO MINESWEEPING OPERATIONS. THE NAVAL COMMANDER BELIEVES MOST OF THE MINES NOT DESTROYED ARE NOW INEFFECTIVE.

THE U.S.NAVY BOMBED AND TORPEDOED THE BULK OF THE JAPANESE FLEET IN WAR OPERATIONS. WHEN OCCUPATION FORCES ARRIVED, HOWEVER, THEY FOUND ENOUGH COMBAT SHIPS TO FORM A SIZABLE FLOTILLA. MANY WERE DAMAGED BUT COULD HAVE BEEN REPAIRED.

JAPANESE WORKING UNDER AMERICAN DIRECTION HAVE SCRAPPED SEVEN AIRCRAFT CARRIERS OR ESCORT CARRIERS, FOUR CRUISERS AND THREE AUXILIARIES WHICH WERE OPERABLE OR AT LEAST TOWABLE AT WAR'S END.

ANOTHER CARRIER AND CRUISER WERE

ILIARIES WHICH WERE OPERABLE OR AT LEAST TOWABLE AT WAR'S END.

ANOTHER CARRIER AND CRUISER WERE REFLOATED--AND SCRAPPED. ONE OLD BATTLESHIP WAS RAISED, AND NEARLY SCRAPPED. STILL ANOTHER CAR IS BEING RESURFACED FOR SCRAPPING. THE JAPANESE NEED THE STEEL.

THREE OTHER DAMAGED BATTLESHIPS AND EIGHT CRUISERS HAVE BECEN TRIMMED BY ACETYLENE TORCHES OF EVERYTHING ABOVE THE WATERLINE, REDUCING THEM IN EFFECT TO 11 FLOATING PILES OF STEEL. EVERY OPERABLE SUBMARINE FOUND AFTER THE SURRENDER WAS TOWED TO SEA AND SENT TO THE BOTTOM; INOPERABLE UNDERSEAS CRAFT HAVE BEEN SCRAPPED.

MORE THAN 110,000 TONS OF STEEL HAVE BEEN REALIZED FROM THE SCRAPPING PROGRAM, ALL OF WHICH HAS BEEN HANDED OVER TO THE JAPANESE FOR INDUSTRIAL USE.

DISPOSITION OF MOST OF REMAINING JAPANESE COMBAT SHIPS WILL BE CARRIED OUT THIS SUMMER WITH TRANSFER OF 92 DESTROYERS AND DESTROYER ESCORTS AMONG THE UNITED STATES, SOVIET RUSSIA, BRITAIN AND CHINA.

GRIFFIN DID NOT SAY WHAT THE UNITED STATES INTENDS TO DO WITH THE VESSELS IT DRAWS. SOME WILL BE USED FOR TARGET PRACTICE.

BATAVIA, JAVA,JULY 1-(AP)-LEADERS OF THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC'S "BIG FOUR" POLITICAL PARTIES--ISLAMIC, NATIONALIST, SOCIALIST AND LABOR--INFORMED PRESIDENT SOEKARNO TONIGHT THEY WERE UNABLE TO AGREE ON A NEW PREMIER TO SUCCEED THE OUSTED SUTAN SJAHRIR, A BROADCAST FROM THE INDONESIAN CAPITAL OF JOGJAKARTA SAID.

THE BREAKDOWN OF NEGOTIATIONS WITHIN THE REPUBLIC CAME AT A CRUCIAL PERIOD IN JAVA'S HISTORY, AS THE RICH EAST INDIAN ISLAND WAS THREATENED WITH A RENEWED OUTBREAK OF WAR BETWEEN THE DUTCH AND INDONESIANS.

THE JOGJAKARTA BROADCAST SAID THAT SOEKARNO WOULD ANNOUNCE TOMORROW WHAT STEPS WOULD BE TAKEN TO FORM A NEW REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT.

INDONESIAN SOURCES IN JOGJAKARTA SAID THAT BECAUSE OF THE REPUBLICAN CABINET CRISIS, SOEKARNO HAD NOT BEGUN TO FRAME ANSWERS TO THE DUTCH ULTIMATUM CONCERNING THE MAKEUP OF AN INTERIM GOVERNMENT OR TO A UNITED STATES NOTE URGING THE INDONESIANS TO COOPERATE IN SETTING UP THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT.

SJAHRIR WAS FORCED TO RESIGN FRIDAY BECAUSE SOME REPUBLICAN ELEMENTS THOUGHT HE HAD GRANTED TOO MANY CONCESSIONS TO THE DUTCH. A SPOKESMAN FOR THE FORMER PREMIER SAID IT WAS ALMOST CERTAIN THAT SJAHRIR WOULD NOT ACCEPT ANY POST IN THE NEW GOVERNMENT.

THE CRUX OF THE PRESENT DISPUTE WITH THE DUTCH IS THE MAKEUP OF THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT, WHICH WOULD RULE UNTIL THE INDEPENDENCE OF THE UNITED STATES OF INDONESIA BECAME EFFECTIVE JAN. 1, 1949, UNDER THE CHERIBON AGREEMENT.

THE INDONESIANS ALSO HAVE REFUSED TO ACCEPT DUTCH DEMANDS THAT A JOINT GENDARMERIE OF DUTCH AND INDONESIANS BE ESTABLISHED TO MAINTAIN ORDER IN ALL SECTIONS OF JAVA.

THE OFFICIAL REPUBLICAN NEWS AGENCY ANTARA, MEANWHILE, REPORTED THAT INDONESIAN SHORE BATTERIES AND DUTCH WARSHIPS BATTLED FROM FRIDAY THROUGH SUNDAY IN THE DJEPARA AREA ALONG THE NORTH COAST OF JAVA AND THAT DUTCH ARTILLERY HAD SHELLED INDONESIAN POSITIONS EAST OF MODJOKERTO IN EAST JAVA SATURDAY NIGHT.

GUAM, JULY 1-(AP)-THE PROSECUTION DREW FROM A RELUCTANT JAPANESE WITNESS TODAY FURTHER GRIM DETAILS OF THE ATROCITY DEATHS OF AMERICAN WAR PRISONERS ON TRUK ATOLL IN 1944.

FORMER SURGEON COMMANDER TAKEO OKAMURA, APPEARING AT THE TRIAL OF 19 JAPANESE FOR THE MURDER OF 10 AMERICAN CAPTIVES, TESTIFIED THE CHIEF DEFENDANT, CAPTAIN HIROSHI IWANAMI, DELIVERED AN ANGRY SPEECH AGAINST AIR ATTACKS BEFORE ORDERING TWO AMERICANS BAYONETED AND SPEARED TO DEATH.

OKAMURA TOLD A U.S. MILITARY COMMISSION THAT IWANAMI WAS AROUSED BY "A BOMBING OF THE HOSPITAL IN MIDMORNING TOWARD THE END OF JUNE 1944" AND SAID HE WAS "GOING TO TEST OUR SPIRIT." IWANAMI WAS HOSPITAL COMMANDER.

JUL 1947

THE WITNESS, NOT ON TRIAL HIMSELF, DESCRIBED HOW THE TWO LIVING PRISONERS WERE SUSPENDED LIKE FOOTBALL DUMMIES FROM A CROSSBAR BETWEEN TREES ON A HILL BEHIND THE HOSPITAL WHERE A CROWD HAD ASSEMBLED. WHEN IWANAMI FINISHED HIS SPEECH, OKAMURA SAID, HE ORDERED BLINDFOLDS TAKEN OFF THE AMERICANS.

"NO ONE MOVED," HE RELATED. "HE (IWANAMI) REPEATED THE COMMAND SEVERAL TIMES AND FINALLY THE BLINDFOLDS WERE REMOVED. I DON'T REMEMBER WHO DID IT."

THEN, HE CONTINUED, "ABOUT TEN" MEN IN A COLUMN CHARGED AT THE PRISONERS UNTIL THE VICTIMS WERE DEAD. THE PROSECUTION CONTENDS BAYONETS AND BAMBOO SPEARS WERE USED AGAINST THESE TWO VICTIMS, AND THAT EIGHT OTHER DIES IN BACTERIA, TOURNIQUET AND DYNAMITE EXPERIMENTS.

HAWAII (350)

JUL 1947

BY HARRISON HUMPHRIES

WASHINGTON, JULY 1-(AP)-HAWAII'S 50-YEAR-OLD BID FOR STATEHOOD RESTED AT THE CONGRESSIONAL HALF-WAY MARK TODAY.

THE HOUSE PASSED A BILL YESTERDAY TO ADMIT THE ISLANDS AS THE 49TH STATE. BUT SENATE ACTION THIS YEAR APPEARS UNLIKELY.

CHAIRMAN BUTLER (R-NEB) OF THE SENATE PUBLIC LANDS COMMITTEE TOLD A REPORTER IT WILL BE "IMPOSSIBLE" TO BRING THE MEASURE TO THE SENATE FLOOR BEFORE CONGRESS ADJOURNS LATE THIS MONTH.

HE SAID IT IS "POSSIBLE, BUT NOT PROBABLE," THAT HE AND OTHER MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE MAY VISIT THE ISLANDS THIS FALL, BEFORE CONGRESS RECONVENES, AND HOLD HEARINGS ON THE QUESTION. THAT WOULD PERMIT THE SENATE TO ACT ON THE MEASURE EARLY IN 1948.

MEANWHILE, BUTLER SUGGESTED THAT SOME THOUGHT BE GIVEN TO HIS OWN PROPOSAL TO MAKE HAWAII A CALIFORNIA COUNTY.

JOSEPH R.FARRINGTON, HAWAII'S NON-VOTING REPUBLICAN DELEGATE TO CONGRESS, MADE IT CLEAR TO THE HOUSE, HOWEVER, THAT HAWAII WANTS STATEHOOD AND NOTHING ELSE.

COMMENTING ON A SUGGESTION OF NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER, PRESIDENT EMERITUS OF COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, THAT HAWAII BE MADE AN INDEPENDENT NATION, FARRINGTON SAID "NOTHING IS MORE ABHORRENT TO US."

HAWAII APPEALED TO THE UNITED STATES FOR STATEHOOD IN 1897 AND HER ANNEXATION AS AN INCORPORATED TERRITORY A YEAR LATER CARRIED THE IMPLICATION, HE SAID, THAT STATEHOOD WOULD FOLLOW.

HE ASKED THE HOUSE, IN "FAIR PLAY," TO GRANT STATEHOOD NOW.

THE HOUSE APPROVED FARRINGTON'S BILL, 196 TO 133, WITH 141 REPUBLICANS AND 55 DEMOCRATS VOTING FOR IT AND 56 REPUBLICANS AND 77 DEMOCRATS AGAINST.

REP. PRESTON (D-GA) OBJECTED TO STATEHOOD BECAUSE A LARGE PERCENTAGE OF HAWAII'S POPULATION IS OF ORIENTAL EXTRACTION. A THIRD OF ITS PEOPLE, HE SAID, ARE "DESCENDANTS OF THE EMPEROR OF JAPAN."

WHEN THE DEBATE TURNED TO THE ISSUE OF LOYALTY DURING WORLD WAR II, REP. CLAIR ENGLE (D-CALIF) SAID THERE WAS "NOT ONE IOTA OF EVIDENCE OF DISLOYALTY"
AMONG THE HAWAIIANS OF JAPANESE ANCESTRY.

REP. LEROY JOHNSON (R-CALIF) SECLARED THEY WERE "MORE LOYAL, MORE DEVOTED AND GAVE BETTER SERVICE TO THE UNITED STATES THAN THE JAPANESE OF CALIFORNIA."

FARRINGTON ESTIMATED THAT IT WOULD TAKE 12 TO 18 MONTHS FOR HAWAII TO BECOME A STATE EVEN IF THE BILL IS PASSED BY THE SENATE AND SIGNED BY THE PRESIDENT.

HAWAII WOULD HAVE TO ELECT DELEGATES TO DRAFT A STATE CONSTITUTION, SUBMIT THE CONSTITUTION TO THE PEOPLE OF HAWAII AND THE PRESIDENT FOR APPROVAL, AND ELECT STATE OFFICIALS BEFORE IT COULD BECOME A STATE BY PRESIDENTIAL PROCLAMATION.

BRIDGES, CHAIRMAN OF THE SENATE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE WHICH WILL HAVE TO PASS ON THE MONEY TO PAY FOR U.S. AID, SAID THIS COUNTRY "CERTAINLY" SHOULD NOT GIVE ANY HELP TO RUSSIA OR RUSSIAN-DOMINATED AREAS UNLESS THE SOVIET UNION MAKES A BROAD CHANGE OF POLICY.

ASKED IF THIS COUNTRY SHOULD EXTEND AID TO SO-CALLED RUSSIAN SATELLITE COUNTRIES, BRIDGES ANSWERED:

"UNLESS RUSSIA CHANGES HER PRESENT ATTITUDE AND DISPLAYS TO THE WORLD A SINCERE INTEREST IN WORLD PROGRESS AND WORLD PEACE I SAY THAT AMERICA CERTAINLY SHOULD NOT EXTEND ECONOMIC AID TO HER OR HER SATELLITES."

FULBRIGHT DECLARED THAT "RUSSIA HAS SHOWN WITHIN THE LAST FEW DAYS THAT SHE DOES NOT DESIRE REHABILITATION OF ANY EUROPEAN COUNTRY UNLESS IT IS COMMUNIST-CONTROLLED AND ISOLATED BY THE IRON CURTAIN."

RUSSIA'S COURSE OF EXPANSION, HE CONTINUED, WILL IF IT GOES ON, "THREATEN THE SECURITY OF ALL OTHER PEOPLES INCLUDING OURSELVES. TO PREVENT UNLIMITED EXPANSION OF RUSSIAN COMMUNISM AND THE CONSEQUENT THREAT TO OUR OWN SECURITY IT IS IMPORTANT TO CREATE IF POSSIBLE A UNITED INDEPENDENT AND STRONG EUROPE."

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 1-(AP)-DESPITE STRONG RUSSIAN OBJECTIONS, MOST MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL AGREED TODAY THEY HAD MADE PROGRESS TOWARD A WORLD SECURITY FORCE BY GETTING ACTUAL FIGURES FROM THE U.N.MILITARY STAFF COMMITTEE.

OFFICERS FROM THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND FRANCE SUBMITTED YESTERDA, AFTER A TWO-HOUR MEETING HERE, THEIR IDEAS ON WHAT FORCE WOULD BE NECESSARY TO MAINTAIN WORLD PEACE. THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION SAID THAT THIS FORCE SHOULD BE AT LEAST 3,800 WARPLANES, 20 DIVISIONS OF GROUND TROOPS, THREE BATTLESHIPS, AND SIX CARRIERS.

ANDREI A.GROMYKO, SOVIET DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER, LAMBASTED THE REPORT AS A PRODUCT OF A "THEATRICAL PERFORMANCE" BY THE MILITARY MEN. HE SAID NO FIGURES ON THE WORLD FORCE COULD BE DRAWN WITH ANY AUTHORITY UNTIL THE U.N. HAD AGREED ON PRINCIPLES.

SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN OF BRITAIN, WHO SOUGHT FOR MONTHS LAST WINTER TO GET ACTION FROM THE MILITARY STAFF COMMITTEE, PRAISED THE ESTIMATES AS HAVING SOME VALUE. HE SAID THEY WERE PROVISIONAL BUT THAT THE OFFICERS "HAVE AT LAST STARTED THE BALL ROLLING."

HIS SENTIMENT WAS ECHOED BY ALEXANDRE PARODI OF FRANCE, WHO SAID THAT THE METHOD OF ASKING THE MILITARY STAFF COMMITTEE FOR SUCH INFORMAL OPINIONS WOULD PRODUCE RESULTS.

ONE OF THE BASIC DIFFERENCES ON PRINCIPLE IS BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE UNITED STATES.

THE SOVIET HAS DEMANDED THAT THE WORLD POLICE FORCE CONSIST OF EQUAL CONTRIBUTIONS FROM THE POWERS, A GUN FOR A GUN, A DIVISION OF TROOPS FOR A DIVISION.

THE UNITED STATES MAINTAINS, HOWEVER, THAT THESE CONTRIBUTIONS SHOULD BE ON A COMPARABLE BASIS. IN THAT CASE, ONE COUNTRY WOULD FURNISH MORE PLANES THAN ANOTHER COUNTRY IN PROPORTION TO THE NUMBER OF PLANES EACH NATION HAS.

THE BRITISH OFFICERS ON THE MILITARY STAFF COMITTEE SUGGESTED THE WORLD FORCE SHOULD HAVE 1,200 PLANES, EIGHT TO 12 DIVISIONS OF TROOPS, TWO BATTLESHIPS, FOUR CARRIERS AND OTHER SHIPS. CHINA CONCURRED IN THAT ESTIMATE AND DID NOT SUBMIT ONE.

FRANCE SUGGESTED 1,275 PLANES, 16 DIVISIONS, THREE BATTLESHIPS, SIX CARRIERS, NINE CRUISERS, AND OTHER SMALLER VESSELS.

EACH DELEGATION STRESSED THAT THE ESTIMATES WERE MADE INDIVIDUALLY AND DID NOT COMMIT ITS GOVERNMENT.

THREE-POWER TALKS ON MARSHALL PROGRAM END IN FAILURE IN PARIS

JUL 1947

Russia Refuses to Join in Co-operative Effort at European Recovery.

Paris, July 2 (A. P.).—The three-Power Foreign Ministers' conference on the Marshall proposal ended in failure today when the Russians refused to agree to join in a co-operative international effort for European economic recovery.

The French Government immediately announced that France and Great Britain would pursue a study of the Marshall aid-to-Europe program along with any countries which wish to join them.

Before the conference was terminated Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov declared that British-French proposals relating to Secretary of State Marshall's suggestions would lead to a division of Europe. He also predicted that the proposals would "lead to no good results."

The British-French suggestions had dealt with organizing the Continent for mutual self-help with financial aid from the United States, as suggested by Secretary Marshall in a speech at Harvard University June 5.

A high Soviet official said today's session ended the conference.

'It's Finished,' Bidault Says.

"It is finished," French Foreign Minister Bidault told French newspaper men as he walked out of the Foreign Ministry.

An official British informant predicted earlier that Great Britain and France soon would invite other European countries to participate in a program of overall economic planning to help restore the continent's war-shattered economy.

A French informant said British Foreign Secretary Bevin declared in a heated outburst that Molotov's statement was "a travesty of facts." The informant quoted Bevin as continuing:

"I don't know if he (Molotov) is repeating intentionally a false interpretation of things in the hope that people will finish by believing this erroneous interpretation.

"I regret the threats which have been pronounced with regard to the eventual consequence of our envisaged decision, but my country already has had the occasion to face up to such a situation and will continue to do so."

French Foreign Minister Bidault cautioned the Soviet Union upon a decision which would divide Europe into two groups of Powers. The world, he said, had been a witness that France had done all she could to prevent such a division.

"France solemnly declines all responsibility for the consequences of a decision which she has done her utmost to avoid," he said.

The French-British plan would have set up a steering committee for Europe. Molotov assailed the plan as invading the sovereignty of European States.

Molotov's statement, issued by a Soviet embassy official, said the plan called for a new organization "standing over and above the countries of Europe and interfering in their internal affairs down to determining the line of development to be followed by the main branches of industry in those countries."

Asserting that American control would call the tune, he continued: "It is now suggested that the possibility of American aid being received by this or that country involves an obedient attitude on its part vis-a-vis the above-mentioned organization and its steering commitee.

"Where is this likely to lead?"

Molotov left the meeting about five minutes before British Foreign Secretary Bevin. French Foreign Minister Bidault accompanied him to the door of the Foreign Ministry, shook hands, and went back upstairs to confer with Bevin.

The French and British Ministers, preceded by a Scotland Yard man, came down together from the Hall of Parrots, where the conference had been held. It was reported that a joint French-British announcement would be issued.

Molotov's Statement.

Molotov, opening today's session, made a five-page statement criticizing the British-French proposals as a threat to the economic independence and sovereignty of the small European nations.

"Under these conditions," he said of the proposals, "how would the small countries and in general the less powerful States be able to safeguard their national economies and their independence?

"The Soviet Government certainly cannot venture along this path and continue to support its proposals put forward at this conference on June 30.

"The Soviet Government, while favoring the development of international collaboration on the basis of equal rights and mutual respect for the interests of the contracting parties, cannot lend its assistance to any one in arranging his affairs at the expense of other countries of less strength or size. This has nothing in common with normal cooperation between States.

"The Soviet Government considers that the Anglo-French plan to set up a special organization for the co-ordination of the economies of European states would lead to interference in the internal affairs of European countries. The Soviet Government rejects this plan as being altogether unsatisfactory and incapable of yielding any positive results."

Bidault Offered Compromise.

Molotov assailed those parts of the British-French proposals which dealt with Germany as tending to take away the "justified reparations" claims of those Allied countries which suffered from German aggression.

The compromise under discussion was offered yesterday by Bidault in an effort to keep the conference alive. The conference was called after Secretary of State Marshall had suggested that European nations should agree among themselves on a plan for European reconstruction for which the United States would consider granting aid.

PARIS CONFERENCE ON AMERICAN AID ENDS IN FAILURE

Molotov Warns of Consequences if Action Is Taken Without Red Cooperation.

BEVIN HITS BACK

TOM WILLIAMS

Asserts British Will Pursue Efforts to Implement Marshall Program.

PARIS, July 2—(AP)—The three power conference on American aid to Europe collapsed today after Russia rejected British and French proposals for an economic steering committee and warned the two western powers "against the consequences" of going ahead without Soviet cooperation.

France and Britain promptly defied what British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin called the Soviet "threats" and announced they would pursue their attempts to implement the program of U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall along with all countries which want to join them.

'Cautions' Britain, France

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov declared the British-French plan would result in "dividing Europe into two groups of states and creating new difficulties in the relations between them."

"The Soviet government considers it necessary to caution the governments of Great Britain and France against the consequences of such action," Molotov declared.

Bevin, in a heated outburst, called Molotov's statement a "travesty of facts" and made it clear that Britain would not be swayed from her decision to implement the Marshall plan, with or without Soviet cooperation.

A British foreign office spokesman quoted Bevin as saying he "regretted that Mr. Molotov had threatened that if we continue this beneficent work we must face grave consequences."

Regrets Russian 'Threat'

"Well, my country has faced grave consequences and threats before," Bevin was quoted as saying. "But it is not the sort of prospect which will deter us from doing what we consider our duty. Nevertheless, I profoundly regret that threat. Our policy is to dominate none and to cooperate with everyone.

"We shall work as closely as we can with the UN and inform it and its various bodies and all the governments of what we are doing."

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault blamed Russia for any possible division of Europe and said France had done all she could to avoid such a division.

"France solemnly declines all responsibility for the consequences of a decision which she has done her utmost to avoid," Bidault said.

In conclusion, he declared that France would continue to study methods of implementing the Marshall plan and said:

"I add in the name of the National Assembly and in the name of the French government that France has decided to so continue."

British-French Plan Aims

The British-French plan called for establishment of a steering or cooperation committee and a group of technical sub-committees to assemble information on the resources of European countries and sum up their needs by Sept. 1.

It provided that participation by countries would be on a voluntary basis. It also provided that the whole project would be submitted to the UN's economic commission for Europe which meets in Geneva Saturday.

Molotov, in rejecting the plan, declared that it would constitute a threat to the sovereignty of other European nations and would result in interference with their internal affairs.

Terms Plan Unsatisfactory

"The Soviet government," he said, "rejects this plan as being altogether unsatisfactory and incapable of yielding any positive results."

In warning the British and French against trying to pursue the question further, Molotov said:

"In that case American credits would serve not to facilitate the economic rehabilitation of Europe, but to make use of some European countries against other European countries in whatever way certain strong powers seeking to establish their domination should find it profitable to do so."

At the end of the meeting Molotov and Bidault, chatting and smiling, emerged from the conference room and walked down the red-carpeted stairs of the Quai d'Orsay together. Bevin came out a few moments later.

Soviet embassy attaches, who distributed copies of Molotov's statement, said they did not know when he would return to Moscow.

Hits at Other 'Faults'

Molotov, besides charging that the British-French plan would threaten the sovereignty of some countries, struck out at two other faults which he said the plan contained.

The first, he said, was that Britain and France would form a dominant group within the proposed committee.

The second was that no attempt had been made to set up an all-German government, that even further divisions of western Germany were being contemplated, and that in proposing to use German reparations "for purposes other than reparations" the plan showed "no special concern for those countries which had made the greatest sacrifices during the war as well as important contributions to allied victory."

After turning down the plan of the western powers, Molotov said:

"The Soviet Union favors the fullest development of economic collaboration between European and other countries on a healthy basis of equality and mutual respect for national interests and has itself constantly contributed and will contribute to this end by the expansion of trade with other countries."

Just before the session closed, he expressed the wish that all proposals, including those of the Soviet delegation, would be published as, he said, they had been in Russia. He received assurances from Bevin and Bidault that their people would be fully informed.

Bidault, in his reply to Molotov's attack on the British-French proposals, declared that "true independence cannot be built upon misery and hunger, but must be affirmed in human cooperation and prosperity."

Both Bidault and Bevin said they would ask all European governments to collaborate with them in carrying out their general continental reconstruction idea. British sources said Britain and France would respond jointly to the Marshall proposal and would circulate communications to this effect to all European nations except Russia and Spain.

Molotov Reply To Final Aid Plan Due

JUL 1947

Paris, July 2 (AP)—Britain and France today awaited a Soviet reply to a final French compromise proposal for economic co-operation under the Marshall aid-for-Europe plan. Both were ready to go ahead without Russia, in the event of rejection.

In a meeting today at the Foreign Ministry, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was scheduled to answer a proposition backed on a take-it-or-leave-it basis by both British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

Outlook Is Dark

The meeting was the Ministers' fifth since last Friday for discussion of Secretary of State George C. Marshall's offer of United States help in a European economic reconstruction program to be planned mainly by European nations. Marshall made his offer in a Harvard University speech June 5.

British quarters were pessimistic about the chances for agreement. French circles forecast an end to the conference today.

Informed sources gave this account of yesterday's hour-and-40-minute session:

Bidault presented the latest proposal in a last-minute move to break the conference deadlock between Russia, which wants to limit European planning to a survey of needs, and Britain and France, which think the Continent should do more to help itself.

[London heard a Moscow radio broadcast last night of a Paris dispatch of the official Soviet news agency Tass that said Bidault's compromise plan did not differ from the British plan"—both of which Molotov rejected.]

Charges Interference

Bidault and Bevin demanded a quick answer to Bidault's statement. When Molotov protested that he needed time to study the suggestions, they consented to wait 24 hours.

On Monday, Molotov had objected that earlier British-French proposals would lead to interference with individual nations' economic plans. He suggested committees to find out what European countries needed and what they could expect from the United States and to define the program's relationship to the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe.

In his statement late yesterday, Bidault denied any intended interference in participating countries' internal affairs. He proposed to make European reciprocal aid purely voluntary and to give the United Nations Commission a look-in on the planning.

Would List Resources

Bidault suggested the formation of a general co-operation committee of European nations with six subcommittees. This committee would draw up a continental economic balance sheet as a basis for asking American help. The balance sheet would list not only needs, as in the Russian plan, but resources as well.

The committees would report by September 1, and the report would be turned over to the commission "for observations."

Statements by Molotov, Bevin and Bidault on European Aid Plan

PARIS, July 2 (AP)—Following is the text of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's statement at the final meeting of the three-power conference on the Marshall Plan and excerpts from subsequent statements by British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Bidault:

By Mr. Molotov

The Soviet delegation has carefully examined the proposal submitted by the French delegation on July 1.

The French draft as well as the previous proposal of the British delegation sets the task of drawing up an economic program for the whole of Europe, even though the majority of European countries are known to have no nation-wide economic programs of their own. With a view to elaborating such a comprehensive European program it is proposed to set up a special organization charged with assessing the resources and needs of European countries and even with determining the development of the main branches of industry of these countries and only after that with ascertaining the possibilities of receiving American economic aid.

Therefore, the question of American economic aid of which indeed nothing definite is yet known has now provided an occasion for the British and French Governments to seek the creation of a new organization standing over and above the countries of Europe and interfering in their internal affairs down to determining the line of development to be followed by the main branches of industry in these countries. Furthermore, Great Britain and France together with the countries close to them are laying claim to a predominant position in this organization or in the so-called "Steering Committee" for Europe as it has been named in the British draft.

Verbal reservations are now being made to the effect that this organization would allegedly not intervene in the internal affairs of these states and would not encroach upon their sovereignty. But it clearly follows from the tasks which are being set before this organization or before the "Steering Committee" that the European countries would find themselves placed under control and would lose their former economic and national independence because it so pleases certain strong powers.

Outside Pressure Feared

In any case it is now suggested that the possibility of American aid being received by this or that country involves an obedient attitude on its part vis-a-vis the above-mentioned organization and its "Steering Committee."

Where is this likely to lead?

Today pressure might be put on Poland to produce more coal even though it be at the expense of the other branches of Polish industry because that is in the interest of certain European countries; tomorrow it will be said that Czechoslovakia must be required to increase her agricultural production and to reduce her engineering industry and it will be proposed that Czechoslovakia should receive machinery from other European countries wishing to sell goods at higher prices.

Or, as the newspapers recently reported, Norway will be compelled to discontinue the development of her steel industry because that is more convenient to certain foreign steel corporations, etc.

What would then remain of the economic independence and sovereignty of such European countries?

Under these conditions how would the small countries and in general the less powerful states be able to safeguard their national economies and independence?

The Soviet Government certainly cannot venture along this path and continues to support its proposals put forth at this conference June 30. Nor does the Soviet Government share the enthusiasm regarding foreign support made apparent in the last French draft.

Foresees Controls by U. S.

When efforts are directed toward Europe helping herself in the first place and developing her economic potentialities as well as the exchange of goods between countries, such efforts are in conformity with the interests of the countries of Europe. When, however, it is stated as in the French proposal that the decisive hold on the rehabilitation of the economic life of European countries should belong to the United States and not to the European countries themselves, such a position stands in contradiction to the interests of European countries since it might lead to a denial of their economic independence, which denial is incompatible with national sovereignty.

The Soviet delegation believes that internal measures and the national efforts of each country should have a decisive importance for the countries of Europe and not make calculations for foreign support which should be of secondary importance. The Soviet Union has always counted above all on its own powers and is known to be on a steady way of progress of its economic life.

The first form of cooperation is based on the development of political and economic relations between states possessing equal rights and in that case their national sovereignty does not suffer from foreign interference.

Such is the democratic basis for international cooperation which brings nations closer together and facilitates the task of their mutual aid.

There exists, however, a different form of international cooperation based on the predominant position of one or several strong powers in relation to other countries which slip into the position of subordinated countries deprived of their independence.

French Plan Rejected

It is perfectly obvious that the first form of cooperation between states when they act as parties possessing equal rights is radically different from the second form of international cooperation, when this principle is not observed.

The Soviet Government, while favoring the development of international collaboration on the basis of equal rights and mutual respect for the interests of the contracting parties, cannot lend its assistance to anyone in arranging his affairs at the expense of other countries of less strength or size because this has nothing in common with normal cooperation between states.

The Soviet Government, considering that the Anglo-French plan to set up a special organization for the coordination of the economies of European states would lead to interference in the internal affairs of European countries, particularly those which have the greatest need for outside aid, and believing that this can only complicate relations between the countries of Europe and hamper their cooperation, rejects this plan as being altogether unsatisfactory and incapable of yielding any positive results.

On the other hand the Soviet Union favors the fullest development of economic collaboration between European and other countries on a healthy basis of equality and mutual respect for national interests and has itself constantly contributed and will contribute to this end by the expansion of trade with other countries.

Divided Germany Feared

The fact that the Franco-British proposals raise the question of Germany and her resources merits special attention. It is proposed that the above-mentioned organization or the "Steering Committee" should also deal with the utilization of German resources although it is generally known that the justified reparation claims of those Allied countries which had suffered from German aggression still remain to be met.

Therefore, not only is no special concern being shown for those countries which had made the greatest sacrifices during the war as well as important contributions to Allied victory but indeed it is at their expense that it is proposed to direct the resources of Germany for purposes other than reparations.

On the other hand nothing is being done to expedite the setting up of an all-German government which would be qualified to take care of the needs of the German people better than anyone else.

On the contrary the policy of federalizing Germany is still being carried out in the Western zones of Germany as well as the line of action directed toward a still great separation of Western German territories from the rest of Germany, a fact which is incompatible with the genuine restoration of Germany as a united democratic state forming part of the European family of peace-loving states.

Predicts "No Good Results"

What would the implementation of the Franco-British proposal concerning the setting up of a special organization or of a "Steering Committee" for the elaboration of a comprehensive European economic program lead to?

It would lead to no good results.

It would lead to Great Britain, France and that group of countries which follows them separating themselves from the other European states and thus dividing Europe into two groups of states and creating new difficulties in the relations between them.

In that case American credits would serve not to facilitate the economic rehabilitation of Europe but to make use of some European countries against other European countries in whatever way certain strong powers seeking to establish their domination should find it profitable to do so.

The Soviet Government considers it necessary to caution the governments of Great Britain and of France against the consequences of such action which would be directed not toward the unification of the efforts of the countries of Europe in the task of their economic rehabilitation after the war, but would lead to opposite results, which have nothing in common with the real interests of the peoples of Europe.

By Mr. Bevin

Mr. Molotov's objections to the Franco-British program were based on a complete travesty of the facts and a complete misrepresentation of everything the British Government had submitted. I suppose the method is to go on repeating those misrepresentations in the hope that someone would at last believe them. The British documents would speak for themselves.

It is a fundamental principle by which we work not to interfere in the internal affairs of other countries and we hope the national sovereignty of European powers will be recognized and respected equally by everyone while this attempt is being made to achieve economic cooperation.

From the beginning I have seen in the Marshall proposal a way to secure quickly the rehabilitation and independence of Europe—not a way to undermine it; to make Europe free—not to provide for the domination of any one state.

When this meeting began I had hoped that all three of us would be able jointly to give Europe a lead, to cooperate in finding a way to put the Continent on its feet again.

That has not proved to be the case.

But Britain will continue to strive for the unity of Europe, for the independence of Europe and for the independence of its national units.

Regrets Molotov Threat

I regret that Mr. Molotov has threatened that if we continued this beneficent work we must face grave consequences.

Well, my country has faced grave consequences and threats before. It is not the sort of prospect which will deter us from doing what we consider our duty.

Nevertheless, I profoundly regret that threat.

Our policy is to dominate none and to cooperate with everyone. We shall work as closely as we can with the United Nations organization and inform it and its various bodies and all the governments of what we are doing.

If there are governments which will not cooperate, then we shall at least have discharged our duty by trying to help them.

I regret that in the course of the meeting, suspicions have been expressed of Britain's intentions. By our action we will prove these to have been unjustified and in the end, perhaps by example, we may win when by argument we can't.

By M. Bidault

I have heard with much interest, and also with some disappointment, the declaration of Mr. Molotov. His conclusion puts my country on guard. I would like for my part to put the Soviet delegation on guard against any action which might result in separating Europe into two groups.

So far as it is concerned, the French Government rejects every suspicion of hegemony. The interest of European peoples is to be united and not to be divided. The universe is witness that France has done all she can to prevent such a division, and she solemnly declines all responsibility for the consequences of a decision which she has done her utmost to avert.

I would like to present some observations on the criticisms which have been made against the last proposal of the French Government. Several times it was mentioned that it was in effect a program imposing certain restraints on various European nations.

I recall, once again, that what we want to ask of European nations is a balance sheet and that their independence is entirely preserved. National statistics ought to be added up and compared in a manner to determine their resources and their needs.

In this procedure there is not a shadow of suspicion of restraint imposed upon Europe. As to the organization which ought to attempt to establish this balance sheet it will operate without force and according to facts which will be furnished to it.

It has been mentioned that American aid was uncertain. It will be even more uncertain if the facts of the problem are not respected and if naturally Europe does not speak up to say—I repeat this for at least the fourth time—what she can do for herself and what we as a whole are lacking.

Denies Seeking Domination

They tell us: This is a pretext to interfere in the internal affairs of other peoples. I have declared several times, I have even put it in writing, that it is not a question of fixing directives by way of authority. It is simply a question of knowing the production and objectives of these various countries and of harmonizing them in complete liberty.

Neither England, I am sure, nor France, in any case, I affirm, seeks a dominating place in such an organization. But we have learned from the experience of existing international organizations that the role of great powers cannot be underestimated. This is why we have thought, as is normal in every other case, that it was their duty to take the initiative.

Consequently there were not only verbal reserves as to non-interference in internal affairs and as to guarantee of the individual sovereignty of States, but clear and categorical commitment. There can be no question of controlled countries which would be subjected to the pleasure of some great powers. Acceptance of European countries is not conditioned on their obedience but on their independent acceptance.

They will participate if they so desire and my information is that a great number of them wish to participate. Their benevolent co-operation will be very welcome. Naturally no co-operation other than benevolent co-operation can be accepted.

All hypotheses which have been put forth by Molotov—one, for example, that Poland would be obliged to concentrate on coal to the detriment of other industries, that Czechoslovakia would be obliged to abandon certain industries in which she excels in favor of development of her agriculture, that Norway would have to reduce her steel production—none of these can be upheld.

Reassures Other Nations

We are well qualified to say that no plan concerning any one of these countries has ever been in the mind of the French delegation.

These three countries need help. All that would be asked of them is what they are capable of providing from their side to Europe in exchange for possible aid which would come first of all from other European countries and later from America.

They have facts better than we have them and we ask them to furnish them in view of establishing an over-all balance sheet.

What, then, remains of independence of European states? That is a question which has been posed. There remains exactly all of it. I have never been able to understand that collaboration of states can be achieved only at expense of their independence. Cooperation among states, neighbors or distant, is carried on with respect for mutual independence, and collaboration which does not respect that independence is without value.

It is consequently in independence and for independence that their cooperation is sought. • • • It is a question in the first place of the individual effort of each state which nothing can replace. Each state ought do the maximum possible with the means which the destruction of war have left to it to reconstruct itself.

Then upon the Continent, of limited extent, we must organize an effort of indispensable mutual assistance to coordinate our means in friendship and within this maintained independence.

Finally, for the difference and in a temporary manner, it is fitting to turn ourselves to another Continent which emerged from war unscathed and whose resources are immense to aid countries which have horribly suffered because they were the first and the principals to endure the horror.

I realize that a term has been placed in the French delegation's proposal—the words "decisive role" of American aid. I must excuse myself to have to give here an explanation of vocabulary. "Decisive role" does not signify the principal role.

Since around this table we are former companions in combat—even sometimes of combat among ourselves—I might recall that in French victory and in French defeat at Marengo, at Waterloo, the decisive role was played by several thousand men who arrived at the last moment. It was the decisive role but it was not the principal role.

Calls U. S. Role Decisive

As to the principal role we will assume it is each of us, all of us together, I hope, while the decisive role for several months to come we hope will be played by the United States.

The United States is the several thousand men who will decide the battle and victory against misery.

So far as Germany is concerned I want to say again what I had to say yesterday. The position of the French Government is not changed on the question of reparations. The only reference to it in the French proposal provides for consultation of the commanders in chief.

As for countries which suffered from the war which were victims of Hitlerian aggression I have myself mentioned in a spirit of sympathy for the Soviet proposition the possibility of setting up all priorities possible.

I now see reappearing, it is true, the idea of a unified government for Germany to which, as is well-known, the French Government is not at all favorable, at least not today. I want to recall that this matter cannot be the object of three-sided deliberation. Thus on all points concerning Germany it seems to me they were answered yesterday. I do not want to embark upon useless repetition.

The French proposition does not and will not intend to enchain the economies of smaller countries but on the contrary to liberate them.

The day when we have modernized our economy, when we are able to pay for our essential purchases with our own sales of our own products with our own means, then we shall be truly independent. Independence is not achieved in misery and isolation but affirmed in human cooperation and prosperity.

BRITAIN FEARS MARSHALL AID PLAN FAILURE

Reported Ready To Make Slash In Overseas Buying Program

London, July 2 (AP)—A high Government source said today that Downing Street was extremely pessimistic despite plans of Britain and France to go ahead without Russia on the American program of economic aid to Europe.

This source frankly admitted the possibility that an effective program for continental recovery might easily fail without the support of Russia and the Soviet-orbit countries.

As a result, he said, Britain is ready to slash "really drastically" her entire overseas buying program if the plan of Gen. George C. Marshall United States Secretary of State, falls through.

Morrison Warns Of Depression

Shortly before the breakup of the Paris meeting, Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison told a news conference that the entire burden of world reconstruction could not "be placed on Uncle Sam."

He warned of a world-wide depression unless world trade was expanded and said the Marshall offer has shown that the United States Government is "alive to the facts."

"But if anyone gets into the habit of thinking all we have to do is to send the bill into the United States he is wrong," Morrison declared. He added that there must be a joint effort of all concerned.

Further Cuts Suggested

Morrison said the Labor Government was preparing to launch a three-year or five-year plan to carry the country through its post-war economic crisis.

A Government source said a collapse of the Marshall plan would signal the beginning of new cuts in imports. Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, is expected to tell the House of Commons tomorrow exactly how the slashed buying program would affect Britain's production and export drive.

Britain Set To Slash Buying, If Parley Fails

London, July 2 (AP)—A high Government source said today Britain was ready to slash "really drastically" her entire overseas buying program, should the Marshall aid-Europe proposal fall through.

The United States, as Britain's principal supplier, would be affected more seriously than any other country by these cuts, this source said.

Pessimism was blanketing Downing Street over the prospects of Soviet participation, he declared, adding that although Britain certainly would attempt to carry on under the plan with France and other western European states, there was no gainsaying the possibility that an effective program for continental recovery might collapse without Russia and Russian-orbit countries.

France's Position

Britain, he went on, realized that the present French Government, faced with the power of the Communists in that country, would accept only with the greatest unwillingness a plan that might split Europe in two.

Bearing these things in mind, the informant added, the British Cabinet has revamped the country's entire import program. And, he said, collapse of the Marshall proposals would set the curtailment program in action.

Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has already announced substantial cuts of British tobacco, film and food imports, mainly as a result of the nation's critical dollar shortage.

Trade Talks Continue

The informant said Dalton would tell the House of Commons tomorrow exactly how the already-revised buying program would affect Britain's production and export drive.

He said Anglo-Soviet trade missions, now negotiating in Moscow, would continue their efforts to write a trade pact between the two countries. British representatives were attempting to obtain Russian estimates of how much wheat, maize, animal feedstuffs and timber they could send Britain.

He added that Britain would continue her policy of writing trade agreements with other Communist-belt states, "whether they joined a United States-sponsored continental recovery plan or not."

Britain needs their goods as much as they want British exports, he said.

U.S. 'Taking No Steps,' Should Aid Talk Fail

Geneva, July 2 (AP)—United States Under Secretary of State William L. Clayton said today that "so far as I know, the United States is taking no steps" if the three-power conference in Paris breaks up without agreement on the Marshall aid-for-Europe plan.

Clayton, who conferred with top British officials on the Marshall plan in London before coming here, said his Government was "waiting for Europe to take action" on the American proposals.

Asked whether he thought the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe, which meets here July 5, should be used to implement the Marshall plan, Clayton said:

"That is for Europe to decide. Dispatch is highly important. It would seem to me that the commission should be selected by Europe, but the selection should not be exclusive, so that if it appeared progress was not being made other means could be substituted."

Havana Conference

Clayton heads two delegations in Geneva. One is the fifteen-nation economic commission, including the United States and Russia. The other is the international Trade Conference of eighteen nations, not including Russia, that is attempting to form an international trade organization, write a world trade charter and conclude a multilateral agreement for reductions of traffis and other trade barriers.

Clayton said the Marshall plan could be carried out, even if some states in Europe chose to remain outside. He said he hoped Russia would participate in the world trade conference proposed for Havana this fall.

"The Marshall plan makes the negotiations more important than ever because without a sound permanent program of reciprocal multilateral trade, no temporary emergency program could possibly have any permanent, worthwhile results," Clayton said.

A Production Problem

He added his remark did not imply that the Marshall plan was a temprorary, emergency project, but that it had to do immediately with the balance-of-payment difficulties of European industries.

The Under Secretary, one of the largest United States cotton brokers before entering Government service, said the dollar shortage in Europe was nothing but a production problem.

"Where dollars are plentiful, production is large, and where dollars are lacking, production is short," he said.

Clayton said he intended to go to Paris later to discuss with United States Ambassador Jefferson Cafferty the "problem of food" and perhaps "numerous other problems."

Clayton Puts U.N. Role Up To European Nations

Geneva, Switzerland, July 2 (AP). William Clayton, United States Under Secretary of State, said today that the European countries themselves must decide whether they will use United Nations machinery to implement the American program for economic aid to Europe.

Clayton told a news conference that the United States "is taking no steps" as a result of the deadlock at the three-power Paris conference, but is merely waiting for Europe to act on the plan laid down by Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State.

He expressed the belief that the Marshall plan could be carried out even though some nations in Europe chose to remain outside.

Clayton is here as delegate to the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe.

House Of Lords Passes New British Draft Bill

London, July 2 (AP)—The House of Lords completed legislative action today on Britain's new national service draft bill, under which every Briton reaching 18 after January 1, 1949, will be liable for one year of military service.

The measure replaces acts of 1936 and 1939, under which 18-year-olds will continue to be drafted through 1948 for two years service. It was passed by the House of Lords without a tabulated vote and now goes to the King for signature.

OFFICIALS PROBING REPORT EVA BRAUN WAS SEEN IN ITALY

BOLZANO, Italy, July 2. — (AP) Unconfirmed reports circulating here today said that a woman resembling Eva Braun, who supposedly married Adolf Hitler in his last hours, had tried to cash a check last week at Fondo, in the Trento district of northern Italy.

Allied officials were investigating the rumors which, if true, would cast serious doubt on the supposed suicide of Hitler. Allied press officers in Rome denied several days ago that there was any truth to reports that the woman had appeared on various occasions recently in the Alto Adige area of northern Italy.

The newest crop of rumors said that a woman who spoke with a German accent went to a Fondo savings bank to cash a 50,000 lire (about $135) check, and displayed papers issued at Innsbruck bearing the name Eva Braun.

(Captured Nazi documents, generally accepted as being accurate versions of Hitler's last hours, stated that the Fuehrer married his one-time mistress late in April, 1945, and that the two committed suicide a few days later in a Reichchancellery bunker as the Russians marched into Berlin.)

Bolzano, Italy, July 2 (A. P.).—Allied officials today were investigating recurrent rumors that Eva Braun, Adolf Hitler's wife, had appeared on various occasions recently in the Alto Adige area of northern Italy.

Naples Bread Hike Brings Protests

Naples, July 2 (AP)—A Government increase in the bread price yesterday provoked demonstrations here which continued far into the night. Unrest was still in evidence today.

The demonstrators, some of them led by women, blocked traffic as they attacked black-market stands where bread from American flour was on sale. To pacify them, the Government promised to double the bread distribution to dealers today.

Bread prices went up to 55 and 65 lire a kilo at rationed distributors, compared with 27 lire a few months ago and to 500 lire a kilo on the black market.

Pay Increases Hinted

[The lira is worth about a fifth of a cent. A kilo is about two and a fifth pounds.]

Last night, Giuseppe di Vittorio, Communist leader of the General Confederation of Labor, broadcast a hint that higher bread might call for industry-wide pay increases.

Earlier, Premier Alcide de Gasperi, on the basis of Government crop estimates, warned the nation it faced a grain shortage.

Guest of de Nicola

ROME, July 2 (AP)—Mrs. Peron was a luncheon guest today of Enrico de Nicola, Italy's Provisional President.

The French Press Agency quoted Pierre Bourdan, Cabinet spokesman, as saying that he "could not at the moment either deny or confirm that the measure might be related to the investigation resulting from the discovery of the anti-Republican plot." The Cabinet announcement gave no reason.

De Larminat was recalled in the midst of an official inspection tour of the Cameroons. The Press Agency said that the action caused "some sensation among political observers."

Gen. Merson Questioned.

The General commanded in Libya in 1942 and 1943 and then became chief of staff to De Gaulle. Later, he commanded the French Second Army Corps in Italy and became Inspector-General of overseas forces in 1945.

Gen. Jean Casimir Merson, retired, former resistance leader, was being questioned today in the alleged Black Marquis plot which the Government asserted was to establish an anti-Communist regime like that of Napoleon Bonaparte.

The police quoted Count Edme de Vulpian, one of those arrested, as saying: "I've lost—there's nothing left but to pay."

They quoted Major Jean-Georges Loustaunau-Lacau as denying contact with the Count and as declaring that he was a "Social Republican" and not a revolutionist.

In addition to recalling De Larminat, Bourdan said that the cabinet had discussed a report by Interior Minister Edouard Depreux about the purported conspiracy. The spokesman said:

"As the investigation proceeds, the ramifications of the plot are appearing and the gravity of the affair is being confirmed. There is more to it than the discovery of arms dumps."

Airport Plot Smashed.

The National Security Police, continuing their investigation of the alleged Black Maquis plot, claimed to have smashed a conspiracy to seize all of France's military airports and warplanes.

Few details of the plan were revealed, but it apparently was part of the reported over-all program of the Black Maquis.

The Security Police also announced the arrest of Claude Chauvel, 20-year-old son of the Secretary-General of the Foreign Affairs Ministry, and said that a warrant had been issued for Count Aurouet de Merwels, whom they described as one of the principal members of the revolutionary group. Two other men were arrested on charges of soliciting funds for the conspirators.

Inspector of Colonial Troops Is Recalled—Cabinet Spokesman Silent on Plot Link.

Paris, July 2 (A. P.).—Gen. Edouard de Larminat, wartime Chief of Staff to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, was relieved of his duties today as inspector-general of colonial troops. The Cabinet acted on a motion by the Ministers of War and Colonies.

FRENCH CABINET REMOVES EX-AIDE OF GEN. DE GAULLE

PARIS, July 2—(AP) The French cabinet today abruptly relieved Gen. Eduard De Larminat, wartime chief of staff to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, of his duties as inspector general of colonial troops.

The action was taken at a meeting to discuss ramifications of a purported "Black Maquis" plot to overthrow the Fourth Republic and establish a military regime. However, the announcement gave no reason for De Larminat's removal.

French Count Sought

Surete police, meanwhile, intensified their hunt for a 26-year-old French count, accused of conspiring to bring into the plot Nazis and Fascists now in Italy and Spain. A warrant identified the count as Herouet De Mervelle.

Reports persisted that police had found four sizable and rival "Maquis" in the last six months, and that the organizations were known as the blue, black, white and red groups.

The semi-official French press agency quoted a cabinet spokesman, Pierre Bourdan, as saying that he could neither confirm nor deny that De Larminat's removal was related "to the investigation resulting from the discovery of the anti-Republican plot."

"As the investigation proceeds, the ramifications of the plot are appearing and the gravity of the affair is becoming confirmed," Bourdan said. "There is more to it than the discovery of arms dumps."

A retired general and former resistance leader, Jean Casimir Merson, was being questioned in connection with the alleged plot, which the government said was hatched by rightwing forces.

Red General Hits U.S. Backers Of Big Army

Moscow, July 2 (AP)—Lieut. Col. B. Glebov, writing in the Soviet Army newspaper Red Star, said today that "very many influential persons in the United States" who were not interested in the defeat of Germany in the war now are "advocating military measures of enormous scale."

Glebov accused Lieut. Gen. J. Lawton Collins of exaggerating in his comparative estimate of United State and Russian military strength at the national convention of the Reserve Officers Association. [Collins spoke in Miami, Fla., June 19.]

Collins, whom Glebov identified as chief of the information section of the United States Army, declared, the writer said, that the American Army now has only ten divisions. [Collins said the Russian Army had 200.]

Sets Force At Half Million

"According to official American figures," Glebov went on, "the number of ground forces of the USA exceeds half a million men. Then what is the number of men in these divisions?"

He said it was no accident that Collins hadn't mentioned the United States Navy, because this was stronger than "all the fleets of the rest of the capitalistic world."

"At present there isn't another state in the world which will spend so much effort and means on maintaining armed forces, on the creation of new kinds of arms and for other items in the military budget," Glebov wrote.

"Collins cannot fail to know the Soviet Union is a sincere and consistent supporter of arms curtailment. . . . The military budget of the U.S.S.R. represents only eighteen per cent of the whole."

Russ Saved U.S. Lives

"Millions of American soldiers," the commentator added, "preserved their lives only because the best forces of the German Army and the overwhelming majority of German fighting means were exterminated in bitter battles on the Soviet-German front."

He said the General might have told his listeners about "very many influential persons in the United States who were not interested in the defeat of German imperialism and German Fascism" and "braked in every way the development of military potential," but who now are advocating military measures.

HUGE ARMY IS AIM OF U. S. LEADERS, RED STAR CLAIMS

GILMORE

MOSCOW, July 2. — (AP) The Russian army newspaper Red Star declared today the United States was prepared to spend more money to maintain its armed forces and develop new weapons than any other country in the world.

The newspaper took sharp issue with Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, head of the U. S. Army's information section, who declared recently the American army was capable at present of putting only 10 divisions in the field.

(Collins told a convention of the National Reserve Officers association in Miami June 19 that Russia could put 200 divisions into the field, compared with the "10 divisions in the whole U. S. Army." He said Russian soldiers now outnumber American soldiers "20 to 1."

(Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, told Congress June 28 that the American army was a "poor second" to Russia's.)

The Red Star article, written by Lt. Col. B. Glebov, said that "very many influential persons in the United States who were not interested in the defeat of German imperialism and German fascism" were now "advocating military measures of an enormous scale."

As to Collins' statement that the United States could muster but 10 divisions, Glebov wrote:

"According to official American figures, the number of ground forces in the U. S. A. exceeds a half million men. In this case, then, what is the number of men in these divisions?

"It is not a mere accident that Collins remained silent about the U. S. Navy. The entire world knows that the U. S. has a naval force which surpasses in strength all the fleets of the rest of the capitalistic world.

"It is generally known at last that at present there is not another state in the world which will spend so much effort and means on maintaining its armed forces, on creation of new kinds of arms, and for other items in its military budget.

"Collins cannot fail but know that the Soviet Union is a sincere and consistent supporter of arms curtailment. One should assume he is informed of the fact that the military budget of the U. S. S. R. represents only 18 per cent of the whole."

Russ Depict Uncle Sam As 'Cowboy' Of Loans

Moscow, July 2 (AP)—The newspaper Ukraine Pravda published today a cartoon showing Uncle Sam driving an automobile and brandishing a whip tabbed "Loan." The title of the cartoon was: "Cowboy of the New York Prairies."

The caption read: "American capitalists using needs for loans of countries devastated by war to enslave other peoples."

Ukraine Pravda is the Communist party organ in the Ukrainian Socialist Soviet Republic.

FRAU WAGNER GUILTY OF SUPPORTING NAZIS

BAYREUTH, Germany, July 2—(AP)—A German denazification court today sentenced Frau Winifred Wagner, daughter-in-law of the famed composer Richard Wagner, to 450 days of special labor service for actively supporting the Hitler regime.

The court also ordered confiscation of 60 per cent of her wealth estimated at 230,000 marks ($23,000).

The 50-year-old English-born widow was convicted of using her position as former leader of the Bayreuth music festival to promote Hitler and the Nazi party, "thereby setting an example for hundreds of thousands of other people."

Frau Wagner Gets 450 Days; Relative Of Composer

Bayreuth, Germany, July 2 (AP)—Frau Winifred Wagner, daughter-in-law of the musician, Richard Wagner, was sentenced to 450 days of special labor service today following her conviction on charges of actively supporting the Hitler regime.

The sentence was imposed on the 50-year-old English-born defendant by a German de-Nazification court, which also ordered confiscation of 60 per cent of her personal wealth, estimated at 230,000 marks ($23,000).

The prosecution had urged that Frau Wagner—widow of Siegfried Wagner—be sentenced to six years in a labor camp. Her lawyer, Dr. Fritz Meyer, urged the court, however, to consider the testimony of witnesses who testified she helped them escape Nazi imprisonment.

Leader Of Music Festival

During the trial Frau Wagner was described as one of Hitler's "most fanatical followers."

In its decision, reached after considering the evidence for four days, the court found that she had used her position as former leader of the famous Bayreuth Music Festival to "actively promote Hitler and the Nazi party, thereby setting an example for hundreds of thousands of other people." It absolved her, however, of engaging in Nazi propaganda activity.

The verdict also prohibited Frau Wagner from holding any public office, from becoming a member of any political party or owning an automobile. For the next five years she can do only common labor and will be allowed to occupy only small living quarters.

Undecided On Appeal

Frau Wagner took the sentence calmly. She said she woud not know whether she would appeal the verdict until she had talked with her lawyer.

"I do not know how they figured out my wealth, which belongs completely to my children," she said. "I have no right to hand part of it over to the court."

A daughter of Frau Wagner, Friedland Wagner, who fled Germany after writing an anti-Nazi book, is now living in New York.

Moses Tours Germany To Plan Ruhr Housing

BERLIN, July 2 (AP).—Robert Moses, New York City Construction Co-ordinator, began today a tour of the American-British occupation zones of Germany to study economic conditions and prepare recommendations for an emergency housing program for coal miners in the Ruhr.

Mr. Moses undertook the inspection for General Lucius D. Clay, American Military Governor, who personally requested him to come to Germany, and for Major General William H. Draper, economics adviser to General Clay.

"I especially asked him to look into the housing for the Ruhr," General Draper said, 'because that is so vitally connected with raising the coal production which Germany and all Europe needs. Housing is needed for the miners we are recruiting in the United States zone to send to the Ruhr."

Draper said there was no question now of rebuilding western German cities in Moses's survey. He added, however, that Moses had expressed interest in plans drafted by Berlin officials for rebuilding their city, which he described as "necessarily long range, of course."

Mr. Moses's tour took him today to Stuttgart. Next he will visit Munich for two days, Frankfurt am Main on Monday, Essen in the Ruhr, Tuesday and Wednesday, and then Minden in the British zone next Thursday before returning to Berlin.

18 NAZIS INDICTED FOR TRIAL BY U. S.

SS Officers Charged with Directing Slaughter of 1,000,000 Persons.

NUERNBERG, July 3 — (AP)—Eighteen SS (Elite Guard) officers—including six generals—were indicted today for trial before a U. S. war crimes court on charges of directing the slaughter of more than 1,000,000 persons during the Nazi occupation of Eastern Europe.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, who filed the indictment as chief war crimes prosecutor, described the alleged mass slaughter as the "murder of murders."

It was the ninth group of indictments of alleged war criminals handed up for trial by American military courts.

The accused included Gen. Otto Ohlendorf, Brig. Generals Heinz Jost, Erich Newmann, Otto Rasch, Win Schultz and Franz Six; Colonels Paul Blobel, Walter Blume, Martin Sandberger and Willy Seibert; Lieut-Colonels Ernest Biberstein; Gustav Mosske and Adolf Ott; Majors Emil Hausman and Lothar Fendler; Capt. Felix Reuhl, and two lieutenants.

Frankfurt, July 2 (A. UNRRA Chief Lauds Tito For Co-Operation

Belgrade, July 2 (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito has been commended officially for Yugoslavia's co-operation during the two years of operation of the Unitedw Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Maj. Gen. Lowell W. Rooks, UNRRA director general, with headquarters in London, sent Tito a commendatory telegram yesterday as Michael Barret-Brown, assistant chief of the mission to Yugoslavia, departed and the $420,000,000 program ended.

Rooks recognized Yugoslavia's "co-operation with our mission and the excellent system" the Government applied in distributing UNRRA goods.

"Your country," he told the Premier, "made use of the largest UNRRA deliveries of clothing in Europe, and one of the largest deliveries of medical material."

U.S. Clerics In Poland

Warsaw, July 2 (AP)—Two representatives of the Polish National Catholic Church of America, of Scranton, Pa., have arrived in Poland for a three-month study of missionary and relief work. They are the Reverends John F. Swierczewski, of Chicago, and Adam Walichiewicz, of Reading, Pa.

Russians Delay New U. S. Envoy

BUDAPEST, July 2 (AP)—Selden Chapin, new United States Minister to Hungary, arrived here by plane tonight and was detained on the airfield for thirty-five minutes by a Russian guard who said a Soviet general was curious about Mr. Chapin's "road pass."

Mr. Chapin came from London, accompanied by his wife and two children and two United States Embassy political experts, Ronald Drew and James McCarger.

About fifteen automobiles, carrying United States legation and military mission personnel, met Mr. Chapin at the Matyasfold Airfield. After a thirty-five-minute delay, which included a telephone conversation with Russian Maj. Gen. A. N. Kondratov who demanded to know why Mr. Chapin did not have a Russian road pass, the automobiles were allowed to leave the field.

Mr. Chapin replaces H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld, who left Budapest last month.

Secret Palestine Police Break Up

Jerusalem, July 2 (AP)—A secret "strongarm" squad of the Palestine police, whose existence was disclosed with the arrest of Maj. Roy Farran a month ago, has virtually been broken up, reliable private sources within the police disclosed today.

DAVIDSON

Farran, 26-year-old British Army war hero and reputed squad leader in the group, was picked up in Syria and brought back to Palestine charged with the "wilful murder" of Alexander Rubowitz, 16, claimed by the Stern Gang as a member. He is in army custody at Sarafand camp awaiting court-martial.

Prowled Jewish Areas

Though both military and civil authorities have given out little information, the case has brought to light an unorthodox group of war-seasoned army officers, lent to police to use their Commando experience against the Stern Gang and Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground extremist organizations.

Twelve-man squads, usually in plain clothes and driving civilian cars, were formed, it has become known, to prowl Jewish quarters outside the security zones of Jerusalem and Haifa as well as in the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

Private but reliable sources said they believed a group of some three dozen members was organized after consultations between London and Jerusalem about four months ago.

Sometimes Seized Youths

These secret police sometimes seized youths they caught posting underground leaflets and took them to headquarters for questioning as to the source of the leaflets and identities of their superiors.

Such an arrest apparently was that of Rubowitz, last seen May 6 being forced into a black automobile by three English-speaking men. He has not been seen since. Farran and two other men were taken into custody in Syria, but only the major was extradited.

One brigadier already has reported privately that he has been fired for heading such flying squadrons. At least two high-ranking police officers were reported as resigning in a shakeup.

Bank At Haifa Robbed By Armed Men

Jerusalem, July 2 (AP)—Seven men robbed a bank in Haifa today and made a getaway in a black automobile. They were believed to have taken several hundred dollars.

Brandishing weapons, the men entered the Kupat Milveh Bank in the Hadar Macarmel district, halfway up Mount Carmel.

Earlier police blamed the nervousness of an Arab laborer, who mistook a stick of wood for a bomb, for a general alarm which created intense excitement in Jerusalem shortly before midnight last night.

It was the second such false alarm in the Holy City in fourteen hours and reflected the high tension throughout the Holy Land. On both occasions British troops rushed to strategic points, traffic was halted and strict security measures were clamped down.

Reports Laid To Jitters

So jitttery were police last night that several turned in "reports" of what they believed to be explosions and gunfire after the general alarm sounded. Investigation showed the reports were groundless.

The Jewish underground organization, Hagana, declared meanwhile that Arab propaganda had created a "dangerous trend of feeling in Arab quarters" and said it was on guard against "possible attacks" against Jews.

Plans New Immigration

At the same time Hagana announced plans for an early resumption of illegal Jewish immigration to the Holy Land, which it said had been "temporarily interrupted because of difficulties in ports of embarkation."

"We have stressed previously," Hagana added, "that the interruption was due to technical difficulties and not to political considerations in connection with the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine."

The commission, touring northern Palestine, visited the village of Kfar Giladi yesterday and heard an appeal from a Jewish spokesman for unlimited Jewish immigration to the Holy Land.

BRITISH 'SPOT CHECK' JERUSALEM QUARTERS

JERUSALEM, July 2. — (AP) British troops and police made surprise "spot checks" today in the Jewish quarter of old Jerusalem and in sidewalk cafes of the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

An official announcement said 435 persons were screened here and that 32 men and two women were detained for further questioning. No figures were available on the results of the Tel Aviv screening.

Meanwhile, police in Haifa sought seven bandits who held up a bank there this morning and escaped with several hundred pounds.

The special United Nations committee on Palestine completed tonight its three-day tour of the Galilee district, and will visit several Jewish towns on the coastal plain tomorrow.

U.S.-Equipped Chinese Suffer Terrific Beating at Szepingkai

By JOHN RODERICK

SZEPINGKAI, July 2 — (AP) Probably no army since the Chinese civil war began suffered so fearfully or struggled against such odds as did the American-equipped Chinese 71st in its hopeless defense of this important Manchurian city.

Undermanned and badly shaken half of its 88th division, which bore the burden of Szepingkai's defense, were raw recruits with only one week of training.

16,000 Believed Killed

After seeing the devastation of Szepinkai, it seems extraordinary that any of the 71st could have lived to tell its story. All accounts indicate that at least two-thirds of the original 25,000 defenders were wiped out.

On the other side of the scale, the Chinese Communists must have suffered heavily also. No units could undergo a period of such concentrated give and take without sustaining a bad mauling. However, it is probable that government estimates that 170,000 Communists participated in the assault and suffered 50,000 casualties are high.

(Hollington Tong, government spokesman, reiterated in Nanking today that the Communists received outside support. He declared the besiegers for 18 days threw shells into Szepingkai at the rate of 10,000 a day—"more artillery shells than all the Communist controlled arsenals together could possibly supply." Their offensive was "unmatched in intensity and ferocity in the history of the Chinese Communists' military operations," he added. Tong also reiterated that the Communists were strongly supported by Korean and former Japanese troops.)

Today, two days after the siege was lifted, the government's southern relief force—the new sixth army from Kaiyuan—continued its pursuit of the Reds.

The nationals' new first army, which met rocky going south of Kuungchuling, is reported to be fanning off to the westward to try to intercept the Communists at Pamiencheng, 12 miles west of here, in a pincers movement with the new sixth.

Gen. Chen Ming-Jen, wiry, good-humored, 44-year-old Humanese who commands the 71st, ordinarily is meticulous. He bathes and shaves daily. But when I met him in the Canadian Catholic mission school—its mud and plaster walls still showing wounds of warfare—he wore a handsome mustache.

"I grew this during the past 20 days when I was unable to bathe or shave. I shall keep it forever as a memory of this battle," he said in all seriousness.

First to Get U. S. Equipment

Chen's army was the first Chinese unit to receive American equipment under wartime lend lease. Although it carries American carbines, submachine guns and Springfield rifles it has none of the alertness or smartness usually associated with American aided Chinese armies. Weeks of battle without relief make that understandable.

Chen himself looked a little faded and uncomfortably warm in U. S. olive drabs as he talked with me and Fred E. Hubbard, Edgemont, S. D., American consul at Mukden. Hubbard and I were the first foreigners to enter this burned out city after the battle.

When the real struggle began here it took the character of street fighting and continued in this fashion for 20 days, an almost unheard of thing in warfare. Hand to hand engagements usually signal the end—not the start—of a battle. All of Chen's divisions either were new or under strength as a result of the clawing they took around Hwaiteh and Kungchuling before they were ordered to defend Szepingkai.

180,000 Red Shells Fired Into Szepingkai

JUL 1947

Nanking, July 2 (AP)—Strongly implying that the Chinese Communists were receiving outside support, Government spokesman Hollington Tong asserted today that the besiegers of Szepingkai fired "more artillery shells than all the Communist-controlled arsenals together could possibly sustain."

He said the Communists hurled shells into the Manchurian city for eighteen days at the rate of 10,000 a day in an offensive "unmatched in intensity and ferocity in the history of the Chinese Communists' military operations."

Tong disclosed that the Government's casualties were more than two thirds the entire Szepingkai garrison, but he gave no figures.

6,600 Out Of 7,000 Killed

[Associated Press Correspondent John Roderick, at Szepingkai, wrote that the Government commander of the 71st Army lost all but 400 men of the 7,000 troops in his 88th Division during the last hours of the fight.]

Tong said the Communists opened the Szepingkai attack with a "lavish supply of weapons and ammunition" backed by reinforcements of Korean Communists and former Japanese troops.

He added that he was unable to say whether the Government considered the Communists' failure to hold onto Szepingkai meant that the entire summer campaign by the Reds in Manchuria was likely to fail.

Few Nips In Nippon

Mash, Ash, Gash

Tokyo, July 2 (AP)—A Korean was charged with bootlegging after receiving hospital treatment for facial cuts.

He told attendants he was leaning over a vat of Japanese gin he was brewing in his home still. A cigarette ash fell in the brew causing an explosion.

Cafes Closed

Tokyo, July 2 (AP)—The Japanese Government closed some 200,000 restaurants today in its drive against the black market in foods. Still operating were various small establishments, serving only rationed foodstuffs.

The closing, which affected all the country's better restaurants, added an estimated 480,000 persons to the roll of unemployed.

High Tide Awaited To Refloat Transport

Yokohama, July 2 (AP)—Several army and navy tugs awaited high tide for a renewed attempt to pull the 16,000-ton army transport Admiral W. S. Sims from the small island in Yokohama harbor where she grounded yesterday morning.

The ship's skipper, Capt. Dan Pumphrey, of San Francisco, blamed "deplorable" navigation aids and limited visibility for the accident. The 1,829 passengers aboard, none injured, were taken off by boat today.

Pumphrey said he felt the ship was not damaged, although she was making 16 knots when she rammed a small island fortress.

Rhee Says He Isn't Plotting Against Korea

Seoul, Korea, July 2 (AP)—Syngman Rhee, Conservative political leader of South Korea, denied today what he termed an indirect accusation by Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge that he and Kim Koo were planning political assassinations and terrorist disruptions of the Korean economy.

Rhee said Hodge's accusation "once again confirms our misgivings" that the American commander in Korea "will never understand the Korean people and their leaders."

He said Hodge had written him that "I have information purporting to come from inner circles of your political organization that you and Kim Koo are planning terrorist activities and disruptions of the Korean economy at an early date as a protest measure against the work of the joint (Soviet-American) commission. . . ."

Blames Anti-U.S. Reds

Rhee replied that neither the Korean people nor their leaders are planning terrorism or bloodshed and said "the real terrorists are among the anti-American Communists including most of the 669 prisoners set free by amnesty, jeopardizing the lives and homes of the Korean people in general and policemen in particular."

Hodge said he had no comment on Rhee's reply or Rhee's disclosure to newsmen of the exchange of letters.

The Soviet-American Commission is preparing the way for a provisional government for all of Korea, which now is divided into Russian and American zones.

State of Alert Reported

JOGJAKARTA, Java, July 2 (AP)—Reliable non-Indonesian informants arriving here today said that the Southeast Java area around Banjuwangi was in a state of alert and that a large proportion of native villagers had fled to the interior in the belief that the Dutch planned to attack that sector if the current Indonesian crisis resulted in armed conflict.

The informants said that the Netherlands Navy had constantly patrolled the Bali Straits and that two Dutch warships were in that area when the informants left three days ago.

For the past two months, they added, Dutch warships frequently shelled shore targets on either side of Banjuwangi, apparently attempting to neutralize Indonesian gun positions. Indonesian shore batteries often replied, the informants said.

The Army of the Indonesian Republic has forbidden male citizens to leave Banjuwangi without special passes, they said, while most women have left the town.

Earlier today, former Minister of the Interior Mohammed Roem was mentioned as a possible choice for Premier of the Indonesian Republic, which has been without a Cabinet for five days.

Mr. Roem, a member of the Republican delegation negotiating with the Dutch, conferred with political party leaders during the day.

President Soekarno, however, ordered leaders of the Indonesian Republic's Socialist, Nationalist and Labor parties to form a Cabinet by noon Thursday and made no reference to Mr. Roem's Islamic party.

Australia To End Rationing Of Sugar

Canberra, Australia, July 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Chifley announced the Cabinet had decided to abandon sugar rationing forthwith because it did not greatly help Britain and world sugar production showed a marked increase in the 1946-47 season.

Announcing the Government's refusal to remove rationing and price control on meat, as requested by the Meat and Allied Trades Federation, Chifley said the Cabinet decided "it would be very wrong to permit unrestricted meat consumption when the British people are having their meager ration further reduced."

New Zealand Extends Credits To France

Wellington, N. Z., July 2 (AP)—Representatives of the New Zealand and French governments signed today an agreement making available to France credits of up to £5,000,000 (about $20,000,000) for the purchase of New Zealand products during the next five years.

The agreement is designed chiefly to facilitate the sale of New Zealand wool to France, although she may purchase other products by mutual agreement.

Filipino Ex-Puppet Sues U.S. Army

Manila, July 2 (AP)—Jorge B. Vargas, first chief of the Japanese-sponsored puppet administration in the occupied Philippines, today sued the United States Army for the return of documents, books and other papers allegedly taken from him in Japan at the end of the war.

Vagsas's counsel named Lieut. Col. Warren H. Hoover, executive officer of the assistant chief of staff, Philippine-Ryukyus command, Intelligence Section, as respondent.

Says Papers Explain Acts

Vargas said the documents included the last letters of instruction sent to him in Manila by the late President Manual Quezon on Corregidor, telling him what to do when the city fell a few days later, and notes and orders from former Japanese Consul General Jitaro Kihara, representing the Japanese military administration.

He said the latter include orders to commit acts for which he now is under indictment.

"Borrowed" From Wife

The complaint alleges that a Lieut. Col. Lloyd S. Milligan, of the United States Army, accompanied by Hernando Abaya Filipino employé of the United States Government, "borrowed" the documents from Mrs. Vargas in Manila while Vargas was still in Tokyo as puppet ambassador.

Vargas at present is seeking an indefinite postponement of his treason trial.

An army spokesman said some of Vargas's papers were in army custody. He added that up to late afternoon no court notification of the suit had been received.

Third Jap Witness Kills Himself

Guam, July 2 (AP)—A Japanese witness committed suicide early today rather than testify against nineteen compatriots charged with the bacteria and torture murders of ten American prisoners of war on Truk atoll.

It was the third suicide among Japanese involved in the trial and the second in four days.

Witnesses not charged with crimes are not kept in confinement, so Petty Officer (2/c) Hiyoichi Ikeya strode unchallenged from the witness stockade into the near-by jungle and slashed his abdomen with a straight-edge razor.

Expresses Sorrow For Act

"Sorry for this terrible act," said a note, "and hope all my friends soon return to Japan."

Last Saturday, Navy Lieutenant Shigioshi Nakamura, former surgeon, had chosen the same type weapon for his suicide, after testifying against his former commandant, Capt. Hiroshi Iwanami. The latter remains under close guard. He, too, once attempted suicide.

In Tokyo several months ago Lieut. Reijiro Nabetani took poison rather than submit to questioning about his bacteria-injection experiments on the ten Americans killed on Truk.

NAVY IS CLOSING ALEUTIAN BASES, ADMIRAL REVEALS

PEARL HARBOR, July 2.—(AP) The Navy is carrying out a drastic retrenchment program to keep fleets in the Atlantic and Pacific operating efficiently, Adm. Louis E. Denfeld said today.

"We've gone all out to keep the fleets active," said the commander-in-chief of the Pacific, who recently returned from conferences in Washington. "We know that if we keep the fleets at any real efficiency level, we have to cut down on shore operations."

As a result of this new economy policy, the Navy is closing out its wartime base on the Aleutian island at Attu and is reducing to caretaker status its base at Kodiak, Alaska. That leaves Adak in the Aleutians as the major base in northern waters.

The Navy is getting out of Manus, in the Admiralty islands north of New Guinea, and rapidly is rolling up other bases which were used as springboards in the westward drive to conquer Japan.

On the mainland, Adm. John H. Towers, chief of the Navy's general board, is directing surveys of all naval installations for the purpose of lopping off unessential activities and effecting economies in line with the Navy's reduced peacetime appropriations.

Guam and Pearl Harbor will be great Pacific bases of the future, Denfeld said, with Pearl Harbor the keystone of Pacific defenses.

While the Navy is reducing its operating centers in Alaskan waters, the admiral continued, the Aleutians and Alaska still will have strong defenses in the army's airfields and installations.

Denfeld said he thought it important that the United States maintain defensive bases on Okinawa, where the army air force now has fields.

Brazil Extends Parley Invitation

Rio de Janeiro, July 2 (A. P.).—The Brazilian Government has invited representatives of all the American nations except Nicaragua to meet here on August 15 to sign a projected treaty for defense of the Western Hemisphere. Nicaragua presumably was omitted because most of the American Governments have not yet recognized the new Government.

Canada Shippers Curb Communists

Montreal, July 2 (AP)—Canadian Great Lakes ship owners said today that in the future union officials boarding their vessels must sign an affidavit that they are not members of the Communist party and will not attempt to force Communist teachings on members of crews.

Company officials said the new clause governing movement of union officials aboard their ships reads: "I swear that I am not a Communist or a Communist agent and while on the company's property or aboard its vessels I will not advocate, preach, support or disseminate verbally or otherwise Communist ideas and principles."

GOP LEADERS PLAN TO RUSH ACTION ON NEW TAX BILL

Policymakers Decide to Push Measure Making Slash Effective Next Jan. 1.

PASSAGE PREDICTED

Committee Expected to Send Legislation to House on Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, July 2 — (AP) The Republican high command decided today to rush through Congress a bill cutting personal income taxes $4,000,000,000 a year, effective Jan. 1, 1948.

The decision was a new challenge to President Truman, who vetoed a bill making the same reduction effective July 1, 1947.

The course was decided upon at a meeting of Senate and House Republican policy committees and was announced by Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

The bill calls for cuts ranging from 30 per cent in the lowest brackets to 10 1-2 per cent in the highest.

Committee Action Due Today

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) told reporters the House Ways and Means committee will approve it tomorrow and the House "will take it up and pass it on Tuesday."

"We have been assured there is sufficient strength in the House for two-thirds to override another veto," Martin said. "I have heard that as many as 20 Democrats who supported the previous veto will change their votes. The situation in the Senate, while not conclusive, is encouraging."

Martin said "we feel we owe it to the American people to make one more effort to put this tax bill into law."

If necessary, he told reporters, the planned July 26 adjournment of Congress will be delayed to get the new bill to the White House and allow Congress to act on a second veto if that is forthcoming.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the House Ways and Means committee, author of the bill, called a committee meeting for 9 a.m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow to act on the new bill. He said the committee could approve it in 10 minutes.

Sees New Veto Sustained

However, House Democratic Leader Rayburn, of Texas, told reporters:

"I believe if the President vetoes the new bill the veto can be sustained."

The Democratic whip, Rep. McCormick of Massachusetts, said of the new bill: "It's a mistake. The important thing is debt reduction."

Rep. Priest (D-Tenn), assistant whip, expressed an opinion that the new bill "might be made to stick," despite any veto.

Taft declined to say whether the Republicans had been assured of sufficient Democratic support in the Senate to override a veto.

Senator Byrd (D-Va) told a reporter, however, that 60 senators have pledged their votes to override, with several others leaning in that direction.

Most observers think it will take about 63 votes to override, depending on the number of senators present and participating.

Opposes Changes In Bill

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the Senate Finance committee told a newsman that he will not consent to any changes, beyond that of the date, in the language of the bill.

If the lines hold on this basis, the President will be presented with a virtual duplicate of a measure he said involved "the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time." It remains problematical whether the change in the date will overbalance his objections to provisions which he said give persons of larger incomes greater benefits than those with lesser earnings.

Byrd and others who have been urging repassage of the measure have demanded that the Senate-House Republicans get together on a pledge for reducing the budget as a preliminary to the tax cut. Taft said there had been discussion earlier of a possible compromise on this issue but declined to predict an agreement.

The House voted to cut the President's $37,500,000,000 budget by $6,000,000,000. The Senate voted a $4,500,000,000 reduction pledge but tacked on a promise to apply $2,600,000,000 of any surplus to payment on the national debt.

Today's decision to press the tax cut apparently committed the GOP to a program that may leave no time before a scheduled July 26 adjournment to act finally on housing, educational aid, minimum wage and other legislation.

It took into consideration, however, expected passage by both houses of a measure to unify the the armed forces and projected approval by the house, at least, of a bill to permit the immediate cashing of GI terminal leave bonds.

SENATORS HEAR MARSHALL ASK FUND FOR RADIO

Secretary Warns Against Restricting 'Voice of America' Program.

SEES FOREIGN POLICY DANGER

Mundt Declares Russians Are Spreading Malicious Lies About U. S.

Washington, July 2 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Marshall urged senators today to approve in this session of Congress legislation to expand a foreign information program which he termed "vital to the success of our foreign policy."

Marshall told a Senate foreign relations subcommittee that unless the Senate acts on legislation authorizing such a program, the State Department will face serious handicaps abroad.

Representative Mundt (R., S. D.), author of the House-passed measure now before the committee, also urged speedy action. He told the senators that "Russians and others are spreading malicious lies about us every day."

Sum Called Too Small.

Republican leaders have indicated that they may pigeonhole the Mundt bill until next January and rely on a $13,470,000 appropriation passed by the Senate to carry on the cultural program, including the shortwave radio "Voice of America" broadcasts. Marshall told the committee that the Senate-approved appropriations figure is too small, representing only about one-half of the money that President Truman originally requested.

"This sum will certainly not enable the department to carry on the information activities at a level which our embassies abroad consider to be essential," the Secretary said in a statement read to the committee.

Without mentioning any foreign country, Marshall complained that the policies and actions of the United States are "often misunderstood and misrepresented abroad."

Dulles Backs Program.

In reply to a question, Marshall said, "It seems to me almost self-evident that we're engaged in a world-wide struggle, and that we are, in a sense, almost disarmed" if the information program is not continued.

Smith put into the record a letter from John Foster Dulles, Republican advisor to the State Department, urging Congress not to take "a short-sighted view" of the information program. Dulles's letter said that it has long been his contention that strenuous steps should be taken to offset Russian propaganda.

Representative Jarman (D. Ala.), supporting the bill, said that Congress ought to decide now whether it wants to continue the program and not compromise on stopgap appropriations.

Motives Distorted.

Marshall continued: "The facts about the United States are withheld or falsified and our motives are distorted. Our actions do not always speak for themselves unless the people of other countries have some understanding of the peaceful intention of our people.

The two-man sub-committee, Senators Smith (R.-N. J.) and Hatch (D.-N. M.), indicated approval of the measure which was passed by the House by a three to one margin after much debate.

Marshall's address in which he charged "malicious distortion" of American motives in aiding Europe was beamed to Soviet Russia today on the State Department's short-wave radio. Officials said that the full text was on the afternoon program. Summaries of Marshall's speech, delivered yesterday at the Women's National Press Club luncheon, also are being broadcast in twenty-five other languages.

$6,857,000 VOTED 'VOICE'

Marshall Asks Large Fund To Combat 'Falsehoods'

JUL 1947

Washington, July 2 (AP)—A Senate-House committee today approved $6,857,000 for the State Department's "Voice of America" broadcasts after Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, appealed for larger funds to combat falsehoods and distortions about the United States circulated abroad.

The broadcasts go to Russia and other parts of the world.

Senator Ball (R., Minn.) said the bill is "certain to go through" in both Houses.

Total Fund Cut Million

Ball said the joint committee approved all the "Voice of America" funds previously voted by the Senate in the annual appropriation for the State Department. He said Senate conferees were forced to cut $1,000,000 from the $13,400,000 total fund which the Senate had approved for other related activities in the State Department's cultural and information program.

Marshall, asking Congress to "lay a firm legislative foundation" under the program, said the Senate-approved $13,400,000 is not enough. He asked enactment of the House-approved Mundt bill which authorizes a program on a fuller scale.

Marshall told a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee that the sum voted by the Senate "will certainly not enable the department to carry on the information activities at a level which our embassies abroad consider to be essential."

The Secretary said he considers that "making known the truth about our country" is "a very important factor in the successful conduct of our foreign relations."

Representative Jarman (D., Ala.), one of the sponsors of the Mundt bill, told the committee he thought Congress either ought to authorize a full program or cut off the information service entirely.

Mundt Names Russians

While Marshall did not specify which countries are guilty of falsifying or distorting American policies abroad, Representative Mundt (R., S.D.), author of the bill, charged flatly that the "Russians and others are spreading malicious lies about us every day."

Seconding this assertion, Philip D. Reed, chairman of the board of the General Electric Company, said if it was worth Russia's time and money to describe America's policies "falsely" abroad, it was worth this country's effort to tell the truth about itself.

"The tragic potency of untruth as a breeder of fear and suspicion is no better illustrated than by the extreme importance which Russia and certain of her satellites attach to creating a false and unfriendly impression of America in the minds of the peoples they have already or are now attempting to subjugate," Reed said.

Address Beamed to Russia

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP).—Secretary Marshall's address in which he charged "malicious distortion" of American motives in aiding Europe was beamed to Soviet Russia today on the State Department's short-wave radio. Officials said the full text was on the afternoon program. Summaries of the speech, delivered yesterday at the Women's National Press Club luncheon, also are being broadcast in twenty-five other languages.

Marshall's Plan To Help Korea Meets Delay

Washington, July 2 (AP)—With Europe at odds over the "Marshall plan" at Paris, an American proposal to bolster Korea on the opposite side of the globe appears headed today for a pigeon hole.

Calling for a $540,000,000 outlay over three years largely to bring Korea's economy to top effectiveness, the proposal received Secretary of State Marshall's approval shortly after his return from Moscow two months ago.

It was to have been submitted to Congress after the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program was out of the way. No move in that direction has been made, however, and the announced intentions of congressional leaders to wind up the session in less than four weeks has raised the question whether there now is any chance for action this summer.

Delay Acknowledged

State Department officials acknowledged but declined to explain the delay. They said they could not say whether or where a decision had been made.

The plan to make the American occupation zone in severed Korea completely self-supporting within the next three years was drafted by the State and War departments after failure to reach agreement with Russia on a provisional government for the entire country.

Negotiations were resumed May 20, but Marshall made it plain the same day that it was proposed to go ahead with or without the Russians.

He said Congress would be asked for an initial $78,000,000 appropriation for recovery measures in addition to the War Department's request for $137,000,000 for food, medicine and other conventional means to cope with both disease and unrest in the American occupation zone.

Action On Sums Awaited

The latter sum still is awaiting action by the House Appropriations Committee, along with the request for funds for other occupations' expenses and for the Greek-Turkish, stem-Communism program.

The Korea recovery plans were aimed largely at restoring railways, highways and the chemical and textile industries.

The program called for American supervision somewhat along the lines of the aid to Greece, and also included plans for elections and other political moves which would turn over the Government to Koreans almost entirely within three years.

Marshall Plan Safeguard Promised By State Dept.

JUL 1947

Washington, July 2 (AP)—Whatever American help is given to Europe under the "Marshall plan" will be surrounded with safeguards to make sure that it actually is used for economic recovery, State Department planners emphasized today.

At the same time fresh assurance is being given to European nations—primarily to combat Communist propaganda—that the aim of American help is only to promote recovery and not to establish United States political or economic domination.

Secretary of State Marshall himself touched on both aspects of the program in a speech before the Women's National Press Club here yesterday.

Distortion Charged

He declared that there could be "no more fantastic misrepresentation, no more malicious distortion of the truth than the frequent propaganda assertions or implications that the United States has imperialistic aims, or that American aid has been offered in order to fasten upon the recipients some form of political and economic domination."

He said that the United States demands cover only four points. These are: (a) the effective use of the help given for the purpose intended, (b) the determination that it should not be used for "selfish economic or political interests," (c) that it should be employed specifically for economic recovery and (d) that it should serve to restore hope and confidence in future peace and security.

Would Stop Aid

Exactly what form the safeguards will take has not yet been determined. But in general officials speak of keeping such constant control over the use of American dollars under the program that if any participating country failed to carry out its obligations the assistance could be stopped immediately.

This is the basic safeguard written into both the Greek and Turkish programs.

U.S. PREPARED TO GO AHEAD

JUL 1947

Marshall Plan Expected To Bring Outright Conflict

Washington, July 2 (AP)—The State Department was reported fully prepared tonight to go ahead with the Marshall plan for economic aid to Europe despite Russia's flat refusal to co-operate with France and Britain in organizing European recovery.

This probably means an outright economic-political conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Indicates Soviet Opposition

The remarks by Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister, as the Paris meeting closed that the Marshall plan means the division of Europe, were taken here as an indication of Soviet intent to fight it at every turn.

So long as European nations will take the initiative in seeking their own salvation, the United States Government, on the other hand, was authoritatively represented as ready to go through with the promise Marshall made to back up any international recovery program with American help in so far as practical.

This was the position stated by responsible officials here after the news of the Paris breakup became known.

Called Intransigeance

What these officials called "new evidence of Russian intransigeance" turned the Paris meeting into probably the most abject international failure since the Allied powers first banded together to fight Nazi Germany.

Washington authorities did not see that any good would come of any future effort to get Russia to co-operate. In fact, according to the present authoritative Washington view, there is neither time nor purpose in making a further effort.

Reaction here was based on the official American estimate of Russia's intentions in Europe, plus what Marshall has said about his proposal for European recovery.

Expects Agreement Soon

Secretary Marshall at his press conference today said he expected very shortly a British-American agreement on a new level of industry for Germany. This will mean, in effect, boosting German steel, coal and other essential production as one means of helping Europe.

Other informants reported the figure for Ruhr steel production now in favor with British-American negotiators is 11,500,000 tons annually, compared with a present ceiling of 7,500,000 tons and actual output of 5,800,000 tons.

While Marshall did not link the two industries, Ruhr coal and steel are basic elements in any western European recovery plan.

Foreign-Aid Plan Called A Virtual Union Subsidy

JUL 1947

Washington, July 2 (AP)—A House Foreign Affairs subcommittee has drafted a report asserting that maritime unions are getting what amounts to a $500,000,000-a-year subsidy under the Administration's foreign-aid program.

The report was submitted today to the full committee and subcommittee members said they expected it to be made public within a few days.

Asking not to be quoted by name, some of the members said the subcommittee concluded, after a study, that the aid program was undertaken without full knowledge of economic factors involved.

Specific Contentions

Specifically, they commented:

1. About $1,000,000,000 of the program goes annually for shipping costs, and the maritime workers get about half of that. This amounts, the subcommittee argues, to a "subsidy" for the unions. In this connection the subcommittee is reported to have recommended turning over idle Liberty ships to foreign countries and letting them handle the cargoes with lower-paid seamen.

2. This country is getting nothing substantial in return for materials shipped abroad because, as one member put it, "no one in the Administration seems to know what the other countries have in the way of things we actually need."

3. The program seems to have been "pulled out of the air" without first determining the country's ability to provide large-scale aid.

Co-Operation Lack Charged

One member said the subcommittee's studies showed "a complete lack of co-operation" between Congress and the State Department.

In fact, he added, "there appears to have been a studied plan to keep the House in the dark" about many aspects of the program.

He said that the group had got information from various Federal agencies, but had difficulty obtaining data from the State Department until President Truman announced recently plans for a similar survey of the foreign-aid program.

The subcommittee members are Representative Vorys (R., Ohio), chairman; Fulton (R., Pa.), Javits (R., N.Y.), Colmer (D., Miss.) and Richards (D., S.C.).

Cocooned-Plane Use Seen For A U.N. Unit

JUL 1947

Washington, July 2 (AP)—The United States, with only 1,500 Army Air Forces combat planes in operation, will have to dig into its mothballed air fleet if a United Nations world police force is created.

Airmen said today they assume that the 1,500 aircraft would be entirely inadequate to provide for both regular national defense and a contribution to the United Nations force.

In discussing the possibilities of such a force, these experts emphasize the current obstacle arising out of Russia's insistence that the ground-sea-air components be supplied by the five major United Nations powers on an equal basis.

China Viewed As An Index

This would have the effect of making China, which has virtually no air force, an index to the whole police structure, since China is the weakest militarily of the five powers. Russia, Britain, the United States and France are the others.

The experts said that among the problems to be worked out if an international air force is created is that of a common ground for operation.

One official suggested that joint maneuvers would presumably be one of the first requirements to acquaint each member force with the techniques of the others. Tactics, flight formations, communications and, of course, languages, would present initial problems.

Home Bases Presumed

The presumption at this stage is that the individual air forces would be based in home territory until an emergency arose.

In the instance of this country's AAF, some airmen suggested, the provision for a United Nations contribution would probably be made by expanding the size of the force and earmarking certain organizations for United Nations duty if and when required.

Thus a certain number of B-29 groups, medium bomber and fighter outfits might be tagged for United Nations duty, although their day-by-day operations and training would be as elements of the regular AAF organization.

25,000 In Reserve

While the AAF has but 1,500 first-line aircraft in operation, it has an enormous reserve of stored airplanes—about 25,000 of all types, including transports.

However, AAF officials said the time required to return these planes to operation would be considerable. The first aircraft would probably require up to three months and the time for getting a reasonable percentage of the cocooned fleet back into the air might require as much as a year and a half.

As an indication of the AAF's current position, it was recalled that in a recent training "raid" against the east coast the Strategic Air Command was able to muster only 130 B-29s, although it had almost 3,000 superfortresses on hand after the war.

WAR CHIEFS FAVOR WACS-WAVES BILL

Washington, July 2 (A. P.).—Gen. Eisenhower and Fleet Admiral Nimitz urged Congress today to authorize permanently the services of women in the regular and reserve Army and Navy.

The Army and Navy chiefs praised before the Senate Armed Services Committee the parts played in world war II by the Wacs and Waves, auxiliary women's corps of the two service branches.

Provision for existence of the Wacs and Waves will expire under present law six months after the war is declared officially over.

Both chiefs urged approval of a bill before the committee to utilize all available resources. Eisenhower said:

"The more we do progress toward this so-called future push-button war everybody in the United States is going to be participating as if they were fifty miles from the battle lines—that is everybody at critical points."

Norman Thomas Criticizes Arms Standardization Bill

JUL 1947

Washington, July 2 (AP)—Norman Thomas denounced the Western Hemisphere arms standardization bill today as a measure "to foment discord, stir up wars, strengthen dictators, provide Communists with anti-American propaganda and swell profits of arms makers."

Thomas, ofttimes Socialist candidate for President, continued before the House Foreign Affairs Committee:

"Since there is only one possibility of large-scale war—and that against the Soviet Union and its allies—it is a bill to build a Western Hemisphere bloc against the Russian bloc which the Soviet dictatorship has been building.

"Coup Still Road To Power"

"Our good neighborliness for Latin American countries cannot prevent our recognizing the fact that a military coup is still the road to power in many Latin American countries, and that to hold power many dictators and semi-dictators rely primarily on their armies."

The measure would provide for military co-operation between the countries of the Western Hemisphere under a plan by which the United States would furnish arms and military missions to the other Americas.

Terming President Peron, of Argentina, a dictator "avowedly engaged in an expansionist policy," Thomas said "Yet Peron is to be included in this new policy and rehabilitated as a democratic leader largely to the degree in which he will buy from us."

Memories Of Dollar Diplomacy

He said that "hemispheric fraternity and the general decency of our Latin American policy in recent years have not wiped out altogether memories of dollar diplomacy and suspicion of us as the colossus of the north.

"Nor is Pan-Americanism yet strong enough really to unite the Latin American nations beyond the possibility of the recurrence of wars between them such as those in which they have often engaged."

He said that Colombia and Peru were friends until Colombia arranged to purchase thirteen United States combat planes.

Peru Doubles The Order

"The Peruvian Government was angry and made strong representations in Washington. It ended by buying out of Peru's poverty an air fleet twice as big as Colombia's—without worrying Stalin at all."

Thomas testified.

He said that if Stalin "is as shrewd as I think he is, he contemplates this bill with satisfaction. . . . What better ammunition could his numerous and well-subsidized Communist agents have throughout the world, and especially in South America, for their charges of American militarism and imperialism?"

U. S. CHALKS UP SURPLUS FOR '47

JUL 1947

Winds Up Fiscal Period with $754,000,000 Excess, First in 17 Years.

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—A $753,787,660 surplus, the first in 17 years, was chalked up by the Federal government for the 1947 fiscal year ended Monday.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder announced today that the surplus was applied on the national debt, helping to reduce it to $258,375,903,293 as of Monday midnight.

Turning to the subject of taxes, Snyder told a news conference:

"As long as business, employment and national income continue high, we should maintain tax revenues at levels that will permit a continued reduction in the public debt."

Surplus Set at 754 Million

The nearly $754,000,000 excess of government income over spending during the last 12 months was an improvement of better than $21,400,000,000 over the 1946 fiscal year.

The reasons for that improvement could be summed up this way:

1. Revenues, approximating $43,259,000,000 rose a surprising $221,000,000 over fiscal 1946 thanks to a $2,385,000,000 increase in surplus property sales and a flood of tax collections resulting from business activity far beyond original expectations.

2. Spending, although about $6,700,000,000 above original expectations, was $21,200,000,000 less than in fiscal 1946. The big reason was a $28,600,000,000 drop in Army and Navy spending. This was offset partly by increases of $3,700,000,000 in expenditures to aid other nations and $3,700,000,000 for veterans.

Prospect for 1948 Good

A further improvement is in prospect for fiscal 1948 just getting under way. President Truman has indicated the new fiscal year might produce a surplus of over $4,000,000,000, but the outcome is clouded by several uncertainties.

These include how much Congress will vote for spending, whether taxes are reduced, whether the business activity holds up, and how much aid is given other nations.

The actual amount of surplus for fiscal 1947 was nearly $500,000,000 below what President Truman predicted last April.

LEHMAN PROPOSES U. S. AS HAVEN FOR 400,000 REFUGEES

JUL 1947

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP) Herbert Lehman, former director general of UNRRA, urged today a haven in the United States for 400,000 of Europe's homeless war refugees "wronged by men and forgotten by society."

The former New York governor told a House Judiciary subcommittee that failure to admit the displaced persons would be interpreted abroad as meaning the American people "do not practice the principles they preach."

He registered the support of six national Jewish organizations for a measure, backed by the administration and introduced by Rep. Stratton (R-Ill), to permit entry of 100,000 of the refugees annually for four years.

Legislation Introduced

Meanwhile, in the Senate seven Republicans and two Democrats introduced legislation to authorize admission of displaced refugees into this country during the next four years. The bills set no specific number of refugees to be admitted, leaving it for committee study.

Opposition to the Stratton bill was voiced in a House speech by Rep. Gosset (D-Tex), who denounced the measure as setting up "a new fifth column." He said the bill "originated with, and has been largely sustained by, a number of prominent Jewish organizations."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), one of the sponsors of the Senate bill told the Senate that in the past America was a haven for those "persecuted for religious or political activity," and that "we cannot now close our doors to those seeking refuge."

Another sponsor, Senator Cooper (R-Ky), told his colleagues the best answer to the argument that admission of displaced persons will lead to "ilfiltration" is that "these people resisted and will not return to a totalitarian state."

Gossett asserted that the displaced persons camps "are filled with bums, criminals, black marketeers, subversives, revolutionists, and crackpots of all colors and hues."

He declared: "Here is what I want to say to our good Jewish citizens:

"When they band themselves together in Jewish organizations, they use their power and influence for obviously selfish purposes, when they seek to control the press and radio for selfish ends, when they conspire to destroy immigration barriers, they stimulate and promote anti-semitism within this country to the serious detriment of all.

"Unless they desist and refrain from such activity, they will bring great sorrow upon this nation. For the sake of all the Jews, as well as the rest of us, they must not become a minority pressure group in this country."

Truman Asks Early U. N. Site Action

JUL 1947

President Urges Congress to Consider Agreement Covering Control of Location Here.

Washington, July 2 (A. P.).—President Truman asked Congress today to give early consideration to an agreement between the United States and the United Nations covering the control and administration of U. N. headquarters at New York city.

"The United States has been signally honored in the location of the headquarters of the United Nations within our country," he said in a special message. "Naturally, the United States wishes to make all appropriate arrangements so that the organization can fully and effectively perform the functions for which it was created and upon the successful accomplishments of which so much depends.

"When the General Assembly of the United Nations meets in New York city this fall, it would be most appropriate if this Government were ready for its part to bring the agreement into effect."

NEW TRUMAN PLANE

Washington, July 2 (A. P.).—President Truman has a sleek new personal plane—the "Independence"—but he apparently has no early plans to use it on a long flight. The Chief Executive had planned trips to Puerto Rico and Alaska this year and said he hopes to be able to accept an invitation to visit Brazil.

The "Independence," successor to the "Sacred Cow," landed here last night after a record-beating delivery flight from Santa Monica, Cal. Lieut.-Col. Harry T. Myers, presidential pilot, figured

U. S. AGENCIES ACCUSED OF ILLEGAL PROPAGANDA

WASHINGTON, July 2. — (AP) The Justice department was requested today to proceed against six federal agencies accused by the House Expenditures committee of illegal "propaganda activities" in behalf of compulsory health insurance.

The committee, in a report approved unanimously, said it found key personnel of the agencies planned to establish "health workshops" in strategic areas, for "propagandizing farm and labor leaders to build up an artificial, federally-stimulated health bill."

This development came shortly after representatives of four organizations urged the Senate Public Welfare committee to approve the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill providing compulsory health insurance to be financed with a three per cent payroll tax.

President Truman has asked Congress for health insurance legislation.

The four organizations—Americans for Democratic Action, Committee of Physicians for the Improvement of Medical Care, Inc., the Methodist Federation for Social Action, and the progressive Citizens of America—criticized the so-called Taft health bill which would authorize expenditure of $200,000,000 a year to aid the states in setting up medical care programs for low income groups.

Argentine for Admission Of Spain to Radio Parley

ATLANTIC CITY, JJuly 2 (AP).—Dr. Oscar Ivanissevich, Argentine Ambassador to the United States, called today on the plenipotentiary session of the International Telecommunications conference to invite Spain to the meeting, which plans to draw up a new treaty governing world radio communication.

Dr. Ivanissevich's request came immediately following opening of the session which is expected to continue until mid-August.

Dr. Ivanissevich rejected as immaterial a United Nations resolution of December, 1946, calling for exclusion of Spain from all international meetings.

Altogether seventy-one nations were represented at today's meeting, which heard United States Assistant Secretary of State Garrison Norton explain how "enormous strides" in radio during the last fifteen years made obsolete the current radio treaty, drawn up at Madrid in 1932.

The delegate approved formation of a special committee to study the question of an invitation to Spain and to four countries recommended by the Soviet Union—outer Mongolia, Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia.

Mr. Norton said the conference also would consider affiliation of the International Telecommunications Union with the United Nations. The I. T. U.

475 Jews Near End Of 9-Year Wanderings

San Francisco, July 2 (AP)—The S.S. General M. C. Meigs will dock here tomorrow morning, marking the end of a nine-year search for refuge for 475 Jews on board.

The group, vanguard of hundreds more to follow in the next several months, fled Nazi persecution in 1938 only to be interned in Shanghai by the Japanese in 1941. Thousands still are there, many awaiting transportation to the United States.

Mostly Germans, with a few Austrians and Poles, they will make their new homes in many parts of the United States with relatives or friends, except for seven families bound for South America and another family for Belgium.

Portland, Ore., July 2 (A. P.).—The report of a veteran Pacific Coast pilot was added today to the growing accounts of "flying saucers" over the West.

Richard Rankin, with more than 7,000 hours in the air, said he saw the much-debated mystery disks high over Bakersfield, Cal., and going "maybe 300 or 400 miles an hour." There were ten in formation flying north, he told a reporter, but when "they returned on the reverse course, headed south, there were only seven."

"I couldn't make out the number or location of their propellers and couldn't distinguish any wings or tail," he said. "They appeared almost round."

Rankin said he saw them on June 23, but hesitated to describe what he saw until he noted others were reporting the same thing.

At first, he continued, he assumed he had seen the XF5U-1, the experimental Navy Flying Flapjack. The Navy since has announced it has only one XF5U-1, and it has not left Connecticut.

Rankin said he observed the "planes" from the ground. Meanwhile, new reports came in from three Oregon cities—Astoria, Madras and Portland. The Portlanders making the report, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Balliet, said they disbelieved stories about the "saucers" until they saw at least ten of them winging noiselessly high over the Columbia River yesterday.

RED FORCE TOTALS 70,000 IN AUSTRIA, GEN. CLARK SAYS

JUL 1947

FORT LEWIS, July 2—(AP) The Russian occupation force in Austria is strong and "way out of proportion, situated as it is in the heart of the industrial area," Gen. Mark W. Clark, new commander of the Sixth Army, said today.

General Clark, who led American forces in Austria before his recent return to this country, spoke at a news conference. Earlier, elaborate ceremonies marked his return here to the Army post he left a little more than seven years ago with the rank of Major.

He will spend two weeks vacationing in the Pacific northwest.

The general said he believed Austria should direct its own affairs as it leaders see fit "with no outside interference," but added:

"The American forces, I hope, will not leave Austria until the Russians do. If they did, it would create a vacuum in the American zone, resulting in pressure from the Russians."

The Russian force approximates 70,000 troops, compared with the 10,000 American soldiers there, he said.

Inverchapel Is Taking Butter And Bacon Home

New York, July 2 (AP)—Lord Inverchapel, the British Ambassador to the United States, frantically hunted butter and bacon on the New York water front today before boarding the Queen Elizabeth bound for food-short Great Britain.

He said he was able to buy ten pounds of butter and eight pounds of bacon in a shop a short time before the ship sailed with 2,256 passengers. He will spend two months vacationing in the Highlands of Scotland.

Meanwhile, Dorothy Kirsten, Metropolitan Opera star, who waited on the pier with twelve pieces of luggage in the hope of obtaining a passage, was unsuccessful when there were no last-minute cancellations.

"I feel like I was jilted at the dock," she said.

Lie Doubts Last Word On Aid Has Been Spoken

Lake Success, N.Y., July 2 (AP)—Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary General, expressed regret today that the Paris conference of Foreign Ministers had broken up without agreement on the Marshall plan for European economic reconstruction but declared he could not believe the "last word" had been spoken.

Lie declined to elaborate at his weekly news conference on what he meant by "last word" but it was recalled that the United Nations has an economic commission already at work surveying Europe's needs and what can be done about them.

United Nations interest in postwar reconstruction was extended to Africa when Lie announced that the United Nations would send field survey missions into former Italian colonies in North Africa to determine their reconstruction needs.

U.S. May Ignore Slav Intimidation Charge

Lake Success, July 2 (AP)—American officials declined to comment today on veiled Yugoslav charges, made in the United Nations Security Council, that the United States was guilty of "open intimidation" in the Balkans.

Council delegates were unable to agree on just what Yugoslavia meant, whether it was a slap at the United States for furnishing aid to Greece or aimed at voicing displeasure with statements made by Mark Ethridge, American representative on the Balkan Investigation Commission.

Since the United States has already spoken at length on the Balkan question and urged speed on her proposal for a semi-permanent Balkan border commission some quarters felt that the United States would overlook the Yugoslav statement.

Ethridge Assailed

Dr. Joza Vilfan, Yugoslav delegate, made the veiled reference to "open intimidation" yesterday after attacking Ethridge for statements he had made to newsmen after his return from the Balkans.

Then, without naming names, the Yugoslav delegate declared:

"We agree that most recently there exist in international relations methods of intimidation—not only concealed intimidation, as stated by the representative of the United States—but even open intimidation. In any event, Yugoslavia is the last country which could be accused of intimidation. But as to intimidation, the Balkan countries can tell much."

Soil From Greece For F.D.R. Grave

JUL 1947

New York, July 2 (AP)—Earth brought from the Parthenon on the Acropolis in Greece and contained in an urn more than 2,500 years old will be scattered over the grave of Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park on Sunday by a delegation of Greek veterans of World War II.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, which is participating in the ceremony with the Amer-Hellenic Union of Athens, announced plans today for the observance. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will be present the VFW said, and will receive the valuable urn for the Roosevelt Memorial Library.

The soil was taken up last September at the time of the visit by the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt to Pireaus. United States, Greek and British officials participated in the ceremony at that time.

"WHILE THIS LASTS, THE WORLD IS ON A DOWNWARD PATH THAT, IF CONTINUED, WOULD END IN THE THROTTLING OF WORLD TRADE, STAGNATION, STARVATION AND DECAY," MORRISON SAID.

HE ASSERTED THAT THE WORLD HAD THE SAME CHANCE NOW AS IN 1931, WHEN, HE CHARGED, "EVERYONE MADE A WRONG CHOICE" BY RESTRICTING INSTEAD OF INCREASING INTERNATIONAL TRADE.

"IF WORLD TRADE GETS A CHANCE TO EXPAND, ALL WILL YET BE WELL," HE SAID.

HUGH DALTON, BRITISH CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER, STATED IN REPLY TO A QUESTION THAT BRITISH POUNDS WERE PRICED IN UNITED STATES BANKS AT BETWEEN $4.01 3/4 AND $4.03 1/4 FOR IMMEDIATE DELIVERY.

A.S.BOSSOM, CONSERVATIVE MEMBER, SAID HE HAD EVIDENCE THAT THE PRICE OF THE POUND AT THE CHASE NATIONAL BANK WAS CURRENTLY $3.10.

BOTH MEN WERE CORRECT.

THE OFFICIAL RATE OF EXCHANGE BETWEEN THE POUND AND THE DOLLAR IS APPROXIMATELY $4.02 PER POUND. IT IS AT THAT RATE THAT VIRTUALLY ALL OF THE INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS BETWEEN THE U.S. AND GREAT BRITAIN IS DONE.

BUT THE POUND--ACTUAL PAPER CURRENCY AND COINS--CAN ALSO BE PURCHASED FROM MONEY DEALERS, BANKS AND TRAVEL AGENCIES IN NEW YORK AT FROM $3.15 TO $3.30 OR THEREABOUTS.

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE CHASE NATIONAL BANK SUGGESTED THAT IT WAS THIS CURRENCY DOLLAR TO WHICH BOSSOM REFERRED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

THE USES TO WHICH THIS POUND CAN BE PUT ARE EXTREMELY LIMITED. TOURISTS AND BUSINESSMEN GOING TO ENGLAND MAY BUY THE CURRENCY--BUT THEY ARE ALLOWED TO TAKE INTO ENGLAND ONLY £20. THE CURRENCY MAY ALSO BE USED ON A BRITISH BOAT.

AN AMERICAN BUSINESSMAN, HOWEVER, WHO WANTS TO PURCHASE BRITISH GOODS MAY NOT USE THIS "BARGAIN" CURRENCY TO PAY FOR HIS ORDER. THAT TYPE OF TRANSACTION IS CLEARED THROUGH THE INTERNATIONAL BANKING HOUSES AT THE OFFICIAL RATE.

DALTON SAID THAT "ALL THE REPUTABLE BANKS--AND THE CHASE NATIONAL BANK IS ONE--CAREFULLY OBSERVE THE OFFICIAL PRICE," A STATEMENT WITH WHICH THE CHASE SPOKESMAN AGREED.

France, Britain Suggest Russia Reconsider Rejection of Plan

NITE

Meeting To Start July 12 In Paris

Europe Press Agree Break-Up of Parley Means Battle of Blocs

Paris, July 3.—(AP.)—Britain and France today defied Russian warning and invited 22 other European nations to meet in Paris July 12 to work out plans for implementation of the Marshall program for economic aid.

Less than 24 hours after Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had declared that such a course would split Europe into two blocs, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin took up the challenge.

The division between Russia and the western powers was underscored by the failure of the sponsoring governments to invite the Soviet Union to the conference, which would include virtually all European nations except Spain and Germany.

The door was left open for Soviet participation, however, when the two western powers sent a letter to Soviet Ambassador Alexandre Bogomolov suggesting that Russia, which yesterday rejected the British-French proposals for economic cooperation, reconsider her attitude and join them.

Joint Communique.

The new conference was announced in a joint British-French communique after a meeting this morning between Bidault and Bevin. Some such action had been expected, however, since they told Molotov yesterday they would go ahead without Russia if necessary.

Even before the announcement, the European press, Communist, center and rightist alike, had gloomily acknowledged that the break-up of the three-power conference marked the beginning of a struggle between two European blocs.

A major subject of speculation was whether the eastern European countries, those along the Red fringe, would attend the Paris meeting or would follow the lead of Russia and refuse to participate.

No invitations were sent to the Soviet republics of the Ukraine and White Russia, nor to the states absorbed by Russia, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, but a half dozen other countries under the Soviet sphere of influence were invited.

These included Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Hungary, Poland, Romania and Yugoslavia.

There was no immediate reaction from any of them, but a dispatch from Prague indicated Czechoslovakia might follow Russia's lead. The dispatch said Czech economy was too closely linked to that of Russia and her Slav neighbors to enable her to enter any Soviet-opposed program except in the direst need.

The Bidault-Bevin communique called upon the invited nations to draft "A European reconstruction program in which the resources and needs of each country will be coordinated in such a manner as the European countries freely decide."

The word "resources" was the rock upon which Russia and the western powers broke their short-lived conversations on the plan offered by United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

Molotov insisted that such an endeavor, the listing of national resources, would constitute interference in the internal affairs of some countries, and would lead to British-French domination of the continent with American funds.

Stressing the necessity for speed in drawing up the recovery program, Bidault and Bevin said that "a temporary organization must be created to assemble the data on which such a program will be based."

They set September 1 as the target date for a first report on Europe's ability to help herself and the extent of American assistance needed to supplement her own recovery efforts.

The French Foreign Ministry said the United States would be informed of the progress of the reconstruction efforts in the forthcoming conference. A copy of the invitation was sent to Ambassador Jefferson Caffery for his information.

The ministry also said the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe, which meets in Geneva Saturday, would be kept informed, but indicated there would be no point in "plunging the commission into needless debate on the subject" since Russia is a member.

Aid-Parley Bids Going To 22 Nations

J. DYNAM

DAY

Paris, July 3 (AP) — The French Foreign Office announced today that 22 nations will be invited to a meeting in Paris July 12 to discuss European economic co-operation as outlined in the Marshall proposal.

Notable exceptions are Soviet Russia, Spain and Germany.

A French Foreign Office spokesman said it was proposed to have a first report on European needs and ability for self-help ready by September 1.

The countries invited will include Austria, Turkey, Albania, Ireland and all former enemy states except Germany, it was announced. A Foreign Office spokesman said the invitations would be sent to Paris embassies tonight.

Exception Of Spain

The French Foreign Ministry earlier announced a British-French decision to invite all European states, "with the temporary exception of Spain," to take part in drafting a reply to the proposal advanced by United States Secretary of State Marshall for European economic recovery.

A Foreign Office spokesman said a letter had been sent to Russian Ambassador Alexandre Bogomolov expressing the hope that the Soviet Union, which has denounced the Marshall plan, would reconsider her refusal to join in economic cooperation. However, he said no invitation would be sent to Russia for the July 12 meeting.

The spokesman said that while Germany was not invited, the commanders in chief of her four occupation zones—"including the Russians, of course—will be consulted regarding the availability and needs of their zones."

The spokesman said the United States "will be informed of this (July 12) meeting and will be sent a copy of the letter of invitation."

Geneva Commission

He added that the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe, now meeting in Geneva, "will be informed but since an important member (Russia) of the commission is known to oppose the project, we see no need for plunging the commission into a needless debate on the subject."

The Foreign Office spokesman said it was expected that an organization would be formed at the July 12 meeting that would reserve the right to accept or reject the data to be furnished by each participating country.

"The committee will not be simply a postoffice to receive declarations from the different countries," he said. "There is no question, however, of any actual control being exercised inside the various countries to check on their facts."

Statement On Germany

Regarding Germany, he said:

"There is no question of putting the problem of the Ruhr or reparations or similar problems before the meeting. They are properly in the province of the Big Four."

In explanation of the communiqué report of the "temporary" exclusion of Spain from economic consultations, the spokesman said:

"That means as long as Spain has her present form of government."

He said the exclusion was decided upon because "France and Great Britain, who are bound by the decisions of the United Nations, are merely carrying out those decisions."

The spokesman said the organization to be created would follow "in general fashion the lines of the French project" submitted to the three-power Paris Conference, calling for the creation of six subcommittees to deal with food and agriculture; steel; transport; coal and power and other forms of energy; raw materials, and finance.

Could Be Modified

He said the project could be modified according to wisshes of the attending countries. He would not predict whether decisions would be taken by majority vote.

Countries invited by France and Great Britain were Albania, Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Eire, Finland, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and Yugoslavia.

States not invited, besides Russia, Spain and Germany, were White Russia, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, the Ukraine, Vatican City, Andora, Monaco, San Marino and Liechtenstein.

The communiqué made no reference to Soviet Russia, nor to the failure yesterday of Russia, Britain and France to agree on the Marshall aid-Europe proposal.

Bidault, Bevin Confer

The British and French Foreign Ministers conferred at length this morning, emphasizing the break with Russia over the Marshall suggestion.

The text of the communiqué, issued after the meeting between British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault:

"The British and French governments reached the following decision in order to give prompt effect to the suggestions made by Mr. Marshall in his speech at Harvard University on June 5 that Europe should take the initiative in the work of reconstruction.

Need For Help Cited

"For this purpose it is essential to draw up as quickly as possible a program to cover Europe's resources and Europe's needs.

"A temporary organization needs to be set up to bring together the data on which such a program will be based. The British and French governments have decided thus far to invite all European states, with the temporary exception of Spain, who desire to participate in framing a reply to Mr. Marshall, to collaborate with them in setting up this organization, whose task will be to draw up a program of European reconstruction in which the resources and needs of each country will be co-ordinated in such a manner as each freely decides.

"This offer to participate in the work of the organization will be open to all European states."

Flight To Moscow

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who declared yesterday that the program drafted by his British and French colleagues would divide Europe, was flying back to Moscow. His plane took off at 4 A.M. A representative of the French Foreign Ministery visited Molotov before his departure to wish him a pleasant journey home.

Bevin and Bidault met at the French Foreign Ministry a few hours after Molotov took off.

Closeted with them were advisers who participated in the three-power conference which broke up in disagreement yesterday amid heated exchanges emphasizing the gap separating the British-French and Russian views on the future of Europe.

The meeting roused considerable speculation as to whether the eastern European countries—those along the fringes of Russia—would join Britain and France in participation for economic recovery without the Soviet Union or whether they would go along with Russia and stay outside.

These countries need dollar help and most of them have expressed interest in Secretary of State Marshall's suggestion that future American dollar aid to European countries would be based on an overall recovery program drafted by the European countries themselves.

Settlement Expected.

Bidault was acting in accordance with his announcement that his Government would go on with its study of United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall's proposition.

French informants predicted that the two foreign ministers would issue a joint statement when Bidault visits London in the near future for the exchange of ratifications of the British-French treaty of alliance signed at Dunkirk last March.

As the conference broke up late yesterday, Bevin and Bidault promptly declared that they would issue a joint call to all European countries except Russia and Spain to join them in a co-operative effort at recovery. Both Molotov and Bidault warned against dividing Europe, and Molotov voiced fears of new difficulties in the relations between States.

London Is Pessimistic.

Later, both British and French informants predicted privately that a European recovery program based on billions of American dollars had a much better chance of success in Congress, now that Russia was on the outside. But in London a high Government informant reported pessimism at the Foreign Office and the feeling that the program might fail without the support of the Soviet Union and her friends.

The United States State Department was reported prepared to proceed with its plan. Marshall's under secretary for economic affairs, William L. Clayton, is due in Paris in two or three days for discussions with French officials. He already has discussed Marshall's ideas in London.

Paris observers watched for the effect of the Franco-Russian disagreement on French politics. Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier, whose cabinet excludes communists, faces a test vote on a confidence motion this week in the National Assembly, where the communists have the biggest delegation. The French general confederation of labor is communist-led.

Molotov Voices Objections.

In turning down a British-French proposal for a steering committee to make a plan, Molotov said its implementation would lead to dividing Europe into two groups of states—"Great Britain, France and group of countries which follow them" and "the other European states." He foresaw grave consequences.

In turn, Bidault warned the Soviet delegation against "any action which might result in dividing Europe into two groups." Bevin said that grave consequences and threats' would not deter Britain from her duty.

"If there are government which will not co-operate," he declared, "we shall at least have discharged our duty by trying to help them."

However, both Bevin and Bidault said they hoped that any separation of Europe would be temporary and that all European nations eventually would join program.

Plans to Work with U. N.

Bevin emphasized, "we shall work as closely as we can with the United Nations."

Molotov charged that British and French suggestions—including a last-minute compromise offer made by Bidault—would mean that European countries would lose their "economic and national independence."

He said that Poland would be told to produce more coal, Czecho-Slovakia to bear down on agriculture and light industry, Norway to stop steel development to please "certain strong powers" and foreign corporations. Observers said that he was preparing to intensify Russia's efforts to represent herself as the champion of European independence against what her newspapers have called "western imperialism."

The Paris Statements

PARIS, July 3 (AP)—The English-language text of the British-French communiqué on the European reconstruction program:

The British and French Governments reached the following decision in order to give prompt effect to the suggestions made by Mr. Marshall in his speech at Harvard University on June 5 that Europe should take the initiative in the work of reconstruction.

For this purpose it is essential to draw up as quickly as possible a program to cover Europe's resources and Europe's needs.

A temporary organization needs to be set up to bring together the data on which such a program will be based. The British and French Governments have decided thus far to invite all European states, with the temporary exception of Spain, who desire to participate in framing a reply to Mr. Marshall, to collaborate with them in setting up this organization, whose task will be to draw up a program of European reconstruction in which the resources and needs of each country will be coordinated in such a manner as each freely decides.

This offer to participate in the work of the organization will be open to all European states.

Accompanying the invitation to the forthcoming conference was the French proposal for procedure which was accepted by Britain as a basis for action. This proposal, as made public here by the French Embassy Information Division, follows:

PREAMBLE

The Conference of the Foreign Ministers emphasizes the urgency of hastening the reconstruction and economic development of the European countries suffering from the effects of the war. It believes that this task would be facilitated by the economic aid of the United States, as proposed by Gen. George Marshall in his speech on June 5, 1947.

The Conference is of the opinion that Europe should first help itself by developing its own basic industries. American assistance would be a decisive factor in permitting Europe to make this effort by supplying her with the resources she will lack until the goal is achieved.

Steps to Be Followed

In this way, the economic recovery of the European nations and the safeguarding of their independence will be better assured. In order to collect as soon as possible all information necessary for establishing a schedule of the means and needs of Europe, a special organization shall be created. This organization will include representatives of such European states as may desire to participate in its work. The organization will not interfere in the internal affairs of these states; it will take no action that could possibly be regarded as an infringement of their sovereignty, or of a nature to hinder the favorable development of European trade.

Under these conditions the Conference deems it advisable to take the following steps:

(1) To create a "Committee of Cooperation" which shall draw up before September, 1947, a report on the available means and the needs of Europe for the next few years;

(2) This report listing information furnished voluntarily by the various states desirous of participating in the proposed action, shall determine:

(a) The development of production to be expected, first as a result of the individual efforts of each of the European countries and second, as a result of inter-European exchanges of available resources;

(b) The amount and cost of goods to be supplied by extra-European aid. This shall include equipment designed to ensure the development of production, as well as essential consumer goods (agricultural products, coal, etc. * * *) designed to ensure the economic life of Europe during such time as production in the European countries is inadequate.

(3) The "Committee of Cooperation" shall be composed of representatives of France, Great Britain and certain other European countries.

(4) In order to accomplish its task, the Committee shall consult with all the European countries with the exception of Spain, for the time being.

To Collect Data on Germany

Information concerning the assets and needs of Germany shall be furnished by the Allied commanders in chief. All data relative to the development of German production to be in accordance with the decisions of the Council of Foreign Ministers and the Allied Control Council.

(6) The "Committee of Cooperation" shall seek the friendly aid of the United States in drafting the report as suggested by the United States Secretary of State. Subcommittees shall be created to facilitate the task of the "Committee of Cooperation"; these shall study:

(a) Food Supply and Agriculture
(b) Power
(c) Transport
(d) Raw materials
(e) Equipment
(f) Iron and Steel

These subcommittees shall include, in addition to representatives of France and the United Kingdom, representatives of the three European countries most directly interested in each of the branches of economy under consideration.

The "Committee of Cooperation" and its subcommittees shall meet in Paris.

(7) This plan shall be submitted to the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe for its comments during the next session of that body to be held in Geneva on July 5.

The report shall also be submitted to the Economic Commission for its comments.

The "Committee of Cooperation" and subcommittee shall keep in close contact with the secretariat of the Economic Commission for Europe and with its various technical departments.

Clay Regrets 'Bitter' Collapse Of Parley

Berlin, July 3 (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor for Germany, said today that "the failure of the Paris conference looks very bad—not only because it broke up in disagreement but because it ended in bitterness."

Clay disclosed that the United States and Britain were in virtual agreement on a new, increased level of industry plan for western Germany which could serve as a cornerstone for American aid to Europe under the Marshall plan.

Only "minor differences" exist between the two governments, he said, and these "could be resolved within a few days."

It was understood that the plan, worked out by Clay and Lieutenant General Sir Brian Robertson, the British deputy military governor, provide for a steel production level of about 12,000,000 tons a year for the combined British-American zones—or about one half of Germany's prewar level.

Reich Papers Reflect Split

JUL 1947

Berlin, July 3 (AP)—The British-licensed German newspaper Social Democrat today carried a front-page banner headline "Moscow Torpedoes The Marshall Plan."

Russian-controlled newspapers, on the other hand, devoted most of their accounts on the Paris conference failure to declarations by Russian Foreign Minister Molotov which represented him as "fighting for the independence of European nations and opposing the federalization of Germany."

Poles Show Division

PARIS, July 3 (AP)—In Poland first comments from pro-Government newspapers supported Mr. Molotov's stand. The Communist-backed Warsaw Glos Ludu said Mr. 'Molotov's view "harmonizes with the interests of all smaller European states," adding that the British proposals at the conference would have resulted in "the colonization of Europe under the subjugation of American capital."

Foreign circles in Warsaw, however, said Mr. Molotov's action complicated the position of Poland which, while tied politically to Russia, looks to the United States for economic aid.

"Sinister Development"

Paris, July 3 (AP)—The newspaper Paris Presse, a middle of the road, pro-Gaulle publication, viewed the breakup of the three-power conference as a sinister development and declared that July 2, 1947, would go down as the most important date of contemporary history.

"The bridges are cut and so is the world, by the same blow," the paper said. "From now on the economic and political struggle between the two blocs is underway."

The Paris Communist paper Ce Soir commented: "The conference of the three degenerates into a Bevin-Bidault dialogue. Will our diplomacy steer toward a new Munich?"

Communist Move Forecast

Paris, July 3 (AP)—Maurice Schuman, president of the strong centrist MRP party, said today there "is not the slightest doubt" that French Communists will try to sabotage Franco-British efforts to implement the Marshall aid-Europe plan without Soviet participation.

Sources close to Premier Paul Ramadier said he expected a full-scale Communist attack against his Government, in which the Communists have no representation. He has asked for a vote of confidence in the National Assembly tomorrow, and there was little doubt that he would get it.

Schuman, asked whether he thought the Communists would be successful in an attempt to wreck joint Franco-British efforts on the Marshall plan, replied:

"We've got to face that possibility. It is a life-and-death matter for France. . . ."

London, July 3 (AP)—The man in the street and the woman in the nursery agreed tonight that babies are here to stay.

And they doubted if Margaret Sanger, for all her success as a pioneer advocate of birth control in the United States, would get very far with her proposal that Britain's cradles stay empty for the next ten years.

"Perfectly fantastic!" exclaimed a Hampstead mother of three. "The idea—saying we haven't enough food to bring up our children properly. Did you ever see redder cheeks or sturdier legs than my babies have got?"

Not One In 20 Agrees

"Frankly," said a bachelor barrister, "I am afraid this Mrs. Sanger underestimates the—shall we say emotional needs?—that lead to the production of babies."

These reactions were typical of those voiced by people questioned at random about Mrs. Sanger's suggestion of a moratorium on babies in Britain and other "hungry countries." Not one person in twenty agreed, even for the sake of argument.

The opening gun of a very promising controversy was sounded by the London Daily Mirror, which advised Mrs. Sanger, mother of three children and grandmother of five, to go back to America. Added the Mirror:

"Her proposal would be about as practical as telling the sun to stand still or the tide to turn back."

Mrs. Sanger Not Fussed

But gray-haired Mrs. Sanger whose telephone has been ringing steadily since her baby ban idea first hit the headlines, wasn't the least bit fussed.

"I suppose my ideas will upset all of my friends," she said, "Unsound? Not a bit of it. There is pretty overcrowding in Britain. Adults could be moved to other countries instead of having babies here while food is short."

Here for a family limitation conference, Mrs. Sanger dropped her controversial bomb at a time when the British Government, in the throes of a manpower shortage, is spurring the birth rate by paying parents five shillings ($1) per week for each child except the first.

Mrs. Sanger wanted the United Nations to recommend baby quotas for all countries.

Britain Ban Babies? Proposal Called Sanger 'Nonsense'

1947

London, July 3 (AP)—Should Britain ban babies for ten years as American birth control pioneer Margaret Sanger proposes?

"Nonsense," cried the mass-circulation London Daily Mirror this morning.

"Britain has more people than she can conveniently feed in peace and war," observed Australia's minister for emigration, Arthur Caldwell.

"The boom in births which followed the war is partly artificial and is almost over," said a baby-counting writer in the Daily Mail.

She Starts An Argument

In other words, Mrs. Sanger, here to attend a family planning conference at Oxford, found herself smack in the middle of a new controversy—and directly at odds with Britain's Government.

It all started when Mrs. Sanger stepped off a plane and told the press:

"It's pretty certain that the world won't be able to produce enough food to support any more babies for at least ten years."

So, she said, women should stop having babies for ten years—in Britain, especially. She wanted the United Nations to recommend baby quotas for all countries.

Thing They "Don't Want"

"There are lots of things we want from America and can't get, and some things that we get but don't want. Into that latter category comes Mrs. Sanger," rumbled the Daily Mirror, adding:

"Her proposal would be about as practical as telling the sun to stand still or the tide to turn back."

The Mirror—like Health Minister Aneurin Bevan, who often peers beamingly into perambulators—is all for more babies, not only for the sake of having babies but to boost British manpower.

Babies Subsidized

Britain, in fact, subsidizes babies, paying parents 5 shillings ($1) a week for each child after the first.

The population experts say the birth rate, rising since 1942, is about to dive.

"In 1948," said John Fisher in the Daily Mail, "the rot may set in again. In other words, most women have already taken 'Grannie' Sanger's advice."

British Reaffirm Loyalty To U.N.

London, July 3 (AP)—Great Britain, taking the lead with France in setting up a new organization to plan the reconstruction of Europe, will stand by the United Nations with "unswerving loyalty," Minister of State Hector McNeil said today.

McNeil made the statement when asked by Independent C. L. Lipson in the House of Commons whether the newly proposed all-Europe body would keep in close touch with the United Nations European Economic Organization.

However, he did not answer Lipson's question directly.

Questioned Briefly

The Minister of State was questioned briefly after he read the British-French communiqué proposing the formation of a new organization to assess Europe's resources and needs.

McNeil told Communist Willie Gallacher that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault went "to considerable lengths to meet the claims of Soviet Russia" in the Paris talks which ended without agreement between Russia and the two Western powers.

Gallacher has asked if McNeil would give the reasons for the breakdown of the talks, saying "no nation has suffered greater devastation in the war or has greater need of friendship and aid and co-operation than the Soviet Union."

Bevin Returns

Bevin returned from the Paris Conference at 5.20 P.M. (10.20 A.M., E.S.T.), looking grim and unhappy. He left immediately for the Foreign Office to confer with senior advisers

He told reporters:

"I have nothing to add to the communiqué issued in Paris."

Bevin is expected to make a full report on the Paris meetings to the House of Commons as soon as possible, perhaps Monday.

"Extremely Disappointed"

Officials who accompanied him said he was "extremely disappointed and unhappy" over the failure of the three-power conference.

A Government spokesman said Britain would go ahead with plans to expand her trade in eastern Europe.

British Royal Navy Lost 1503 Vessels During War

London, July 3.—(AP.)—Great Britain lost 1503 naval vessels in the recent war, the Royal Navy reported today in a statistical review published by the government stationery office.

Enemy action accounted for the destruction of 958 vessels while accidents were responsible for the loss of 545.

Mines were the greatest menace, causing the destruction of 281 craft, while enemy aircraft destroyed 721. Submarines accounted for 172 and enemy surface vessels for 109. Enemy shore batteries destroyed only four. Five were rammed and sunk and 116 lost to enemy action, "cause unknown."

The tonnage of vessels lost tallied 959,757.

DOUGLAS TO SHUN MANSION

London Envoy Decides Against Gift of Woolworth Heiress

LONDON, July 3 (AP)—Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas said today that he would not live in Winfield House, the $2,600,000 mansion with gold faucets in its bathtubs which was donated to the embassy last year by the Woolworth heiress, Barbara Hutton Troubetzkoy.

"I don't think I'd like to live there, even if I could afford it," the Ambassador told a news conference.

He and Mrs. Douglas and their daughter, Sharman, plan to remain in the more modest official residence in Princes Gate, facing Hyde Park, donated years ago by J. Pierpont Morgan.

Peron Itinerary Change Unconfirmed

London, July 3 (AP)—The Argentine Embassy, commenting on a London Star report that Mrs. Juan D. Perón had canceled her scheduled visit to Britain, said today it had no knowledge of any change in the Argentine First Lady's plans.

Mrs. Perón, now in Italy, had planned to come here later this month.

Confidence Vote Certain For Ramadier

Paris, July 3 (AP)—The French Premier, Paul Ramadier, today posed a confidence motion before the National Assembly and was virtually certain of winning approval when the vote ensues Friday.

Despite initial hanging back, all parties that make up the coalition non-Communist Cabinet closed their ranks at the last moment and agreed on a simple motion expressing confidence in the Government and the economic policies it intends to follow.

There was little doubt that the collapse of the three-power talks here on the Marshall aid-Europe plan influenced the parties to band together to prevent any return of the Communists to the Government through a crisis that might bring Ramadier's downfall.

Own Party's Reaction

Ramadier's own Socialist party was expected to react similarly in its week-end National Council and reindorse his efforts to govern without the labor-dominating Communists, despite the risk of further serious strikes this entails.

Although he gave the National Assembly only a general outline of his economic policies, Ramadier surprised the legislators by hitting out hard at both the extreme Right—who took violent offense at what they interpreted as an attempt to link them with the recent plot to overthrow the republic—and the extreme Left, whom he blamed again for the strikes.

In an allusion to the plot, Ramadier said he did not mean to accuse any member of Parliament of being mixed up in it, "but when one sees the activities of certain groups, of certain networks, one has the right to say:

"Attention! There is an exploitation of misery that threatens discipline and which finishes by sapping the republic, the country and all that is healthy within it."

Slap At Communists

Then, turning toward the Communists, he said: "There are other exploitations. Certain Trotzkyite elements, or others, have exploited the first strikes."

Communist egging on of labor to demand wage increases, he stated, greatly increased the threat of inflation, and he added:

"If, across Europe, hopes are nurtured on the ruins of money, we republicans must say: No."

ZONE PRODUCTION AGREEMENT NEAR

Gen. Clay Says Only Minor Differences Remain

Berlin, July 3 (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor for Germany, said today the United States and Britain were in virtual agreement on a new increased level of industry plan for western Germany which could serve as a cornerstone for American aid to Europe.

Clay's disclosure came as United States authorities here accepted the failure of the three-power Paris conference with determination to speed up British-American plans for reviving the economy of western Germany to make it self-sufficient.

No Political Fusion

Clay said, however, that there was no thought at present of a political fusion of the British-American zones as a result of the disagreement between Russia and the western powers over implementation of the economic aid plan offered by Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State.

General Clay gave his statement at a news conference after greeting W. Averell Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, and Clinton Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, who arrived by air from Washington to survey European economic problems.

He emphasized that both the American and British military governments had "avoided political fusion of the Anglo-American zones in apprehension that it might contribute to a divided Germany, which neither wants." Any action on this, he added, would be "undesirable" until after the November meeting of the Foreign Ministers to discuss the future of Germany.

Decries Parley Bitterness

Clay earlier said at Tempelhof Airfield that "the Paris conference failure looks very bad, not only because it broke up in disagreement but because it ended in bitterness."

He expressed hope that the collapse of the Paris talks would not "add to the difficulties of unifying Germany."

Referring to the projected level of industry plan, Clay said, "only minor differences which could be resolved within a few days" existed between the United States and Britain.

Knows Of No French Change

He said that he knew nothing indicating any change in the French views on joining in the economic fusion of the British and American zones.

The British-American plan is understood to provide for a steel production level of about 12,000,000 tons a year for the combined British and American zones, which is about one half of Germany's prewar level.

The plan also would provide for retention of some plants which had been earmarked for reparations removals earlier in the occupation, when hopes of obtaining Soviet agreement to the economic unification of all Germany were brighter.

Harriman, Anderson in Berlin

BERLIN, July 3 (AP).—American Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson arrived today to begin an inspection of the economy of the British and American occupation zones, recently merged for economic purposes.

Facts On Nazis Due Publicity In Germany

Stuttgart, Germany, July 3 (AP)—An attempt to "re-educate the German people by presenting the truth about Nazism in an interesting form" is planned by the German state governments of the American occupation zone, officials disclosed today.

The plan calls for creation of a self-supporting "research institute for the history of the Third Reich."

Its job would be to collect and publish Nazi records and prepare factual aritcles and books about Nazism in a fashion interesting enough so people would read them.

The records of the International Military Tribunal which tried Nazi leaders at Nuernberg are "much too dull for the general reading public," in the opinion of several German historians.

Digests prepared by the institute would be distributed free or at only nominal cost to educational institutions.

Big Krupp Plant to Be Blown Up

BERLIN, July 3 (AP)—British Military Government officials said today that the heart of the Krupp munitions plant in Essen would be blown up because there was not enough labor to do the demolition in any other way to meet next year's June 1 demilitarization deadline.

Halt Trolleys to Rest Men

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, July 3 (AP).—Frankfurt officials announced today that the city's street railway system would close on Sundays beginning July 13 to provide more rest for operators weakened by lack of food, the recent prolonged heat wave and the overcrowding of vehicles.

Pope Thanked for Aid to UNRRA

ROME, July 3 (AP)—It was disclosed here today that Maj. Gen. Lowell W. Rooks, Director General of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, had sent a message to Pope Pius XII on the occasion of the UNRRA's demise thanking the Pontiff for his "constant aid and encouragement." "It was for me and my predecessors a great comfort," General Rooks said, "to know that we could always count upon the assistance and aid of the Holy Father."

ATC Curtails Operations

ROME, July 3 (AP)—Maj. Gen. William H. Turner, commander of the Atlantic Division of the Air Transport Command, which has absorbed ATC's European Division, said today that only the routes with relative permanency would be retained in Europe and the Middle East. All feeder lines and other lines that have a limited future have been turned over to the European Air Transport Service as of July 1.

Eva Braun Identified But She's Not The Eva

Milan, Italy, July 3:—(AP.)—Eva Braun, but not The Eva, did cash a check at, the little south Tyrol town of Fondo two days ago setting off speculation in the Italian press that Hitler's wife might still be alive.

This Eva is the 26-years-old Italia wife of a Milan lawyer, Alesandro Coppa, who went to the south Tyrol with her eight-months-old baby June 21 for a vacation.

Her mother explained today that Eva's passport was made out in the name of Eva Braun and she showed it as identification to cash the check.

"Oh, she's no relation of the other Eva," said her mother with a laugh.

DE GASPERI PLEDGES NEW CURB ON PRICES

ROME, July 3 (AP)—Another plan to hold down prices was submitted today by Premier Alcide de Gasperi in the face of increased muttering from leftists about the high cost of living for workers. The new right-center Ministry announced it would:

Aim the Government's entire foreign trade program at bringing fats, meat and sugar, and attempt to put the black market out of business.

Move goods from producer to consumer, eliminating middle-men.

Make a special distribution of rationed goods to low wage groups.

Stop clandestine exports of food.

Try to stimulate tourist travel to increase foreign exchange receipts.

Begin an all-out war on black marketers and speculators.

The program was announced shortly after an implied threat from Giuseppe di Vittorio, Communist labor leader, of direct action by the 6,000,000 members of the General Labor Confederation if food costs continued to rise.

BRITON BACKS BALKAN RULING

Cadogan Holds Charter Useless If Enforcement Fails

Lake Success, July 3 (AP)—Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Britain, told the United Nations today they had better "tear up the Charter—and pack up" if the Security Council could not stop the Balkan disorders on the basis proposed by the United States.

Cadogan, who has played a leading role in United Nations affairs since the founding days at Dumbarton Oaks and the 1945 San Francisco Charter conference, also warned the Security Council that its prestige would suffer if it "shirked" its duty in the Balkans case.

Watch On Border Proposed

"If we cannot apply proposals such as those submitted by the (Balkans inquiry) commission and now in the United States resolution, we had better tear up the Charter—and pack up," Cadogan said in a seventeen-minute speech to the Council.

30. 24 - 10715

The proposals to which he referred would have the Security Council establish a commission to stay indefinitely in the Balkans, to watch the troubled Greek border zone, and to try for a settlement of the controversy.

The Balkans have been before the United Nations ever since the London Assembly in January, 1946. The present commission was formed by the Security Council last December after Greece formally asked the Council to investigate the whole situation.

Gromyko To Speak Tuesday

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister who has fought Cadogan and Warren R. Austin, United States representative, at every point on the Balkans quarrel, listened impassively as Cadogan spoke. Gromyko is slated to reply in an hour-long speech next Tuesday.

Joao Carlos Muniz, Brazil, joined Cadogan in supporting the resolution offered last week by Austin. Muniz was the only other speaker today.

Cadogan expressed agreement with the Balkans Commission's majority conclusions that Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania were behind the disorders, a finding which those countries and Russia and Poland have denied.

Striking at a Soviet objection that a commission would be an interference into the sovereign rights of the Balkan states, Cadogan said that sovereign rights in these days "do not retain their pristine inviolability."

Cites Danger To Peace

"Whatever the rights or wrongs of the situation may be, and to whatever causes the existence of the present conditions may be attributed," Cadogan said, "there is not, as I read the (commission) report, a single member of the commission who does not recognize that the present situation is unsatisfactory to the point of danger to the maintenance of international peace and security."

Cadogan said that it seems that "here we have a danger point."

"It is just such a case as the United Nations was designed to meet," he continued. "We have practical proposals, which can perhaps be perfected and elaborated. We must try them. If they succeed, that will add enormously to the prestige of this body, which is the aim of all of us."

Constantin Tsaldaris, Greek Foreign Minister, who presented the Greek argument here last December when he was Prime Minister, arrived from Athens today and conferred briefly with Austin in New York. Tsaldaris was not present at the Security Council meeting.

'Agree On Balkans Or Pack Up:' U.N. Told

F. CARPENTER

JUL 1947

Lake Success, July 3 (AP)—Britain told the United Nations today that they might as well "tear up the Charter—and pack up" if they could not settle the Balkan trouble as recommended by the United States.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, lining up solidly with the United States proposal for a commission to watch the Balkans indefinitely, said in a statement to the Security Council:

"If we cannot apply proposals such as those submitted by the commission (the Balkan Investigation Commission) and now in the United States resolution, we had better tear up the Charter—and pack up."

Proposal On Probe

Cadogan referred to the recommendations by the investigating group and the United States proposal for the Security Council to set up a commission to remain indefinitely in the Balkans and try to smooth the differences in that unsettled zone.

"It seems to me that here we have a danger point," Cadogan continued. "It is just such a case as the United Nations was designed to meet. We have practical proposals, which can perhaps be perfected and elaborated. We must try them."

Cadogan accepted the conclusion of the Balkans commission holding that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria were mainly responsible for the Balkan disorders. This verdict has drawn strong denials from each of those three countries.

Soviet Objection

The Soviet Union has objected that the creation of a border watch commission to remain in the Balkans would hit the sovereign rights of those states.

"In these days," Cadogan answered, "sovereign rights do not retain their pristine inviolability. In course of time many international conventions have been entered into, and each one of these detracts, in lesser or greater degree, from national sovereignty. . . . If it was desired to maintain sovereign rights inviolate, that ought to have been thought of (when the Charter was drafted) at San Francisco. . . .

Answered Polish Attack

Cadogan next answered a Polish attack on the commission proposals.

"The Polish member claimed that the proposals were 'ineffectual,' since they took into account only the symptoms of the disease and not the causes," Cadogan said. "And he went on to say that the fact that the measures are ineffectual could easily prejudice the prestige of the United Nations. While not accepting his stricture on the ineffectiveness of the proposals, I cannot help deploring his timid solicitude for the United Nations. I always hope that my doctor is thinking more of me than of his prestige."

Brazil Supports U.S.

Joaol Carlos Muniz, Brazil, supported the United States proposal and indorsed the work and conclusions of the Balkans commission. He declared the United Nations was faced with a "dangerous situation."

He said the recommendations of the commission as written into the United States resolution "are part of a process of conciliation and they should be received as such by the states to which they are directed."

The Security Council embarked last week on what promises to be a long and bitter debate on the commission's report, in which a majority of the eleven members decided that Yugolslavia, Albania and Bulgaria were mainly responsible for the Balkan disorders.

Hungarian Reds Forget U.S. Gold Aid

By Harold V. Boyle

New York, July 3 (AP)—The new Communist custodians of ancient Hungary took over a country rescued from financial chaos by a $35,000,000 train ride with Uncle Sam at the throttle.

The followers of the hammer and sickle, now in power, have conveniently overlooked that little detail, but some among the Hungarian masses must remember.

It was right out of a Hollywood script—that train ride last August that saved Hungary from total collapse by the timely return of its entire 22-ton gold reserve.

I was the only reporter aboard the train, and I'd like to tell a few angles about the trip that weren't pointed out at the time.

Soli. Money Needed

The Hungarian Government's store of gold had been captured by the American 3d Army in Austria and removed to Frankfurt for safekeeping. When the Hungarian pengo soared to fantastic inflationary levels, it became evident that only solid money could save the country. The American Government agreed to return the Hungarian gold reserve to back a new currency—the florin.

The hope was that by this act America could keep "a window open to the west" in this Russian-occupied nation.

The gold was loaded aboard three baggage cars at Frankfurt. There was a kind of victory symbolism in the train itself. It had been built by Adolf Hitler as a present for Benito Mussolini but was taken over by the Führer for his own use after he decided that his Italian ally no longer deserved expensive favors.

Hungarian Is Dazed

There were 33 American military guards aboard the train.

Several times during the journey, Dr. Nicolas Nyardi, then an under secretary in the Hungarian Ministry of Finance, went into the baggage cars to be sure that the gold had not fallen out on the tracks. He was still dazed that every ounce was being returned.

"We are very grateful to the American Government," he said. "This is the first step toward Hungary's reconstruction."

Our trip was supposed to be a deep secret, but once we crossed the Hungarian border crowds lined the train at every station. They knew that the gold we brought again would give them a money that had a meaning.

"Russians Will Get It"

But at one way-stop, a middle-aged Hungarian asked us:

"Why are you bringing back our gold now? You are only handing it over to the Russians."

We assured him that the gold would be turned over to the Hungarian Government itself, not to occupying Soviet officials, and he merely shrugged and said:

"No matter who you deliver it to, the Russians will get it out through the back door."

The train was repeatedly delayed by the Russian engineer who had taken over at the border. He gave no reason for the halts. We reached Budapest at dusk, several hours behind schedule.

"It is a simple mystery," said one of the Hungarian officials aboard. "The Russians had no intention of letting you arrive in broad daylight, when the whole city could see you Americans bringing us our gold."

And Communist newspapers in the capital in inspired articles immediately told the Hungarian population that only strong Soviet pressure had brought return of the gold reserve.

The happy Hungarians threw us a party and gave everybody a bundle of the vanished pengoes as souvenirs. Then we went right back where we came from—and there were no train delays on the way out.

SOVIET CALLS SPLIT 'FINAL' DIFFERENCE

Papers Shun Other Comment on Paris Break — Russian Home Successes Reported

GILMORE

MOSCOW, July 3 (AP)—Moscow newspapers devoted considerable space today to the closing of the three-power Foreign Ministers conference in Paris on the Marshall proposal for European economic recovery, but there was no editorial comment.

The news from Paris was divided into three classifications in the Moscow papers:

Foreign Minister Molotov's final statement, which rejected French-British proposals and inveighed against going ahead without the Soviet Union; the British-French proposal for a steering committee to work out details under the Marshall suggestions; and the closing of the conference, of which the papers said: "The final contradiction in the views of England and France, on the one hand, and the Soviet Union, on the other, was revealed."

The conference breakdown surprised few if any in the United States, British and French Embassies here. Embassy sources had predicted from the beginning that Russia would decline to participate in a program as envisaged by the other powers. They also had predicted that other powers would go ahead without Russia.

Moscow U. Opening Branch

MOSCOW, July 3 (AP).—"Pravda" said today that Moscow University is opening a new branch in physics and techniques. The school will train scientific specialists in aerodynamics, thermodynamics, the structure of materials, chemical physics, radio physics and optics. Graduates will go to the Academy of Sciences and to research institutes. The new faculty will include leading Russian specialists.

U. N. Committee to Hear First Jewish Witness

Jerusalem, July 3.—(AP.)—The United Nations Special Committee on Palestine will begin tomorrow hearing Jewish witnesses after a two-week tour of the Holy Land which one delegate said left committee members "mentally and physically exhausted."

With a visit to Rehovoth and surrounding Jewish villages in the coastal plain area today, the committee completed a 2000-mile trip during which its members considered at first hand the knotty Holy Land problems for which it will attempt to find a solution.

One delegate said the United Nations Committee "still has not decided what its main problem is" and that "the committee is being moved so fast that we probably won't get the problem sorted out until after we go to Geneva to write our report."

Sjarifoeddin Pledges Policy Of Peace With Dutch

JUL 1947

Jogjakarta, Java, July 3 (AP)—Former Defense Minister Amir Sjarifoeddin became Premier of the Indonesian republic today and immediately pledged himself to a "policy of peace" in future relations with the Netherlands.

Appointment of the bespectacled 40-year-old Socialist leader as head of a new national coalition government terminated a week of political bickering which followed the resignation of former Premier Sutan Sjahrir.

Sjarifoeddin plunged at once into the delicate task of trying to find a solution to the Netherlands-Indonesian dispute over the projected interim national government which is to be set up pending the independence of Indonesia on January 1, 1949.

End O War Threat Sought

A breakdown in negotiations on this problem recently led to threats of war between the Indonesians and Dutch. Sjahrir was forced out of office by critics who accused him of making too many concessions to the Dutch.

In an interview, Sjarifoeddin announced that the new cabinet would frame a reply to a Netherlands demand for clarification of President Sookarno's letter of June 27 to the Dutch. The reply will be taken to Batavia by special train tomorrow night.

In his letter Soekarno said "no objection exists against the presence of a Netherlands Crown representative in the interim government." The President did not accept Dutch demands that the Crown representative be recognized as the final authority—the concession which led to the ouster of Sjahrir.

Peaceful Solution Seen

Sjarifoeddin expressed confidence that he would be able to find a peaceful solution on the basis of Soekarno's letter.

"If I felt it was not possible to maintain peace between Indonesia and the Netherlands," he said, "I would not have accepted the premiership."

Sjarifoeddin said he had not yet studied the United States note of June 28 urging immediate formation of the proposed interim government and promising to discuss financial aid after this is accomplished. He said, however, that he would examine the note immediately and ask the cabinet to frame a reply.

Three Parties In Accord

The Cabinet crisis was resolved when the Socialist, Labor and Nationalist parties finally agreed on Sjarifoeddin for the premiership. Soekarno yesterday requested these three parties to form a Cabinet by noon today under Sjarifoeddin, Nationalist A. K. Gani or Laborite Setiadjity. In the new government, Gani and Setiadjit will be deputy prime ministers.

Sjarifoeddin kept the defense portfolio and Gani the economics portfolio. Hadji Agoes Salim, progressive Islamite now in the Arab league countries arranging for recognition of the republic, was named foreign minister.

Other ministers included:

Finance, A. A. Maramis, Nationalist; Education, Ali Aastroamidjojo, Nationalist; Social Affairs, Soeprodjo, Labor; Religion, Achmed Ashari, Islamic; Health, Dr. Leimena, Christian; Justice, Soesanto Tirtoprodjo, Nationalist; Information, Setiadi, non-Partisan; Public Works, Dr. Enoch, non-Partisan; and Labor, S. K. Trimoerty, Labor.

MacArthur Reparation Policy Assailed On Two Tokyo Fronts

Tokyo, July 3 (AP)—The involved question of Japanese reparations was attacked from two angles today, informed quarters saying several Allied nations soon might officially protest General MacArthur's alleged "do-nothing" policy, while a Japanese lawmaker popped up with demands that Japan "refuse" to pay.

The Philippines, China, Britain and the Netherlands were mentioned as among countries impatient to start the reparations program to hand much of Japan's industrial equipment to the victors.

The informants, who cannot be identified, said that while the problem was difficult, they could see no reason why interim transfers of property could not get started.

Puts U.S. 'On The Spot'

One Allied source said he felt that MacArthur as supreme commander of the occupation was putting the United States "on the spot" by failure to go ahead with interim distribution of 30 per cent of Japan's surplus industrial capacity, which was authorized early this year.

MacArthur's headquarters issued a list of 65 machine tool and twelve power plants as tentative reparations selections some months ago and another list was to have been issued within 90 days, but never has been forthcoming.

Informants said they now were being told that the original list might have to be rechecked by engineers.

War Department Survey

A committee headed by Clifford Strike made a reparations survey for the United States War Department early in the year. Its findings never were made public but were understood to recommend against large-scale removals.

There are current reports that some members of the Strike committee have been asked to return to Japan for another survey.

Meanwhile, Yukio Ozaki, independent, who at 89, is the oldest man in the Japanese House of Representatives, distributed to Diet members a resolution urging "temporary" United Nations trusteeship for much of Japan's former empire, equality for Japan at a peace conference, and "refusal" of Japan to pay all reparations.

Calculate Damages

Ozaki's resolution said: "Damages suffered by victors and vanquished would be calculated justly and fairly, and the differences should be repaid by those who suffered less."

"If the victors demand payment of reparations disregarding these reasonable calculations, we will refute them with logic and statistics and will not co-operate with them in collecting indemnities," he said.

Other members were startled by his proposals, and there were indications that they would take steps to try to prevent the resolutions reaching the House floor, for fear of jeopardizing peace negotiations.

Jap Reparations Delay Charged To MacArthur

Toyko, July 3 (AP)—Informed sources predicted today several Allied nations may protest officially to the United States soon if General MacArthur does not alter what one called his "do nothing" reparations policy.

The Philippines, China, the Netherlands and Britain were named among those nations which sources said were growing increasingly impatient for a start on transfer of much of Japan's industrial capacity to the victor nations.

Under an interim plan announced last summer, a certain surplus of Japanese industry was earmarked for reparations. This consisted of arsenals, aircraft plants, machine tools, iron and steel plants, shipyards and power plants.

China Allotted 15 Per Cent

Early this year the United States announced that MacArthur had been empowered to distribute 30 per cent of this surplus. China was allotted fifteen per cent cent; the Netherlands East Indies, Philippines and Burma-Malaya, five per cent each.

MacArthur's headquarters then issued a list of 65 machine-tool and 12 thermal-power facilities as tentative selections. The list of other facilities was to be made available within 90 days but it has not appeared as yet.

There has been no official explanation of the delay. Brig. Gen. W. K. Harrison, who is handling reparations for MacArthur, declined comment.

May Need Recheck

Sources said, however, reparations commissions are now being told by headquarters officials the original list of machine tools and thermal power plants might have to be rechecked by an engineering panel before such facilities can be assigned for removal.

[In Manila, Bernardo P. Abrera, chairman of the Philippines Reparations Advisory Commission, declared that MacArthur's headquarters had promised to list plants available for advance transfer to four claimant nations, including the Philippines, "at the earliest possible date," but had not done so as yet.]

Big Load Of Jap Goods Destined For Australia

Kure, Japan, July 3 (AP)—The Australian freighter River Clarence is scheduled to take aboard this week the largest postwar consignment yet of Japanese goods for shipment to Australia.

The ship will load 221 cases of raw silk and 1,300 tons of cotton textiles—about one half the 12,000,000 linear yards of such goods bought by an Australian purchasing mission.

Australia Export Trade Expected to Set Record

CANBERRA, July 3 (AP).—Australia's export trade for 1946-'47 probably will eclipse all previous records and should be close to £250,000,000 ($806,250,000), nearly £100,000,000 ($322,500,000) more than the level of exports before World War II.

This was foreshadowed in a press statement by Dr. Roland Wilson, statisticians showing exports for eleven months ended May 31 totaled £224,000,000, compared with £138,000,000 in the corresponding period last year.

Imports have risen from £144,000,000 in eleven months last year to £167,000,000 for eleven months this year.

Britain was shown to be still the dominion's best customer, contributing £77,140,000 to the trade check in this period. The United States is next, with purchases worth £46,204,000 ($149,007,900), compared with £17,925,000 ($57,808,125) last year.

Jap, 64, Starts Out On 3000-Mile Hike

Shirakawa, Japan, July 3.—(AP.)—It was raining but 64-years-old Hikosaku Sakamoto waved and grinned cheerfully as he set out on a 3000-mile hike around Honshu Island today.

To get into condition, Sakamoto recently hiked from his home here to Tokyo, about 150 miles. But he's been putting on strength and endurance exhibitions since his youth.

Sakamotot's earlier exploits include lifting 825 pounds on his back and climbing 12,395-foot Mt. Fuji under a 305-pound load.

'Yankee Clipper' Denies Guilt

Yokohama, July 3 (A. P.).—The "Yankee Clipper," an ironic nickname applied by American war prisoners to Nobuhiro Miyakawa, pleaded not guilty today when arraigned on war crimes charges. He was accused of beating and mistreating prisoners.

Another military commission today convicted Wataru Hasegawa of mistreating American captives at Fukuoka prison camp and sentenced him to fourteen years at hard labor. Hasegawa was accused of beating into unconsciousness Sgt. Edward D. Smith of Trenton, N. J., and maltreating various others.

2 Former Officers Cleared In Fees Case

Tokyo, July 3 (AP)—A court-martial today acquitted two civilian lawyers, both former American army officers, on charges that they unlawfully received fees from soldiers they had agreed to defend in an earlier case.

The verdict was announced by Judge Advocate Col. F. P. Shaw.

The defendants, Ben F. Unkeless and Paul Roberts, both of New York city, were charged with receiving approximately $1,500 and with agreeing to receive approximately $2,000 more for legal services for soldiers convicted in a black market case.

GI Sentenced To Death

Yokohama, July 3 (AP)—Private Willie James, 19, of Chadbourn, N.C., was sentenced to death today by a general court-martial which found him guilty of raping a Japanese woman.

Jap Witnesses Searched; Eleven Razors Seized

Guam, July 3 (AP) — Eleven straight-edge razors were seized in a search of witnesses at the Japanese war crimes trial today after two witnesses had committed suicide with razors.

The witnesses, who live in the United States Marine stockade, had not previously been searched because they are not charged.

After testifying for two and one half days to the deaths of ten unidentified American war prisoners in a series of "medical experiments" on Truk in 1944, Surgeon Lieutenant Shigioshi Nakamura ended his life Saturday.

Chief Attempted Suicide

Petty Officer Hiyoichi Ikeya killed himself yesterday before he was called to the stand.

Lieut. Reijiro Nabetani poisoned himself in Tokyo several months ago when called for questioning in the case.

Capt. Hiroshi Iwanami, chief of the nineteen men on trial before a United States commission, once attempted suicide and has been under special guard ever since.

In today's court session, Petty Officer Goro Kikuchi identified eight of the defendants as having participated in the stabbing of two Americans with spears and bayonets.

Reciprocity From China Is A Natural

Shanghai, July 3 (AP) — The American-owned Shanghai Evening Post and Mercury didn't expect to be taken seriously when it editorialized yesterday:

"The Mississippi is at its highest point in 100 years and a China campaign for 'Mississippi River flood relief' may be expected to start any minute now."

The editorial, entitled "Reciprocity, Naturally," brought one anonymous contribution of $100,000 in banknotes—Chinese national currency, that is worth $8.33 (United States) at the official exchange rate or around $2.25 on the black market.

Editor Randall Gould turned the money over to the Shanghai branch of the American Red Cross.

Chiang Sends Message to Truman.

Nanking, July 3.—(AP.)—Chaing Kai-Shek sent China's "heartiest congratulations" and best wishes in an Independence Day message to President Truman today.

Foreign Minister Wang Shieh-Chieh sent a similar message to Secretary of State George Marshall.

Chinese Pupils Hurl Principal To Death

Shanghai, July 3 (AP)—The Chinese Central News Agency said today that a group of students of Lignan Middle School at Canton had thrown the principal down a flight of stairs, causing fatal injuries.

The students, the agency said, had demanded that Principal Tsai Hu-fu surrender their final examination papers, but he refused. The agency didn't say why the students wanted the papers.

Widow on Mindoro Is Heroine

Colonel Tells How She Persuaded Convicts to Surrender After Seizing Town.

Manila, July 3 (A. P.).—An intrepid little Mexican widow, who fought with a guerrilla band during the war, and a husky Filipino Bataan veteran, were the heroes today of the fifteen-hour reign of terror by thirty-two escaped convicts who seized Calapan, capital of Mindoro Island.

Lieut.-Col. Florencio Selga, a military police zone commander, returned to Manila today to report to President Roxas that law and order were restored primarily by these two and that twenty-six of the convicts already had been recaptured. Two others are dead. Forty military police reinforcements from Batangas are pursuing the four fugitives.

Colonel Makes Report.

Col. Selga gave this report:

Lieut. Antonio Banta of the military police escaped from the convicts as they seized Calapan on Tuesday night, and early yesterday Banta found three enlisted men and a few civilians, including Mrs. Mary Ageveda, a Mexican widow, long a resident of Mindoro.

Mrs. Aceveda boldly approached the convict sentries guarding the entrances of the town to cut it off from outside help. They heard her appeal and one by one they surrendered on her promise of safe treatment.

The convict leader, former Military Police Lieut. Nestor Romero, meanwhile had established headquarters in the military police barracks near the Calapan airfield, three miles from the center of town. He refused to surrender and the posse opened fire.

Promotion and Medal.

Romero, another convict, and a military police sergeant held as a hostage were killed. Four other military police held as hostages were wounded. No civilians were hit. The gun fight ended with Banta's posse in complete control.

Romero's first act was to destroy radio and communications facilities, but he forgot that Calapan's post office also had a transmitter. It was this station which sent the first call for help.

"But Banta's fast thinking and the heroism of Mrs. Aceveda undoubtedly saved Calapan from a bloody battle," a spokesman at military police headquarters in Manila declared. "If reinforcements had arrived when Romero was in control, we would still be fighting."

Banta is being recommended for promotion and a medal.

ROXAS'S LIFE GUARDED

Manila, July 3 (A. P.).—The Manila police are rounding up or shadowing all known Communists and Hukbalahaps (armed, anti-administration peasants) to prevent any possible attempt to assassinate President Roxas at Independence Day ceremonies.

The President will speak tomorrow morning, after a military parade honoring the first birthday of the new republic.

The Evening Herald said that a letter indicating an assassination plot had been found on one of the persons arrested.

4 Nations Seen 'In Middle' Of Aid Conflict

Washington, July 3 (AP)—Four nations—Poland, France, Italy and Czechoslovakia — appear destined today to get caught in the middle of the expected conflict between Russia and the Western powers over the economic organization of Europe under the Marshall plan.

The breakdown of the Paris conference yesterday and Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's assertion that the Marshall proposal means the division of Europe left little doubt among diplomatic authorities here that such a conflict would develop.

In Soviet Sphere

They said it would have repercussions in every part of the Continent, but that the squeeze almost certainly would be most intense in four countries for these reasons:

POLAND—The Polish Government has already notified the State Department of its adherence to the Marshall plan. Yet Poland is in the Soviet sphere of influence, and Russian troops operate there in support of their occupation forces in Germany.

Poland greatly needs American help and especially wants direct relief at once. She faces a grain deficit of 200,000 tons by October. But now the Soviet Government is expected to turn thumbs down on Polish economic co-operation with the West.

Strong Red Minorities

FRANCE—A cosponsor with Britain of the European effort to develop a joint economic program, France is a key point in the organization of western Europe. It is also the home of a powerful Communist party. Thus if the party, as expected, opposes the Marshall plan, the French Government will probably find its internal political situation very difficult.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA — The Czechs have not gone so far as the Poles in announcing co-operation with the Marshall plan. But they have expressed deep interest and would probably prefer to co-operate.

Like Poland, Czechoslovakia is in the Soviet sphere, but without Soviet troops. Russian opposition to a line of action that the Czechs believe to be in their own economic interests could cause great unrest.

Sad, Not Surprised

ITALY—The Italian Government, like the French, was reorganized last spring without Communist participation. But the Communist party is strong and in a position to bring powerful opposition against any Government policy it disapproves. If Moscow so orders, it might try to make Italian aid participation relatively ineffective.

American officials expressed themselves as more disappointed than surprised at Molotov's refusal to co-operate on a program of reconstruction with American assistance.

Some had hoped for at least limited Soviet participation or, failing that, willingness to let other nations take part. The basic theory of officials was that the more comprehensive the recovery program there the greater the resources upon which it could draw and the more likely its success.

Not A Blank Check

There is no doubt here, however, that the United States Government is prepared to make good—to the best of its ability—on Marshall's promise at Harvard University on June 5 that if the European nations will produce a joint program, the United States will support it so far as possible.

Marshall denied yesterday that this or anything else he said meant that he was offering Europe a blank check. The fact remains that only Congress can make the final determination of whether and to what extent the United States will put additional billions of dollars into European recovery.

In this connection, there was speculation that Molotov's latest maneuver would ease Marshall's task of winning congressional support for whatever recommendations he finally sends to Capitol Hill. Molotov seems now to have injected an element of political conflict, a challenge to American prestige and leadership in Europe and the world over.

'VOICE OF AMERICA' FINALLY APPROVED

Funds for Program Provided After Eisenhower Says Understanding Averts War

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—Senate and House passage sent to the White House today a bill providing $551,275,932 for the State, Commerce and Justice Departments and the Federal judiciary for this fiscal year.

Included in the measure, the third major appropriation bill on which Congress has completed action, is $12,400,000 for the State Department's foreign information program and "Voice of America" broadcasts.

The bill is about $147,000,000 below the President's budget estimates. Of the total, about $234,000,000 goes to the State Department, $108,000,000 to the Justice Department, $192,000,000 to the Commerce Department and $17,000,000 to the judiciary.

Before the bill was approved Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had advocated continuation and expansion of the State Department's foreign information program, declaring that "people who understand each other do not fight."

The Army Chief of Staff's recommendation was filed with a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee.

"In a world where we are greatly misunderstood, where our motives are suspected and where fear and distrust of the United States arises in large part out of false propaganda and ignorance, the purpose of this bill, if carried into effect, will play no small part in holding and establishing new friendships among the nations," General Eisenhower's statement said. He added:

"Thus it will go a long way toward establishing a firm base for preserving permanent peace."

General Eisenhower said he thought the United States ought to go into the program on a long-term basis. He said the program should be more than sending out facts over the radio; it should include the interchange of students, scientists, doctors and theologians —"anything you can think of that will carry back into those countries an idea of what we are doing, just how we live."

"We need to tell the people of the world the advantages of our system; that our system is not one of aggression, but one of cooperation; that, if followed, it will lead to peace and security," he said.

GROUP IN HOUSE MAY HALVE SUM FOR FOREIGN AID

JUL 1947

Appropriations Committee Threatens to Reduce $1,500,000,000 Asked.

TRUMAN POLICY INVOLVED

Chairman Taber Opposes Loan of $400,000,000 for Greece and Turkey.

Washington, July 3 (A. P.).—The House Appropriations Committee turned a critical eye today toward President Truman's foreign-aid money requests, including funds for the $400,000,000 stem-Communism program, already under way in Greece and Turkey.

Members indicated that the committee might slice in half the $1,500,000,000 total now being considered. The tip-off to committee sentiment came from Chairman Taber (Rep.-N. Y.) himself, who told reporters, "There has been no justification at all for an appropriation to finance the $400,000,000 loan to Greece and Turkey."

At most, Taber declared, only $100,000 of this proposed total has been justified by State Department witnesses. Nor is the committee satisfied, Taber said, with testimony in support of the $350,000,000 program for relief in liberated nations.

Funds May Not Be Voted.

Other members said that present indications are that there may be no money in a pending deficiency bill for the Greek-Turkish program and little or none for the six-nation relief undertaking.

Congress gave its approval to both of those ventures in May after weeks of debate, although the authorizing legislation carried no actual money beyond a stipulation that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation could advance up to $100,000,000 to get the Greek-Turkish program into operation.

The failure of Taber's committee to recommend the full appropriations would not necessarily imperil either project. This is because the authorizing bills were passed by wide margins, and supporters say they are confident that the full membership will vote the required funds, regardless of committee action. It might require a second appropriation measure, however, they add.

I. R. O. Fund Faces Cut.

Besides the Greek-Turkish and foreign money requests, Taber's group also is considering a White House request for $725,000,000 to cover Army relief and occupation costs and $73,500,000 for United States participation in the International Refugee Organization. Present prospects are that the Army may get its full amount, while the I. R. O. fund is likely to be trimmed.

Representative Keefe (R.-Wis.), a member of the Appropriations Committee, made public State Department figures which he said contemplated spending an estimated $4,091,200,000 on foreign aid, including relief and loans, during the fiscal year which began Tuesday.

Without going into additional details, Keefe said that the sum breaks down this way: for Europe, $2,410,100,000; for the Near East and Africa, $557,800,000; for the Far East, $672,700,000; for the Western Hemisphere, $133,300,000; unallocated but programmed, $317,300,000.

So far as he personally is concerned, Keefe said, "most of these figures were pulled out of the thin air and they haven't been justified."

Displeasure Expressed.

"And I for one am not going to vote for another nickel for foreign expenditure unless it's justified," he told reporters.

Other committee members expressed particular dissatisfaction with the Greek phase of the Greek-Turkish program.

One of them said it contemplates spending $135,000,000 of United States money to equip and feed the Greek Army of 192,000 men.

The ammunition and clothing, he said, are to be provided by the British, with the money being paid from the American grant to Greece "and much of the ammunition and clothing coming from lend-lease stocks we furnished to Great Britain."

Part of the justifications submitted, he said, call for an ambitious road construction program, "although no one could tell us where they are going to build the roads or where they will get the men, machinery and supplies to build them with."

TRUMAN SUBMITS TRUSTEESHIP PACT

JUL 1947

Both Houses of Congress Are Asked to Pass Laws to Implement U.N. Accord

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, July 3—President Truman today urged Congress to give early consideration to enabling legislation through which the United States would approve the trusteeship agreement for Pacific islands formerly mandated to Japan.

The agreement provides that the Marianas, Caroline and Marshall Islands shall be placed under the trusteeship system of the United Nations and be administered by the United States. It was approved by the Security Council on April 2, 1947.

In a statement released simultaneously with the text of his message to Congress, the President declared, "I should like to reaffirm what I have said on other occasions, that the policy of the United States is to support the United Nations with all its resources as a permanent partnership; this policy has the support of the overwhelming majority of the American people."

He continued: "I should also like to say again that America has long been a symbol of freedom and democratic progress to peoples less favored than we have been and that we must continue to justify their confidence in us by our policies and our acts."

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—President Truman's statement follows:

I have today requested the Congress to enact legislation authorizing me to approve on behalf of the United States, the trusteeship agreement between the Security Council of the United Nations and the United States of America. The agreement provides that the Marianas, Caroline, and Marshall Islands, formerly mandated to Japan, shall be placed under the international trusteeship system of the United Nations and administered by the United States. It was approved by the Security Council on April 2, 1947.

On this occasion I should like to reaffirm what I have said on other occasions, that the policy of the United States is to support the United Nations with all its resources as a permanent partnership; this policy has the support of the overwhelming majority of the American people. I should like also to say again that America has long been a symbol of freedom and democratic progress to peoples less favored than we have been and that we must continue to justify their confidence in us by our policies and our acts.

This occasion serves to emphasize the steadfast adherence of the United States to these principles. On presenting formally to the United States representative Security Council on Feb. 26, 1947, the terms upon which we would be prepared to place the former Japanese mandated islands under international trusteeship, the stated:

"It is the profound belief of the Government of the United States and of the American people that the administration of these islands by the United States in accordance with the terms of this * * * agreement would contribute both to the maintenance of international peace and security and to the well-being and advancement of the inhabitants of the islands."

At the same time, the favorable action which the Security Council has accorded the United States proposals serves to demonstrate the faith of the United Nations in our pledge to administer the territory in accordance with the terms of the agreement and the provisions of the charter.

I firmly believe that the United States, by carrying out fully the terms of the agreement, will fulfill the obligations entrusted to it by the United Nations.

MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

The President's message to Congress:

To the Congress of the United States:

I wish to recommend to the Congress action enabling this Government to approve the trusteeship agreement for the territory of the Pacific islands which was approved unanimously by the Security Council of the United Nations on April 2, 1947. There is attached a letter from the Secretary of State enclosing a copy of the trusteeship agreement and a memorandum with reference to its negotiation in the Security Council.

The trusteeship agreement was proposed by the United States to the Security Council and approved by the Council with certain changes which were acceptable to the United States Government. Its terms are in conformity with the policy of this Government and with its obligations under the Charter of the United Nations. The terms of the agreement make ample provision for the political, economic, social and educational development of the inhabitants of the trust territory, and at the same time fully protect the security interests of the United States.

The United States has taken an active role from the beginning in the establishment of the trusteeship system of the United Nations. I believe, therefore, that it would be only fitting, as well as in the interest of the inhabitants of the islands, that the trusteeship agreement should be brought into force as soon as possible.

I have given special consideration to whether the attached trusteeship agreement should be submitted to the Congress for action by a joint resolution or by the treaty process. I am satisfied that either method is constitutionally permissible and that the agreement resulting will be of the same effect internationally and under the supremacy clause of the Constitution whether advised and consented to by the Senate or whether approval is authorized by a joint resolution. The interest of both Houses of Congress in the execution of this agreement is such, however, that I think it would be appropriate for the Congress, in this instance, to take action by a joint resolution in authorizing this Government to bring the agreement into effect.

I hope that the Congress may give early consideration to this matter. HARRY S. TRUMAN.

House Question: End Reich, Jap Reparations?

JUL 1947

Washington, July 3 (AP)—A House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, frankly pessimistic over future Russian co-operation, raised today the possibility of United States insistence upon ending current reparations from Germany and Japan.

In a formal report, the subcommittee estimated that Europe's dollar deficit for its requirements for the three-year period, 1947 through 1949, would reach approximately $10,000,000,000. The figure did not include the needs of Russia or those of the East.

Two-Point Program

Urging the formulation of a broad program for Europe's "healthy economic recovery," the committee declared that Germany and Japan cannot be made self-supporting without "tremendous American help." It added:

"If we are to make this help productive, we should have to insist on putting an end to current reparations and on cutting down the earlier punitive programs of reparations aimed at weakening or destroying Germany and Japan, and

"Set new levels of industry that would enable Germany and Japan to balance their own needs for imports and create export surplus which we could direct into the rebuilding of the rest of Europe and the necesary reconstruction of the Far East."

British, Russ Questions

One question, it said, must be answered in formulating an overall aid program:

"Are we prepared to insist that Britain come to terms on the pooling of the Ruhr with our own occupation zone on our terms as a condition to the continuance of further extension of credits to Britain?"

Another question raised by the committee was:

"Do we write off Russian cooperation, as every previous Russian action has indicated we must and proceed with the building up of western Europe and the rehabilitation of the Far East?"

Supplementary Statement

The committee report called for congressional consideration of a broad policy program on how this country can help Europe get on its feet. It said:

"World recovery not only can be but must be sound business for the United States."

Chairman Vorys (R., Ohio), in a supplementary statement, declared that the subcommittee did not believe the collapse of the Paris conference on the Marshall plan "is the end of our efforts to aid Europe." But, he added:

"We do not believe that we should rely entirely upon the estimates of European nations, separately or collectively, as to their own need."

Australia Renews Her Jap Whaling Protest

Washington, July 3 (AP)—Norman J. O. Makin, Australian Ambassador, today renewed his country's protest to the United States over a proposed Japanese whaling expedition into Antarctic waters.

Makin said that he "expressed the great concern of the Australian people" during a call on Secretary of State Marshall. The expedition has been authorized by Gen. Douglas MacArthur despite protest from Australia, New Zealand and Norway.

MacArthur has taken the stand that the whales would provide needed food and oil for the Japanese economy which would, in turn, reduce the burden to the American taxpayers.

Protestant Churchmen Invited to Yugoslavia

Washington, July 3.—(AP.)—Ten leading Protestant churchmen have been invited by the Yugoslav government to visit that country this summer, its embassy announced today.

Ambassador Sava N. Kosanovic told the churchmen they will be give opporunity to consult with "Yougoslav religious leaders of all faiths."

Those invited: Dr. Emory Stevens Bucke, Boston; Dr. George Walker Buckner, Jr., Indianapolis; Dr. Philipps B. Elliot, Brooklyn; Dr. Paul Hutchinson, Chicago; Dr. Louise D. Newton, Atlanta; Bishop G. Bromley Oxman, New York; Dr. Guy Emery Shipler, New York; Dr. Alva N. Taylor, Nashville; Dr. Samuel Trexler, New York, and Dr. Claude Williams, Birmingham.

Nagy Plans U.N. Plea Against 'Subjugation'

Washington, July 3 (AP)—Ferenc Nagy, former premier of Hungary and an exiled leader of the Bulgarian Peasant party, said today they plan an appeal to the United Nations against the "subjugation" of eastern Europe by Russian-supported Communist minorities.

Nagy, who was ousted in a Communist coup in May, and Georgi M. Dimitrov, former member of the Bulgarian Parliament, announced the plan in publishing a joint declaration denouncing Soviet "interference" in their countries.

Exiled political leaders from Yugoslavia, Serbia, Romania and Poland—all in the so-called Russian "sphere of influence"—joined in the declaration, Nagy said.

With a suggestion that full backing of the United States is hoped for, Nagy told a news conference that the appeal may be filed at the September session of the United Nations General Assembly.

Dimitrov said the State Department has been informed of their plans, but declined to say whether they had received any encouragement. Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, said yesterday this country's next protest against the Hungarian coup is still under consideration.

The point declaration appealed to Europe's peasant union and the eventual realization of a United States of Europe with the ultimate aim of establishing world-wide democratic unity."

Cochran Chosen To Aid Griswold

Washington, July 3 (AP)—R. L. Cochran, former Nebraska governor, will be appointed deputy to Dwight Griswold, American administrator of the $300,000,000 relief program to Greece, diplomatic officials reported today.

Griswold is also a former Nebraska governor. He is a Republican and Cochran is a Democrat.

The officials said Cochran would serve as Griswold's chief assistant and would help formulate American policy in connection with the mission.

Cochran is scheduled to leave with Griswold July 12 when he departs for Athens to begin his task of supervising expenditure of American funds.

MERGER BILL GIVEN SENATE RIGHT OF WAY

JUL 1947

House Will Take Up G Terminal Bonds Payment Next Week

Washington, July 3 (AP)—The House will give the right of way Monday to legislation permitting immediate cash payment of terminal-leave bonds while the Senate will tackle a bill for unification of the armed services.

Both branches of the Congress are striving for possible adjournment by July 26.

After disposing of unification, the Senate will deal with tax reduction.

Policy Committee Decides

The decision to concentrate on those subjects in the Senate next week was reached at a closed meeting of the Senate Republican policy committee today.

"That should keep us busy all week," said Senator Taft (R., Ohio), chairman of the policy committee.

Taft said the unification plan would occupy the Senate Monday. It has been waiting a clearance from Senate leaders for many weeks after approval by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Merger Faces Opposition

It would place the War and Navy departments under a single Cabinet Secretary for National Defense and create a new Air Forces department to give the Army Air Forces coequal status with the older land and sea arms.

The bill is a compromise version of earlier attempts to merge the three services into a single department. It still faces considerable opposition both in Congress and from some Navy and Marine officers.

House Republican Leader Halleck announced that the House will consider the bond legislation Monday.

Bond Payment Held Assured

Halleck, of Indiana, told a news conference he felt certain the terminal-pay bill would be passed. It would allow former enlisted service men to cash at any time after September 1 the five-year bonds issued them at the time of their discharge in payment for furlough and leave time they did not receive.

There are about 9,000,000 bonds outstanding, with a value of approximately $1,800,000,000. Halleck estimated that half of the holders would take advantage of the immediate-cash legislation, with the others holding their bonds and drawing two and one-half per cent interest.

He said present plans also call for consideration at this session of Congress of minimum wage, anti-poll tax, tax reduction, armed services unification and perhaps anti-lynching legislation.

W.Va. Election Case Up

Taft said most of the Senate policy session was occupied with discussion of a senatorial election contest in West Virginia in which Tom Sweeney, Republican, is challenging the election of Senator Kilgore, Democrat.

No final decision was reached, Taft said, but Republicans agreed to seek additional evidence after an appeal by Senator Revercomb (R., W.Va.).

Taft said there was no discussion or decision upon a long-range housing bill which he is sponsoring with Senators Ellender (D., La.) and Wagner (D., N.Y.).

SENATE BODY ASKS RISE IN ARMY FUNDS

Votes $599,126,376 Increase Over Sum House Allowed— 3-Department Bill Passed

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—A Senate appropriations subcommittee today voted to give the Army almost $600,000,000 more than the House allowed, mostly for new planes and Air Force equipment.

Senator Chan Gurney, Republican, of South Dakota, told reporters that the Senate group "unanimously approved" an increase of $599,126,376 over the $5,560,000,000 previously voted by the House for the War Department's operating fund in fiscal 1948.

The total outlay of slightly more than $6,000,000,000, including cash and contract authorizations, compared with President Truman's budget recommendation of slightly less than that figure, Mr. Gurney said.

Meanwhile, both houses rushed through another bill in their drive to catch up on overdue appropriations to keep the Government running. It was the third of twelve major money bills on which Congress had completed action.

The measure, sent to the White House for Mr. Truman's signature, provided $551,275,932 for the Departments of State, Commerce and Justice and for the Federal judiciary. The amount was approximately $147,000,000 below Mr. Truman's budget estimate.

The measure included $12,400,000 for the Department of State's information program and "Voice of America" broadcasts to Russia and other countries.

The Department of State received $234,000,000; Justice, $108,000,000; Commerce, $192,000,000, and Judiciary, $17,000,000.

Commenting on the Senate subcommittee's action, Senator Gurney said "most" of the nearly $600,000,000 increase approved for the Army would go to the Air Forces for new planes and equipment.

The increases included $335,636,376 more cash than voted by the House and $263,490,000 additional contractual authority for the fiscal year which began Tuesday, July 1.

Mr. Gurney said, however, that part of the increases would be offset by a cut in unspent appropriations for 1946 and prior years. He said the House had slashed these by $1,100,000,000 while the Senate group voted to cut off an additional $439,139,201.

Vicksburg Greets Gen. Eisenhower

Vicksburg, Miss., July 3 (AP)—Vicksburg, citadel of the Confederacy, surrendered happily today to General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, and prepared to celebrate tomorrow a Fourth of July that for many years was a day of bitter memory.

The General, at the head of a motor convoy, arrived to receive a welcome in direct contrast to that of the last leader of the Army of the United States who visited this ancient hill city—Gen. Ulysses S. Grant.

Grant marched into a silent, gaunt Vicksburg at the head of 75,000 "Yankee" troops after a 47-day siege on July 4, 1863.

Holiday festivities began last night with the selection of Miss Marporie Evans, of Vicksburg, as queen of the three-day celebration.

As a quest of Gen. Robert W. Crawford, General Eisenhower went immediately after welcoming ceremonies to the United States engineer river boat, the General John Newton, where he will be quartered during his stay.

Third Armored Is Reactivated

FORT KNOX, Ky., July 3 (AP)—The famed third armored division, deactivated after World War II, will be placed back in service July 15, military officials announced here today. The "third armored," spearhead of many successful American offensives in Europe during World War II, will be the new name of the Fort Knox replacement Training Center. The training center turned out thousands of draftees for service in armored divisions during the war.

NAVAL OFFICERS SHIFTED

Murray Leaves Midwest Area to Head First Task Fleet

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—A series of changes in assignments for Navy flag officers, including shifts in three district commands, was announced today by the Navy.

The shifts, to be made during the current month, include these:

Vice Admiral George D. Murray, commandant of the 9th District and of the Midwest naval area, to relieve Vice Admiral Alfred E. Montgomery as commander of the First Task Fleet. The latter will relieve Rear Admiral Freeland A. Daubin as commandant of the 17th District, with additional duties as commander of the Alaskan sea frontier and northern Pacific area.

Rear Admiral J. Carey Jones to relieve Admiral Murray as commandant of the 9th District and Midwest area. He has been serving on various hemisphere defense boards.

Rear Admiral Charles W. Styer to relieve Admiral Jones as a member of the permanent joint board on defense, a Canadian-United States organization; Rear Admiral Marshall R. Greer to succeed Admiral Jones as a member of the United States-Mexican Defense Commission and as senior delegate to the Inter-American Defense Board.

New orders for Admiral Daubin have not been issued.

Kilian Promotion Suit Dismissed by Court

Washington July 3.—(AP.)—The suit filed by Colonel James A. Kilian to require President Truman to put his name back on Army promotion lists was dismissed by Justice David A. Pine today on grounds the District Federal Court has no jurisdiction over the president.

Colonel Kilian was convicted by an Army courtmartial of permitting cruelty to American prisoners at Lichfield, Eigland. He later was removed from a promotion list by President Truman.

On Tuesday Colonel Kilian filed suit to have his name placed on the list again, contending the President had no legal authority to remove his name.

Colonel Kilian's present permanent rank in the Regular Army is lieutenant Colonel. He was on the list for promotion to permanent colonel.

Flying Discs Continue In 'Maybe' Stage

Air Forces Spokesman Says Not Enough Fact To Warrant Inquiry

Washington, July 3.—(AP.)—A preliminary inquiry into reports that strange "flying discs" have been whizzing at 1200 miles an hour over the western United States "has not produced enough fact to warrant further investigation," an Army Air Forces spokesman said today.

The official said, "We don't have a thing that would give any realism" to a report made last week by a flying Boise, Idaho, businessman. He said he saw nine mysterious objects, big as airplanes, racing over Washington state's Cascade range with a peculiar weaving motion "like the tail of a kite." Several other persons in widely scattered localities later said they had glimpsed similar objects.

The Air Forces spokesman said the Army has no new experimental planes or guided missiles which would fit such a description. He said Air Forces people are inclined to believe either that the observers just imagined they saw something, or that there is some meteorological explanation for the phenomenon.

However, Wright Field (Dayton, Ohio) public relations officials said the Air Materiel Command is making an investigation of "saucer shaped" missiles seen recently in the Pacific, northwest and Texas.

Maybe Discussed.

Describing conversations with "a meteorologist from Langley Field" and with "various scientific brains around the Pentagon," all anonymous, the Washington Air Forces spokesman said these meteorological maybes have been discussed:

1. That solar reflections on low-hanging clouds produced spectral "flashes" which might have appeared like moving objects.

(A Washington, D. C., scientist who declined to be identified, told a reporter, however, that he does not think it possible for solar radiation to produce such a phenomenon. "Otherwise," he said, "we'd be hearing of such cloud reflections all the time. The state of Washington has no monopoly on clouds.")

2. That a small meteor might have broken up, producing crystals of silica that "caught" the rays of the sun. (But the Air Forces man said that if this happened, meteoric fragments undoubtedly would have been found.

3. That icing conditions in high clouds produced "large hailstones which might have flattened out and glided a bit, giving the impression of horizontal movement even though they were falling vertically."

Theory Demolished.

The Washington, D. C. scientist interviewed by a reporter, suggested that "someone may have been shooting off some rockets, or demolishing some dud bombs at some installation; fragments from a demolished bomb would rise to a height of about 3000 feet."

But the Army said it has no rocket-firing or bomb demolition projects on in that part of the country. Furthermore, the Idaho businessman reported seeing the objects at an altitude of 10,000 feet.

Navy officials also reported negative results on an investigation they launched.

They said the only craft in their organization which would fit the description given by the Idaho man is the "V 1-73," a wingless plane known as the "Flying Pancake."

But they said that the Navy's lone craft of that type "had never left Bridgeport, Conn."

Even if it had, they said, it's range of operation is not sufficient to carry it out to the state of Washington.

U.S. TO EXPAND PLUTONIUM PLANT IN WEST

Metal Is Principal Substance In Present Atomic Bombs

New York, July 3 (AP)—A program for improvements in making plutonium, the main bomb metal, in the atomic plant near Richland, Wash., was announced today by the Atomic Energy Commission in a release issued by the General Electric Company, which is to do the main work.

Plutonium, the hard, heavy metal made by transmuting uranium, is the principal announced substance in present atomic bombs.

Plutonium is the main future reliance for atomic power. Scientists have reported that the transmutation will yield much more atomic fuel or explosive than use of uranium alone.

Plutonium Was Sufficient

Plutonium is, also, at present, the world's most significant atomic material for military purposes. Scientific publications have stated that other nations can produce this metal probably more cheaply and readily than any other bomb stuff.

Although the United States spent over $2,000,000,000 to produce atomic bombs, the plutonium cost alone was only about $700,000,000 and plutonium would have been sufficient.

The announcement said a major part of the Washington State program would be installation of chemical processing plants. Chemistry is one of the most important phases of plutonium-making.

What the improvements are will remain complete secrets, the commission stated. But one fact was disclosed. These modifications were worked out to a large extent at Argonne National Laboratory, Chicago, after construction of the Hanford Works, as the plutonium plant is officially named.

Was Source During The War

This means that advances in the art of plutonium making are assured. During the war, the Argonne Laboratory was one of the principal sources of plutonium science and engineering.

The commission says that some other new work on plutonium in this program comes from studies begun by the du Pont Company, which built the Hanford Works and operated them until General Electric took over last September.

The commission also announced improvements for the town of Richland, which after Oak Ridge, Tenn., is the world's second atomic city. The third is at Los Almos, N.M., where bombs were made during the war.

Richland's residential area is 630 square miles, bordering the Columbia River, on ground that, before atomic bombs, was an undulating table land, mostly uninhabited, a region of gray sand, gray-green sagebrush and dried water courses.

Patton Monument Sought

Washington, July 3 (AP)—Legislation for a national monument in memory of the late Gen. George S. Patton, famed military leader of World War II, was introduced today by Representative Sheppard (D., Cal.). The monument would be located in San Bernardino, Cal., on part of the lands used by Patton when he commanded the southern California desert training area.

ZERO P. C. VETS' RULING

Albany, July 3 (A. P.).—Veterans with "zero per cent" disability ratings must stand with non-disabled veterans in competition for civil service jobs, the Court of Appeals decided last night.

The State's highest tribunal unanimously upheld lower courts, but gave no opinion in the case which an attorney said would affect hundreds of thousands of veterans.

"Zero per cent" disability was described as anything less than the 10 per cent minimum disability for which the Government pays compensation.

1. Affirmed the first-degree murder conviction of Ward Daniel for shooting a New York city policeman.

2. Denied a motion to reargue the appeal of William J. Thomas, 21 years old, sentenced to death for slaying a New York city policeman.

Marshall Asked if U. S. Favors Wool-Tariff Cut

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP).—Representatives Charles A. Halleck, of Indiana, House Republican leader, asked George C. Marshall Secretary of State, today for a yes-or-no answer on whether the United States "intends to propose or agree" to a reduction in the American tariff on wool at the Geneva international trade conference.

He made public a letter to Mr. Marshall in which he said that "it is vital to the security of the United States that the fast-vanishing domestic wool industry be protected and encouraged" and that tariff reduction would "increase the drain upon the Federal treasury."

His letter followed President Truman's recent veto of a measure for resumption of government wool-support prices which would have given the President authority to increase tariffs or fix import quotas if foreign wool was depressing domestic prices. The Senate subsequently passed a simple wool-support extension measure without the controversial tariff-quota clause. A imilar measure has been approved by the House Agriculture Committee.

U.S. Quota Allows 102 Traders To Enter Japan

Washington, July 3 (AP) — The Inter-Allied Trade Board for Japan announced a unanimous decision today that 102 of the first 400 post-war private traders to enter Japan should be Americans.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur has ruled that 400 traders will be admitted to Japan after August 15.

The trade board, a sub-group of the eleven-nation Far Eastern Commission, allotted 64 places each to China and Britain.

Russia was given no allocation but provision for representatives of Soviet trade organizations is still under consideration.

Other quotas include: India, 39; Netherlands and Netherlands East Indies, 27; Australia, 23; France and French Indo-China, 16; Canada, 8; New Zealand, 6; Philippines, 6; others 45.

Senate Passes Bills on Basques

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—The Senate passed today and sent to the House bills to permit six Basques who were in this country illegally to remain. Another bill would extend the same privilege to Ioannis Stephanes, a Greek who came to this country because of severe economic conditions in his home country. The Basques came to this country as seamen and deserted to become shepherds on western ranges. They were Antonio Arguinzonis of Soshone, Idaho; Simon Fermin Ibarra and Pedro Ugalde of Twin Falls, Idaho; Santiago Naveran of Owyhee County, Idaho; Pedro Bastida and Fidel Acordarrementeria of Battle Mountain, Nev.

Martin Urged to Speed Bill for Entry of D. P.s

PHILADELPHIA, July 3 (AP).—The Citizens' Committee for Displaced Persons tonight called upon Speaker Joseph W. Martin jr., Republican, of Massachusetts, for action on legislation to permit 400,000 displaced persons to enter this country during the next four years. A subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee has been holding hearings on the Stratton immigration bill since early June.

In an open letter sent to the Speaker, the committee said:

"We must prove to the liberty-loving world in these fateful years that we have clung to the ideals and principles which made America great. Can we claim our lofty declarations are more than lip-service if we keep from our shores this little group of homeless humans whose only sin is that they refused to bow to tyranny?"

The committee asked Representative Martin to help get the bill to the House floor for a vote before adjournment July 26.

The letter was signed by Dr. Earl G. Harrison, dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, and Owen J. Roberts, former Supreme Court Justice.

TO SEEK AID FOR GERMANS

Dr. E. C. Acheson Named by U. S. to Hunt Surpluses in Europe

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—The State Department took steps today to carry through a recommendation by former President Herbert Hoover on means of meeting the food deficit in the British-American zones of Germany.

Dr. Edward Campion Acheson was named as President Truman's special representative, with the rank of Minister, to visit northern European countries to determine whether their surplus foods could be used to help feed the Germans. Dr. Acheson, a brother of former Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson, has received leave of absence from George Washington University, where he is a professor of finance.

Meanwhile Senator Kenneth Wherry, Republican, of Nebraska, introduced legislation authorizing the Secretary of War to distribute food so as to provide a "minimum basic rationing" of not less than 2,000 calories daily for the German and Austrian people. Residents of other occupied countries would receive up to 2,000 calories.

Truman in Virginia For Monticello Talk

Charlottesville, Va., July 3—(AP.)—President Truman drove here today to spend the holiday week end and address an Independence Day celebration at "Monticello" tomorrow.

The President and his official party went directly to the seven bedroom, white frame, modern Georgian country home of Stanley Woodward, the State Department's chief of protocol, who will be his host until Sunday.

Little crowds turned out to greet the President at various points along the highway as the automobile procession moved through the historic, rolling Virginia countryside. School children waved tiny American flags, but several waved Confederate flags as the President moved by.

Mr. Truman planned to rest tonight at the Woodward residence, making his official appearance tomorrow at "Monticello," home of Thomas Jefferson. The President will speak at July 4 ceremonies at 1:30 p. m.

GOP Schedules Senate Action On Tax Slash

JUL 1947

Washington, July 3 (AP)—Senate Republican leaders gave clearance to the $4,000,000,000 income tax reduction bill today as the House Ways and Means Committee deferred until afternoon its certain approval of the revived measure.

Chairman Taft (Ohio) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said the Senate would take up the tax legislation immediately after a pending measure for unification of the armed forces.

This is contingent, of course, upon House passage, since all tax measures must originate in that chamber. The House has scheduled a vote for next Tuesday.

Taft said he expects Senate action also next week.

Democrats Ask Delay

The Republican majority on the House Ways and Means Committee consented to the few hours of delay in voting at the request of Democrats who asked a little time to study the legislation.

The bill differs from the measure vetoed by President Truman on June 16 only in a change of the effective date from July 1 to January 1.

Chairman Knutson (R., Minn.) said later: "We will approve the measure this afternoon."

Representative Doughton (D., N.C.), ranking Democrat on the committee, requested the delay after the committee had considered the new measure for an hour behind closed doors.

Another Veto Seen

Knutson commented that the decision by Republican leaders to go ahead with the new tax bill "apparently took many members by surprise."

Some Democrats predicted that Mr. Truman again would veto the tax legislation and doubts arose that the Senate would override a second presidential objection.

Knutson said Doughton told the committee that he would like to write into the bill a provision applying the community property principle of tax computation to all states.

Knutson commented that "time" would not permit us to study the proposition with the care it should have."

Savings For Couples

Under the community property principle, now in effect in ten states by state statutes, husbands and wives may divide their income to take advantage of lower tax rates. Its general application would reduce taxes by another estimated $750,000,000.

Some senators have indicated they would not vote to override a veto, if the bill is passed and again meets White House rejection, unless the community property provision is included in the measure.

Senator Hatch (D., N.M.) said he did not see how Mr. Truman could accept a measure identical—save for the effective date—to a bill he said last month provided the "wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time."

No Change In Terms

The Republican leadership of both houses is in agreement on changing the bill to make it effective January 1, instead of putting the tax cuts into operation last Tuesday as under the original measure.

But these leaders stood pat against any change in its terms, which include reductions ranging from 30 per cent in the lowest income brackets to 10½ per cent in the highest.

The Republican decision to "take another shot at the tax bill," as House Majority Leader Halleck (R., Ind.) put it, was made in the face of doubt as to the Senate's action on a possible veto.

Doubt About Overriding

Taft said Chairman Millikin (R., Col.) of the Senate Finance Committee told a conference of Senate and House leaders yesterday that he is practically certain the Senate will approve the bill with the support of more than two thirds of those voting, but he is not certain this lineup can be maintained on a veto.

A Democratic strategist said a preliminary check indicated the veto might be sustained.

House Minority Leader Rayburn (D., Texas) said he believes that if the President vetoes the bill his action will be sustained. Rayburn obviously alluded to Senate action, since both sides now concede that there are enough votes in the House to override.

SENATE O.K.'S CONTROLL BILL ON EXPORTS

JUL 1947

Measure Would Extend Regulations Over Scarce Items

Washington, July 3 (AP) — The Senate passed today by a voice vote legislation extending export and import controls over scarce commodities through June 30, 1948.

The bill is intended to replace a stopgap resolution, adopted previously which continued the control program from June 30 through July 15.

The measure now goes to conference with the House, which had passed a similar controls extension bill.

Quinine Controls Continue

Before acting finally, the Senate:

1. Adopted by voice vote an amendment by Senator Reed (R., Kan.) to extend authority for Office of Defense Transportation allocations of freight cars until January 1.

2. Wrote in an amendment by Senator Hawkes (R., N.J.) to continue controls over quinine and related products. It was approved by a standing vote.

3. Adopted a compromise on fiber and cordage worked out by Senators Cooper (R., Ky.) and Saltonstall (R., Mass.). Under which fiber stocks on hand July 16 would be earmarked for binder twine needed in harvesting crops.

4. Rejected an amendment by Senator Elmer Thomas (D., Okla.) to require that export licenses be granted to anyone, whether they are traditional exporters or not. At present, the Commerce Department gives preference to established exporters.

Grain Proposal Rejected

5. Turned down a proposal by Senator Butler (R., Neb.) to require that export sales of grain and its products be handled by private firms, not the Government. It lost on a standing vote.

The measure maintains emergency wartime controls on tin and tin products; fiber and cordage; antimony; materials required for export to aid foreign production of products urgently needed in the United States; fats and oils and rice and rice products so far as imports are concerned, and materials needed for export to help carry out this country's foreign policy.

Allocation controls also would be maintained on nitrogenous fertilizer.

The bill also would authorize the Government to prohibit or curtail exports of any materials or commodities.

Senate Resolution Adopted.

Washington, July 3.—(AP.)—A resolution calling on the President and his aides to give small businessmen a greater voice in policy-making was adopted without dissent by the Senate today.

The resolution, by Senator Brooks, Republican, Illinois, urges the President and the cabinet "to accord the small businessmen of America representation on government agencies," especially policy-making bodies.

It now goes to the House.

Senators Hear Red's Plea For Health-Insurance Bill

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP).—Ernest Rymer, an official of the International Workers Order and self-described member of the Communist party, urged Congress today to set up a system of prepaid health insurance.

He also told a subcommittee of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee that the I. W. O. is opposed to alternative legislation sponsored by Senator Robert A. Taft, Republican, of Ohio. He said the Taft measure "would push the nation back on the road to constructive social legislation."

Mr. Rymer's testimony in support of a health bill by Senator James E. Murray, Democrat, of Montana, and others touched off a round of questions by Senators Forrest C. Donnell, Republican, of Missouri, and Joseph H. Ball, Republican, of Minnesota, as to whether the I. W. O. and the Communist party are linked.

After Senator Donnell had pressed Mr. Rymer on this point a score of times and Mr. Rymer had said repeatedly that he did not know, Senator Murray asked the witness, "Are you a member of the Communist party?"

Mr. Rymer replied, "Yes, I am, sir." He said he joined about 1932.

Senate Passes Bill On Italian Assets

Washington, July 3 (AP)—Legislation authorizing the return to Italian nationals of property seized by the United States at the outbreak of war was unanimously passed by the Senate today.

The measure, which now goes to the House, also authorizes the giving to Italy of 28 Liberty ships in return for Italian vessels seized by Brazil and Venezuela and sold to this country for war use.

Senate Passes Airport Bill

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP).—The Senate approved unanimously and sent to the House today legislation designed to speed up disposal of surplus government airports. The bill would permit the War Assets Administration to transfer Federally-owned airports to local or state public agencies without cost.

Export Bans Removed From 4 Building Items

Washington, July 3 (AP)—Export controls will be removed from four buildings materials effective July 11 as a result of an improvement in the domestic supply, the Commerce Department Office of International Trade announced today.

The materials are fiber insulation board, wall board made of paper or pulp, lavatories and bath tubs.

Plaster board and wall board made of gypsum will remain under export control.

Plant-Purchase Talks

Washington, July 3 (AP)—Sylvania Electric Products Company, Inc., is continuing negotiations with the Navy Department for the purchase of a plant it operated for the Navy in Huntington, W.Va., during World War II.

Post-War Car Output Reaches 4-Million Mark

JUL 1947

2,200,000 Trucks Made in 2-Year Period; Total Far Short of First Hopes

DETROIT, July 3 (AP).—Two years ago today the first post-war automobile was rolled off the assembly lines of Ford Motor Co. at near-by River Rouge; next Monday the 4,000,000th passenger car to be produced since the war's end will be made in one of the nation's car factories.

In announcing the results of an industry-wide survey, George Romney, managing director of the Automobile Manufacturers' Association, said today that in addition to the passenger vehicle output the automotive plants also will have made 2,200,000 motor trucks and coaches since July 3, 1945.

The total of 6,200,000 vehicles is only a little more than the motor-car producers had hoped to assemble in the first full year of peace-time operation.

In 1946 the nation's automobile plants produced 3,090,000 cars and trucks. They were handicapped by labor disputes and materials shortage. The materials scarcities, chiefly sheet steel, and some labor differences continued to harass the industry through the first six months of this year and held production far below capacity.

Industry officials, however, have pointed out that the rate of production maintained through the first half of 1947 reflected an annual rate of 3,600,000 cars and trucks.

In round figures the car and truck factories of the United States turned out 2,400,000 vehicles from Jan. 1 to June 30 this year; it started the second half of 1947 with prospects for an adequate supply of materials little better than they were six months ago.

Most of the car manufacturers have given up hope that the year will see 5,000,000 units assembled; they now believe the total will come closer to 4,700,000 and include 1,100,000 trucks.

The 3,600,000 thus left as the aggregate of passenger-car output will not catch up with the accumulation of orders on the retailers' books, which apparently is just as great today as it was a year ago.

Barring some disturbance to the national economy, the backlog of unfilled orders apparently is destined to hold up indefinitely; many of the fortunate ones who obtained delivery of 1946 or 1947 models will be back in the market for 1948 cars.

It long has been industry tradition that the introduction of new models gives a tremendous impetus to car demand. The industry probably will not need such stimulus but it will get it, nevertheless, some time after next Jan. 1, when most new models are expected to come out.

MAY AND GARSSONS ARE FOUND GUILTY

JUL 1947

Sentencing Of Three In Fraud Case Is Deferred

Washington, July 3 (AP)—A Federal jury today convicted former Representative Andrew J. May (D., Ky.) and his two codefendants, Henry and Murray Garsson, on bribe conspiracy charges involving May's role as wartime chairman of the House Military Committee.

The jury deliberated one hour and 50 minutes in reaching its verdict of guilty on all three counts against each of the trio.

Maximum penalty would be six years in prison and $30,000 fine for each defendant.

May, in tears as the jury foreman intoned the word "guilty," subsequently said:

"I'm still not daunted—we'll appeal it."

Defense To File Motions

Defense Attorney Charles J. Margiotti told the court he would move within the next five days for a judgment of acquittal, an arrest of judgment and a new trial. Justice Henry A. Schweinhaut deferred sentence pending the filing of motions.

Henry Garsson, 50, so-called "brains" of the $70,000,000 Garsson wartime munitions combine, calmly read a novel while the jury deliberated. His brother, Murray, 54, wept as he left the courtroom. All three were continued on $2,000 bonds.

May, now 72, was convicted of taking $53,634.07 in bribes from the Garsson brothers as payment for using his powerful congressional influence to get favors for the Garsson shell-making enterprises.

Jury Acts Quickly

The brothers were found guilty of conspiring to defraud the United States of May's services through bribery. The Government contended that the Garssons set May up in the lumber business, as head of the Cumberland Lumber Company in Kentucky, as a "blind" to conceal bribery payments.

The jury of seven men and five women returned their verdict with surprising rapidity in view of the length of the trial, which ran over a period of eleven weeks.

Prosecutor William A. Paisley, who won a mail-fraud conviction against Mayor James M. Curley, of Boston, also a former congressman, conducted the Government's case. He is special assistant to United States Attorney General Tom Clark.

May Sought Wartime Favors

Witnesses at the trial included Secretary of State Marshall, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Secretary of War Patterson.

Patterson and Eisenhower testified that May came to them seeking wartime favors for the Garssons or their friends. Eisenhower said May twice sent him letters in Europe asking him to intervene in the court martial of Murray Garsson's son, an army captain.

Altogether, the testimony of more than 100 witnesses running to 6,000 pages went into the trial record.

At the core of the case was the disputed ownership of the Cumberland company, in the mountains near May's Kentucky home. The Garssons poured almost $50,000 into the firm.

Admits Money From Garssons

The Government claimed the Garssons bought the firm for May. May claimed he merely acted as manager of the company. He asknowledged he took in all the money the Garssons sent him for the firm, but maintained that he "paid it all back—every cent of it" or spent it on the firm.

May conceded that he represented himself as the company's owner. But he said this was only to conceal the real ownership from his fellow Kentuckians. He said they would not have worked for the company if they had known that the owners were "out-of-state Jews."

Several times, the defense injected the "religious discrimination" angle into the trial. One assertion was that Federal ordnance officials in Chicago turned thumbs down on giving contracts to the Garssons because they were Jews. Prosecution witnesses denied it.

No Lumber Shipped, Is Claim

May and the Garssons said they went into the timber business to supply badly needed lumber to Garsson war firms for crating Garsson-made shells for shipment overseas. But the Government said the Cumberland firm never shipped "a single stick" of lumber to the Garssons.

The defense pictured Dr. Henry M. Garsson as a "munitions genius" who invented a number of methods for speeding shell output.

On the other hand, the Government spent days parading wartime army leaders to the witness stand to tell of May's requests to them for wartime favors.

One witness said May insisted on getting "a nice big contract" for the Garssons. Another, Lieut. Gen. Levin Campbell, wartime ordnance chief, said May exerted "pressure" on him to help the brothers.

Ex-Congressman May, Garssons Found Guilty

JUL 1947

Washington, July 3 (AP)—Ex-Congressman Andrew J. May and the ex-munition-making Garsson brothers, Murray and Henry, were convicted today on charges of using for their own profit May's wartime influence as chairman of the House Military Committee.

Defense counsel promptly served notice of appeal and sentence was deferred pending the outcome of that action. May, who received the verdict calmly, commented that it was "only Round 1."

The 72-year-old former Democratic congressman from Kentucky was accused of accepting more than $50,000 in bribes for getting War Department favors for the Garsson brothers' $70,000,000 munitions empire during the war years.

Out 1 Hour, 50 Minutes

A Federal jury that heard eleven weeks' of testimony deliberated only 1 hour and 50 minutes before returning its verdict. The maximum penalty for each defendant would be six years' imprisonment and $30,000 fine.

Jury Foreman George E. Wells solemnly intoned "guilty" to each of the three counts of the indictment charging that May and the Garssons conspired to defraud the Government.

Then, in response to a defense request, all seven men and five women jurors were polled. Each answered "guilty" to all charges against the defendants.

Charles J. Margiotti, head of the defense counsel, said he would appeal within five days.

To File Three Motions

At that time, he told the court, he would file a motion for a judgment of acquittal, irrespective of the jury's decision, a motion for arrested judgment, and a motion for a new trial.

Margiotti's request was granted and Trial Justice Henry A. Schweinhaut said that bail for the defendants would be continued "until this matter is settled."

May licked his lips several times as the jury was being polled and at the conclusion remarked to reporters:

"Well, this is the end of Round 1."

Murray Garsson said vehemently, "I'm still not guilty!" His brother Henry declined to make any comment.

Fourth Defendant Freed

A fourth defendant, Joseph F. Freeman, Washington agent for the $70,000,000 Garsson munitions combine, won a bench-directed acquittal midway in the trial.

May and the Garssons denied Government contentions that they conspired to defraud the public of May's services in Congress by using his prestige in behalf of the Garssons.

The defense conceded that May got the money from the Garssons but claimed he repaid it by spending it all on a Kentucky firm, the Cumberland Lumber Company, owned by the munitions men.

The prosecution asserted that the real purpose behind Cumberland was to conceal the alleged bribes and set May up in a lucrative lumber business.

The present case grew out of a Senate War Investigating Committee probe last summer, presided over by then Senator James M. Mead (D., N.Y.).

It was brought out in the Senate hearings that the Garssons got their first war contract on a borrowed letterhead and ran it into a giant arms combine.

BEVIN RETURNED TO LONDON TONIGHT AND PLANNED TO CONFER IMMEDIATELY WITH ATTLEE. A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN AT THE AIRPORT SAID A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE CABINET MIGHT BE CALLED.

BRITISH OFFICIALS SAID THEY EXPECTED SEVERAL EASTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES TO BOYCOTT THE JULY 12 ECONOMIC CONFERENCE IN PARIS, BUT THAT BRITISH TRADE MISSIONS NOW IN RUSSIA, HUNGARY AND YUGOSLAVIA WOULD CONTINUE THEIR EFFORTS FOR TRADE AGREEMENTS.

"RUSSIA APPARENTLY IS CONFIDENT OF HER OWN POWERS OF RECOVERY AND OF BEING ABLE TO AID COUNTRIES WHICH DEPEND ON HER. THE PETITION ATTRACTED WIDESPREAD ATTENTION BECAUSE MANY BRITISH FEEL ALL GERMAN PRISONERS, MANY OF WHOM DO FARM WORK, SHOULD BE RELEASED PROMPTLY. THE LONDON STAR SAID TODAY:

ELECTRIC POWER--PRODUCTION UP 16 PERCENT FOR THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR OVER THE SAME PERIOD A YEAR AGO.

A COLORFUL, PERSPIRING CROWD OF SOLDIERS AND CIVILIANS LINED THE PARADE ROUTE. SHOW-HUNGRY JAPANESE WATCHED SILENTLY AS THE TROOPS AND MOTORIZED EQUIPMENT STREAMED ACROSS THE IMPERIAL PALACE PLAZA WHERE JAPANESE MILITARY FORCES ONCE STAGED THEIR DISPLAYS OF MIGHT.

THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, WEARING HIS FAMED GOLD-ENCRUSTED CAP, PLEATED KHAKI TROUSERS AND UNADORNED KHAKI SHIRT, STOOD ON A SMALL PLATFORM BUILT IN FRONT OF THE REVIEWING STAND. FLAGS OF THE ELEVEN ALLIED NATIONS WHICK TOOK PART IN THE WAR AGAINST JAPAN FLUTTERED OVER THE STAND. AT LEAST 100 HIGH RANKING OFFICERS AND DIPLOMATS OF THE ALLIED NATIONS REPRESENTED HERE STOOD BEHIND MACARTHUR AS AMERICAN AND BRITISH UNITS PARADED.

LT. GEN. ROBERT L. EICHELBERGER, TROOP COMMANDER FOR THE PARADE, STARTED THE LONG PROCESSION, THE JOINED MACARTHUR ON THE STAND. THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF SHOOK EICHELBERGER'S HAND AS THE LATTER MOUNTED THE STEPS; AND AGAIN AS THE PARADE ENDED.

THE FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION BAND GREETED MACARTHUR WITH THE TRADITIONAL "FOUR RUFFLES AND FLOURISHES" AS HE MOUNTED THE STAND. AND FAR ACROSS THE IMPERIAL PALACE PLAZA, A 19-GUN SALUTE BOOMED.

THE CELEBRATION HERE WAS BEING DUPLICATED WHEREVER AMERICAN UNITS ARE STATIONED IN JAPAN. AT VARIOUS PLACES, THE 48-GUN SALUTE TO THE UNION WAS FIRED. BRITISH FORCES ALSO WERE STAGING SPECIAL PARADES IN THEIR AREAS.

(ADVANCE) SHIMODA, JAPAN, SUNDAY, JULY 6-(AP)-U.S. AMBASSADOR GEORGE ATCHESON,JR., INFORMED THE PEOPLE OF THIS QUIET FISHING TOWN TODAY THAT THE UNITED STATES COULD NOT "MEET ALL DEMANDS AND ALL NEEDS" FOR AID AND THAT "WHOLEHEARTED COOPERATION" BY THE JAPANESE WAS NECESSARY FOR RECONSTRUCTION OF THEIR COUNTRY.

HIS MESSAGE WAS READ BY GLEN BRUNER, SECOND SECRETARY OF THE U.S. EMBASSY, AT CEREMONIES COMMEMORATING THE ARRIVAL IN 1853 OF COMMODORE MATTHEW C. PERRY'S FLEET OFF THIS COMMUNITY.

"THE JAPANESE PEOPLE ARE FACED WITH GREAT DIFFICULTIES," DECLARED ATCHESON, WHO IS POLITICAL ADVISER TO GENERAL MACARTHUR. "THE FULLEST EFFORT BY FARMERS, MINERS, FISHERMEN, SELLERS AND CONSUMERS WILL BE REQUIRED TO MEET THE SITUATION."

HE SAID AMERICANS WANTED TO SEE JAPAN BECOME SELF-SUPPORTING AS SOON AS POSSIBLE, "THUS WE HAVE NEITHER THE INTENTION NOR DESIRE TO TAKE FROM JAPAN WHAT SHE REQUIRES FOR PEACETIME ECONOMY WHICH WILL ENABLE HER TO DEVELOP DEMOCRATICALLY AND ASSUME HER FUTURE RESPONSIBILITIES IN A WORLD ORDER UNDER LAW.

"I HAVE NO DOUBT THAT THE AMERICAN PEOPLE WILL WISH TO CONTINUE TO ASSIST IN THE REHABILITATION OF JAPAN'S PEACEFUL ECONOMY."

HE SAID HE BELIEVED THE PUNITIVE PHASES OF THE OCCUPATION WOULD BE ENDED WITH PUNISHMENT OF WAR CRIMINALS AND CONCLUSION OF A REPARATIONS PROGRAM, BUT ADDED, "WE SHALL NOT, OF COURSE, FORGET THE PAST. WE CANNOT."

PERRY AND HIS "BLACK SHIPS" ARRIVED OFF JAPAN 94 YEARS AGO TO URGE JAPAN TO ENTER INTO COMMERCE WITH FOREIGN NATIONS. EARLY IN THE 1930'S JAPAN BEGAN COMMEMORATING HIS ARRIVAL, BUT THE ANNUAL FESTIVALS WERE DISCONTINUED DURING THE WAR.

JOGJAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 3-(AP)-AMIR SJARI-FOEDDIN, 40-YEAR-OLD SOCIALIST AND FORMER DEFENSE MINISTER, WAS APPOINTED PRIME MINISTER OF THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC TODAY AND UNDERTOOK THE TASK OF TRYING TO KEEP PEACE WITH THE DUTCH.

S SWINTON

"IF I FELT IT NOT POSSIBLE TO MAINTAIN PEACE BETWEEN INDONESIA AND THE NETHERLANDS, I WOULD NOT HAVE ACCEPTED THE PRIME MINISTERSHIP," SJARI-FOEDDIN SAID IN AN INTERVIEW. "I HOPE MY NAME ALONE WILL CONVINCE THE PEOPLE OF HOLLAND THAT THE INDONESIANS WANT PEACE."

THE CABINET WILL MEET TONIGHT TO FRAME A REPLY TO THE NETHERLANDS' DEMAND FOR CLARIFICATION OF PRESIDENT SOEKARNO'S LETTER OF JUNE 27 TO THE DUTCH. (more)

THE SOCIALIST, LABOR AND NATIONALIST PARTIES FINALLY AGREED AFTER A FULL WEEK OF POLITICAL BICKERING THAT SJARIFOEDDIN SHOULD HEAD A NATIONAL COALITION CABINET. PRESIDENT SOEKARNO IMMEDIATELY NAMED THE BESPECTACLED STATESMAN TO SUCCEED SUTAN SJAHRIR, WHO RESIGNED LAST FRIDAY.

SJARIFOEDDIN'S APPOINTMENT CAME A YEAR TO THE DAY AFTER EXTREMISTS MADE AN UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP HIM.

TWO PARTY CHAIRMEN -- CR. GANI OF THE INDONESIAN NATIONALISTS AND SETIADJIT OF THE LABOR PARTY (CORRECT)--WERE MADE DEPUTY PRIME MINISTERS.

SJARIFOEDDIN KEPT THE DEFENSE PORTFOLIO AND DR. GANI THE ECONOMICS PORTFOLIO. HADJI AGOES SALIM, PROGRESSIVE ISLAMITE NOW IN ARAB LEAGUE COUNTRIES ARRANGING FOR RECOGNITION OF THE REPUBLIC, WAS NAMED FOREIGN MINISTER.

JUL 1947

OTHER MINISTERS INCLUDED:

FINANCE, A.AA. MARAMIS, NATIONALIST; EDUCATION, ALI AASTROAMIDJOJO, NATIONALIST; SOCIAL AFFAIRS, SOEPRODJO, LABOR; RELIGION, ACHMED ASHARI, ISLAMIC; HEALTH, DR.LEIMENA, CHRISTIAN; JUSSTICE, SOESANTO TIRTO-PRODJO, NATIONALIST; INFORMATION, SETIADI, NON-PARTISAN; PUBLIC WORKS, DR.ENOCH, NON-PARTISAN, AND LABOR, S.K.TRIMOERTY, LABOR.

LABOR SOEKARNO ADMINISTERED OATH OF OFFICE TO THE NEW CABINET IN A CEREMONY TONIGHT PRECEDED BY A TORCHLIGHT PARADE BY 300 SOLDIERS AND MEMBERS OF POLITICAL PARTIES THROUGH THE CITY STREETS. SOEKARNO ASKED FOR UNDIVIDED SUPPORT TO THE NEW GOVERNMENT IN THE CURRENT CRISIS.

MEANWHILE, THE REPUBLICAN MINISTRY OF INFORMATION REPORTED SHARP NEW CLASHES BETWEEN DUTCH AND INDONESIAN FORCES NEAR MODJOKERTO IN RESTIVE EAST JAVA. GUN DUELS BETWEEN DUTCH CORVETTES AND INDONESIAN SHORE BATTERIES HAVE BEEN FREQUENT IN THE BALI STRAIT AREA RECENTLY.

MORE

NON-INDONESIAN TRAVELERS FROM SOUTHEAST JAVA REPORTED YESTERDAY THAT IN THE LAST TWO MONTHS DUTCH WARSHIPS HAD SHELLED SOME 12 MILES OF COAST AROUND BANJOEWANGI, EVIDENTLY AIMING AT REPUBLICAN GUN POSITIONS, AND HAD KILLED AT LEAST 10 PERSONS.

THEY SAID THAT MANY INHABITANTS OF NEARBY VILLAGES AND MOST OF THE WOMEN IN BANJOEWANGI HAD FLED BUT THAT THE REPUBLICAN ARMY HAD FORBIDDEN BANJOEWANGI MEN TO LEAVE UNLESS BY SPECIAL PASS. TWO DUTCH WARSHIPS STILL PATROLLED THE VICINITY, INCLUDING THE BALI STRAITS, THREE DAYS AGO, THEY DECLARED.

THE NEW PRIME MINISTER IS OF THE SAME PARTY AS SJAHRIR, THOUGH NOT OF THE SAME MODERATE WING. INDONESIANS SAID IT WAS SJARIFOEDDIN'S PERSONAL REFUSAL TO SUPPORT SJAHRIR IN THE LAST CABINET CRISIS WHICH BROUGHT SJAHRIR'S DOWNFALL.

SJARIFOEDDIN IS RECOGNIZED AS THE INDONESIAN POLITICIAN WITH THE STRONGEST HOLD OVER THE ARMY. HE WAS BEEN A NATIONALIST LEADER SINCE EARLY YOUTH. HE IS A CHRISTIAN, CONVERTED FROM MOHAMMEDANISM IN HIS STUDENT DAYS.

BORN IN THE BATAK REGION OF SUMATRA, HE ONCE ATTENDED LATIN GRAMMAR SCHOOL IN THE NETHERLANDS, LATER TOOK A LAW DEGREE IN INDONESIA AND BEFORE THE WAR PRACTICED LAW.

OF JAVA, THE INVADERS SENTENCED HIM TO DEATH, BUT SOEKARNO GOT HIM A COMMUTATION TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT. HE ONCE WAS JAILED FOR A YEAR BY THE DUTCH FOR NATIONALIST ACTIVITIES.

SJARIFOEDDIN HAS BEEN A MEMBER OF EVERY CABINET SINCE THE REPUBLICA WAS PROCLAIMED AND WAS DEFENSE MINISTER IN SJAHRIR'S LAST ONE.

MANILA, FRIDAY, JULY 4-(AP)-THE PHILIPPINE REPUBLIC, IN ITS FIRST YEAR OF FREEDOM FROM THE UNITED STATES, "MADE GREAT PROGRESS IN THE FACE OF TREMENDOUS ODDS," WITH THE RESULT THAT "COLONIALISM IS CRUMBLING RAPIDLY EVERYWHERE," PRESIDENT MANUEL A. ROXAS REPORTED TO HIS COUNTRYMEN TODAY.

JUL 1947

BEFORE THOUSANDS OF FILIPINOS GATHERED IN HISTORIC LUNETA PARK WHERE THE AMERICAN FLAG WAS LOWERED LAST JULY 4, THE PRESIDENT IN A PREPARED INDEPENDENCE ANNIVERSARY ADDRESS PAID TRIBUTE TO THE UNITED STATES FOR INAUGURATING A NEW MORALITY IN INTERNATIONAL DEALINGS -- PARTICULARLY BETWEEN DOMINANT AND SUBJECT PEOPLES.

"WE KNOW NOW THAT THE WORLD CANNOT LONG LIVE AT PEACE HALF SLAVE AND HALF FREE," HE CONTINUED.

"WE ARE GRATEFUL TO AMERICA FOR HAVING KEPT FAITH WITH US AND FOR POINTING THE WAY FOR OTHER NATIONS TO FOLLOW IN THE TRUSTEESHIP OF PEOPLES UNDER THEIR FLAGS."

TURNING TO ECONOMIC AFFAIRS, THE REPUBLIC'S FIRST PRESIDENT SAID THAT WHEN IT WAS INAUGURATED ONE YEAR AGO REVENUES WERE BARELY 10 PER CENT OF EXPENDITURES; NOW THEY WILL COVER 70 PER CENT OF EXPENDITURES.

THE COST OF LIVING, HE ASSERTED, HAS BEEN REDUCED 30 PER CENT; 1,000,000 MORE CHILDREN ARE IN SCHOOL THAN BEFORE THE WAR; AND A LAND DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM AIMED AT ABOLITION OF THE ARCHAIC TENANCY SYSTEM IS UNDER WAY.

"I HAVE GREAT FAITH," HE CONCLUDED, "THAT THROUGH INTELLIGENT, UNREMITTING TOIL, FREE ENTERPRISE, AND STRONG ADHERENCE TO THE DEMOCRATIC WAY OF LIFE, WE SHALL SUCCEED IN MAKING THIS REPUBLIC ONE OF THE FEW GARDEN SPOTS ON EARTH."

(EDITORS: THE ABOVE ABSTRACT WAS PREPARED IN MANILA IN ADVANCE AND CONFIRMATION OF DELIVERY---SCHEDULED AT 10 P.M., E.S.T.----WILL BE EXPEDITED).

RIO DE JANEIRO, JULY 3-(AP)-FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS IN BRAZIL APPEALED TO PRESIDENT EURICO GASPAR DUTRA TODAY AGAINST HOLDING THE FORTHCOMING HEMISPHERE DEFENSE CONFERENCE AT THE ISOLATED QUITANDINHA RESORT HOTEL.

THEIR PETITION SAID THAT QUITANDINHA, LOCATED IN THE MOUNTAINS NEAR PETROPOLIS AND 50 MILES FROM RIO DE JANEIRO, WAS CONNECTED WITH THE CAPITAL ONLY BY TELEPHONE AND A MOUNTAIN HIGHWAY WHICH OCCASIONALLY IS BLOCKED BY LANDSLIDES AFTER RAINS.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS SAID THE UNITED STATES SIGNAL CORPS WOULD BE ASKED TO SUPPLY APPARATUS AND PERSONNEL TO MAINTAIN HIGH FREQUENCY RADIO COMMUNICATIONS TO RIO DE JANEIRO, BUT THE CORRESPONDENTS MAINTAINED THE MOUNTAIN RESORT WOULD NOT BE AS CONVENIENT AS THE CAPITAL, WITH ITS INTERNATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS FACILITIES AND GREATER HOTEL ACCOMODATIONS. THE CORRESPONDENTS ALSO POINTED OUT THAT RADIO CORRESPONDENTS WOULD BE PREVENTED AT QUITANDINHA FROM GIVING FULL COVERAGE TO THE MEETING.

THE GOVERNMENT HAS SAID THAT QUITANDINHA, WITH HOTEL SPACE FOR 700 PERSONS, WAS THE ONLY PLACE IN BRAZIL EQUIPPED TO ACCOMMODATE MOST OF THE DELEGATES AND THE PLENARY SESSIONS ALL IN ONE BUILDING.

MEXICO CITY, JULY 3-(AP)-MEXICAN FOREIGN SECRETARY JAIME TORRES BODET SAYS LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES SHOULD SUPPLEMENT A HEMISPHERE DEFENSE AGREEMENT WITH ECONOMIC COOPERATION BECAUSE "ECONOMICALLY INSECURE COUNTRIES CAN NOT BE MILITARILY STRONG."

HE REASONED THUS LAST NIGHT IN A STATEMENT DEFINING MEXICO'S POSITION TOWARD THE AMERICAN FOREIGN MINISTERS' CONFERENCE IN RIO DE JANEIRO AUG.15, CALLED TUESDAY FOR DISCUSSION OF A MILITARY PACT.

A UNITED STATES PLAN FOR STANDARDIZING ARMS AND ARMIES THROUGHOUT THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE ALREADY HAS WON MEXICO'S PUBLIC SUPPORT. GOING BEYOND THIS, TORRES BODET SAID:

"WITHOUT INTENSE ECONOMIC COOPERATION TENDING TO STRENGTHEN THE INTERNAL STRUCTURE OF ALL AND EACH OF OUR COUNTRIES, MILITARY OBLIGATIONS WOULD BE INCOMPATIBLE WITH THE MATERIAL WEAKNESS OF MANYY OF THIS HEMISPHERE'S NATIONS."

HE PROPOSED THAT DECISIONS AT RIO DE JANEIRO BE EMBODIED IN A PAN AMERICAN CONSTITUTION--"A PACT GIVING PROPER VALUES TO LEGAL, POLITICAL ECONOMIC, MILITARY, SOCIAL AND CULTURAL MEASURES." THE PAN AMERICAN UNION, AT MEXICO'S URGING, IS TO CONSIDER A HEMISPHERE PACT NEXT JANUARY IN BOGOTA, COLOMBIA.

THE FOREIGN MINISTER QUOTED U.S.SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE C. MARSHALL'S STATEMENT THAT WORLD POLITICAL STABILITY REQUIRED WORLD RECOVERY.

"THESE WORDS, THE BASIS OF THE MARSHALL PLAN FOR AID TO EUROPE," HE SAID, "HAVE AN EQUAL VALUE WITH RESPECT TO THE AMERICAN CONTINENT."

FRAUDS PROSECUTOR -

BY ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, JULY 3-(AP)-A SELF-STYLED COUNTRY LAWYER WITH AN EASY SOUTHERN DRAWL TODAY WON HIS SECOND MAJOR CONVICTION AS THE GOVERNMENT'S ACE CRIMINAL PROSECUTOR.

JUL 1947

WILLIAM A.PAISLEY, CHIEF OF THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE'S GENERAL CRIMES SECTION, HANDLED THE CASES THAT MEANT CONVICTIONS FOR:

JAMES M.CURLEY, MAYOR OF BOSTON.

ANDREW JACKSON MAY, WARTIME HEAD OF THE HOUSE MILITARY AFFAIRS COMMITTEE.

THE TALL SLIGHTLY STOOPED, BALD PAISLEY LOOKS LIKE ANYTHING BUT A DEMON PROSECUTOR.

A REPORTER WHO SPENT TEN WEEKS ON THE TRIAL WHICH ENDED TODAY IN THE CONVICTION OF MAY AND THE GARSSON BROTHERS SUMMED UP PAISLEY'S ACTIONS AROUND A JURY WITH:

"YOU DRIVE UP TO A GAS PUMP OUT IN THE COUNTRY AND THE GUY WHO COMES OUT TO SERVE YOU SORTA GRINS AND SAYS, 'HOWDY.' IT COULD BE WILLIAM PAISLEY."

PAISLEY HIMSELF HAS THIS VERSION: "I JUST TRY TO BE NATURAL," HE SAYS.

BEING NATURAL IN THE PAISLEY MANNER INCLUDES ARMS FOLDED, HEAD OUTTHRUST AND AN APPROACH TO A JURY THAT VARIES FROM GENTLE, PREACHERLY ADVICE TO WITHERING SCORN FOR THE CITY SLICKERS WORKING FOR THE DEFENSE.

A REPORTER WONDERED IF PAISLEY HAD DONE ANYTHING UNUSUAL IN GETTING READY FOR THE MAY TRIAL.

"I'LL TELL YOU, FELLOW," HE SAID, "THESE TRIALS GOT A LOT OF PUBLICITY BECAUSE THE DEFENDANTS WERE BIG MEN. BUT, SHUCKS, I DIDN'T HANDLE THEM ANY DIFFERENT THAN I HAVE DOZENS OF OTHERS.

"THERE WAS THE SAME LONG PREPARATION, THE SAME LOOKING UP THE LAW UNTIL WE WERE SURE OF EVERY ANGLE, AND THERE WAS THE SAME ATTEMPT TO FORESEE OBJECTIONS AND BE PREPARED TO MEET 'EM."

SPEAKING OF BEING PREPARED, THE 51-YEAR-OLD TENNESSEE-BORN, MISSISSIPPI-REARED PAISLEY HAS SPENT CONSIDERABLE TIME GETTING READY FOR THIS DAY.

HE BECAME AN ASSISTANT U.S. ATTORNEY IN JACKSONVILLE, FLA., IN 1929 HE SERVED ON THAT JOB FOR 12 YEARS, AND THEN CAME HERE SHORTLY AFTER PEARL HARBOR, TO SPECIALIZE IN WAR FRAUD CASES.

ANY PARTICULAR PLANS FOR THE FUTURE?

"LISTEN, I'VE BEEN DOING PRACTICALLY NOTHING BUT THIS MAY CASE FOR MIGHT NEAR A YEAR NOW," SAID PAISLEY.

"DO YOU KNOW ANY NICE, QUIET FISHIN' HOLES, FELLOW?"

WASHINGTON, JULY 3-(AP)-GEN.DWIGHT D.EISENHOWER TODAY ADVOCATED CONTINUATION AND EXPANSION OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S FOREIGN INFORMATION PROGRAM, DECLARING THAT "PEOPLE WHO UNDERSTAND EACH OTHER DO NOT FIGHT."

THE ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF'S RECOMMENDATION WAS FILED WITH A SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS SUBCOMMITTEE WHICH IS STUDYING A BILL TO GIVE FULL LEGISLATIVE AUTHORIZATION FOR THE PROGRAM. THE HOUSE ALREADY HAS APPROVED THE MEASURE.

JUL 1947

"IN A WORLD WHERE WE ARE GREATLY MISUNDERSTOOD, WHERE OUR MOTIVES ARE SUSPECTED AND WHERE FEAR AND DISTRUST OF THE UNITED STATES ARISES IN LARGE PART OUT OF FALSE PROPAGANDA AND IGNORANCE, THE PURPOSE OF THIS BILL, IF CARRIED INTO EFFECT, WILL PLAY NO SMALL PART IN HOLDING AND ESTABLISHING NEW FRIENDSHIPS AMONG THE NATIONS," EISENHOWER'S STATEMENT SAID. HE ADDED:

"THUS IT WILL GO A LONG WAY TOWARD ESTABLISHING A FIRM BASE FOR PRESERVING PERMANENT PEACE."

EISENHOWER SAID HE THINKS THE UNITED STATES OUGHT TO GO INTO THE PROGRAM ON A LONG-TERM BASIS. HE SAID THE PROGRAM SHOULD BE MORE THAN SENDING OUT FACTS OVER THE RADIO; IT SHOULD INCLUDE THE INTERCHANGE OF STUDENTS, SCIENTISTS, DOCTORS, AND THEOLOGIANS--"ANYTHING YOU CAN THINK OF THAT WILL CARRY BACK INTO THOSE COUNTRIES AN IDEA OF WHAT WE ARE DOING, JUST HOW WE LIVE."

"WE NEED TO TELL THE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD THE ADVANTAGES OF OUR SYSTEM; THAT OUR SYSTEM IS NOT ONE OF AGGRESSION, BUT ONE OF COOPERATION; THAT, IF FOLLOWED, IT WILL LEAD TO PEACE AND SECURITY," HE SAID.

SENATOR SMITH (R-NJ) A MEMBER OF THE SUBCOMMITTEE, SAID STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS WILL ADVISE HIS GROUP SATURDAY WHAT THE DEPARTMENT WILL BE ABLE TO DO WITH THE $12,400,000 INFORMATION FUND APPROVED BY A SENATE-HOUSE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE YESTERDAY AND BY THE HOUSE TODAY.

THE DEPARTMENT IS ASKING FOR AT LEAST $16,000,000. SMITH SAID HIS SUBCOMMITTEE WOULD DECIDE FROM THE OFFICIALS' FIGURES WHETHER A REQUEST FOR A SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATION WOULD BE JUSTIFIED.

WASHINGTON, JULY 3-(AP)-THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT IS PREPARING TO OPEN LAND ALONG THE ALASKA HIGHWAY TO SETTLEMENT, A BIT TOO LATE FOR DEVELOPMENT THIS SUMMER.

AN OFFICIAL OF THE DEPARTMENT'S BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, WHO WITHHELD HIS NAME, SAID THE WAR DEPARTMENT HAS RELINQUISHED THE STRIP OF LAND THROUGH ALASKA UPON WHICH IT BUILT THE ROAD, THUS RETURNING THE LAND TO INTERIOR DEPARTMENT JURISDICTION.

EARLIER THIS WEEK, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR WILLIAM E. WARNE TOLD REPORTERS THE DEPARTMENT IS WORKING ON PLANS FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF COMMUNITIES ALONG THE ROAD, WHICH NOW IS SO THINLY SETTLED AS TO BE UNSUITABLE FOR TOURIST USE.

THE ARMY WITHDREW FROM PUBLIC USE A LAND ROUTE 20 MILES WIDE UPON WHICH TO BUILD THE FIRST LAND ROUTE LINKING THE TERRITORY TO THE UNITED STATES.

JUL 1947

LATER THE WIDTH OF THE ARMY-HELD STRIP WAS REDUCED TO FIVE MILES. THE MOST RECENT ACTION, RETURNING ALL OF THE LAND TO THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT, IS EXPECTED TO BE ANNOUNCED WITHIN A FEW DAYS.

THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT IS EXPECTED TO MAKE ATTRACTIVE SITES ALONG THE ROAD, IN ITS ALASKA PORTIONS, AVAILABLE TO BUILDERS OF HOTELS, STORES, GARAGES AND OTHER PROPERTIES WHICH WILL PROVIDE FACILITIES FOR TRAVELERS AND HELP DEVELOP THE TERRITORY.

THE ROAD EXTENDS FOR 1,520 MILES FROM DAWSON CREEK, B.C., TO FAIRBANKS, ALASKA. WARNE SAID CANADA HAS MADE CONSIDERABLE PROGRESS WITH ITS ROADSIDE DEVELOPMENT. AMONG ITS NEW FACILITIES ARE HOTELS AT WATSON LAKE AND TESLIN LAKE.

THE EARLY GOAL, IN THE ALASKAN SECTOR, IS FOR SETTLEMENTS NO MORE THAN 100 MILES APART.

THE ROAD IS GRAVEL SURFACED AND OPEN THE YEAR AROUND. A CANADIAN-AMERICAN BOARD SCREENS WOULD-BE TRAVELERS TO MAKE SURE THAT THEY AND THEIR VEHICLES ARE CAPABLE OF MAKING THE LONG TRIP.

NIGHT LEAD RUSSIA
BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, JULY 3-(AP)-IN THE OPINION OF DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES HERE FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV OF RUSSIA SUFFERED A SEVERE DIPLOMATIC DEFEAT--PERHAPS THE WORST OF HIS CAREER--IN THE FAILURE OF THE BIG THREE CONFERENCE AT PARIS.

IT WAS NOT SO MUCH THE FACT THAT MOLOTOV FAILED TO WIN BRITAIN AND FRANCE TO HIS VIEWPOINT, BUT THAT IN THE FAILURE THE SOVIET UNION IS BELIEVED TO HAVE LOST GROUND IN ACHIEVING ITS OBJECTIVES IN EUROPE.

ONE AUTHORITATIVE INFORMANT, EVIDENTLY REFLECTING STATE DEPARTMENT REACTION, SAID THAT RUSSIA HAS NOW DEMONSTRATED TO THE WORLD THAT IT IS NOT INTERESTED IN EUROPEAN RECONSTRUCTION.

RUSSIA, THIS INFORMANT SAID, HAS BEEN SHOWN TO BE MORE CONCERNED WITH PREVENTING THOSE EUROPEAN NATIONS NOT UNDER ITS CONTROL FROM WORKING TOGETHER THAN WITH THE RELIEF OF MISERY AND THE RETURN OF HEALTHY ECONOMIC CONDITIONS.

ACCORDING TO RESPONSIBLE AMERICAN ESTIMATES OF SOVIET POLICY, THE KREMLIN HAS TWO PRIMARY OBJECTIVES IN EUROPE: (1) TO PREVENT THE FORMATION OF A WESTERN BLOC OR ANY ORGANIZATION OF STATES WHICH MIGHT BE THE BASIS FOR A BLOC. (2) TO KEEP THE CONTINENT DISORGANIZED BECAUSE COMMUNIST POLITICAL ACTIVITIES CAN BE CARRIED ON BETTER IN SUCH A CONDITION.

AS AMERICAN OFFICIALS SEE IT, MOLOTOV HAD TWO WAYS OF PROMOTING THESE OBJECTIVES AT PARIS. HE COULD FLATLY TURN DOWN COOPERATION WITH BRITAIN AND FRANCE IN CARRYING OUT THE MARSHALL PLAN FOR ECONOMIC RECOVERY, WHICH IS WHAT HE DID. OR HE COULD HAVE AGREED TO SOME KIND OF COOPERATION, THEN SOUGHT TO MODIFY, STALL OR HAMSTRING THE PLAN.

IT WAS THE LATTER ALTERNATIVE WHICH AUTHORITIES HERE EXPECTED HIM TO TAKE AFTER HE ONCE AGREED TO MEET WITH FOREIGN MINISTERS BEVIN OF BRITAIN AND BIDAULT OF FRANCE TO DISCUSS SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL'S

PROPOSALS.

AS IT TURNED OUT HE NOT ONLY REFUSED COOPERATION BUT THREATENED BRITAIN AND FRANCE BY SAYING, IN EFFECT, THAT THEY SHOULD BEWARD OF THE "CONSEQUENCES OF THEIR COOPERATION."

THIS MEANS, IN THE AMERICAN VIEW, THAT MOSCOW WILL NOW USE EVERY METHOD IT CONSIDERS FEASIBLE TO BLOCK THE MARSHALL PLAN AND PARTICULARLY WILL FIGHT IT THROUGH COMMUNIST PARTIES IN FRANCE AND ITALY. ON THE OTHER HAND, THERE SEEMS TO BE NO DOUBT THAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE ARE DETERMINED TO GO THROUGH WITH THEIR PROGRAM OF ECONOMIC ORGANIZATION WITH AS MANY COUNTRIES AS WILL PARTICIPATE AND THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL COOPERATE TO THE FULLEST EXTENT POSSIBLE.

BECAUSE OF THIS SOME AUTHORITIES SAY THAT MOLOTOV HAS ACTUALLY BROUGHT ABOUT THE VERY CONDITION WHICH HE MOST FEARED AND HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO AVOID AT PARIS, THAT IS, THE BASIS FOR FORMATION OF A WESTERN BLOC.

AMONG AMERICAN EXPERTS WHO KNOW THE SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER THERE IS CONSIDERABLE QUESTION AS TO WHETHER MOLOTOV PERSONALLY FAVORED THE SOVIET POLICIES HE EXPRESSED AT PARIS.

JUL 1947

A30WX

THE WASHINGTON BELIEF IS THAT HE PERSONNELY WOULD HAVE HESITATED LONG BEFORE DOING ANYTHING TO DAMAGE RUSSIAN PRESTIGE IN EUROPE BY OPPOSING AN ECONOMIC PROGRAM IN THE INTEREST OF EUROPEAN PEOPLES.

THUS IT IS SAID THAT THE RUSSIAN POLICIES PROBABLY WERE DICTATED BY THE SOVIET UNION'S POLITBUREAU WHOSE MEMBERS ARE UNFAMILIAR WITH THE WORLD BEYOND RUSSIA'S BORDERS AND CONSEQUENTLY ARE UNABLE TO CALCULATE ACCURATELY THE EFFECTS OF SUCH A COURSE AS MOLOTOV PURSUED AT PARIS.

THIS DOES NOT MEAN THERE IS ANY DEEP DIFFERENCE IN OPINION BETWEEN MOLOTOV AND THE POLITBUREAU ON BASIC RUSSIAN POLICIES, BUT THAT THERE MAY BE SOME DIFFERENCE AS TO THE BEST TACTICS TO USE IN CARRYING THEM OUT.

BY FRANK CAREY

(ADVANCE)...WASHINGTON, JULY 5-(AP)-THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION WAS TOLD TODAY BY A BOARD OF EMINENT AMERICAN SCIENTISTS THAT THERE IS AN "URGENT AND EXTENSIVE" NEED FOR FURTHER RESEARCH ON THE EFFECTS OF ATOMIC ENERGY RADIATIONS ON HUMAN LIFE IN PEACETIME AND WAR.

THE BOARD OF SEVEN RESEARCHERS--ESPECIALLY APPOINTED BY THE COMMISSION--DECLARED IN A REPORT MADE PUBLIC BY AMERICA'S ATOMIC ENERGY CHIEF, DAVID E.LILIENTHAL:

"BECAUSE THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION IS CHARGED BY LAW WITH THE EXCLUSIVE CONTROL OF MATERIALS, EQUIPMENT, PROCESSES AND INFORMATION WHICH ARE UNIQUE, CONSTANTLY DANGEROUS AND CERTAINLY NOT YET SUFFICIENTLY UNDERSTOOD, THE COMMISSION HAS EVERY REASON TO ASSUME EXTENSIVE RESPONSIBILITIES FOR FURTHER DEVELOPMENT AND STUDY OF THE EFFECTS OF PRODUCTS OF ATOMIC FISSION ON HUMAN LIFE."

THE NEED IS "URGENT," THE BOARD SAID, "BECAUSE OF THE EXTRAORDINARY DANGER OF EXPOSING LIVING CREATURES TO RADIOACTIVITY (AND) BECAUSE EFFECTIVE DEFENSIVE MEASURES (IN THE MILITARY SENSE) AGAINST RADIANT ENERGY ARE NOT YET KNOWN."

"FROM NOW ON," SAID THE REPORT, "WE SHALL MINE, TRANSPORT, PROCESS AND USE RADIOACTIVE SUBSTANCES AS SOURCES OF POWER, TOOLS FOR INVESTIGATION OF BIOLOGICAL PROCESSES, AND FOR THE TREATMENT OF DISEASE. THERE WILL THEREFORE BE INCESSANT DANGER IN HANDLING SUCH SUBSTANCES AND USING THEIR RADIOACTIVE PROPERTIES."

AND THE NEED IS "EXTENSIVE," THEIR REPORT SAID, BECAUSE--

"THE NUMBER OF RADIOACTIVE SUBSTANCES IS LARGE; MANY HAVE NEVER BEEN IDENTIFIED AS EXISTING IN NATURE. SUCH SUBSTANCES CALL FOR SUSPICIOUS STUDY. X X X IN ALL PROBABILITY THE DISCOVERY OF NEW SUBSTANCES AND NEW PRODUCTION METHODS WILL RAISE NEW RESEARCH PROBLEMS, THE SOLUTIONS OF WHICH ARE THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION FOR THE PROTECTION OF THEIR WORKERS IN THE FACTORIES AND THE PUBLIC IN THEIR ENVIRONS."

SPECIFICALLY, THE BOARD URGED THE COMMISSION TO: JUL 1947

1. EXPAND RESEARCH ON MEDICAL AND BIOLOGICAL ASPECTS OF ATOMIC ENERGY IN ITS OWN FACILITIES.

2. JOIN WITH THE ARMED FORCES, THE U.S. PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE AND OTHER GOVERNMENT AGENCIES IN COOPERATIVE STUDIES.

3. GIVE SUPPORT, FINANCIAL OR OTHERWISE, TO UNIVERSITY RESEARCHES ON KINDRED PROBLEMS; AND CONTINUE TO PROVIDE RADIOACTIVE ISOTOPES FOR THE STUDY OF FUNDAMENTAL MEDICAL AND BIOLOGICAL PROBLEMS. (RADIOACTIVE ISOTOPES ARE MATERIALS WHICH EMIT "RAYS" AND THEREFORE CAN BE FOLLOWED BY THE "SIGNALS" THEY GIVE WHEN THEY ARE PLACED IN A HUMAN OR ANIMAL BODY OR A TEST TUBE.)

4. ESTABLISH FELLOWSHIPS FOR INDIVIDUALS IN THE FIELD OF ATOMIC RADIATION EFFECTS SO AS TO PROVIDE AN ADEQUATE CORPS OF "X X X YOUNG, AVAILABLE AND ACTIVE SCIENTISTS WITH CONTINUING EXPERIENCE IN ATOMIC FISSION, ITS DANGERS, AND ITS POTENTIALITIES X X X."

5. AVOID SECRECY IN THE FIELD OF BIOLOGICAL AND MEDICAL RESEARCH, IN SO FAR AS IT IS COMPATIBLE WITH NATIONAL SECURITY.

6. ENCOURAGE PUBLICATION OF SCIENTIFIC PAPERS DEALING WITH THE SUBJECT, CONSISTENT WITH NATIONAL SECURITY.

THE BOARD SUGGESTED THAT IN THE INTERESTS OF PROGRESS IN MEDICINE AND BIOLOGY, STEPS BE TAKEN TO MAKE RADIOACTIVE ISOTOPES "AVAILABLE TO FOREIGN INVESTIGATORS."

"THE TIME IS APPROACHING," THE REPORT SAID, "WHEN THE SUPPLY OF ISOTOPES FOR THE STUDY OF FUNDAMENTAL BIOLOGICAL AND MEDICAL PROBLEMS WILL MORE THAN MEET THE NEEDS OF AMERICAN INVESTIGATORS."

THE BOARD, KNOWN AS THE "MEDICAL BOARD OF REVIEW" OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION, CONSISTS OF: DR. ROBERT F.LOEB OF COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, CHAIRMAN; DR. DETLEV W. BRONK OF THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND CHAIRMAN OF THE NATIONAL RESEARCH COUNCIL; DR. WALLACE O.FENN, UNIVERSITY OF ROCHESTER PHYSIOLOGIST; DR. HERBERT S.GASSER, DIRECTOR OF THE ROCKEFELLER INSTITUTE FOR MEDICAL RESEARCH; DR. ERNEST W. GOODPASTURE, DEAN OF VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY'S SCHOOL OF MEDICINE; DR. (ADVANCE FOR USE AT 5 P.M., EASTERN STANDARD TIME, SATURDAY, JULY 5--EDITORS NOTE DATE)

BY OVID A. MARTIN

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, JULY 5-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN REPORTED TODAY THAT U.S. EXPORTS OF FOOD TO THE WORLD'S HUNGRY SET AN ALL-TIME RECORD IN THE PAST 12 MONTHS, AND HE PROMISED CONTINUED AMERICAN AID.

HE INDICATED IN A STATEMENT, HOWEVER, THAT FUTURE ASSISTANCE WILL HAVE TO BE REDUCED IF CORN AND OTHER SUMMER-GROWN GRAIN CROPS ARE SHORT. THE CORN CROP HAS BEEN PLAGUED BY A WET, COOL SPRING AND BY DESTRUCTIVE FLOODS.

THE PRESIDENT SAID THE UNITED STATES EXPORTED 18,433,000 LONG TONS OR ABOUT 41,275,000,000 POUNDS DURING THE YEAR ENDING JUNE 30.

"THIS," HE SAID, "IS THE LARGEST TOTAL OF FOOD EVER SHIPPED FROM ONE COUNTRY IN A SINGLE YEAR.

THE OLD RECORD OF 17,122,000 TONS WAS SET BY THE UNITED STATES A YEAR AGO.

WHILE CALLING ATTENTION TO THE UNITED STATES CONTRIBUTION TO "HUMAN NEEDS ABROAD," MR. TRUMAN SAID "WE MUST NOT LOSE SIGHT OF THE FACT THAT EVEN THE GREAT EFFORTS OF THIS AND OTHER EXPORTING COUNTRIES FELL SHORT OF MEETING URGENT POST-WAR NEEDS FOR FOOD."

"MILLIONS OF PEOPLE ARE STILL DESPERATELY HUNGRY," HE SAID. "WITHIN OUR ABILITY TO SHARE OUR RESOURCES, WE WILL CONTINUE TO DO OUR PART TO RELIEVE HUMAN SUFFERING AND TO HELP OTHER COUNTRIES TO HELP THEMSELVES.

THE PRESIDENT MADE HIS STATEMENT IN RELEASING A DETAILED REPORT ON FOOD EXPORTS BY THE CABINET COMMITTEE ON WORLD FOOD PROGRAMS. ITS MEMBERS ARE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE ANDERSON, SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL AND SECRETARY OF COMMERCE HARRIMAN.

BOTH MR. TRUMAN AND THE COMMITTEE CAREFULLY REFRAINED FROM MAKING DEFINITE EXPORT COMMITMENTS BEYOND AUGUST. THE GOVERNMENT ALREADY HAS MADE GRAIN EXPORT ALLOCATIONS FOR JULY AND AUGUST CALLING FOR SHIPMENTS AT RECENT HIGH LEVELS.

THE COMMITTEE REPORT SAID IT IS POSSIBLE TO CONTINUE LARGE GRAIN EXPORTS DURING THESE MONTHS BECAUSE OF PROSPECTS OF A RECORD-BREAKING WHEAT CROP.

BUT THIS COUNTRY, IT SAID, CANNOT EXPECT TO KEEP UP A HIGH LEVEL OF SHIPMENTS THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE YEAR IF THE TOTAL OF ALL AVAILABLE GRAIN IS SUBSTANTIALLY LOWERED BY REDUCTIONS IN OTHER GRAIN CROPS.

"THE SIZE OF THE FINAL EXPORTS WHICH WE CAN SAFELY SPARE FROM OUR GRAIN SUPPLIES FOR THE YEAR WILL, THEREFORE, DEPEND TO A CONSIDERABLE EXTENT UPON THE PRODUCTION OF CORN AND OTHER GRAINS, IN ADDITION TO WHEAT."

THE COMMITTEE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT "IT IS HOPED THAT WE WILL BE ABLE TO APPROXIMATE THIS YEAR'S SHIPMENTS." IT SAID FINAL EXPORTS WILL BE GOVERNED ALSO BY TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES AND ARRANGEMENTS FOR FINANCING EXPORTS.

MR. TRUMAN SAID THE RECORD SHIPMENTS COULD NOT HAVE BEEN MADE HAD THIS COUNTRY NOT BEEN "BLESSED LAST YEAR WITH THE MOST BOUNTIFUL HARVEST IN OUR HISTORY.

JUL 1947

"OUR FARMERS WORKED HARD TO PRODUCE RECORD CROPS. THE FOOD INDUSTRIES, THE RAILROADS, THE SHIPPING COMPANIES, AND THE GOVERNMENT AGENCIES COOPERATED TO MAKE POSSIBLE THIS MOVEMENT OF FOOD ON SCHEDULE FROM AMERICAN FARMS TO FOREIGN PORTS."

THE CABINET COMMITTEE SAID THE UNITED STATES HAD BEEN ABLE TO SET THE NEW ASSISTANCE RECORD WITHOUT "DEPRIVING OUR OWN PEOPLE OF ANY NEEDED FOOD SUPPLIES, AND WITHOUT ANY UNNECESSARY OR SERIOUS IMPACT ON THE DOMESTIC ECONOMY."

"OUR PEOPLE," THE REPORT SAID, "HAVE CONTINUED TO EAT AT RECORD OR NEAR-RECORD LEVELS--WELL ABOVE PRE-WAR AVERAGE."

THE GREAT BULK OF EXPORTS WAS GRAIN AND GRAIN PRODUCTS, PRINCIPALLY WHEAT AND FLOUR. GRAIN AND GRAIN PRODUCTS MADE UP ABOUT 81 PERCENT OF TOTAL EXPORTS BY VOLUME. ABOUT ONE-THIRD OF LAST YEAR'S WHEAT CROP WAS SENT ABROAD.

MEAT SHIPMENTS, TOTALING 224,000 TONS, MADE UP ABOUT 1.2 PERCENT OF EXPORTS AND WERE ABOUT 2.3 PERCENT OF THE COUNTRY'S TOTAL PRODUCTION FOR THE YEAR. SHIPMENTS OF DAIRY PRODUCTS TOTALED 493,000 TONS AND REPRESENTED ABOUT 2.7 PERCENT
OF THE EXPORTS. FATS AND OILS, AT 233,000 TONS, MADE UP ABOUT 1.3 PERCENT OF SHIPMENTS.

THE REMAINDER, TOTALING 2,425,000 TONS OR 13 PERCENT, INCLUDED DRIED BEANS AND PEAS, FISH, EGGS, SUGAR, POULTRY, POTATOES, VEGETABLES, FRUITS AND NUTS.

LOOKING AHEAD TO FUTURE FOREIGN NEEDS, THE CABINET COMMITTEE SAID CROP PROSPECTS ABROAD HAVE BEEN REDUCED BY A SEVERE WINTER IN NORTHERN EUROPE. IT STATED, TOO, THAT WAR DEVASTATED AREAS HAVE BEEN SLOWER TO RECOVER THAN HAD BEEN EXPECTED.

"TODAY, ALMOST TWO YEARS AFTER THE FIGHTING STOPPED, WE KNOW THAT THE FOOD RELIEF JOB IS STILL UNFINISHED," IT SAID.

THE COMMITTEE SAID THE AMERICAN FOOD WAS SENT TO AREAS IN GREATEST NEED. IT GAVE THIS GENERAL BREAKDOWN OF EXPORTS:

ZONES OCCUPIED BY AMERICAN AND BRITISH MILITARY FORCES IN EUROPE, 3,481,000 LONG TONS OR ABOUT 18.9 PERCENT OF TOTAL SHIPMENTS; THE UNITED KINGDOM, 1,652,000 TONS OR ABOUT 9 PERCENT; ITALY, 1,349,000 TONS OR ABOUT 7.3 PERCENT; FRANCE AND FRENCH NORTH AFRICA 771,000 TONS OR ABOUT 4.2 PERCENT; BELGIUM 614,000 TONS OR ABOUT 3.3 PERCENT; NETHERLANDS 600,000 OR ABOUT 3.3 PERCENT; AND ALL OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES COMBINED 2,678,000 OR ABOUT 14.5 PERCENT.

IN THE FAR EAST, JAPAN AND KOREA RECEIVED 1,642,000 LONG TONS OR ABOUT 8.9 PERCENT OF THE TOTAL. INDIA RECEIVED 1,003,000 OR ABOUT 5.4 PERCENT; THE PHILIPPINES, 523,000 OR 2.8 PERCENT; CHINA 238,000 OR 1.3 PERCENT; THE NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES, 102,000 OR ABOUT .5 PERCENT. THE LATIN AMERICAN REPUBLICS RECEIVED 2,322,000 OR ABOUT 12.6 PERCENT, AND ALL OTHER COUNTRIES, 1,454,000 OR ABOUT 8 PERCENT.

TRUMAN TEXT
(ADVANCE) (WX) CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., JULY 4-(AP)-FOLLOWING IS THE TEXT OF AN INDEPENDENCE DAY ADDRESS TODAY BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN (ABOUT 1,600):

IT IS FITTING THAT WE SHOULD COME TO MONTICELLO TO CELEBRATE THE ANNIVERSARY OF OUR INDEPENDENCE. HERE LIVED THOMAS JEFFERSON, AUTHOR OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE. HERE THOMAS JEFFERSON DIED ON JULY 4, 1826, FIFTY YEARS FROM THE DAY THE DECLARATION WAS ADOPTED BY THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS AND PROCLAIMED TO THE WORLD.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE WAS AN EXPRESSION OF DEMOCRATIC PHILOSOPHY THAT SUSTAINED AMERICAN PATRIOTS DURING THE REVOLUTION AND HAS EVER SINCE INSPIRED MEN TO FIGHT TO THE DEATH FOR THEIR "UNALIENABLE RIGHTS."

THE STANDARD PHRASE USED BY WRITERS OF JEFFERSON'S DAY TO DESCRIBE MAN'S ESSENTIAL RIGHTS WAS "LIFE, LIBERTY AND PROPERTY." BUT TO JEFFERSON, HUMAN RIGHTS WERE MORE IMPORTANT THAN PROPERTY RIGHTS, AND THE PHRASE, AS HE WROTE IT IN THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE, BECAME "LIFE, LIBERTY AND THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS."

THE LAWS AND THE TRADITIONS OF THE COLONIES IN 1776 WERE DESIGNED TO SUPPORT A MONARCHIAL SYSTEM RATHER THAN A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY. TO THOMAS JEFFERSON THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION WAS FAR MORE THAN A STRUGGLE FOR INDEPENDENCE. IT WAS A STRUGGLE FOR DEMOCRACY.

WITHIN A FEW WEEKS AFTER INDEPENDENCE HAD BEEN PROCLAIMED AT PHILADELPHIA, JEFFERSON RESIGNED HIS SEAT IN THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS AND RETURNED TO HIS PLACE IN THE VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE. THERE HE BEGAN HIS MONUMENTAL WORK OF LAYING THE FOUNDATION OF AN INDEPENDENT DEMOCRACY.

WITHIN A FEW YEARS THE VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE, UNDER JEFFERSON'S LEADERSHIP, INSTITUTED FULL RELIGIOUS FREEDOM, ABOLISHED THE LAWS WHICH HAD PERMITTED GREAT ESTATES TO PASS UNDIVIDED FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION, PROHIBITED THE IMPORTATION OF SLAVES, REVISED THE CIVIL AND CRIMINAL CODE OF LAWS, AND ESTABLISHED A GENERAL SYSTEM OF PUBLIC EDUCATION. THESE ACTS, ACCORDING TO JEFFERSON, ERADICATED EVERY FIBER OF ANCIENT AND FUTURE ARISTOCRACY. THESE ACTS FORMED THE BASIS FOR A TRULY DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT.

JEFFERSON KNEW THAT IT WAS NECESSARY TO PROVIDE IN LAW THE REQUISITES FOR THE SURVIVAL OF AN INDEPENDENT DEMOCRACY. HE KNEW THAT IT WAS NOT ENOUGH MERELY TO SET FORTH A DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

TWO YEARS AGO THE UNITED STATES AND FIFTY OTHER NATIONS JOINED IN SIGNING THAT GREAT DECLARATION OF INTER-DEPENDENCE KNOWN AS THE CHARTER OF THE UNITED NATIONS. WE DID SO BECAUSE WE HAD LEARNED, AT STAGGERING COST, THAT THE NATIONS OF THE WORLD CANNOT LIVE IN PEACE AND PROSPERITY IF, AT THE SAME TIME, THEY TRY TO LIVE IN ISOLATION. WE HAVE LEARNED THAT NATIONS ARE INTER-DEPENDENT, AND THAT RECOGNITION OF OUR DEPENDENCE UPON ONE ANOTHER IS ESSENTIAL TO LIFE, LIBERTY AND THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS OF ALL MANKIND.

IT IS NOW THE DUTY OF ALL NATIONS TO CONVERGE THEIR POLICIES TOWARD COMMON GOALS OF PEACE. OF COURSE, WE CANNOT EXPECT ALL NATIONS, WITH DIFFERENT HISTORIES, INSTITUTIONS, AND ECONOMIC CONDITIONS, TO AGREE AT ONCE UPON COMMON IDEALS AND POLICIES. BUT IT IS NOT TOO MUCH TO EXPECT THAT ALL NATIONS SHOULD CREATE, EACH WITHIN ITS OWN BORDERS, THE REQUISITIES FOR THE GROWTH OF WORLD-WIDE HARMONY.

THE FIRST REQUISITE OF PEACE AMONG NATIONS IS COMMON ADHERENCE TO THE PRINCIPLE THAT GOVERNMENTS DERIVE THEIR JUST POWERS FROM THE CONSENT OF THE GOVERNED. THERE MUST BE GENUINE EFFORT TO TRANSLATE THAT PRINCIPLE INTO REALITY.

THE RESPECTIVE CONSTITUTIONS OF VIRTUALLY ALL MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS SUBSCRIBE TO THE PROPOSITION THAT GOVERNMENTS DERIVE THEIR JUST POWERS FROM THE CONSENT OF THE GOVERNED. IN MANY COUNTRIES HOWEVER, PROGRESS TOWARD THAT GOAL IS EXTREMELY SLOW. IN OTHER COUNTRIES, PROGRESS IN THAT DIRECTION IS NON-EXISTENT. AND IN STILL OTHERS, THE COURSE OF GOVERNMENT IS IN THE OPPOSITE DIRECTION.

IT IS NECESSARY, IF WE ARE TO HAVE PEACE, THAT THE PEOPLES OF THE EARTH KNOW EACH OTHER, THAT THEY TRADE WITH EACH OTHER AND TRUST EACH OTHER, AND THAT THEY MOVE TOWARD COMMON IDEALS. AND YET, WHEN GOVERNMENTS DO NOT DERIVE THEIR POWERS FROM THE CONSENT OF THE GOVERNED, THESE REQUIREMENTS ARE USUALLY DENIED, AND PEOPLES ARE KEPT IN ISOLATION.

THE STRONGER THE VOICE OF A PEOPLE IN THE FORMULATION OF NATIONAL POLICIES, THE LESS THE DANGER OF AGGRESSION. WHEN ALL GOVERNMENTS DERIVE THEIR JUST POWERS FROM THE CONSENT OF THE GOVERNED, THERE WILL BE ENDURING PEACE.

A SECOND REQUISITE OF PEACE AMONG NATIONS IS COMMON RESPECT FOR BASIC HUMAN RIGHTS. JEFFERSON KNEW THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN RESPECT FOR THESE RIGHTS AND PEACEFUL DEMOCRACY. WE SEE TODAY WITH EQUAL CLARITY THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE MAINTENANCE OF WORLD PEACE. SO LONG AS THE BASIC RIGHTS OF MEN ARE DENIED IN ANY SUBSTANTIAL PORTION OF THE EARTH, MEN EVERYWHERE MUST LIVE IN FEAR OF THEIR OWN RIGHTS AND THEIR OWN SECURITY.

WE HAVE LEARNED MUCH IN THE LAST FIFTEEN YEARS FROM GERMANY, ITALY AND JAPAN ABOUT THE INTIMATE RELATIONSHIP OF DICTATORSHIP, AGGRESSION, AND THE LOSS OF HUMAN RIGHTS. THE PROBLEM OF PROTECTING HUMAN RIGHTS HAS BEEN RECOGNIZED IN THE CHARTER OF THE UNITED NATIONS, AND A COMMISSION IS STUDYING THE SUBJECT AT THIS TIME.

NO COUNTRY HAS YET REACHED THE ABSOLUTE IN PROTECTING HUMAN RIGHTS. IN ALL COUNTRIES, CERTAINLY INCLUDING OUR OWN, THERE IS MUCH TO BE ACCOMPLISHED. THE MAINTENANCE OF PEACE WILL DEPEND TO AN IMPORTANT DEGREE UPON THE PROGRESS THAT IS MADE WITHIN NATIONS AND BY THE UNITED NATIONS IN PROTECTING HUMAN RIGHTS.

THE THIRD REQUISITE OF PEACE IS THE FREE AND FULL EXCHANGE OF KNOWLEDGE, IDEAS AND INFORMATION AMONG THE PEOPLES OF THE EARTH, AND MAXIMUM FREEDOM IN INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL AND COMMUNICATION.

JEFFERSON WELL UNDERSTOOD THIS PRINCIPLE. ON ONE OCCASION HE SAID, "IF A NATION EXPECTS TO BE IGNORANT AND FREE IN A STATE OF PEACE, IT EXPECTS WHAT NEVER WAS AND NEVER WILL BE." TODAY, WE CAN PARAPHRASE THESE WORDS IN INTERNATIONAL TERMS AS FOLLOWS: "IF THE NATIONS OF THE WORLD EXPECT TO LIVE IN IGNORANCE AND SUSPICION OF EACH OTHER IN A STATE OF PEACE, THEY EXPECT WHAT NEVER WAS AND NEVER WILL BE."

MANY MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS HAVE JOINTLY CREATED AND NOW SUPPORT THE UNITED NATIONS EDUCATIONAL, SCIENTIFIC AND CULTURAL ORGANIZATION FOR THE PURPOSE OF PROMITING THE FREE EXCHANGE OF IDEAS AND INFORMATION AMONG THE PEOPLES OF THE EARTH. IN THE PREAMBLE TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THIS ORGANIZATION THE MEMBER NATIONS HAVE DECLARED THAT "THE WIDE DIFFUSION OF CULTURE AND THE EDUCATION OF HUMANITY FOR JUSTICE AND LIBERTY AND PEACE X X X CONSTITUTE A SACRED DUTY WHICH ALL THE NATIONS MUST FULFILL." (MOH2)

30. 24 - 10733

THE UNITED STATES HAS TAKEN A LEADING ROLE IN FURTHERING THIS IDEAL. WE BELIEVE THAT IT IS ESSENTIAL TO A PEACEFUL AND PROSPEROUS WORLD. WE BELIEVE THAT COMMON KNOWLEDGE AND UNDERSTANDING AMONG MEN CAN BE GREATLY EXPANDED IN THE YEARS TO COME. WE HAVE THE MECHANICAL FACILITIES--THE RADIO, TELEVISION, AIRPLANES--FOR THE CREATION OF A WORLD-WIDE CULTURE. WE HAVE ONLY TO SET THEM TO WORK FOR INTERNATIONAL GOOD.

UNFORTUNATELY, A NUMBER OF COUNTRIES MAINTAIN BARRIERS AGAINST THE FLOW OF INFORMATION AND IDEAS INTO, OR OUT OF, THEIR TERRITORIES. MANY OF THEM RESTRICT INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL. SOME OF HEM, BEHIND BARRIERS OF THEIR OWN CREATION, PRESENT TO THEIR CITIZENS CAREFULLY SELECTED OR DISTORTED VERSIONS OF THE FACTS ABOUT OTHER COUNTRIES. THEY TEACH AND BROADCAST DISTRUST AND SCORN OF THEIR NEIGHBORS.

THESE ACTIVITIES OF ORGANIZED MISTRUST LEAD THE PEOPLE AWAY FROM PEACE AND UNITY. THEY ARE A FAR CRY FROM CONTRIBUTING TO THE FULL AND FREE EXCHANGE OF KNOWLEDGE AND IDEAS WHICH WE NEED IF WE ARE TO HAVE A PEACEFUL WORLD.

THE FIRST STEP TO END IGNORANCE AND SUSPICION WOULD BE TO STOP PROPAGANDA ATTACKS UPON OTHER NATIONS. THE SECOND STEP WOULD BE TO LET DOWN THE BARRIERS TO INFORMATION, IDEAS, AND TRAVEL. THE FINAL STEP WOULD BE TO COOPERATE WITH OTHER NATIONS WHO ARE SO EARNESTLY ENDEAVORING TO INCREASE FRIENDLY UNDERSTANDING AMONG MEN.

HERE AT THE HOME OF THOMAS JEFFERSON, WHO DEDICATED HIS LIFE TO LIBERTY, EDUCATION, AND INTELLECTUAL FREEDOM, I APPEAL TO ALL NATIONS AND TO ALL PEOPLES TO BREAK DOWN THE ARTIFICIAL BARRIERS THAT SEPARATE THEM. I APPEAL FOR TOLERANCE AND RESTRAINT IN THE MUTUAL RELATIONS OF NATIONS AND PEOPLES. AND I APPEAL FOR A FREE FLOW OF KNOWLEDGE AND IDEASTHAT ALONE CAN LEAD TO A HARMONIOUS WORLD.

THE FOURTH REQUISITE OF PEACE IS THAT NATIONS SHALL DEVISE THEIR ECONOMIC AND FINANCIAL POLICIES TO SUPPORT A WORLD ECONOMY RATHER THAN SEPARATE NATIONALISTIC ECONOMIES.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO RECOGNIZE THAT THE UNITED STATES HAS HEAVY RESPONSIBILITIES HERE. THE UNITED STATES IS THE GREATEST INDUSTRIAL NATION OF THE WORLD, THE LEADING EXPORTER OF AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS, AND THE GREATEST CREDITOR NATION. EUROPE AND ASIA, ON THE OTHER HAND, HAVE BEEN DEVASTATED BY WAR, AND WITH INSUFFICIENT FUNDS AND MATERIALS ARE STRUGGLING DESPERATELY WITH MOUNTAINOUS PROBLEMS OF RECONSTRUCTION. IN THIS SITUATION THE ECONOMIC AND FINANCIAL POLICIES MAINTAINED BY THE UNITED STATES ARE OF CRUCIAL IMPORTANCE.

WE HAVE CONTRIBUTED NEARLY TWENTY BILLION DOLLARS SINCE THE WAR TO WORLD RELIEF, RECONSTRUCTION, AND STABILIZATION. WE HAVE TAKEN THE LEAD IN THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE WORLD BANK AND THE WORLD STABILIZATION FUND. WE HAVE COOPERATED FULLY IN THE WORK OF THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL OF THE UNITED NATIONS. WE HAVE AUTHORIZED AID TO GREECE AND TURKEY. WE HAVE MADE GENEROUS LOANS THROUGH OUR EXPORT-IMPORT BANK. AND WE HAVE SUGGESTED TO EUROPEAN NATIONS THAT FURTHER REQUESTS FOR AMERICAN AID SHOULD BE ON THE BASIS OF A SOUND PLAN FOR EUROPEAN RECONSTRUCTION.

OUR REPRESENTATIVES ARE IN GENEVA NEGOTIATING A SERIES OF TARIFF-REDUCING TRADE AGREEMENTS. THEY ARE SEEKING AGREEMENT WITH OTHER NATIONS ON THE CHARTER OF AN INTERNATIONAL TRADE ORGANIZATION DESIGNED TO BRING FAIRNESS AND A SPIRIT OF COOPERATION INTO THE TRADE RELATIONS OF NATIONS.

I BELIEVE THAT THE UNITED STATES IS LIVING UP TO ITS RESPONSIBILITIES FOR CREATING THE ECONOMIC CONDITIONS OF PEACE. WE MUST REALIZE THAT THESE RESPONSIBILITIES ARE CONTINUOUS. EVEN THE EMERGENCY ASPECTS OF THE JOB ARE NOT YET BEHIND US.

IT IS NOT ENOUGH, HOWEVER, FOR ONE NATION TO LIVE UP TO ITS RESPONSIBILITIES FOR AIDING RECONSTRUCTION AND FOR COOPERATING IN THE PRODUCTION AND THE EXCHANGE OF GOODS. THE COOPERATION OF ALL NATIONS IS NECESSARY IF THE JOB IS TO BE DONE. TO THE EXTENT THAT ANY NATION FALLS BEHIND, TO THAT EXTENT WILL URGENT NEEDS FOR FOOD, CLOTHING AND SHELTER REMAIN UNFILLED.

YET, CERTAIN NATIONS TODAY ARE WITHHOLDING THEIR SUPPORT OF RECONSTRUCTION PLANS ON THE GROUND THAT THIS WOULD MEAN INTERFERENCE BY SOME NATIONS IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF OTHERS. THIS IS AS FALLACIOUS AS THE REFUSAL OF A MAN TO ENTER A PROFITABLE BUSINESS PARTNERSHIP ON THE GROUND THAT IT WOULD INVOLVE INTERFERENCE IN HIS PRIVATE AFFAIRS.

SURELY AFTER TWO WORLD WARS, NATIONS SHOULD HAVE LEARNED THE FOLLY OF A NATIONALISM SO EXTREME AS TO BLOCK COOPERATIVE ECONOMIC PLANNING AMONG NATIONS FOR PEACEFUL RECONSTRUCTION.

THE LIFE OF THOMAS JEFFERSON DEMONSTRATES, TO A REMARKABLE DEGREE, THE STRENGTH AND POWER OF TRUTH.

HE BELIEVED, WITH DEEP CONVICTION, THAT IN THIS YOUNG NATION THE SURVIVAL OF FREEDOM DEPENDED UPON THE SURVIVAL OF TRUTH.

AND SO IT IS WITH THE WORLD.

AS THE SPIRIT OF FREEDOM AND THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH SPREAD THROUGHOUT THE WORLD, SO SHALL THERE BE UNDERSTANDING AND JUSTICE AMONG MEN.

THIS IS THE FOUNDATION FOR PEACE--A PEACE WHICH IS NOT MERELY THE ABSENCE OF WAR, BUT A DEEP, LASTING PEACE BUILT UPON MUTUAL RESPECT AND TOLERANCE.

OUR GOAL MUST BE--NOT PEACE IN OUR TIME--BUT PEACE FOR ALL TIME.

RENT Q AND A (1500)

WASHINGTON, JULY 3-(AP)-THE OFFICE OF RENT CONTROL TODAY ISSUED THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON THE 1947 HOUSING AND RENT ACT WHICH WENT INTO EFFECT JULY 1:

LEASE TO INCREASE MAXIMUM RENTS

1. Q: MUST A TENANT SIGN A LEASE PROVIDING FOR A 15 PERCENT INCREASE IN RENT?

A: NO. THE HOUSING AND RENT ACT OF 1947 PROVIDES THAT SUCH AGREEMENT MUST BE VOLUNTARY. THE TENANT WHO DOES NOT SIGN SUCH LEASE IS STILL PROTECTED BY THE RENT REGULATIONS.

2. Q: MAY A TENANT BE EVICTED IF HE REFUSES TO SIGN A LEASE UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE NEW ACT?

A: NO. THE SIGNING OF SUCH LEASE MUST BE VOLUNTARY, AND A TENANT MAY BE EVICTED ONLY FOR ONE OF THE FIVE SPECIFIED CAUSES SET FORTH IN THE HOUSING AND RENT ACT OF 1947.

3. Q: IF A TENANT DOES NOT SIGN A LEASE PROVIDING FOR AN INCREASED

RENT UP TO 15 PERCENT, WHAT IS THE MAXIMUM RENT HE MUST PAY AFTER JULY 1, 1947 AND AS LONG AS THE PRESENT ACT CONTINUES IN EFFECT?

A: THE MAXIMUM RENT IN EFFECT ON JUNE 30, 1947, AS MODIFIED BY ANY SUBSEQUENT ORDER OF THE RENT DIRECTOR.

4. Q: IF A TENANT DOES NOT CHOOSE TO SIGN A LEASE PROVIDING FOR AN INCREASE RENT, AND HE IS THREATENED OR COERCED BY THE LANDLORD, WHAT ACTION SHOULD THE TENANT TAKE?

A: THE TENANT SHOULD IMMEDIATELY REPORT SUCH MATTER TO THE AREA RENT OFFICE.

5. Q: HOW MAY A LANDLORD INCREASE HIS RENT BY NOT MORE THAN 15 PERCENT AS PROVIDED IN THE ACT?

JUL 1947

A: A LANDLORD MAY INCREASE HIS RENT BY NO MORE THAN 15 PERCENT OVER THE MAXIMUM RENT IF HIS TENANT, ON OR BEFORE DECEMBER 31, 1947, VOLUNTARILY ENTERS INTO A WRITTEN LEASE EXPIRING ON OR AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1948, PROVIDED THAT HE COMPLIES WITH THE FILING REQUIREMENTS STATED IN THE ANSWER TO QUESTION 7.

6. Q: IF A LANDLORD AND TENANT MAKE AN ORAL AGREEMENT FOR A RENT INCREASE OF NOT MORE THAN 15 PERCENT WITHOUT SIGNING A WRITTEN LEASE, DOES THIS INCREASE THE MAXIMUM RENT?

A: NO. NO INCREASE IN THE MAXIMUM RENT OF THE UNIT IS PERMISSIBLE BASED ON AN ORAL AGREEMENT; THERE MUST BE THE VOLUNTARY SIGNING OF A WRITTEN LEASE.

7: Q: MUST A LANDLORD FILE A PETITION OR OBTAIN APPROVAL OF THE LEAS FROM THE AREA RENT OFFICE BEFORE HE MAY COLLECT THE RENT PROVIDED FOR IN THE NEW LEASE?

A: NO. HOWEVER, A COPY OF THE LEASE AND THREE COPIES OF THE REGISTRATION OF LEASE MUST BE FILED WITH THE AREA RENT OFFICE WITHIN FIFTEEN DAYS AFTER THE DATE OF EXECUTION OF THE LEASE. IF THIS IS NOT DONE, THE LEASE DOES NOT CHANGE THE MAXIMUM RENT. REGISTRATION OF LEASE FORMS ARE AVAILABLE AT AREA RENT OFFICES.

8. Q: DOES THE NEW RENT AUTOMATICALLY GO INTO EFFECT ON THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF THE LEASE?

A: YES, PROVIDED THE LANDLORD MEETS THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE ACT AND FILES WITH THE AREA RENT OFFICE ONE COPY OF THE LEASE AND THREE COPIES OF THE REGISTRATION OF LEASE WITHIN FIFTEEN DAYS AFTER ITS DATE OF EXECUTION.

9. Q: DOES THE AREA RENT OFFICE ISSUE AN ORDER INCREASING THE MAXIMUM RENT AS PROVIDED IN THE NEW LEASE?

A: NO.

10. Q: MUST THE INCREASE IN RENT PROVIDED FOR IN THE LEASE BE IN THE AMOUNT OF 15 PERCENT?

A: NO. IT MAY NOT BE MORE THAN 15 PERCENT BUT IT MAY BE IN ANY LESSER AMOUNT.

11. Q: WHAT IS THE BASE RENT TO WHICH THE RENT INCREASE PROVIDED FOR IN THE LEASE IS ADDED?

A: THE MAXIMUM RENT IN EFFECT IMMEDIATELY PRIOR TO THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF THE LEASE.

12. Q: IF A MAXIMUM RENT IS INCREASED BY ORDER OF THE RENT OFFICE AFTER JULY 1, 1947, MAY THE LANDLORD, ON OR BEFORE DECEMBER 31, 1947, ENTER INTO A LEASE INCREASING THE RENT BY AN ADDITIONAL 15 PERCENT?

A: YES, SINCE THE 15 PERCENT MAY BE ADDED TO THE MAXIMUM RENT WHICH WOULD OTHERWISE APPLY UNDER THE RENT REGULATIONS.

13. Q: IN A LEASE VALID WHICH PROVIDES FOR A 15 PERCENT RENT INCREASE BUT ALSO PROVIDES THAT THE TENANT MUST PAY FOR UTILITIES FORMERLY PAID FOR BY THE LANDLORD?

A: NO. THE LEASE MUST NOT CONTAIN A PROVISION DECREASING THE ESSENTIAL SERVICES, FURNITURE, FURNISHINGS AND EQUIPMENT OTHERWISE REQUIRED BY THE REGULATION PRIOR TO THE EXECUTION OF THE LEASE OR DECREASING OTHER SERVICES, FURNITURE, FURNISHINGS AND EQUIPMENT TO A DEGREE SUBSTANTIALLY LESS THAN THAT REQUIRED BY THE REGULATION PRIOR TO THE EXECUTION OF THE LEASE.

14. Q: MAY A LEASE CONTAIN AN OPTION ON THE PART OF THE TENANT TO TERMINATE THE LEASE PRIOR TO THE EXPIRATION DATE OF THE LEASE?

A: YES.

15. Q: MAY A LEASE CONTAIN AN ESCALATOR CLAUSE WHICH PROVIDES FOR A RENT TO TAKE EFFECT AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1948, WHICH IS MORE THAN THE RENT PROVIDED IN THE LEASE FOR THE PERIOD PRIOR TO JANUARY 1, 1949?

A: NO.

16. Q: MAY A LEASE CONTAIN AN OPTION ON THE PART OF THE LANDLORD TO TERMINATE THE LEASE AT WILL?

JUL 1947

A: NO.

17. Q: AFTER SIGNING A LEASE A TENANT WISHES SOME INCREASED SERVICE SUCH AS A GARAGE OR HOT WATER AND IS WILLING TO PAY FOR IT. MAY THE LANDLORD OBTAIN A RENT INCREASE FOR INCREASED SERVICES BY FILING A PETITION?

A: NO. THE MAXIMUM RENT ESTABLISHED BY A VALID LEASE CANNOT BE CHANGED BY ORDER OF THE RENT OFFICE. THIS INCLUDES HARDSHIP CASES.

18. Q: A LEASE PROVIDES THAT IT IS TERMINATED IF THE TENANT FAILS TO KEEP HIS GARBAGE PAIL TWO FEET AND TWO INCHES FROM THE FENCE. IS THIS A VALID LEASE?

A: NO. THIS IS A PROVISION WHICH CLEARLY HAS THE INTENT OF CIRCUMVENTING OR EVADING THE PURPOSES OF THE ACT.

RENT ADVISORY BOARDS

1. Q: HOW IS A RENT ADVISORY BOARD APPOINTED?

A: BY THE HOUSING EXPEDITER FROM RECOMMENDATIONS MADE BY THE RESPECTI GOVERNORS.

2. Q: WILL THERE BE A RENT ADVISORY BOARD FOR EACH DEFENSE-RENTAL AREA?

A: YES. THERE WILL INITIALLY BE AT LEAST ONE BOARD OF NOT LESS THAN FIVE MEMBERS FOR EACH DEFENSE-RENTAL AREA.

3. Q: WHAT ARE THE FUNCTIONS OF A RENT ADVISORY BOARD?

A: THE BOARD WILL CONSIDER THOSE CASES PRESENTED BY EITHER LANDLORD OR TENANT WHICH IT DEEMS WORTHY OF CONSIDERATION AND WILL MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THEIR DISPOSAL TO THE AREA RENT DIRECTOR. THE BOARD WILL ALSO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS DIRECTLY TO THE HOUSING EXPEDITER ON (A) DECONTROL OF THE DEFENSE-RENTAL AREA OR ANY PORTION THEREOF, (B) THE ADEQUACY OF THE GENERAL RENT LEVEL IN THE AREA, AND (C) OPERATIONS GENERALLY OF THE LOCAL RENT OFFICE, WITH PARTICULAR REFERENCE TO HARDSHIP CASES.

4. Q: MUST THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE BOARD BE IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE ACT AND RENT REGULATIONS IN ORDER TO BE ACCEPTABLE?

2. Q: DOES A LANDLORD HAVE TO PETITION THE RENT OFFICE FOR A CERTIFICATE RELATING TO EVICTION AFTER JULY 1, 1947?

A: NO. EVICTION CERTIFICATES ARE NO LONGER NEEDED.

3. Q: WILL THERE BE WAITING PERIODS PROVIDED FOR IN EVICTION CASES?

A: THAT WILL BE DETERMINED BY THE LOCAL COURTS.

4. Q: MAY A TENANT NOW PROTEST HIS EVICTION TO THE HOUSING ADMINISTRATOR?

A: NO.

JUL 1947

5. Q: MAY A LANDLORD PROCEED IN COURT TO EVICT A TENANT FOR THE PURPOSE OF CONVERTING THE DWELLING UNIT FOR COMMERCIAL USE?

A: NO.

6. Q: IS THERE ANY DOWN-PAYMENT REQUIREMENT IN EFFECT AFTER JULY 1, 1947 IN CONNECTION WITH THE PURCHASE OF A TENANT-OCCUPIED DWELLING WHERE THE PURCHASER WISHES TO EVICT FOR HIS OWN OCCUPANCY?

A: NO. THE HOUSING AND RENT ACT OF 1947 DOES NOT REQUIRE THE PURCHASER TO MAKE A DOWN PAYMENT AND HE MAY PROCEED IN A LOCAL COURT TO EVICT HIS TENANT IF HE SEEKS IN GOOD FAITH POSSESSION OF SUCH HOUSING ACCOMMODATIONS FOR HIS IMMEDIATE AND PERSONAL USE AND OCCUPANCY AS HOUSING ACCOMMODATIONS.

2. Q: WHAT IS THE DEFINITION OF "CONVERSION" FOR THE PURPOSES OF DECONTROL?

A: "CONVERSION" MEANS EITHER A CHANGE IN A STRUCTURE FROM A NON-HOUSING TO A HOUSING USE OR A STRUCTURAL CHANGE IN A RESIDENTIAL UNIT OR UNITS INVOLVING SUBSTANTIAL ALTERATIONS OR REMODELING AND RESULTING IN THE CREATION OF ADDITIONAL HOUSING ACCOMMODATIONS.

DR.STODDARD WAS CHAIRMAN OF THE UNITED STATES EDUCATION COMMISSION WHICH VISITED JAPAN LAST YEAR.

SPEAKING AT A GENERAL CONVOCATION AT THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, DR.STODDARD SAID THE COMMISSION WHICH HE HEADED HAD CONCLUDED THERE IS A GOOD CHANCE DEMOCRACY WILL SUCCEED IN JAPAN, PROVIDED THE EDUCATIONAL POLICIES FORMULATED AND PUT INTO PRACTICE SINCE THE WAR ARE CONTINUED AND PROVIDED THAT NATION'S ECONOMY IS REORGANIZED AND PLACED ON A SOUND BASIS.

MAKING A STRONG PLEA FOR WHOLEHEARTED SUPPORT OF THE RECENTLY INAUGURATED UNESCO PROGRAM, STODDARD ASSERTED THAT "AS EDUCATION GOES, SO GOES THE COUNTRY, OR MORE ACCURATELY, SO HAS GONE THE COUNTRY."

HE SAID THE TEACHING AND DISCIPLINE IN THE PRE-NAZI HOMES WILL MAKE THE APPLICATION OF THE UNESCO PROGRAM MORE DIFFICULT IN GERMANY THAN IN JAPAN.

POINTING OUT THAT IGNORANCE OF EACH OTHER'S WAYS AND LIVES HAS BEEN A COMMON CAUSE FOR WAR AMONG NATIONS THROUGHOUT THE HISTORY OF MANKIND, PRESIDENT STODDARD ASSERTED THAT UNESCO, TO SUCCEED, "MUST BE WILLING TO FIGHT HARD WITH ALL ITS WEAPONS--THE WEAPONS OF EDUCATION, SCIENCE, AND CULTURE."

Truman Assails Russia's Stand on Marshall Plan; Soviet Warned by Bevin

JUL 1947

REDS' ARGUMENTS ARE 'FALLACIOUS,' PRESIDENT SAYS

Foolish to Cold-Shoulder European Reconstruction, He Declares.

CALLS FOR TOLERANCE

Urges Nations to Break Down Artificial Barriers That Separate Them.

Exclusive to Herald

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 4—(AP) President Truman pleading for barriers down among all nations of the world, took Russia to task in vigorous and unmistakable terms today for "fallacious" arguments against Secretary Marshall's plan for economic recovery in Europe.

Without mentioning the Soviet Union by name, Mr. Truman left no doubt of his meaning when he declared in an Independence Day address:

"Certain nations are withholding their support of reconstruction plans on the ground that this would mean interference by some nations in the internal affairs of others.

Raps Russia's Stand

"This is as fallacious as the refusal of a man to enter a profitable business partnership on the ground that it would involve interference in his private affairs."

Coupled with this evident reference to Russia's withdrawal from the Paris economic conference—called to discuss Marshall's plan for U. S. aid on a basis of European self-help—Mr. Truman declared in solemn and measured tones:

"I appeal to all nations and all peoples to break down the artificial barriers that separate them.

"I appeal for tolerance and restraint in the mutual relations of nations and peoples. And I appeal for a free flow of knowledge and ideas that alone can lead to a harmonious world."

Speaking from the steps of historic "Monticello," the home of Thomas Jefferson, Mr. Truman declared his belief that "organized mistrust" leads the world "away from peace and unity."

His address, marking the 171st anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, made these salient points:

Folly of Extreme Nationalism

1. After two world wars, nations should have learned "the folly of a nationalism so extreme as to block economic planning among nations for peaceful reconstruction."

2. The cooperation "of all nations" is necessary for reconstruction and the production and exchange of goods."

3. An important step to assure world peace would be "to stop propaganda attacks upon other nations."

4. All nations should "let down the barriers to information, ideas and travel."

Another major requisite of peace, he declared, "is that nations shall devise their economic and financial policies to support a world economy rather than separate nationalistic economies."

To the extent that "any nation falls behind" in that program, he said, "to that extent will urgent needs for food, clothing and shelter remain unfilfilled."

This country, he said, "learned at staggering cost" from world war II "that the nations of the world cannot live in peace and prosperity if, at the same time, they try to live in isolation."

"We have learned that nations are inter-dependent, and that recognition of our dependence upon one another is essential to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness of all mankind."

Mr. Truman said that "of course we cannot expect all nations with different histories, institutions and economic conditions to agree at once upon common ideals and policies," but, he said:

"It is not too much to expect that all nations should create each within its own borders the requisites for the growth of world-wide harmony."

First Requisite of Peace

The first requisite of peace, he said, is "common adherence to the principle that governments derive their just powers from the governed" and "there must be genuine effort to translate that principle into reality."

Mr. Truman said that in many countries, however, "progress toward that goal is extremely slow. In other countries, progress in that direction is non-existent. And in still others, the course of government is in the opposite direction."

Assailing secrecy and distortion in some nations, Mr. Truman said:

"Unfortunately, a number of countries maintain barriers against the flow of information and ideas into, or out of, their territories.

"Many of them restrict international travel. Some of them, behind barriers of their own creation, present to their citizens carefully selected or distorted versions of the facts about other countries. They teach and broadcast distrust and scorn of their neighbors."

Following the address, Mr. Truman laid a wreath on the nearby tomb of Jefferson and visited the University of Virginia where he lunched at the Colonnade Club as guest of President Colgate W. Darden, former governor, and Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., former secretary of state, now rector of the university.

"Hi, Mr. President"

While strolling to the club from the rotunda along the lawns through applauding crowds the President was hailed with a "Hi, Mr. President" from three-year-old Hedgeman Smith of Charlottesville.

The President scooped the child up in his arms to the crowd's delight. He picked him up a second time when photographers pressed for more pictures, telling them to "fire away."

The President, a guest at the Georgian style country house of Stanley Woodward, State Department chief of protocol, paid a visit to a second shrine this afternoon, calling at Ash Lawn, home of President James Monroe.

He will drive back to Washington Sunday.

The President who likes to drive when away from Washington, took the wheel of a black secret service convertible on the trip from the Woodward residence to the Monroe estate.

Later in the afternoon he drove to the alumni hall of the University of Virginia to look in on a get-together for newspaper and radio correspondents and photographers where Fleet Admiral W. F. Halsey, chairman of the university's development fund, was host.

Mr. Truman returned to Woodward's house from the party, planning to remain there for the night. No plans were announced for tomorrow.

Charlottesville, Va., July 4 (AP)—Following is a partial text of President Truman's Independence Day address here:

It is fitting that we should come to Monticello to celebrate the anniversary of our independence. Here lived Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence. Here Thomas Jefferson died on July 4, 1826, 50 years from the day the declaration was adopted by the Continental Congress and proclaimed to the world.

The Declaration of Independence was an expression of democratic philosophy that sustained American patriots during the revolution and has ever since inspired men to fight to the death for their "unalienable rights."

The standard phrase used by writers of Jefferson's day to describe man's essential rights was "life, liberty and property." But to Jefferson, human rights were more important than property rights, and the phrase, as he wrote it in the Declaration of Independence, became "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Struggle For Democracy

The laws and the traditions of the colonies in 1776 were designed to support a monarchial system rather than a democratic society. To Thomas Jefferson the American revolution was far more than a struggle for independence. It was a struggle for democracy.

Within a few weeks after independence had been proclaimed at Philadelphia, Jefferson resigned his seat in the Continental Congress and returned to his place in the Virginia Legislature. There he began his monumental work of laying the foundation of an independent democracy. . . .

Jefferson knew that it was necessary to provide in law the requisites for the survival of an independent democracy. He knew that it was not enough merely to set forth a Declaration of Independence.

Two years ago the United States and fifty other nations joined in signing that great declaration of interdependence known as the Charter of the United Nations. We did so because we had learned, at staggering cost, that the nations of the world cannot live in peace and prosperity if, at the same time, they try to live in isolation.

We have learned that nations are interdependent, and that recognition of our dependence upon one another is essential to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness of all mankind.

It is now the duty of all nations to converge their policies toward common goals of peace. Of course, we cannot expect all nations, with different histories, institutions and economic conditions, to agree at once upon common ideals and policies. But it is not too much to expect that all nations should create, each within its own borders, the requisites for the growth of world-wide harmony.

The first requisite of peace among nations is common adherence to the principle that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. There must be genuine effort to translate that principle into reality.

Less Danger Of Aggression

The respective constitutions of virtually all members of the United Nations subscribe to the proposition that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. In many countries, however, progress toward that goal is extremely slow. In other countries, progress in that direction is nonexistent. And in still others, the course of government is in the opposite direction.

It is necessary, if we are to have peace, that the peoples of the earth know each other, that they trade with each other and trust each other, and that they move toward common ideals. And yet, when governments do not derive their powers from the consent of the governed, these requirements are usually denied, and peoples are kept in isolation.

The stronger the voice of a people in the formulation of national policies, the less the danger of aggression. When all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, there will be enduring peace.

Much To Be Accomplished

A second requisite of peace among nations is common respect for basic human rights. Jefferson knew the relationship between respect for these rights and peaceful democracy. We see today with equal clarity the relationship between respect for human rights and the maintenance of world peace. So long as the basic rights of men are denied in any substantial portion of the earth, men everywhere must live in fear of their own rights and their own security.

We have learned much in the last fifteen years from Germany, Italy and Japan about the intimate relationship of dictatorship, aggression, and the loss of human rights. The problem of protecting human rights has been recognized in the Charter of the United Nations, and a commission is studying the subject at this time.

No country has yet reached the absolute in protecting human rights. In all countries, certainly including our own, there is much to be accomplished. The maintenance of peace will depend to an important degree upon the progress that is made within nations and by the United Nations in protecting human rights.

Requisite Of Peace

The third requisite of peace is the free and full exchange of knowledge, ideas and information among the peoples of the earth, and maximum freedom in international travel and communication.

Jefferson well understood this principle. On one occasion he said, "If a nation expects to be ignorant and free in a state of peace, it expects what never was and never will be." Today, we can paraphrase these words in international terms as follows: "If the nations of the world expect to live in ignorance and suspicion of each other in a state of peace, they expect what never was and never will be."

Many members of the United Nations have jointly created and now support the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization for the purpose of promoting the free exchange of ideas and information among the peoples of the earth.

In the preamble to the constitution of this organization the member nations have declared that "the wide diffusion of culture and the education of humanity for justice and liberty and peace . . . constitute a sacred duty which all the nations must fulfill."

The United States has taken a leading role in furthering this ideal. We believe that it is essential to a peaceful and prosperous world. We believe that common knowledge and understanding among men can be greatly expanded in the years to come. We have the mechanical facilities—the radio, television, airplanes—for the creation of a world-wide culture. We have only to set them to work for international good.

Unfortunately, a number of countries maintain barriers against the flow of information and ideas into, or out of, their territories. Many of them restrict international travel. Some of them, behind barriers of their own creation, present to their citizens carefully selected or distorted versions of the facts about other countries. They teach and broadcast distrust and scorn of their neighbors.

These activities of organized mistrust lead the people away from peace and unity. They are a far cry from contributing to the full and free exchange of knowledge and ideas which we need if we are to have a peaceful world.

Would End Ignorance

The first step to end ignorance and suspicion would be to stop propaganda attacks upon other nations. The second step would be to let down the barriers to information, ideas, and travel. The final step would be to co-operate with other nations who are so earnestly endeavoring to increase friendly understanding among men.

Here at the home of Thomas Jefferson, who dedicated his life to liberty, education and intellectual freedom, I appeal to all nations and to all peoples to break down the artificial barriers that separate them. I appeal for tolerance and restraint in the mutual relations of nations and peoples. And I appeal for a free flow of knowledge and ideas that alone can lead to a harmonious world.

The fourth requisite of peace is that nations shall devise their economic and financial policies to support a world economy rather than separate nationalistic economies.

It is important to recognize that the United States has heavy responsibilities here. The United States is the greatest industrial nation of the world, the leading exporter of agricultural products, and the greatest creditor nation.

Europe and Asia, on the other hand, have been devastated by war, and with insufficient funds and materials are struggling desperately with mountainous problems of reconstruction. In this situation the economic and financial policies maintained by the United States are of crucial importance.

We have contributed nearly $20,000,000,000 since the war to world relief, reconstruction, and stabilization. We have taken the lead in the establishment of the World Bank and the World Stabilization Fund. We have co-operated fully in the work of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations.

We have authorized aid to Greece and Turkey. We have made generous loans through our Export-Import Bank. And we have suggested to European nations that further requests for American aid should be on the basis of a sound plan for European reconstruction.

Responsibility Noted

Our representatives are in Geneva negotiating a series of tariff-reducing trade agreements. They are seeking agreement with other nations on the charter of an international trade organization designed to bring fairness and a spirit of co-operation into the trade relations of nations.

I believe that the United States is living up to its responsibilities for creating the economic conditions of peace. We must realize that these responsibilities are continuous. Even the emergency aspects of the job are not yet behind us.

It is not enough, however, for one nation to live up to its responsibilities for aiding reconstruction and for co-operating in the production and the exchange of goods. The co-operation of all nations is necessary if the job is to be done. To the extent that any nation falls behind, to that extent will urgent needs for food, clothing and shelter remain unfilled.

Yet, certain nations today are withholding their support of reconstruction plans on the ground that this would mean interference by some nations in the internal affairs of others. This is as fallacious as the refusal of a man to enter a profitable business partnership on the ground that it would involve interference in his private affairs.

Surely after two world wars, nations should have learned the folly of a nationalism so extreme as to block co-operative economic planning among nations for peaceful reconstruction.

The life of Thomas Jefferson demonstrates, to a remarkable degree, the strength and power of truth.

Foundation For Peace

He believed, with deep conviction, that in this young nation the survival of freedom depended upon the survival of truth.

And so it is with the world.

As the spirit of freedom and the spirit of truth spread throughout the world, so shall there be understanding and justice among men.

This is the foundation for peace—a peace which is not merely the absence of war, but a deep, lasting peace built upon mutual respect and tolerance.

Our goal must be—not peace in our time—but peace for all time.

'Hi, Mr. President,' Shouts 3-Year-Old

Charlottesville, Va., July 4 (AP)—Three-year-old Hedgman Smith's spontaneous dash into President Truman's arms as he shouted "Hi, Mr. President" captured the fancy of an Independence Day crowd at the University of Virginia today.

Mr. Truman was walking along "The Lawns" between the Rotunda of the university and the Colonnade Club when the incident occurred.

"Hi, Mr. President! Hi, Mr. President!" came a child's voice from the crowd.

Suddenly, little Hedgman eluded the grasp of his father, William A. Smith, pharmacist at the university hospital, and dashed up to the Chief Executive, still shouting "Hi, Mr. President!"

Grinning, Mr. Truman scooped the boy into his arms to the delight of the crowd which formed a big circle around them.

Eisenhower Cites Vicksburg As Object Lesson In Isolation

Vicksburg, Miss., July 4 (AP)—General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower cited as an object lesson for world co-operation here today the history of this ancient citadel of the South, whose last conquering general 84 years ago became President of the United States.

As honor speaker at the Carnival of the Confederacy in Vicksburg, Eisenhower attributed failure of the cause of the South in the Civil War to isolation from the remainder of the world. He offered this as an example for the present necessity for international interplay.

Has No Political Aspirations

But of the presidential possibilities wrapped up in the history that was recalled today—the surrender of Vicksburg on July 4, 1863, to Gen. U. S. Grant, the eighteenth chief executive—Eisenhower drew no comparisons.

In answer to questions at a news conference as to his "possible aspiration," the general said:

"I wouldn't have the effrontery to say I wouldn't be president of the United States. No one has asked me."

He followed immediately with a reiteration of his previously-expressed position that he has no political aspirations.

The five-star general, in his address before thousands gathered before the Warren county courthouse, recalled the bitter memories of the surrender to Grant, because of which this "Gibralter of the Confederacy" refused to celebrate Independence Day until after victory in Europe in 1945.

Vicksburg fell to Grant's 75,000 men, after a 47-day siege, during which mule meat became a table luxury for the bedraggled Confederates. But today General Eisenhower was welcomed with open arms. Eisenhower declared that "just as Vicksburg was a crucible where differences were fired and joined into a strong and inseparable national unity, so the last war, which ended with an inferno of destruction, can be the start of a world union for peace."

He said the spirit, skill and stamina of the Army of the South were outweighted by a fact that "must be accepted as an axiom in world relations."

"A nation's success in war and in peace demands participation in the community of nations," he added.

Welcomed By Governor, Mayor

The General was welcomed by Gov. Fielding L. Wright and Mayor E. W. Haning, who told the distinguished visitor that "Vicksburg recognizes you as its real conquerer and gladly accepts unconditional surrender."

Earlier, the General personally swore in 52 army recruits. He viewed a parade of more than 30 floats and an airshow featuring B-29s and sixteen jet-propelled planes.

This, the third annual Vicksburg carnival of the Confederacy, is being observed as a three-day fete, with queen, and an air show, fireworks and other gay events.

Jackson Doesn't Expect War

Chautauqua, N.Y., July 4 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson declared today that he did "not expect the resumption of warfare in my time," and termed forecasts of another war "regrettable" and "vicious."

Jackson, chief Allied prosecutor at the Nuernberg trial of major Nazi war criminals, declared in an address before 7,000 persons at the annual Chautaugua Institution Independence Day observance that the trial had justified itself by setting "a precedent for the future."

He Is Not Worried

"We cannot know what influence it will have on the future," he said, "but it will make a little more secure the lives of the people on this earth.

"I am not worried that it will be put to a test soon. There is a no more regrettable and no more vicious thing than the talk now going on that another war is inevitable.

"People do not want to resume warfare. Repeatedly hearing voices telling us of another war is hard to understand. Government leaders of Russia, no more than the leaders of the United States, want to resume war. Russia wants to get everything she can without war. Unless we blunder into war, I do not expect the resumption of warfare in my time."

"One World" Doesn't Exist

Jackson said that "one world" did not exist so far as the thinking of the various peoples was concerned and that American democracy could not be reconciled to any form of police state, but added:

"If we go to war again and further diminish our own resources on the battlefield, we shall upset our own system. We might remove communism somewhere else and get it here."

Paris Communist Paper Assails Truman Speech

Paris, July 4 (AP)—The pro-Communist newspaper Ce Soir, ignoring release restrictions, published extracts of an advance text of President Truman's Charlottesville address more than six hours before the address was to be delivered today, heading it:

"A violent speech by President Truman lays bare the anti-Soviet speech in which the three-party (Paric economic) discussions were conducted."

Some other papers in France and Italy subsequently followed suit in releasing the President's words before the delivery time, 12.30 P.M. (E.S.T.) despite cautionary notes from news agencies.

An editor of Ce Soir said it was decided to ignore the "hold for release" instructions on its story, sent by a European news agency, because Ce Soir had been "beaten six times in three months" by rival papers which he declared had failed to observe release restrictions on other stories.

EUROPE JOINS IN OBSERVANCE

U.S. Fighting Men Missed In Fourth Celebration

London, July 4 (AP)—Americans in Europe observed in scattered celebrations today the one hundred and seventy-first anniversary of their independence.

The festivities were a far cry from the mass demonstrations of recent years participated in by millions of American fighting men on Europe's soil.

Nowhere were the thinned ranks of the Yanks more noticeable than in Germany. A year ago the occupation army put on its greatest postwar display of armed strength, with tanks, armored vehicles and thousands of troops passing through crowded streets.

Small Ceremony At Frankfurt

Today, at United States headquarters in Frankfurst, the Army fell back within its barbed-wire inclosure for a small decoration ceremony watched by a few hundred officers and their families. A 48-gun salute boomed over the city and Actress Rita Hayworth attended the traditional baseball game.

In Bucharest, within the Soviet sphere, Col. Clarence N. Culp, chief of the United States mission to Romania, told the Society of Friends of the United States that "a new declaration of independence, world-wide — independence from political ideologies—and more human rights, which the founding fathers referred to as 'inalienable rights,' are most needed today."

He said that "the tranquility which all men deserve everywhere after these past years will not be forthcoming through extreme political measures of extremists juggling politics."

Douglas Gives Garden Party

In London United States Ambassador and Mrs. Lewis W. Douglas greeted more than 3,000 guests at a garden party attended by Prime Minister Attlee and other Cabinet members, as well as the "American colony."

In France the only American military uniforms to be seen were those of the graves registration command, which sponsored modest observations at its various stations. The largest group of the command paraded at its depot on the Ile St. Germaine.

Brief French-American ceremonies were held in Paris at the Arc de Triomphe and at the Washington statue in the Place d'Iena. Later Americans met for the annual open house of Ambassador and Mrs. Jefferson Caffery. At Nice the France-United States of America Association held a service in memory of President Roosevelt at the American church.

Reception In Warsaw

The few Americans in Warsaw attended a reception at the Embassy where they were greeted by Charge d'Affaires Gerald Keith. Ambassador Stanton Griffis was en route from Prague, where he held conversations with Ambassador Laurance A. Steinhardt.

In Rome Independence Day coincided with the signing of an Italian-American agreement for providing food for Italy under the recently enacted United States foreign relief program. Later Mrs. Juan D. Perón, wife of the Argentine president, visited United States Ambassador James Dunn and wished him a "happy Fourth of July." The visit was suggested by her husband, who asked that she extend his felicitations to the United States Ambassador.

Soviet Turnout Poor

Moscow, July 4 (AP)—Walter B. Smith, United States Ambassador, invited 140 Soviet guests to his Fourth of July reception today, but only a handful attended.

Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Foreign Minister, was not present and the highest ranking guest from the Foreign Office was Y. A. Malik, Deputy Foreign Minister.

The whole American colony, consisting of about 150 persons, turned out, as well as a large number from other foreign embassies and legations.

Bevin

London, July 4 (AP)—Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, said tonight he was glad that American colonists whipped the British.

He spoke jocularly at an Independence Day dinner here at which Lewis Douglas, United States Ambassador, presided, saying:

"We are here to celebrate your victory and our defeat. Thank you for defeating us, producing as a result the wonderful United States of America.

"You can have your Revolution, your Bunker Hill and your Yorktown, but nothing will ever separate us now, whatever they do."

He did not identify "they."

Churchill

Hartford, Conn., July 4 (AP)—Winston Churchill, wartime Prime Minister of Great Britain, was elected today as a member of the Connecticut Chapter, Society of the Cincinnati—an organization of descendants of officers in the American Army which fought England in the Revolutionary War.

He was the first Englishman to be made a member of the society.

Churchill, who qualified as a great-great-grandson of Lieut. Reuben Murray, of Guilford, said in a letter read at the annual meeting here that he would be happy to accept membership.

British Craft To Visit East And Pacific Ports

London, July 4 (AP)—British naval vessels will visit a large number of United States, Canadian and Alaskan ports during the summer cruise of the America and West Indies squadron in the next three months, the Admiralty said today.

Flying the flag of the commander-in-chief, Admiral Sir William Tennant, the cruiser Sheffield will visit "principal East Coast" ports in the United States in mid-September, and will be joined by the sloop Snipe in visits to Boston and New York. The Snipe also will call at Washington.

The cruiser Kenya will call at San Francisco on its way to Bermuda after visiting Alaskan ports and taking part in British Columbia's Navy Week in August. The Kenya will be joined at San Francisco by the sloop Sparrow. Both vessels will visit cities on the Pacific Coast of the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Don't Provoke Britain, Bevin Warns Russia

London, July 4 (AP)—Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, discussing Britain's desires for peace, warned Russia tonight against provocations and carrying provocations "too far."

In an address before the American Society, he said that "a lot of our friends in the world seem to think that the British obsession for peace entitles them to make provocations.

"They must not be surprised—and indeed the evidence of the last two struggles indicates—that you can carry provocation too far.

"The people will one day say, 'we are tired of this.' There comes a moment when we say, 'we have had enough.'

Loves Russian People

"I say to my friends, 'don't provoke the situation.'"

"I love the Russian people," Bevin continued in his address commemorating the American Independence Day. "The ordinary man and woman of the world wants peace. Why split the world on some ideology, or such things as maternal determinism or Christian religion?

"America and Britain will continue to think alike. I beg the great American continent to go on with its great mission. As long as I am Foreign Secretary I will work with you. You can organize materialistic determinism because you can reduce it to a science and get people to obey.

"You cannot organize liberty in the same way. It is a spiritual thing which you cannot determine in a book of rules.

Spirit Of Humanity

"It is a great spirit of humanity. . . . I will work with you. My country will do all it can to harmonize with you."

Bevin said that the "correct description of the present conflict going on in the world is that you have going on one side a materialistic conception of history and on the other hand—there are we Anglo-Saxons who believe in liberty."

"Sometimes," he said, "people describe Britain as the awkward squad. As an old trade-union leader I say that most of my men have marched on the pavement. They won't be directed and ordered and as long as we maintain that great spirit of liberty, there will be a greater prize than material gain.

Marshall Speech Hailed

"At Harvard University, Marshall [United States Secretary of State] made a great speech. The United States wants us to devise a plan in which everybody can settle things on the basis of reason, discussion and facts.

"I think this is misunderstood by a lot of our friends in the world."

The Foreign Secretary rejected the suggestion that the Marshall plan would limit the sovereignty of European states.

"It is said that we want to interfere with the sovereignties of peoples," he said. "We run no feuds. We don't determine governments. We don't appoint prime ministers. We don't do anything of the kind."

Called "Sheer Nonsense"

He described talk of "dollar diplomacy" as "sheer nonsense." Observing that the United States is "disposed to generosity in the distribution of its largess," the Foreign Secretary declared: "Speaking for the British people, I say to Mr. Marshall, 'we take you and the American nation at your word. We do not question it.'"

Of France, Bevin said:

"America and Britain never gave France a chance at the end of the last war. I appeal to my American and British friends, for God's sake give France a chance to come back. She has a great spirit and great culture and wonderful powers of recuperation, and statesmen today who are standing up to all the opposition and internal difficulties.

"Now is the time to bring France back to her soul. M. Bidault, that dear little man, has proved courageous as leader of the resistance movement."

Bevin pleaded for the United States to stand fast.

"America and Britain will continue to think alike," he said. "I beg of the great American continent to go on with its great mission. You can organize materialistic determinism because you can reduce it to a science and get people to obey.

"You cannot organize liberty in the same way. It is a spiritual thing which you cannot determine in a book of rules.

"It is a great spirit of humanity. x x x I will work with you. My country will do all it can to harmonize with you."

Seaman Wins Bequest He Risked to Join War

LONDON, July 4 (AP).—A twenty-two-year-old American who joined the United States Merchant Marine during the war at the risk of losing a $20,000 inheritance was praised for his patriotism by a British judge today.

He also will get—three years from now—the $20,000.

When Henry Samuel Demarest, of Swingalong Plantation, Wilson, La., was ten his British grandfather created a 5,000-pound ($20,000) trust for him. The interest was to be used for his education and he was to get the principal when he became twenty-five.

However, Mr. Demarest was to be educated in England and was not to leave that country until his twenty-first birthday, except for three-month vacations.

At the time of the Peal Harbor attack Mr. Demarest, an Oxford student, joined the Merchant Marine at the age of seventeen and remained away from England for a long period.

Reinstating him as his grandfather's heir, Justic Wynn P. Parry said the decision to violate terms of the will "does nothing but rebound in the highest degree to his credit."

2,426 Merchant Ships Lost By Britain In War

London, July 4 (AP)—Britain lost 2,426 merchant ships, with a gross tonnage of 11,331,933, during World War II, the Admiralty announced today.

More than half this toll, 1,332 vessels, was exacted by German submarines. Only 383 ships were sunk by enemy aircraft. The worst year of the war was 1941, when Britain lost 717 ships.

The losses averaged 41 a month, compared with a monthly average of 95 during World War I, but the average tonnage sunk each month was about the same in both wars—215,000 gross tons.

5 NATIONS ACCEPT AID PARLEY BIDS

Britain, France Ask For Decisions By Thursday

Paris, July 4 (AP)—Twenty-two nations of Europe were asked by Britain and France today to decide within six days whether to join in drafting the continental reconstruction program under the Marshall proposal and officials of five governments promptly, announced their acceptance.

Reports from four countries indicated that they, too, would join in international planning for economic rehabilitation.

No official replies had yet been submitted, but announcements of acceptance of the invitation were made in Denmark, Greece, the Netherlands, Portugal and Italy, while official comment in Eire, Switzerland, Turkey and Belgium strongly indicated their representatives also would be present.

Determination Emphasized

Emphasizing their determination to go ahead despite Soviet warnings that such action would split Europe in two and "lead to no good results," the two countries asked the smaller states to reply by July 10 to notes inviting them to attend a conference in Paris July 12.

At that meeting the notes said, an international organization for economic recovery is to be formed, with its first meeting scheduled for July 15 in Paris to go to work on a co-ordinated program as suggested by Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, July 5.

The so-called "Communist-fringe" states seemed to be shying away. Polish newspapers voiced support for the rejection of the Marshall plan by Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister.

British newspapers predicted that if the Russian decision turns out to be an irrevocable one, then the eastern European states very probably will take the same stand and keep out of the projected British-French organization.

A British Foreign Office spokesman, however, warned Russia indirectly today against "influencing" any state in their free choice in the matter. He said Molotov, at the recent Paris meeting, strongly stressed the principle that great powers should not infringe on the sovereignty of small powers or exercise any form of interference in their internal affairs.

An Excellent Principle

"This," he commented at a news conference, "is an excellent principle. We hope that all European governments invited to Paris on July 12 will be left completely free and uninfluenced by every great power to make their own decision in their own and their people's interests and in accordance with what they deem to be their economic needs."

Today's joint invitation, transmitted by the French Foreign Ministry, was accompanied by the text of a six-point British-French proposal for European economic co-operation which the July 12 conference will be asked to support.

Four Subcommittees

It envisages creation of an overall international steering committee—such as that proposed to the three-power parley here Tuesday by Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, and rejected by Molotov—and four subcommittees dealing with food and agriculture, power and fuel, metal industries and transportation.

The steering committee would include representatives of France, Britain and "certain other" nations, while each of the subcommittees would include France and Britain, plus three other nations, those considered most directly concerned in the subcommittee's field.

Under this plan, the steering committee would be directed to draft a report on European resources and needs covering the next four years, to be presented to the United States Government before September 1.

Inventory Condition

Marshall, in his June 5 speech, said future American dollar aid to Europe would be conditioned on such an inventory and program.

In working out this report, the committee would be directed to consult with the United States and with all interested European nations, with the provisional exception of Spain, and with the commanders in chief of the four occupation zones of Germany.

It also would be required to keep the European Economic Commission of the United Nations, which begins work tomorrow in Geneva, advised of its work on progress.

France Still Hopeful

A hint that the French still hoped for Soviet participation in the July 12 conference was seen in a letter Bidault sent yesterday to Alexandre Bogomolov, Soviet Ambassador, enclosing a copy of the invitation, not to invite Russia, but just for her information, Bidault said:

"I again express the hope that the refusal of the Soviet Government is not final, and that a field for understanding can be achieved later which will permit the Soviet Union to participate in this measure of mutual assistance and European co-operation which I am forced to initiate."

RAMADIER WINS CONFIDENCE VOTE

PARIS, July 4 — (AP) Premier Paul Ramadier won a vote of confidence from the French national assembly tonight after debate in which the Communists attacked and Ramadier defended the Marshall aid Europe proposal.

The premier won 331 votes, 21 more than an absolute majority, while 246 opposition votes were cast, all by the Communists and the rightist republican party of liberty (PRL), both of which are outside the government.

In the course of the debate on Ramadier's economic policy, Communist Secretary Jacques Duclos assailed the government for "accepting a policy (the Marshall program) the essential basis of which is the reconstruction of Germany."

"To collaborate with America is to collaborate with peace," Ramadier retorted.

Kesselring's Death Sentence Commuted By British Order

Rome, July 4 (AP)—Death sentences imposed by British military courts on three former German commanders in Italy, Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, Col. Gen. Eberhard von Mackensen and Lieut. Gen. Kurt Maeltzer, have been commuted to life imprisonment by the British High Command in Italy, it was announced today.

The announcement was made through the British Embassy in Rome.

Findings Confirmed

A communiqué said:

"After full consideration of all the circumstances in the cases of Albert Kesselring, formerly a field marshal in the German forces; Eberhard von Machensen, formerly a colonel general in the German forces, and Kurt Maeltzer, formerly a lieutenant general in the German forces, the general officer commanding in chief, Central Mediterranean Forces, Lieut. Gen. Sir John Harding, decided to confirm the findings, but, on confirmation, to commute the sentences to imprisonment for life in all three cases."

Kesselring, who directed the stubborn German retreat northward in Italy in 1944, was sentenced on May 6 to die before a firing squad for crimes against the Italian people.

The British military court at Venice convicted him of responsibility for the Ardeatine Caves massacre of 335 Italians in reprisal for the killing of 32 German police troops and of inciting his troops to excesses in fighting Italian partisans.

Refused To Appeal

The former field marshal refused to appeal his sentence, but his counsel, Dr. Hans Laternser, entered an appeal for him.

Von Machensen and Maeltzer were sentenced last November 30 in Rome. They also were convicted of responsibility for the Ardeatine Caves massacre, which occurred near Rome a little more than two months before the city's liberation by Allied troops in 1944.

Accord Signed For Italy to Get American Aid

Food and Medicines To Be Provided by U. S. Out of 350 Million Relief Fund

ROME, July 4 (AP).—Italy and the United States signed an agreement today by which Italy will be provided food and medicines under an American $350,000,000 foreign relief program. American Ambassador James C. Dunn, Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi and Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza signed the documents in the Palazzo Chigi.

Mr. De Gasperi said it was an especially "happy coincidence" that the accord was signed on American Independence Day." He expressed thanks to the United States government, President Truman and the entire American people.

Ambassador Dunn, replying, said the only aim of the program is to give peoples who suffered from the war "an opportunity to recover economic stability."

The fund also will provide food and medicines for the Trieste area, Greece, Austria, Hungary, Poland and China.

Faced with growing Leftist hostility over high living costs, Mr. De Gasperi prepared to wage war on black marketeers and concentrate on importing fats, meat, sugar and other scarce materials. His non-Communist Cabinet yesterday also promised to make a special distribution of rationed goods to low-wage groups and stop clandestine exports of food.

Earlier this week Communist labor leader Giuseppe di Vittorio hinted that if food costs continue to rise, direct action would be taken by the 6,000,000-member General Labor Confederation.

leaders decided there was nothing more important to the nation than an all-out agricultural effort to assure a fine crop this year.

This became what almost amounted to a battle cry. All machinery for reaching the goal was set in motion. The weather was excellent and it appears almost certain now that the goal not only will be reached but passed.

Industries Show Progress

Informed sources mostly agree that Russia's grain and other harvests are going to be so good that the Soviet Union will be in a position to make wheat and other products available to some other nations.

The Soviet Union also is in a position to offer considerable assistance to several European countries by readjustments of reparation payments. [Countries owing reparations to Russia include Germany, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Italy and Finland.]

Moscow Source Hints At Russia's Own Aid Plan

Moscow, July 4 (AP)—Informed persons said today Soviet Russia, with one of her best harvests in years in prospect and industry building toward an impressive production rate, was in a position to offer economic aid of her own to European countries as a counter attraction to the Marshall proposal.

These informants suggested there was reason to believe that aid in one form or another might be offered or made available by Russia.

It might be recalled that Prime Minister Stalin told Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary at the Moscow Conference that the U.S.S.R. was not as bad off as some persons believed. He suggested that the Soviet Union might be able to sell Britain some grain. This is why James Wilson, secretary of the British Overseas Trade Agency, hurried to Moscow.

Almost A Battle Cry

With the breakdown of the three-power talks in Paris on the American-aid plan, and the decision of France and Britain to go along with the United States on their own, informed foreign sources in the Soviet capital said they believed Wilson's chance of making a grain deal had dwindled.

After last summer's drought the Communist party and Government

Soviet Union's industrial might today with that of the United States. Industry, however, is increasing rapidly in Russia. The latest figures show marked progress in the output of coal, oil, electric power, textiles, shoes, food processing, transport, machine building, and railway equipment.

Czech-Russ Parley Slated

Prague, Czechoslovakia, July 4 (AP) — Czech leaders hurriedly scheduled a trip to Moscow tonight, undoubtedly hoping to confer with the Russians about the crucial economic situation created here by Soviet rejection of the Marshall aid-Europe proposals.

Premier Klement Gottwald, a Communist, and Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister, decided on the Moscow trip after day-long discussion in parliamentary circles of the new complications arising from the Paris three-power conference.

They arranged to ride as far as Warsaw with Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz and nine of his ministers, who earlier today signed a treaty comprising the last link in a Slav nation network of cultural and trade pacts which conceivably could form the basis for a separate Eastern European economy.

Two Distinct Camps

The action of the Soviet Foreign Minister, Vyacheslav M. Molotov, at Paris Wednesday, many persons here fear, may well have been the first phase of an outright division of Europe into two distinct camps, at least economically.

The Czechs—and the hurried trip by their leaders to Moscow underscores this—are unable to foresee which camp they will join, or whether it would be possible to straddle and keep a foot in each one.

There has been no official announcement in Prague whether the British-Frence note inviting Czech participation in a 24-nation economic parley at Paris July 12 had been received. In any event, it appeared certain no answer would be forthcoming until Gottwald and Masaryk get back.

"Western Bloc Bid"

Prague's Communist daily decribed the new Paris bid today as "an invitation to participate in a Western bloc," and if this turns out to be the view of the Government it will be extremely hard for them to accept the invitation, especially in the light of Molotov's statement that countries participating in a program under the Marshall suggestions would find their sovereignty sacrificed the the big Western powers.

At the same time, however, Czechoslovakia's economy is in urgent need of Western markets, Western raw materials and Western financial credits. She has credit now only with Britain, Canada and Argentina.

Eastern Credit Low

Trade alliances and other ties with her Eastern Slavic neighbors are strong, but none of those countries have foreign credit, cash markets or any quantity of exportable goods.

Thus, while the treaties signed today are regarded in most of eastern Europe as a Pan-Slav alliance, Czechoslovakia takes a different view. The Czechs are trying hard to maintain cordial ties with both the East and West.

The previous treaties in this Slav network, signed in the months since the war ended, include pacts between Russia and Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Poland, Romania and Yugoslavia, and a month ago there were reports from Belgrade concerning the possibility of a union of Balkan states.

Polish Border Dispute

A dispute between Czechoslovakia and Poland over some border areas held by Poland finally appeared to have been glossed over and the Czechs put on a big welcoming ceremony for the Polish signatories.

Gottwald declared the "union of our countries will be firmer because it rests on alliance with the Soviet Union and other Slav nations."

The date for the signing today was set long before the Paris conference and thus there was no suggestion here that it had anything to do with the failure of that parley.

Anderson On Reich Aid

Berlin, July 4 (AP)—Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, announced today that he had guaranteed sufficient shipments of American food to insure Germans in the British-American occupation zones "a reasonable diet" and fulfillment of the current official ration of 1,550 calories a day.

He told a news conference that guaranteed food shipments of at least 300,000 tons a month, coupled with the assumption that Germans would meet their own production and collection requirements, would assure the normal German consumer his daily 1,550 calories for the first time in months.

To Visit Stuttgart Today

Anderson planned to go to Stuttgart tomorrow, together with W. Averell Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, to discuss with German officials measures for increasing German agricultural production and crop collections to help reduce German dependence on food imports.

He said that while crop collections had improved recently he felt "they can be better."

Anderson voiced praise for American farmers and rejected statements published here which pictured them as profiteers, asserting:

"The American farmer hasn't held back anything in his effort to help supply the world."

Harriman, who participated in the same news conference, said that, despite failure of the Paris conference Wednesday, the American objective remained the same: To win as many nations as possible to co-operate effort for economic reconstruction.

Hopes To Boost Exports

He said the purpose of his visit to Germany was to "see what can be done to raise manufacturing production and exports to bring Germany back to self-sufficiency and reduce the tremendous cost of occupation to the United States and British taxpayer."

Harriman said there was no possibility that German industry would be given a free reign for recovery and expansion, and said American economic policy in Germany was solely concerned with obtaining payments for credits granted in the form of food imports and raw materials.

"We are not trying to impose our economic ideology upon anyone," he declared, "either for or against socialism, but in economic principles the United States stands on its own record—six per cent of the world's population, with the greatest production record and, at the present time, exporting more food than all the rest of the world combined."

After visiting Stuttgart, the two Cabinet members expect to go on to the Ruhr.

Australians 'Waiting' For U.S. Wool Gesture

Geneva, July 4 (AP)—J. J. Dedman, Australian Minister for Postwar Reconstruction, said today the Australian delegation was "waiting for the United States delegation to make the first gesture" for resumption of negotiations in the wool tariff impasse here.

Dedman told a news conference he had seen William L. Clayton, head of the United States delegation, at a luncheon, but that, this was a "formal and social affair."

Asked whether Australia would make "the first gesture if the United States failed to do so, he replied: "We will wait and see."

Franco Urges Vote For Succession Plan

Madrid, July 4 (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco urged Spaniards in a broadcast tonight to vote for the proposed law of succession in the national referendum Sunday. The measure, he said, assures the "greatness" of Spain as well as its "moral and economic well-being."

The law would name Franco as chief of state, declare Spain a "kingdom," and provide machinery for the selection of a king or regent to succeed Franco in the event of death or retirement.

PALESTINE GROUP HEARS JEWISH PLEA

U.N. Delegation Holds Session In Jerusalem

Jerusalem, July 4 (AP) — The United Nations Palestine Investigating Commission heard the Jewish case for Palestine today and then adjourned until Sunday to allow a subcommittee to sort out a flood of new applications from persons and groups desiring to be heard.

Committee sources said more applications have been filed than the group can possibly hear before its scheduled departure from the Holy Land on July 20. Arabs are boycotting the inquiry, ordered by the United Nations Assembly in an effort to untangle the knotty problem of Palestine.

Today's first speaker for the Jewish Agency, official spokesman for Holy Land Jewry, was Russian-born, white-haired David Ben Gurion, chairman of the agency's executive.

Aims At National Home

In a voice sometimes calm, sometimes choked with tears, he told the eleven-nation commission of Jewry's achievements and hopes and reviewed past negotiations aimed at a Jewish state—a national home.

He rejected all forms of mandate, declaring:

"Only by establishing Palestine as a Jewish state can the true objectives—immigration and statehood for Jews, economic development and social progress for Arabs—be accomplished."

"You'll achieve your mission successfully," he told the commission, "when you restore freedom to Palestine, giving justice to the Jewish people and stability, progress and prosperity to the Middle East.

"These three objectives can be accomplished by immediate abolition of the white paper [restricting Jewish immigration and land sales to Jews], establishment of a Jewish state and promotion of a Jewish-Arab alliance."

At one point he hinted strongly that Jewish leaders may have changed their minds about partition of Palestine. Departing from his prepared text in an extemporaneous reference to the earlier Morrison federation plan, Ben Gurion commented:

"We said then it could not be accepted as a basis for discussion. But we are ready to consider the question of a viable [self-supporting] Jewish state."

Rabbi Yehuda Fishman and David Horowitz, an economist, followed Ben Gurion to the witness stand, outlining religious and economic aspects of the Jewish claims.

Arabs To Meet Tomorrow

The Palestine Arab press had this to say concerning today's commission session:

"Commission members and the United Nations will listen as they did in the past to the excessive Jewish demands and their haughty pride. But the reply of Arabs to these demands will be heard by the whole world at a great conference called Sunday in Haifa by the Arab Higher Executive."

This conference was summoned by Jamal Effendi Husseini, deputy chairman of the Executive, to ponder "preservation of Arab lands and a boycott of Jewish industry, products and services."

CHINA ON FULL WAR FOOTING

Government Orders Total Mobilization At Session

Nanking, July 4 (AP)—The Chinese Government today ordered total mobilization of manpower and resources for unrestricted war against the Communists.

Vice President Sun Fo said the order, approved at a special meeting of the State Council, was being handed to the Executive Yuan for immediate enforcement.

A two-page Government announcement said the order was for a finish fight against "enemies of the state" and also included demands for increased agricultural and industrial production to speed the drive.

It followed a night meeting of top-ranking Government officials, with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek at his home and was in line with similar demands made June 30 by the controlling bodies of the Kuomintang, the Government party.

Effect Remains To Be Seen

[Effect of the new measures remains to be seen, since the Government for many months has been operating on a full war footing.

[There was no battlefront news from the Government side, but the Communist radio reported that Communist General Liu Po-cheng had broken a 100-mile gap in the Government's Yellow River defense lines in western Shantung Province in a few mapor offensive.

[The Communist broadcast said the drive began June 30 and had reached Hotseh, 17 miles southeast of the river, by July 1. The area is about 130 miles southwest of Tsinan, Shantung provincial capital. INDONESIANS APPEAL TO U.S.

Premier Asks Aid In Making Own Independence Day

Jogjakarta, Java., July 4 (AP)—Indonesian Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin asked the United States in a Fourth of July message today to remember her "revolutionary traditions" and help the Indonesian Republic attain an "independence day free from fear."

The Indonesian Government leader's message, addressed to both the people and the government of the United States, also urged America to "continue to exert her influence to safeguard the peace as we strive through peaceful course of negotiations to reach agreements with the Netherlands."

Sjarifoeddin's message declared:

"Our goals are like those which inspired the brave citizen soldiery of Lexington and Concord—freedom from colonial rule, rights of free people to move toward the universal good, to achieve freedom from want and universal education, to take our place in the brotherhood of nations."

Reply To Dutch Framed

Sjarifoeddin became Premier only yesterday after his predecessor, Sutan Sjahrir was forced out in a dispute over concessions granted the Dutch in negotiations for setting up an interium Government to rule Indonesia until the United States of Indonesia becomes independent in 1949.

His new Cabinet was busy today, framing a reply to new Dutch requests for clarification of the Republican viewpoint on unsettled issues and to a United States memorandum sent June 28 pressing for a peaceful settlement.

A commentator in the Russian newspaper Moscow Bolshevik today described the June 28 note as "interference in Indonesian affairs" and said it was a "valuable present to Dutch imperialists."

To Search Out Collaborationists

At the same time, Sjarifoeddin ordered the republic's police to track down and arrest an estimated 600 to 700 Japanese who have been hiding out in Republican territory since the Japanese capitulation. He said captured Japanese would be turned over to General MacArthur.

He also announced that he intended to eliminate from police and intelligence services any Indonesians who "criminally" collaborated with the Japanese during the occupation.

The premier was a leader of the anti-Japanese underground during the war, and was captured, tortured and sentenced to death, but won communtation on a plea from President Soekarno.

In Batavia, meanwhile, a Dutch army communiqué said "republican aggression" was increasing in the Soerabaja area, where it claimed a Dutch soldier was killed, one wounded and four or five captured in a skirmish Tuesday.

Lonely Jap Surrenders To Fourth Celebrators

MANILA, Saturday, July 5 — (AP) Pvt. Sinachi Arukitchi, 31, a remnant of the imperial Japanese Fourth Army, gave American soldiers a July 4th surprise at Clark Field yesterday.

During the observance of the American and Philippine Independence Day, the Japanese soldier—long-haired and in tattered clothes—marched onto the field with a white flag and announced he wanted to surrender.

A 13th Air Force announcement said Arukitchi, alone and unarmed, had lived in central Luzon for two years on fruit and wild game after the U. S. 40th Division wiped out his unit in the spring of 1945.

U.N. Principle Cited

New York, July 4 (AP)—Constantin Tsaldaris, Greek Minister of Foreign Affairs, said today the Greek situation was "only one phase of a much larger question . . . whether the principles of the United Nations are going to be restricted." Tsaldaris, in a statement issued after Independence Day ceremonies at the Greek Orthodox Cathedral and a visit with Sir Alexander Cadogan, chief British delegate to the United Nations, also declared that his mission here was not to seek additional money for Greece.

FILIPINO DELEGATE HITS 'COLONIALISM'

Romulo Says His Nation Will Lead Fight In Asia

New York, July 4 (AP)—Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine Ambassador to the United States, declared his country, as first in Asia, to "break through the wall of colonialism," has a duty to "lead the way and continue leading the way until that wall is crumbled completely and all the oppressed and exploited nations are free."

Addressing a dinner organized by the Filipino community of New York city to mark the first anniversary of Philippine independence, Romulo asserted he would continue in the United Nations and elsewhere to seek independence for other Asiatic colonies "for I consider that it would be disgraceful for us Filipinos, having won our freedom, to remain silent or stand apart in selfish isolation while the anguished voices of our less fortunate brethren in Asia cry out for liberty."

Gives World-Wide Broadcast

Romulo, permanent Philippine delegate to the United Nations, recounted the achievements of the new Republic in its first year of independendence and added:

"The future can place no burden upon us more onerous than we have borne in the past. A generation that, like ours, has already borne the crucifixion of the Japanese occupation can bear any responsibilities which the future may bring. We know the measure of our strength as a people, and by this strength we shall measure the remaining tasks that await us in buttressing our independence and in establishing upon a more stable foundation the Republic of the Philippines.

In another speech prepared for world-wide broadcast over BBC, Romulo declared the Fourth of July "means for many millions of people in Asia and Africa the basic freedom which people of thirteen colonies won by revolution 171 years ago; the kind of freedom which in our modern age and under the impulse of more liberal principles has been placed through peaceful means by the United States, Great Britain and The Netherlands within the reach of the peoples under them."

JEWISH NATIONAL FUND CONTRIBUTIONS RISE

NEW YORK, July 4—(AP) United States Jews have contributed neary $14,000,000 to the Jewish national fund in the past nine and a half months and sent nearly $12,000,000 to the Jewish national fund in Jerusalem, delegates to the 50th annual convention of the Zionist organization of America were told today.

Magistrate Morris Rothenburg, president of the United States fund, said that of $13,855,858.31 contributed by American Jewry since last Sept. 15, a total of $11,705,170.14 went to the Jerusalem fund, more than twice the amount sent during the same period a year ago.

In three years, Rothenburg said, more than $34,000,000 has been remitted to Palestine to buy land. There are now 327 settlements in Kretz Israel, 230 of them on Jewish national fund land, he said, and 31 settlements in southern Judea and the Negev.

LOYALTY LAW LIKELY BEFORE SESSION'S END

GOP Gives Priority To Bill Setting Standards For U.S. Workers

Washington, July 4 (AP)—Republican leaders said today that enactment of a six-point loyalty standard for Federal employés is almost certain before Congress adjourns at the end of this month.

Among other things, the measure is designed to winnow out Federal employés maintaining even "sympathetic association" with any Communist, Fascist, totalitarian or subversive group in this country or abroad.

It is designed, also, to prevent "leaks" in confidential Government information.

Measure Gets Priority

With only three weeks to go before the scheduled July 26 adjournment goal, GOP leaders gave the measure a top-priority rating for congressional action next week, along with bills for unification of the armed forces and the rejuvenated $4,000,000,000 tax cut.

House passage of the loyalty bill is expected next week. It then would go to the Senate.

The loyalty standard was recently set up by President Truman in an executive order establishing a loyalty committee to check on the Americanism of Government workers. The House Civil Service Committee, however, decided that a law is needed.

Six Points Outlined

The proposed loyalty board, in determining whether an employé or applicant for a Federal job should be in Government service, would be instructed to consider the individual's record on these six points:

1. Sabotage, espionage, or attempts or preparations therefore, or knowingly associating with spies or saboteurs.

2. Treason or sedition or advocacy thereof.

3. Advocacy of revolution by force or violence to alter the constitutional form of Government of the United States.

4. Intentional, unauthorized disclosure to any person, under circumstances which may indicate disloyalty to the United States, of documents or information of a confidential or nonpublic character obtained by the employé making the disclosure as a result of his employment in or under the executive branch of the Government.

As To Other Governments

5. Performing or attempting to perform his duties as an employé' or otherwise acting, so as to serve the interests of another government in preference to the interests of the United States.

6. Membership in, affiliation with, or sympathetic association with any foreign or domestic organization, association, movement, group, or combination of persons designated by the attorney general as totalitarian, Fascist, Communist, or subversive, or as having adopted a policy of advocating or approving the commission of acts of force or violence to deny other persons their rights under the Constitution of the United States, or as seeking to alter the form of government of the United States by unconstitutional means.

James F. Byrnes Joins Roberts' Peace Group

Philadelphia, July 4 (AP) — Owen J. Roberts, former Supreme Court justice and chairman of the newly formed Citizens Emergency Committee for Universal Training, announced today his one-time colleague, James F. Byrnes, has joined the committee in its efforts to promote "peace through preparedness."

UrgeSpecialSession on Defense

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP).—A special session of Congress this fall to deal with "the nation's presently depleted and decaying defense structure" was urged today by "The Reserve Officer," monthly publication of the Reserve Officers' Association. "America's present security nakedness is alarming," the magazine said. Enactment of universal military training legislation was listed as "essential" by the publication, which said that Russia has warned that "our monopoly of atomic weapons is an illusion."

Easing Foreign Travel Hearing To Be Reopened

Washington, July 4 (AP)—A Senate committee hearing on ways of easing foreign travel restrictions will be reopened July 16.

Senator Brewster (R., Maine), chairman of the subcommittee studying the problem, said if unnecessary obstacles to foreign travel are removed, Americans would spend more money abroad and other countries would obtain dollars with which to buy United States goods.

"It is conceivable that within a foreseeable future from $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 yearly will be poured into the coffers of foreign nations by American travelers, an item not to be ignored in these days when a shortage of American currency presents one of the gravest international problems," Brewster said.

President's Criticism Of Rental Act Assailed

Washington, July 4 (AP)—Morgan L. Fitch, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said today President Truman's criticism of the new rental act shows he is either "woefully uninformed or has been maliciously misinformed about housing conditions in the United States."

Although Mr. Truman signed the bill, he sent a sharp message to Congress last Monday terming it "a most unsatisfactory law" and calling for a congressional investigation of "brazen operations" by "real estate lobbyists."

Senator Taylor (D., Idaho) has offered a resolution for an inquiry.

Fitch declared in a statement that Mr. Truman's message constituted "a telltale explanation of the Administration's bungling of the housing problem."

Navy To Deactivate Carrier Shangri-La

San Francisco, July 4 (AP)—The Navy has decided to put the war-famed aircraft carrier Shangri-La in the moth-ball fleet.

But before her crewmen are scattered to the many seas they will attend a gay party next Tuesday in Scottish Rite Auditorium.

Officers of the carrier said they did not know why the ship was being de-activated but think perhaps it was because she is a few months older than active carriers in the Pacific Fleet.

Submarine In Practice Dive

Philadelphia, July 4 (AP)—The U.S.S. Cochino, one of the Navy's largest and newest submarines refitted during the last three months at the Philadelphia Naval Base, held three practice dives at depths up to 100 feet seven miles southwest of Cape May, N.J., today as it left for its new station at Key West, Fla. The 10-foot, 1,850-ton sub is under the command of Commander Lucien B. McDonald, of Washington.

War Assets To Offer 1,958,982 False Teeth

Washington, July 4 (AP)—The War Assets Administration soon will offer for sale 1,958,982 false teeth. Declared surplus by the army, their cost was estimated at $105,000. Dentists and their suppliers are the only likely buyers, as the teeth are to be used in making sets.

Girl Visits GI's Home After Caring For Grave

Hoboken, N.J., July 4 (AP)—A 21-year-old Dutch girl, who since 1945 has cared for the grave of an American sergeant killed near her home, arrived today on the S.S. Pierce Victory to visit the Lexington (Mass.) parents of the soldier.

Miss Gerry de Faber of Kirkrade, Holland, was met at the pier by Mr. and Mrs. Allen W. Rucker.

Rucker said the girl adopted the grave of their only son, Allen, Jr., 20, who was killed in action in Germany, just across the border from Kirkrade.

He added the girl had never met his son, but cared for the grave, decorated it every Independence Day, and sent pictures of it to the family.

41 Per Cent O.K. Given National Guard Plans

Washington, July 4 (AP)—The War Department has given its approval to about 41 per cent of the 6,388 National Guard units planned for the postwar national defense structure.

Maj. Gen. Butler B. Miltonberger, National Guard bureau chief, announced today that Federal recognition has been granted so far to 2,358 ground and 257 air units in the various states and territories.

When a guard unit qualifies, by virtue of its strength, equipment and other factors for Federal recognition, its personnel receives Federal pay for each of the 48 weekly training periods and the fifteen-day summer field training.

Giant Test Smoke Bomb Burns Eight Soldiers

White Sands, N.M., July 4 (AP)—Eight military men were treated today for burns inflicted by acid from a giant experimental smoke bomb.

The accident happened last night at the White Sands Proving Ground, southern New Mexico center for Army and Navy experiments with the German V-2 and other rockets.

Only two of the injured were reported in serious condition. Others escaped with minor burns. All were flown to the Army's William Beaumont General Hospital at near-by El Paso, Texas.

Lieut. Col. Harold R. Turner, their commanding officer, said an unexplained accident spewed the acid in the midst of a 75-man crew of technicians preparing a V-2 for launching.

Carried in a pressure tank with timed detonator, the acid was to have been released miles above the earth. There scientists expected to create a huge smoke cloud to facilitate observation of upper atmospheric phenomena.

Flying Saucers Are Reported By Oregon's Police

Portland, Ore., July 4 (AP)—Two police patrol cars reported today they saw a large formation of "flying disks" maneuvering over a Portland residential area today.

Their radioed reports to headquarters followed the same general pattern of reports of similar objects reported over the West—that they were high, looked like huge saucers, glistened in the sun, and flew with an undulating motion. The Police Bureau asked the National Guard aerial squadron to investigate.

During the day a formation of B-29 bombers, followed by P-80 fighter planes flew over the city as part of a holiday demonstration.

At Eugene, Ore., a motorist said today he saw silvered disks being dropped out of a light airplane flying over this city.

E. F. Smith, Eugene, an assistant cashier for the Southern Pacific Railroad, said he was driving on a Eugene street when the plane began disgorging the disks. They seemed to be about two feet in diameter, and were fastened together. A dozen or more were dropped.

His eyes returned to the road momentarily, he said, and when he looked again he couldn't find them.

Newspapermen were trying to identify the plane and find the disks.

PARIS, JULY 4-(AP)-FRENCH OFFICIALS PREDICTED TODAY THAT THE FORTHCOMING EUROPEAN CONFERENCE ON THE MARSHALL RECOVERY PLAN WOULD BE BRIEF, AS FRANCE AND BRITAIN AWAITED REPLIES FROM 22 NATIONS INVITED TO JOIN THEM IN THE MEETING HERE A WEEK FROM TOMORROW.

THE FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTRY SENT THE JOINT INVITATIONS LAST NIGHT TO PARIS EMBASSIES AND FOREIGN MINISTRIES ABROAD OF EVERY SIZABLE EUROPEAN COUNTRY EXCEPT THE SOVIET UNION AND SPAIN. THE CONFERENCE WILL WORK FROM BRITISH-FRENCH PROPOSALS.

SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV TURNED DOWN THESE PROPOSALS WEDNESDAY IN THE BREAKUP OF A THREE-POWER PARIS MEETING, BUT THE BRITISH-FRENCH OFFER WAS LEFT OPEN TO "ALL EUROPEAN STATES," EXCEPT SPAIN SO LONG AS SHE REMAINED UNDER FRANCO.

BECAUSE OF THE DUPLICATED INVITATION, THE REPLIES MAY BE GIVEN EITHER HERE OR IN FOREIGN CAPITALS. DIPLOMATIC QUARTERS SAID THAT IN THE USUAL CASE THE FOREIGN MINISTER LIKELY WOULD REPLY TO THE FRENCH ENVOY IN HIS OWN CAPITAL, SO THAT ALL THE ANSWERS MIGHT NOT BE IN TILL EARLY NEXT WEEK.

THE CONFERENCE WILL BE IN LINE WITH SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE C. MARSHALL'S JUNE 5 OFFER, AT HARVARD UNIVERSITY, OF UNITED STATES HELP IN ANY JOINT EUROPEAN RECOVERY EFFORT.

A BRITISH-FRENCH COMMUNIQUE YESTERDAY MENTIONED NO OTHER FUNCTION FOR THE MEETING THAN TO SET UP A "TEMPORARY ORGANIZATION" TO GATHER DATA ON EUROPE'S RESOURCES AND NEEDS AND DRAW UP A CONTINENTAL RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM.

ACCORDINGLY, FRENCH OFFICIAL QUARTERS FORECAST THAT THE CONFERENCE WOULD LAST ONLY TWO OR THREE DAYS, IF THAT LONG, SINCE THE PARTICIPANTS PRESUMABLY WOULD HAVE AGREED TO THE PRINCIPLE OF INTER-EUROPEAN ECONOMIC COORDINATION.

AS A BASIS FOR ACTION, THE CONFERENCE WILL HAVE BRITISH-FRENCH PROPOSALS TO CREATE A GENERAL EUROPEAN STEERING COMMITTEE WITH SOME SPECIALIZED SUBCOMMITTEES ON FOOD, FUEL AND POWER, TRANSPORT, STEEL AND IRON, FINANCES AND RAW MATERIALS.

THE DELEGATES WILL BE FREE TO MODIFY THIS PLAN AND DECIDE FINALLY HOW MNY COMMITTEES TO APPOINT AND WHAT NATIONS TO PUT ON THEM. FRANCE AND BRITAIN, AS MAJOR SPONSORING POWERS, PROPOSE THAT THEY BE GIVEN PLACES ON ALL COMMITTEES.

JUL 1947

A25

UNDER THEIR PLAN, THESE COMMITTEES--NOT THE DELEGATES--WILL HAVE THE JOB OF WORKING OUT DETAILS OF THE PROGRAM, FINDING OUT WHAT EUROPE HAS OR CAN PRODUCE AND FIGURING OUT WHAT SHE NEEDS FROM THE U.S.

HENCE, THE CONFERENCE IS EXPECTED TO BE DEVOTED MAINLY TO QUESTIONS OF PROCEDURE AND SHOULD NOT, SAID FRENCH OFFICIALS, TAKE MUCH TIME.

FRENCH QUARTERS SAID THE INVITED NATIONS NEED NOT SEND STAFFS OF EXPERTS, THOUGH TYE MIGHT IF THEY WISHED. THEY EXPECTED MOST OF THE ACCEPTING COUNTRIES TO BE REPRESENTED AT THE CONFERENCE BY THEIR PARIS AMBASSADORS ACTING ON INSTRUCTIONS FROM HOME.

THEY SAID THEY DID NOT KNOW YET WHETHER THE SESSIONS WOULD BE OPEN TO REPORTERS--LIKE THE PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE--OR "COVERED" FOR PRESS AND RADIO BY NATIONAL PRESS ATTACHES--LIKE THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS' SESSIONS.

THEY CONSIDERED UNLIKELY SUCH A NEWS BLACKOUT AS SHROUDED THE FIRST SESSIONS OF THE THREE-POWER PARLEY HERE.

THE FRENCH HAVE NOT YET DECIDED WHERE THE CONFERENCE IS TO BE. MOST OFTEN MENTIONED IS THE PALAIS DE CHAILLOT, SEMI-CIRCULAR EDIFICE BUILT FOR THE 1936 PARIS WORLD'S FAIR.

INVITED TO THE MEETING WERE ALBANIA, BULGARIA, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, DENMARK, EIRE, FINLAND, AUSTRIA, BELGIUM, ITALY, LUXEMBOURG, THE NETHERLANDS, GREECE, HUNGARY, ICELAND, ROMANIA, SWEDEN, SWITZERLAND, TURKEY AND YUGOSLAVIA. NORWAY, POLAND, PORTUGAL,

FOLO PARIS

LONDON, JULY 4-(AP)-A BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN EXPRESSED HOPE TODAY THAT NO GREAT POWER WOULD INLUENCE EUROPEAN STATES IN THEIR FREE CHOICE OF WHETHER TO JOIN THE PROJECTED PARIS CONFERENCE ON THE MARSHALL RECOVERY PLAN.

THE SPOKESMAN, WITH REFERENCE TO YESTERDAY'S BRITISH-FRENCH INVITATIONS TO 22 NATIONS TO JOIN IN THE CONFERENCE, SAID IN AN UNSOLICITED STATEMENT AT A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT AT THREE-POWER PARIS TALKS RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER V. M. MOLOTOV STRESSED THE PRINCIPLE THAT GREAT POWERS SHOULD NOT INTERFERE IN SMALL NATIONS' INTERNAL AFFAIRS.

"THAT IS AN EXCELLENT PRINCIPLE," THE SPOKESMAN DECLARED. "WE HOPE THAT ALL EUROPEAN GOVERNMENTS INVITED TO PARIS ON JULY 12 WILL BE LEFT COMPLETELY FREE AND UNINFLUENCED BY EVERY GREAT POWER TO MAKE THEIR OWN DECISIONS IN THEIR OWN AND THEIR PEOPLE'S INTERESTS AND IN ACCORDANCE WITH WHAT THEY TO BE THEIR ECONOMIC NEEDS."

UNDATED EUROPEAN ECONOMIC REACTION

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OFFICIALS OF COUNTRIES UNDER SOVIET INFLUENCE GENERALLY REFRAINED TODAY FROM COMMITTING THEMSELVES ON YESTERDAY'S BRITISH-FRENCH CALL--DESPITE SOVIET ALOOFNESS--OF A PARIS CONFERENCE JULY 12 TO IMPLEMENT THE MARSHALL RECOVERY PROGRAM.

SEVERAL NATIONS HAVING CLOSE POLITICAL OR TRADE RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA WERE AMONG THE 22 INVITED TO JOIN BRITAIN AND FRANCE IN THE MEETING.

THE BREAKUP OF THREE-POWER PARIS TALKS ON THE PLAN WEDNESDAY AND THE SUBSEQUENT INVITATION PROVOKED THESE REACTIONS OVER EUROPE:

SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V. M. MOLOTOV'S STAND AGAINST THE PLAN COMPLICATED

POLAND--FOR 13N CIRCLES SAID [illegible] EJECTED

THE POSITION OF THE WARSAW GOVERNMENT, TIED POLITICALLY TO RUSSIA BUT LOOKING TO THE U. S. FOR ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE.

YUGOSLAVIA--NO OFFICIAL STATEMENT WAS FORTHCOMING, BUT OFFICIAL CIRCLES WERE REPORTED SURPRISED AND SOMEWHAT DISAPPOINTED.

ROMANIA--ROMANIANS WERE SAID TO BE DISAPPOINTED AT THE BREAKDOWN OF THE PARIS TALKS, THOUGH THEY HAD EXPECTED IT.

NORWAY--OFFICIALS SAID NORWAY WOULD BACK THE PLAN IF IT TURNED OUT TO BE A SOUND INTERNATIONAL TRADE AGREEMENT; NOT DIRECTED AGAINST ANY COUNTRY.

BELGIUM--PREMIER PAUL-HENRI SPAAK TOLD THE SENATE IT WOULD BE CRIMINAL TO MISS THE OPPORTUNITY OFFERED.

ITALY--THE GOVERNMENT HAILED A NEW INTERMINISTERIAL COMMITTEE

WOULD MEET MONDAY TO STUDY THE QUESTION OF ITALY'S ROLE.

SWITZERLAND--THERE WAS NO OFFICIAL REACTION. SPECULATION WAS THAT SWITZERLAND WOULD CONTINUE A CAUTIOUS MIDDLE-OF-THE-ROAD POLICY BECAUSE OF HER CONTINUED DEPENDENCE ON THE U. S. SIDE BY SIDE WITH HER GROWING TRADE RELATIONS WITH POLAND, CZECHOSLOVAKIA AND THE BALKANS.

SWEDEN--THE FOREIGN OFFICE DECLINED COMMENT. POLITICAL CIRCLES EXPRESSED BELIEF SWEDEN MIGHT CONSULT WITH NORWAY AND DENMARK ON A COMMON POSITION. THEY SPECULATED THAT RUSSIA'S STAND MIGHT AFFECT SWEDEN'S ATTITUDE.

JUL 1947

MOSCOW NEWSPAPERS, WHICH HAD GIVEN MUCH SPACE TO THE BREAKUP OF THE PARIS TALKS, HAD NOT YET PUBLISHED NEWS TODAY OF THE BRITISH-FRENCH INVITATION. THE RADIO ANNOUNCED IN A MORNING BROADCAST MOLOTOV'S RETURN BY PLANE LAST NIGHT.

IN LONDON, THE INFLUENTIAL TIMES COMMENTED EDITORIALLY THAT IF RUSSIA IRREVOCABLY TURNED HER BACK ON THE MARSHALL PLAN, POLAND, CZECHOSLOVAKIA AND OTHER SMALL EASTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES PROBABLY WOULD FOLLOW, HARMING "POLITICAL RELATIONS" AND "THE CONFIDENCE UPON WHICH TRADE DEPENDS."

THE WEEKLY NEWS STATESMAN AND NATION SAID,

"THE DIVISION BETWEEN TWO WORLDS X X X IS ADMITTED AND THE PRETENSE OF COOPERATION ABANDONED. IT URGES THAT BEVIN AND BIDAULT GO AHEAD PROMPTLY WITH OTHER POWERS IN PLANS FOR X GETTING THEIR AMERICAN AID, WITH THE ONLY ALTERNATIVE THAT WE SHOULD VOLUNTARILY STARVE OR GO BANKRUPT."

JUL 1947

IN COPENHAGEN, DENMARK'S COMMUNIST PARTY ORGAN, LAND OG FOLK, SAID, "IF DENMARK IS GOING TO PARTICIPATE IN DELIBERATIONS ON

IN OSLO, THE CONSERVATIVE AFTENPOSTEN EXPRESSED HOPE RUSSIA HAD NOT SAID HER LAST WORD.

"IT IS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE IN THAT ALL EASTERN EUROPE COOPERATE IN CARRYING OUT THE PLAN," THE NORWEGIAN PAPER ADDED. "IT SHOULD NOT BE NECESSARY TO TALK ABOUT HOSTILITY, EVEN THOUGH DIFFERENT MEANS AND WAYS OF RECONSTRUCTION ARE CHOSEN; DIFFERENT OPINIONS DO NOT EXCLUDE FRIENDSHIP." (more)

LONDON, JULY 4-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE PRESENTED A 20-CLAUSE INDIAN INDEPENDENCE BILL TO THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TODAY, THUS BRINGING CONSTITUTIONAL FREEDOM ONE STAGE NEARER FOR 400,000,000 PEOPLE ON THE SPRAWLING SUBCONTINENT.

PASSAGE OF THE BILL WAS REGARDED AS CERTAIN, SINCE IT HAS SUPPORT OF BOTH LABORITES AND CONSERVATIVES.

THE EARL OF LISTOWEL, SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THE BILL WAS "UNIQUE" IN BRITAIN'S LEGISLATIVE HISTORY BECAUSE "NEVER BEFORE HAS SO LARVE A PROPORTION OF THE WORLD'S POPULATION ACHIEVED COMPLETE INDEPENDENCE BY ORDINARY CONSTITUTIONAL PROCESSES."

BECAUSE "NEVER BEFORE HAS SO LARGE A PROPORTION OF THE WORLD'S POPULATION ACHIEVED COMPLETE INDEPENDENCE BY ORDINARY CONSTITUTIONAL PROCESSES."

THE BILL PROVIDES PRINCIPALLY FOR CREATION OF TWO NEW COMMONWEALTH DOMINIONS ON AUG. 15--THE DOMINION OF "INDIA," WHICH WILL BE A HINDU STATE, AND THE DOMINION OF PAKISTAN, A MOSLEM STATE.

ONE SECTION OF THE BILL PROVIDES THAT ONE PERSON CAN BE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF BOTH DOMINIONS. SPECULATION IN NEW DELHI AND LONDON WAS THAT THE MOSLEM AND HINDU CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLIES WILL ASK BRITAIN TO APPOINT VICEROY LORD MOUNTBATTEN TO THE POST.

LISTOWEL SAID THE DATE FOR WITHDRAWAL OF BRITISH TROOPS FROM PAKISTAN AND INDIAN TERRITORY WAS BEING ACTIVELY CONSIDERED. HE DID NOT SAY, WHEN PRESSED, WHETHER THE TROOPS WOULD LEAVE THE ENTIRE REGION OF THE SUBCONTINENT.

LONDON, JULY 4-(AP)-A BILL TO GIVE FREEDOM TO THE PEOPLE OF INDIA WAS INTRODUCED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TODAY--171 YEARS TO THE DAY SINCE BRITAIN'S AMERICAN COLONIES DECLARED THEMSELVES INDEPENDENT.

PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE PRESENTED THE BILL, WHICH WAS GIVEN A FORMAL FIRST READING. IT PROVIDES FOR THE SETTING UP OF TWO INDEPENDENT INDIAN STATES, HINDUSTAN AND PAKISTAN, WHICH TEMPORARILY AT LEAST WILL BE MEMBERS OF THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH.

CONSERVATIVES ARE NOT OPPOSING THE BILL, AND SPEEDY APPROVAL BY BOTH HOUSES OF PARLIAMENT IS ASSURED.

LONDON, JULY 4-(AP)-A MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT SAID TODAY HE WOULD ASK THE SECRETARY FOR WAR TO REVIEW THE CASE OF OLIVE REYNOLDS 21-YEAR-OLD BRITISH GIRL WHO SOUGHT QUEEN ELIZABETH'S AID IN HER PLEA TO MARRY A GERMAN WAR PRISONER SHE CLAIMS FATHERED HER 11-WEEK-OLD DAUGHTER.

LABORITE T.C.SKEFFINGTON-LODGE OF COMMONS SAID HE WOULD REFER THE CASE TO THE BRITISH WAR OFFICE, WHICH RECENTLY ANNOUNCED THAT A STATEMENT ON MARRIAGE OF GERMAN PRISONERS WOULD BE MADE SOON.

WIDESPREAD ATTENTION HAS BEEN FOCUSSED ON THE CASE, INVOLVING WERNER VETTER, 22-YEAR-OLD GERMAN PW WHO WAS SENTENCED TO A ONE-YEAR-PRISON TERM BY A COURT MARTIAL ON A CHARGE OF "IMPROPERLY ASSOCIATING" WITH THE GIRL. 1947

THE REYNOLDS GIRL WROTE QUEEN ELIZABETH THAT "IF HE SHOULD GET A SENTENCE, I SHOULD GET ONE AS WELL, AS I AM JUST AS MUCH TO BLAME AS HE IS."

PARIS, JULY 4-(AP)-"BUT I'M A GENERAL," PROTESTED RETIRED GEN. JEAN CASIMIR MERSON UPON BEING HANDCUFFED AT HIS ARREST ON A CHARGE OF COMPLICITY IN A REPORTED RIGHTIST REVOLUTIONARY PLOT.

"FOR THE MOMENT, YOU ARE ONLY A PRISONER," SAID ONE OF THE POLICEMEN WHO YESTERDAY TOOK INTO CUSTODY THE EX RESISTANCE LEADER AND FORMER FRENCH MILITARY ATTACHE TO THE STOCKHOLM AND BELGRADE LEGATIONS.

ROGER LERAT, PRINTER, ALSO WAS ARRESTED YESTERDAY IN CONNECTION WITH THE ALLEGED CONSPIRACY, DISCLOSED BY THE GOVERNMENT MONDAY.

POLICE SAID THAT IN HIS HOME THEY FOUND LETTERHEADS FOR THE GENERAL COMMISSARIATE OF THE INTERIOR, ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN PLANNED AS PART OF THE REVOLUTIONARY DIRECTORATE, AND BONDS TO BE NEGOTIABLE UNDER THAT GOVERNMENT.

PREMIER PAUL RAMADIER TOLD CORRESPONDENTS GEN.EDUARD DE LARMINAT, RELIEVED WEDNESDAY OF THE ASSIGNMENT OF INSPECTOR GENERAL OF FRENCH COLONIAL FORCES, HAD HAD NO PART IN THE CONSPIRACY. HE SAID DE LARMINAT MERELY HAD USED "INADMISSIBLE" TERMS IN PROTESTING THAT THE MURDER TRIAL OF A MARQUISARDS ASSOCIATION MEMBER SHOULD BE SHIFTED FROM A CIVIL TO A MILITARY COURT. THE PREMIER SAID THE GENERAL HAD BEEN CALLED BACK FROM THE CAMEROONS TO EXPLAIN.

ROME, JULY 4-(AP)-MRS. JUAN D.PERON, THE WIFE OF ARGENTINA'S PRESIDENT WHO IS NOW VISITING IN ITALY, CALLED TODAY AT THE VILLA TAVERNA RESIDENCE OF U.S. AMBASSADOR AND MRS.JAMES C.DUNN AND WISHED THEM A "HAPPY FOURTH OF JULY."

ROME, JULY 4-(AP)-ITALIAN PREMIER ALCIDE DE GASPERI--FACED WITH GROWING LEFTIST HOSTILITY OVER HIGH LIVING COSTS--PREPARED TODAY TO WAGE ALL-OUT WAR ON BLACK MARKETEERS AND CONCENTRATE ON IMPORTING FATS, MEAT, SUGAR AND OTHER SCARCE ESSENTIALS.

HIS COMMUNIST-LESS CABINET YESTERDAY ALSO PROMISED TO MAKE A SPECIAL DISTRIBUTION OF RATIONED GOODS TO LOW WAGE GROUPS AND STOP CLANDESTINE EXPORTS OF FOOD.

THE HAGUE, JULY 4-(AP)-UNITED STATES SENATOR THOMAS (D-UTAH) SAID TODAY THAT THE "UNITED STATES WILL NOT IMPOSE THEIR WILL OR THEIR IDEAS ON ANY NATION, BUT THEY DO STAND TO HELP WHEN IT IS ASKED FOR AND TO COOPERATE WITH THE NATIONS OF THE WORLD TO WORK OUT ECONOMIC PROBLEMS."

PARIS, JULY 4-(AP)-FRENCH OFFICIALS PREDICTED TODAY THAT FRANCE WOULD JOIN A SOUTHEAST ASIA CONSULTATIVE COMMITTEE FOR ECONOMIC AND CULTURAL RELATIONS AS RECOMMENDED BY THE FRANCO-SIAMESE CONCILIATION COMMISSION. THE NEW ORGANIZATION WOULD BE ESTABLISHED AT BANGKOK.

THE CONCILIATION COMMISSION, SITTING AT WASHINGTON, RULED THAT THE FRONTIER BETWEEN SIAM AND INDOCHINA SHOULD REVERT TO THE LINE ESTABLISHED BY TREATY IN 1907. THIS WOULD ANNUL THE TERRITORIAL CESSIONS FORCED UPON THE VICHY REGIME BY THE JAPANESE IN 1941.

SIAM ALREADY HAD AGREED IN PRINCIPLE TO RETURN THE BASSAC AND BATTAMBANG TERRITORIES AND THE RIGHT BANK OF THE MEKONG RIVER TO INDOCHINA. BUT SHE ASKED ECONOMIC CONCESSIONS, PRINCIPALLY TO GIVE POPULATIONS ALONG THE UPPER MEKONG ACCESS TO FISH SUPPLIES FROM THE GREAT LAKE OF WESTERN CAMBODIA.

IN ANSWERITO THESE SIAMESE REQUESTS, THE COMMISSION URGED THE FORMATION OF AN INTERNATIONAL CONSULTATIVE COMMISSION, INCLUDING REPRESENTATIVES OF FRANCE, SIAM AND NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES, TO IMPROVE COMMERCIAL, CULTURAL AND ECONOMIC RELATIONS.

ROME, JULY 4-(AP)-IN THIS ELDERLY CITY THE WORLD'S YOUNGEST REPUBLIC CELEBRATED ITS FIRST BIRTHDAY TODAY.

VICE PRESIDENT ELPIDIO QUIRINO OF THE PHILIPPINES, HERE TO WORK OUT A TREATY OF FRIENDSHIP WITH ITALY, HAD A LUNCHEON AT WHICH ITALIAN FOREIGN MINISTER CARLO SFORZA, THE UNITED STATES, BRITISH AND CHINESE AMBASSADORS AND THE FRENCH CHARGE D'AFFAIRES ALL WISHED HIS NATION HAPPY BIRTHDAY.

CHINESE AMBASSADOR YU TSUNE CHI CITED ONE OF THE MANY STORIES OF PHILIPPINE HEROISM DURING WORLD WAR II AS PROOF THAT THE NEW REPUBLIC WAS PREPARED TO "CERTIFY" ITS FAITH IN FREEDOM AND DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES.

SFORZA CALLED UPON THE PHILIPPINES TO PLAY THEIR PART IN A UNITED WORLD WHILE QUIRINO PAID TRIBUTE TO THE UNITED STATES FOR KEEPING ITS WORD BY GIVING THE ISLANDS THEIR INDEPENDENCE.

POINTING OUT THAT THERE HAD BEEN TWO PREVIOUS PHILIPPINE REPUBLICS, THAT OF EMILIO AGUINALDO DURING THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR AND THAT THE JAPANESE SET UP DURING WORLD WAR II, QUIRINO SAID: "THE FIRST WAS BORN OF FORCE OF ARMS, THE SECOND OF ENTICEMENT, THE THIRD OF NOBLE REDEMPTION OF THE PLIGHTED WORD.

"THE FIRST WAS CONCEIVED IN DESPAIR, THE SECOND IN DISGRACE, THE THIRD IN DIGNITY."

BEN-GURION WAS THE FIRST WITNESS AT A HEARING OF THE JEWISH CASE. HE TRACED ZIONIST EFFORTS TO ACHIEVE A JEWISH HOMELAND AND STATEHOOD IN PALESTINE.

"TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS AGO ENGLAND UNDERTOOK, AND I BELIEVE SINCERELY UNDERTOOK, THE TAST OF SETTLING LARGE NUMBERS OF JEWS IN PALESTINE SUFFICIENT TO BUILD A JEWISH STATE," HE ASSERTED. "SHE FAILED IN HER TASK."

SUCH A TASK, HE SAID, WAS "DIFFICULT," ADDING THAT IF THE MANDATORY (BRITAIN) REFUSED TO MAKE THESE EFFORTS AND TO SURMOUNT THESE DIFFICULTIES."

THE JEWISH AGENCY, HE CONTINUED, ENCOUNTERED "EVEN GREATER DIFFICULTIES THAN THE MANDATORY. WE MET NOT ONLY WITH ARAB OPPOSITION X X X WE WERE HANDICAPPED BY LACK OF EXPERIENCE AND LACK OF MEANS."

A75

"WHAT A SINGLE MANDATORY CANNOT DO, JOINT TRUSTEESHIP WILL BE ABLE TO DO FAR LESS," BEN-GURION DECLARED. "INTENSIVE DEVELOPMENT AND LARGE SCALE IMMIGRATION REQUIRE DYNAMIC ADMINISTRATION. X X X AN ADMINISTRATION TAKING DIRECTIVES FROM DIFFERENT GOVERNMENTS CAN HARDLY PERFORM A TASK OF THIS NATURE."

"NOR CAN YOU SETTLE THE PROBLEM BY SETTING UP A BINATIONAL STATE," HE CONTINUED, ADDING THAT SUCH A STATE "CAN MEAN ONLY PARITY--EITHER PARITY OF POPULATION OR PARITY OF GOVERNMENT."

HE CONTENDED THAT "PARITY OF POPULATION IS BIOLOGICALLY AND POLITICALLY IMPOSSIBLE" AND THAT "PARITY IN GOVERNMENT MEANS PERMANENT DEADLOCK."

"ONLY BY ESTABLISHING PALESTINE AS A JEWISH STATE CAN THE TRUE OBJECTIVES BE ACCOMPLISHED--IMMIGRATION AND STATEHOOD FOR JEWS, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND SOCIAL PROGRESS FOR ARABS," HE SAID.

PREVENTING PALESTINE'S 600,000 JEWS FROM BECOMING A MAJORITY AND ACHIEVING STATEHOOD, BEN-GURION SAID, WOULD DEPRIVE "MILLIONS OF JEWS WHO ARE STILL LEFT IN THE WORLD OF INDEPENDENCE AND STATEHOOD. IN NO OTHER PLACE CAN THEY HAVE THE DESIRE OR PROSPECT OF ATTAINING STATEHOOD."

HE CONTENDED THAT "AN ARAB MINORITY IN PALESTINE, BEING SURROUNDED BY ARAB STATES, WOULD REMAIN SAFE IN NATIONAL ASSOCIATION WITH THEIR RACE."

"BUT A JEWISH MINORITY IN AN ARAB STATE," HE DECLARED, "EVEN WITH THE MOST IDEAL PAPER GUARANTEE, WOULD MEAN FINAL EXTINCTION OF JEWISH HOPE, NOT IN PALESTINE ALONE BUT FOR ENTIRE JEWISH PEOPLE, FOR NATIONAL EQUALITY AND INDEPENDENCE, WITH ALL THE DISASTROUS CONSEQUENCES SO FAMILIAR IN JEWISH HISTORY. X X X

"THE FATE OF THE JEWISH MINORITY IN PALESTINE WILL NOT DIFFER FROM THE FATE OF THE JEWISH MINORITY IN ANY OTHER COUNTRY EXCEPT THAT HERE IT MIGHT BE MUCH WORSE."

JUL 1947

BEN-GURION, IN LATER TESTIMONY, GAVE THE FIRST OFFICIAL JEWISH EXPRESSION OF THE POSSIBILITY THAT JEWISH LEADERS MIGHT CONSIDER PARTITION OF PALESTINE. REFERRING EXTEMPORANEOUSLY TO THE PRESENTATION OF THE MORRISON PLAN FOR FEDERATION, HE TOLD THE COMMISSION:

"WE SAID THEN IT COULD NOT BE ACCEPTED AS A BASIS FOR DISCUSSION, BUT WE ARE READY TO CONSIDER THE QUESTION OF A VIABLE JEWISH STATE — (A STATE CAPABLE OF SELF-SUPPORT WITHIN PALESTINE.)"

REFERRING TO THE PEEL COMMISSION WHICH FIRST RECOMMENDED PARTITION, BEN-GURION SAID:

"THE MAJORITY (OF JEWS) OPPOSED THE CONCRETE PROPOSALS OF THE COMMISSION MAINLY BECAUSE NEGEV, THE UNSETTLED, UNCULTIVATED PART OF SOUTHERN PALESTINE, WAS EXCLUDED, AS WELL AS JERUSALEM."

SPEAKING CALMLY, HE ASSERTED TO THE COMMISSION THAT "A THIRD OF OUR PEOPLE, ALMOST AS MANY AS THE WHOLE POPULATION OF SWEDEN, WERE MURDERED" IN EUROPE DURING THE WAR. HE SOBBED, AND HIS VOICE FALTERED

AFTER A RECESS, BEN-GURION SPOKE OF BRITISH MILITARY INCIDENTS IN PALESTINE, ASSERTING THAT "THERE HAVE BEEN OVER THE YEARS RECURRENT, UNOFFICIAL ASSAULTS BY POLICE AND THE MILITARY ON THE CIVIL POPULATION --IN PRISONS, IN DETENTION CAMPS AND IN THE STREETS." BUT HE ADDED:

"THERE WERE CASES OF SOLDIERS AND SAILORS RISKING THEIR LIVES TO SAVE REFUGEES FROM DROWNING AND, CONSIDERING THE SPIRIT OF THE REGIME AND THE VIRTUAL LAWLESSNESS WHICH IT HAS ESTABLISHED IN THE COUNTRY, IT IS A MATTER OF SURPRISE THAT UNOFFICIAL ASSAULTS WERE SO FEW."

HE SPOKE FOR TWO HOURS AND 25 MINUTES AND WAS QUESTIONED A SHORT WHILE BY COMMISSION MEMBERS. THE HEARING WAS ADJOURNED UNTIL SUNDAY.

COMMITTEE SOURCES SAID THE JEWISH AGENCY EXPECTED TO TAKE THREE AND A HALF DAYS PRESENTING TESTIMONY. THE COMMITTEE, WHICH WILL NOT MEET SATURDAY (THE JEWISH SABBATH), HAS SET JULY 20 AS TARGET DATE FOR COMPLETION OF THE INQUIRY.

NO ARABS SO FAR HAVE BEEN SCHEDULED TO APPEAR AT THE HEARINGS AND THE ARAB HIGHER EXECUTIVE IS MAINTAINING A RIGID BOYCOTT AGAINST THE U.N. COMMITTEE.

SHANGHAI, FRIDAY, JULY 4-(AP)-REGISTRATION OPENED TODAY FOR SOVIET RESIDENTS OF CHINA WISHING TO ACCEPT MOSCOW'S OFFER OF REPATRIATION TO RUSSIA--A COMPLETE REVERSAL OF PREVIOUS RUSSIAN POLICY OF CLOSING THE DOOR TO SUCH PEOPLE.

REGISTRATION WILL CONTINUE FOR THREE DAYS, WITH REPATRIATION ON A FIRST-COME, FIRST-SERVED BASIS. THOSE WISHING TO RETURN TO RUSSIA WERE PROMISED JOBS, GUARANTEED FOOD AND HOUSING, EXEMPTED FROM CUSTOMS DUTIES, AND PROMISED LOANS FOR FURNISHING OR REPAIRING THEIR NEW RESIDENCES. ALL TRAVEL COSTS ALSO ARE TO BE BORNE BY THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT.

THERE WAS NO IMMEDIATE INDICATION HOW MANY MIGHT ACCEPT.

NANKING, JULY 4-(AP)-CHINA'S STATE COUNCIL TODAY APPROVED, AT THE PERSONAL REQUEST OF CHIANG KAI-SHEK, A KUOMINTANG (GOVERNMENT PARTY) RESOLUTION CALLING FOR TOTAL MOBILIZATION OF MANPOWER AND RESOURCES FOR A FINISH FIGHT AGAINST CHINESE COMMUNISTS, THE "ENEMIES OF THE STATE."

THE GENERALISSIMO, DESCRIBING THE COMMUNISTS AS "BANDITS," SAID TOTAL MOBILIZATION IS NECESSARY IN ORDER TO END THE BLOCKADE OF PEACEFUL RECONSTRUCTION AND PERMIT REALIZATION OF CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT.

THE RESOLUTION CALLED FOR IMPROVED METHODS OF CONSCRIPTING TROOPS, AND FOR MORE EFFECTIVE MEASURES TO INSURE ADEQUATE FOOD FOR THEM.

(THERE WAS NO EXPLANATION OF THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN "TOTAL MOBILIZATION" AND THE PRESENT STATE OF AFFAIRS.)

TOKYO, SATURDAY, JULY 5-(AP)-MANY JAPANESE APPEARED SHOCKED AND UNEASY TODAY AFTER PUBLICATION OF THE GOVERNMENT'S ECONOMIC "WHITE PAPER" WHICH OUTLINED TOUGH TIMES AHEAD.

THEY SEEMED GENERALLY UNPREPARED FOR WHAT THEY CONSIDERED A SUDDEN BLAST OF GOVERNMENTAL FRANKNESS. THE DOCUMENT, ISSUED YESTERDAY TO ALL DIET COMMITTEES, REPORTED NOTHING NEW FUNDAMENTALLY, BUT PREVIOUS PIECEMEAK REVELATIONS OF THE DETERIORATING ECONOMY HAD BEEN BLANKETED BY VAGUE OFFICIAL STATEMENTS.

NEWSPAPERS, DETAILING THE REPORT IN SPECIAL FOUR-PAGE EDITIONS, STRESSED THE DISCLOSURE THAT THE OFFICIAL FOOD RATION WOULD BE 28 DAYS BEHIND BY NEXT FALL. MOST JAPANESE HAD THOUGHT RECENT GOOD CROPS HAD IMPROVED THE OUTLOOK.

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE NIPPON TIMES EXPRESSED BELIEF EDITORIALLY THAT "UNREST OVER FOOD IS APT TO JEOPARDIZE ALL OF THE GOVERNMENT'S ELABORATE ADMINISTRATIVE AND LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM."

THE WHITE PAPER REPORTED AN IMPENDING INDUSTRIAL CRISIS, A MOUNTING NATIONAL DEBT, SPIRALING COST OF LIVING AND A DETERIORATION OF NATIONAL HEALTH. TOKYO NEWSPAPERS COMMENDED THE GOVERNMENT'S FRANKNESS, BUT DEPLORED THE ABSENCE OF ANY CONCRETE PLANS FOR SOLVING THE PROBLEMS.

TOKYO, JULY 4-(AP)-THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT ISSUED AN ECONOMIC "WHITE PAPER" TODAY REPLETE WITH FIGURES TO SHOW THAT THE PEOPLE HAVE NOT FULLY REALIZED YET THE "PROFOUND MISERY OUR MILITARY LEADERS BROUGHT UPON US."

ISSUED TO ALL DIET COMMITTEES, THE WHITE PAPER PORTRAYED A NATION SLIPPING STEADILY CLOSER TO THE BRINK OF CHAOS.

IT MADE THESE POINTS:

THE GOVERNMENT IS OPERATING AT A DEFICIT. (SOME OBSERVERS, INCLUDING THE ALLIED HEADQUARTERS' BANKING CHIEF, ASSERT, HOWEVER, THE GOVERNMENT IS DELIBERATELY ATTEMPTING TO DEBASE ITS OWN CURRENCY AND TO INCREASE INFLATION.)

INDUSTRIAL CRISIS IS APPROACHING, WITH STOCKPILES LOWER, REPAIRS AND REPLACEMENTS NOT OBTAINABLE.

THE NATIONAL DEBT TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES IS INCREASING. (JAPAN ALREADY OWES THE UNITED STATES AN ESTIMATED $300,000,000.)

NATIONAL HEALTH IS DETERIORATING; COST OF LIVING IS OUTSPRINTING WAGE BOOSTS, STAPLE FOOD PRODUCTION IS FALLING OFF; INDUSTRIAL LOANS ARE BEING USED TO PAY INCREASED WAGES AND PRODUCTION COSTS RATHER THAN TO FINANCE ADDITIONAL PRODUCTION.

POPULATION IS 12 PERCENT GREATER THAN 12 YEARS AGO AND LABOR IS ONE-THIRD LESS PRODUCTIVE THAN IN PRE-WAR YEARS.

THE "PAPER" OFFERED NO ANSWER FOR ANY OF THE PROBLEMS.

TOKYO, SATURDAY, JULY 5-(AP)-ALLIED HEADQUARTERS REPORTED TODAY THAT MORE THAN 1,500,000 JAPANESE SOLDIERS AND CIVILIANS HAD BEEN REPATRIATED FROM SOVIET AREAS OR ZONES FORMERLY UNDER RUSSIAN CONTROL BUT THAT NEARLY 1,000,000 OTHERS AWAITED REPATRIATION.

THE REPORT, COVERING ACTIVITIES THROUGH JUNE, SAID A TOTAL OF 5,551,634 JAPANESE HAD BEEN RETURNED TO THE HOME ISLANDS. OF THAT NUMBER, 2,661,079 WERE IN MILITARY SERVICE.

Truman Believed Still Hopeful Of Russ Accord

JUL 1947

Charlottesville, Va., July 5 (AP)—President Truman today awaited world reaction to his Independence Day address denouncing as "folly" Russia's stand against a proposal for a joint European recovery plan.

Close associates said they believe Mr. Truman clings to the hope that the Soviet Union may yet decide to go along with the suggestion by Secretary of State Marshall, despite the breakup of a preliminary conference in Paris.

Speaking to a holiday crowd at Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, Mr. Truman yesterday sharply denounced Russia's argument that the Marshall plan would mean the surrender of self-determination for the nations of Europe.

"Fallacious" Reasoning

"This is as fallacious," he said, "as the refusal of a man to enter a profitable business partnership on the ground that it would involve interference in his private affairs."

At no point did he mention Russia by name, but the target of his remarks was obvious.

He called for an end to "organized mistrust," which he said leads the world's people away from "peace and unity."

"Folly Of Nationalism"

He said there should be no more "propaganda attacks upon other nations" and suggested that after two world wars all countries should appreciate "the folly of a nationalism so extreme as to block economic planning among nations for peaceful reconstruction."

Mr. Truman said one requisite for peace is for "all nations and all peoples" to "break down the artificial barriers that separate them."

He appealed for "a free flow of knowledge and ideas that alone can lead to a harmonious world" and added: "Unfortunately a number of countries maintain barriers against the flow of information and ideas into, or out of, their territories."

"Barriers . . . Of Distortion"

He said one of them, "behind barriers of their own creation," give their citizens "carefully selected or distorted versions of the facts about other countries."

Today Mr. Truman enjoyed the luxury of "loafing" in this historic Virginia countryside.

Word came from the 210-acre estate of his week-end host, Stanley Woodward, State Department protocol officer, that the Chief Executive intends to "take it easy" until he returns to Washington by automobile tomorrow.

Russ Move Seen Boost To Aid Plan

Washington, July 5 (AP)—Russia's opposition to the Marshall plan for European recovery appears to have strengthened greatly the prospects that Congress will approve the plan and appropriate the billions necessary to put it over.

That is the opinion expressed today by both diplomatic and congressional authorities. They seemed agreed that all the latest developments here and abroad made the plan look better and better to those House and Senate members who have been highly suspicious of talk that Russia might "co-operate," because they no longer believe in Russia's good will.

Forced To Choose Sides

Acceptance of the Marshall plan inside the United States is probably almost as important to European governments as was its acceptance or rejection by Russia. For these governments are now being forced virtually to "choose up sides" between the American-British-French lineup and the Soviet Union. They do not want to take any unnecessary chances that the United States will let them down.

Some diplomatic authorities say the Marshall plan probably will provide the most critical test of bipartisan conduct of foreign policy since Congress passed the British loan program a year ago this month.

Envoys Watch Congress

And while their home governments go forward with responses to the Britsh-French invitation to meet in Paris July 12, European envoys watch every shift in the American, and particularly the congressional, attitude toward the program.

Essentially the plan is to develop an integrated European economy with financial aid from the United States.

The developments which are deeply influencing thinking at the Capitol are reliably said to have begun with the rejection of the plan by Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister. They were further said to embrace President Truman's denunciation yesterday of the Soviet stand as well as the latest British and French notes to Moscow urging the Soviets to reconsider Molotov's declaration of opposition.

Effect Held The Same

Both the President's Charlottesville (Va.) speech, describing as "folly" Soviet opposition to organized European recovery, and the new notes to Moscow were seen here as having substantially the same effect in terms of public and congressional opinion.

They serve to outline more sharply the stand taken by Russia and to strengthen on this issue the record being made by the Western powers against Russia. Diplomatic officials said they doubt that Britain and France really expect any change in the Moscow policy because that seems to have been unalterably fixed at the Paris conference.

However, it is explained here that the Western powers, including the United States, have been following an open-door policy toward Russia. This holds that the Russians must be given every opportunity to co-operate, and if they do not they have to bear the responsibility for it.

Not Always Popular

This policy has not always been popular with some substantial elements in Congress. These have argued that the Russians might make a show of co-operating, then play the United States for a sucker by getting all they could and giving nothing.

When Molotov therefore declared his absolute opposition against co-operation with Britain and France he apparently removed one of the most powerful arguments against the plan in Congress.

At the same time the Soviet Foreign Minister threw down a challenge to American leadership throughout the world by threatening with vague retaliatory acts the countries which follow that leadership. Whether this amounts to a Russian declaration of open economic warfare on the West remains to be seen. First indications may come from the visit to Moscow this week end of Czechoslovak Premier Klement Gottwald and Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister.

Would End Unity Hopes

If the Kremlin forces economic isolation of Czechoslovakia from the West, despite the country's natural economic leaning in that direction, then the split in Europe may be in fact as real as Molotov at Paris threatened it would be. In that case the Western powers may finally have to write off as a practical matter any hope for unification of Europe—including Germany and Austria—for an indefinite number of years.

In such a situation the direct responsibility of the United States is enormous and diplomatic officials contend that it leaves the nation with only two stark choices: Either to accept fully the responsibility of meeting the Russian challenge in Europe and paying the cost, or failing to meet it and bearing the consequences.

No Legal Obligation

Thus far the United States has undertaken no legal obligation to do anything for the countries of Europe. Only an act to Congress could so commit it.

However, under the President's constitutional power to handle foreign affairs, officials said that the Government, in putting forward the Marshall plan, has assumed a recognized moral responsibility and they predict that Congress will give full weight to this when the time comes for legislative action.

CONGRESS EXPECTS SPECIAL SESSION ON AID FOR EUROPE

Members of Both Parties Cite Need to Act on Marshall Plan.

Washington, July 5 (A. P.).—Congressmen of both parties acknowledged privately today that there is a fifty-fifty chance of a special session by October, primarily to work out a program for financing Europe's recovery.

The collapse of the Paris conference on the Marshall proposal to help European nations help themselves stimulated the possibility.

There is little disagreement in Congress on one basic point: the United States will continue its efforts for Europe's economic recovery. But on the question of how, where and when, a wide range of opinion has developed.

Agree on Need for Survey.

Congress seems generally agreed that the United States must blueprint the over-all requirements for the job and simultaneously weigh its own resources to determine how far it can go without breaking its own economy.

Such a survey has been suggested by former President Herbert Hoover, advocated by Bernard Baruch, and is a cornerstone of Secretary of State Marshall's European proposal. For lack of such a survey it appears that Congress will brush off during this session all pending measures which the State Department has been advocating to implement the country's foreign policy—barring an emergency.

That includes the plan to standardize the Western Hemisphere's arms and military training, the long-range program for an overseas information and educational exchange, and proposed immigration of 400,000 of Europe's war refugees over a four year period.

At the same time, there remains a definite possibility that Congress will refuse to vote the full appropriations for expenditures already authorized, such as the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program and the $350,000,000 for foreign relief in the liberated countries.

Anxiety of the part of leaders of both parties to preserve the bi-partisan approach to foreign policy problems thus might produce a special session this fall rather than let the issues go over to 1948, a presidential election year, when they might become involved in political acrimony.

Congress-Truman War Is Indicated

Washington, July 5 (AP)—Congress starts its cleanup round next week with indications pointing to an increase in the controversy, now bordering on open political warfare, between the lawmakers and President Truman on domestic issues.

Ahead, in the three weeks before the scheduled July 26 adjournment, lies a series of money bills for Government departments likely to be pruned far beyond the margin of expenditures the President has called "rock bottom."

Mr. Truman has already taken occasion to criticize congressional cuts in a similar measure, the Treasury-Post Office appropriations bill.

To Return In January

The President may get legislation to unify the armed forces in about the form he wants and may receive a presidential succession bill along the lines he recommended. But few other measures marked for congressional approval in the next three weeks seem likely to be pleasing to him.

Relations between the White House and Capitol Hill may be further apart than ever when the lawmakers come back to Washington in January for a presidential election year session.

Senator Hatch (D., N.M.), a close personal friend of the President, said he doesn't see much hope next session for the kind of domestic co-operation between the two branches of Government that Mr. Truman suggested before the present session began.

Blames Appeal To "Leftist"

"Perhaps this conflict is the inevitable result of having a division in the control of the Government between the two parties," he said. "Such divisions have always resulted in the past because of political differences and this one is no exception."

Senator Wherry, of Nebraska, the Republican whip, said he wants to be fair about it, but believes most of the blame for the sharp differences which have arisen can be attributed to what he called the bid by the President for "Leftist" support in the coming presidential campaign.

"He's getting further away from Congress all the time," Wherry said. "It probably will be worse in the next session, because the election will be nearer."

BRITAIN, FRANCE PUSH PARLEY PLANS

JUL 1947

Boycott By Some East European Nations Expected

London, July 5 (AP)—Britain and France tonight rushed preparations for the July 12 conference on the Marshall plan amid growing indications that at least some of the eastern European countries would follow Russia's lead and boycott the Paris meeting.

As acceptances of the invitation trickled in from the 22 invited nations, a British Foreign Office spokesman said Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, would come to London next week to discuss plans with Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary.

Up to tonight eleven countries had either accepted bids to the conference or had been represented by authoritative sources as likely to accept. The list included Italy, Portugal, Greece, Turkey, Eire, Belgium, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Iceland and the Netherlands.

Scandinavian Countries

While high sources in the three Scandinavian countries and Iceland had expressed the belief that they undoubtedly would attend the meeting, their final decision had not yet been announced.

The Foreign Ministers of Norway, Denmark and Sweden were expected to meet early next week to try to work out a common stand. The Cabinet of Iceland was expected to reach its decision at a meeting either tomorrow or Monday.

No official word had come from Austria, Switzerland and Luxembourg or from any of the eight Communist "fringe" countries of eastern Europe.

Some indication of the feeling in the eastern European bloc came from the Communist press in Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria which usually reflects government views.

"Hostile" To Soviet

The Budapest Communist newspaper Szabad Nep said in its leading editorial that acceptance of the invitation by Hungary would be considered "hostile" to the Soviet Union. In Bucharest, the Socialist newspaper Popolul echoed Communist editorial statements that "it is not necessary to participate."

Polish Government sources said Poland's decision would be made after Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz and Zygmunt Modzelewski, Foreign Minister, arrived back in Warsaw from their visit to Prague.

Czechoslovakia's answer was held up by consulations with Moscow. Communist Premier Klement Gottwald and Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister, left today for the Soviet capital, presumably to confer with Vacheslav M. Molotov, Foreign Minister, and perhaps with Premier Stalin.

No Word From Finland

There was no word at all from Finland, Albania and Yugoslavia.

Meanwhile, the British Foreign Office, emphasizing again that the door to Soviet participation had not been closed, said Britain had sent a communication to Russia expressing the hope that her decision to stay out of the Marshall plan talks was "not final." France already had sent a note expressing similar hopes.

Meanwhile, in England the Labor Government's policy was indorsed by Anthony Eden, former Conservative Foreign Secretary, who urged that Britain and France proceed vigorously to take advantage of the Marshall plan, without Russia if necessary.

Eire Accepts Bid

Dublin, July 5 (AP)—Eire tonight announced its acceptance of the Anglo-French invitation to a conference in Paris July 12 to establish an international organization for economic recovery under the Marshall offer.

Sean Lemass, Premier de Valera's deputy and Minister of Industry and Commerce, and P. J. Smith, Agriculture Minister, will head the Eire delegation at the conference.

Two Notes to Russia.

London, July 5 (A. P.).—Great Britain and France have sent new notes to Russia expressing the hope that the Soviet decision to boycott the Marshall plan is not final, a Foreign Office spokesman said today—less than twenty-four hours after Foreign Secretary Bevin had warned Russia not to "provoke" the western world, declaring that regardless of Britain's desire for peace, others "can carry provocation too far."

The spokesman said that Britain had handed her note yesterday to the Soviet ambassador in London, and that France had given a similar communication to the ambassador in Paris. The notes were dispatched while twenty-two other European nations studied Anglo-French invitations to a conference, opening in Paris on July 12 to plan for an integrated European economy with American financial aid.

Foreign Minister Bidault of France is expected here next week to discuss with Bevin further aspects of the Marshall proposal, the Foreign Office spokesman also announced.

A Rome dispatch said that the Italian Foreign Ministry had accepted with pleasure the Anglo-French invitation to attend the Paris conference. Greece, Portugal, Holland and Denmark either have accepted or have indicated they will accept. Statements from other capitals gave reason for belief that five others — Turkey, Belgium, Switzerland, Eire and Iceland — also would attend.

Czechs Head for Moscow.

London diplomatic observers said that they expected at least twelve countries to reply favorably. Among those that probably will not, they said, are Yugoslavia, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland—all under Soviet influence. The official attitudes of Czecho-Slovakia and Poland were being decided today.

Two Czecho-Slovak officials—Premier Klement Gottwald, a communist, and his Foreign Minister, Jan Masaryk—headed for Moscow after discussions in Prague parliamentary circles yesterday. On the train with them were Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz and nine ministers, homeward bound for Warsaw and a Polish decision on the conference. Poland and Czecho-Slovakia signed a cultural and trade treaty in Prague yesterday.

Bevin Warns Friends.

London, July 5 (A. P.).—British Secretary Ernest Bevin said last night, "I love the Russian people," but warned "our friends in the world" not to carry provocation too far.

Speaking before the American Society, Bevin said that "the people will one day say, 'We are tired of this'," despite the British "obsession for peace."

"America and Britain will continue to think alike. I beg the great American continent to go on with its great mission. As long as I am Foreign Secretary, I will work with you."

Bevin said: "The United States wants us to devise a plan in which everybody can settle things on the basis of reason, discussion and facts. I think this is misunderstood by a lot of our friends in the world."

Criticism Refuted.

Bevin denied that the Marshall plan would limit the sovereignty of European States and branded talk of dollar diplomacy as "sheer nonsense."

The Foreign Secretary said: "Speaking for the British people, I say to Mr. Marshall, 'We take you and the American nation at your word. We do not question it.'"

Speaking of France, Bevin said: "America and Britain never gave France a chance at the end of the last war. I appeal to my American and British friends, for God's sake give France a chance to come back."

U.N. Unit To Get Report On Aid-Parley Failure

Geneva, Switzerland, July 5 (AP). Britain and France will report to the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe next Monday on their failure to reach an agreement with Russia at the recent Foreign Ministers' meeting in Paris, Chairman Ejnar Waerun, of Denmark, said today.

Russ Participating

Opening the second session of the commission, Waerun declared that United States Secretary of State Marshall's proposal had thrown the recovery needs of Europe "into sharpest relief." He quoted United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie as saying after the breakdown of the three-power conference: "I cannot believe that the last word has been said on this subject."

The commission — created last March by the United Nations Economic and Social Council to coordinate international emergency organizations for European economic rehabilitation—is comprised of seventeen European members of the United Nations plus the United States. It is the only United Nations body in the economic field on which Soviet delegates are participating.

The present session, scheduled to continue for two weeks, faces among other problems a Belgian proposal to consider economic relations with Germany and the fixing of an exchange rate for the German mark.

Press Seeks To Oust Regime, Shinwell Says

Birmingham, England, July 5 (AP). British newspapers, "with a few honorable exceptions," are determined to drive the Labor Government out of power, Emanuel Shinwell, Minister of Fuel and Power, said in a political address tonight.

"Those who own the newspapers of the country, with very few exceptions, represent the economic opinions of a small minority which is horrified at the idea that a Labor Government should be proceeding to nationalize key industries and services for the common good," Shinwell said.

No "Tory intrigue or press maneuver," he added, can change the course of the Government.

"We shall go on until the next election—and that election is not coming for some time yet," he asserted.

4 Plan Trip to Russian Wives

LONDON, July 5 (AP)—British husbands of four of the fifteen Russian women who cannot get Soviet permission to come to Britain have applied for visas to visit their wives in Russia. The fifteen men were married while on wartime military and diplomatic service in Russia. On being recalled they could not bring their wives with them. Appeals to the highest Soviet authorities so far have been unavailing.

Inheritance Safe, Despite War Service

London, July 5 (AP)—His patriotism in joining the United States Merchant Marine at the risk of losing a $20,000 inheritance won Henry S. Demarest, 22, the commendation of a British judge yesterday and the assurance that he would receive the money three years hence.

When Demarest, of Wilson, La., was 10, his British grandfather set up a $20,000 trust for him. He was to get the money at 25—provided he had been educated in England and had not left that country until his twenty-first birthday, except for three-month vacations.

Shortly after Pearl Harbor, Demarest, then a student at Oxford, joined the merchant marine and remained away from England for a long time.

Justice Wynn P. Parry in reinstating the youth as heir said that Demarest's act "does nothing but redound in the highest degree to his credit" and that the will's restrictive clause was against public policy.

CONFIDENCE VOTE WON BY RAMADIER

Paris, July 5 (A. P.).—The French National Assembly accorded Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier a 331-to-246 vote of confidence—twenty-one more than an absolute majority—last night, with Communists and Right Republican Party of Liberty members casting all the negative ballots.

During a debate which preceded the vote, Communist Secretary Jacques Duclos criticized the Government for "accepting a policy (the Marshall aid-Europe program) the essential basis of which is the reconstruction of Germany."

Ramadier, whose Government has been troubled by a wave of strikes since he eliminated Communists from his cabinet, asked the Assembly for a vote of confidence on his economic policy of holding wages steady to prevent inflation, while raising taxes.

Recruiting of D. P.'s By France Approved

Paris, July 5 (A. P.).—France and the United States have reached agreement on French recruiting of workers among persons in the American Zone of Germany, a Foreign Office spokesman said today.

The spokesman told a news conference that the American Government had at first questioned whether France would give such immigrants a free choice of leaving and returning to their proper countries when they desired. He said France agreed to guarantee the immigrants such liberty with the exception of those found incapable of working, those who broke their labor contracts, those who by acts of propaganda threatened France's safety or those found to be war criminals.

Cabinet Created For Morocco

Paris, July 5 (AP)—France announced today creation of a full-fledged Cabinet for Morocco and said this was only the first of important reforms planned for that protectorate.

By agreement with the Sultan, Sidi Mohammed, the Cabinet will be made up of ten Moroccan and ten French Ministers, and the Premier will be Grand Vizier El Mokkari, a Foreign Office spokesman said.

France will continue to assume responsibility for foreign affairs and national defense.

Meanwhile, the French Cabinet approved proposed new reforms for Algeria, notably widening voting privileges.

"Relations Restored"

The Foreign Office spokesman said the steps to give Morocco's Government greater powers "show that relations between the Sultan and the French Government have been completely restored" after a coolness that arose when the Sultan called for Moroccan independence in a speech at Tangier last spring.

The Moroccan Ministers, he said, will handle portfolios such as justice, Arab education and protocol. A legal Minister will be charged with initiating all legislation for submission to the French Assembly in Paris.

French administrators will hold such ministerial posts as agriculture, commerce, public works, post and telegraph, industrial production and public health, but will have Moroccan under secretaries.

Greek Red Regime Planned: Report

Athens, July 5 (AP)—The Conservative newspaper Estia, which often voices Government opinion, said today that Greek intelligence reports had confirmed that Communists sought to establish a "free government" of Greece.

The article did not say whether the "free government" would be formed within Greece or in some foreign country but declared that there had been an exodus of Communists from Athens.

Estia said the Communists would arrange to make an apparent break with the Leftist National Liberation Movement (EAM) over the issue of the "free government," so that the EAM could continue to function openly within Greece even if the Communist party were outlawed.

Vifiades As President

Gen. Markos Vifiades, commander in chief of the rebel "Greek Democratic Army" in the mountains of northern Greece, will be the president or chief of state of the Communist regime, the newspaper said.

Greek military sources have asserted that a full-scale attack would be launched immediately against any Communist government established in northern Greece and that such a government could not hold out more than 24 hours.

A spokesman for the Greek general staff said earlier this week he believed that if a Communist government were formed, it would be recognized and supported at once by Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

Earlier Plans Changed

Allied intelligence reports last December said the Communists had intended to establish a government within Greece, but changed their plans when the United Nations Security Council authorized a commission to investigate the Balkans.

Meanwhile, proclamations calling for Greek rebels to surrender and return to their homes were plastered throughout Athens over the purported signatures of two former guerrilla chieftains.

On the proclamations were the names of Captains Nikitas and Farmakis, who once led strong bands in the mountains of western Macedonia. The proclamations said Greeks still in the insurgent movement were traitors. A previous statement attributed to Nikitas called them "tools of the Russians."

Headquarters of the leftist EAM (Committee for National Liberation) confirmed that Nikitas and Farmakis had broken with the guerrillas by calling the two "agents of reactionaries."

GREEK AID UNIT FIRE LAID TO COMMUNISTS

Two Women Among Three Victims In Former UNRRA Building

Athens, July 5 (AP)—Communists were blamed by Greek officials today for a fire in the building housing the vanguard of the American aid mission to Greece which took the lives of three persons and resulted in injuries to 21.

The five-story building in the heart of Athens is known as the Soldiers' Pension building and also housed the British military mission. It formerly was used by UNRRA.

Reports Two Arrests

Napoleon Zervas, Minister of Public Order, and Athens' police chief, Angel Evert declared the fire "obviously was started by Communists," and Evert said two persons, whose names he would not release, had been arrested.

Two of the victims who died were women.

"We are 100 per cent certain this is the opening phase of a Communist program to cause disorder in the large Greek cities," said one Greek Cabinet member who declined to be quoted by name.

30. 24- 10755

Six burning wastebaskets filled with combustible material were found in the building. The Cabinet members said the baskets were not part of the equipment in two basement rooms where Greek and British military oil and benzine were stored.

In another part of the city an army sentry at a barracks was shot to death and arms stolen in a raid by a group of unidentified men, the Minister added.

Meanwhile, the Conservative newspaper Estia declared that Government intelligence reports had confirmed that Greek Communists planned to establish a "free government" to be headed by the commander in chief of guerrillas in the north.

Reflects Official View

The newspaper, which reflects on many occasions the official Government view, did not specify whether the new government would be set up within Greece's present borders. Four days ago Napoleon Zervas, Minister of Public Order, said the Government had smashed a Communist group aiming at setting up a "free state" in strife-torn Macedonia.

Estia said that the head of the Communist state would be General Markos, the commander in chief of the so-called "Greek Democratic Army" in the northern mountains. There have been previous reports that General Markos had been replaced as head of the guerrilla forces by Nicholas Zachariades, general secretary of the Greek Communist party, who has been in hiding for more than two months.

Break With EAM Forecast

The newspaper predicted that the Communists will make a clean break with the EAM, the Left-Wing political coalition, over the issue of a "free government." They would take that step in order to leave EAM within Greece for subsequent negotiations with the Government following the anticipated outlawing of the Communist party, the newspaper added.

Estia declared there had been a recent exodus of Greek Communist leaders from Athens. A proposal to outlaw the party has been pigeonholed by the Government for the present.

Athens was plastered this morning with proclamations bearing signatures of two former guerrilla chieftains calling on their fellows to surrender and return to their homes. EAM said both men were "agents and reactionaries."

Sabotage Charged

Panayotis Canellapulos, Air Minister, announced today the arrest of five officers and fourteen enlisted men of the Greek air force charged with sabotage and spying under orders of the Communist party in connection with the attempted sabotage of a fighter plane at the Eleusis airfield last month.

The Minister said an inquiry had proved the arrested men were "tools of the Communist party" and that their apprehension had shattered an organized sabotage plot.

FATAL ATHENS FIRE IS LAID TO REDS

Athens, July 5 (A. P.).—A fire—declared by Greek officials to be the work of "communist saboteurs" — killed two unidentified women and injured more than twenty persons today in a five-story building housing units of the organization handling American aid to Greece and a British military mission.

The Greek officials said the fire started in six canister-size wastebaskets filled with combustible material. (This dispatch did not say whether any of the dead or injured were Americans).

One member of the Cabinet, who wished to remain anonymous, said: "We are 100 per cent certain this is the opening phase of a communist program to cause disorder in large Greek cities."

The same Minister said the six canisters were not part of the building stores. The canisters were placed at six different points and burned more than an hour and a half, he said.

Arms were stolen early today from a Greek barracks in the northern section of Athens by a band which shot and killed the sentry, the Minister said.

Gen. Napoleon Zervas, Minister of Public Order, said an intensive investigation was being conducted.

Bulgaria Names Envoy To Aid In Border Probe

Salonika, Greece, July 5 (AP)—Kimon Georghiev, Bulgarian Foreign Minister, notified the United Nations Balkan subcommission today that George Andreytchine has been appointed minister plenipotentiary to arrange with the group "everything in connection with the investigation of alleged border incidents."

Georghiev's telegram was in response to the subcommission's telegram of June 30 saying it had been instructed to "complete its investigation." The subcommission twice previously was turned back at the Bulgarian frontier.

Russia Shuns Border Inquiry

SALONIKA, Greece, July 5—(AP) A subcommision of the United Nations Balkan investigating committee forwarded to the U.N. Security Council today a Soviet declaration that Russian representatives would not participate hereafter in border investigations outside Greece.

Full Food Ration For Reich Seen

Stuttgart, Germany, July 5 (AP)—German officials predicted today that they would be able to restore the full authorized food ration of 1,550 calories a day in the British and American zones as a result of a guarantee by the United States to ship in at least 300,000 tons of food monthly.

The officials cheered loudly when United States Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson informed them in an address of the guarantee which he gave American Military Government officials yesterday in Berlin.

Dr. Herman Dietrich, German head of the bizonal food agency, promptly assured several German officials, who had threatened to resign because of their inability to meet the food ration, that they could now remain in their posts "with a clear conscience."

Full Ration Next Year

Dietrich predicted that if the promised shipments arrive on schedule, the full ration can be met throughout the next year. For many months the actual distribution of food in both zones has fallen far below the 1,550 calories authorized, and the United States recently speeded up its food shipments to avert a threatened hunger crisis.

Although assuring them that the United States would do all possible to prevent hunger in Germany, Anderson told the Germans they must increase their own agricultural production, especially of grain.

In an obvious criticism of the failure of German farmers to reduce the size of their livestock herds to permit large grain crops, Anderson said:

"Under these circumstances any livestock production which deprives people of cereals they need is a luxury that neither this nor any other deficit-producing country can afford."

Anderson and Secretary of Commerce William Averell Harriman conferred here today with British, American and German officials on the possibilities of increasing Germany's agricultural and industrial outputs.

Youths Visit Goethe Birthplace

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, Germany, July 5 (AP).—Representatives of the youths of ten nations visited the flag-draped ruins of the birthplace of Germany's famous poet, Johann Wolfgang Goethe, here today. Their pilgrimage to the destroyed Goethehaus, which is being rebuilt by the City of Frankfurt, was part of an international youth meeting which will close here Sunday.

Austrians Get U. S. Help From Diapers to Houses

VIENNA, July 5 (AP).—The Austrian government is getting items ranging from baby diapers to prefabricated buildings under an American relief and restitution program announced by United States Army Headquarters here.

The distributing agencies and some of the property:

American Red Cross—Property worth nearly $400,000 to be handed over in the next fiscal year, including baby clothes and medical supplies.

Army—Fourteen carloads of medical supplies and more than 330,000 garments.

American Military Government—Three prefabricated building units to become an Austrian youth center—library, game room and meeting place—at Linz.

Already returned to the Austrians are 68 cases of Austrian weather records taken by the Germans in 1939.

Spain Sends Protest On Aid Declaration

MADRID, July 5 (AP).—Education Minister Jose Ibanez Martin said today the Spanish government had protested to the British Foreign Office against "mixing the name of Spain" in the recent three-power Paris conference on the Marshall proposal for aiding Europe.

The communique issued by the British and French Foreign Ministers Thursday said that "all European states, with the provisional exception of Spain," had been invited to participate in replying to Secretary of State George C. Marshall's suggestions. A French Foreign Ministry spokesman said the phrase meant that Spain would be excluded "as long as Spain has her present form of government."

The Spanish Education Minister, reporting on last night's Cabinet meeting, told a news conference that the "foreign minister reported to the Cabinet the failure of the Paris conversations for application of the Marshall plan for Europe and on impertinent allusions made there concerning a hypothetical participation of Spain."

"The Cabinet decided to present an energetic protest note to the (British) Foreign Office against the unusual act of mixing the name of Spain in matters in which our country was not asked to intervene," he said.

Spain Seen Voting Succession Law

Madrid, July 5 (AP)—Overwhelming approval of Generalissimo Franco's "law of succession" appeared certain tonight as Spain prepared to vote tomorrow in its first election in eleven years.

Anti-Franco forces were under orders to remain away from the polls or cast blank ballots—the only way they could express opposition to the regime and the Franco-sponsored law of succession—but there was little doubt as to the outcome.

The main question was how many would boycott the election.

Leading the opposition were the monarchist organizations, the CNT (National Confederation of Labor) an dthe UGT (General Union of Workers), but without benefit of the freedoms of speech, press and assembly they had to wage a clandestine campaign.

60 P.C. Vote Possible

The effectiveness of their opposition probably will not be known until July 26 when the nationwide results are announced.

Even pro-Franco circles were reluctant to predict the total vote or the number of abstentions and blank ballots. Some semi-official sources privately estimated a 60 per cent vote—about 10,000,000—the average before the civil war.

The sole issue on which the voters will ballot is the law of succession. This provides that Franco is chief of state, a post he has held since the end of the civil war, that Spain is a "kingdom" and that a king or regent will succeed the Generalissimo when he relinquishes the reins because of voluntary retirement, disability or death.

The law already has been decreed by Franco and approved by acclamation in the almost totally appointive Cortes.

MADRID, July 5—(AP) Overwhelming approval of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's "law of succession" appeared certain tonight as Spain prepared for tomorrow's referendum and there were rumors that with such a "vote of confidence" a cabinet shakeup would follow.

Franco reportedly was considering appointing a prime minister, a move which would permit him to devote his full time to the post of chief of state.

It was predicted that the result of tomorrow's balloting, Spain's first election in 11 years, would find 75 to 80 per cent voting "yes," 15 per cent abstaining and 10 per cent voting "no."

Semi-official sources predict that approximately 60 per cent of the 16,187,092 eligible voters will vote.

Spaak Dedicates Freedom Highway

Bastogne, Belgium, July 5 (AP)—Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgian Premier, dedicated today the terminal milestone of the "highway of the freedom" named as a tribute to the American troops who liberated Europe in 1944.

The road runs through the south of Belgium from the beaches of Normandy and to the heart of the Belgian Ardennes, following roughly the advance of Gen. George Patton's 3d Army.

Spaak said:

"The United States showed us the way during the war. Once again two great voices from America have spoken recently to remind Europe of her duty and to give her a chance for recovery.

"Let us swear, we Allies of the war, to remain Allies in peace and to rebuild the world which was saved by those who have fought and died here."

Decree-Law Right Voted Polish Unit

Warsaw July 5 (AP)—The Polish Parliament today granted the Government powers to issue decrees having the force of laws.

By this action the State Executive Council, composed of President Boleslaw Beirut, Parliament's marshal, Sladyslaw Kowalski; three vice marshals, and the nation's comptroller general, may make laws effective immediately but subject to approval at the next session of Parliament.

In wartime, the Minister of National Defense would be added to to the State Council's membership.

Presidium Replaced

The State Council replaces the Presidium under the provisional Government which ruled Poland by decree before the parliamentary elections last January.

Proponents of the new setup said it was necessary to give the Government power to act quickly during times when Parliament is not in session.

Opponents said the action conferred on a small group sweeping authority to make laws, even if temporary, which should be vested exclusively in Parliament.

Trip Depends On Health, Senora Peron Asserts

Rome, July 5 (AP)—Señora Juan D. Perón said in an interview today she had been suffering from grippe as well as fatigue on her tour of Spain and Italy and that plans for the rest of her European trip depended entirely upon her health.

"I am going to bed now," said the wife of Argentina's President, "to see if I can get well enough to go through with the rest of it."

She had planned to go to England July 15.

African Farms Raided In Check On Cruelty

Johannesburg, South Africa, July 5 (AP)—Hundreds of jeep-riding police from Pretoria and Johannesburg raided farms in the Bethal district today to check on allegations of cruelty by farmers toward native laborers.

The raids were made on instructions from Prime Minister Jan Christian Smuts.

The police, working in groups of twenty, took statements from natives and told them farmers were not allowed to lock them in compounds. Work on many farms came to a standstill as workers departed.

JEWISH STATE PLAN APPROVED

Arab Communist Says It Would Be Anglo-U.S. Base

Jerusalem, July 5 (AP)—A member of the Arab Communist party executive said today his group was opposed to a Jewish state in Palestine because it would be used as a base for "Anglo-American imperialism" and to promote war "against the new democracies and the Soviet Union."

Emil C. Touma, member of the central committee of the National Liberation League, which he described as the Communist party of the Arab working classes, said during a news conference at the Arab office that his group was supporting the Arab boycott of the United Nations commission on Palestine in order to preserve Arab unity.

Touma said his league had 3,000 members and the support of "30,000 Arab workers." He said there was no co-operation between Arab and Jewish Communists but the groups "most probably would merge in the event of independence."

He asserted the Arab Communists rejected partition of the Holyland and immigration of Jews because "no democrat can support immigration to an enslaved Palestine. The problem of immigration is for a free and independent Palestine to solve."

Calling for evacuation of British troops from Palestine, he asserted: "The main premise is that Palestine is a colonial country suffering from the effects of British imperial rule and that oil and strategy are the main background for this rule; that Zionism is an ally of British imperialism and American reaction; that the Jewish masses have been misguided by Zionism and that they have been mobilized in Palestine to be used as an instrument against the rising tide of the Arab liberation movement."

Arabian Leftists Reject Partition Of Palestine

Jerusalem, July 5 (AP)—A spokesman for Arab Communists declared today that his group rejected proposals for partitioning the Holy Land and supported the action of the Arab Higher Executive in boycotting the United Nations special committee investigating Palestine problems.

The United Nations committee, in recess because of the Jewish Sabbath, has before it an official Zionist demand for a Jewish state in the Holy Land.

The Communist spokesman, Emil C. Touma, declared that his organization, called the National Liberation League, was "against American penetration and against the plan for world domination advanced by atomaniacs and monopolists in America and Britain." He is a member of the league's central committee.

Arguments Cited

Asked about the Arab League, Touma said it aimed at bringing about Arab unity, but added: "That does not mean we can close our eyes to the imperialist attitude of some members, especially Iraq and Trans-Jordan."

Calling for evacuation of British troops from Palestine, he asserted:

"The main premise is that Palestine is a colonial country suffering from the effects of British imperial rule and that oil and strategy are the main background for this rule; that Zionism is an ally of British imperailism and American reaction; that the Jewish masses have been misguided by Zionism and that they have been mobilized in Palestine to be used as an instrument against the rising tide of the Arab liberation movement."

Independence Sought

He declared that establishment of a Jewish state in Palestine "would only be used as a base for Anglo-American imperialism which is at present preparing to crush the fight of Arab countries, to enforce upon them reactionary plans such as greater Syria and eastern bloc plans and to promote war against new democracies and the Soviet Union."

Arab Communists, he said, supported a demand for an "independent democratic Palestine, neither purely Arab nor purely Jewish." He said there was no co-operation between Arab and Jewish Communists but "the groups most probably would merge in the event of independence."

Touma claimed his organization had 3,000 members and the "support of 30,000 Arab workers." He also said the group received "moral support from Russia and from progressive elements everywhere."

Appeasing Of Arabs At Jews' Expense Hit

New York, July 5 (AP)—The argument that Arab leaders must be "placated" to build a barrier against Communist expansion is built on two "fantastically unreal" assumptions, says James G. MacDonald, member of the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine.

He made the declaration yesterday in an address during the second day of the Zionist Organization of America's four-day, fiftieth anniversary convention.

MacDonald said arguments "that Arab leaders must be placated at the expense of Zionist goals in Palestine, in order that they may constitute a solid barrier against Russian expansion southward," are based on "false assumptions."

Arab Unity Questioned

These assumptions, he said, were that there is effective unity among the Arab states and that the Arab leaders would move to co-operate with communism "to penalize Britain and the United States" if those powers backed formation of a Jewish state.

A vigorous, democratic Jewish state in Palestine, MacDonald declared, would be a stronger defense against totalitarian ideologies than the collaboration of individual, reactionary Arab leaders.

"Therefore, the obsession of British and American experts with power politics is not even sound from a selfish British or American point of view," he said. "It is not merely immoral, but unrealistic and self-defeating."

Fund Near $14,000,000

Earlier in the day, the delegates heard a report from City Magistrate Morris Rothenburg, president of the United States Fund, that Jews in the United States had contributed nearly $14,000,000 to the Jewish National Fund in the past 9½ months and sent nearly $12,000,000 to the Jewish National Fund in Jerusalem.

In a three-year period, Rothenburg said, more than $34,000,000 had been remitted to Palestine to buy land. The fund will need $27,733,000 during 1947, the bulk of it for new land purchases, Rothenburg said.

Aaron Wright, president of the Jewish National Fund of Great Britain and Ireland, urged that private Jewish capital "tackle" the problem of Palestinian housing improvements "on an investment basis."

Herc Pledges Support

During Independence Day ceremonies conducted by Jewish war veterans, Ben Kaufman, World War I Congressional Medal of Honor winner, pledged support of a Jewish state.

Dr. Emanuel Neumann, of New York, was elected president, succeeding Dr. Aba Hillel Silver, of Cleveland, Ohio.

India Border Area Voting On Status

New Delhi, India, July 5 (AP)—Part of the people of India's explosive Northwest Frontier Province will begin voting tomorrow in an eleven-day referendum to decide whether to join Pakistan or Hindustan in the partition of India which becomes effective next month.

The Pathan tribesmen, whose fighting prowess is legendary, will not vote.

The referendum has been boycotted by the Congress party, which now is in power in the province, as a result of general elections almost a year and a half ago.

Pakistan Vote Seen

It is considered almost a foregone conclusion that more than 3,000,000 inhabitants of the so-called "settled districts"—as opposed to the tribal territory—will vote to join the Moslem domination of Pakistan.

On the other side of India, a referendum on the same question also will begin tomorrow in the predominantly Moslem district of Assam.

Afghanistan, which borders on the Northwest Frontier Province, has declared in a note to the Indian Government that the Pathans should be allowed to vote on whether they wish to become independent.

New Delhi official sources attribute the Afghan interest to hope of regaining control of such strategically important areas as the Khyber Pass. They believe that the Pathans, if independent, would join Afghanistan, since they are racially blood brothers of the Afghans.

Four Killed In Riots

Calcutta, July 5 (AP)—Communal strife between Hindus and Moslems broke out again today, resulting in four deaths and injuries to nine persons, a Government communiqué said. Sixty persons were arrested.

Moscow Sees "Dismemberment"

Moscow, July 5 (AP)—Izvestia, Soviet Government newspaper, said today India faced "dismemberment" under a British partition plan.

It declared that the plan would "make harder, at least for some time, unity in a struggle for a really independent India," and enable Britain to "preserve to a maximum its economic and political position there."

Indonese Ex-Premier Quits As Negotiator

Jogjakarta, Java, July 5 (AP)—Former Indonesian Premier Sutan Sjahrir announced today that he had resigned as chairman of the delegation which represents the Indonesian Republic in independence negotiations with the Netherlands Commission General.

Deputy Premier Setiadjit is expected to replace Sjahrir. Setiadjit is a member of the new Cabinet appointed Thursday by Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin.

[Advices from Batavia said that delivery had been postponed until Sunday on Indonesia's answer to a Dutch request for clarification of the Republican viewpoint toward an interim Dutch-Indonesian government and the June 28 United States memorandum urging a peaceful settlement in Indonesia.]

Republican forces reported sharp clashes with the Dutch in East Java last Monday through Wednesday and added that "both sides" had suffered "heavy losses."

SIAM REJECTS PLAN FOR REGIONAL UNION

BANGKOK, Siam, July 5 (AP)—A Government communiqué declared today that Siam would not consider sponsoring with France a Pan-Southeast Asia Union unless the French agreed to the independence of Laos and Cambodia, states of Indo-China under French administration.

The Union, or Consultative Committee for Economic and Cultural Relations of Southeast Asia Nations, was recommended by the Franco-Siamese Conciliation Commission meeting in Washington to settle the dispute over the border between Siam and Indo-China.

The commission's decision would annul territorial cessions to Siam forced upon the Vichy regime by the Japanese in 1941. While agreeing to this ruling, Siam asked that it receive economic concessions in the disputed territory, and the commission, in reply, proposed the international consultative committee or Pan-Southeast Asia Union, composed of France, Siam and their neighbors.

An announcement that Siam would join such a union or committee provoked protests from the opposition in Siam, and it was reported that today's communiqué was issued to prevent "exploitation" of the matter by the opposition's charging that Siam was showing subservience to France.

Russians Object To Breadth of Talks in Korea

Refuse to Meet Extreme Rightists; U. S. Reports Impasse After Discord

SEOUL, July 5 (AP).—The United States-Soviet Joint Commission on Korea has reached another impasse after five weeks of disagreement, Major General Albert E. Brown, chief American delegate, disclosed today.

The Russians objected to consultation with "certain" Korean political groups as part of the program to establish a unified provisional government for the divided country.

General Brown declined to say whether he believes the commission is on the verge of another breakdown, but the announced indefinite postponement of initial oral consultations with Korean leaders which had been scheduled to start Monday. Instead the commission will renew discussion on that day of a basis for consultation.

The statement was issued on General Brown's return from a four-day commission meeting at Pyongyang (Heijo), headquarters of Russian-occupied northern Korea. Members of his staff said American delegates were under constant surveillance there.

Long Discord Reported

Although the commission had arranged to confer with Korean political representatives, the chief American delegate reported that the delegations had been in disagreement and "continual debate" for five weeks over application of the principle of "broad consultation."

He did not identify the "certain" Korean elements to which the Soviets objected, but unmistakably they are the extreme Rightists, over whom negotiations last year collapsed.

The Russians previously insisted they would recognize only those groups which indorsed trusteeship for Korea. This in effect meant Korean Communists solely. The United States held out for "broad consultation," and the two nations finally agreed to try again on that basis. They provided, however, that consultees must pledge to uphold the Moscow (trusteeship) agreement.

Despite the latest hitch, General Brown declared: "We have made considerable progress in present negotiations. I feel the commission can succeed in the task of establishing a provisional government. It is a fact that any issue can be resolved if determination exists on both sides."

The American delegation went to Pyongyang, 165 miles north of Seoul, for the express purpose of getting the views of northern Korean political groups on the prospective interim government.

Strict Rule in Pyongyang

Members of the eighty-man American staff said they considered the Russian headquarters city to be under strictest police control, with special orders to make sure no Korean civilians except party leaders made contact with Americans or displayed any sign of welcome.

They said Korean police with Japanese rifles stood at fixed posts while others patrolled the ancient walled city in twos and threes. Northern Korean constabulary cruised about in small groups, carrying carbines and sub-machine guns, the American sources said. Russian enlisted men also maintained patrols.

These incidents were reported:

Korean police "harshly" questioned a Korean civilian who, at the request of an interpreter, offered to guide General Brown to a university in Pyongyang.

A Korean to whom the general said "good morning" in passing in a park was stopped by a Russian soldier following General Brown's party one day and was made to accompany the soldier several blocks.

Korean police and Russian soldiers stood at the chief American delegate's elbow while he made purchases at a book store.

Three Korean police demanded identification from General Brown's interpreter, who was seated in an automobile with the general. When the interpreter said he had no identification, the police demanded he get out of the car. However, a Russian officer following General Brown ordered the police to depart.

Japan Foreign Minister Bars Secret Diplomacy

TOKYO, July 5 (AP).—Japan's future foreign policy must be keynoted by "people's diplomacy" and not "secret diplomacy," Foreign Minister Hitoshi Ashida said today.

"As a democratic structure has been established," he told the House of Councilors, "the people are now free to voice their opinion on the desirable course of foreign policy. The government expects to operate it in the direction chosen by the people."

On the other side of the Diet (Parliament), the House of Representatives unanimously passed a resolution expressing gratitude to General Douglas MacArthur for importation of foodstuffs which, it said, saved the Japanese "from starvation."

Japan Cabinet Sets New Wage-Commodity Levels

TOKYO, July 5 (AP).—The Japanese government established new official commodity prices and industrial wage standards today, in an attempt to stabilize the country's wabbly economy.

Drastic increases were made in official prices of staple foodstuffs, coal, railway fares and maritime freight rates. The general average of industrial workers' monthly pay was raised 1,800 yen ($36).

Japanese authorities said they hoped the new program would smash black markets—a giant business in post-war Japan—and act to resist further inflation while the government prepared the groundwork for reopening foreign trade.

"The new price structure is the first step toward economic stabilization and rehabilitation," the announcement said. "Failure in executing it would mean catastrophic runaway inflation."

The government prepared the way for the wage-price changes with its first economic "white paper," issued several days ago to acquaint the people at large with the nation's precarious economic conditions.

It set aside 12,000,000,000 yen ($240,000,000) for payment of price subsidies to compensate for the increases.

The author of the White Paper was today revealed to be Shigehito Tsuru, deputy director-general of the Economic Stabilization Board, who once studied and lectured at Harvard.

JAPS LAUNCH WAR ON BLACK MARKET

TOKYO, July 5—(AP) Drastic increases in official commodity prices and industrial wages, backed by a new 12,000,000,000-yen (officially $240,000,000 subsidy program) were ordered by the Japanese government today in an effort to break the black market.

Staples foods, coal, railway fares and maritime freight rates were raised, as much as 20 per cent in some instances, while industrial workers got pay raises averaging 1,800 yen (officially $36) monthly.

Coal prices were raised from 346 yen to 956 yen a ton for producers, from 400 to 1,208 for private consumers and from 200 to 600 for essential industries.

Rice went up from 36 yen for 10 kilograms (72 cents for 22 pounds) to 99 yen ($1.98) for the same amount. Other prices were raised 18 to 27 per cent, while rail and maritime rates went up a comparatively modest 3.5 per cent.

[While the sensational size, the increases actually are merely an attempt to conform with the realities of black market prices. The yen itself, officially rated at 50 to the dollar, is generally regarded as actually worth 100 to the dollar, or less.]

The government announcement declared that "the new price structure is the first step toward economic stabilization and rehabilitation. Failure in successfully executing the new price structure would mean catastrophic, runaway inflation."

JAP SELF-AID EMPHASIZED

Atcheson Says U.S. Cannot Meet All Demands

Shimoda, Japan, Sunday, July 6 (AP)—Ambassador George Atcheson, Jr., informed the people of this quiet fishing town today that the United States could not "meet all demands and all needs" for aid and that "wholehearted co-operation" by the Japanese was necessary for reconstruction of their country.

His message was read by Glen Bruner, second secretary of the United States Embassy, at ceremonies commemorating the arrival in 1853 of Commodore Matthew C. Perry's fleet off this community.

Fullest Effort Required

"The Japanese people are faced with great difficulties," declared Atcheson, who is political adviser to General MacArthur. "The fullest effort by farmers, miners, fishermen, sellers and consumers will be required to meet the situation."

He said Americans wanted to see Japan become self-supporting as soon as possible, "thus we have neither the intention nor desire to take from Japan what she requires for peacetime economy, which will enable her to develop democratically and assume her future responsibilities in a world order under law.

"I have no doubt that the American people will wish to continue to assist in the rehabilitation of Japan's peaceful economy."

To End Punitive Phase

He said he believed the punitive phases of the occupation would be ended with punishment of war criminals and conclusion of a reparations program, but added, "We shall not, of course, forget the past. We cannot."

Perry and his "black ships" arrived off Japan 94 years ago to urge Japan to enter into commerce with foreign nations. Early in the 1930's Japan began commemorating his arrival, but the annual festivals were discontinued during the war.

5,551,634 JAPANESE BACK

Repatriation · Figure Includes 1,724,000 From Soviet Areas

TOKYO, July 5 (AP)—Allied headquarters reported today that more than 1,724,000 Japanese soldiers and civilians had been repatriated from Soviet areas or zones formerly under Russian control and that nearly 1,000,000 others awaited repatriation.

The report, covering activities through June, said a total of 5,551,634 Japanese had been returned to the home islands. Of that number, 2,661,079 were in military service.

The repatriation figures from areas other than those under Soviet control are: Southeast Asia, including Malaya, 662,881; Australia and vicinity, 138,644; China, 1,493,066; Hong Kong, 19,197; Philippines, 132,401; Hawaii, 3,411.

Monty Expected In Tokyo August 5

Tokyo, July 5 (AP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, wartime British field commander and now chief of the imperial staff, is expected to arive August 5 for conferences with General MacArthur.

Montgomery has been visiting Australia and other Southwest Pacific points. Before coming to Tokyo, he plans a brief stopover in the British occupation zone on Honshu with Lieut. Gen. H. C. H. Robertson, commander in chief of British occupation forces.

He is scheduled to leave by plane for Hong Kong August 9.

Wreckage of P-61 Found Near Tokyo

Tokyo, July 5 (A. P.).—Wreckage of an Army P-61, Black Widow night fighter, missing since Thursday, was located today in the mountains behind Odawara, about seventy miles southwest of Tokyo. U.S. CREDITED WITH MOST JAP SHIP SINKINGS

Tally Shows This Country Sent 9,736,068 Tons To Bottom Of Pacific

Washington, July 5 (AP)—A final tally on the sea war waged against Japan, issued tonight by a joint Army-Navy assessment committee, showed United States forces accounted for 9,736,068 of the 10,583,755 tons of naval and merchant shipping sent down by attacks of the Allies.

Britain accounted for 138,346 tons; Russia, in the Pacific war for six days, for 9,893 tons, representing two naval and two merchant ships.

Submarines' Toll Heavy

The score for the branches of United States armed forces gave a heavy accounting for the Navy's submarines—1,314 ships totaling 5,320,094 tons. Navy and Marine aircraft took the next biggest bag, 619 ships of 2,333,597 tons. Army bombers and fighters sank 310 vessels of 701,832 tons. However, AAF airplanes, especially B-29's, dropped mines which accounted for 580,360 of the total 609,655 tons sent down by that means.

The report, compiled from enemy documents, intelligence reports and the reports of various services, coincided with a news conference by the former commander of the United States submarine force, Vice Admiral Charles A. Lockwood, Jr.

Recalls Results

Lockwood, now retiring after 39 years of naval service, recalled some of the successes of his underwater fleet — and some of their misadventures.

There were, mostly during the early phases of the war, 28 known instances where American submarines were attacked by American aircraft in cases of mistaken identity. Nine submarines were badly damaged. The Navy itself wasn't blameless in all instances. Ten angry submarine skippers found out later that they had been attacked by navy airplanes.

Lockwood also disclosed that the fleet type submarines used by the United States could dive far deeper than generally known. He cited the case of the submarine Salmon which, while operating as part of a wolf pack in the second battle of the Philippine Sea, was attacked by Japanese using depth charges. Damaged by the attack, she went down to 600 feet, yet survived to limp home to port.

Sub Used Against Sub

The United States underseas boats operated against similar enemy craft as well as surface ships. Lockwood said United States submersibles sank 26 enemy submarines, two of which were German, during the war. But that style of fighting worked both ways: He estimated that about twenty American submarines went down by attack from enemy submarines.

Asked if the United States was interested in the midget submarines used by several nations during the war, Lockwood replied: "Not for me," and recalled that most of those used had been lost in action.

Russ Lose Prestige In Manchuria

By John Roderick

Mukden, July 5 (AP)—Hostility toward Russia in Nationalist Manchuria has reached the personal stage, and Chinese nowadays do not hesitate to make known their feelings.

Conversely, American prestige has never been higher.

Underlying Nationalist animosity are Soviet failure to turn over Port Arthur and Dairen to the Chinese Government and belief the Russians are supplying arms to Chinese Communists.

I encountered this atmosphere of unfiendliness toward Russians at Shanhaikwan en route to Mukden.

Colonel Apologizes

An armed Nationalist colonel, who first advised me to leave because of danger that Communists might enter the area, later apologized when I showed him my card. "Mei Kuo (American)," he exclaimed. "I beg your pardon. I really thought you were Russian. You are an American. That's all right."

The Chinese waste none of their politeness on Russians.

Individual Russians on trains have their baggage searched, and generally have to give a complete account of themselves.

In Mukden, Chinese friends advised me I had better wear American army clothes than a civilian outfit because Chinese might mistake me for Russian and subject me to small indignities.

Fewer Russians There

One estimate of the number of Russians in Mukden places it as low as 300, another at 1,000. Regardless of the real figure, it is only a fraction of the formerly large population who took refuge here from Siberia since 1917.

Most of those remaining here are new Soviet citizens who are known as "radishes"—Red on the outside, white on the inside. They have no consulate.

Heavier Taxes Are Expected In China

Shanghai, July 5 (AP)—Stiffer taxes and further conscription were expected today to result from the Chinese Government's order for total mobilization of the war-weary nation's resources against the Communists.

The order, approved at a special meeting of the State Council in Nanking yesterday, called for a fight to the finish, but did not make specific calls upon the republic aside from asking increased food production and improved conscription methods.

China has been on a full civil-war footing for many months.

Stronger Anti-Red Drive

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek

was expected to intensify the campaign against the Communists. Neutral observers in Shanghai, however, speculated as to whether he would carry out a reshuffle of army commanders.

Some observers saw a need for streamlining the high command. Another recognized need was for Chiang, as the nation's supreme commander, to receive actual instead of fictitious battle reports.

It has been common knowledge that it was not until the Communists threatened to run his forces out of Manchuria that Chiang realized the gravity of the situation. His commanders had not acquainted him with the true position until it was almost too late to retrieve it.

Removal Of General Sun

It is generally believe that one of the reasons for the success of the Communist offensive in Manchuria—before the Nationalists halted the drive at bloody Szepingkai—that the demoralization of the American-trained and equipped new First Army through the reassignment of its commander, Gen. Sun Li-jen.

Sun was removed from his command and appointed deputy to General Tu Yu-ming, commander-in-chief of Government forces in Manchuria—a man with whom General Sun was at odds.

would help if Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek could get true instead of fictitious battle reports.

Didn't Realize Gravity

It is common knowledge that Chiang did not realize the gravity of the situation in Manchuria, for example, until the Communists scored such big gains that they threatened to chase the Government armies clear out.

At the last minute, the Government forces partly retrieved the situation at bloody Szepingkai.

[The Communist radio broadcast Saturday that 4,000 Government troops had been killed or captured in rushing to the relief of Szepingkai, and that the Government's Szepingkai garrison lost 16,000 men.]

Chiang's broadly expressed new program calls for full prosecution of the war against the Communists and national reconstruction simultaneously—a task which most foreign quarters in China consider to be beyond the power of his Government.

The ordinary Chinese citizen is waiting to see what concrete steps will be tried.

China Expects Wider Draft, Higher Taxes Under New Plan

Shanghai, July 5 (AP)—The Chinese Government's new orders for "total mobilization" for a finish fight against the Communists confronted the people today with the prospects of wider conscription and higher taxes, although the full effect will depend on the degree of efficiency in enforcement.

No details have been disclosed of the new directive promulgated in Nanking yesterday, but most dispassionate observers said the results probably would be more symbolic than practical.

Three Goals Cited

They pointed out that the civil war already had been in progress for many months on a full scale and said that if the Government hoped to achieve even a partial victory against the resurgent Communists it would have to accomplish these three things:

1. Improve the supply of food and materials to the armies.
2. Weed out incompetent commanders.
3. Develop some program for bettering the lot of inhabitants in Government-held areas.

Americans Protest China Trade Curbs

Shanghai, July 5 (AP)—The American Chamber of Commerce declared today it had lodged complaints in the past and would continue to make representations to Chinese officials unless they remove restrictions on American companies here.

The chamber wrote Chang Kiang-au, chief of the Board for Regulation of Imports, that it had registered complaints of American business men with respect to such difficulties as:

1. The truck import ban of 1946; 2. Impossibility of obtaining exchange of Chinese currency for United States dollars for legitimate operating expenses; 3. Fact that Chinese Government agencies have operated in the United States to bypass American firms long resident in China.

4 Billion Reparations Claims By Philippines

Manila, July 5 (AP)—Unofficial reports from high Government sources today placed Philippines reparations claims against Japan at between $3,500,000,000 and $4,000,000,000.

The figures were based on two independently compiled reports using 1941 replacement costs as a guide.

Death for Filipino Traitor.

Manila, July 5 (A. P.).—The Philippine Supreme Court today affirmed the death sentence of Angel Beato, a Filipino convicted of betraying an American pilot, identified only as "Lieut. Leslie," to the Japanese for seven sacks of rice.

Dutch Protest Rejected By Philippine Official

Manila, July 5 (AP)—Alfredo de Leon, collector of customs, announced today he is returning to Indonesian consigness 29 cases of quinine which arrived June 10 aboard an Indonesian plane.

The transfer was made over protests of the Netherlands consulate-general that the shipment had been stolen and exported without permit.

De Leon decided that the holder of the delivery order is the legal owner of the cargo manifested in the order.

Envoy To Philippines Leaving For Post Soon

Washington, July 5 (AP)—Emmet O'Neal, new American Ambassador to the Philippines, will leave for Manilla to take up his post about the end of the month, one of his aides said today.

A definite departure date has not been set, he said, but O'Neal and his family plan to wind up their affairs in Washington so they can leave during the first week of August at the latest.

Plea for Filipino Veterans

Envoy Calls Bill in Congress Inadequate Recompense

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—Philippines Ambassador Joaquin M. Elizalde tonight said Filipino war veterans are disappointed at their treatment by the United States.

Mr. Elizalde took note of legislation pending before Congress to help Filipino veterans who fought against the Japanese, but added: "I do not think that even that is sufficient or liberal enough for our people and the resistance and the help they gave America during a critical period of the war."

U.N. OIL CONTROL FACES OPPOSITION

United States And Britain Doubt Plan's Efficiency

Lake Success, July 5 (AP)—American and British sources expressed opposition today to a proposed move to give the United Nations administrative operation of the rich oil resources in the Middle East.

This view was taken as a competitive race for Middle East oil concessions headed for an airing in the United Nations Economic and Social Council which convenes here July 19.

Scheduled for Council consideration is a proposal that the United Nations establish an authority to administer oil resources in the Middle East, by and with the consent of the countries involved.

Proposed By Co-Operatives

The proposal was submitted by the International Co-operative Alliance, one of the nongovernmental agencies having consultative status in the United Nations. The alliance represents national co-operatives in various parts of the world and claims a representation of more than 55,000,000 families.

American and British sources said any move to give administrative operation to such valuable assets now could not be encouraged by their governments.

They held the view that the United Nations is not in a position to effectively administer the oil resources in the Middle East.

For the sake of argument, they said, suppose the Middle East oil fields were turned over to the United Nations and there was the usual East-West split, with Russia and her satellites lining up on one side and Britain and America on the other.

Efficiency Questioned

"Immediately there comes to mind these questions," said one source. "Would the fields be able to run effectively? Would the oil be directed to the Western Hemisphere or would there be encroachment by Russia and her satellites?"

In view of Russia's attitude on the Marshall economic plan for Europe, British and American sources indicated that prospects were very rough for any plan including the Soviet Union, such as United Nations administration of Middle East oil would embody.

One British source said he also expected the Middle East countries to oppose the move.

American Role Cleared

Meanwhile, the United States role in the Middle East is becoming more clear.

Already at least a half billion dollars of private capital from American industry is beginning to pour into the Middle East with an immediate aim to pump petroleum from the vast reserves at double the present rate.

More than 90 per cent of the output in the Middle East is controlled by British and United States interests, the remainder by Dutch and French.

Russia has made an attempt to get a foot into the oil resources. The Soviet Union signed a draft agreement with Iran sixteen months ago for Russian oil exploitation in Iran. Under the agreement Russia would control 51 per cent and Iran 49 per cent of a Russian-Iranian oil development company. But the final agreement must be approved by the Iraian Majlis (Parliament) which was elected several months ago but has yet to hold its first session.

1,000-Mile Pipeline

The new American dollars pouring into the Middle East are to build a 1,000-mile pipeline from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean.

Until now American interests in Middle East oil have been restricted to Saudi Arabia, but they are joining British interests in Iran and Iraq.

Oil reserves, as estimated by the American company which holds concessions in an area of Saudi Arabia larger than Texas and California combined, will pump more than $1,000,000,000 into the treasury of that desert kingdom. The Arabian oil company estimates that reserves in its area are "conservatively" 5,000,000,000 barrels.

Syria And Lebanon Gain

Syria and Lebanon will also benefit from the dollars pouring into the Middle East oil fields. Under an agreement with the trans-Arabian Pipeline Company, the two countries have given transit rights for a $150,000,000 project which will carry oil from the rich concession in Arabia to the Mediterranean.

Camile Chammoun, Lebanese Finance Minister, said recently that oil from American-owned concessions in Saudi Arabia may provide a hard currency guarantee for his inflation-ridden country.

UN READY TO AIR WORLD RACE FOR MIDDLE EAST OIL

LAKE SUCCESS, July 5. — (AP) The competitive race for control of oil resources in the Middle East will have an airing in the United Nations this month.

The stage for it was set formally Thursday on the basis of a proposal from the International Cooperative Alliance (ICA) that the UN establish an authority for administration of Middle East oil resources, by and with the consent of the states involved.

ICA one of the non-governmental agencies having consultative status in the United Nations represents national cooperatives in various parts of the world and claims a representation of more than 55,000,000 families.

The oil proposal is scheduled for consideration when the UN Economic and Social Council convenes here July 19 for its fifth session.

U. S. EXPORTS SET ALL-TIME RECORD, PRESIDENT SAYS

Promises Continued Aid but Indicates Assistance Will Depend on Crop Results.

CITES URGENT DEMAND

'Must Not Lose Sight of Fact Efforts Fell Short of Meeting Needs,' He Says.

WASHINGTON, July 5 — (AP) President Truman reported today that U. S. exports of food to the world's hungry set an all-time record in the past 12 months, and he promised continued American aid.

He indicated in a statement, however, that future assistance will have to be reduced if corn and other summer-grown grain crops are short. The corn crop has been plagued by a wet, cool spring and by destructive floods.

The President said the United States exported 18,433,000 long tons or about 41,275,000,000 pounds during the year ending June 30.

Largest Total Ever Shipped

"This," he said, "is the largest total of food ever shipped from one country in a single year.

The old record of 17,122,000 tons was set by the United States a year ago.

While calling attention to the United States contribution to 'human needs abroad," Mr. Truman said "we must not lose sight of the fact that even the great efforts of this and other exporting countries fell short of meeting urgent postwar needs for food."

"Millions of people are still desperately hungry," he said. "Within our ability to share our resources we will continue to do our part to relieve human suffering and to help other countries to help themselves."

The President made his statement in releasing a detailed report on food exports by the cabinet committee on world food programs. Its members are Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, Secretary of State Marshall and Secretary of Commerce Harriman.

Refrain From Commitments

Both Mr. Truman and the committee carefully refrained from making definite export commitments beyond August. The government already has made grain export allocations for July and August calling for shipments at recent high levels.

The committee report said it is possible to continue large grain exports during these months because of prospects of a record-breaking wheat crop.

But this country, it said, cannot expect to keep up a high level of shipments throughout the entire year if the total of all available grain is substantially lowered by reductions in other grain crops.

"The size of the final exports which we can safely spare from our grain supplies for the year will, therefore, depend to a considerable extent upon the production of corn and other grains, in addition to wheat."

The committee added, however, that "it is hoped that we will be able to approximate this year's shipments." It said final exports will be governed also by transportation facilities and arrangements for financing exports.

30. 24- 10759

Commends Farmers

Mr. Truman said the record shipments could not have been made had this country not been "blessed last year with the most bountiful harvest in our history.

"Our farmers worked hard to produce record crops. The food industries, the railroads, the shipping companies, and the government agencies cooperated to make possible this movement of food on schedule from American farms to foreign ports."

The cabinet committee said the United States had been able to set the new assistance record without "depriving our own people of any needed food supplies, and without any unnecessary or serious impact on the domestic economy."

"Our people," the report said, have continued to eat at record or near-record levels—well above pre-war average."

Grain Made up Bulk of Exports

The great bulk of exports was grain and grain products, principally wheat and flour. Grain and grain products made up about 81 percent of total exports by volume. About one-third of last year's wheat crop was sent abroad.

Meat shipments, totaling 224,000 tons, made up about 1.2 per cent of exports and were about 2.3 per cent of the country's total production for the year. Shipments of dairy products totaled 493,000 tons and represented about 2.7 per cent of the exports. Fats and oils, at 233,000 tons, made up about 1.3 per cent of shipments.

The remainder, totaling 2,425,000 tons or 13 per cent, included dried beans and peas, fish, eggs, sugar, poultry, potatoes, vegetables, fruits and nuts.

Looking ahead to future foreign needs, the cabinet committee said crop prospects abroad have been reduced by a severe winter in northern Europe. It stated, too, that war devastated areas have been slower to recover than had been expected.

"Today, almost two years after the fighting stopped, we know that the food relief job is still unfinished," it said.

Breakdown of Exports

The committee said the American food was sent to areas in greatest need. It gave this general breakdown of exports:

Zones occupied by American and British military forces in Europe, 3,481,000 long tons or about 18.9 per cent of total shipments; the United Kingdom, 1,652,000 tons or about 9 per cent; Italy, 1,349,000 tons or about 7.3 per cent; France and French North Africa, 771,000 tons or about 4.2 per cent; Belgium 614,000 tons or about 3.3 per cent; Netherlands 600,000 tons or about 3.3 per cent; and all other European countries combined 2,678,000 or about 14.5 per cent.

In the Far East, Japan and Korea received 1,642,000 long tons or about 8.9 per cent of the total. India received 1,003,000 or about 5.4 per cent; the Philippines, 523,000 or 2.8 per cent; China 238,000 or 1.3 per cent; the Netherlands East Indies, 102,000 or about .5 per cent. The Latin American republics received 2,322,000 or about 12.6 per cent, and all other countries, 1,-[illegible] or about 8 per cent.

Food Statement and Report

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—The complete texts of today's statement by President Truman on the world food program and of a report to him by the Cabinet committee on the program follow:

Statement by the President

The Cabinet Committee on World Food Programs, which I appointed last September to coordinate the activities of the United States in shipping food abroad, has submitted a report that should gratify every American.

To meet urgent human needs abroad, nearly 18½ million long tons of grain and other food were exported by the United States in the year ending June 30, 1947. This is the largest total of food ever shipped from one country in a single year.

Our country was blessed last year with the most bountiful harvest in our history. Our farmers worked hard to produce record crops. The food industries, the railroads, the shipping companies and the government agencies co-operated to make possible the movement of food on schedule from American farms to foreign ports.

But we must not lose sight of the fact that even the great efforts of this and other exporting countries fell short of meeting the world's urgent post-war needs for food. Many millions of people are still desperately hungry.

The Cabinet committee reports that crop prospects abroad have been reduced by the severe winter in northern Europe, and that in the months ahead substantial shipments of food—especially wheat—must be continued.

Within our ability to share our resources, we will continue to do our part to relieve human suffering and to help other countries to help themselves. It is the course we must follow.

The arrangements under which it was possible for us to ship such large quantities of food abroad are, therefore, being continued. I have asked the Cabinet committee and the Co-ordinator of Emergency Export Programs to carry on for the coming year. The assistant to the President will, as in the past, take all possible steps to help expedite this program.

Partial Report to the President by the Cabinet Committee on World Food Programs

(FOR THE YEAR JULY 1, 1946-JUNE 30, 1947)

July 1, 1947.

Dear Mr. President:

Nearly 18½ million long tons (2,240 pounds) of food were exported by the United States during the twelve months ended June 30.

This was the largest total of foodstuffs ever shipped from one country in a single year, exceeding the previous United States record a year ago.

These supplies were channeled to those areas of the world which were in greatest need.

In spite of this vital contribution to the goal of world reconstruction and stability, it was still not possible to meet all the real needs of devastated countries.

The urgent need for food abroad continues. It will apparently be necessary to keep our exports at the highest practicable level during the year ahead.

These are the high lights of the United States food-export situation at the close of the 1946-'47 marketing year. They show that the American people can be justifiably proud of the achievements to date, but that we cannot yet ease up our efforts to make the maximum possible contribution to world needs. There is no room for complacency in the general situation.

Food grain, because it is easily shipped and stored and because it has high food value in relation to cost, was the backbone of the 1946-'47 export program, as it was a year ago. Cereals, including rice, made up slightly more than 15,000,000 long tons of the total shipments. Wheat, and flour in wheat equivalent, accounted for 10,500,000 tons (about 393,000,000 bushels—including 6,500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat milled in bond). Corn, oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums totaled nearly 4,000,000 tons (about 170,000,000 bushels). This brought the total for grain, other than rice, to about 563,000,000 bushels. Rice shipments amounted to 7,855,000 hundred-pound bags, the equivalent of more than 500,000 tons of rough rice.

Other shipments included: dairy products, 493,000 long tons; fats and oils, 233,000; meat, 224,000; other foods, including dry beans and peas, eggs, fish, sugar, potatoes, vegetables, fruit and nuts, nearly 2½ million tons.

The fact that it was possible to ship most of the food to the areas of the world which needed it most adds to the significance of the year's export program. Working closely with the International Emergency Food Council, and backed by allocation and export licensing authority, the government has been able to direct food exports to those destinations where they would do the most good. It has also been possible to shift current shipping schedules when necessary to meet extreme emergencies.

Shipments Listed by Areas

A general breakdown of the areas of destination, by quantities of United States food received in each area, will show the scope of the export operation: zones occupied by the American and British military forces in Europe received 3,481,000 long tons; the United Kingdom, 1,652,000; Italy, 1,349,000; France and French North Africa, 771,000; Belgium, 614,000; Netherlands, 600,000, and all other European countries combined, 1,248,000 tons. In the Far East, Japan and Korea received 1,642,000 long tons under the American military feeding program. India received 1,003,000; the Philippines, 523,000; China, 238,000, and the Netherlands East Indies, 102,000 tons. The Latin-American republics received 2,322,000, and other countries, 1,454,000 tons.

Another fact of special significance in connection with the year's export operations is that it was possible to make the very heavy shipments abroad without depriving our own people of any needed food supplies, and without any unnecessary or serious impact on the domestic economy. To the full extent that it has been possible to do so under rapidly changing conditions and needs, advance notice has been given on all programs and export plans. Allocations have been announced in advance. Government purchases for export have been announced regularly. This has been done to give both producers and food handlers all possible information on operations—to remove or minimize any uncertainties which might encourage speculation or result in upset conditions in domestic markets. Our people, of course, have continued to eat at record or near-record levels—well above pre-war average.

THE WORLD NEED FOR U. S. SUPPLIES

A year ago it was generally understood that continuing large imports of food would be an absolute necessity in many countries which were still struggling to overcome the effects of war. Food stocks were very low in large parts of continental Europe—particularly in Germany, Austria, Italy, and Romania—and in the deficit-producing countries of the Far East. In these areas, production facilities—work animals, implements, fertilizer and seed—were inadequate. Transportation systems were disrupted, which added to distribution problems. Most serious, months and years of malnutrition had brought human vitality to a low ebb.

Fortunately, and in sharp contrast to the desperate needs abroad, the food supply situation in the United States was very favorable for the 1946-'47 year. Our American farmers, responding to the call of the government for high-goal production, turned out record total food supplies last year. The 1946 wheat crop, at 1,156,000,000 bushels, set an all-time record. The corn crop, at 3,288,000,000 bushels, also was a new high. Totals for many other crops and livestock products were also held at levels far above the pre-war average.

This contrast between abundant food supplies in the United States and serious deficits in many other areas of the world formed the broad background of the situation at the time you appointed this committee (the Cabinet Committee on World Food Programs) last September. We were faced with the challenge of shipping out all the food supplies which we could spare, and which could be exported practically. At that time we knew that the situation in many countries abroad was getting worse instead of better. They were being forced to revise upward their earlier estimates of minimum food import needs. At the same time, our shipments had been lagging behind the desired schedules. There were no serious troubles with procurement, but the 1946 maritime strike and inland transportation difficulties had slowed down the movement of export supplies. More positive co-ordination and direction of the national food export effort was needed. That was the job you assigned to this committee.

Agencies Worked as Team

It was obvious that success in this tremendous national undertaking would depend upon the co-operation of all public and private agencies and services involved. This co-operation was given in full measure. As already mentioned, American farmers contributed the record production which was the basis for all subsequent accomplishments. The armed services, the civilian departments of the government, and international food agencies worked together as a team in planning and carrying out the export operations. They were backed solidly by the co-operative efforts of processors, distributors and transportation agencies.

We should like to record special appreciation of the invaluable services rendered by the Office of the Co-ordinator of Emergency Exports, which you established last December at the recommendation of this committee, under the very able direction of Captain Granville Conway. This office has co-ordinated all export transportation and shipping activities. Using priority authority when necessary, Captain Conway received the most complete co-operation and assistance from Colonel J. Monroe Johnson, director of O. D. T.; from officials of the Maritime Commission, and from other interested agencies in breaking transportation jams and directing the steady use of facilities without which it would not have been possible to move the record volume of food exports.

JUL 1947

A LOOK AHEAD

Today, almost two years after the fighting stopped, we know that the food relief job is still unfinished. War-devastated areas, we have learned, recover slowly. Production materials must be supplied. Transportation and storage facilities must be repaired or replaced. Above all, human vitality must be restored.

On top of the war devastation, still not overcome, the terrible weather in northern Europe during the last winter reduced crop prospects there.

It is apparent that substantial food exports from the United States and other surplus-producing countries will be needed for many months to come. The total volume which is shipped from the United States during the year will depend upon a number of factors, including transportation, financial arrangements and available supplies. That we are preparing to do our full share again is shown by the grain export allocations which have already been announced for July and August. They call for continuing shipments at recent high levels for the first two months of the new marketing year.

We can make these allocations, at least during the early months, because of the definite prospects of another record-breaking United States wheat crop—last estimated at about 1,400 million bushels for 1947. We could not, of course, expect to keep up this level of export shipments throughout the entire year if the total of all available grain is substantially lowered by reductions in other grain crops. The size of the final exports which we can safely spare from our grain supplies for the year will, therefore, depend to a considerable extent upon the production of corn and other grains, in addition to wheat. It is hoped that we will be able to approximate this year's shipments, if transportation and shipping facilities are adequate and if the necessary financial arrangements are completed. We shall know more about this when the corn crop is harvested.

Can't Take "Luxury" Goods

The quantities of other foodstuffs which can be exported will depend not only upon supplies, but also upon their availability at relative costs which will make them practical import commodities for those countries and agencies responsible for stretching available funds to meet the most urgent food needs of hungry people. They cannot be expected to take "luxury" or "high cost" food items.

While we continue the necessary export of interim supplies of foodstuffs, it is very important that we make every effort to help the devastated countries "help themselves." The sooner these countries get back to their normal food production the sooner will we be relieved of special supply responsibility—and the sooner will they become self-supporting economic units able to take their place in a more stabilized world.

A good illustration of this sort of indirect "food" help is the program directed by the Army in shipping fertilizer to the occupied zones of Europe. During the calendar year 1947 the Army plans to supply fertilizer material containing about 160,000 short tons (143,000 long tons) of badly needed nitrogen. This nitrogen is being produced in plants which are under Army jurisdiction and does not come out of our commercially produced supplies. It will be a vital contribution to the job of getting these areas back into normal domestic food production.

In addition to the fertilizer shipments to occupation zones substantial quantities of nitrogenous fertilizer have also been exported to other devastated areas in accordance with I. E. F. C. recommendations as to the regions of greatest need. Although the United States is historically a net importer of nitrogen fertilizer, because of greatly increased domestic production it has been possible to make these special exports and still have much more nitrogen than before the war for use on our own farms to help meet the needs of high-level United States crop production.

Self-Help Program Urged

More work of the kind which will help restore production in the needy areas should be done in order to reduce the unusual drain on American food and financial resources.

The need for devastated countries to get back into normal production as soon as possible, and to make the most effective use of their own supplies, is underscored by the probability that even the utmost efforts of the United States and other exporting countries will again fall short of making up all the acute food deficits in many countries during the year ahead. To this end the Food and Agriculture Organization, acting on behalf of the International Emergency Food Council, and after a formal recommendation by the United States Department of Agriculture, has called a special cereals conference in Paris, beginning July 9. The effort will be to acquaint all countries with facts of the world food situation ahead and to encourage the most adequate possible steps on the part of importing countries to increase the effectiveness of their own production, distribution and utilization of food supplies.

A summary of the more important commodity export programs and a table giving preliminary estimates of all food shipments for the year are attached at the end of this report.

REVIEW OF MAJOR COMMODITY EXPORT PROGRAMS

GRAINS: Before the beginning of the 1946-'47 program it was known that food grains would again have to be the mainstay of the year's operations. We had record production in the United States, and food grain was the first need of deficit countries.

As far back as May, 1946, we announced that definite foreign needs for around 267,000,000 bushels of wheat, in addition to other grains, were already known. Later in the fall we placed a general estimate of at least 400,000,000 bushels on the probable exports of all grains. By the early months of 1947 we said the over-all goal would be to move out the 400,000,000 bushels as soon as possible, and to exceed this total by as much as possible by June 30.

The record shows that these goals were met and surpassed. The 400,000,000 bushels had left our shores before May 1. The total food grain shipments through June 30 reached 563,000,000 bushels—in line with our top objectives but more than any one had dared predict could actually be moved out of the country during the period.

In spite of these record shipments there has been no shortage of bread flour in this country at any time during the year. Carry-over stocks of wheat have been reduced to less than 100,000,000 bushels. A very low figure, but one which is perfectly safe, in view of the tremendous 1947 wheat crop now being harvested.

About 52 per cent of the total grain exports went to the cash-paying foreign countries (principally the United Kingdom, India, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Brazil); about 31 per cent went to the occupied areas in Germany (combined U. S.-U. K. zones), Italy, Austria, Japan and Korea; about 17 per cent went to "U. N. R. R. A." countries for distribution—principally in Italy, Greece, Austria, Czechoslovakia and China.

Dairy Products

Exports of dairy products in 1946-47 are expected to approximate 493,000 long tons, compared with 788,000 in 1945-46. Of the 1946-47 total about 300,000 long tons were procured by the Department of Agriculture.

The discontinuance of price controls on July 1, 1946, resulted in some minor procurement problems. Dairy-product prices advanced somewhat during July and August of 1946, and the Government adopted the policy of purchasing at levels not higher than the old ceiling price plus the wartime subsidy. Rather heavy purchases were made under this policy.

But prices of dairy products advanced sharply in September as it became apparent that dairy-product prices would not be recontrolled. As a result, the department was unable to purchase under its price policies all supplies needed.

By December, prices again had dropped to the ceiling-plus-subsidy level and substantial purchases were resumed. The full amounts needed to meet the formal commitments of the United States were purchased by Jan. 1, 1947.

Approximately 193,000 tons of dairy products were purchased in commercial channels for the account of foreign governments and for private trade distribution.

Major recipients of our dairy product exports were as follows: United Kingdom, 185,000 long tons; Latin-American republics, 52,000; the Philippines, 50,000; France and French North Africa, 41,000, and the United States-United Kingdom military zones in Europe, 33,000 tons.

Fats and Oils

Production of edible fats and oils in the United States in 1946 was the smallest since 1940, while imports were the smallest since 1921. The difficult supply situation that resulted was the principal reason exports of fats and oils declined from 337,000 long tons in 1945-46 to 233,000 long tons in 1946-47.

Actual shipments during the last six months of 1946 approximated 100,000 long tons. In view of the limited supplies in this country, exports during the January-June, 1947, period were limited to approximately 133,000 long tons.

Major recipients of United States fats and oils exports included Latin-American republics, 58,000 long tons; France and French North Africa, 44,000; Italy, 18,000; Poland, 18,000; United Kingdom, 17,000, and Belgium, 13,000 long tons.

Meats

Meat exports declined from 589,000 long tons in 1945-46 to 224,000 in 1946-47. The latter total includes some 31,000 long tons of Army rations and meat food products, not covered by formal allocation, distributed by UNRRA and the Army for civilian relief feeding.

Two major factors were responsible for the sharp decrease in meat exports: (1) Supplies of meat were not sufficient to satisfy the very high domestic demand, which made it impracticable to allocate and export as large a quantity of meat as in the previous year, and (2) importing countries reduced their purchases of high-priced meats in favor of increased purchases of relatively low-priced grain.

During the July-December, 1946, period, exports of meat totaled 141,000 long tons. Exports during the January-June, 1947 period are estimated at 83,000 long tons.

Of the twelve-month total of 224,000 long tons, Europe received 195,000; the Far East, 15,000; Latin-American republics, 6,000, and other countries 8,000 tons.

3,000 Abroad Study Under GI Benefits

Washington, July 5 (AP)—More than 3,000 veterans of World War II are studying abroad under educational provisions of the GI bill, the Veterans Administration said today.

The Philippine republic heads the list with 1,411, most of them Filipinos who served with the United States armed forces. Canada is second with 571.

The United Kingdom, with 217; France, with 175, and Switzerland, with 141, have the bulk of 662 students studying in thirteen European countries. The number in other nations there includes Belgium, five; Czechoslovakia, three; Denmark, three; Eire, nineteen; Italy, 35; the Netherlands, five; Sweden, 54; Spain, one; Greece, two, and Norway, two.

231 In Mexico

Mexico has 231 of the 279 students in Latin America. Others are Argentina, three; Brazil, four; Chile, three; Colombia, four; Costa Rica, two; Cuba, 22; Dominican Republic, four; Ecuador, one; El Salvador, one; Peru, three, and Uruguay, one.

The count in other nations includes Palestine, 63; China, three; Syria, three; Australia, 38; Newfoundland, one; New Zealand, four, and Union of South Africa, one.

Byrnes Joins Roberts Draft Committtee

Philadelphia, July 5 (AP)—James F. Byrnes has joined the Citizens Emergency Committee for Universal Training in its efforts to promote "peace through preparedness."

Owen J. Roberts, former Supreme Court justice and chairman of the newly formed committee, disclosed the membership of his one-time colleague yesterday together with those of Admiral Ben Morrell, Pittsburgh, former chief of the Navy's Bureau of Ships; H. J. Heinz 2d, president of the H. J. Heinz Company; Richard J. Mellon, president of the Mellon National Bank, Pittsburgh, and A. Rex Flinn, Pittsburgh industrialist.

Presidential Medal For Naval Hero

Washington, July 5 (AP)—President Truman has directed that a posthumous award of a gold medal to the American naval hero of the Revolutionary War, John Paul Jones, be made in "the name of the President of the United States."

A letter to this effect from Mr. Truman to Secretary of the Navy Forrestal was made public today by the Navy. The President expressed regret that his schedule would not permit attendance at the award ceremonies, tomorrow in Fredericksburg, Va.

To Go To Annapolis

The presentation is to be made by Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, president of the Naval Historical Foundation. The occasion is the two-hundredth anniversary of Jones's birth.

Rear Admiral James L. Holloway, Jr., superintendent of the United States Naval Academy, will accept the medal on behalf of the academy and place it in the John Paul Jones crypt at Annapolis.

The Continental Congress authorized the award of a medal to Jones, but historical records leave doubt that the medal, the dies for which were made in Paris, actually was struck and presented.

Is U.N. Slow? U.S. Basic Law Took 13 Years

San Francisco, July 5 (AP)—Americans fearful of delays in setting up effective world-peace machinery should remember it took thirteen years after the end of the American Revolution to adopt the Constitution, reminds Clarence A. Dykstra, provost of the University of California at Los Angeles.

"Just now every difference of opinion, every word of Molotov, for instance, is magnified and viewed with alrm," Dykstra told a closing session of the American Library Association's sixty-sixth annual conference last night.

"We are living in a credulous and fearful world in which press and radio are active every day.

"Our problem is to prepare ourselves intellectually and socially for living in the world which science and technology have created. As yet we haven't made the accommodation."

Paul North Rice, chief of the reference department of the New York Public Library, was installed as new president of the association.

Group Will Give Radios ToHospitalized Veterans

HOLLYWOOD, July 5.—Sixty prominent persons head by Jack Benny, announced today plans to provide tens of thousands of bedside and pillow-type radio receiving sets gratis to hospitalized veterans throughout the United States.

Mr. Benny said the project would be conducted by the Hospitalized Veterans National Radio Foundation, a non-profit, non-sectarian, non-political association, which has been in formation for several months. It comprises leading figures of the stage, screen and radio; business men, industrialists, bankers, public officials, educators, publishers and philanthropists from nearly every state.

With Mr. Benny as president, the founders include Eddie Cantor, Perry Como, Herbert Marshall, Joseph Cotton, Art Linkletter, Sophie Tucker, Larry Adler, Walter Pidgeon, Rudy Vallee, Louis Bromfield and Sammy Kaye.

Scandinavian States Will Get $40,000,000

New York, July 5 (AP)—Jesse Edwin Saugstad, chief of the shipping division of the State Department, said today that approximately $40,000,000 would be paid by the United States to Scandinavian countries as compensation for damage and loss to ships taken over by this country during the war.

Saugstad made the statement embarking on the Swedish American liner Gripsholm for Gothenburg, Sweden, en route to settle the claims.

He said about $35,000,000 would be paid to Denmark and a total of $5,000,000 to Finland and Norway.

VA AIDS 162,500 IN FARMING

Tennessee Has 11 Per Cent of U. S. Total Under 'GI Bill'

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The Veterans Administration is helping 162,500 students become better farmers. The agency said today the number of veterans of World War II enrolled for on-the-farm training, under the so-called "GI Bill of Rights" and a similar act providing educational benefits for disabled veterans, on May 1, totaled 142,000 who own or rent their farms and 20,500 who work for employer-trainers. More than 13,500 of them are disabled veterans.

More than half of the farmer-students are in Tennessee, with 11 per cent; North Carolina, Kentucky, Illinois, Arkansas, Alabama, Texas and Oklahoma.

The farms serve as laboratories in which the students put into practice knowledge gained at near-by agricultural or vocational schools. Classroom instructors visit the farms regularly to inspect the farm work.

Savants See Need To Study Effects Of Atomic Radiations

Washington, July 5 (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission was told today by a board of eminent American scientists that there is an "urgent and extensive" need for further research on the effects of atomic energy radiations on human life in peacetime and war.

The board of seven researchers — especially appointed by the commission — declared in a report made public by America's atomic energy chief, David E. Lilienthal:

"Because the Atomic Energy Commission is charged by law with the exclusive control of materials, equipment, processes and information which are unique, constantly dangerous and certainly not yet sufficiently understood, the commission has every reason to assume extensive responsibilities for further development and study of the effects of products of atomic fission on human life."

Defense Measures Not Known

The need is "urgent," the board said, "because of the extraordinary danger of exposing living creatures to radioactivity (and) because effective defensive measures (in the military sense) against radiant energy are not yet known."

"From now on," said the report, "we shall mine, transport, process and use radioactive substances as sources of power, tools for investigation of biological processes, and for the treatment of disease. There will therefore be incessant danger in handling such substances and using their radioactive properties."

Reasons Are Given

And the need is "extensive," their report said, because—

"The number of radioactive substances is large; many have never been identified as existing in nature. Such substances call for suspicious study. . . . In all probability the discovery of new substances and new production methods will raise new research problems, the solutions of which are the responsibilities of the Atomic Energy Commission for the protection of their workers in the factories and the public in their environs."

6 Steps Asked

Specifically, the board urged the commission to:

1. Expand research on medical and biological aspects of atomic energy in its own facilities.

2. Join with the armed forces, the United States Public Health Service, and other Government agencies in co-operative studies.

3. Give support, financial or otherwise, to university researches on kindred problems; and continue to provide radioactive isotopes for the study of fundamental medical and biological problems. (Radioactive isotopes are materials which emit "rays" and therefore can be followed by the "signals" they give when they are placed in a human or animal body or a test tube.)

Fellowships Wanted

4. Establish fellowships for individuals in the field of atomic radiation effects so as to provide an adequate corps of ". . . young, available, and active scientists with continuing experience in atomic fission, its dangers, and its potentialities . . ."

5. Avoid secrecy in the field of biological and medical research, in so far as it is compatible with national security.

6. Encourage publication of scientific papers dealing with the subject, consistent with national security.

The board suggested that in the interests of progress in medicine and biology, steps be taken to make radioactive isotopes "available to foreign investigators."

Isotope Supply Growing

"The time is approaching," the report said, "when the supply of isotopes for the study of fundamental biological and medical problems will more than meet the needs of American investigators."

The board, known as the "Medical Board of Review" of the Atomic Energy Commission, consists of: Dr. Robert F. Loeb, of Columbia University, chairman; Dr. Detlev W. Bronk, of the University of Pennsylvania and chairman of the National Research Council; Dr. Wallace O. Fenn, University of Rochester physiologist; Dr. Herbert S. Gasser, director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research; Dr. Ernest W. Goodpasture, dean of Vanderbilt University's School of Medicine; Dr. Alan Gregg, director for medical sciences, Rockefeller Foundation, and Dr. A. Baird Hastings, Harvard Medical School professor of biological chemistry.

Obligations Pointed Out

"With an absolute monopoly of new and powerful tools for research and important knowledge, the Atomic Energy Commission has obligations to share its acquisitions with the scientific world wherever security considerations permit . . .," the report said.

"The possible hazards to the health of human beings, animals and plants, incident to research, development, and production of materials concerned with atomic power, make knowledge regarding the nature of such hazards, their recognition and control a subject for which the Atomic Energy Commission must assume primary responsibility at this time."

Experts Shrug Over Saucers

U. S. Military and Scientific Men Offer No Explanation for Flying Disks.

Washington, July 5 (A. P.).—Military and scientific experts here had only bleak looks and shoulder shrugs today at a new rash of flying saucer reports from around the country.

Researchers of the Army, Navy and a Government observatory agreed on one thing—they "don't know what it's all about"—or so they said.

Told that the crew of an airliner flying over Idaho last evening had reported seeing a formation of the mysterious saucers skimming through the skies, an Army Air Forces officer repeated, a little wearily:

"W have no experimental aircraft of that nature in Idaho—nor anywhere else. We're mystified."

The Navy hod no suggestions to offer, beyond a statement from its Naval observatory here which said that none of the staff had sighted anything resembling the flying saucers.

The observatory added that from the descriptions so far given the discus would not seem to be astronomical phenomena.

Portland Excited.

Portland, Ore., July 5 (A. P.).—The flying saucers — or maybe they were something else—staged a wild Fourth of July celebration today that aroused more hullabaloo than ten years of firecrackers.

Scores of persons — including every branch of police in the area —reported seeing what they thought were silver disks sporting madly about overhead. Excited residents jammed newspapers and police switchboards with calls, and the police issued an "all cars" broadcast.

The reports came shortly after a flight of B-29 bombers, followed by P-80 fighters, passed over the city.

The first saucer reports came from southeast Portland, where residents saw flying disks above the Oaks amusement park. Two police patrol cars said they saw these, too, "up by the sun, going ——." A few minutes later Sheriff Martin T. Pratt's deputies reported seeing "20 in a line going like hell to the West."

Photographs One.

Seattle, July 5 (A. P.).—A Coast Guardsman said last night he believed he had taken the first picture of one of the mysterious flyings disks.

Yeoman Frank Ryman, Coast Guard public relations officer, said he took the picture from his home north of Seattle after excited neighbors told him of sighting it high overhead. The results showed a tiny light spot against the dark background of the evening sky.

More Saucers.

Port Huron, Mich., July 5 (A. P.).—Flying saucers were sighted last night by several residents southwest of Port Huron, who described them as flat translucent plates, twelve to fifteen inches in diameter, criss-crossing the sky and moving northward.

"They definitely were not fireworks," said one witness.

This was the first time the saucers had been reported over the Michigan area.

At New Orleans, Too.

New Orleans, July 5 (A. P.).—A New Orleans saleswoman reported seeing a flying disk in the sky over Lake Pontchartrain last night.

Miss Lillian Lawless said the object was flying at a great height and at terrific speed in a northeasterly direction. She said she could not estimate the size, but that it looked like "a round saucer," and shone like silver.

Saw Them 4 Weeks Ago.

Augusta, Ga., July 5 (A. P.).—An Augusta physician said today he sawing flying saucers almost four weeks before the first published account of them appeared.

Dr. Colden R. Battey said he sighted four disks, flying at terrific speed at an altitude of more than 20,000 feet, while he was fishing at St. Helena Sound near Beaufort, S. C. He said he did not report them sooner, because he believed them to be meteorological balloons or "some new type of flying wing aircraft."

Canada Spots Disks.

Summerside, Canada, July 5 (A. P.).—Farmers in this Prince Edward Island region claim to have seen more of the disk-like missiles reported flying through northern skies earlier this week.

James Harris, farmer at Sherbrooke, said he saw one of the objects last night. At about the same time Brenton Clark said he saw a bright object traveling north to south at medium height at Augustine Cove. Earlier this week four Summerside persons reported seeing one of the missiles.

Philadelphians See One.

Philadelphia, July 5 (A. P.).—Dr. M. K. Leisy, a junior interne at the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental Diseases, and other persons in the western section of the city, reported seeing strange craft in the skies last night.

It was something round and dark with a luminous halo about it, Leisy declared, and seemed to be propelled by whirling wings. Contrary to reports from other parts of the country, Leisy said the object he saw was moving at approximately the speed of the wind.

Government Attitude Is 'Let's See Saucer'

Washington, July 5 (AP)—Government scientists and military officials took a "bring one in and let's see it" view tonight of growing reports of fresh coveys of "flying saucers" zipping through the air.

"I'd like to see one first before I make a guess," said Ivan R. Tannehill, chief of the Weather Bureau's division of synoptic reports and forecasts, when asked for his explanation of the disks.

This was echoed by an official at the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Newbern Smith, of the National Bureau of Standards, said he "wouldn't think" the disks were a "natural phenomenon," but that "any theory might do equally as well." He suggested it may have been the "reflection of a distant plane."

Army And Navy "Don't Know"

At the War and Navy departments, officials repeated a little wearily that they "don't know what it's all about."

An official of the Civil Aeronautics Administration said the administration has received no official report of the strange sights.

Russell Robinson, assistant director of aeronautical research for the National Advisory Committee for Aeornautics, said he has no first-hand knowledge of the disks and can shed no light on what they are.

Foil-Covered Star Found

Interest in the mystery was heightened by the finding of a six-pointed tin-foil covered star, with part of a balloon attached, on the land of a Circleville (Ohio) farmer.

It was described as a device employed by the Army Air Forces to check on wind speeds at high altitudes through radar.

Progress of such devices through the sky, an Army Air-Force official here said, is comparatively slow, and not at the high speeds witnesses have attributed to the "flying saucers."

Columbus, Ohio, July 5 (AP)—Louis E. Starr, national commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, told the V.F.W. Ohio Encampment today that he was expecting information from Washington about "the fleets of flying saucers."

He indicated the information would help explain the disks, reported to have been sighted in various parts of the country.

The V.F.W. commander, whose home is Portland, Ore., did not indicate the source of the anticipated information.

After making the announcement, he remarked:

"Too little is being told to the people of this country."

Crew Of Airliner Reports Seeing 'Disks' In Idaho

JUL 1947

Boise, Idaho, July 5 (AP) — The entire crew of a westbound Boise-to-Seattle United Air Lines plane late last night reported they had seen nine flying disks near the airline's route over Emmett, Idaho.

Capt E. J. Smith, of U.A.L. Trip 105, which left Boise at 9.04 P.M., said that his copilot, First Officer Ralph Stevens, blinked the transport's landing lights in the belief the disks were other aircraft.

"Loose Formation"

Blinking landing lights during a night flight is a pilot's signal of warning to other aircraft that a plane is flying in the same area.

Smith said it was 8 minutes after takeoff from Boise that Stevens and he saw five disks, flying what appeared to be a "loose formation."

They called Marty Morrow, stewardess, to the cockpit to verify that they were actually seeing the disks, said Smith, and she agreed they saw them.

Then they saw four more of the disks, three clustered together, and a fourth flying "by itself, way off in the distance.

The plane was flying into the dim twilight sky when the objects were first sighted, Smith told the Idaho Daily Statesman by telephone from Pendleton, where the transport first landed after leaving Boise.

Flying disks have been reported over the northwest for the past two weeks.

Smith and Stevens said that as the landing lights were blinked, they could see no responding lights on the objects.

"The disks," they said, "definitely were not aircraft. But they were bigger than aircraft."

Following their first sight of the disks, said Smith and Stevens, it was observed that the five objects were apparently climbing on a course aproximating that of the airliner's.

At no time, they said, was there any apparent danger of a collision. They told the story over the telephone at Pendleton, where the wire was held open as the plane landed and taxied into the terminal.

Smith said he and Stevens had been joking about the disks before they left Boise. They said, "You'll have to show us these things," to local airline personnel.

Then, said Stevens, they were off the ground, climbing to cruising altitude, when the objects loomed out of the gathering darkness.

The transport was at an altitude of 7,000 feet over Emmett, said Stevens, when he reached forward and turned on the landing lights to avoid what he thought was danger from other planes flying at about the same level.

"At first I thought it was a group of light planes returning from some Fourth of July celebration," he said, "then I realized the things were not aircraft but were flat and circular."

Stevens said the first group appeared to open and close in formation.

The objects, after first being seen, veered over to the left of the transport and Smith picked up his radio microphone and called Ontario, Ore., CAA radio communications station, about 65 airline miles from Boise.

"Step outside and look to the Southwest about 15 miles and see what you can find," he told the operator.

The operator reported that he could see nothing.

By this time, said Stevens, the first group of disks disappeared.

"Then," said the first officer, "I saw the second group, three together and a fourth off to itself."

Over Rugged Country

By then the transport had reached 8,000 feet and was cruising over the rugged country leading to the Blue Mountains, athwart the liner's path.

Stevens said these objects "merged, then disappeared, then came back in sight and finally vanished again to the northwest. They seemed to be higher than our flight path this time. When they did finally disappear, they went fast."

Smith and Stevens said they had the objects under observation for from "ten to fifteen minutes."

The plane, they said, was southeast of Ontario when they lost all track of the disks.

"I know this," said Smith, "they were nothing from the ground in the way of fireworks reflections or anything like that. I know they weren't smoke. I know they weren't aircraft. I don't know how fast they were going. We all saw them. They are flat and circular. They are bigger than aircraft."

"Scientist" Suggests Atomic Tie

LOS ANGELES, July 5 (AP)—An unidentified "scientist in nuclear physics" at the California Institute of Technology was quoted today as suggesting the flying saucers might be the result of "transmutation of atomic energy" experiments. But Dr. C. C. Lauritsen, head of Caltech's nuclear physics department, denied the source was a member of his staff.

The Evening Herald and Express described its informant as a researcher on the Manhattan Atomic project and said he asked his name be withheld.

Lilienthal Scouts Idea

DENVER, July 5 (AP)—David Lilienthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, told The Denver Post in a telephone interview tonight that the "flying saucers" reported over the United States were in no way connected with atomic experiments.

The Post said a reporter held this brief telephone conversation with Mr. Lilienthal in Washington:

The reporter explained the purpose of his call, and related reports that a West Coast scientist had said the discs were related to "transmutation of atomic energy."

Mr. Lilienthal interrupted to say "of course, I can't prevent anyone from saying foolish things."

Portland, Ore., July 5 (AP)—The nation's perplexity over disks reported spinning through the skies deepened today, in the wake of July 4 reports from virtually all parts of the country.

There was no scientific explanation offered to fit the observations which spanned the nation from the Pacific to the Gulf, to the Atlantic.

A mass of evidence piled up swiftly as holiday throngs and flyers joined in telling of seeing bright, pancake-like objects skimming through the air at varying estimates of altitude and speed.

Skeptics Join Believers

Former skeptics joined the ranks of the believers as the flashing objects glittered before their eyes. Reliable observers—such as Capt. E. J. Smith, of United Air Lines, his copilot, Ralph Stevens, and his stewardess, Marty Morrow—told of seeing the round, flat objects for twelve minutes while flying west from Boise, Idaho, on Independence Day evening.

Ex-airmen, picnickers, motorists and housewives swelled the number of witnesses to the strange pnenomenon.

An Army Air Force spokesman in Washington on July 3 said there was not enough fact to "warrant further investigation," but the air material command at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, said it was making a study. Saturday at Washington an Army researcher admitted "we're mystified" and the Navy said it had no theories.

One top University of Washington physicist, who declined to be identified, said he could offer no theory regarding the disks.

Concerning a picture taken at Seattle yesterday, he said that as the object in the picture was unidentifiable, the photograph proved only "that some reflected light affected a photographic plate."

He considered an explosion theory as unlikely as reports indicate "directed motion, rather than chaotic."

The first published report of "flying saucers" came from Kenneth Arnold, Boise, Idaho, business man pilot, who reported at Pendleton, Ore., on June 25 that he had seen nine flying at 1,200 miles an hour in formation, shifting position "like the tail of a kite," over Washington State's Cascade Mountains.

Before scoffers had more than begun to offer explanations such as "reflections," "persistent vision," and "snow blindness," an Oklahoma City private flyer, Byron Savage, said he had seen a similarly shaped object some weeks earlier, but fear of ridicule kept him quiet.

Seen By Hundreds

Then the reports began to filter in, mostly from individuals. The disks were seen in Texas, in New Mexico, in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Missouri, Colorado, California, Arizona, Nebraska. The number varied from one to a dozen, seen by one or two people mostly.

Then the July 4 deluge hit. Two hundred persons in one group and 60 in another saw them in Idaho; hundreds saw them in Oregon, Washington and other states throughout the West.

And, for the first time, the eastern states had their reports. Observers, earlier all from west of the Mississippi River, came in with reports from Michigan, Louisiana, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Indiana, Kentucky, Georgia, South Carolina and Canada's Atlantic seaboard.

That the end was not yet became apparent when on Saturday, Donald Dwiggins, salesman, of Glendale, Cal., said he saw four—"changing shape as they flew"—over the Southern California city.

Observers Agree

Near unanimity was recorded on some of the disks' characteristics—terrific speed, bright reflections, round or oval in shape, flat and flying with a peculiar undulating motion. Size was moot and expressed by Captain Smith, of United Air Lines as "hard to judge" without knowing the distance from the observer to the objects.

Meanwhile, Kenneth Arnold, the man who first reported them, could recall his insistence when his report was widely questioned, that "I don't believe it either—but I saw it."

LONDON, JULY 5-(AP)-THE BRITISH ADMIRALTY REPORTS THAT BRITISH MERCHANT SHIP LOSSES IN WORLD WAR II AVERAGED 41 VESSELS A MONTH COMPARED TO A MONTHLY AVERAGE OF 95 IN THE FIRST WORLD WAR.

THE ADMIRALTY'S REPORT YESTERDAY, HOWEVER, POINTED OUT THAT THE AVERAGE TONNAGE SUNK EACH MONTH WAS ABOUT THE SAME -- 215,000 GROSS TONS. THE AGGREGATE LOSS IN THE SECOND WAR WAS 11,331,933 GROSS TONS. OF A TOTAL OF 2,426 MERCHANT SHIPS, THE ADMIRALTY SAID, 383 WERE SUNK BY ENEMY AIRCRAFT, 1,332 BY GERMAN SUBMARINES AND THE REST BY OTHER MEANS. THE LOSSES REACHED THEIR PEAK IN 1941 AT 717 SHIPS. THE ADMIRALTY SAID THE CONVOY SYSTEM HELPED HOLD DOWN LOSSES IN WORLD WAR II.

LONDON, JULY 5-(AP)-STATEMENTS FROM EUROPEAN GOVERNMENT SOURCES INDICATED TODAY THAT AT LEAST FIVE NATIONS HAD ACCEPTED OR WERE AᴮOUT TO ACCEPT INVITATIONS TO A PROPOSED 24-NATION PARIS CONFERENCE NEXT SATURDAY ON THE MARSHALL RECOVERY PLAN. ᴮUT HOW MUCH SUCCESS THE ᴮID WOULD HAVE AMONG RUSSIA'S FRIENDS STILL WAS IN DOUᴮT.

THE FIVE FAVORAᴮLE NATIONS WERE GREECE, PORTUGAL, ITALY, THE NETHERLANDS AND DENMARK. STATEMENTS FROM OTHER CAPITALS GAVE REASON FOR ᴮELIEF THAT FIVE OTHERS--TURKEY, ᴮELGIUM, SWITZERLAND, EIRE AND ICELAND -- ALSO WOULD ACCEPT.

LONDON DIPLOMATIC OᴮSERVERS SAID THEY EXPECTED AT LEAST 12 COUNTRIES TO REPLY FAVORAᴮLY. AMONG THOSE THAT PROᴮAᴮLY WILL NOT, THEY SAID, ARE YUGOSLAVIA, HUNGARY, ᴮULGARIA AND FINLAND -- ALL UNDER SOVIET INFLUENCE. OFFICIAL ATTITUDES OF CZECHOSLOVAKIA AND POLAND WERE IN THE MAKING TODAY.

ᴮRITAIN AND FRANCE, WHICH HAVE LAID THE GROUNDWORK FOR THE CONFERENCE, ISSUED THE INVITATIONS THURSDAY NIGHT. THE DAY ᴮEFORE, THEY HAD FAILED TO GET AGREEMENT FROM SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V. M. MOLOTOV TO A PROGRAM OF EUROPEAN ECONOMIC COOPERATION TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF AN OFFER OF UNITED STATES HELP MADE ᴮY SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE C. MARSHALL IN A HARVARD UNIVERSITY SPEECH JUNE 5.

THE FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTRY, THROUGH WHICH THE INVITATIONS WERE SENT, DISCLOSED THE TEXT YESTERDAY. UNDER ᴮRITISH-FRENCH PROPOSALS FROM WHICH THE CONFERENCE IS TO WORK, A STEERING COMMITTEE WITH SUᴮCOMMITTEES ON FOOD, POWER, METALS AND TRANSPORT WOULD LIST EUROPEAN RESOURCES AND NEEDS IN THE REPORT, TO ᴮE PRESENTED TO THE U.S. GOVERNMENT.

A ᴮRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN AT A NEWS CONFERENCE YESTERDAY VOICED HOPE THAT THE INVITED NATIONS WOULD ᴮE "LEFT COMPLETELY FREE AND UNINFLUENCED ᴮY EVERY GREAT POWER TO MAKE THEIR OWN DECISION."

IN THIS DISPATCH HE WEIGHS THE PROᴮAᴮLE EFFECT OF THE SOVIET REFUSAL TO PARTICIPATE IN THE PLAN ON FUTURE HIGHLY IMPORTANT CONFERENCES OF THE MAJOR POWERS. THIS IS ANOTHER OF A SERIES OF WEEKLY ARTICLES POINTING UP DEVELOPMENTS IN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS).

PARIS, JULY 5-(AP)-TWO YEARS OF DISMAL PEACE HAVE INDUCED ᴮRITAIN AND FRANCE TO TRY NOW TO PATCH UP EUROPE'S TATTERED ECONOMY WITHOUT RUSSIA.

THE CHOICE WAS NOT THEIR OWN, ᴮUT THE RUSSIAN'S, WHO VETOED CONTINENTAL ECONOMIC COOPERATION ᴮECAUSE, THE SOVIETS SAID, IT THREATENED THE SOVEREIGNTY OF SMALL EUROPEAN STATES.

THERE HAS ᴮEEN NO EFFORT TO MINIMIZE THE RESULTS OF THE ANGLO-SOVIET-FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE. IT ENDED IN ᴮITTERNESS. THE RUSSIANS SAID WITHOUT CONTRADICTION EUROPE WOULD ᴮE DIVIDED.

SINCE THE WAR INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES HAVE ENDED MOSTLY IN FAILURE TO AGREE. THE PARIS MEETINGS ENDED IN OUTSPOKEN CONFLICT, SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV GROWLING THREATENING WORDS.

UNQUESTIONAᴮLY RUSSIA RAN A RISK WHEN MOLOTOV TURNED DOWN THE PROPOSAL OF U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL FOR THE ECONOMIC RECONSTRUCTION OF EUROPE. IF IT WORKS ELSEWHERE RUSSIAN INFLUENCE AND PRESTIGE WILL SUFFER IN THOSE STATES THAT TARRY ᴮEHIND WITH THE SOVIETS.

MOLOTOV'S WARNING TO ᴮRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST ᴮEVIN AND FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTER GEORGES ᴮIDAULT THAT THE PROJECT MEANS DIVISION OF EUROPE AND WOULD LEAD "TO NO GOOD RESULTS" WAS INTERPRETED IN EUROPEAN CAPITALS AND IN WASHINGTON TO MEAN THE SOVIETS WOULD FIGHT IT.

IN THE VIEW OF WESTERN OᴮSERVERS THE PARIS CONFERENCE WAS NOT A FAILURE. IT PRODUCED AN UNMISTAKAᴮLE ULTIMATUM TO THE SOVIETS: THAT RUSSIA CANNOT CONTINUE TO DELAY WORLD PROGRESS ᴮY AN UNCOMPROMISING STAND AND A SUSPICIOUS APPROACH TO EVERY WESTERN SUGGESTION.

MOLOTOV'S VETO OF THE MARSHALL PLAN, THEY SAID, WAS PERHAPS THE WORST RUSSIAN DIPLOMATIC ᴮLUNDER SINCE THE END OF THE WAR.

IT MADE ONLY TOO CLEAR THE RUSSIAN POSITION IN THE UNITED NATIONS, WHERE MANY IMPORTANT DECISIONS HAVE ᴮEEN SO EFFECTIVELY ᴮLOCKED ᴮY THE SOVIETS THAT ᴮRITAIN ALREADY HAS QUESTIONED THE EFFECTIVENESS OF

THE WORLD PEACE ORGANIZATION.

AUTHORITATIVE FRENCH AND BRITISH SOURCES TOOK OPPOSING VIEWS, IN THE LIGHT OF THE PARIS BREAKDOWN, ON THE CHANCES OF AGREEMENT WHEN THE CONFERENCE OF FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS MEETS IN LONDON IN NOVEMBER TO WRITE THE GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN PEACE TREATIES.

WELL-INFORMED ADVISERS IN THE BRITISH CAPITAL EXPRESSED THE BELIEF THAT SUCCESSFUL LAUNCHING OF THE MARSHALL PROJECT FOR REBUILDING EUROPE'S WAR-SHATTERED ECONOMY COULD INCREASE RATHER THAN REDUCE THE PROSPECTS OF A LONDON SETTLEMENT.

THE FRENCH WERE NOT SO OPTIMISTIC.

JUL 1947

A135

AUTHORITATIVE FRENCH QUARTERS SAID PROSPECTS FOR THE NOVEMBER CONFERENCE DEPEND ON WHAT HAPPENS AT THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETING IN SEPTEMBER--THE NEXT MAJOR MEETING OF THE RUSSIANS AND THE WEST.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN IN NEW YORK? FRENCH OFFICIALS DON'T KNOW AND DECLINE TO SPECULATE.

AN AUTHORITATIVE BRITISH INFORMANT SAW TWO POSSIBLE CONSEQUENCES OF THE PARIS CONFERENCE:

THAT INITIATION OF THE MARSHALL PROJECT UNDER ANGLO-FRENCH LEADERSHIP COULD RESULT IN WHAT THEY CALLED "THE ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL ISOLATION OF RUSSIA AND THE RUSSIAN-ORBIT STATES" A DIVISION OF EUROPE.

THE STRONGER POSSIBILITY THAT THE SUCCESS OF THE MARSHALL PROJECT WOULD "SHOCK" RUSSIA AND THE COUNTRIES ALONG EUROPE'S RED FRINGE INTO THE REALIZATION THEIR COOPERATION WAS NOT ABSOLUTELY ESSENTIAL FOR CONTINENTAL RECOVERY.

THE LATTER, THE INFORMANT ADDED, COULD BE CONSIDERED DEVELOPMENT OF THE U.S. POLICY OF "KEEPING TOUGH" WITH THE SOVIET UNION.

NOT ALL OF THE 22 COUNTRIES INVITED BY THE BRITISH AND FRENCH TO A PARIS MEETING ON JULY 12 TO INITIATE THE MARSHALL PROPOSALS ARE LIKELY TO ACCEPT. LONDON SOURCES SAID THEY EXPECTED AT LEAST 12 TO ATTEND.

THOSE IN THE DOUBTFUL COLUMN INCLUDED YUGOSLAVIA, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, POLAND, FINLAND, ROMANIA, HUNGARY AND BULGARIA. SPAIN, AS LONG AS FRANCO IS DICTATOR, WILL NOT BE ASKED TO PARTICIPATE IN ANY JOINT EUROPEAN RECOVERY EFFORT.

CONCEIVABLY THE MARSHALL PLAN COULD WORK WITH ONLY A HANDFUL OF WESTERN EUROPEAN STATES. IT MIGHT EVEN SUCCEED IF THE STRONG FRENCH COMMUNIST PARTY PREVENTS COOPERATION OF THAT COUNTRY. FRANCE, HOWEVER, IS KNOWN TO BE ONE OF THE KEY NATIONS SECRETARY MARSHALL HAD IN MIND WHEN HE PROPOSED HIS PLAN.

FOREIGN OBSERVERS SAID THERE WAS LITTLE DOUBT THAT ECONOMIC REORGANIZATION OF EUROPE WOULD CAUSE POLITICAL CONFLICT.

THE ITALIAN AND FRENCH GOVERNMENTS ARE ORGANIZED WITHOUT COMMUNISTS BUT THEIR PARTIES ARE STRONG--THEY HOLD MOST SEATS BUT NOT A MAJORITY IN THE FRENCH NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

NORWAY, DENMARK AND SWEDEN, GUARDING AGAINST A BREAK WITH RUSSIA, WILL PROBABLY AGREE ON A COMMON SCANDINAVIAN STAND WHICH QUITE POSSIBLY WILL BE FOR ECONOMIC COOPERATION.

POLAND, WHICH COULD CONTRIBUTE PRECIOUS COAL, IS ANOTHER OF THE DOUBTFUL STATES THAT MAY TAKE PART.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA MAY ALREADY BE CAUGHT IN THE CONFLICT OF EASTERN AND WESTERN IDEOLOGIES BROUGHT SO SHARPLY INTO FOCUS BY THE PARIS CONFERENCE.

BEFORE RUSSIA TURNED DOWN THE MARSHALL PLAN THE CZECHS WERE KNOWN TO HAVE LOOKED WITH FAVOR UPON IT. BUT YESTERDAY A SURPRISE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID COMMUNIST PREMIER KLEMENT GOTTWALD AND FOREIGN MINISTER JAN MASARYK WERE LEAVING FOR MOSCOW, PRESUMABLY TO CONFER WITH MOLOTOV OR PERHAPS PRIME MINISTER STALIN.

LONDON, SUNDAY, JULY 6-(AP)-THE MOSCOW RADIO SAID TODAY THE BRITISH AND FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTERS HAD DETERMINED IN ADVANCE THE PROGRAM OF THE CONFERENCE TO BE HELD IN PARIS ON JULY 12 FOR CONSIDERATION OF THE MARSHALL PROPOSALS FOR ECONOMIC AID TO EUROPE.

"BIDAULT AND BEVIN, ON THE BASIS OF AGREEMENT REACHED BETWEEN THEMSELVES, HAVE DRAWN UP AND SENT OUT THE AGENDA OF THE CONFERENCE AND THE ORDER OF ITS WORK, THUS SHOWING THAT EVERYTHING HAS BEEN DECIDED IN ADVANCE," THE BROADCAST SAID, QUOTING A TASS NEWS AGENCY DISPATCH FROM PARIS.

THE BRITISH AND FRENCH INVITATIONS SENT TO THE GOVERNMENTS OF EUROPEAN COUNTRIES, THE BROADCAST SAID, DESCRIBED AGREEMENT TO THE AGENDA AS BEING "COMPULSORY FOR THOSE INVITED TO THE CONFERENCE."

"THESE PLANS," IT CONTINUED, "SHOW THAT THE BRITISH AND FRENCH INITIATORS OF THE CONFERENCE DO NOT WANT TO LET THESE AFFAIRS OUT OF THEIR HANDS. THE CONFERENCE IS CONVENED SIMPLY IN ORDER TO CAST VOTES TO PUT THE SEAL ON THE BRITISH AND FRENCH PLAN.

"THE UNCEREMONIOUS ATTITUDE TOWARDS THE GOVERNMENTS OF EUROPEAN COUNTRIES INVITED TO THE CONFERENCE HAS SURPRISED EVEN THOSE WHO ORIGINALLY SUPPORTED THESE PLANS AND WERE REJOICING OVER THE FACT THAT, WITH SOVIET UNION REPRESENTATIVES ABSTAINING, IT WOULD BE EASIER TO PUSH THROUGH WHATEVER COMPLIED WITH THESE BRITISH AND FRENCH PLANS."

THE BROADCAST ASSERTED THAT "IN VIEW OF THE ABSENCE OF OTHER SUCCESSES" IN CONNECTION WITH THE CONVENING OF THE CONFERENCE, "ALL KINDS OF REPORTS AND RUMORS ARE BEING ENLARGED UPON TO THE EFFECT THAT PORTUGAL, TURKEY AND GREECE ALREADY HAVE GIVEN THEIR AGREEMENT TO PARTICIPATE."

"CONTRARY REPORTS CONCERNING THE FUTURE PARTICIPANTS IN THE CONFERENCE," IT SAID, "ONLY EMPHASIZE, HOWEVER, THE LACK OF CONFIDENCE IN THE SUCCESS OF THIS BRITISH-FRENCH ADVENTURE."

VIENNA, JULY 5-(AP)-INTERIOR MINISTER OSKAR HELMER HAS CHARGED THAT RUSSIAN OCCUPATION TROOPS WERE INVOLVED IN 10 KIDNAPING CASES IN AUSTRIA IN THE PAST SIX WEEKS.

UNDER PRESENT CONDITIONS, HE TOLD PARLAIAMENT YESTERDAY, THE AUSTRIAN POLICE ARE POWERLESS TO STOP THE KIDNAPING, SINCE INVESTIGATIONS ARE LIMITED BY REGULATIONS IMPOSED BY THE OCCUPYING POWERS.

TERMING THE CHARGES "MALICIOUS LIES," THE COMMUNIST PARTY NEWSPAPER VOLKSSTIMME SAID TODAY THAT BRITISH AND AMERICAN OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES WERE OPERATING" CONCENTRATION CAMPS' WITH THE FULL KNOWLEDGE OF THE AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT.

MEANWHILE, OTHER OFFICIAL AUSTRIAN SOURCES TIMATED THAT THE ACTUAL NUMBER OF KIDNAPINGS WAS AT LEAST 30 AND POSSIBLY MORE.

REFERRING TO LIMITATIONS ON INVESTIGATIONS, HELMER SAID:

"AS SOON AS IT HAS BEEN REVEALED THAT ONE OF THE OFFENDERS IS A MEMBER OF ONE OF THE OCCUPATION FORCES OR THAT THE AUTOMOBILES INVOLVED BELONG TO AN OCCUPYING POWER, ALL INVESTIGATIONS MUST BE HANDED OVER TO THE OCCUPYING POWER INVOLVED. AUSTRIAN POLICE REPORTS CAN ONLY BE FORWARDED TO OTHER AUSTRIAN AUTHORITIES AFTER THEY HAVE CLEARED THROUGH THE OCCUPYING POWER INVOLVED."

HELMER SAID THAT MOST OF THE KIDNAPINGS HAD TAKEN PLACE IN THE RUSSIAN ZONE OF VIENNA AND THAT IN MOST CASES THE AUTOMOBILES USED OR THE UNIFORMS OF THE MEN INVOLVED WERE RUSSIAN.

AT ABOUT THE SAME TIME BRENTON CLARK AT AUGUSTINE COVE, ABOUT 18 MILES FROM SHERBROOKE, SAID HE SAW A BRIGHT OBJECT TRAVELING NORTH TO SOUTH AT MEDIUM HEIGHT.

NEW YORK, JULY 5-(AP)-SEN.JOSEPH R.MCCARTHY (R-WIS) SAYS "WE'VE BEEN AT WAR WITH RUSSIA FOR SOME TIME NOW, AND RUSSIA HAS BEEN WINNING THIS WAR AT A FASTER RATE THAN WE WERE DURING THE LAST STAGES OF THE LAST WAR."

"EVERY ONE IS PAINFULLY AWARE OF THE FACT THAT WE ARE AT WAR AND THAT WE'RE LOSING IT," MCCARTHY SAID LAST NIGHT DURING AN INTERVIEW BY NEWSMEN ON THE MUTUAL NETWORK "MEET THE PRESS" PROGRAM.

MCCARTHY, A MEMBER OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES AND THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING THE NATIONAL DEFENSE PROGRAM, PREDICTED A JOINT CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE SOON WOULD BE NAMED TO INQUIRE INTO THE EFFICIENCY AND EXPENDITURES OF THE ARMY AND NAVY.

THE SENATOR SAID THAT, UNFORTUNATELY, THE EXISTENCE OF THE UNITED NATIONS WOULD NOT ELIMINATE THE NEED FOR A LARGE STANDING ARMY FOR THE UNITED STATES.

PREDICTING A JOINT CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION OF THE DISPOSAL OF SURPLUS WAR MATERIAL, MCCARTHY DECLARED HIS INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE HAD FOUND THAT 2,000,000 GALLONS OF AVIATION GASOLINE, COSTLY AND DIFFICULT TO OBTAIN, WAS SOLD RECENTLY ALONG WITH "JUNK" AIRPLANE PARTS AT PORT HUENEME, CALIF., AND KINGMAN FIELD, ARIZ.

"THE PEOPLE WHO BOUGHT THE SO-CALLED JUNK PARTS FOUND OUT LATER THAT THEY HAD ALSO PURCHASED 2,000,000 GALLONS OF AVIATION GAS," HE SAID.

THIS DISCLOSURE, HE SAID, PROBABLY WOULD LEAD TO A JOINT INVESTIGATION OF THE OVER-ALL WAR SURPLUS DISPOSAL PICTURE. AFTER THE BROADCAST, THE SENATOR SAID THE INVESTIGATION PROBABLY WOULD BE PROPOSED IN THE SENATE MONDAY OR TUESDAY.

MCCARTHY SAID DURING THE BROADCAST THAT AT ONE ARIZONA AIR FIELD 70 LARGE TRACTORS, "EACH WITH $3,000 WORTH OF GOOD RUBBER," WERE LEFT UNTIL THE TIRES ROTTED AND THEY "WERE FINALLY SOLD AS JUNK RUBBER." HE DID NOT NAME THE AIRFIELD. VS355AED

WASHINGTON,JULY 5-(AP)-A SHORTAGE OF STEEL APPEARS TO UNDERLIE THE ENTIRE PROBLEM OF INADEQUATE SUPPLIES OF OIL AND GASOLINE IN SOME PARTS OF THE NATION, RUSSELL BROWN, GENERAL COUNSEL OF THE INDEPENDENT PETROLEUM ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA, SAID TODAY.

IN A LETTER TO B.A.HARDEY, ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT, BROWN SAID:

"WE MUST GREATLY INCREASE OUR DRILLING PROGRAM. IT IS NOT ENOUGH TO SAY THAT WE ARE DRILLING MORE WELLS NOW THAN AT SOME OTHER TIME. OUR DEMAND IS FAR GREATER THAN AT ANY TIME IN HISTORY. WE ARE FAR BEHIND WITH OUR NORMAL DRILLING PROGRAM.

"THE WELLS WE FAILED TO DRILL DURING THE PAST FIVE YEARS--THAT WE WERE PREVENTED FROM DRILLING--SHOULD BE DRILLED AS RAPIDLY AS OUR SUPPLY OF STEEL WILL PERMIT."

HE DECLARED STEEL FOR PIPE LINES, TANK CARS, BARGES AND TRUCKS IS IN SHORT SUPPLY AND THAT "THE CURRENT AND IMMEDIATE PROBLEM OF GETTING OIL TO CONSUMERS IS TIED UP IN THIS LATTER CLASS OF STEEL SHORTAGES."

MANY THINGS, HE TOLD HARDEY, CAN BE DONE TO CORRECT THE OIL AND GAS SUPPLY SITUATION.

A CAREFUL STUDY, HE SUGGESTED, COULD DEVELOP "WORKABLE PROGRAMS OF INDUSTRY ACTIVITY." MORE EFFICIENT USE OF AVAILABLE TRANSPORTATION THROUGH ELIMINATION OF UNNECESSARY CROSS HAULING AND FASTER TURN-AROUND FOR TANK CARS ARE AMONG MEANS ALREADY ARE BEING TRIED AND "SHOULD BE INCREASED," HE SAID.

FRANCO WINS SPANISH VOTE

Confirmed As Chief Of State By Big Majority

Madrid, July 6 (AP)—Spanish voters today ratified by an apparent majority of more than 80 per cent the law confirming Generalissimo Francisco Franco as Chief of State and establishing procedure for selection of a king or regent to succeed him.

It was the first time in eleven years that balloting had been permitted in Spain.

Of nearly 2,225,000 votes tabulated late tonight by the Associated Press, 2,069,764 were "yes," 103,776 were "no" and 51,097 were blank.

No Organized Opposition

There was no official announcement of the result of the balloting other than a statement by Blas Perez, Minister of the Interior, that the succession law had been approved by "an overwhelming majority," probably greater than 80 per cent.

There was no indication how many of the 16,187,992 registered voters had remained away from the polls.

Franco had permitted no organized campaign by the opposition, which was expected to show its strength in the number who refused to vote.

Perez said there had been no disorder in the country during the voting except for the cutting of one telephone wire in Ciudad Real and that not even that had been definitely established as sabotage.

Heavy Voting In Barcelona

He reported that more than 82 per cent of the qualified voters of Barcelona and an unspecified majority of those on the registers in Bilbao had cast ballots. Both cities are considered centers of anti-Franco agitation. Perez said the biggest vote against the new law yet reported was in Vallecas, a suburb of Madrid known for its Leftist tendencies, but that in some districts of central Madrid there had been no negative votes at all.

He promised to release complete results Monday afternoon.

At one Madrid voting place in a Monarchist stronghold only 65 out 744 registered voters had cast their ballots by 1 P.M. This was in contrast to a workers' district, where 80 per cent had voted by that hour.

Balloting Is Secret

The balloting was secret and freely exercised at polling places visited by the Associated Press. The citizens displayed the traditional good humor of the Spaniards as they stood in line under the hot sun awaiting their turn. Many carried large picnic baskets.

At one polling place the ballots were dropped into the urns at the rate of 90 an hour.

Each ballot carried a simple "yes" or "no" reply to the question of whether the law met with approval of the voter.

Required To Vote

All eligible citizens were required by law to vote. The polls were open from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. The official outcome will not be announced until July 26.

Franco was reported as not voting, but all of his ministers did. Leading Monarchists voted, including Princess Eualalia, aunt of Spain's last king, who went to the polls in Irun.

Archduke Carlos Hapsburg de Bourbon, the candidate of the Falange for the throne, voted in Barcelona. The Duke of Alba postponed a trip to Switzerland to be able to vote.

When Manolete, the famous bullfighter, appeared at the polls in Barcelona, the election judge held up proceedings to get his autograph.

March on Spanish Embassy

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—Two thousand persons marched from Hyde Park to the Spanish Embassy tonight in a Communist-organized demonstration against the referendum on the law of succession held today in Spain. The march leaders denounced the referendum as "a blatant attempt to mislead world democratic opinion."

EXPLOSIVES IN LONDON

Packages Found in Two Autos Parked in Separate Areas

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—Three sticks of an explosive, believed to be gelignite, and seven detonators were found tonight in an automobile parked in front of The Daily Express office in Fleet Street.

The driver, whose name was not disclosed, said he found the explosives wrapped in a newspaper, wedged behind the driver's seat when he returned to the car after a short absence. He notified the police, who plunged the package into a bucket full of water.

A quarter of an hour after the explosive and detonators were found in Fleet Street, authorities said seven sticks of gelignite and eighteen commercial-type detonators were found in an automobile in Whitehall Court, near the Houses of Parliament, Scotland Yard and other Government centers.

The driver said he had left his car parked outside his house for a short time and on returning found the explosive and detonators with two pieces of cord, all wrapped in newspaper. X.14

Killed for Brother's Writings

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—The Observer said today that Alfredo Martinez Nadal, a Spanish civil servant and brother of an Observer staff writer, had been killed by a policeman in Barcelona on June 15 without provocation. The newspaper said he had had "no past or present political affiliations" but had been threatened and persecuted repeatedly because of his brother, Rafael, the Observer's special London correspondent on Spanish affairs.

Thousands Join King In British Day Of Prayer

London, July 6 (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of Britons went to cathedrals and village churches today in response to a summons by King George to a national day of prayer for Britain and the British Commonwealth.

The King himself, with Prime Minister Attlee and other Government leaders, went to St. Paul's Cathedral in London. There the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, offered the prayer that "as a nation we may return to the simple laws of the Ten Commandments."

Romania Gets Russian Wheat

LONDON, July 6 (AP).—The Moscow radio said today that 1,000 carloads of grain from the Soviet Union had arrived in Romania and "more trainloads" were on the way. Ministerial informants at Bucharest reported last month that Russia had agreed to lend Romania 17,000 carloads of grain. The Romanians had been seeking credit to purchase American wheat.

Paris Fears Division In Europe Over Plan

Paris, July 6 (AP)—French diplomats made no attempt tonight to hide their concern at the threat of Europe splitting into hostile camps over the Marshall aid-Europe proposal, but stressed anew that the door remained open for Soviet participation.

They clung to their stand that the Marshall program offered Europe a unique opportunity to overcome the divisions and quarrels which have plagued the continent for centuries, and continued plans for the conference of participating nations opening here Saturday.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said eleven nations had indicated unofficially their intention to take part. They include Eire, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Portugal, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium, Greece, Iceland and Turkey.

Finland In Doubt

Representatives of the three Scandinavian countries will meet Wednesday in Copenhagen to determine their joint policy. It was reported here that Sweden would press for political reservations, in view of her geographical position next to the Soviet orbit.

Unofficial word from Finland was that she would reject the invitation unless the Russian attitude changed. Both the British and French have asked the Soviets to reconsider their refusal to participate in the plan to establish machinery for economic mutual assistance prior to requesting American financial aid.

[Swiss Government sources said tonight in Bern the Swiss Federal Council had not yet decided whether to accept the British-French invitation to the conference.]

French Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier told the Socialist National Party Council that the Marshall proposal was "the only way to organize the economy of Europe. We must take the lead, together with England, in European reconstruction."

French Deny Charge

The French Foreign Ministry, meanwhile, denied categorically statements in the Moscow newspaper Pravda that Britain and France had issued invitations to 22 nations for the July 12 meeting before the end of the meeting here last week with V. M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister.

A spokesman said the invitations were drafted by Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, and Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Minister, the morning after Molotov rejected the final British-French proposal.

The spokesman said the Pravda report was "absolutely false."

Leon Blum, elder statesman of the Socialist party, in an article in the newspaper Le Populaire described as "ridiculous" Russia's argument that the Marshall program meant curtailing German reparations payments and reviving the Reich at the expense of her wartime victims.

Three Lost in Plane Crash

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 6 (AP)—A Royal Air Force flying boat carrying a crew of ten and two observers crashed into the Irish Sea last night while on combined naval-air force exercises. Five of the crew were rescued by the submarine Sentinel, on which the plane was making a simulated attack at the time. Search boats later recovered three bodies.

Rebel Blow Fails In Madagascar

Paris, July 6 (AP)—The Overseas Ministry reported today that several thousand native rebels assaulted Tananarive, capital of Madagascar, three nights ago, and were repulsed with heavy losses.

Under cover of darkness, the Ministry said, more than 3,000 insurgent warriors fled their own lines to surrender to French military posts. The rest were dispersed.

A battalion of reinforcements, landed June 30 at Tamatave, has now secured both the capital and Tamatave from the danger of further surprise attacks, the Ministry added. Mopping up operations are progressing without difficulty west of Tamatave and Fenerive. Both these towns are on the east coast of the island.

Swiss Voters Approve 2 Economic Measures

Geneva, July 6 (AP)—Switzerland's male electorate ratified two Government-sponsored economic measures today, one enacting emergency measures during depressions and the other providing old-age pensions and benefits for aged persons, widows and orphans.

The "economic article," which would legalize emergency machinery to avoid unemployment and to reimburse civilians for loss of earnings during military service, was adopted by the voters, 582,449 to 520,179.

Among other emergency measures in the article is a provision that no new watch factory may be established in Switzerland without a Government permit. Manufacture of watches and watch movements is the largest Swiss industry.

Two Natives of France Are Raised to Sainthood

VATICAN CITY, July 6 (AP)—Two natives of France—Elisabeth Bichier des Ages and Michel Caricoits—whose holy works during the nineteenth century gained note were elevated to sainthood today by Pope Pius XII in an impressive ceremony at St. Peter's.

The Pope praised the virtues of the two new saints and voiced the hope that they might prove an example to all the faithful for the "achievement of a perfect Christian life."

Twelve cardinals and about forty bishops were among the high prelates who attended the ceremony.

Thousands of pilgrims—most of them from France—almost filled the world's largest church as the two new saints were created.

2 U.S. Clergymen Urge Ban On GI Marriages In Germany

Berlin, July 6 (AP)—A Methodist bishop and a Jewish clergyman from the United States said today talks with United States Army chaplains had convinced them the Army should ban marriages in Germany between American soldiers and German girls. In their view, the GI should wait at least until he returns home.

Dr. Fred Pierce Corson, Methodist bishop of Philadelphia, said German girls often were using the GI's only to get "a meal ticket and entrance to the United States."

Rabbi James G. Heller, of the Isaac M. Wise Temple at Cincinnati, said the German girls were a political danger because of their indoctrination to nazism and should not be permitted to enter the United States "without years of fumigation."

Group Touring Europe

Both men are with a group of prominent American clergymen touring Europe as guests of the War Department. They made their views known in interviews.

The Army lifted its ban on marriages between American soldiers and German girls last December. Practically the only reservation was that no marriages could take place just before the GI was leaving for home.

But all prospective couples must undergo army screening, and the first item is an interview with a chaplain. Failure to win his approval is a handicap to gaining the permission of the commanding officer for the marriage.

Says Policy Is Mistake

"From what the chaplains have told us, I am convinced the policy of permitting marriages in Germany is a mistake," said Dr. Corson. "Many troops in our occupation forces are young—too young—and often they are being used by German girls who are marrying them only to get a meal ticket and entrance to the United States.'

"The wiser course would be to prohibit marriages here and require that a soldier affianced to a German girl could send for her only after he had returned to the United States and waited a specific time.

"That would give him a cooling off period which would test their attachment. I'll wager that only one in ten soldiers would send for his German girl to join him after such a test."

Nazi Training Cited

Rabbi Heller agreed with Dr. Corson and added:

"We must remember that practically all these young German women went through the Hitler youth indoctrination, whether they wanted to or not.

Rabbi Heller disagreed, however, with a young American Jewish chaplain here, Lieut. Mayer Abrampowitz, who refused to perform marriages between Jewish GI's and German girls because he felt such marriages would not be successful.

"The Soldier's Right"

"I regard those not as Jewish-German weddings but as American-German weddings, and if the Army permits them it is the soldier's right," said Rabbi Heller. "It is the wisdom of any such marriages which is challenged."

Since the lifting of the Army ban, several thousand marriages have taken place. Last January Major Marvin E. Utter, Protestant chaplain of the Berlin command, predicted marriages between German girls and GI's would be more successful than with British and French war brides.

He said the prospective German brides he interviewed appeared to be "of superior quality," and that the Army prevented marriages in haste.

GERMANS ASK IRO AID TO EXPELLED PERSONS

STUTTGART, Germany, July 6 (AP)—The Council of States, declaring Germany could not care for some 12,000,000 Germans expelled from near-by countries, has asked that the International Relief Organization take up the problem.

The request was contained in a recent report on expelled persons by the council to the American Military Government, German officials disclosed today. It criticized as "anything but orderly and humane" the way in which "this compulsory mass removal" of Germans from bordering nations was carried out.

Most of the expelled came from Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland and the eastern German regions now incorporated into Poland. Almost 3,000,000 have been resettled in the American zone.

The care of German expellees was specifically excluded from the scope of the IRO, which took over the care of displaced persons in Europe on July 1.

U. S. Curbs Anthem in Germany

BERLIN, July 6 (AP)—German bands and orchestras have been forbidden to play "The Star-Spangled Banner" except by special authorization of the United States Arm. The reason: to insure proper rendition of the national anthem.

Soviet Increases Mining Hours

BERLIN, July 6 (AP)—The Soviet-controlled press said today that the German Economic Commission for the Soviet zone had instituted seven-day-a-week operation of coal mines in eastern Germany to raise coal production.

The announcement said that miners would continue to work an individual six-day week and continue on an eight-hour day. Additional labor is being recruited to carry out the new work schedule.

The commission also ordered closer control of the use and distribution of coal and the maintenance of a larger security service to fight black marketing and the theft of coal.

Griffis Reaches Warsaw

WARSAW, July 6 (AP).—Stanton Griffis, newly appointed American Ambassador to Poland, arrived at Warsaw by automobile from Prague late yesterday. He said that during his journey he "noted with admiration the energetic manner with which the people of Poland are at work building their country, which suffered terrible devastation during the war." He said he expected to present his credentials to Polish President Boleslaw Bierut later in the week. He succeeds Arthur Bliss Lane, who recently resigned.

21 Killed by Polish Band

WARSAW, July 6 (AP).—An official announcement said today that twenty-one persons, including ten women, had been killed by an underground band which attacked the village of Puchazew, near Lublin.

GREEK FIRE TOLL RISES

Three More Die From Burns in U. S. Aid Quarters Blaze

ATHENS, July 6 (AP)—Three persons died today of burns and injuries suffered Saturday in a fire in a building housing units of the United States aid mission to Greece, bringing the two-day death toll to six. Two other persons are listed as missing.

Of eighteen other persons burned in the blaze, which Greek officials said had bee caused by "Communist sabotage," doctors said four were not expected to live.

Fire department and insurance officials estimated the damage at more than $200,000.

Angel Evert, Athens police chief, said Saturday night that two persons had been arrested in connection with the fire.

PRAVDA SAYS 'TALKS' WERE SABOTAGED JUL 1947

Blames France And Britain For Collapse Of Aid Discussions

Moscow, July 6 (AP)—Pravda accused Britain and France today of sabotaging the three-power economic conference in Paris to strengthen their own hands for "unilateral actions."

Jacob Vietorov, writing in the Communist party organ, also declared that France had sent out invitations to 22 European nations for a new economic conference with her and Britain even before the three-power conference had ended.

Broke Up Wednesday

[The three-power conference on the Marshall aid-Europe proposal broke up last Wednesday after V. M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister, refused to go along with the British-French recovery plan. Molotov left Paris for Moscow Thursday morning. The French Foreign Office announced later that day that invitations for the new conference, which will open in Paris next Saturday, were being sent Thursday night to 22 European embassies in Paris.]

"Examination of the material of the conference can lead to but one conclusion: Considering the position taken by the British and French delegations, agreement was impossible," the Pravda article said.

"More than this, the impression was created that organizers of the conference (Britain and France) purposely brought about the breakdown in order to untie their hands for further action. . . .

Would Assemble Data

"The very statement of the organizers of the conference on the question of conditions and consideration of the 'Marshall Plan' demonstrates that they, ahead of time, brought about the breakdown of the conference in order in the future to continue their unilateral actions."

Pravda said a statement by a spokesman of the French Foreign Office showed Britain and France were trying to make participation in the new conference conditional on the acceptance of the principle of the British-French plan.

[The British-French plan calls for a steering committee to assemble information on European countries, including their needs and resources. These data would be used to determine Europe's ability to help herself and the amount of assistance needed from the United States. Molotov insisted that the listing of national resources would constitute interference in the internal affairs of some countries, and would lead to British-French domination of the Continent with American funds.]

Three Moscow Workers Held

MOSCOW, July 6 (AP)—Three workers in Moscow's lone Automat-type restaurant have been arrested on charges of selling short-weight sandwiches. The Moscow News said that forty-six pounds of butter, twenty-two pounds of sturgeon and a large amount of cash and jewelry had been found in the apartment of one of the defendants.

TURKS PREDICT CHANGE

Others Discount Rumors That Fall of Cabinet Is Near

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 6 (AP)—Some Istanbul newspapers predicted today the collapse of Premier Recep Peker's Government under protests against its domestic policies, but normally well-informed sources doubted any immediate change.

Such an eventuality would have no effect on Turkey's relations with the United States under the military-aid program, since all elements of the Government and opposition are united on the present foreign policy. Son Posta, independent morning paper, said Mr. Peker might resign today or tomorrow. The conservative influential Cumhuriyet said Ankara was again full of reportse that a coalition Cabinet was in the offing.

Mr. Peker is now on vacation here. His close friends, discounting the idea of a pending crisis, said his absence fr[om] peared to be eviden[t] was expected imm[ediately]. His Cabinet has been ha[mpered] tinued economic ills[,] nkara appeared at nothing tely. His d by con-

China Must Beat Communists To Survive, Chiang States

Nanking, July 6 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, in a bitterly worded radio address, tonight told his people the nation would die unless they conquered the Communists.

Speaking on the eve of the tenth anniversary of the Japanese invasion, the Chinese Government chieftain declared the long war with Japan would have been "fought in vain" unless the Government recovered the Northeast Provinces (a Chinese term for Manchuria) and assured the integrity of all Chinese territory.

The Communists, he declared, were "carrying on the heritage of imperialistic activities left over by the enemy and their puppets."

Taken From Text

[This version of his statement was taken from the official Chinese text, furnished to newsmen some 3 hours after the speech was delivered.

[Chinese listening to the Generalissimo's radio address as it was delivered, however, declared that he said Communists were "only the tools of a vast imperialism" whose goal was eventual destruction of the Chinese nation and race.]

The Chinese people, Chiang said in his 35-minute talk, have these alternatives:

"Remain aloof from the present struggle and watch the nation die, or realize the Communist imperialistic ambitions and join in the war effort to defeat them."

En Route To Washington

As he spoke, his Government was acknowledging new Communist successes in important Shantung province, and Walton Butterworth, United States Minister, was en route by air to Washington for conferences which may decide American policy vital to the Chiang regime.

Chiang's address was full of references to the Communists as "bandits" and "gangsters" as he sought desperately to arouse China's millions to support his hard-pressed Government.

"Peace and unity cannot be separated," he asserted. "Neither can unity and race."

He asked his people to consider the civil war "an extension of the war of resistance against the Japanese, with the same aims and the same necessities."

Admits Government Defects

Admitting defects in the Government, he promised immediate economic and political reforms in return for support of his new total mobilization orders, saying every Chinese had a duty to "prevent establishment of a proletarian dictatorship in China."

Gen. Chen Cheng, Government chief of staff, followed Chiang on the nationwide network with an appeal to his troops to revive their spirits and carry the war to the Communists.

Bridgehead Conceded

Earlier, Premier Chang Chun issued through the official Central News Agency a statement that the new total mobilization was aimed not only at "suppression of rebellion" but at national reconstruction.

Government dispatches meanwhile conceded that the Communists had expanded a bridgehead across the Yellow River in Western Shantung province and had captured Chuangcheng, 95 miles southwest of Tsinan. [The Communist radio announced this July 4 and that it was the auspicious start of a new major Communist offensive.]

Pro-Government reports also said national troops had abandoned to the Communists Tangkwantun, a town 30 miles south of Tientsin "to shorten the defense perimeter" around that important port.

Air Chief Ends China Tour

Brig. Gen. McConnell and Last Flying Tiger Leave for U. S.

NANKING, July 6 (AP).—Brigadier General John Paul McConnell, last of the American wartime air commanders in China, left for Washington today by air after completing his tour of duty as chief of the Air Advisory Group in China.

With him was Colonel Edward F. Rector of Marshall, N. C., who was the last of the original Flying Tigers still on duty in China. Rector is assigned to Air Defense Command headquarters at Mitchel Field, N. Y.

JAPS DEFEND PRICE BOOST

Blow At Black Market Called Aid To Citizens

Tokyo, July 6 (AP)—New official price increases up to 300 per cent, with more modest pay raises for industrial workers, are intended to balance the budget of the individual Japanese citizen and crack the black market, a cabinet minister said today.

The program, adopted Saturday, triples the prices on such necessities as coal and rice, but they still will be as little as one-fifth of the black market's exorbitant charges. Stricter enforcement of controls is planned to decrease this gap, though such efforts have failed previously.

Earns 1,600, Spends 2,300

Hiroo Wada, director of the Economic Stabilization Board, said statistics indicated the average Japanese had been earning 1,600 yen a month ($32 at the official rate but actually much less in purchasing power on the black market).

This same "average Japanese," he said, was having to spend 2,300 yen a month to live.

The new price, Wada's office estimated, would put more commodities on the legitimate market and would cut the average Japanese living cost to 1,800 yen a month. To make up the remaining 200-yen deficit, wages are being raised to the 1,800-yen level, with some, such as shipyard workers, getting 2,400.

Philippines Get 3 U. S. Ships

MANILA, Monday, July 7 (AP).—Three American naval vessels—a minesweeper, a subchaser and a patrol boat—were presented formally to President Manuel A. Roxas today at ceremonies at the Manila yacht basin. The three vessels were symbolic of eighty-four craft being transferred to the Philippines under terms of the United States-Philippines military assistance pact. They will become the nucleus of a projected Philippine Navy, for coastal patrols.

Philippine Claims Totaled

MANILA, July 6 (AP)—The United States War Damage Commission announced today the receipt of 241,964 claims for Philippine property losses totaling $184,661,810. The commission reported that, until the end of the fiscal year June 30, a total of 2,599 claims had been settled with payments slightly more than $250,000. To meet all claims, the commission has received a grant of $400,000,000.

Luzon Guerrilla Lair Captured

CABANATUAN, Philippines, July 6 (AP).—Military police announced today they had captured and burned a Hukbalahap guerrilla hide-out in central Luzon known as "Little Bataan," killing two and seizing five of the thirty insurgents found there.

LAND SALES TO JEWS HIT BY ARABS

Leaders Vote To Excommunicate Those Violating Rule

Haifa, Palestine, July 6 (AP)—A resolution to excommunicate any Arab selling land to Jews was adopted by 1,500 Palestine Arab leaders in Haifa's bazaar district today.

The resolution against land sales was one of 22 adopted to tighten up the Arab boycott of Zionist goods and services. It was introduced in behalf of Abdul Majid Salim, Grand Mufti of Egypt.

It declared that "any Moslem Arab who sells his land to any foreigner shall be considered a pagan and no longer a Moslem, and all his people should leave him aside, and his wife shall be considered divorced." It continued to include a manifesto providing for similar excommunication and social ostracism for any Arabs among the 100,000 Arab Greek Orthodox Christians in Palestine who sold land to Jews.

Would Develop Desert

The resolution was ordered referred to next Sunday's scheduled meeting of Arab youth organizations in Jeffa, with a request that similar action be taken there. The Arab women's organizations, to meet in Jerusalem two weeks from today, also are expected to follow suit.

Another resolution called on the Arab Higher Executive Committee to allocate funds for the development of Arab lands now desert or uncultivable mountains and authorized the committee to seek reduction of land taxes to this end.

The Arab leaders also resolved that all land held by the Palestine Government should be turned over to the Arab community for apportionment among the Arab people.

Message From Mufti

Six resolutions dealing with the Jewish boycott of Arab goods and services called on Arab capitalists to invest their money in industry and trade to offset the "Zionist economy" and called for more punitive measures for boycott violators.

Jamal Effendi Husseini, deputy chairman of the Arab Higher Executive Committee, read a message from Haj Amin el Husseini, Mufti of Jerusalem now in Cairo, declaring:

"For ten years the imperialistic Government of Palestine has prevented me from returning to your midst, although allowing thousands of Zionists to go to our country. I beg you to go together in unity and strength to meet our enemies."

Palestine Committee Hears Jewish Plea

Jerusalem, Palestine, July 6 (AP). Eliezer Kaplan, a representative of the Jewish Agency, defended as "practical" before the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine today the agency's plan for the absorption of a million Jews in the Holy Land within the next ten years.

Kaplan said that Jewish immigration had "given great impetus to the economic progress of the country as a whole, to benefit all its inhabitants." He declared that "means can be found to finance" the additional immigrants.

"We are, in Palestine, still at the beginning of the development process," he added.

Reviews Achievements

Kaplan attacked what he called the "legends of water and land scarcities in Palestine" and reviewed Jewish achievements in irrigation and land reclamation.

"The truth is," he said, "that this little country contains sufficient land and water to feed not only its present population but twice and thrice this number." He added that the [illegible] irrigated had increased ten[illegible]d in the last 25 years.

"Great Human Problem"

Kaplan ended his testimony with a plea that United Nations consider the Palestine problem, "not merely as an economic problem but as a great human problem for all the peoples of the world."

Dr. Fritz Bernstein, head of the trade and economic section of the Jewish Agency, told the committee that Britain, "by her control of our dollars and our imports . . . has in fact been exploiting Jewish Palestine on a very large scale."

He said that Palestine's available source of power—oil—was not obtainable at cost plus a normal profit, adding that Britain had not used her position "to protect Palestine from monopolistic extortion."

Says They Have Dollars

Taking up what he said was a boycott of trade with Palestine Jews by surrounding Arab countries, Bernstein said the British Government had "treated the boycotting countries with every conceivable indulgence."

He said that in 1945, before any boycott, Palestine had bought more than 4,000,000 pounds ($16,000,000) in goods from Arab countries. In the next year, when the boycott began, Palestine purchased more than 7,000,000 pounds ($28,000,000) worth of goods from the Arabs, he added.

"Palestine has dollars to buy the same goods elsewhere far more cheaply, but British controls have deprived Palestine of the use of these dollars," he said.

Newspapers Stolen

The United Nations committee, which devoted its second day today to hearing the Jewish side of the Palestine problem, decided to hear representatives of four additional organizations: the Chief Rabbinate of Jerusalem; the Church of England and Church of Scotland of Jerusalem; the Council of Jewish Women's Organization of Palestine and Tel Aviv, and the League of Jewish-Arab Reapproachment and Co-operation of Jerusalem.

The current weekly issue of the Arab newspaper Nida El Are (Call of the Land), a critic of the Arab leadership of Palestine, was stolen from the newspaper's printing plant in Jaffa last night. The papers were to have been distributed Monday.

Authorities said five Arabs seized all the papers, plus about $100 in cash, and made off in a truck. Police announced the arrest of one of the raiders.

GANDHI WARNS OF CIVIL WAR

Assam And Frontier Provinces Vote On Partition

New Delhi, India, July 6 (AP). Assam and northwest frontier provinces voted today on whether to join Pakistan or Hindustan in the division of India, while Mohandas K. Gandhi warned his followers here of the possibility of war in this subcontinent.

Gandhi, spiritual leader of the Congress party, urged party members to abstain from voting in northwest frontier province. The Congress party has a Hindu majority in all of India except the province, where Moslems are in the majority and the Congress consequently had more Moslem than Hindu members.

Gandhi declared at a prayer meeting tonight that "every son and daughter of India is preparing for war on a common plea of defense."

Gandhi Asks God's Help

"The history of Europe will be repeated in this India," he said. "To think of India being turned into a battlefield, its sons and daughters being butchers, and the world watching the tragic drama, is painful and humiliating. I pray God to lead us to light from this darkness."

Gandhi made his statements while referring to the division of India's armed forces between the two dominions.

Gandhi said the two states should part as friends, but "to our utter dismay we are not parting like friends. . . . Division of the armed forces is going on and the huge sum of money spent on the armed forces is going to be increased because both states are going to be armed camps in the future."

Voting Going Peacefully

Reports from the northwest frontier, where the referendum will continue for eleven days, indicated that the voting was proceeding peacefully despite Congress party opposition.

Dr. Khan Sahib, the provincial premier and a Congress party leader, has declared the northwest frontier should be permitted to declare its independence of both Pakistan and Hindustan, and Gandhi has indicated sympathy with that position.

Moslem League leaders declared such an attitude was contrived to "sabotage" the plan of Viscount Mountbatten, the viceroy, for partition of India. They were confident, however, that Moslems belonging to or sympathetic with the league would be in the majority.

Trouble Continues In Calcutta

Observers in New Delhi also predicted that the province, whose warlike tribesmen have made it one of India's most troublesome areas for many years, would vote overwhelmingly to join Pakistan.

In Assam, also a Moslem-majority province, the Congress party never has had a strong organization. Since there have been practically no outbreaks of communal strife in Assam, no trouble during the voting has been anticipated.

Communal troubles continued today in Calcutta, however, the unofficial ambulance corps reporting that eight persons had been killed and 21 injured in street fighting.

A Government communique issued in Calcutta announced two fatalities, one of them a police officer, in eight incidents of assaults with firearms, bombs and acid-throwing. It reported 46 arrests during the day.

INDONESIAN RESPONSE HELD 'VAGUE' BY DUTCH

BATAVIA, Java, July 6 (AP)—High ranking Dutch sources said today that an Indonesian note to the Netherlands Government, delivered earlier by a Republican delegation from Jogjakarta, was "extremely vague" and failed to provide a solution for the potentially explosive Dutch-Indonesian crisis.

The note was referred to The Hague for Government decision.

Although high Republicans in Jogjakarta said yesterday that the note would constitute acceptance of the ultimate authority of the Netherlands Crown representative over the Interim Government, Dutch sources said today no definite commitments were contained in the reply.

TEHERAN TRIES TO BAR SOVIET'S IRAN FLIGHTS

TEHERAN, Iran, July 6 (AP)—Operation of Russian commercial aircraft in northern Iran was apparently prohibited today by a decree of the Iranian Government.

Doubt was expressed generally that the Russians would recognize the decree, and most observers believed Iran might complain to the United Nations.

The decree, delivered to newspapers by the Commercial Aviation Department of the Interior Ministry, specified routes to be followed by foreign aircraft operating in the country and prohibited flights by any other lines except by special permission of the Ministry.

Russian commercial planes have been flying from Teheran to Tabriz, Resht and Meshed weekly since the war, despite repeated protests by the Iranian Government that the operation was illegal and unlicensed.

An Aviation Department official said diplomatic protests over operation of the Russian lines were "unanswered." An Iranian Airways official added that the Soviet lines were "ignoring regulations, refusing to pay passenger and landing rights, monopolizing Meshed airport hangars, importing Russian fuel without paying Iranian customs duties and cutting fares."

A reliable diplomatic source said "some Russian planes operating in Iran were believed to be lend-lease craft."

Truman to Get Yemen Plea

Prince to Deliver Father's Note Supporting Arabs and Egyptians

CAIRO, July 6 (AP)—Prince Saif Al-Islam Abdullah said here today he would deliver to President Truman a personal message from his father, the ruler of Yemen, supporting the Arab demands in Palestine and Egypt's case against the British. He plans to make the trip by air in the near future to further friendly relations between Yemen and the United States.

The prince said his father had approved an agreement signed in Cairo recently granting Yemen a $1,000,000 credit for purchase of American machinery and supplies.

PERON PLEDGES ARGENTINE AID

World-Wide Broadcast Offers Resources To Help Destitute

Buenos Aires, July 6 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron, in a speech broadcast throughout the world today, pledged Argentina's resources to aid countries "so severely punished by the war."

The president declared that international peace could be established only after internal peace was secured in war-torn countries of the world.

Speaking as president of one of the greatest food producing nations, Peron said his administration was "trying to put an end to the anxiety of the destitute."

Broadcast By 1,165 Stations

The Argentine Government arranged for the speech to be broadcast by 1,165 radio stations throughout the world and instructed all Argentine diplomats to listen. The speech was translated and broadcast in four other languages in addition to Spanish. There were versions in Portugeuse, French, Italian and two in English—one read by a speaker with a British accent and the other by a speaker with an American accent.

Every radio station in Argentina broadcast the president's words twice today. Teachers were instructed to discuss the speech in classrooms and students of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades in all Argentine schools were directed to write compositions about it.

Perón said Argentina was "fully aware of the needs of the world; we must substitute plenty for misery without falling into the error of turning help into charity."

Added To World Plans

At another point, he assured his listeners that Argentina's resources "have been added to world plans of assistance, in order to achieve the moral and spiritual rehabilitation of Europe, and to facilitate the material and economic rehabilitation of all suffering nations."

The President also called upon all peace-loving men, women and children to organize pacifist societies and asserted that governments should take action in political, economic and social fields to eradicate "capitalistic or totalitarian extremes."

At the same time, he emphasized that "the world conscience must place man above systems and ideologies" and asserted that "human confusion is based on misunderstanding."

The world needs, he added, "a conviction that war is not a solution because misery and despair will afflict all equally."

Cuba for Joint Military Staff

HAVANA, July 6 (AP)—Informants in the Foreign Ministry said today that Cuba would propose the creation of a joint hemisphere military staff at the forthcoming Rio de Janeiro conference of American Foreign Ministers.

Russia Believed Using War Fear To Raise Output

Foreign Policy Association Article Notes Aura of 'Feverish Preparedness'

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP).—The Foreign Policy Association today published opinions that Russia is trying to lash workers into greater production with fears of the atom bomb and war with the United States and Great Britain.

American observers believe that "an atmosphere of feverish war preparedness" is being created, with the United States and Britain pictured as potential enemies, an association article said. It did not name the observers.

They see Russia using "the threat of another war, made more frightening by the possible use of the atomic bomb, as an incentive to bring about increased output," it was stated.

A survey of Russia's internal economic problems written by Vera Micheles Dean, editor of the private foreign study organization, said Russia had been running the risk that underproduction might demoralize workers and force output still lower.

Concentration on heavy industry to the neglect of consumer goods in the face of growing needs of her own people was seen as a major problem.

Russian planners regard light industries that produce such articles as shoes, cloth and household utensils as "the stepchild of Soviet economy," the report said. As a result the Russian people "are forced to content themselves with a standard of living which is low even compared to that of some of Russia's neighbors in eastern Europe," it added.

Moreover, the domestic demand for consumer goods has been sharpened greatly, the report said, both by war destruction and the newly acquired tastes of Russian soldiers who grew accustomed to higher standards while in occupied countries.

"There are today in the U. S. S. R. more people with money they want to spend on urgently needed goods than there are goods for them to buy. Only drastic government controls have prevented the inflationary trend latent in Soviet ecoonmy from assuming runaway proportions," it added.

Despite the stress on production, the report said, the increase in output of civilian goods during the first year of the new five-year plan was only 20 per cent over 1945—a performance that "must be regarded as disheartening."

It added: "Russia's economy in the post-war period continues to be beset, as it was before the war, by the profound maladjustments of a society which is striving to pass from backward agriculture to modern industrialization at maximum speed without substantial foreign loans."

COMMISSION'S TRAINING PLEA DRAWS REPLY

20 Signers Call Accent On Military Power 'Trite' And 'Childish'

Washington, July 6 (AP)—A group of twenty Americans, most of them educators or churchmen, assailed universal military training today as part of an arms-race theory that would bring on "a titanic showdown conflict" with Russia.

Signers of a joint statement included Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy in World War I; Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, chancellor of the University of Chicago; the Rev. William J. Miller, S.J., president of the University of Detroit, and Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Col.).

They urged rejection of the recent report of President Truman's commission on universal training, saying it is based on an implied assumption that "war with Russia within a decade or two is inevitable."

"Outmoded Form"

"The commission draws from this the conclusion, which is definitely and indeed almost hysterically enunciated, that the United States must begin immediate total preparation for atomic war," the group said.

They said that "universal military training is an outmoded form of military preparation in the atomic age and give a nation the feeling of power without the reality of power."

The commission's argument that weakness causes war and the United States must be in a position "to lead from strength" was characterized as "a trite and unbelievably childish oversimplification of history."

History Appealed To

Their statement said history shows that "the great heavily armed nations" have gone down to destruction through exhaustion of their economic resources and their manpower and become caught in a cycle of wars with other nations "equally infatuated with the idea" of piling up armaments.

The outcome of such a program "at this stage in human history, when the weapons of warfare are atomic and biological," said the group, is bound to be "a titanic showdown conflict between the United States and Russia."

"No one in his right senses," they added, "can long entertain the idea that Russia will not also take to heart, if the United States does, the commission's counsel to lead from strength and at every cost to avoid weakness."

Disarmament Program Urged

The group said they agreed that communism and Russian expansion must be stopped, but maintained the "only real security for this country or any country lies in the abolition of war, a vigorous program for universal disarmament, and strengthening of the United Nations, including the World Court."

They also urged a huge relief and reconstruction program to help people everywhere, including Russia, and the strengthening of democracy at home through aid to education, improved health facilities and general lifting of living standards.

The President's commission urged prompt action on a law requiring universal training for America's youth, but Congress leaders have indicated they expect no action at this session of Congress.

Wheat Prospect Is Good In Northern Hemisphere

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP).—The Agriculture Department reported tonight that prospects point to a slightly above average wheat crop in the Northern Hemisphere. The outlook was said to be brightest in North America and poorest in Europe.

The European crop, excluding Russia, will again be substantially below the pre-war average production of 1,670,000,000 bushels, and may be as much as 10 per cent or more below the 1946 harvest of 1,350,000,000, the department said. The United States has prospects of a record-breaking crop of about 1,400,000,000 bushels.

Wheat production in Russia this season will be larger than in 1946, although still considerably smaller than in the pre-war period, when the crop exceeded a billion bushels in some good years.

The total crop in Asia may be near last year's level, but prospects were said to be unfavorable in areas to which the United States sent large quantities of grain during the last twelve months.

McMahon Says U. S. Must Stockpile Atomic Bombs

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP).—Senator Brien McMahon, Democrat, of Connecticut, declared today that the "present state of the world" requires the United States to continue the manufacture and stockpiling of atomic bombs.

Senator McMahon, former chairman of the Senate's Atomic Energy Committee, said in a broadcast, "I don't see any other way out of manufacturing bombs and continuing to manufacture them in the present state of the world. Experimentation and research are going and will go ahead on peace-time uses, particularly the uses of the by-products for the treatment of disease, but I do not think we should deceive ourselves.

"You cannot have a main objective and do justice to several side objectives. And so, while we are making some effort, there is no question of the fact that the main activities of the Atomic Energy Commission are devoted to the manufacturing of bombs."

U.S. Eases Appraisals Of Imports From Japan

Washington, July 6 (AP)—The Government announced today a move to make it easier for American merchants to import goods from Japan. It duplicated earlier action with respect to Germany.

The customs Bureau advised appraisers at the various ports of entry to assess merchandise arriving from Japan and adjacent occupied islands at its "export value in dollars prevailing at the time of shipment."

It was explained that "abnormal conditions" in Japan make impossible the normal procedure of using the value the merchandise has when "offered freely" for sale for consumption in Japan.

At Manhattan Beach, Cal., A. W. McKelvey took a Mustang fighter plane up above Van Nuys. For two hours he cruised at 35,000 feet.

"I didn't see a thing," he said when he landed.

Spaatz Denies Knowledge

Gen. Carl Spaatz, commandant of the Army Air Forces, was in the Pacific Northwest. He denied knowing anything about the flying disks—or of plans to use AAF planes to look for them.

"I've been out of touch with things for four or five days," he said.

Then he went to Medford, Ore., on a fishing trip.

Louis E. Starr, National commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, told newsmen in Columbus, Ohio, yesterday he understood Gen. Spaatz had a "group out right now" looking for disks.

At Muroc army airfield in California a P-80 jet fighter stood ready to take off at a moment's notice should any flying saucers be sighted in that area.

DISKS REMAIN INVISIBLE AS U.S. PLANES PATROL SKY OVER WEST COAST

Flight Called 'Routine' With Order To Be On Lookout

San Francisco, July 6 (AP)—Military aircraft hunted the skies over Pacific Coast states today for sight of the mysterious "flying saucers" that for twelve days have puzzled the entire country.

Early reports of results were negative.

Five P-51's of the Oregon National Guard cruised over the Cascade Mountains of Washington—the area where the strange objects first were reported sighted. A sixth circled over Portland, in constant radio contact with the other five. All carried photographic equipment.

Col. G. R. Dodson, commanding, described their flight as a "routine patrol," but said they had been instructed to watch for the flying disks.

Attitude Is Cautious

A cautious attitude marked both official and scientific comments, but Capt. Tom Brown, of the Air Forces public relations staff in Washington, acknowledged that the Air Forces had decided "there's something to this" and had been checking up on it for ten days.

"And we still haven't the slightest idea what they (the disks) could be," he added.

First sighted June 25 and greeted generally with scornful laughs, the objects have been reported every day since by observers in 33 states. Most of the objects were reported seen July 4. A few were reported yesterday.

Called Larger Than Aircraft

Competent observers, such as airline pilots, said they had seen the totally unexplained disks or saucers, larger than aircraft and flying in "loose formation" at high speed.

David Lilienthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, said they had nothing to do with atomic experiments, and Army and Navy officials also entered positive disclaimers.

Captain Brown said the Air Forces were not making a formal investigation. Official interest, however, was no longer casual.

Guided Missile Doubted

"We don't believe anyone in this country, or outside this country, has developed a guided missile that will go 1,200 miles an hour as some reports have indicated," said the Air Forces public relations man.

A Los Angeles newspaper story quoting an unidentified California Institute of Technology scientist as saying the phenomena might have something to do with experiments in "transmutation of atomic energy" caused a brief sensation late yesterday. The institute quickly denied the report. Dr. Harold Urey, atom scientist at the University of Chicago, called it "gibberish." He said elements could be "transmuted" but not energy.

Reports generally agreed that the flying objects were round or oval. Estimates of their speed ranged from about 300 miles to 1,200 miles an hour. They were described as flying with an undulating motion at heights of 10,000 feet and less. Some described them as glowing, or luminous.

D.C. Man Describes One

Nova Hart, St. Louis mechanic who was trained during service in the war to spot all types of aircraft, said he saw one of the strange objects near Pattonville yesterday. It was flying at an altitude of 300 feet, he said. He described it as circular, with a ribbed framework and silver gray in color. Hart said it appeared to have a motor with a propeller attached in the center and it kept turning like an airplane doing a slow roll.

A report of a "saucer" seen over the District of Columbia came tonight from Hazen Kennedy, former AAF flying cadet.

He said he saw it about 8.40 P.M. through a window of his home, thought at first it was a reflection on the glass, and raised the window for an unobstructed look.

He described the object as flying about 1,200 to 1,500 feet up at "well over 1,000 miles an hour." He said it was of an orange hue. After a short time it just "disappeared," he recounted.

First Reported June 25

First published reports of the phenomena occurred June 25. Kenneth Arnold, Boise (Idaho) businessman pilot, told of seeing nine of the disks flying in formation at 1,200 miles an hour over the Cascade Mountains in Washington.

Arnold's account was taken lightly. Various explanations were offered—"reflections," "persistent vision," "snow blindness."

Soon afterward other individuals—in New Mexico, Missouri, California and other states—reported they also had seen the flying objects.

Then on Independence Day 200 persons in one group and 60 in another saw them in Idaho. Hundreds of others in Oregon, Washington, and other Western States reported seeing them.

Wide Area Covered

July 4 also brought first reports of the flying disks from east of the Mississippi. Since then they have been reported seen in widely separated sections of the country—in 33 states in all.

C. E. Holman, of Walter, Okla., asserted yesterday he also had seen the flying saucers June 25. He watched them "flying around and around each other" for about 30 minutes, he said. Then he went to bed.

"I thought about waking up some of my neighbors, but decided if it meant the end of the world they would be just about as happy sleeping when the world ended," Holman said.

Saw Disks Land, Woman Reports

Spokane, Wash., July 6 (AP)—Eight flying saucers were reported today to have made a landing on a mountainside near St. Maries, Idaho, in full view of ten persons.

Mrs. Walter Johnson of suburban Dishman said the saucers came down in timber there Thursday evening, but had not been reported until she returned to her home in Dishman today.

The saucers were seen to fall near Butler's Bay on the St. Joe River 6 miles west of St. Maries, where Mrs. Johnson was visiting her parents.

She said they came into view at an extreme speed, traveling from the south to the north. Suddenly they slowed, she said, and then "fluttered like leaves to the ground."

"The mysterious part was that we couldn't see them after they landed," said Mrs. Johnson. "We could see them flutter down into the timber yet we couldn't see that they did anything to the trees."

She said the objects were saucer-shaped, but thicker than she had expected, resembling wash-tubs more than disks. She described them as "about the size of a five-room house."

Boise, Idaho, July 5 (AP)—The airman who reported sighting "flying saucers" said today he had invested $150 in a movie camera to get film photographic proof of the disks he said flipped through the air "like fish skimming through water."

Kenneth Arnold, 32, Boise flying business man, said he would take the camera with him on every flight he makes over his five-state business territory, because "a picture of them would be the most beautiful thing you ever saw, and it would provide a record of what I saw and I know to be true."

Arnold said the avalanche of reports since he first told about the "flying saucers" has pointed up two factors which he considers significant:

1. Most observers on the ground and in the air place the height of the disks at "9,000 feet or higher—never any lower."

2. Generally a large volume of reports of saucers being sighted in the Pacific Northwest "occurs only on days when the air is quiet—hardly ever when the air is turbulent."

Not Mass Hysteria, Says Psychiatrist

Syracuse, N.Y., July 6 (AP)—Dr. Harry A. Steckel, psychiatric consultant to the United States Veterans Administration, tonight discounted the element of "mass hysteria" in connection with reports of so-called "flying saucers" in the United States.

Steckel, professor emeritus of phychiatry at the Syracuse University college of medicine, added in an interview broadcast over a local radio station that the disks possibly were a result of "experiments by unknown Government agencies."

"The element of mass hysteria should not be taken into consideration," Steckel said. "They have been seen by too many people, in too many different places to be dismissed so lightly."

"There apparently have been some reliable individuals who have observed disks, so it would seem to me that their appearance is possibly a result of experiments by some unknown Government agencies, unwilling or unable to reveal their activities at this time."

Dr. Steckel said he thought "full credence should be attached to the stories we have read about these objects having been seen."

Often Sees Disks, Author Declares

Port Washington, N.Y., July 6 (AP)—"Flying disks" aren't anything new to John J. Floherty, Port Washington author of juvenile books. He says he's seen them lots of times.

But Floherty's disks—slightly elongated saucers apparently traveling at high speeds—are the beams of revolving airline beacons playing on or through cloud layers, he said today.

Under certain cloud and weather conditions, Floherty said, the beacons, many of which remain on day and night, produce the startling effects of disks speeding across the sky. He declared he had seen them numerous times from planes.

He hastened to add, however, that the beacons couldn't have caused many of the disk-like objects reported recently, for conditions existing at the time of the sightings apparently would rule them out.

Floherty said he saw the saucer-like objects while standing on a Port Washington dock several nights ago. They appeared through an upper cloud layer, almost perfect ovals spinning through the clouds.

But, Floherty added, it was just the searchlights at LaGuardia Field, 12 miles away, playing tricks in the sky.

5 DISKS REPORTED OVER HAGERSTOWN

Roared Like Faraway Train, Says Woman Worker

Hagerstown, July 6 (AP)—Five skimming saucers, racing in formation at "terrific speed" were reported over Maryland by a woman aircraft worker today.

"They roared with a sound like a faraway train," said Mrs. Madelyn Ganoe, 30, a sheet-metal worker at the Fairchild Aircraft Corporation here.

Mrs. Ganoe said she spotted the disks at 4.30 P.M. from a rocking chair on her back porch.

Arched Eastward

Flying in a close-knit two-one-two formation, the saucers arched eastward through a clear sky and disappeared after three seconds over a row of oak trees, Mrs. Ganoe said.

"They were sort of flat, like saucers, with something on the back end," she said.

Mrs. Ganoe said she alerted her mother-in-law—Mrs. Nancy Ganoe, 45—who also spotted the disks.

About Size Of Planes

"They were about the size of airplanes," Mrs. Ganoe said, "but they were definitely not planes."

She said the saucers first moved silently at a low altitude, below the clouds.

"Then, after they passed, I could hear a sound like a roar in the sky."

The only other report of mystery disks over Maryland has come from Mrs. Gertrude Landry, of Baltimore.

Philadelphia Boy Reports 'Saucer'

Philadelphia, July 6 (AP)—Paul Moss, 14, said today he saw a "flying saucer" about 40 inches in diameter following a transport plane crossing the Delaware River today.

Moss said he was playing baseball with a group of other boys when he saw the disk, orange in color, at one time outdistance the plane.

A spokesman at the weather bureau at the southwest airport said the disks might have been balloons which the bureau releases about six times daily to determine wind direction and velocity.

"We never recover these balloons, which are about 30 inches in diameter," he said. "They drift everywhere and when they float high in the sky they appear as flat objects."

DISKS?—BOSH, BRITISH SCOFF

They're U.S. Reply To Loch Ness Monster, Is View

London, July 6 (AP)—Don't mention those flying saucers on this side of the Atlantic unless you're prepared for an argument about your sanity.

Maybe they have been seen by sober citizens over a vast area of the United States, but Europe won't believe in them until somebody lassoes one and has it photographed by Frank Sinatra, the British ambassador and five Supreme Court justices.

America's Monster?

"America's reply to the Loch Ness monster," chortled today's Sunday Dispatch, referring to Britain's hoariest tall story—the vast serpent that is "seen" romping in Scotland's Loch Ness every time the tourist trade needs a shot in the arm.

"Citizens of a country which possesses the Atom bomb ought not to be afraid of anything," scoffed the Communist Daily Worker, adding:

"You remember those stories about rockets streaking out over Sweden—or is your memory so short?"

[Swedish military headquarters announced last October 10 that radar equipment had detected some kind of "ghost rockets" over Sweden, but that "it proved impossible, on the basis of indications, to decide the nature of the things." Peculiar aerial objects have been reported sighted in great numbers between July and October, 1946. There was speculation that they might be experimental rockets from the Russian-occupied Baltic coast of Germany.]

Liquor Antidote Urged

Europeans generally took the position that the flying saucers, like Sweden's "ghost rockets," would go away if everybody took a good stiff bicarbonate of soda and the pledge, in that order.

Frenchmen shrugged at the story, Scandinavians grinned good-naturedly and Englishmen—most infuriatingly of all—asked Americans about the skyborne crockery as one might ask a child how his G-man game was progressing.

"What is it, mass hallucination, or one of those American hoaxes?" Inquired a Fleet street sub-editor.

"You Americans do have a lot of fun playing games like that, don't you?" suggested a school teacher.

"When one of our British G.I. brides writes home to say she's seen it, then I'll believe it," said a grocer.

But then, lots of Englishmen still think the Empire State building is a publicity man's nightmare and flatly doubt there is any such thing as a chocolate sundae with whipped cream and walnuts.

Marine First Division Returns

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 6 (AP)—Nearly 1,000 men of the Marine First Division arrived here today on the Navy Transport Renville from Tientsin, China, where they had been the principal United States force for nineteen months. The division, which is to be reorganized at Camp Pendleton, fought through the war in the Pacific from Guadalcanal to Okinawa and then was assigned to China duty. Some of the returning men were seeing their homeland for the first time in five years.

MEDAL VOTED IN 1787 GIVEN TO J. P. JONES

Halsey And King Honor Memory Of Naval Hero Of Revolution

Fredericksburg, Va., July 6 (AP)—Admiral John Paul Jones received a Congressional Medal today—160 years late—and Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey took the occasion to assert that the Colonial naval hero brooked not interference with the right of the American Navy to go wherever required and he added:

"Neither must we."

Speaking to a crowd of 3,000 in James Monroe Stadium that included Army, Navy and Marine leaders and a Russian admiral from the Soviet Embassy in Washington, Halsey recalled that the American naval hero held a commission in the Russian Navy given him by Empress Catherine II and approved by Congress.

Praise For Russian Empress

"There was nothing in that naval connection inconsistent with Jones's abiding loyalty to the United States," said Halsey in the address at the bicentennial celebration of Jones's birth.

"The ideas of tolerance and freedom preached by the queenly Russian leader were in complete harmony with our own," he said. "We recall that Empress Catherine II was one of the first to sponsor the doctrine of 'freedom of the seas'—the same principle which our own Navy has been committed to protect down through our history."

Awarded In 1787

The posthumous presentation of the gold medal the Continental Congress awarded Jones on October 16, 1787—there is no record that he ever received it during his lifetime—was made by Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King "in the name of the President of the United States."

Dies for the medal were made in Paris where Jones [illegible] alone and in poverty at the age of 45. The dies were retrieved from the museum of the French Mint and returned to the Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1939.

U.N. SHOWDOWN DUE THIS WEEK

Vote Expected On Balkans Border Question

Lake Success, N.Y., July 6 (AP)—Some United Nations delegates said today there was a possibility Russia and the Western Powers would reach a showdown this week on the Balkans.

This will come when the Security Council votes on a United States proposal calling for a semi-permanent United Nations border commission to watch over the Balkans and settle any disputes that might arise.

With the Council set to hold three and possibly four sessions this week on the Balkan question, delegates said there was a chance a vote might be reached Friday if the meetings did not bog down in prolonged debate.

50-50 Chance Seen

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, was expected to announce the Russian position Tuesday. British and American sources said the Soviet delegate might disclose then whether he would veto the United States proposal.

Some delegates saw a 50-50 chance that Gromyko would refrain from vetoing the American proposal, since the measure does not hold Russia's Balkan satellites responsible for Balkan disturbances.

Others, however, hold that Russia would back Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania. These three countries were found primarily responsible by the United Nations Balkan Commission for disturbances along Greece's northern borders.

France Abstained

When the commission drew up its findings Russia voted against them. She was backed by Poland. With France abstaining, the remaining members of the commission voted the three Soviet satellites guilty and proposed the creation of a United Nations border watch.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, chief British delegate, warned the Council last week that if the United States proposal was not adopted "we might as well tear up the charter—and pack up."

Russian sources refused any indication of the line Gromyko would take. Some delegates, however, felt that he would attempt to discredit the commission's findings.

Representatives of Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania who have already appeared before the council denied that they were responsible in any way for the disturbances on Greece's northern frontiers. Each of them questioned the testimony of witnesses who appeared before the commission.

The Balkans in some form or other have been before the Security Council almost from its start in London in January, 1946.

Constantin Tsaldaris, Greek Foreign Minister, arrived from Athens by plane last week to be on hand for the showdown discussions.

The current United Nations inquiry was inspired by Greece's charges that her northern neighbors were abetting Greek guerrillas in their struggle against the Athens' Government.

Meanwhile, the Council also prepared to review the long-pending bids from the Mongolian Peoples Republic, Albania, Trans-Jordan, Portugal and Eire for membership in the United Nations.

Soil From Parthenon Put On Roosevelt Grave

Hyde Park, N.Y., July 6 (AP)—A delegation of Greek World War II veterans scattered soil brought from the Parthenon, an ancient temple in Athens, over the grave of President Roosevelt today.

The ceremony was attended by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and the New York county council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, members of which served as an honor guard to the Greek visitors.

The President's widow said:

"I am sure my husband would have been honored to have received this token of gratitude from you, the warriors and representatives of a valiant nation."

The presentation was made by Lieut. George Scarpas of the Greek Royal Army Reserve.

Would Ask China To Right Injustice

New York, July 6 (AP)—The Far East-America Council of Commerce and Industry said today it had asked the United States State Department to make representations to the Chinese Government "to correct a manifest injustice to an American company and its manager" in the arrest March 3 of F. Mysberg, Dutch national, and Shanghai manager of the wholly American-owned Abis Company Federal, Inc.

Mysberg was convicted April 14 of "circulating foreign currency banknotes" and given a year's sentence in prison. The council said the Chinese Government confiscated $40,000 in United States banknotes and 20,000 Hong Kong dollars belonging to the Abis Company.

The council said the Abis Company was not a commercial bank and did not accept banking deposits, as the Chinese courts held, but was an investment bank and brokerage house.

WASHINGTON,JULY 6-(AP)-SENATOR REVERCOMB (R-W.VA.) TODAY CRITICIZED THE "MARSHALL PLAN" AS A "NEW DEAL FOR THE COUNTRIES OF EUROPE" THAT MIGHT COST THE UNITED STATES FROM 18 TO 24 BILLION DOLLARS.

"YOU CANNOT BUY FRIENDSHIPS-YOU CANNOT BUY PEACE," THE WEST VIRGINIA REPUBLICAN SAID IN A SPEECH TRANSCRIBED FOR REBROADCAST LATER IN WEST VIRGINIA.

THE PLAN, ADVANCED BY SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL, CALLS FOR THE BUILDING UP OF AN INTEGRATED EUROPEAN ECONOMY ON A BASIS OF SELF-HELP PLUS U.S. FINANCIAL AID. IT HAS BEEN REJECTED BY RUSSIA.

REVERCOMB CONTENDED THAT THE FOREIGN POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES "HAS SUDDENLY CHANGED" FROM SUPPORT OF THE UNITED NATIONS TO THE "NEW PLAN OF AMERICA TO GO IT ALONE".

"THE TIME HAS COME WHEN WE MUST SETTLE UPON A POLICY," HE SAID. "WE WANT TO AID OTHER COUNTRIES AND OTHER PEOPLE, BUT THAT HELP MUST BE WITHIN THE BOUNDS OF OUR QBILITY TO HELP WITHOUT INJURING OUR OWN STRENGTH, AND IT MUST BE UPON A BASIS OF HELP TO THOSE WHO DO NOT HOLD THE THREAT OF WAR FOR US".

REVERCOMB DISPUTED ARGUMENTS THAT THE UNITED NATIONS "WAS NOT READY TO TAKE OVER THE BURDEN OF PEACE-MAKING" OR THAT RUSSIA'S USE OF VETO POWER AGAINST U.N. ACTION COMPELLED THE NEW JULED STATES 1947 POLICY.

HE SAID THAT THE U.N. WAS ABLE TO FORCE "RUSSIA TO WITHDRAW HER FORCE FROM IRAN". HE PROPOSED:

"IF RUSSIA INDEED WAS GOING TO USE THE VETO WITHOUT REASON, THEN LET THOSE WHO STOOD AGAINST RUSSIA REPUDIATE HER AND ACT AGAINST HER. THEN THE UNITED STATES WOULD NOT STAND ALONE."

THE MARSHALL PLAN, REVERCOMB CONTINUED, "CALLS FOR APPROPRIATION AND EXPENDING OF VAST SUMS OF MONEY, NOT PARTICULARLY TO FEED PEOPLE IN NEED, NOT TO SHELTER THEM OR TO CLOTHE THEM, BUT TO SUSTAIN GOVERNMENTS".

THE SENATOR SAID CONGRESSIONAL SUPPORT OF THE MARSHALL PLAN WOULD REQUIRE "AS MUCH AS $6,000,000,000 A YEAR FOR THREE OR FOUR YEARS TO COME".

SUCH AN OUTLAY, HE SAID, "IS BOUND TO IMPOVERISH OUR PEOPLE AND DESTROY OUR NATURAL RESOURCES."

WASHINGTON,JULY 6-(AP)-CAPT.TOM BROWN OF THE ARMY AIR FORCES PUBLIC RELATIONS STAFF SAID TODAY THAT THE AAF HAS DECIDED THERE IS "SOMETHING TO" ALL THESE FLYING SAUCER STORIES BUT IS COMPLETELY MYSTIFIED.

BROWN TOLD A REPORTER THE TALES OF FLAT ROUND OBJECTS ZIPPING THROUGH THE SKY ARE TOO WIDESPREAD TO BE GROUNDLESS. HE NOTED THAT A NUMBER OF COMPETENT AIRMEN AND OTHERS HAD REPORTED THEM.

BUT FOR 10 DAYS, HE DECLARED, THE AAF HAS BEEN CHECKING ON THE STORIES "AND WE STILL HAVEN'T THE SLIGHTEST IDEA WHAT THE THINGS CAN BE."

A NAVY OFFICIAL SAID IT HAD CHECKED, THROUGH ITS ORDNANCE BUREAU, ALL ITS FACILITIES TO DETERMINE WHETHER ANY WERE SENDING ALOFT OBJECTS THAT COULD ACCOUNT FOR THE STRANGE SIGHTS. THE ANSWERS WERE NEGATIVE.

WELL, COULD THEY BE COMING FROM OUTSIDE THIS COUNTRY? TURNING TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT, A REPORTER ASKED WHETHER ANYONE INSIDE OR OUTSIDE THAT AGENCY IS INVESTIGATING THE POSSIBILITY THE OBJECTS ORIGINATE WITH A FOREIGN POWER.

LINCOLN WHITE, STATE DEPARTMENT PRESS OFFICER, SAID HE DIDN'T KNOW OF ANY SUCH INQUIRY.

CAPT. BROWN SAID "WE DON'T BELIEVE ANYONE IN THIS COUNTRY, OR OUTSIDE THIS COUNTRY, HAS DEVELOPED A GUIDED MISSILE THAT WILL GO 1,200 MILES AN HOUR, AS SOME REPORTS HAVE INDICATED. 1947

"WE AREN'T ENGAGED IN ANY TESTS OR EXPERIMENTS THAT MIGHT EXPLAIN THIS MYSTERY AND WE DON'T KNOW OF ANYONE IN OR OUTSIDE THE GOVERNMENT WHO IS. OUR GUIDED MISSILE SCIENTISTS ARE AS PUSSLED AS WE ARE."

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 6-(AP)-DR.AUREL ACZEL, EDITOR OF A HUNGARIAN LANGUAGE NEWSPAPER, TODAY EXPRESSED BELIEF THE FLYING SAUCERS REPORTED SEEN OVER THE NATION MERELY WERE MIRAGES--POSSIBLY CIRCULARLY DISTORTED SKY REFLECTIONS OF FLIGHTS OF REAL AIRPLANES MANY MILES AWAY.

A WORLD-WIDE TRAVELER, DR.ACZEL SAID:

"YEARS AGO I HAVE SEEN SIMILAR THINGS ON THE EGYPTIAN DESERT AND ON THE BUSZTA, OR THE HUNGARIAN PLAINS. AT SEA I HAVE ALSO SEEN MIRAGES OF SHIPS KNOWN TO BE A GREAT DISTANCE AWAY.

"FROM MY STUDIES AND OBSERVATIONS IN THE PAST I BELIEVE THESE DISCS ARE MIRAGES OF PLANES. IT IS TO BE REMEMBERED THAT DURING THE MONTHS OF JULY AND AUGUST, AND SOMETIMES EVEN IN JUNE, ATMOSPHERIC CONDITIONS ARE ESPECIALLY ADAPTABLE TO THE CREATION OF MIRAGES."

HENRY P.ADAMS, WEATHERMAN HERE, SAID SUCH A THING WAS NOT IMPOSSIBLE BUT HE HAD NEVER HEARD OF FLYING MIRAGES.

"MIRAGES ARE USUALLY FORMED CLOSE TO THE SURFACE OF THE EARTH AND NOT SEEN AT ANY PARTICULARLY HIGH ALTITUDE," ADAMS SAID.

DAYTON,O.,JULY 6-(AP)-OFFICIALS OF THE AIR MATERIEL COMMAND OF THE ARMY AIR FORCES AT WRIGHT FIELD DECLARED TONIGHT THEY HAD "NO REPUTABLE INFORMATION" REGARDING THE FLYING DISCS PHENOMENON WHICH HAS BEEN REPORTED IN VARIOUS PARTS OF THE COUNTRY.

"WE FIND NOTHING OFFICIAL ON WHICH TO WORK," AUTHORITIES AT WRIGHT FIELD SAID. "THERE HAS BEEN NO REPUTABLE INFORMATION PROVIDED US. THE AIR MATERIEL COMMAND IS READY FOR ANY ACTION NECESSARY AND, WHEN WE ARE PROVIDED REPUTABLE INFORMATION, TO TAKE WHATEVER ACTION IS NECESSARY."

ASSOCIATED PRESS SCIENCE EDITOR (480)

NEW YORK, JULY 6-(AP)-CERTAIN LAWS OF HUMAN EYESIGHT WILL EXPLAIN MUCH OF WHAT HAS BEEN DESCRIBED ABOUT THE FLYING SAUCERS REPORTED FROM NEARLY ALL PARTS OF THE UNITED STATES.

AT ANY DISTANCE WHICH IS CLOSE TO THE LIMIT OF HOW FAR A PERSON CAN SEE, ALL OBJECTS APPEAR ROUND OR NEARLY SO. THIS LAW OF SIGHT COVERS BOTH SMALL THINGS SEEN NEARBY AND LARGE ONES AT GREAT DISTANCES.

REGARDLESS OF SHAPE, THE OBJECT NEAR THE LIMIT OF SIGHT LOOKS ROUND. IF THE THING IS SILHOUETTED AGAINST A BRIGHT SKY, AS SOME OF THE FLYING SAUCERS HAVE BEEN REPORTED, THEN IT IS MORE LIKELY TO REVEAL ITS TRUE SHAPE.

IF THE THING IS SEEN BY REFLECTED LIGHT, AS IN MOST CASES REPORTED, IT IS ALMOST CERTAIN TO BE ROUND, AND IF THE REFLECTIONS ARE SUNLIGHT, THEN THE SIZES REPORTED ARE THOSE WHICH WOULD BE EXPECTED FROM DISTANT LIGHT REFLECTIONS.

THE ONE OUTSTANDING FACT ABOUT VIRTUALLY ALL THE SAUCERS IS THAT THEY HAD NO STRUCTURE - THEY SEEMED MERELY ROUND AND FLAT. THAT DESCRIPTION FITS EXACTLY WITH THE TRICKS THAT EYES PLAY. THIS TRICKINESS VARIES WITH DIFFERENCES IN WEATHER AND LIGHTING. 1947

THIS WRITER HAS SEEN FLYING SAUCERS OVER LONG ISLAND SOUND NEAR HIS HOME, NOT ONLY THIS YEAR BUT IN PREVIOUS YEARS. THEY WERE ROUND, BRIGHT AND MOVING FAST. BUT THEY WERE NO MYSTERY BECAUSE THEY WERE LIGHT REFLECTED FROM THE BODIES OF AIRPLANES THAT SOON IDENTIFIED THEMSELVES BY CHANGING COURSE AND COMING NEAR ENOUGH TO BE SEEN DISTINCTLY.

LAST WEEK THIS WRITER ALSO SAW ONE OVAL FLYING FORM WHICH FOR A MOMENT LOOKED EXACTLY LIKE THE PHOTOGRAPH OF THE OVAL OBJECT TAKEN BY YEOMAN FRANK RYMAN NORTH OF SEATTLE, WASH. THE LONG ISLAND OVAL CAME CLOSER AND TURNED INTO AN AIRPLANE.

PLANES AT GREAT DISTANCES TEND TO LOOK ROUND WHEN LIGHT IS REFLECTED FROM THEIR SIDES. MANY DESCRIPTIONS OF MOVEMENTS OF THE FLYING SAUCERS FIT WITH THE COMMON MANEUVERS OF AIRPLANES, SINGLY OR IN GROUPS. THEY FIT ALSO WITH WHAT BIRDS LOOK LIKE, FLYING AT A CONSIDERABLE DISTANCE. HOWEVER THE BIRD ILLUSION IS NOT VERY COMMON. SOME OF THE MANEUVERING REPORTED, WHICH TOOK SAUCERS OUT OF SIGHT AND BACK INTO SIGHT AGAIN RESEMBLES WHAT CAN BE SEEN WHILE WATCHING DISTANT AIRPLANES.

IT MAKES NO DIFFERENCE WHETHER PLANES ARE GUIDED, PILOTLESS OR ARE JET.
AT GREAT DISTANCES THEY ALL WOULD LOOK THE SAME.

THE ONE STRANGEST FACT IS THAT NO ONE HAS SEEN A FLYING SAUCER CLOSE UP. IN SO MANY EXPERIENCES AN OCCASIONAL CLOSEUP WOULD BE ALMOST INEVITABLE.

THERE IS NO EXPLANATION FOR REPORTED SPEEDS OF 1,000 OR MORE MILES AN HOUR. .35394', ALTHOUGH THEY GO MUCH FASTER THAN THAT, DO NOT EXPLAIN IT BECAUSE THE SAUCERS MOSTLY APPEARED IN DAYTIME AND THERE ARE NOT ENOUGH DAYLIGHT METEORS.

ICE CRYSTALS FORMING LITTLE ROUND CLOUDS HAVE BEEN SUGGESTED. BUT THESE FAIL TO FIT IN MOST CASES BECAUSE THE ICE CRYSTALS FORM AT ALTITUDES WHICH ARE HIGHER THAN MOST OF THE SAUCERS REPORTED.

NOTHING PUBLISHED IN SCIENCE OR ATOMIC STUDIES GIVES THE SLIGHTEST CLUE TO FLYING SAUCERS UNLESS THE OBJECTS ARE AIRCRAFT.

ONE SCIENTIST TODAY SAID THAT AT LEAST A LOT OF SAUCERS ARE EXPLAINED BY THE FORCE OF SUGGESTION WHICH CAUSES A PERSON TO SAY TO HIMSELF:

"OH, GEE, I SEE IT TOO."

NEW YORK, JULY 6-(AP)-PRESIDENT JUAN D.PERON OF ARGENTINA SAID TODAY THE RESOURCES OF HIS COUNTRY WERE MOBILIZED TO AID THE WORLD IN ITS ASPIRATIONS FOR PEACE.

IN A RADIO BROADCAST TO THE UNITED STATES FROM BUENOS AIRES OVER THE FACILITIES OF THE MUTUAL BROADCASTING SYSTEM, HE SAID:

"IN THIS CRUCIAL HOUR FOR THE UNIVERSE, WHEN DISORDER AND CONFUSION STRIVE TO BECOME THE RULING SYSTEMS OF HUMAN RELATIONSHIPS, WE WISH ONCE MORE TO LEND OUR HELP, TO TRUST IN EVOLUTION, TO DEFEND SOCIAL JUSTICE.

"ONCE AGAIN WE SAY TO THE WORLD, FROM OUR CONTINENT AND FROM THE ARGENTINE FRONTIER, THAT WE WISH TO SEE PEACE, CONCORD AND WORK PREVAIL IN THEIR SOIL, SO THAT POSTERITY MAY UNDERSTAND THAT WE HAVE NOT REMAINED INDIFFERENT TO THE CLAIMS OF THE SUFFERING NATIONS OR TO THE CONSIDERATIONS OF THE EXISTING PROBLEMS OF THE WORLD."

NIGHT LEAD ZIONISTS

NEW YORK, JULY 5-(AP)-THE ZIONIST ORGANIZATION OF AMERICA TONIGHT VOTED "UNQUALIFIED REPUDIATION AND UNRESERVED CONDEMNATION" OF ACTS OF VIOLENCE OF "DISSIDENT GROUPS" IN PALESTINE. JUL

THE ZIONISTS' 50TH ANNUAL CONVENTION, ATTENDED BY MORE THAN 1,800 DELEGATES, ADOPTED A RESOLUTION CONDEMNING THE "ANARCHIC ACTIVITY OF THESE DISSIDENT GROUPS." 10

PROPOSALS BY A NUMBER OF DELEGATES TO DEFINE "THE DISSIDENT GROUPS BY NAME" WERE REJECTED.

THE RESOLUTION AFFIRMED THE ORGANIZATION'S SUPPORT OF THE JEWISH AGENCY, AND THE HAGANA AS "ITS ONLY LEGITIMATE DEFENSE FORCE."

THE CONVENTION PROPOSED THAT THE JEWISH AGENCY RECEIVE "FULL AUTHORITY" TO HANDLE "THE UNRESTRICTED IMMIGRATION OF JEWS INTO PALESTINE AND THEIR RESETTLEMENT IN TOWN AND COUNTRY."

ANOTHER RESOLUTION URGED THAT THE UNITED STATES MAKE "A MATTER OF RECORD BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS ITS TRADITIONAL POLICY THAT PALESTINE SHALL BE RECONSTITUTED A JEWISH COMMONWEALTH."

THE RESOLUTION DEALING WITH RESISTANCE IN PALESTINE WAS HOTLY DEBATED ON THE FLOOR, BUT AS FINALLY ADOPTED IT RETAINED THE WORDING PRESENTED BY THE CONVENTION'S POLITICAL COMMITTEE.

AN AMEMDMENT TO NAME THE "DISSIDENT" GROUPS, PRESENTED BY HAROLD GOLDENBERG, OF MINNEAPOLIS, WAS DEFEATEED AFTER DR.EMANUEL NEUMANN, NEW YORK, NEWLY-ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE ZOA, SAID THE RESOLUTION DID NOT EQUIVOCATE AND WAS A CLEAR STATEMENT OF POLICY WHICH THE ZOA COULD PRESENT TO THE WORLD. OTHER SPEAKERS, INCLUDING LOUIS LIPSKY, A FORMER ZOA PRESIDENT, HAD PLEADED FOR "CLARITY" IN THE WORDING.

THE PRESENT POLICY OF THE MANDATORY POWER (GREAT BRITAIN) "IS DEVOID OF ALL LEGAL OR MORAL VALIDITY," THE RESOLUTION DECLARED, AND ADDED THAT THE ZOA "EXTENDS TO THE YISHUV (THE JEWISH COMMUNITY) AND THE HAGANA, ITS ONLY LEGITIMATE DEFENSE FORCE, THE PROMISE OF ITS FULL SUPPORT IN THEIR DETERMINED STRUGGLE TO PROTECT THE VITAL INTERESTS OF THE JEWISH PEOPLE AND ITS INALIENABLE RIGHTS, INCLUDING THE RIGHT TO IMMIGRATION, SETTLEMENT AND SELF-DEFENSE."

"THE CONVENTION ALSO REAFFIRMS WITH EQUAL VIGOR THE POSITION TAKEN BY THE ZIONIT CONGRESS IN UNQUALIFIED REPUDIATION AND UNRESERVED CONDEMNATION OF THOSE ACTS OF VIOLENCE COMMITTED BY DISSIDENT GROUPS WITHIN THE YISHUV, IN DEFIANCE OF THE POLICIES LAID DOWN BY THE RESPONSIBLE

JEWISH AUTHORITIES IN PALESTINE. IT IS OUR CONVICTION THAT THE FUNDAMENTAL CAUSE OF SUCH ACTS IS THE MOOD OF DESPERATION GROWING OUT OF THE CRUEL, BRUTAL AND OPPRESSIVE ACTS OF THE MANDATORY GOVERNMENT.

"WE JOIN WITH ALL RESPONSIBLE ELEMENTS IN THE ZIONIST MOVEMENT IN CALLING UPON THEM (THE DISSIDENT GROUPS) TO DESIST, AND WE CALL UPON THE ZIONISTS IN AMERICA TO WITHHOLD MORAL AND FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE FROM ANY PERSONS OR GROUPS IN THIS COUNTRY ACTING OR PURPORTING TO ACT ON THEIR BEHALF."

THE RESOLUTION WHICH ASKED FOR JEWISH AGENCY CONTROL OF IMMIGRATION INTO PALESTINE DECLARED GREAT BRITAIN "HAS NO MORAL OR LEGAL RIGHT TO CONTINUE ITS CONTROL AND ADMINISTRATION OF THE COUNTRY."

IT SAID THAT "IN VIEW OF THE TRAGIC FAILURE TO THE MANDATORY TO FACILITATE JEWISH IMMIGRATION INTO PALESTINE AND TO SPEED THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE COUNTRY, THE FULL AUTHORITY SHALL BE VESTED IN THE JEWISH AGENCY FOR PALESTINE TO ORGANIZE AND DIRECT THE UNRESTRICTED IMMIGRATION OF JEWS INTO PALESTINE AND THEIR RESETTLEMENT IN TOWN AND COUNTRY, AND TO PROMOTE THE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT OF PALESTINE IN THE INTEREST OF ITS PRESENT AND FUTURE POPULATION."

THE RESOLUTION DIRECTED TOWARD THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT SAID "NO DOUBT SHOULD EXIST ANY ANY QUARTER AS TO THE CLEAR INTENTION OF THIS GOVERNMENT TO HONOR ANY OF ITS INTERNATIONAL COMMITMENTS, AND WE ARE CONVINCED THAT A GRIEVOUS HARM MAY RESULT NOT ONLY TO ZIONISM BUT TO THE WHOLE STRUCTURE OF WORLD PEACE BUILT ON THE FAITH OF NATIONS UNLESS THE U.S. WITH DISPATCH MAKES A MATTER OF RECORD BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS ITS TRADITIONAL POLICY."

Czechs Accept Paris Aid-Parley Bid, Prague Hears

1947 JUL

Paris, July 7 (AP)—Semi-official circles in Prague said today that Czechoslovakia, a member of the Slavic bloc, had decided to accept an invitation to the Paris conference on the Marshall proposal despite Soviet rejection of the implementation plans.

The decisions, the informants said, was taken by the Government in Prague on the eve of the delayed departure to Moscow of Communist Premier Klement Gottwald and Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk.

Poland, also within the Russian sphere, is still studying the invitation to the Paris conference, opening Saturday, a Foreign Ministry spokesman in Warsaw said. He added that Poland was "very interested in plans for the reconstruction of Europe."

Six Accept Already

The French Foreign Ministry announced that six nations had already officially accepted the British-French invitation to the conference, and that similar notes were expected from eight other countries.

The six acceptances were from Belgium, Italy, Portugal, Eire, Greece and Turkey.

Acceptances "in principle" have been received unofficially from Holland, Luxembourg, Austria, Denmark, Iceland, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland.

French quarters said that thus far only one nation, Finland, had given a provisional negative reply, and that this was "for political and geographical reasons."

Czechoslovakia, touchstone of the Slav bloc's attitude, reserved her decision on the Marshall proposal as a Czechoslovak delegation continued conferences in Moscow.

British Map Program

The Italian Communists, meanwhile, approved Italy's participation with a set of conditions which may suggest a precedent for nations in the Russian orbit.

Earlier the National Council of the French Socialist party adopted resolutions expressing confidence in Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier's Government, recommending an anti-inflation policy and approving in principle the Marshall program.

In London, a British Foreign Office spokesman indicated the British would go to the Paris conference, opening next Saturday, with a detailed plan for co-ordinating the economies of European countries. Another authoritative source said this plan was being drafted in consultation with French and United States experts.

Conditions Listed

Italian Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti, regarded as the party's ablest spokesman in the west, gave Italy's participation conditional approval in a speech yesterday at Turin.

Togliatti said American aid would be useful to European and Italian reconstruction if the nations in the plan did not form a political bloc against Soviet Russia, if they did not divide Europe into two blocs, if there was no political intervention in internal affairs and if it did not lead to economic subordination.

Observers quickly decided these might well be the conditions on which nations dominated by a Communist party would participate.

"Black Bread And Freedom"

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and Communist Leader Maurice Thorez accentuated French political divisions on the Marshall program.

Speaking at Chalon-sur-Saône, Bidault, leader of the Popular Republican movement, declared: "France has a great role to play on our continent to permit American aid to be effective. . . . She will march with those who wish to remake Europe in peace."

Thorez, addressing a rally at Brest, called the Marshall proposal a threat to French independence. He said: "We will never agree to sell our consciences for coal or wheat. We prefer to eat black bread and remain free."

Meanwhile, reaction began to crystallize in the so-called "rebel groups" of Britain's dominant Labor party. It ranged from qualified approval on the part of R. H. S. Crossman to qualified antagonism by Konni Zilliacus, two leaders of the year-long revolt within the party against Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's foreign policies.

Both said Britain's best international line would be to continue writin gtrade agreements with the countries of eastern Europe.

Crossman asserted it was "nonsense" to suggest that Europe and the world had been finally divided into eastern and western groups by Russia's decision to stay out of the July 12 Paris talks.

"For Britain, the middle way between America and Russia is still open," he wrote in the Sunday Pictorial.

"Truman Doctrine" Seen

Zilliacus said that, applied to all Europe through the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe, the Marshall program stood a chance. But now, he added, the program "amounts to nothing more than the Truman doctrine in the West."

The French Socialist motion indorsing the Marshall plan expressed regret over the failure of the recent three-power talks in Paris and voiced hope that Soviet Russia would nevertheless see fit to attend the July 12 conference.

Approved unanimously, the motion said it was the Council's opinion that "the states of the old Continent should, in the interest of their own people, seize the unique opportunity offered to them by the Marshall plan and agree among themselves on European reconstruction."

It expressed thanks to the American people and Government for "whatever would be done to help Europe while respecting the complete independence of its [Europe's] nations."

The vote on the motion came at 6.45 A.M., after an all-night session of the Council during which Ramadier asserted that the Marshall plan offered "the only way" to save Europe and urged his nation to take a leading role in the Continent's reconstruction.

"This is the only way to organize the economy of Europe," he declared. "We must take the lead, together with England, in European reconstruction."

The motion expressing confidence in Ramadier's non-Communist Government was carried by a vote of 2,576 to 2,058, with 127 abstaining.

CZECHS REPORTED DECIDING TO JOIN PARIS CONFERENCE

Action Is Taken Prior to Moscow Journey by Prague Leaders.

JUL 1947

Prague, July 7 (A. P.).—The Czecho-Slovak Government decided in a closed session today to accept an invitation to the Paris conference on the Marshall proposal, despite Soviet rejection, semi-official circles said.

The decision was taken on the eve of the delayed departure to Moscow of Communist Premier Klement Gottwald and Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk—without waiting for results of their talks with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, the informants said.

Representative Named.

The Czecho-Slovak Ambassador in Paris, Jindrich Nosak, has been named representative for the Paris conference, opening Saturday, bcause the meeting will begin too son for Masaryk to reach Paris on his return from Moscow, it was added, but Masaryk will take over when he can.

[Nosak denied in Paris earlier today a report that Czecho-Slovakia had "provisionally" accepted and also denied that he had been named as delegate.]

Czecho-Slovakia's official radio steered a middle course in its comments on action on the invitation.

3 RED SATELLITES SHUN AID PARLEY

Romania, Poland, Yugoslavia Seen Aloof; Czechs May Attend.

DYNAN

PARIS, Tuesday, July 8—(AP) A Moscow radio broadcast heard in London early today said Romania, Poland and Yugoslavia would not take part in the British-French sponsored conference on the Marshall aid-to-Europe proposal which opens Saturday.

The Moscow broadcast, if confirmed officially, would spike optimism felt here that Czechoslovakia's acceptance was a possible indication that "eastern," as well as "western," European nations would be present at the meeting.

No Official Statement

However, there has been no official statement that Romania, Poland and Yugoslavia, as well as any other country in the Soviet sphere of influence, would decline to participate in the Paris meeting.

An Associated Press dispatch from Prague quoted semi-official circles as saying the decision for Czech participation had been reached at a closed session of the government.

The Moscow radio, quoting a Bucharest dispatch from the Soviet news agency Tass, said flatly the Romanian government had decided not to participate in the April 12 parley.

A Tass dispatch from Paris, the radio said, stated Yugoslavia and Poland would not take part and added the dispatch "pointed out that Poland and Yugoslavia would gladly accept credits from the United States and would accurately fulfill equitable terms of credit, but they prefer to have relations directly with creditors if possible and without intermediaries."

Replies Awaited

The French Foreign Ministry said last night it had decided to wait until replies had been received from all 22 invited nations, before making any further announcements of acceptances.

Earlier, the ministry said six nations had accepted formally, and eight others were expected to do so soon. The six are Belgium, Italy, Portugal, Eire, Greece and Turkey. Acceptances "in principle" have been received unofficially from Holland, Luxembourg, Austria, Denmark, Iceland, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland, the ministry added. Reports from the Hague said Holland definitely had accepted.

Russia refused last week, at the three-power conference here, to participate in a British-French plan to implement the Marshall program. However, British and French sources said they still had not given up hope that the Soviets would attend Saturday's conference.

These hopes appeared slim, however, in view of a new Soviet attack against Britain and France, delivered in Geneva today by Valerian Zorin, Russian delegate to the United Nations-sponsored economic commission for Europe.

Zorin told a tense session of the conference that Britain and France planned to dominate the economy of Europe "behind the back of the Soviet Union." He added that Russia could not participate in what he called "an erroneous and wrong policy quite evidently aimed at interference in the internal affairs of European countries."

Reports from various European capitals indicated that the Marshall plan had posed a political dilemma, particularly for those governments which are Communist-dominated.

30. 24- 10783

This was the picture:

Poland—A Foreign Ministry spokesman said his government was 'very interested" in the conference and would decide soon whether to attend.

Hungary—A Reliable Hungarian source said some members of the government had drafted a note asking the Allied Control Commission for permission to accept the invitation and that the Cabinet would consider the draft tomorrow.

Yugoslavia — Premier Marshal Tito was reported conferring in the summer capital of Bled with his lieutenants. Informed circles predicted a joint Yugoslav-Albanian answer.

Romania—The government was said to be inclined to reject the invitation but might reconsider if Poland and Czechoslovakia decided to participate.

Austria—The Cabinet was expected to accept the invitation tomorrow, despite Communist opposition.

Italy—The government began working on the Italian approach to the conference. The Communists gave Italy's participation a conditional indorsement.

Finland—The Cabinet met to discuss whether Finland should accept. French sources in Paris said Finland had given a "provisional" negative reply "for political and geographic reasons."

[Turkey, in announcing its acceptance, said Numan Menemencioglu, Ambassador to France and former Foreign Minister, will be chief delegate, The United Press reported. The decision of Belgium and the Netherlands to attend was reached jointly at an intergovernmental meeting at The Hague.]

A British Foreeign Office spokesman indicated in London that his government would present at the conference a detailed plan for coordinating the economies of European countries. Another authoritative London source said the plan was being drafted in consultation with French and American experts.

American sources said this could be interpreted as meaning only that the British were keeping American experts informed of progress, since these experts were not available for consultation until the co-ordinated European program had begun to take shape.

British Girls Seek End Of Fraternization Ban

London, July 7 (AP)—A 30-year-old British girl launched a campaign today to break down Britain's non-fraternization rule that keeps fiancées from marrying their German prisoners-of-war sweethearts.

The British press reported Miss Edna Diment had invited twenty girls who want to marry German prisoners to join in fighting the ban. She also announced plans to petition Lord Pakenham—the administrator for the British occupation zone of Germany—and to appeal to Queen Elizabeth if all else failed.

This latest campaign against the two-year-old prohibition came one day before the House of Commons was due to hear a member's appeal on behalf of Werner Vetter, a German prisoner of war who wants to marry Olive Reynolds, the mother of his child.

Vetter is now serving a twelve-month sentence for improperly associating with Miss Reynolds.

Entire R.A.F. Squadron To Fly to U. S. for Tour

LONDON, July 7 (AP).—The first trans-Atlantic crossing by a complete British bomber squadron will be made by Royal Air Force planes in a good-will tour of the United States and Canada starting July 22.

Sixteen Lincoln aircraft, all the bombers of Squadron 617, will start in formation from Binbrook, in Lincolnshire. The first hop will be 2,000 miles for Gander, Newfoundland.

The squadron is expected to reach Washington July 28, and arrangements are being made for it to take part with American planes in an air show over New York. Then the British planes will make flights to Detroit, Salina, Kan.; Sacramento and Los Angeles, Calif.; Fort Worth, Tex., and Montgomery, Ala.

British Committee Set Up For Economic Planning

LONDON, July 7 (AP).—The government named today a fifteen-man economic planning committee—representing industry, labor and government departments—to tighten "co-operation and consultation" for Britain's own recovery as Europe moves toward self-help under the Marshall proposal.

Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison announced formation of the new advisory group to the House of Commons today, after disclosing last week the government had begun work on a "three to five year" recovery plan.

Its primary task, he said, will be "to advise the government on the best use of our economic resources, both for realization of long-term planning and for immediate measures against our difficulties."

Unionist Proposes Closer Russ Ties

Rothesay, Scotland, July 7 (AP)—A call for closer British co-operation with "the Soviet Union and other peace-loving nations" was issued today by Will Lawther, president of the National Union of Mineworkers, to delegates representing 600,000 miners at the union's annual conference.

Lawther welcomed at the same time what he called a "new outlook" by the United States, saying:

"It might be that the Americans are now realizing that the world is their domain—not for aggressive or, in modern times, imperialistic purposes, but for goodwill."

But he condemned talk of a "contain-communism" program and declared that British workers would never support an atomic war against Russia such as he said some "sadists" and "warmongers" in the United States are advocating.

Inverchapel Liked Best In America: The Young

Southampton, England, July 7 (AP)—Lord Inverchapel, British Ambassador to the United States, who arrived today for a two-months' leave, said British-American relations are "better than ever."

British journalists asked him what he liked best about America.

The Ambassador replied:

"The people, especially the young people."

'New Bomb Can Wipe Out Paris'

Paris, July 7 (AP)—The newspaper L'Intransigeant quoted French military circles today as saying a new American atomic bomb "capable of destroying Paris or Moscow" by blasting a hole 2,700 feet deep and 11 miles wide had been tested in New Mexico.

The newspaper said its sources for the information were "Paris military and political circles which received restricted information, of this nature.

[Robert M. Hutchins, chancellor of the University of Chicago, where the atom bomb was pioneered, and president of the Committee to Frame a World Constitution, said recently that "American science and technology have produced a stock pile of new and improved bombs large enough, according to usually conservative sources, to destroy every large city on the earth." His statement was published June 18 in the Common Cause, monthly periodical of the Committee for a World Charter.]

L'Intransigeant said the new bomb, in a test, destroyed a facsimile of a large city, complete with reinforced-concrete buildings, built especially for the trial.

Technical details are not available, the article continued, but it said the tests had consumed 14,000 tons of silver, or "two and a half years of the world's production."

'SUPER-BOMB' IS DENIED

American Commission Scouts Paris Report of Atomic Weapon

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—The United States Atomic Energy Commission described today as "nonsense and preposterous" a report of a new atomic bomb capable of blasting a crater eleven miles wide, carried by l'Intransigeant of Paris.

Socialists Back Ramadier, Vote Approval Of Aid

Paris, July 7 (AP)—The national council of the French Socialist party gave a vote of confidence today to Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier's coalition Cabinet and approved the principle of the Marshall aid-Europe plan.

The motion of confidence was carried, 2,576 to 2,058, with 127 abstaining. However, the party threatened to withdraw from the Government unless immediate steps were taken to halt inflation.

The steps demanded were reduction of the budget through reorganization of administrative agencies, tax reform, and cuts of military credits; issuance of reconstruction loans; reduction of the number of bank notes in circulation, and harmonization between prices and salaries.

Ousted Cabinet Aid Back in Paris

Paris, July 7 (A. P.).—Gen. Edgard de Larminat, Gen. de Gaulle's wartime Chief of Staff, whom the Cabinet last week relieved of his post as Inspector General of Colonies, arrived at Orly Airfield today after being recalled in the middle of a tour of the Cameroons. He was removed by the Cabinet at the same meeting at which the "Black Maquis" plot to overthrow the Republic was discussed.

A Cabinet spokesman would neither confirm nor deny reports that the general would be questioned in connection with the investigation.

SPAIN ROLLS UP HUGE VOTE FOR FRANCO REGIME

Confirms Chief of State in Office by Unexpectedly Heavy Poll.

MAJORITY IS 10 TO 1 IN FAVOR

First Election in Eleven Years Is Held on Succession Law—Boycotted by Opposition.

Madrid, July 7 (A. P.).—Unofficial returns indicated today that the Spanish voters ratified yesterday by a margin of 10 to 1 the law confirming Generalissimo Franco as Chief of State and giving him the right to propose his own successor, who may be either king or regent.

Results tabulated by the Associated Press from 12,018 out of 21,242 polling places showed 5,684,904 affirmative votes to 350,477 opposed and 195,855 blank. About 16,185,000 persons were eligible to vote in the elections—the first to be held in Spain in eleven years. An official announcement of the outcome was expected later in the day. Meanwhile Government comment was limited to a statement by the Minister of the Interior Blas Perez that the succession law had been approved by an overwhelming majority.

The security police said that the voting was in general orderly and that one accidental death at a polling place in a Galician town constituted the only casualty.

Franco had permitted no organized campaign by the opposition, which was expected to register its strength by staying away from the polling places or by casting blank ballots. It appeared, however, that the calculations of many prognosticators who had foreseen a comparatively light vote were upset. In Bilbao, steelmaking and heavy machinery center, where a May Day strike saw 40,000 workers leave their jobs in defiance of a Government strike ban, this was especially true. Bilbao is a stronghold of the Basque Nationalists,, and the Basque Government in Exile had called for a boycott of the referendum, yet of 136,979 registered voters a total of 118,717 cast ballots, and 102,871 voted "yes."

In Madrid and throughout the rest of the nation there were long waiting lines in front of polling places when the balloting began, but the voting was fast and few had to wait long. So far as could be observed, the voting was secret and free. Many of those who voted against the succession law had no hesitancy in saying so.

The ballots gave the voters a simple "yes" or "no" choice on the decree Franco sent to the Cortes (Parliament) last March on the eve of Spain's "victory day"—eighth anniversary of Franco's taking up the reins of Government.

In addition to confirming Franco's position as Chief of State, the law declares that Spain is still a monarchy and gives Franco the right to propose his own successor at any time he desires. It also provides for a Council of the Kingdom to advise the Chief of State on the succession. It stipulates that in the event of the Chief of State's death or incapacity a Council of Regency would rule until the Council of the Kingdom could designate a successor, who would then have to receive approval of two-thirds of the Cortes. With such approval, he would become king or—in the event no person of royal blood was qualified—regent.

VOTE OF 12 TO 1 BACKS FRANCO

Figures Announced On "Law Of Succession" Election

Madrid, July 7 (AP)—The Spanish Government announced tonight that the proposed Franco "law of succession" has been approved by a better than 12-to-1 majority in Sunday's referendum.

The announcement said provisional returns showed 12,628,983 votes for the measure, 643,501 against, 295,208 blank ballots and 25,689 nullified votes.

An earlier tabulation by the Associated Press of returns from 16,240 out of 32,656 voting places gave 7,822,917 for the measure, 462,656 against, and 241,598 blank.

Campaign Banned

The opposition was prohibited from campaigning against the measure, which confirms Generalissimo Francisco Franco as Chief of State for life and empowers him to name a king or regent to succeed him.

Blas Perez Gonzalez, Interior Minister, referred to the vote as "the clamorous triumph of the referendum" and said he never had witnessed a 'more sincere" election.

The Ministry said a total of 14,054,426 of Spain's 16,185,000 electors cast ballots. The total vote, it pointed out, exceeded the combined "yes," "no" and "blank" figures issued by the Ministry because voting officials in some small towns had not yet delivered their "yes" and "no" figures.

89.8 Per Cent In Favor

The Ministry added that 89.8 per cent of the votes cast were favorable to Franco as chief of state and the law of succession.

A Ministry official made a particular effort to isue figures for areas where the greatest opposition to the law of succession was expected.

Barcelona turned in 541,621 yes votes, 93,213 no and 49,950 blanks, he said; Bilbao, 102,371 yes; 11,344 no, and 4,296 blank; and Navarre province, 232,489 yes; 3,233 no, and 13,225 blank.

Calls Election Mockery

Washington, July 7 (AP)—The Spanish Republican Government in exile today termed the referendum held in Spain yesterday "a fraud which . . . makes a mockery of universal democracy and supplants the sovereignty of the Spanish nation."

That view was communicated to the State Department by representatives of the anti-Franco organization.

Later Juan Meana, Washington agent for the exile group, told a news conference that "because we have faith in the upright moral sense of civilized peoples, we are sure that other governments will not be guilty of the complicity of silence or indifference."

Says People Would Fight

"We know that the Spanish feel the enormity of the insult and are ready to fight with redoubled energy for their freedom and for their honor an an independent and sovereign nation," Meana said.

Maime Viravitalles, director of the Spanish information office of New York, also spoke at the news conference.

The two exile government agents gave reporters what they termed a copy of an order of the national Spanish security police which reached their hands through underground sources. The document directed that those arrested for acts against the security of the state be punished rigorously and that there be "no prisoners unless there were present suspicious witnesses . . . which could lead to such publicity which could be used against us by our enemies."

RUSS CLAIM STIRS CLASH IN U.N. UNIT

Britain Denies Domination Charge In Economic Parley

Geneva, Switzerland, July 7 (AP). British and Russian delegates clashed angrily today in the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe, after Russia accused Britain and France of scheming to dominate European economy "behind the back of the Soviet Union."

Valerian Zorin, Soviet delegate, declared that Britain and France had withheld information from Russia about the Marshall aid-Europe plan, and had not placed their cards on the table at the recent three-power economic conference in Paris.

Reply By McNeil

Britain's Sir Hector McNeil answered quickly what he described as Zorin's "calculated and baseless charges which insulted the United Kingdom and tired the commission."

"France and Britain cannot accept without response Mr. Zorin's offensive remarks," McNeil declared.

Zorin, referring to British-French proposals to implement the Marshall program, said Russia could not participate "in such an erroneous and wrong policy . . . quite evidently aimed at interference in the internal affairs of European countries."

He declared that Britain and France should have "considered it their duty" to inform Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister, at the three-power conference last week, about all details of the Marshall plan.

Termed Only Natural

"However, this was not done," he continued. "It was only natural that the Soviet delegation suggested asking the United States to what extent European countries could depend on United States help . . . and to what extent the European countries could be sure the Congress of the United States would approve the measures taken by the United States Government."

McNeil, the British Minister of State, said no relevant information had been withheld from Molotov, and that it was "ridiculous to ask assurances that Congress should ratify the proposed American help to Europe."

"Only Congress can answer that question," McNeil said.

Denies Any Deceit

McNeil admitted that Britain had made errors in the past, and said he did not object to being criticized.

"But I will not listen if anyone charges us with dishonesty and deceit," he asserted.

The Briton said he did not "complain" about the Russian decision not to participate in the French-British plan to implement the Marshall program, but added:

"What I complain of is the attempt to explain away their decision with unwarranted allegations of dishonest practices."

Andre Philip of France echoed McNeil's assertion that no secret understanding existed between Britain and France at the Paris conference.

Yugoslavia to Quit I. L. O

Says Labor Organziation Does Not Reflect Economic, Social Trends

GENEVA, July 7 (AP).—Edward J. Phelan, director general of the International Labor Office, announced today that Yugoslavia had given notice of her intention to withdraw from the organization.

He told a plenary session of the conference that Yugoslavia was withdrawing on the ground that, "in the opinion of the Yugoslav government, the constitutional provision and the structure of the international labor organization has become incompatible with the economic and social conditions in the Federal People's Republic of Yugoslavia and do not reflect the general trend of development in those fields in the post-war world."

War Is Not Near, Russian Asserts

Berlin, July 7 (AP)—Taegliche Rundschau, official Russian newspaper, reported today that an official of the Soviet Military Administration told a German audience at Eisenach in the Russian occupation zone that "a new war in the near future is impossible."

The official, a Lieutenant Colonel Nasarov, made the statement in an address before a convention of the rightist, German Liberal Democratic party, the paper said. Warning Germans not to take any stock in war rumors, Nasarov was reported to have said:

"The peoples of the world don't want a war. Rumors about a new war spreading through Germany only seek to sow dissension between the Allied powers."

Nasarov's warning against war rumors was the second given Germans in less than a month by Russian officials. On June 10, a Russian Colonel Warskin told a meeting of the same party at Weimar that Germans should "drop this common practice of talking about a new war" and devote their efforts "energetically to reconstruction."

CLERGYMEN ASSAIL REICH WAR BRIDES

Berlin, July 7 (A. P.).—Two American clergymen—a Methodist bishop and a Jewish rabbi—are convinced after talks with United States Army chaplains that marriages between American soldiers and German girls in the occupied Reich should be banned.

Dr. Fred Pierce Corson, Methodist bishop of Philadelphia, and Rabbi James G. Heller of the Isaac M. Wise Temple at Cincinnati, here with a group of American church as guests of the War Department expressed their views to newsmen.

Dr. Corson said that frauleins often used G. I.'s to gain entrance to the United States and asserted that soldiers should be returned to America for a "cooling off" period before sending for their German fiancees. Rabbi Heller declared that German girls—indoctrinated with Nazism—were a potential political menace and should not be permitted to enter America "without years of fumigation."

Since the lifting of the Army ban on marriages between G. I.'s and German girls last December, several thousand such unions have taken place.

7 Uazis to Be Jailed in Berlin

BERLIN, July 7 (AP).—Brigadier General Cornelius Ryan, said today preparations had been completed for the transfer of Rudolf Hess and six other convicted Nazi war criminals from Nuernberg to Spandau Prison in Berlin.

"For security and safety reasons," General Ryan told a news conference, "there will be no advance publicity when they come in. We particularly don't want any demonstrations by the Germans."

The sprawling, red-brick Spandau Prison, in the British sector of Berlin, has been ready since mid-December to receive Hess, Walther Funk and Erich Raeder, who were sentenced last October to life terms; Baldur von Schirach and Albert Speer, sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment; Constantin von Neurath, sentenced to fifteen years, and Karl Doenitz, sentenced to ten years.

Disagreement among the four powers on how the seven prisoners should be handled and fed and where they should be kept in solitary confinement led to the delay in their transfer. The Allied Control Authority finally resolved the differences, which were mainly between the Russians and French, who wanted the Nazi leaders held in virtual solitary confinement, and the Americans and British, who wanted the normal German penal code to apply.

The Allied Kommandatura (military governing body for Berlin) was instructed to work out a plan under which the convicted men will be held in isolated cells but allowed to eat and attend religious services together and talk to one another when they obtain the warden's permission.

REFUGEES' SAFETY STRESSED BY CLAY

Munich, July 7 (A. P.).—Gen. Lucius D. Clay told 200 rabbis today that the United States Army would remain in Germany to protect refugee Jews "just as long as the Jews are here."

The American commander in Germany spoke to the second annual congress of rabbis from the American and British zones. He said there was no immediate solution of the problem facing the Jews wanting to migrate to Palestine, but that statesmen of the world "are searching for a solution."

"I wish I could promise you a solution soon, but that I cannot do," Clay said. "In this period of waiting you have an opportunity to restore your peace of mind, to prepare your people in skilled trades and in discipline of the mind and body for the tasks ahead when a solution is reached."

Rabbi Samuel A. Snieg, chairman of the Congress, expressed gratitude of the Jewish people for the armies of liberation.

Rabbi Samuel A. Snieg, chairman of the congress, expressed the gratitude of the Jewish people for the armies of liberation, and asserted that any lessening of good relations was the fault of "propaganda by the German people."

Austria Scans Parley Bid

Vienna, July 7 (AP)—Government sources said today that the Austrian Cabinet had been summoned to meet tomorrow to consider an invitation to participate in the July 12 conference in Paris on the Marshall plan to aid Europe.

It was generally believed that Austria would accept the invitation, extended by Britain and France, although the Communists were expected to offer strong opposition.

Reich Trial Witness Tries Prison Suicide

Nuernberg, Germany, July 7 (AP). A former SS major, Weidemar Klingelhoefer, tore open his arteries with a safetypin yesterday in the Nuernberg prison where he is being held as a war-crimes witness. A fellow prisoner saw the suicide attempt and notified guards.

Klingelhoefer's condition was described today as "not serious." He will testify at the trial of eighteen SS leaders accused of directing the murder of more than 1,000,000 persons in Eastern Europe.

Reds in U. S. Zone Curry Favor With Small Nazis

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, July 7 (AP).—In an apparent attempt to win the support of thousands of small Nazis, the German Communist part today urged all party members to quit jobs they hold with de-Nazification boards in the State of Hesse in the American occupation zone.

Leo Bauer, Communist leader in the Hesse Legislature, told a party rally tonight tha the Communist party coudl take no responsibility for "injustices" whereby, he asserted, "the big Nazis are freed and the small ones are hanged."

The Communist party action came as the "Frankfurter Neue Presse" reported that all parties in the Hesse Legislature, including the conservative Christian Social union, had resolved to seek a relaxation of the American zone's strict de-Nazification laws.

21 B-29s Fly to Germany

Largest Flight to Cross Atlantic Is on Training Mission

FRANKFURT, AM MAIN, July 7 (AP).—The United States Army Air Forces said today the largest flight of B-29 Superfortresses ever to cross the Atlantic had arrived unheralded in Germany Saturday.

Twenty-one arrived at Giebelstadt Airport, fifty miles southeast of Frankfurt. Six others were said to have been delayed en route.

The flight was described as a "routine training mission" of crews of the 97th Bomb Group from the Smoky Hill Airfield, Salina, Kan. The mission, it was said, was designed to familiarize crews with the problems of long-range overwater flights.

Russians Find Mass Graves

Soviets Assail Bevin For 'Splitting Europe'

Moscow, July 7 (AP)—The Soviet press and radio accused British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin today of seeking—on instructions from Washington—to split Europe into two camps in connection with the Marshall proposal for continental reconstruction. GILMORE

A dispatch from London to Tass, official Soviet news agency, said this alleged move had the "unconditional support" of French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

This "American decoy" in the form of aid excites some British and French leaders to "obedience," the dispatch said. It added, however, that on the whole these sources were not particularly pleased over the Paris conference scheduled to begin Saturday and already were predicting failure.

Failure Predicted

The Soviet weekly New Times predicted failure of the proposals of United States Secretary of State Marshall and questioned whether there would be any help for Europe.

"American help, if there is any, in fact, is conditioned on the unconditional fulfillment of orders of the 'steering committee,'" the publication said.

[The British and French have proposed the establishment of a steering committee to determine the needs of European countries and how best these states can help themselves. The Russians have contended that such a plan would invade the sovereignty of European nations.]

Eden Also Accused

The attack on Bevin by the Soviet press was one of the most severe he ever has received. Anthony Eden, former British Foreign Secretary, was accused of participating in a campaign "hostile to the Soviet Union." This campaign, Tass declared, was being carried on by a large sector of the British press and the London radio.

Tass accused the British press of distorting the Soviet position at the three-power Paris conference, which ended in failure last week, as well as failing to publish Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's statement or the Soviet proposal of June 30. The British press, Tass said, was trying to "make it easier for Bevin" to carry out his policy.

"Opposing Camps"

"Of course," Tass commented, "not only the [pro-Labor London] Daily Herald but Conservative papers are helping the British Secretary for Foreign Affairs conduct his plan of splitting Europe into two opposing camps—all according to instructions from over the ocean."

The dispatch added that such British satellites as Greece and Portugal "follow this road with eagerness."

TRADE AGREEMENT SEEN

Briton Hopeful on Progress of Moscow Negotiations

MOSCOW, July 7 (AP) — An authoritative British source said today that recent developments in negotiations between British and Russian trade missions gave him reason to hope that a trade agreement might be signed. The British mission that planned to leave Moscow later this week has now postponed its departure because of the developments, he said.

Indian Accuses Ben-Gurion Of Evasiveness

Jerusalem, July 7 (AP)—Sir Abdur Rahman of India accused David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency, today of "deliberately evading questions" in a series of sharp exchanges before the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine. EL DAVIDSON

Ben-Gurion had asserted that Jews in Palestine had "no conflict with the Arabs," but rather that "international forces" were blocking their efforts to "regain" control of the country.

It was after the Indian representative on the United Nations committee asked Ben-Gurion about the possible need for force to apply a United Nations decision that Rahman accused him of evasion.

Fears Long Investigation

"If you persist in these types of answers, we shall be here another two months," Rahman told Ben-Gurion.

Justice Emil Sandstroem, chairman of the commission, posed questions about relations between the Jewish Agency and the Hagana underground organization and asked Ben-Gurion if Hagana was armed.

"I hope so," Ben-Gurion replied.

He said relations between the Jewish Agency and Hagana were "the same as between the agency and the Jewish people of Palestine."

Says They Can Meet Them

I do not know Hagana's strength, but if you would like to meet them, I'm sure they'll give you the information," he said. "I don't know for certain, however, whether they are a legal organization."

Rahman and Ben-Gurion again were in controversy when the Indian declared "there is no mandatory provision for a Jewish majority in Palestine." Ben-Gurion disagreed, and the two began reading to each other clauses from articles in the mandate.

"Wait a minute, wait a minute," Ben-Gurion told the Indian delegate. "Here is a clause that settles the matter."

Authenticity Challenged

Rahman questioned the authenticity of the document to which Ben-Gurion referred, and the Jewish leader hesitantly began to answer:

"Well, I think"——

"All I want you to do is to answer my question," Rahman interposed heatedly.

Soon afterward when Jorg Garcia Granados, of Guatemala, asked

Ben-Gurion about the legality of land laws restricting land sales in the Holy Land, Ben-Gurion offered to produce legal counsel to answer.

"We are here to form our own opinions and not to listen to lawyers," Rahman said, slamming the table.

Ben-Gurion, first of the Jewish Agency leaders to be recalled before the committee for interrogation on previous testimony, made the statement when Sandstroem asked him whether conflict between the Jews and Arabs was not the "underlying cause of the trouble in Palestine."

"Two years ago," Ben-Guiron asserted, "the Jewish Agency rejected a British Labor party suggestion that the Arabs be encouraged to move out of Palestine to make room for the Jews. We say no Arabs should be moved. They would deny us the right to live in our home, but that is not conflict, because we do not deny them the right to live here."

Suggests U.N. Supervision

Ben-Guiron told the committee that the Jewish Agency proposed a Jewish state under United Nations supervision "for a period of time to allow certain material phases of work to be done."

"This," he said, "includes irrigation of both Jewish and Arab territory by the Jewish Agency, with Arabs helping if they choose. It also entails resettlement of approximately 1,000,000 Jews in Palestine in the next few years. When these things are accomplished, the United Nations must declare an independent state in Palestine that will have a majority of Jews but in which the Jews have no more privileges than the others."

"But what do you think will be the reaction of the Arabs to your proposal?" Sandstroem asked.

"I cannot answer," Ben-Gurion replied. "I regret very much that there are no Arabs here to answer."

Grandos, addressing Ben-Gurion said: "I've heard much about the likelihood of violence if the Jews are given a favorable decision and would like to know if the Jews can defend themselves."

"We want to be left alone with the Arabs," Ben-Gurion replied. "We will go to them and ask to sit down and find a solution to our mutual problems. If the answer is no and they threaten us with violence, we shall take care of ourselves. I believe the Arabs and Jews can live in peace."

Apprised later of Ben-Gurion's remarks, Emile Ghoury, a member of the Arab Higher Executive Committee, commented:

"We agree with Mr. Ben-Gurion that the British must leave Palestine. Then we shall ask Jews to live with us. If they refuse, those who wish to leave may do so and those who stay may adapt themselves to our Government. It is up to the Arabs to decide the fate of Palestine."

Promises Minority Guarantee

Ghoury added that Jews who elect to "live with us in Arab Palestine will, of course, have all guarantees granted to minorities everywhere. We shall not resort to force unless we are forced to do so to defend our Government. And the future will decide whether we defend it or be conquered."

Among other Jewish leaders expected to be recalled for questioning was Eliezer Kaplan, Jewish Agency representative, who asserted yesterday that the resources of the Holy Land could accommodate "thrice . . . its present population."

Kaplan defended as "practical" before the committee the agency's plan for the absorption of a million Jews in the Holy Land within the next ten years.

Kaplan said Jewish immigration had "given great impetus to the economic progress of the country as a whole, to benefit all its inhabitants," and declared that "means can be found to finance" the additional immigrants.

Exploitation Charged

Another agency member—Dr. Fritz Bernstein, head of the trade and economic section of the Jewish Agency, told the committee that Britain "by her control of our dollars and imports . . . has in fact been exploiting Jewish Palestine on a very large scale."

Some violence was reported in Palestine over the week end.

In Tel Aviv, police said ten armed Jews stole $3,000 worth of precision cutting tools from a salesroom, which authorities speculated might be used in an underground munitions plant.

North of Tel Aviv, in the village of Nathanya, authorities arrested two Jews accused of passing counterfeit half-pound ($2) notes, but when the pair was being taken to headquarters three armed Jews attacked the patrol and all five escaped.

Police reported that Arabs attacked the Jewish village of Kfar Uria, northwest of Jerusalem, but were driven away by residents before any casualties resulted.

Meanwhile, in Haifa 1,500 Palestine Arab leaders adopted a resolution to excommunicate any Arab selling land to Jews.

UN BOARD RAPS BEN-GURION ON HOLY LAND DATA

JERUSALEM, July 7 — (AP) David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, was accused today by the head of the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine with attempting to soft pedal the Jewish-Arab conflict in presenting the Jewish case to the UN group.

Ben-Gurion denied the charge and asserted the Jews were prepared to "take care of ourselves" if attempts to iron out differences with the Arabs failed.

Ben-Gurion Accused

The statements were made during a spirited cross-examination of Ben-Gurion by members of the U.N. committee who have been listening to Jewish demands for creation of a Jewish state in Palestine. One committee member accused Ben-Gurion of "deliberately evading" replies to questions.

Justice Emil Sandstroem of Sweden, chairman of the U.N. committee, put this statement to Ben-Gurion:

"You, Mr. Ben-Gurion, have put the conflict between the Jews and Arabs in the background. There are, however, certain indications that such a conflict is the underlying cause of the trouble in Palestine."

Ben-Gurion replied "We cannot agree." He said the Jews have "no conflict with the Arabs," and asserted that the Jewish Agency had rejected a suggestion two years ago from the British labor party that the Arabs be encouraged to move out of Palestine.

Guatemala's delegate, Jorg Garcia Granados, told Ben-Gurion, "I've heard much about the likelihood of violence if the Jews are given a favorable decision, and I would like to know if the Jews can defend themselves."

"We want to be left alone with the Arabs," Ben-Gurion replied. "We will go to them and ask to sit down and find a solution to our mutual problems. If the answer is no, and they threaten us with violence, we shall take care of ourselves. I believe the Arabs and Jews can live in peace."

Arabs Give Stand

The Arabs are boycotting the committee hearings, but Emil Khouri, member of the Arab Higher Executive Committee, told of Ben-Gurion's statement, said the Arabs agree with him "that the British must leave Palestine. Then we shall ask the Jews to live with us. If they refuse, those who wish to leave may do so, and those who stay may adapt themselves to our government. It is up to the Arabs to decide the fate of Palestine."

Khouri declared the Arabs "shall not resort to force unless we are compelled to do so to defend our government. And the future will decide whether we shall defend it or be conquered."

The council will resume hearings tomorrow.

Jerusalem, July 7 (AP)—An official source said six armed men, believed to be Arabs, attempted to raid a Jewish jewelry store today in Haifa and wounded two persons. The bandits pushed customers to the rear and demanded keys to the safe. Some customers managed to escape and sounded the alarm, causing the robbers to drive away, shooting.

Full-Scale War On China Reds Faces Delay

By John Roderick

Peiping, July 7 (AP)—Immediate results are not likely from the Government's total mobilization order in its fight against Chinese Communists.

Judging from observations in a recent ten-day trip through North China and Manchuria—including the Szepingkai battlefield—by this correspondent, it appears evident that mobilization on even the most elementary scale can have little direct effect for at least another four months.

This estimate is on the conservative side. It is based on the amount of time required to place newly trained soldiers into battle and their effectiveness under fire.

5,000,000 Armed

The Government six months ago had some 5,000,000 men under arms, many equipped with the most modern American-supplied weapons. Yet it has failed to halt Communist military operations.

Any attempt to rush recruits through a basic training program in a few weeks would amount to mass suicide as the Szepingkai battle proved. There one half of a Government division was made up of recruits, some of whom had only a single week of training. Most of these men are dead.

Chinese I talked to at random on this trip generally wanted the civil war to end. They blamed both the Communists and the Nanking Government for its continuation. They thought peace talks would be the only way to bring about a settlement.

These persons were ordinary Chinese; some were minor Government officials.

"Fight Or Die" Plea

Shanghai, July 7 (AP)—China today commemorated the tenth anniversary of the outbreak of war with Japan, and grimly considered Chiang Kai-shek's "Fight or Die" challenge to his nation in its growing civil war with Chinese Communists.

The fighting in Manchuria was reported quiescent, after the recent bloody loss and recapture of Szepingkai by Government troops but, in Shantung province, Communists were expanding bridgeheads across the Yellow River.

Addressing his people by radio on the eve of the anniversary, Generalissimo Chiang told the Chinese they can either:

"Remain aloof from the present struggle and watch the nation die, or realize the Communist imperialistic ambitions and join in the war effort to defeat them."

No "Fervor" Noted

Victory over Japan is meaningless, he said, unless the Government recovers Manchuria from the Communists and assures the integrity of all Chinese territory.

Pro-Government newspapers have supported the Government's new total mobilization order, but there have been no outward signs here of any great surge of patriotic fervor among the people.

Far from the battlefield there seems to be little elation over Nationalist victories, little depression over Nationalist reverses.

Because of the war's very evident effect on taxes, conscription and inflation, the oft-voiced wish for peace is as great in China today as it ever was during the war against Japan.

Fighting "Spasmodic"

Yet the wish has brought neither the hope nor the expectation of peace, most observers agree. The people seem resigned, bitterly but patiently, to the dark prospect of long drawn-out civil strife.

Chinese dispatches today showed only spasdomic fighting.

The Government garrison at the coal-mining center of Piepiao, 160 miles northeast of the Jehol provincial capital of Chengteh, was forced to evacuate under Communist pressure, Nanking press reports said.

Chiang Forces Report Gains

Shanghai, July 7 (AP)—Chinese Government dispatches reported today that the Peiping-Paoting railway again had been cleared of Communists as in conclusive civil-war battles continued on the tenth anniversary of the Japanese attack on China.

The 90-mile stretch of railway is to be repaired and in operating condition again in a week, officials said. A section of the main north-south Peiping-Hankow route, it has been a constant target of hit-skip Communist raids.

Communists Take Peipiao

In the northern province of Jehol, Government forces were pushed out of Peipiao, 160 miles northeast of Chengteh, by Communist pressure. In Shantung and elsewhere, spasmodic conflict continued.

Manchurian fighting appeared to have subsided after the recent battle of Szepingkai, where each side said the other had suffered staggering losses.

The Japanese war anniversary was marked by a nation-wide radio address last night by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who said the nation must conquer the Communists or die.

Public Is Apathetic

Except for communities actually in the path of battle, the public reaction appeared apathetic. Shanghai residents displayed neither great elation over reports of Government successes nor depression over reverses.

John Roderick, Associated Press correspondent back in Peiping after a tour of Manchurian battlefields, reported that "it appears evident (the new) mobilization on even the most elementary scale can have little effect on the present fortunes of war for at least another four months."

CHINA GETS ENGINES

Shanghai, July 7 (A. P.).—The biggest shipment of railroad locomotives ever to reach Shanghai is being unloaded from the Norwegian ship Beljeanne, which put into port on Friday with 100 locomotives and tenders brought here from Weehawken, N. J.

When assembled, the forty-eight-ton engines will be distributed along China's war-ravaged railroad network, as a part of an UNRRA program to rehabilitate the transportation system. The big locomotives were specially designed to meet Chinese requirements. They were built by the Baldwin and Lima locomotive works, and include such appliances as automatic stokers.

Altogether, including the current shipment, 147 locomotives have thus far been imported—the largest single item in the UNRRA's $530,000,000 program of aid to China.

RUSSIANS TO GO HOME

Most in Shanghai Sign to Return, Upsetting Forecasts

SHANGHAI, July 7 (AP)—Russian residents turned out in large numbers today to register for repatriation.

Shanghai's quota of 2,000 families to be returned to Russia by the end of 1947 was filled in a day and a half. The rush continued. Brisk sign-ups were also reported from Peiping, Tientsin and Tsingtao, which have a combined quota of 1,000 families.

No official figures have been released but approximately 7,000 persons, the majority of Shanghai's Russian community, signified they wanted to go home. Foreign observers had expected a light response.

Japanese Unions Protest New Pay-Price Program

TOKYO, July 7 (AP).—Japanese union leaders complained today that the government's new wage-price program did not guarantee workers even a minimum standard of living.

About 22,000 workers here and at Osaka held what were billed as "cabinet encouragement" meetings. But union officials, who have been advocating a standard wage of 2,600 yen ($52) monthly, expressed dissatisfaction with the 1,800 yen ($36) average wage established by Premier Tetsu Katayama's coalition cabinet Saturday. The previous average was about 1,600 yet.

Along with boosting the wage level slightly, the government tripled prices of such necessities as coal and rice, but they still will be as little as one-fifth of the black market rates. A government spokesman said the price adjustments were designed to cut the average living cost of 1,800 yen a month by putting more commodities into legitimate channels and to crack the black market.

New Jap Governors Demand 'State Rights'

Tokyo July 7 (AP)—Newly elected prefectural governors, meeting for the first time with the Katayama Cabinet, told the Government today to cease interfering in the affairs of Japan's 46 prefectures.

The governors accused national officials of "ever-increasing interference in provincial autonomy, which is guaranteed under the new constitution."

Rest Ordered For Katayama

Tokyo, July 7 (AP)—Premier Tetsu Katayama has been advised by his physician to stay home for a week and rest. He has what Tokyo newspapers described as a "nervous lump" over his left eyebrow, the result of overwork and nervousness.

They were Havildar Fazal Alam, of Abbot Tabad, northwest frontier province, and Naik Hakam Din, of Thumh village, Poonch state.

U. S. Scientists Reach Japan

TOKYO, July 7 (AP).—Four American scientists have arrived to study causes of Japanese B-encephalitis, known as "sleeping sickness." They are Doctors William McDowell Hammon, of the Hooper Foundation and the University of California; Gordon Meiklejohn, University of California; J. Casals, Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, and Don M. Rees, University of Utah.

JAP ATROCITIES BARED AT TRIAL

GUAM, July 7—(AP) Blindfolds were removed from two American prisoners on Truk just before Japanese navy men stabbed them to death with bayonets and spears in 1944. A Japanese medical corpsman testified today.

Nineteen Japanese are on trial before a U. S. commissioner on charges of killing ten unidentified Americans in a series of "medical experiments." Two were stabbed to death in an asserted attempt to determine the most efficient method of killing. The other eight men died of overlong applications of tourniquets, bacterial injections, dynamiting and throttling.

Today's witness, Masayoshi Takahashi, former petty officer, identified ten of the defendants as participants in the stabbings. He said the principal defendant, former Capt. Hiroshi Iwanami, made a speech berating the Americans for the bombing of Truk, then had their blindfolds removed and ordered the stabbings to begin.

The witness said he never had seen a live American before but was positive the victims were Americans because he was impressed by their large size, white skin and brown hair.

NAMES YANKS' KILLERS

Guam, July 7 (A. P.).—Petty Officer Second Class Masayoshi Takahashi, testifying at the trial of nineteen Japanese charged with murdering ten American prisoners in 1944, glibly recited the names of ten fellow Japanese Navy men today as those who stabbed two of the prisoners with bamboo spears or bayonets.

Takahashi told the American military court that he saw Lieut.-Commander Hidehiro Kamikawa truss the two prisoners for execution. Then the Japanese hospital commandant, Capt. Hiroshi Iwanami, made a speech berating the Americans for the bombing of Truk, Takahashi added, and commanded that the prisoners be removed. The command to bayonet the two Americans passed from Iwanami to Lieut. Tetsuo Oishi to Ensign Kensaburo Yoshizawa, the witness said. All three are defendants.

Iwanami later summoned him, Takahashi related, and ordered him to "say nothing about this incident."

New Dutch-Indonesian Threat

Batavia, Java, July 7 (AP)—The Indonesian Republican Cabinet met hurriedly today in Jogjakarta and was reported considering drastic revision of its latest note to the Netherlands which informed sources said was so unfavorable that renewed warfare was a threat.

Indonesian Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin said in a radio address that the republic could not accept the Dutch demand for a joint Netherlands-Indonesian gendarmerie in republican areas. He appealed to Indonesians to remain "calm, united and on the alert."

The Cabinet convened shortly after Deputy Prime Ministers Setiadjit and A. K. Gano arrived in a special Dutch plane.

Dutch sources said H. J. Van Mook, Netherlands East Indies Governor General, told Setiadjit that the Indonesian note was unacceptable. Setiadjit appealed for a plane in which to return to the Republican capital to attempt to wrest further concession from the Cabinet which would prevent further military action.

Open Fighting Postponed

The Dutch had postponed open fighting last month after receipt of a United States "aide memoire" urging a peaceful settling of differences.

Qualified Dutch sources said the situation was deteriorating. The official Netherlands Government's response to the Republican note of Sunday has not arrived from The Hague. These informants predicted military action, perhaps within four days, unless the Indonesians promptly accept the full Dutch plan for an interim national government with Dutch-Indonesian police within the Republican areas.

"The crisis is almost but not quite as serious as when the United States aide memoire arrived," one of these sources said. "It is somewhat better because The Hague may decide to try a little longer, since the Republican Government is new."

The Indonesian Army said in a communiqué that two companies clashed with the Dutch three days last week near Soerabaja, in east Java.

A Dutch warship supported by two motor craft was said to have exchanged shots with Republican coastal positions Thursday at Ketapang in east Java.

Another Dutch vessel, supported by aircraft and a motorship, was declared to have fired into Indonesian positions along the east Java coast line at two points Thursday.

War Seems Imminent In Indonesia

Batavia, Java, July 7 (AP)—Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin announced today his Indonesian republic cabinet would reject Dutch demands for a joint Netherlands-Indonesian gendarmerie to police republican areas, and urged his followers to remain "calm, united and alert."

Qualified Dutch sources here said prior to the announcement that such rejection would lead inevitably to war. They added that the Dutch army might strike—possibly within four days—unless the Indonesians accepted fully the Netherlands plan for the gendarmerie and other aspects of an interim national government.

Situation Admitted Grave

Sjarifoeddin, speaking over the Indonesian radio station at the republican capital of Jogjakarta, acknowledged that the situation was "grave." He expressed the hope, however, that the Dutch would show "full understanding" of the Indonesian internal situation.

This was interpreted here as a bid for the Dutch to give ground on their demands for the joint gendarmerie—a point on which neither the republic nor the Netherlands has been willing to compromise.

The Premier said that Hubertus J. Van Mook, Dutch governor general of the Netherlands East Indies, was dissastisfied with an Indonesian note dispatched Sunday to The Hague.

Sovereignty Admitted

This note, Sjarifoeddin said, emphasized his desire to reach a peaceful settlement with the Netherlands. He aded that the republic also was willing to accept Netherlands, sovereignty over all of Indonesia pending the establishment of an independent United States of Indonesia on January 1, 1949, but insisted that this sovereignty not be used to hamper the republic's administrative functions within its own territory.

Sjarifoeddin spoke at the conclusion of a four-hour session of his Cabinet, called hurriedly into session after Deputy Premiers A. K. Gani and Dr. Setiadjit arrived in Jogjakarta in a Dutch plane, following conferences with Netherlands officials here.

Crisis Held Serious

Informed Dutch sources said Van Mook had told the Indonesian emissaries this morning that the note dispatched Sunday was, in his personal opinion, flatly unacceptable.

One Dutch source said the present "crisis is almost but not quite as serious as when the United States aide memoire arrived." This memorandum of June 28 urged a peaceful settlement of the dispute, and offered to discuss economic aid for Indonesia.

Moslems May Win 2 Indian Provinces

New Delhi, July 7 (A. P.).—Observers predicted today a Moslem sweep in Assam and the Northwest Frontier Province, where referendums are being held on whether to join Moslem Pakistan or Hindustan.

Meanwhile, Mohandas K. Gandhi, spiritual leader of the Congress party, called on party members to abstain from voting in the Northwest Frontier Province and warned that "every son and daughter of India is preparing for war on a common plea of defense."

India Curbs Remittances To Sterling Area Nations

NEW DELHI, July 7 (AP).—The government of India announced tonight a prohibition against transfers of large remittances of capital to sterling area countries and also limited private remittances to $1,000 a month. Both rulings are effective tomorrow.

The finance department's announcement said the government found it necessary to limit remittances to those required for definite trade payments and personal remittances of moderate amounts "in order to obviate the possibility of large remittances of capital from India to sterling area countries pending negotiations of an interim agreement."

Argentina Asks Peace Drive by Nations of West

Peron Proposal Followed by Plan for Joint Action by Americas and Vatican

BUENOS AIRES, July 7 (AP).—Argentina followed up President Juan D. Peron's Sunday plea for world peace with a proposal today that the nation's of the Western Hemisphere and the Holy See offer "necessary co-operation, so the desires of the peoples of the world can be satisfied." In his broadcast address, Mr. Peron pledged that the resources of Argentina would be used to aid war-torn countries.

The proposal, termed a "doctrine of internal and external peace," was contained in a letter to the Foreign Ministers of the American nations from the Argentine Foreign Minister, Juan Bramulgia.

It asked the nations of the Western Hemisphere to indorse a three-point plan for peace: to urge the nations of the world to realize that only through peace can human happiness be attained; accept the thesis that tranquillity is based upon respect of human rights; to support ideals of judicial equality, obligatory arbitration, and economic co-operation in order to bring permanent peace.

Mr. Bramulgia asked that the Americas, "1, adhere firmly to these pacifistic principles; 2, act jointly with the Holy See before the other peoples of the world in order to solicit their adherence to these pacifistic principles and offer them necessary economic co-operation so that the desires of the people of the world can be satisfied; 3, pledge yourselves to proclaim and discuss these aims theoretically and generally, with other governments and before assemblies, conventions, Congresses and international meetings."

ARGENTINA OFFERS DOCTRINE OF PEACE

Buenos Aires, July 7 (A. P.).—Argentina proposed to the Western Hemisphere nations and the Holy See today a "doctrine of internal and external peace" based on President Juan Peron's broadcast Sunday pledging Argentina's resources to war-torn countries.

The proposal, made in a letter by Foreign Minister Juan Bramuglia to the foreign ministers of American nations and the Vatican Secretariat of State, exhorted republics of the hemisphere to "offer necessary co-operation so desires of the people of the world can be satisfied."

The letter propounded the "doctrine of external peace" as a plan to urge all nations that only through peace can human happiness be attained; that transqillity is based on respect for human rights, and that juridicial equality obligatory arbitration, and economic co-operation are ideals for permanent peace.

American nations were urged to act jointly with the Holy See in adhering to pacifistic principles.

PRESIDENT URGES U. S. ADMIT DP'S

Appeals to Congress to Help Solve 'This Tragic Problem.'

WASHINGTON, July 7—(AP) President Truman appealed to Congress today to help solve "this tragic problem" of displaced persons in Europe and let "a substantial number" of them immigrate to America.

His appeal, the latest of a series, was in the form of a message to a Congress trying to wind up its affairs. Chances for action this session were considered slight.

Mr. Truman named no specific number to be let in, nor did he specify the form of legislation he wanted.

Hearing on Bill Tomorrow

A bill by Rep. Stratton (R-Ill) to admit 100,000 displaced persons annually for four years is in a House judiciary subcommittee and hearings will be resumed on it Wednesday.

However, a House Republican leader said three weeks ago there is no chance of congressional approval this year. Also, Senator Revercomb (R-W.Va) has been critical of the proposal and he heads the senate judiciary subcommittee which would handle the legislation.

Mr. Truman based his appeal on humanitarian grounds and on the argument the displaced persons would make good citizens. He said these people, most of them in displaced persons camps in the western zones of Germany and Austria and in Italy, "are people who oppose totalitarian rule."

"Because they are not Communists and are opposed to Communism," his message said, "they have stanchly resisted all efforts to induce them to return to Communist-controlled areas.

"Most of the individuals in the displaced persons centers already have strong roots in this country—by kinship, religion or national origin.

"Their occupational background clearly indicates that they can quickly become useful members of our American communities."

Million Seeking New Homes

Mr. Truman said there are close to 1,000,000 displaced persons still in the centers "who are unwilling by reason of political opinion and fear of persecution to return to the areas where they once had homes. The great majority come from the northern Baltic areas, Poland, the Russian Ukraine and Yugoslavia."

Truman Pleads for Admission Of Large Number of D. P.'s

President Declares in Message to Congress That They Are Not Communists and Will Meet U. S. Immigration Standards.

Washington, July 7 (A. P.).—President Truman today asked Congress to admit to the United States as immigrants a substantial number of Europe's displaced persons. In a message, Mr. Truman said that "special legislation limited to this particular emergency" would be necessary if the United States is to share in offering an opportunity for a new life to these people.

The President said that Congress would be dealing "solely with an emergency problem growing out of the war—the disposition of a specific group of individuals, victims of war who have come into the hands of our own and the other Allies' armies of occupation in Europe."

Since the end of the war, Mr. Truman said, the armies of occupation have been able to return to their homes some 7,000,000 people. "But there still remain in the western zones of Germany and Austria and in Italy close to a million survivors who are unwilling by reason of political opinion and fear of persecution to return to the areas where they once had homes," he added. "The great majority come from the northern Baltic areas, Poland, the Russian Ukraine and Yugoslavia."

Foes of Communists.

Emphasizing that he was not proposing any general revision of our immigration policy, and declaring flatly that he did not suggest that the present standards for testing the fitness of immigrants be waived or even lowered in favor of these D. P.'s, the President went on to say that these people "are not Communists . . . are opposed to Communism . . . have stanchly resisted all efforts to induce them to return to Communist-controlled areas" and embrace men and women of "a wide variety of professions, crafts and skills."

Declaring that countries in western Europe and Latin America have opened their doors to substantial numbers of these people, he told Congress: "Our plain duty requires that we join with other nations in solving this problem. We ourselves should admit a substantial number as immigrants. We have not yet been able to do this because our present statutory quotas applicable to the eastern European areas from which most of these people come are wholly inadequate for this purpose."

Sets No Number.

The President did not specify the extent to which he thought the quotas should be broadened for the emergency.

He said that the newly established International Refugee Organization can aid in the care and resettlement of these displaced persons but cannot force the member countries to accept these people. He added: "It is unthinkable that they should be left indefinitely in camps in Europe. We cannot turn them out in Germany into the community of the very people who persecuted them. Moreover, the German economy, so devastated by war and so badly overcrowded with the return of people of German origin from neighboring countries, is approaching an economic suffocation which in itself is one of our major problems."

He reminded Congress that he had previously asked it to provide for the admission of the displaced groups and added: "This Government has been firm in resisting any proposal to send these people back to their former homes by force where it is evident that their unwillingness to return is based upon political considerations or fear of persecution. In this policy I am confident I have your support. These victims of war and oppression look hopefully to the democratic countries to help them rebuild their lives and provide for the future of their children. We must not destroy their hope. The only civilized course is to enable these people to take new roots in friendly soil."

The message represents a continuation of a series of statements on displaced persons that Mr. Truman has made through the post-war period. In his message on the State of the Union, when Congress reconvened last January, he declared that the United States "has not done its part" in admitting such persons and called on Congress to "find ways whereby we can fulfill our responsibilities."

Truman's Message on D. P.s

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP).—The complete text of President Truman's message to Congress today asking legislation to admit European displaced persons as immigrants follows:

To the Congress of the United States:

On several occasions I have advocated legislation to enable a substantial number of displaced persons to enter the United States as immigrants. I stated this view in opening the second session of the General Assembly of the United Nations. In the message on the state of the union on Jan. 6, 1947, I said:

". . . The fact is that the executive agencies are now doing all that is reasonably possible under the limitation of existing law and established quotas. Congressional assistance in the form of new legislation is needed. I urge the Congress to turn its attention to this world problem, in an effort to find ways whereby we can fulfill our responsibilities to these thousands of homeless and suffering refugees of all faiths."

I express appreciation to the Congress for the attention already being given to this problem, an appreciation which appears to be generously shared by the public with increasing understanding of the facts and of our responsibilities.

Because of the urgency of this subject I should like again to call attention to some of its fundamental aspects. We are dealing here solely with an emergency problem growing out of the war—the disposition of a specific group of individuals, victims of war, who have come into the hands of our own and the other western Allied armies of occupation in Europe.

Cites Nazi Persecution

We should not forget how their destiny came into our hands. The Nazi armies, as they swept over Europe, uprooted many millions of men, women and children from their homes and forced them to work for the German war economy. The Nazis annihilated millions by hardship and persecution. Survivors were taken under the care of the western Allied armies, as these armies liberated them during the conquest of the enemy. Since the end of hostilities, the armies of occupation have been able to return to their homes some 7,000,000 of these people. But there still remain, in the western zones of Germany and Austria and in Italy, close to a million survivors who are unwilling by reason of political opinion and fear of persecution to return to the areas where they once had homes. The great majority come from the northern Baltic areas, Poland and the Russian Ukraine and Yugoslavia.

The new International Refugee Organization, supported by the contributions of this and other countries, will aid in the care and resettlement of these displaced persons. But, as I have pointed out before, the International Refugee Organization is only a service organization. It cannot impose its will on member countries. Continuance of this organization and our financial support of its work will be required as long as the problem of these homeless people remains unsolved.

It is unthinkable that they should be left indefinitely in camps in Europe. We cannot turn them out in Germany into the community of the very people who persecuted them. Moreover, the German economy, so devastated by war and so badly overcrowded with the return of people of German origin from neighboring countries, is approaching an economic suffocation which in itself is one of our major problems. Turning these displaced persons into such chaos would be disastrous for them and would seriously aggravate our problems there.

This government has been firm in resisting any proposal to send these people back to their former homes by force, where it is evident that their unwillingness to return is based upon political considerations or fear of persecution. In this policy I am confident I have your support.

Urges Admission to U. S.

These victims of war and oppression look hopefully to the democratic countries to help them rebuild their lives and provide for the future of their children. We must not destroy their hope. The only civilized course is to enable these people to take new roots in friendly soil. Already certain countries of western Europe and Latin America have opened their doors to substantial numbers of these displaced persons. Plans for making homes for more of them in other countries are under consideration. But our plain duty requires that we join with other nations in solving this tragic problem.

We ourselves should admit a substantial number as immigrants. We have not yet been able to do this because our present statutory quotas applicable to the eastern European areas from which most of these people come are wholly inadequate for this purpose. Special legislation limited to this particular emergency will therefore be necessary if we are to share with other nations in this enterprise of offering an opportunity for a new life to these people.

I wish to emphasize that there is no proposal for a general revision of our immigration policy as now enunciated in our immigration statutes. There is no proposal to waive or lower our present prescribed standards for testing the fitness for admission of every immigrant, including these displaced persons. Those permitted to enter would still have to meet the admission requirements of our existing immigration laws. These laws provide adequate guaranties against the entry of those who are criminals or subversives, those likely to become public charges and those who are otherwise undesirable.

These displaced persons are hardy and resourceful or they would not have survived. A survey of the occupational backgrounds of those in our assembly centers shows a wide variety of professions, crafts and skills. These are people who oppose totalitarian rule, and who because of their burning faith in the principles of freedom and democracy have suffered untold privation and hardship. Because they are not Communists, and are opposed to Communism, they have staunchly resisted all efforts to induce them to return to Communist-controlled areas. In addition, they were our individual allies in the war.

Recalls U. S. Founding

In the light of the vast numbers of people of all countries that we have usefully assimilated into our national life, it is clear that we could readily absorb the relatively small number of these displaced persons who would be admitted. We should not forget that our nation was founded by immigrants many of whom fled oppression and persecution. We have thrived on the energy and diversity of many peoples. It is a source of our strength that we number among our people all the major religions, races and national origins.

Most of the individuals in the displaced-persons centers already have strong roots in this country—by kinship, religion or national origin. Their occupational background clearly indicates that they can quickly become useful members of our American communities. Their kinsmen, already in the United States, have been vital factors in farm and workshop for generations. They made lasting contributions to our arts and sciences and political life. They have been numbered among our honored dead on every battlefield of war.

We are dealing with a human problem, a world tragedy. Let us remember that these are fellow human beings now living under conditions which frustrate hope; which make it impossible for them to take any steps, unaided, to build for themselves or their children the foundations of a new life. They live in corroding uncertainty of their future. Their fate is in our hands and must now be decided. Let us join in giving them a chance at decent and self-supporting lives.

I urge the Congress to press forward with its consideration of this subject and to pass suitable legislation as speedily as possible.

HARRY S. TRUMAN.

JONES IN DENIAL HE WAS MEMBER OF BLACK LEGION

WASHINGTON, July 7 — (AP) Two members of the Black Legion swore today that Rep. Robert F. Jones (R-Ohio) joined the hooded organization at a flashlight ceremony in 1938, but Jones flatly denied this and six character witnesses lauded him as a fair and tolerant man.

The conflicting testimony came at a Senate subcommittee hearing on President Truman's nomination of Jones to be a member of the Federal Communciations Commission.

One of the self-described Black Legion members was Frank A. Barber, police chief of Beaver Dam, Ohio. He testified under questioning that he was committed to a hospital for the insane for 61 days in 1922 but said this was the result of "a frame-up." He acknowledged also that he once was jailed for "shooting a guy" in Hammond, Ill.

The other witness who said Jones became a member of the Legion, Glenn E. Webb, of Lima, Ohio, testified that he (the witness) in 1942 forged 19 payroll checks totalling $653.86.

Witnesses Quizzed

Senators questioned the witnesses closely on their own records.

An affidavit produced by Senator Brewster (R-Me) alleged that still another witness against Jones, 74-year-old Virgil Effinger of Lima, was convicted of contempt of court in 1940 and sentenced to two months in jail and ordered to pay a $200 fine.

Just before the subcommittee concluded its open sessions, Jones took the stand to declare for the second time that he never joined the Legion.

"There is absolutely no tie-up by me with any organizations that are subversive," said Jones, who has been elected to the House of Representatives five times.

He told the subcommittee he believes its members have "properly discounted" what he called efforts by Columnist Drew Pearson "to smear me."

Pearson has contended that Jones joined the Black Legion and that his father was a member of the Ku Klux Klan. Jones has denied the latter allegation as well the former.

Among the character witnesses who appeared in support of Jones were four Ohio neighbors of the congressman and a former college mate.

The Rev. David F. Helms, pastor of the Methodist church Jones attends in Lima, told the subcommittee that in areas of the congressional district Jones represents "where the Catholic vote is strong," the congressman has "always run ahead of the ticket." Mr. Helms said, too, that he never heard Jones "speak against Negroes or Jews."

Bernard Brender, a Lima merchant, said he has been acquainted with Jones 15 years and knows "nothing subversive" about him.

Rollin R. Moxley of Lima, a Negro, said that Jones has proven to his satisfaction and 90 per cent of the Negroes in Lima that he is not a member of the Black Legion.

Praise Jones

From Frank Lange, of Piqua, Ohio, came testimony that Jones never has shown "any sign" that he belonged to the Legion. He called Jones "fair and tolerant."

The Rev. Charles O. Dutton, of Tacoma Park, Md., a college classmate of Jones, said that years ago when they both lived in Cairo, Ohio, he and Jones "came to the conclusion that it was unAmerican to beolng to that organization (the Legion)"and "we stayed out of it."

Father John B. Tennelly of Washington said that in his dealings with Jones in connection with the work of the Bureau of Catholic Indian Missions, the congressman "impressed me as being a gentleman and fairminded."

Appearing in opposition to confirmation of Jones were:

Kenneth M. Birkhead of New York, executive director of the Friends of Democracy, who said Jones' background indicates "at least a sympathy with Nazism."

Joseph Emmons, executive secretary of the Lima CIO Council, who said Jones had been elected to Congress from a district "which is a fertile hotbed of reaction."

Arms Training Seen Spoiling Faith In U.N.

Washington, July 7 (AP)—Opening the opposition's attack on universal training, J. Henry Scattergood, of Philadelphia, told the House Armed Services Committee today it would be an acknowledgement of lack of faith in the United Nations.

During several past hearings, the committee has heard witnesses supporting the plan recommended by President Truman's special commission.

Scattergood, Philadelphia business man representing the Greater Philadelphia Committee Against Peacetime Conscription, declared the United Nations "is still the hope and must be the preponderant purpose of humanity."

"Proof" Of Distrust

Should the United States embark for the first time in its history on a universal training program in peacetime, he said, other nations would interpret it "as proof that we finally and uenquivocally don't trust them, and that we are, in fact, expecting and preparing for the final human catastrophe. that we canot offer any hope to the world that we still believe in the impossibility of world co-operation through the United Nations."

Scattergood listed these reasons why members of his organization oppose universal training:

"1. They feel that compulsory military training in peacetime will result in an unavoidable predominance of the military in our government and political life, and that this influence, combined with the enormous cost of such a program, will threaten our whole economic and social structure.

"2. They want American boys trained to be upstanding citizens who think for themselves in terms of democracy, self-discipline, liberty, peace, and world brotherhood, not trained to be units in a military machine.

"3. They recognize that security—no longer possible on a national level—can only be assured through international co-operation.

"4. They believe real security can be attained by a positive, courageous American policy of strengthening the United Nations by replacing the current bases of unilateral competition and mutual distrust with an uncompromising example of moral leadership.

"5. They believe that extraordinary co-operation and a spirit of service to a world community will pay better dividends in security, welfare and permanent world peace than our present committed path of unilateral competitive armaments and perpetuation of a system of power based on suspicion, distrust, and a capacity for chaotic destruction."

Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy during World W

editor and publisher of the Raleigh (N.C. News and Observer, called universal training "archaic in an era that has pushed foot soldiers to third or fourth place in modern warfare."

In a letter to the House Committee, Daniels stated that "the whole military strategy was changed when the atomic bomb blasted Hiroshima."

FAITH IN U.N. URGED IN LIEU OF TRAINING

House Group Hears Opponents Of Universal Military Service

Washington, July 7 (AP)—Opponents of universal military training urged Congress today to put more faith in the United Nations and in diplomacy and to de-emphasize military might.

Opening the attack after several days of testimony by advocates of peacetime traininng legislation were J. Henry Scattergood, Philadelphia business man speaking for the Greater Philadelphia Committee against Peacetime Conscription, and Mrs. Alexander Stewart, of Chicago, national cochairman of the Women's Committee to Oppose Conscription.

They testified before the House Armed Services committee. The committee also announced receipt of a statement from Josephus Daniels, Raleigh, N.C., publisher and former Secreary of the Navy, opposing the universal training program recommended by President Truman's special commission.

One Supporting Voice Heard

The only supporting voice during the day's hearing was that of Mrs. Norton H. Pearl, of Detroit, national president of the American Legion Women's Auxiliary.

Scattergood told the committee the United Nations "is still the hope and must be the preponderant purpose of humanity."

For the United States to embark for the first time upon a program of peacetime conscription, Scattergood said, would be to advertise our lack of faith in the United Nations and to tell other nations "that we finally and unequivocally don't trust them."

Universal training legislation, he said, would lead to dominance of our Government by the military, and would inculcate in American youths the philosophy of "authoritatarian discipline" and "rule by force."

Stalin Called "A Trader"

Real security, he said, best "can be attained by a positive, courageous American policy of trengthening the United Nations."

Asked by Representative Gavin (R., Pa.) "how could we get Joe Stalin to co-operate with the United Nations program?" Scattergood likened Stalin to "a trader . . . doing what he believes is in the best interests of his people."

If necessary, Scattergood said, he would favor forcing Russia to disarm.

"Let's get the moral forces in the world working," he said.

Peace Offensive Asked

Mrs. Stewart called for "a diplomatic offensive aimed at building and maintaining the peace," and said it is "extremely unfortunate" that proponents of the training plan claim it would "enhance the influence and authority of the United Nations."

Would we not be the first to cry out if Russia were to use such an argument as justification for manufacturing the atom bomb?" she asked.

Mrs. Stewart urged Congress to consider a program for international abolition of conscription, world-wide disarmament, and agricultural and industrial reconstruction.

Daniels Points To Atom Bombs

Daniels said in his letter that development of the atom bomb changed "the whole military strategy."

Daniels, Secretary of the Navy during the first World War and editor and publisher of the Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer, called universal military training "archaic in an era that has pushed foot soldiers to third or fourth place in modern warfare."

"Compulsory military training elevates the soldier above the citizen," Daniels wrote. "The genius of our Government makes the military the executive of the civilian officials. When we change our system for compulsory military training we are headed to all the costs and imperialism inherent in the rule of the men on horseback as seen in France in the days of Napoleon and in Germany in the days of the Kaiser and Hitler."

Loss Of Lives Cited

Mrs. Pearl told the committee many youths killed or wounded in the last war "might have had a better chance of survival" if they had had training beforehand.

"There are yet aggressor nations left in this world—nations that understand only force and strength," she said.

SEN. LODGE URGES UNIFICATION PLAN

Warns U.S. 'Doomed' Unless Armed Forces Are Unified Before War Comes.

WASHINGTON, July 7—(AP) Senator Lodge (R-Mass), a World War II ground forces officer, told the Senate today that in the event of another war the United States will be "doomed" unless the armed forces are unified beforehand.

Joining Senator Gurney (R-SD), chairman of the Armed Forces Committee, in terrifying predictions of the way any future conflict will start, Lodge declared:

"Without unification we are doomed by the nature of future war, the first effect of which will be to disunite us tactically."

The two Republicans opened debate on the "National Security Act of 1947," which is on the Republican "must" program for this session of Congress.

Opposed by Robertson

Early arguments produced no indication of numerically strong opposition to the bill, which has been amended slightly since it was received from the White House last February.

However, Senator Robertson (R-Wyo), who has been battling what he called "merger proposals" for two sessions, made a long opposition speech. Robertson has prepared 11 amendments to the bill which was approved by the armed services committee 12 to 0 at a time when Robertson was not present.

Robertson contended that the bill proposed "merger" of the armed forces and was chiefly supported by the War department's general staff.

He said he fears that the top Army staff is closely following the "formula by which the German general staff gained control of that nation and brought on two great world wars."

Lodge asked senators to "visualize this country with its cities in smoking ruins, its railroads destroyed, its major bridges blown up, all communications such as telegraph, telephone and mail obliterated."

The soldier-senator said this picture of a future war "represents the best thinking of many serious and experienced officers."

Among possibilities, Lodge mentioned germ warfare, rockets with a 12,000 mile range, death rays, raindrops that "would bristle with radioactivity," atomic bombs in polar regions that would melt ice and raise sea levels to flood coastal cities such as New York; and thinning the lower atmosphere that now shields the earth so that the sun's radiation could "incinerate all life on the exposed terrain."

Both Lodge and Gurney denied the legislation was a step toward military dictatorship, saying the only powers involved are those already exercised by the President.

Senators Back Trusteeship for Pacific Islands

Foreign Relations Group Speeds Action on Joint Resolution of Congress

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously approved today a joint resolution accepting United States trusteeship over the former Japanese mandated islands from the United Nations.

Acting with unusual speed on a matter referred to Congress only last Thursday by President Truman, the committee gave the United Nations agreement a favorable report immediately after closed-session testimony by George C. Marshall, Secretary of State; Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War; James Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy; General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, Chief of Staff, and Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Chief of Naval Operations.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, chairman of the committee and president pro tempore of the Senate, said after the meeting that all five witnesses "without reservation, testified that the agreement should be approved and that the interest of national security for the United States is completely protected under terms of the agreement."

Senator Vandenberg agreed with the opinion expressed by President Truman in his message last Thursday that, because of the interest of both houses of Congress in a matter so vitally affecting national defense, the trusteeship should be approved by joint resolution rather than by treaty. Only the Senate would act on ratification of a treaty.

"The fundamental, practical fact," the Michigan Republican told reporters, "is that the entire Congress has an intimate responsibility for the national security and the national defense, and the House is entitled along with the Senate to pass on anything so fundamentally related thereto."

The Senate, he said, will act on the resolution as a "must matter" this week, and the House probably will act just as expeditiously when it receives the resolution from the Senate.

Under the agreement, the Marianas, Caroline and Marshall Islands, all formerly mandated to Japan, will be administered by the United States as th "Territory of the Pacific Islands." Some ninety-eight islands will thus come under United States trusteeship. They cover an area of 846 square miles and includ the former Japanese fortress of Truk and such islands as Saipan, Tinian and Wotje, which became household names here during the recent war.

The agreement was approved by th Security Council last April 2. Under it, the United States not only may build fortifications on any of the islands it chooses, but if it wishes may exclude any or all other nations from the islands for inspection or any other purposes.

U. S. PARTICIPATION VOTED

Senate Approves Membership in U. N. Health Organization

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—The Senate unanimously passed today legislation authorizing American membership in the World Health Organization within the United Nations. The measure now goes to the House.

Chairman Arthur Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, of the Foreign Relations Committee said there was an iron-bound escape clause by which this nation could withdraw on ninety days' notice. The committee reported that the American financial contribution to the organization's expenses would be slightly less than 40 per cent, or less than $1,900,000 a year.

Editors Leaving For Far East

Washington, July 7 (AP)—A group of ten newspaper and magazine executives, invited by Secretary of War Patterson to make a personal survey of occupation problems in Japan and Korea, will leave Washington tomorrow.

The party will fly by way of Hawaii, Kwajalein and Guam and is scheduled to reach Tokyo about July 13. It will be gone for about 32 days.

The department said those accepting invitations to make the trip included:

James Packman, managing editor, Milwaukee Sentinel; Hamilton Owens, editor in chief, Baltimore Sunpapers; Sidney F. Army Circulates Book On Soviet Espionage

Washington, July 7 (AP)—The War Department disclosed today distribution of copies of "Soviet Spies—the story of Russian espionade in North America."

It said this book, by Richard Hirsch, is a "publication of timely interest to every member of the military establishment."

About 1,300 copies in a cheap paper edition are being distributed by the troops information and education division in the War Department.

A department circular relates that the book has been purchased from commercial sources and is not an official War Department document.

The circular says the book reports on "the breaking of the atomic bom bespionage ring in North America."

UN Faces Crisis as Result Of Split on Marshall Plan

LAKE SUCCESS, July 7 (AP)—The split between Russia and the western powers over the Marshall plan is expected to bring into the open within the next two weeks an explosive situation which has been smouldering for many months in the key economic organs of the United Nations.

Although U. N. officials were reluctant to comment on the outlook, there seemed to be little doubt that the entire economic program of the world organization was headed toward a major crisis.

The big blow-off was looked for at the opening of the economic and social council's summer session here July 19—if not before.

Situation Seen Grave

The gravity of the situation was emphasized by these developments:

1. Reports that Russia might boycott a meeting of the U. N. Asiatic and Far Eastern economic commission's committee of the whole busginning here on Thursday.

2. Refusal of Russia to attend a special cereals conference, arranged by the food and agricultural organization, in Paris Wednesday.

3. Absence of Russia from the International Trade conference now going on in Geneva.

4. Withdrawal of Yugoslavia today from membership in the international labor office.

Some delegates, even before the collapse of the three-power conference in Paris last week, were seriously concerned by Russia's nonparticipation in the specialized agencies in the economic filed. They now say privately that the situation has worsened.

On the other hand, there is a general feeling that the U. N. economic program has been hit hard by the British-French plan to go outside the organization to implement Secretary of State Marshall's program for European economic aid.

Russia already has served notice that she will attempt to push through a resolution, already defeated in the economic and employment commission, specifying that international aid must be directed toward strictly economic ends and not toward meeting military needs or for political advantage.

Might Widen Breach

Such a move would launch a general debate not only on the Marshall plan, but on the "Truman Doctrine" as well. There was little change that Russia could muster enough support to have her resolution adopted, but some delegates felt that a serious Russian defeat at this time might widen the breach between her and the western powers.

British officials disclosed that Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, had delivered an oral message from Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to Secretary-General Trygve Lie, just before Lie sailed for a European vacation, informing him of the Paris conference collapse.

Bevin was understood to have reiterated his promise to keep the U. N. informed on developments, but to have said it would be useless, in view of Russian opposition, to attempt to use U. N. machinery to implement the Marshall plan.

The situation was complicated by the uncertain position of the eastern European countries. At present, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia are members of several of the U. N. specialized agencies, although Russia has refused to join any of these except the world health organization.

With the single exception of Yugoslavia's withdrawal from the ILO, there has been no indication that any of the "Red fringe" countries were contemplating following Russia's course of non-participation.

On the other hand, Austria applied today for membership in the U. N. and both Austria and Finland have applications pending for membership in the food and agricultural organization. Finland, Austria and Czechoslovakia also have accepted invitations to the cereals conference in Paris Wednesday.

Polish Ambassador Joseph Winiewicz, immediately after the breakup of the Paris conference, re-affirmed Poland's faith in international economic cooperation.

In a broadcast to Poland, welcoming a delegation of experts from the FAO to Wasaw, Winiewicz said "we believe that the egotism of nations will be subordinated for the benefit of all the United Nations."

U.N. Weighs Plan For Pact Fixing Atom Quotas

Lake Success, July 7 (AP)—The United Nations considered the feasibility today of establishing a quota system to limit every country's atomic activities.

The new plan was reported to have been advanced by several members of the Atomic Energy Commission as a compromise between rival United States and Russian proposals.

Under the Baruch plan sponsored by the United States, the proposed World Atomic Commission would have authority to order any country to begin or stop any atomic activity, whether designed for peace or war.

The Soviet proposal would allow every government to decide what atomic activities it should pursue.

Pact Would Fix Quotas

But under the new plan, specific quotas would be set for every country signing an atomic treaty. The quotas would be listed in the treaty.

The first indication that the Atomic Commission was leaning toward the quota system was given by Francois de Rose, French representative.

It came during the Fourth of July week end as the Atomic Commission scheduled two meetings for today to discuss the ownership of source materials and nuclear fuel, atomic research and development.

Limit Control Power

"The opinion which appears to have taken shape in the Commission," de Rose said, "is that it will be important to limit the nations' freedom to produce and also to limit rights of the international control organ.

"On the commission we have thought that no government would be willing to hand the control organ a blank check on world security.

"If the international control organ suddenly began to allow nuclear fuels to be produced on a scale greatly superior to the actual needs of a state, there would soon be, throughout the world, stock piles of material which could be transformed in a very short time, apparently in less than a week, into an atomic bomb."

Treaty Plan Preferred

Under these circumstances, he said it was considered preferable to arrange that the atomic treaty provide for fixing the quotas of fuels to be extracted, settle the allocation of fuels to the various countries and fix the allocation of radioactive products in various countries.

In that way, de Rose said, treaty signers would know exactly what they were undertaking and "would not set off into the unknown with the possibility of having an international organ suddenly decide to allocate much more nuclear fuel to one state or another and thus jeopardize world security."

He added that the atomic treaty would have to include one or several clauses settling all these points in detail. And it would be at the time when these arrangements were being discussed, before the treaty takes effect, that states would have to examine these particular points, de Rose said.

BOMB POOL PLAN SPIKED

Russia Demands Atomic Weapons Be Destroyed

Lake Success, N.Y., July 7 (AP)—Russia late today spiked a suggestion for handing over the world's supply of atomic bombs to the United Nations proposed police force.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, told the United Nations atomic energy commission's working committee that anything short of outright destruction of the A-bombs would contradict previous United Nations decisions and could not be accepted.

"The United Nations provides prohibition of atomic weapons without any reservations," he said. "It is too late. We cannot deviate from that decision."

First Open Meeting

Gromyko took the floor in the first open meeting of an atomic committee in United Nations history to reply to Faris el Khoury, of Syria, who suggested that it might be well for the Security Council to hold the bombs for use by its international force.

Britain, Australia, China, Canada and Brazil generally sided with Gromyko in calling for elimination of all atomic weapons, national or international. France and the United States contended that the question should be left open.

Gromyko drew support for his insistence that all atomic bombs be "destroyed" at the appropriate time (the United States says this will be when effective control has been established) by agreeing that any available nuclear fuel available be retained for use for peaceful purposes.

Calls Press Unfriendly

Today's session of the working committee, the twenty-fourth in its year-long history, was opened to the press on a motion by the United States, supported by Australia and Russia.

At the close, Gromyko said:

"I am always very friendly to the press but the press is not always that way to me."

At an earlier meeting of the control committee, Gromyko objected to an American-supported proposal for international control of atomic plants and raw materials, but said Russia might be willing to accept an arrangement of some sort of quota system to control the distribution of production facilities and atomic raw materials among the individual nations.

Austria Asks Membership

Austria applied for membership in the United Nations today and the tiny San Marino republic, offering a character reference from Abraham Lincoln, made a preliminary step toward the same goal.

The applications of two other former Axis countries, Hungary and Italy, already had passed in the Council and now await committee action at an "appropriate time."

San Marino, a 38-square-mile republic of 14,545 population (1939 census) on the Italian peninsula, asked in a letter how to go about applying. It was referred to the charter—under which it apparently would qualify as a peace-loving nation.

The letter was not made public but a United Nations attache said it quoted an old appraisal of San Marino by Lincoln among its qualifications for membership.

Saucers 'Sighted' In 39 States; Still Unsolved

[By the Associated Press]

The mystery of the "flying saucers," those whirling, disklike objects sailing through the air at terrific speed, remained unsolved today as reports were received that they were observed in the thirty-ninth state—Massachusetts.

Thirty-eight states, the District of Columbia and Canada previously listed the phenomena since the saucers first were reported sighted June 25.

At Boseman, Mont., Casey Baird, pilot of a P-38 pursuit plane working for the United States Geodetic Survey, reported that he was forced to evade a group of flying disks, and that his photographer tried to get a picture. Baird said the film would be developed today.

"White, Flying Saucers"

The lastest report came from a Cambridge (Mass.) mother who got up in the early morning to tend her baby and said she saw "a group of white, flying saucers whirling around and going at tremendous speed like low-hanging clouds before a hurricane."

A Kingsport (Tenn.) resident said the flying objects were old stuff to him. He said he observed them over his house two years ago, but kept mum "because of all the rumors going around then about what they were doing down at Oak Ridge." The atom bomb was still a war secret then.

Lester Barlow, internationally known explosives inventor of Stamford, Conn., expressed the belief that the saucers were man made, probably radio-controlled flying missiles, and that the reason the great majority of reports of sighting them came from the West was that military authorities preferred to use vast and relatively unpopulated spaces for experiments.

None Observed By Harvard

Harvard University observatory said none of its trained observers had seen the objects and none of the photographic plates of night skies thus far have recorded them.

At Portsmouth, Va., Mrs. A. H. Whittaker and ten others on her front porch reported sighting a flying saucer last night and her son, E. H. Whittaker, told of its coming out of the southeast Chesa-

King's Aunt on N.Y. Relief Rolls

NEW YORK, July 7—(AP) Mrs. Ola Jane Humphrey Broadwood, 73, identified as the American-born widow of Prince Ibrahim Hassan, uncle of King Farouk of Egypt, has been living here on an old age pension for more than five years, the City Department of Welfare said today.

A spokesman for the Welfare department said in answer to inquiries that it had been aware of the woman's connections for some time, had been in touch with her attorneys, and was in a position to be reimbursed if any payment to her ever is received from the late prince's estate.

The woman has received monthly payments of $74.93 to cover food, personal incidents, shelter, clothing and expenses incidental to old age.

Records of the Welfare Department show the thrice-married woman's last husband was Capt. John Broadwood of England, who died in 1938, leaving her 1,000 pounds (about $4,000). She came to the United States in November, 1941, and was referred to the department by the Community Service Society. She has been on the old age pension rolls since then, except for the period from August, 1946, to May, 1947, when a gift from a friend financed a trip to California to visit a sister-in-law. The department said the sister-in-law was unable to support her.

Mrs. Broadwood has no relatives legally responsible for her support, the department said.

peake Bay area at 7 P.M., traveling high and fast.

"It was about as high as the planes usually fly," he said. "It looked like a giant plate. . . . There were no planes in sight at the time. It sailed with the wind as smoothly as if it were being towed. I can't say exactly how big it was but at that height it looked about a foot across."

Pilots Warned

The Peninsula Airport at Newport News, Va., was taking no chances with the saucers. Pilots reporting Sunday to take out planes found this notice on the bulletin board:

"Two thousand feet vertical and horizontal clearance required between aircraft operating from this field and any 'flying saucers.'"

First Seen June 25

The saucers were first reported seen in the State of Washington on June 25. Then persons in other Western states said they had seen them. The peak came over the July 4 holiday, when they first were reported seen east of the Mississippi.

An aerial patrol by the Oregon National Guard reported it had failed to sight one of the objects. The guard planned to send a plane today to a spot near St. Maries, Idaho, where a woman said ten persons saw eight of the disks disappear in timber on July 3.

Kenneth Arnold, businessman-pilot of Boise, Idaho, first reported seeing the disks. He said he saw nine flying in formation at a speed estimated at 1,200 miles an hour over the Cascade Mountains. Other observers have given the objects various speeds and in at least one case said they appeared to be suspended in the air.

Round Or Oval

Most observers usually agreed that the objects were round or oval. Guesses as to their size have ranged from that of a five-room house or large airplane to one description of "a silver ball, six inches in diameter."

NEW ENGLAND GETS INTO 'SAUCER' HUNT

Massachusetts And Vermont Make 40 States Reporting

New York, July 7 (AP)—The game of spotting "flying saucers" broadened today to include Massachusetts and Vermont as stories about the disks continued to swirl fully as rapidly as the objects themselves.

Explanations of the phenomena ranged from the theory that they were radio-controlled flying missiles sent aloft by United States military scientists to the suggestion that they might be merely sunlight reflected on wing tanks of jet-propelled planes.

A Spokane (Wash.) woman insisted the objects she saw were of such size that together they would take up the space of a five-room house if they landed, but a Clearwater (Fla.) woman said the disks she observed resembled "pie pans."

Brilliant And Stationary

At Rutland, Vt., a woman reported she and her husband witnessed a brilliant object in the night sky which she assumed to be a "flying saucer" although it was stationary.

But at Cambridge, Mass., a housewife said she saw "a group of white, flying saucers whirling around and going at a tremendous speed."

The Massachusetts and Vermont reports brought to 40 the number of states in which the objects have been observed.

Harvard Gets No Pictures

With New England getting into the game, the Harvard University astronomical observatory took note of the reports but said it had had no luck so far in photographing one of the disks.

The mysterious saucers first were reported June 25 in the State of Washington, but Charlie T. Hamlet, superintendent of the Kingsport (Tenn.) Times News composing room, said yesterday he had seen the disks two years ago.

They were "of a bright, aluminum color" and "were going at terrific speed," Hamlet said, explaining he kept quiet about them because of the Oak Ridge atomic-bomb plant, then a war secret.

Reports persisted that the Army was looking into the phenomena but Gen. Carl Spaatz, Army Air Forces commandant, said he knew of no AAF plans to search for the saucers.

The Navy and Atomic Energy Commission said they had no connection with the mystery.

The West, which originated the saucer reports, continued to produce observers who claimed to have seen the whirling disks and also brought forth one deflationary explanation of them.

Milkweed-Seed Capture

Bob Johnson, operator of a flying service at Missoula, Mont., reported he had captured one of the disks and found it to be milkweed seeds.

Charles Odom, 23-year-old former B-17 navigator, theorized at Houston, Texas, that the objects might be a version of radio-controlled "crystal balls" used by the Nazis in the war.

These balls, which flew to the altitude of the bomber and apparently were magnetized to fly along with the planes, sent back to radar screens data on the bombers, he said.

Says He Invented Disk In '43

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 7 (AP)—A 34-year-old watchmaker said today he invented the flying saucer and submitted a model of it to the War Department in 1943.

A. B. Cross said he sent a model, drawings and photographs of a flying disk to the department but that it kept only two drawings and returned the others, saying the idea was not practical "at the present time."

He said the department told him to get in touch with Bell Aircraft and that this firm advised him to communicate with Alexander Seversky, aircraft inventor—but he said he got tired of the "runaround" and gave up.

Cross, native of Newcastle, Pa., said he became convinced by statements made to him by members of the Air Force that the War Department had elaborated on his original plan and had begun production of such planes. He said he had worked at Patterson Field, Ohio, and Hendricks Field, Fla.

He told the News-Free Press his model was powered with a rubber band—but that he thought the disks were "atomic-powered."

Adding to the general confusion, W. D. Secrest said he saw three disks while hunting turtles near the Municipal Airport Sunday. He made a sketch of what he said he saw and brought it to the newspaper.

The disks, he said, were bigger than a house and had smoke and fire shooting from exhausts.

saucers over Long Island Sound near his home not only this year but in previous years.

They were round, bright and moving fast. But they were no mystery, because they were light reflected from the bodies of airplanes that soon identified themselves by changing course and coming near to be seen distinctly.

Common Plane Maneuvers

Many descriptions of movements of the flying saucers fit with the common maneuvers of airplanes, singly or in groups. Some of the maneuvering reported, which took saucers out of sight and back into sight again, resembles what can be seen while watching distant airplanes.

Whether planes are guided, pilotless or jet, they all would look the same at great distances.

Disks Explained As Possible Trick That Eyes Play

By Howard W. Blakeslee

[Associated Press Science Editor]

New York, July 7—Much of what has been described about the flying saucers reported from nearly all parts of the country may be explained by certain laws of eyesight.

All objects appear round or nearly so at any distance which is close to the limit of how far a person can see.

If the objects are seen by reflected light, as in most cases reported, they are almost certain to be round; and if the reflections are sunlight, then the sizes reported are those which would be expected from distant light reflections.

Fit With Tricks Eyes Play

Descriptions of virtually all the saucers as round and flat fit exactly with the tricks that eyes play. This trickiness varies with differences in weather and lighting.

IN ITS ANTI-INFLATION MOTION, THE SOCIALIST COUNCIL RECOMMENDED THAT A PORTION OF LARGE SALARIES AND "SUPER-PROFITS" OF COMPANIES BE TRANSFORMED INTO RECONSTRUCTION BONDS, THAT THE PRICE OF WHEAT BE REVALUATED, THAT MEASURES BE TAKEN TO BRING LOW SALARIES INTO LINE WITH NEW LIVING COSTS.

IT SAID FURTHER THAT THE CZECHOSLOVAK AMBASSADOR IN PARIS HAD BEEN APPOINTED REPRESENTATIVE FOR HIS COUNTRY AT THE MEETING. THE RESOLUTIONS WERE APPROVED AFTER AN ALL-NIGHT SESSION AT WHICH LEFT WING LEADERS OPPOSED ANY RETURN OF THE COMMUNISTS TO THE CABINET, FROM WHICH THEY WERE EJECTED SEVERAL WEEKS AGO.

THE LEFT WING SOCIALISTS PREVIOUSLY HAD URGED THAT THE COMMUNISTS BE RE-ADMITTED, BUT CHANGED THEIR POSITION AFTER RUSSIA DECLINED TO COOPERATE WITH A BRITISH-FRENCH PLAN FOR CONTINENTAL RECONSTRUCTION UNDER THE MARSHALL PLAN.

GUAM, JULY 7-(AP)-A JAPANESE CORPSMAN WHO TESTIFIED HE NEVER HAD SEEN A LIVE AMERICAN BEFORE SAID HE HAD "A FEELING" THAT 10 PRISONERS HELD BY JAPANESE ON TRUK IN 1944 WERE GOING TO BE EXECUTED.

"THERE JUST WASN'T ANY DOUBT IN MY MIND WHAT WOULD HAPPEN TO THEM," PETTY OFFICER SECOND CLASS MASAYOSHI TAKAHASHI TESTIFIED TODAY AT THE TRIAL OF 19 JAPANESE CHARGED WITH THE 10 MURDERS.

TAKAHASHI SAID SIZE OF THE PRISONERS, THEIR WHITE SKIN AND BROWN HAIR MADE HIM CERTAIN THAT THEY WERE AMERICANS.

THE WITNESS GLIBLY RECITED THE NAMES OF 10 FELLOW JAPANESE NAVY MEN AS THOSE WHO STABBED TWO OF THE PRISONERS WITH BAMBOO SPEARS OR BAYONETS.

TAKAHASHI TOLD THE AMERICAN MILITARY COURT HE SAW LT. CMDR. HIDEHIRO KAMIKAWA TRUSS TWO PRISONERS FOR EXECUTION. THEN THE JAPANESE HOSPITAL COMMANDANT, CAPT. HIROSHI IWANAMI, MADE A SPEECH BERATING AMERICANS FOR BOMBINGS ON TRUK, TAKAHASHI ADDED, AND COMMANDED THAT THE PRISONERS BE REMOVED.

THE COMMAND TO BAYONET THE TWO AMERICANS PASSED FROM IWANAMI TO LT. TETSUO OISHI TO ENSIGN KENSABURO YOSHIZAWA, THE WITNESS SAID. ALL THREE ARE DEFENDANTS.

TAKAHASHI SAID THAT WHEN THE PRISONERS APPARENTLY HAD DIED, OISHI AND YOSHIZAWA CUT AT THEIR HEADS WITH SWORDS BUT CLUMSILY FAILED TO SEVER THEM.

THE VICTIMS' CLOTHES WERE BURNED AND THEIR BODIES BURIED. THEIR NAMES HAVE NOT BEEN LEARNED.

VR636ACS NM

AFTER THE MEN WERE DEAD, HE TESTIFIED, TWO JUNIOR OFFICERS TRIED TO BEHEAD THEM BUT CLUMSILY FAILED, SO THE BODIES WERE TOSSED INTO A NEARBY PIT AFTER THE CLOTHING HAD BEEN STRIPPED FROM THEM AND BURNED. HE SAID IWANAMI LATER CALLED HIM IN AND ORDERED HIM TO "SAY NOTHING ABOUT THE INCIDENT."

WASHINGTON, JULY 7-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES WILL SHARE ITS FOOD WITH HUNGRY PEOPLE ABROAD FOR AT LEAST ANOTHER YEAR, BUT THE BACKWARD AMERICAN CORN CROP WILL DETERMINE JUST HOW MUCH CAN BE SHIPPED.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND HIS CABINET COMMITTEE ON WORLD FOOD PROGRAMS EMPHASIZED THIS IN WEEKEND STATEMENTS WHICH ALSO REPORTED THAT THE UNITED STATES SET A NEW WORLD RECORD FOR THE AMOUNT OF FOOD EXPORTED DURING THE YEAR ENDED A WEEK AGO TODAY.

EXPORTS TOTALED 18,433,000 LONG TONS OR ABOUT 41,275,000,000 POUNDS TO EXCEED THE PREVIOUS RECORD OF 17,122,000 TONS SHIPPED BY THIS COUNTRY IN THE PREVIOUS YEAR.

MR. TRUMAN SAID NO COUNTRY EVER SHIPPED THAT AMOUNT OF FOOD IN A SINGLE YEAR.

LOOKING AHEAD, THE PRESIDENT SAID MILLIONS OF PEOPLE ARE STILL "DESPERATELY HUNGRY." HE SAID THE UNITED STATES, "WITHIN OUR ABILITY TO SHARE OUR RESOURCES, WILL CONTINUE TO DO OUR PART TO RELIEVE HUMAN SUFFERING AND TO HELP OTHER COUNTRIES TO HELP THEMSELVES."

IN A DETAILED REPORT ON PAST EXPORTS AND THE OUTLOOK FOR THE YEAR AHEAD, THE CABINET COMMITTEE SAID "IT IS HOPED THAT WE WILL BE ABLE TO APPROXIMATE THIS YEAR'S SHIPMENTS."

THE COMMITTEE STATED, HOWEVER, THAT THE TOTAL VOLUME WILL BE

JUL 1947

DETERMINED BY A NUMBER OF FACTORS, INCLUDING AVAILABLE SUPPLIES, TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES, AND ARRANGEMENTS FOR FINANCING EXPORTS.

"THE SIZE OF THE FINAL EXPORTS WHICH WE CAN SAFELY SPARE FROM OUR GRAIN SUPPLIES FOR THE YEAR WILL DEPEND TO A CONSIDERABLE EXTENT UPON THE PRODUCTION OF CORN AND OTHER GRAINS, IN ADDITION TO WHEAT."

A WET, COOL SPRING AND FLOODS THREATEN TO REDUCE THE CORN CROP SHARPLY FROM LAST YEAR'S RECORD LEVEL.

THE COMMITTEE SAID THAT DESPITE PROSPECTS OF A RECORD-BREAKING WHEAT CROP, GRAIN EXPORTS COULD NOT BE MAINTAINED AT RECENT LEVELS IF OTHER CROPS SUFFERED.

IT ADDED THAT THE RECORD SHIPMENTS WERE MADE TO SHORTAGE AREAS DURING THE PAST 12 MONTHS WITHOUT "DEPRIVING OUR OWN PEOPLE OF ANY NEEDED FOOD SUPPLIES, AND WITHOUT ANY UNNECESSARY OR SERIOUS IMPACT ON THE DOMESTIC ECONOMY."

"OUR PEOPLE, OF COURSE, HAVE CONTINUED TO EAT AT RECORD OR NEAR-RECORD LEVELS-- WELL ABOVE PREWAR AVERAGE."

ABOUT 81 PERCENT OF THE EXPORTS REPRESENTED GRAIN AND GRAIN PRODUCTS. OTHER GROUPS INCLUDED: MEATS ABOUT 1.2 PERCENT; DAIRY PRODUCTS 2.7; FATS AND OILS 1.3, AND OTHER FOODS--MAINLY DRY BEANS AND PEAS, FISH, EGGS, SUGAR, POULTRY, POTATOES, VEGETABLES, FRUITS AND NUTS-- ABOUT 13.5 PERCENT.

EUROPEAN AREAS OCCUPIED BY AMERICAN AND BRITISH FORCES TOPPED ALL RECIPIENT AREAS WITH 18.8 PERCENT OF TOTAL EXPORTS. OTHER AREAS RECEIVING THE FOLLOWING APPROXIMATE PERCENTAGES: GREAT BRITAIN 8.9, ITALY 7.3; FRANCE AND FRENCH NORTH AFRICA 4.2, BELGIUM 3.2, THE NETHERLANDS 3.2, ALL OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES 7.1, JAPAN AND KOREA 8.9, INDIA 5.4, THE PHILIPPINES 2.7, CHINA 1.3, LATIN AMERICAN REPUBLICS 12.

JUL 1947

WASHINGTON, JULY 7-(AP)-THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE TODAY RECOMMENDED RATIFICATION OF THE ANGLO-AMERICAN OIL AGREEMENT AS "PARTICULARLY TIMELY" BECAUSE OF THE CURRENT DOMESTIC OIL SHORTAGE.

IN A FORMAL REPORT TO THE SENATE, THE COMMITTEE SAID THERE NOW IS A SPOT SHORTAGE OF GASOLINE AND FUEL OIL IN THE MIDDLE WESTERN STATES AND ADDED THAT "PRESENT INDICATIONS ARE THAT A MORE GENERAL SHORTAGE WILL OBTAIN THIS AUTUMN AND WINTER."

THE REPORT SAID THAT THE UNITED STATES, FORMERLY A SUBSTANTIAL EXPORTER OF OIL, HAS SWITCHED TO A POSITION WHERE ITS IMPORTS OF PETROLEUM EXCEEDED ITS EXPORTS BY 60,000 BARRELS A DAY IN THE FIRST QUARTER OF 1947. THE COMMITTEE SAID IT IS PROBABLE THAT THIS SITUATION WILL CONTINUE "AT LEAST FOR THE BALANCE OF THIS YEAR."

"THE COMMITTEE BELIEVES IN THE SUFFICIENCY OF OIL RESERVES IN THE UNITED STATES AND IN THE ABILITY OF OUR DOMESTIC PETROLEUM INDUSTRY TO MEET NORMAL DEMANDS FROM DOMESTIC PRODUCTION OPERATING NORMALLY," THE REPORT SAID. "BUT IN VIEW OF THE PRESENT SITUATION, THE COMMITTEE FEELS THAT IT IS ONLY RIGHT AND PROPER TO EXAMINE THE CONDITIONS OUR AMERICAN ECONOMY MUST FACE WITH REGARD TO THE OIL RESOURCES CONTROLLED BY AMERICAN NATIONALS IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES."

THE COMMITTEE CALLED THE BRITISH AGREEMENT "A PRELIMINARY AND INTERIM ONE," SAYING IT IS TO BE FOLLOWED "AS SOON AS PRACTICABLE BY AN OIL AGREEMENT NEGOTIATED BY ALL THE INTERESTED PRODUCING AND CONSUMING COUNTRIES."

30.27-10785

THE AGREEMENT, WHICH NOW GOES BEFORE THE SENATE FOR A RATIFICATION VOTE, SETS UP AN INTERNATIONAL PETROLEUM COMMISSION TO DISCUSS AND RESOLVE ON A COOPERATIVE BASIS PROBLEMS OF MUTUAL CONCERN.

IT AFFIRMS TWO GENERAL PRINCIPLES: THAT ADEQUATE SUPPLIES OF PETROLEUM SHOULD BE ACCESSIBLE IN INTERNATIONAL TRADE TO THE NATIONALS OF ALL COUNTRIES ON A COMPETITIVE AND NON-DISCRIMINATORY BASIS, AND THAT IN MAKING SUCH SUPPLIES AVAILABLE, THE INTERESTS OF THE PRODUCING COUNTRIES SHOULD BE SAFEGUARDED WITH A VIEW TOWARD THEIR ECONOMIC ADVANCEMENT.

WASHINGTON, JULY 7-(AP)-CASPER W.OOMS, THE PATENT COMMISSIONER, SAID TODAY HE DOES NOT THINK ANY OF THE 3,000,000 PATENTS ON FILE IN HIS OFFICE HOLDS THE EXPLANATION TO THE MYSTERIOUS "FLYING SAUCERS" WIDELY REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN SEEN.

"I THINK WE WOULD KNOW ABOUT IT IF ONE DID," HE TOLD A REPORTER.

OOMS SAID HE "SHARES A THEORY" THAT THE FLYING DISCS PROBABLY ARE "OPTICAL ILLUSIONS."

A REPORTER CHECKING THROUGH STACKS OF PATENTS FOUND SOME EXAMPLES OF AERONAUTICAL DEVICES WHICH FEATURE, AMONG OTHER THINGS, CIRCULAR PARTS.

ONE WAS AN AIRPLANE WITH CONVENTIONAL BODY LINES BUT A SINGLE, CIRCULAR "WING" ON TOP. IT LOOKED IN THE DRAWING LIKE A SMALL PLANE WITH A PANCAKE ON TOP.

THE INVENTOR, OTTO VON KORIES, HOLTSVILLE, CALIF., WHO GOT THE PATENT JAN. 7, 1929 SAID THIS ROUNDTABLE-TOP-LIKE WING SHOULD HELP STABILIZE FLIGHT AND "FACILITATE THE ACTIONS OF TAKING OFF AND LANDING" BUT THERE WAS NOTHING IN HIS CLAIMS ABOUT THE CRAFT REMAINING IN THE AIR FOR LONG PERIODS.

DR.C.J.ZOHN, DOING ROCKET WORK AT THE NAVAL RESEARCH LABORATORY HERE, RELATED THAT LAST JUNE 29 HE AND THREE OTHERS SAW ONE OF THE "FLYING SAUCERS" ABOUT 20 MILES FROM V-2 ROCKET TESTING GROUNDS AT WHITE SANDS, N.M.

Ten Nations Accept Bids To Paris

Paris, July 8 (AP)—The French Foreign Ministry announced today that ten nations had formally accepted the British-French invitation to a July 12 conference on the Marshall aid-to-Europe proposal. The Ministry said thus far there had been no refusals.

Indications mounted that at least some of the nations in the Soviet orbit would attend the conference, and one dispatch from Prague quoted Czechoslovak sources as speculating that Russia herself might try to back into the talks she has already rejected.

Polish, Romanian and Finnish diplomats denied reports—one of them from the Soviet news agency Tass—that their countries had rejected the invitation. Yugoslav, Albanian, Bulgarian and Hungarian spokesmen could not be reached, but reports from all four nations indicated the invitation was still being studied.

A Sofia dispatch quoted an authoritative source as saying that "probably Bulgaria will participate" in the conference, which opens in Paris Saturday. The dispatch said the Bulgarian Council of Ministers was meeting to reach a decision in the matter.

Despite a Moscow radio report that Yugoslavia had rejected the British-French invitation to participate, observers in Belgrade said the Yugoslavs had still not replied, and probably would not do so before Thursday—the deadline for an answer.

Talk With Tito

Dr. Ales Debler, Assistant Yugoslav Foreign Minister, has just returned to Belgrade from Premier Marshal Tito's summer palace at Bled and was reported conferring with sections of the Yugoslav Foreign Office. Tito's Government has shown intense interest in the principles of the Marshall proposal for American-backed European reconstruction.

No information came from Albania about what the Government was doing about the invitation.

The Austrian Cabinet today accepted the invitation to the Paris talks.

Dr. Alois Vollgruber, Austrian Minister to Paris, will head the delegation, the official announcement said. A Government spokesman said the delegation would leave for the conference "before the end of the week."

Tass dispatches printed in Moscow also said it was learned that Poland would avoid the conference, but an Associated Press dispatch said "it was a tossup tonight whether Poland would go to Paris." The controlled press made it clear, the dispatch added, that Poland wants all the assistance she can get but is not interested in any form of aid which could be viewed as exerting political pressure.

Czechs Accept

Czechoslovakia formally announced her acceptance today and sources in Prague said that when the Czechoslovaks accepted they had the impression that the Poles, likewise, would attend the conference.

A dispatch from Prague quoted a source close to the Government as speculating that the Soviet Union herself might send a representative to the conference. This source said it was significant that the Czechoslovakian Government, in which the Communists hold major strength, had accepted. Few observers, the dispatch said, believed the Czechoslovakian decision would have been taken had there been an outright request from Russia to stay away from Paris.

Statements In Rome

In Rome, Communist leaders in statements over the week end declared that Italian communism was not unalterably opposed to participation in the Marshall plan.

Finland has indicated that "geographical and political reasons may keep her away from Paris," but Finnish politicians felt that Cabinet discussions now under way in Helsinki might result in sending an observer to the talks.

Norway, Denmark and Sweden will confer tomorrow in Copenhagen to determine their joint attitude toward the proposal. The three Scandinavian nations will join in the Paris talks, their London diplomatic representatives said, if convinced the program would not lead to a division of Europe.

Switzerland's Federal Council today accepted the invitation in principle.

A French Foreign Ministry source earlier reported official acceptance from six nations—Italy, Portugal, Greece, Turkey, Belgium and Eire—and unofficial acceptances from eight others—the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Austria and Switzerland. Later both the Netherlands and Iceland announced that they would be represented.

The Hungarian Government, a trustworthy Budapest informant said, was scheduled to consider today a petition drawn up by some members seeking the consent of the Allied Control Council to Hungary's taking part in the conference.

In three-power Paris talks ended last Wednesday, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov refused to join in a European economic conference on the ground that it would infringe national sovereignty. Saturday a British Foreign Office spokesman said Britain and France had sent notes urging Russia to reconsider her stand.

No reply to these notes had been reported today.

Clayton In Paris

William L. Clayton, United States Under Secretary of State for economic affairs, arrived in Paris today to sit on the sidelines of the conference as an adviser on the intent and scope of the Marshall proposal.

BIDS ACCEPTED BY 13 NATIONS

Diplomats Deny 3 Others Refused To Attend Parley

Paris, July 8 (AP)—Thirteen nations, including Czechoslovakia in the Soviet sphere, have accepted French-British bids to the Paris conference on the Marshall plan. Czech sources in Prague hinted that Russia herself might finally be represented.

There had been no refusals by nightfall from the 22 invited nations.

The French Foreign Ministry announced that ten nations—Belgium, Italy, Portugal, Eire, Greece, Turkey, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Czechoslovakia and Iceland—have turned in formal acceptances.

Official Decisions Listed

Associated Press dispatches from Bern, Vienna and Copenhagen said that Switzerland, Austria and Denmark decided officially to participate in the reconstruction parley.

Confusion concerning what was going on in the Russian zone states mounted as the Thursday deadline for accepting the invitations drew near. The conference will open Saturday.

Polish, Romanian and Finnish diplomats denied reports broadcast by Tass, official Soviet news agency, that their countries had rejected the invitation. They said a decision could not be known until tomorrow. An Associated Press dispatch from Warsaw said it still was a "tossup" whether Poland would accept.

Still Being Studied

Yugoslav, Albanian, Bulgarian and Hungarian spokesmen here could not be reached for comment on the attitude of their governments but reports from those four nations indicated their decisions still were being studied.

A dispatch from Prague said that Czech sources close to the Government declared there was considerable indication Russia might send a representative—perhaps as an observer.

These sources said they based their suggestion on the Czech acceptance of the invitation, indications in Prague that the Poles also might accept, and an about-face by the Communist party in Prague from the earlier criticism of the motives behind the economic rehabilitation proposal.

The Marshall plan calls for the building up of an integrated European economy on a basis of self-help plus United States financial aid.

To Plan Gathering Of Data

The Paris conference is intended to set in motion the gathering of information to be used in determining Europe's ability for self-help and the amount needed from the United States.

Acceptances now are in from all countries invited except the seven other states in the Soviet zone and Sweden and Norway.

William L. Clayton, United States Under Secretary of State, specialist on the Marshall program, arrived by plane from Geneva for a series of talks with high French officials. He will remain here until the conference opens Saturday, then fly back to Geneva, where he heads the American delegation to the international trade parley.

Reserves Liberty Of Action

Foreign Ministry officials said Czechoslovakia informed France that Prague reserved complete liberty of future action on the basis of reports from its representative on the contemplated program.

The Romanian embassy said it had received no instruction from Bucharest and categorically denied a Tass dispatch that Bucharest already had rejected the bid. One official said the Romania Cabinet was in session.

An official of the Finnish legation said his Government was meeting today and had given no instructions to the legation.

The Polish embassy denied the Tass report and said it was awaiting word from home. French officials attached much importance to reports of a Polish Foreign Ministry statement that Warsaw is "deeply interested" in European reconstruction and the Paris conference. This report came from the French embassy in Warsaw.

Bulgaria Drafting Reply

The Bulgarian Government was drafting its reply. One source in Sofia predicted Bulgaria's participation.

Well-informed sources in Belgrade said Yugoslavia probably would withhold its decision until the last moment. The Government was reported in session at the summer capital of Bled. Albania, officials here presumed, would take whatever action Yugoslavia did.

The Hungarians were reported reserving judgement until the Cabinet could examine the aid program.

Moscow Note Sent To Sweden

The Swedish Government received a memorandum from Moscow. One political source in Stockholm said the Russian note implied a desire that Sweden would refrain from any action that might affect the Russian-Swedish trade and credit pact concluded last year.

Sweden's acceptance was considered assured when the Foreign office said that delegates would be chosen Friday by the King's council.

Austria officially announced in Vienna that Dr. Alois Vollgruber, Minister to Paris, would head the Austrian delegation.

Party Reported Favoring Plan

Budapest, July 8 (AP)—A reliable Hungarian informant said the parliamentary members of the majority Smallholders party agreed today that Hungary should accept the British-French invitation to the Paris conference on the Marshall plan.

It was understood that a majority of the Social Democratic party also was scheduled to vote acceptance at a meeting Wednesday or Thursday.

Politically middle-of-the-road Hungarians said they could not predict Hungary's ultimate action, which might come Thursday.

Austrian Cabinet Accepts

VIENNA, July 8 (AP).—The Austrian Cabinet accepted today an invitation to the European Reconstruction Conference opening Saturday in Paris. A government spokesman said the Austrian delegation would depart for the meeting "before the end of the week."

Bevin Says Door To Parley Remains Open For Russia

London, July 8 (AP)—Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, today hailed the Marshall offer as a step toward "a great unity of peoples throughout the world" and declared that the door still was open for Russia to participate in a continent-wide recovery plan.

"Europe is bleeding to death; it must be stopped," Bevin declared in an address to the Wandsworth Rotary Club. "And in the stopping of it you have got to rule out any prejudices, either religious or ideological."

The Secretary said that unity in Europe had appeared impossible, because of racial and historical differences and the "awful devastation" of war, until Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Secretary of State, made his aid-Europe proposal.

Brushes Off Churchill Idea

Bevin brushed off as "political propaganda" the proposal by former Prime Minister Winston Churchill for a "United States of Europe."

"On the other hand," he added, "there is a prospect—and a very happy prospect, I think — now, of trying to produce something without touching the political side at all, without even raising it, and certainly not accentuating it, to have an opportunity of approaching the problem from an economic basis.

"If built upon rightly and worked out properly, this may yet make the biggest contribution to the unity of the peoples of Europe.

"By working on the basis of unity, it may be that even in our day and generation we shall find that we have contributed at last to a great unity of peoples throughout the world."

Welcomes Czech Co-Operation

Bevin said the Marshall proposal, originally put forward by the American secretary in an address at Harvard University, was contained in an "unrehearsed speech, like a bolt out of the blue."

He welcomed Czechoslovakia and other countries which have accepted a British-French invitation to the Paris Economic Conference opening Saturday, and added:

"I do not know what others will come, or who will stay away. But I can assure you and the British public and the great public of the United States, which is behind Mr. Marshall in his great offer, that having put our hand to the plow we are not turning back."

Declares Door Still Open

Without mentioning Russia by name, Bevin reiterated that the door was still open for those who had declined to co-operate and that "we shall try to prove to them by example where we cannot now satisfy them by argument."

He said Britain was determined not to "quibble" over the details of the Marshall offer and not to "become annoyed" at criticisms. This apparently was a reference to critical articles which have appeared in the Russian press.

"To tell us now we are dividing Europe really is nonsense," he said.

Door Still Open To Russians, Bevin Says

London, July 8 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin indicated today that the door was still open for Russia to join in implementation of the Marshall program of American aid to Europe.

He said the plan of economic construction "may yet make the biggest contribution to the unity of the people of Europe" and added:

"Europe is bleeding; it must be stopped."

Unmistakable Reference

Without mentioning Russia by name, but making his reference unmistakable, Bevin repeated in an address to a luncheon club the statement he made after the recent three-power Paris conference broke up—that Great Britain "will co-operate with those who will co-operate but will keep the door open for those who will not in the hope that they will."

One has to prevent oneself from becoming annoyed and irritated," he said. "In these days, if you immediately allow that to occupy your mind, you have sown the seeds of another struggle."

Bevin said he felt the Marshall proposal would contribute greatly "maybe even in our day" toward international brotherhood and his personal ideal of a world parliament.

Reference To India

Referring to India, Bevin asserted that the decision to create two new commonwealths was "a great triumph for British and Indian statesmanship." He said the British were thinking "very hard and very deep" about the peace which must be made with Japan.

He expressed joy that Czechoslovakia had accepted a place in the Paris conference on the Marshall plan, and said:

"I do not know what others will come, but I can assure the British public and the great public of the United States which is behind Mr. Marshall in his great offer, that having put our hand to the plow, we are not turning back."

He said he opposed firmly any "quibbling and asking questions" of the United States, as he implied Russia had wanted to do.

Bevin declared that the Marshall offer—predicated on American assistance in the economic restoration of European countries which work together to help themselves—was purely economic.

Churchill Idea Dismissed

He dismissed as political the idea for a "United States of Europe" as advocated by Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime Prime Minister.

"Europe is bleeding to death," Bevin said. "It must be stopped, and in the stopping of it, you have got to rule out any prejudices either religious or ideological."

Later in his speech, he commented:

"I have heard it said . . . that the wave of a wand or political propaganda is needed to establish a United States of Europe and all will be well. But it is very difficult."

Rubber Supplies And Prices

Paris, July 8 (AP)—An international rubber conference decided here today to campaign for higher rubber prices throughout the world.

Members of the conference, known officially as "the rubber study group" and made up of delegates and observers from 28 countries, declined to give details of their campaign.

A delegate from Ceylon—G. C. S. Corea—told a news conference that low prices "cause hardships in producing countries."

Sir Gerard Clauson, British delegate, said the members had simply agreed to ask their governments "to do anything they can do to help." He said the details were private "like those of an argument between a man and his wife."

Left To Committee

The conference adjourned its fourth meeting with the decision as to when and where the next one would be held left to a management committee made up of France, the Netherlands, Britain and the United States.

The conference's decisions included:

1. Opening of membership "to all countries substantially interested in the production, consumption or trade in rubber."

2. Consideration of "measures designed to expand world consumption of rubber."

3. Fixing of London as the permanent home of its secretariat.

Announces Great Concern

4. Announcing that it "noted with great concern the downward trend in the market price of naturla rubber, and decided to recommend that the governments concerned should consider as a matter of urgency what action they are in a position to take to meet this special difficulty."

5. Expressed the hope that "no avoidable obstacles would be placed in the way of international trade in and the use of rubber, and that maximum assistance should be given to the countries desiring to make an extensive use of rubber, but which, on account of the war, cannot afford to pay in foreign currency for the rubber imports they require."

Discussing the latter point Clauson said there actually were not many countries who wanted to buy rubber and could not.

Countries Represented

Delegates came from Australia, Belgium, Bolivia, Canada, Ceylon, Denmark, Ecuador, the United States, France, Hungary, Italy, Liberia, Norway, Holland, the United Kingdom, the British Colonies, Siam, Czechoslovakia and Venezuela.

Observers were present from Brazil, Colombia, Finland, Guatemala, Mexico, Poland, Portgual, Sweden and Switzerland.

Marcel Péterhead, of the French delegation, said that France, as the host nation, had invited Russia but did not know why she had not appeared.

A communiqué from the conference forecast a surplus of 70,000 tons of rubber at the end of 1947, based on estimates of production of 1,200,000 tons of national rubber, and 515,000 tons of synthetic, compared with estimates of consumption of 1,060,000 tons and 585,000 tons.

No Russian Estimate

"These figures do not include any estimates for Russia except in respect of import of natural rubber," the bulletin explained.

Asked if the conference had any ideal market price in mind, Clauson said that had not been discussed. Asked on what basis the conference noted with "great concern" the low price of rubber, he said in the last few months it had fallen from 43 straits cents to 28 straits cents per pound.

Clauson said price had little effect on consumer demand for rubber products, "for in most cases the cost of the rubber in the product is a very small percentage of the cost of the whole," and consequently the fact rubber prices were low did not necessarily mean more people would buy tires.

The American delegation included: Rear Admiral Clinton E. Braine, of the Army and Navy Munitions Board; J. Ward Keener, vice president the B. F. Goodrich Company; Ulbert L. Viles, president the Rubber Manufacturers Association, Inc., New York; R. D. Young, president the Rubber Trade Association, New York; P. W. Lichfield, board chairman, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company; Donald D. Kennedy, chief of the State Department international resources division; Everatt G. Holt, Commerce Department rubber adviser, and George H. Alexander, of the State Department's international resources division.

Paris Police Arrest Member Of Stern Gang

Paris, July 8 (AP)—Police said tonight they had arrested sixteen persons in connection with the discovery of an arms depot in a Pasi suburb and that one had admitted he was a member of the Stern Gang, a Jewish underground group.

Police quoted the man as saying there were other arms caches in Paris and vicinity, but that they were not intended for use in France.

350 Million Europeans Need Aid, Sforza Quoted

Rome, July 8 (AP)—Italian Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza was reported today to have estimated at 350,000,000 the number of Europeans in need of aid under the Marshall recovery plan.

[Best available sources give Europe's population, not counting Russia, as 404,222,840.]

Sforza spoke last night at the first meeting of a fourteen-man interministerial committee to study Italy's role in European reconstruction under the plan.

Italy's Chief Asset: Labor

Unofficial accounts said he made his estimate in speaking of the job before the committee. He was reported also to have held that Italy's most valuable contribution to continental recovery could be Italian labor.

Latest government figures showed the country had 2,177,489 registered unemployed—1,179,673 of them from industry. In addition Italy has such products as electrical appliances, engines, precision machinery, automobiles and textiles to offer if she can get coal and oil in return.

The Italian news agency Ansa said last night that Pietro Quaroni, Ambassador to France, would represent Italy next Saturday at the start of the Paris conference on United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall's aid-for-Europe offer. Ansa said Quaroni would be superseded by Sforza July 15.

[French sources have predicted that the meeting will last only two or three days. The fact-finding committees the conference is to set up are scheduled to go to work July 15.]

Solid Footing Apparent

Over last week end, Communist party leader Palmiro Togliatti and Communist Assembly President Umberto Terracini made statements indicating that Italian communism was not unalterably opposed to participation in the Marshall plan. This appeared to give Italy a solid footing on the matter seemingly lacking in some countries with strong Communist parties.

The interministerial committee consists mostly of career department heads familiar with Italian industry, transport and labor. Most of them, it was understood today, will go to the Paris parley.

Nenni Urges Delay In Ratifying Pact

Rome, July 8 (AP)—Pietro Nenni, leader of the pro-Communist Socialist party, urged the Constituent Assembly committee on treaties today to defer ratifying the Italian peace treaty until Russia has acted upon it.

He argued that the document "technically does not become a treaty until the Big Four have ratified it." Several other committee members, including Vittorio Emanuele Orlando, Premier during the first world war, took the same view.

Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza defended the Government's decision to sign, arguing that any document was good if it restored Italy to a normal place in world affairs.

105 Jews Arrested.

Rome, July 8 (A. P.).—The Italian news agency Ansa reported today from Bolzano the arrest of 105 Jews who were said to have crossed the Italian-Austrian frontier illegally. The agency said that the Jews told authorities they were trying to go to Palestine.

Arrested In Arms Case

Genoa, Italy, Wednesday, July 9 (AP)—Police have arrested two men suspected of heading a large-scale traffic in arms between Italy and Greek guerrillas, it was disclosed today. Police said the arrests followed discovery of large amounts of light and heavy machine guns and other equipment packed for shipment.

Franco Succession Vote Held 12 To 1

Madrid, July 8 (AP)—A majority of twelve to one in favor of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's "law of succession" was claimed by the Spanish Government today on the basis of provisional returns from Sunday's referendum.

An official announcement said a tabulation showed 12,628,983 votes for the measure, 643,501 against, 295,208 blank ballots and 25,669 nullified votes.

The law, proposed by Franco last March on the eve of the eighth anniversary of his accession to the head of the Government, confirms his position as chief of state and gives him the right to propose his own successor, who would be either king or regent.

Belgians Accuse U.S., Britain on German Trade

Note at U. N. Meeting Says Monetary Policy Violates Bretton Woods Accords

GENEVA, July 8 (AP).—Belgium accused the United States and Britain of violating the Bretton Woods agreement in a written memorandum on commercial relations with Germany circulated today to delegates at the meeting of the Economic Commission for Europe here.

The commission, a United Nations body, agreed yesterday to hear a Belgian expert present his country's case on commercial relations with Germany at a plenary session of the commission next Thursday, after the Soviet bloc of countries had given up strenuous efforts to prevent or delay discussion of the German problem. The Belgian memorandum was circulated as a "preliminary note" to the expert's statement.

The note blamed the British-American policy for the present "modest level" of trade with Germany. It said Germany was "traditionally for Belgium both a market and a supplier of first-rate importance." One of the main reasons for the lack of trade with Germany "appears to be the number and competition of the formalities which have to be undergone before a commercial transaction can be concluded."

It added that "the Belgian government considers the absence of a rate of exchange for the reichsmark as one of the main barriers preventing the improvement of the situation."

The memorandum said British and American authorities in Germany were maintaining an artificial price structure for German goods. It said German exports were priced by British and American authorities in American dollars "at so-called world market prices," while internal prices remained in accordance with the old German price pattern.

This policy, the note continued, forms "an effective buffer between the German and the international price structure," but "in the long run it will prevent any reintegration of the German economy into the European economy."

"This policy, which in fact, if not in name, amounts to multiple currency practices, not only is contrary to the Bretton Woods agreement, to which the British and American governments have subscribed themselves, but also for the territories under their mandate," the note asserted.

[The U. N. monetary-finance conference, held at Bretton Woods, N. H., in July, 1944, set up agencies to promote international trade, including the stabilization of international currencies.]

The memorandum declared that while British-American authorities were attempting to raise exports from their zones by admitting foreign business men to have direct contact with German firms, "this policy cannot be expected to give any substantial results as long as it is impossible for the foreign buyer to discuss prices with his seller."

Russians Seize Ex-Nazis In 'Red Army Uniforms'

BERLIN, July 8 (AP).—For the second time within a week, Russian authorities announced today the capture of an armed gang of former Hitler Youths, whom they accused of pillage and plunder in the Soviet zone of Germany, while "disguised in Soviet Army uniforms."

A dispatch from the official Soviet news bureau said the gang was caught near Schwerin, in Mecklenburg, northeast of Berlin. The report said the youths spoke Russian. Four ringleaders were brought before a Soviet military court and received prison sentences ranging from ten to twenty-five years.

On July 1 the Russians reported the capture of a similar gang in the Province of Saxony, south of Berlin.

Nazi Doctors Get Death

Berlin, July 8 (AP)—Dispatches from Dresden, in Russian-occupied Saxony, reported today that a German court had sentenced two German doctors and two male nurses to death for directing the extermination of thousands of mental patients at the Sonnstein and Gros-Scheidentz asylums during the war.

Eight other asylum attendants received prison sentences ranging from three years to life. Three were acquitted.

11 Reich Generals Plead Innocent

Nuernberg, Germany, July 8 (AP). Eleven high-ranking German Army officers pleaded innocent today when arraigned before a United States military court on war-crimes charges.

Two field marshals and nine generals were accused of mass executions and tortures of civilians "as part of a deliberate scheme of terror in flagrant violation of the laws and customs of war."

The indictment charged that at least 13,000 persons were executed by their order because of resistance attacks against the wartime German occupation of the Balkans. The bill also accused them of deporting civilians for forced labor, plundering property and destroying cities needlessly.

One Committed Suicide

Those arraigned were Field Marshal Wilhelm List, commander of the German 12th Army; Field Marshal Maximilian von Weichs, commander of the German 2d Army; Col. Gen. Lothar Rendulic, commander of the Norwegian campaign, and Generals Walter Kuntze, Hermann Foertsch, Wilhelm Speidel, Kurt von Geitner, Helmut Selmy, Hubert Lanz, Ernest Demner and Ernst von Leyser.

Gen. Franz Boehme, who was to have been a defendant, committed suicide soon after the indictment of May 10.

'Poison Alcohol' Kills Another GI In Reich

Frankfurt, Germany, July 8 (AP). The United States Army announced tonight that 1 American soldier was dead and 2 2others were in a hospital near Bremen from drinking "poison alcohol."

The incident was the latest in what the army called an "alarming series of deaths" in Germany caused by soldiers drinking products containing methyl alcohol. Five soldiers died recently from the effects of an anti-freeze mixture.

The dead soldier in the most recent incident was identified as Private Tony J. Sanchez, 20, of Blanca, Col.

Army Investigates Unexplained Attack on Ridgewood Man

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, July 8 (AP).—United States Army officials disclosed today they were investigating the mysterious shooting of an American soldier.

Corporal Howard A. Grammick, of 1879 Greene Avenue, Ridgewood, N. Y., said he was walking along a busy highway toward the Army's Rhine-Main airport on Sunday when he heard the sound of a gun being cocked. He turned around swiftly, and that is all he remembered until a German shepherd found him and helped him to the airfield.

Corporal Grammick is recovering from a bullet wound in the upper arm.

CZECH FACTORIES RESUME BUILDING NEW AUTOMOBILES

PRAGUE, July 8.—(AP) Czechoslovakia, once the major automobile manufacturer in southeastern Europe, has her auto production now turning out four types of passenger cars and three models of trucks, but not yet in sufficient quantity for export.

It is expected to be another year before domestic needs for essential service can be filled to a sufficient degree so that any considerable amount of production can be diverted to foreign sale.

During the Nazi occupation and subsequent fighting in Czechoslovakia, car owners were deprived of their vehicles and in the bombing of industries here much essential equipment was destroyed.

In production now are two miniature cars, the Jawa Minor, two-cylinder 20-horsepower, the Popular four-cylinder 40-horsepower; and two larger cars, the Tatra 57, front motored four-cylinder, 45-horsepower, and the rear motored Tatra 87, eight-cylinder streamliner.

These are for sale only by special government license.

They are manufactured at Mlada Boleslav near Prague and Koprivnice on the Moravian-Slovakian frontier.

The trucks, all being produced at Skoda plants at Letnay, Prague and Koprivnice, range from a four-cylinder 52-horsepower one-and-one-half-ton truck to a twelve-cylinder 145-horsepower nine-ton truck.

Red Unit Reported In Greek Armed Forces

Athens, July 8 (AP)—The conservative newspaper Embros reported today that a "Communist organization" had been discovered within the Greek armed forces in Thrace, where Government troops now are engaged in operations against Left-wing guerrilla bands.

The paper said the discovery was made with the arrest of ten soldiers who admitted membership in the organization.

Embros did not specify the number of those in the armed forces reportedly involved, but said that 7,000 tobacco workers in the Kavalla area were implicated and that 250 persons—whom it did not identify as soldiers or civilians—had been arrested.

Russia Reports Success Of Domestic Recovery

MOSCOW, July 8 (AP).—Russia announced today wide successes in her domestic recovery program.

The State Planning Commission reported that Russia's crop acreage for the second quarter of 1947 was 20,000,000 acres higher than last year, and that industrial production was up 15 per cent.

The report indicated steady improvement in the Russian standard of living, and announced that many industries were meeting or exceeding their goals under the post-war five-year plan.

Textile and light industries were said to have increased production 29 per cent over the second quarter of last year; retail trade, measured by comparable prices, was up 21 per cent, and oil production was up 18 per cent.

On the other side of the domestic recovery picture, the government newspaper "Izvestia" said the construction industry was "not realizing the fulfillment of the plan."

Although housing construction was listed as 15 per cent ahead of the first half of last year, the Planing Commission said only an eighth of the housing goal for 1947 had been achieved.

Manchuria Reds Renew Attacks On Chaoyang

Peiping, July 8 (AP)—Chinese Communists have renewed their attacks on Chaoyang in Jehol province bordering Manchuria, Government dispatches acknowledged today, and have consolidated their hold on the rail and coal center of Pehpiao, 20 miles to the northeast.

Chaoyang is on an inland rail route from Mukden, Manchuria, to Peiping. Another major route, some 55 miles nearer the coast, runs through Chinsien (Chinchow) where some military observers have predicted another Red offensive soon.

News reports today said Communists had gathered on both sides of the coastal route near Shanhaikwan, the gateway from north China to Manchuria, where Peiping-Mukden trains stop for the night.

Wrecking Of Route Seen

Observers here said it is almost certain the Reds eventually will seek to demolish large sections of that route and of all southern Manchurian lines—completing a division of Manchuria into three isolated sectors.

In North China fighting, the Government reported the recapture of Hsushui, 12 miles north of Paoting, the capital of Hopeh province, and said the Peiping-Paoting Railway had been cleared of Communists. This 90-mile stretch of the major north-south Peiping-Hankow line has been hit often by Communist raiders, and repairs will require at least a week.

Observers said the Communists probably will make their most energetic bid for military dominance before the end of this summer.

Formation of "home defense" groups within major Government-held cities is already under way in such centers as Peiping, Tientsin and Mukden.

In Mukden, Lieut. Gen. Li Tachiao is organizing 280,000 youths to form a "bandit suppression" unit in each district of the city.

Government reports from northeasterly Shantung province north of Shanghai said the Communists were retreating from Chichuan and Poshan, rich mining area which formerly supplied the bulk of coal for Tsinan and Tsingtao. Reoccupation of both towns by Government troops was expected shortly.

The Communists continued, however, to disrupt traffic on the Tsinan-Tsingtao railway. Their activities paralyzed the economic life of Tsingtao and complicated another big problem—some 80,000 destitute refugees from war areas. Authorities feared the refugees might get out of hand. They said Nanking had turned down pleas for relief funds.

Mongolia Talks Continue

Shanghai, July 8 (AP)—China is continuing negotiations with Outer Mongolia over the Sinkiang province border clash last month, Sun Fo, president of the Executive Yuan, said here today.

He made the statement as delayed Government news dispatches reported skirmishes "still in progress" in the vicinity of Peitashan, 50 miles inside Sinkiang. Peitashan was the scene of reportedly brisk fighting between Chinese and Outer Mongolian troops early in June.

There was no indication of length of time the fresh dispatches had been delayed.

China Recalls Former Officers

Nanking, July 8 (AP)—The semi-official Military News Service reported today that 1,800 demobilized Chinese army officers have returned to troop duty as the result of Chiang Kai-shek's general mobilization order.

The news agency, which is controlled by the Ministry of National Defense, said the officers had been assigned to active duty from the Central Training Corps, Government organization established to train former army officers for other professions.

Additional former officers will be returned to duty, the agency said, as rapidly as they can be absorbed into China's army.

CHINESE WAR STRANDS 80,000

Refugees At Tsingtao Cut Off From Food Sources

Nanking, July 8 (AP)—Eighty thousand restless and hungry refugees stranded in Tsingtao by China's civil war were added to Government worries today.

Associated Press dispatches from Tsingtao, Shantung port 300 air miles north of Nanking, said officials were afraid the refugees would get out-of-hand unless the government sends relief or breaks the economic strangle-hold Communist armies have established on the city. Refugees already have plundered near-by farms.

Both Sides Claim Victories

Normal inland sources of supply were cut off by raiding Communist armies who disrupted traffic on the Tsinan-Tsingtao railway. Mayor Li Hsien Liang was reported preparing to propose the able-bodied refugees be drafted into an anti-Communist militia and that the Government send additional reinforcements.

Government and Communist sources both claimed victories in the Shantung area. The Government said that to the north its armies had recaptured Siunghsien and Sushui, north of Paoting, Hopeh Provincial capital. Government sources acknowledged Communist gains in Jehol Province in Manchuria. Red troops consolidated their hold on Pehpiao, Jehol rail and coal center, and drove on near-by Chaoyang.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's new general mobilization order was reported taking effect, with 1,800 demobilized officers returned to duty.

Chiang Urged By U.S. To Purge Party

Shanghai, July 8 (AP)—America's future policy in China is likely to hinge largely on the extent to which Chiang Kai-shek reforms his Government, in the opinion of diplomatic and other well-informed quarters in Nanking and Shanghai.

It is no secret to anyone in these two cities that Chiang's "coalition" Government did not satisfy American hopes for creation of a liberal and genuinely multi-party administration.

The general opinion is that the Generalissimo will have to carry out a real "purge" of the more reactionary and corrupt elements in his Government before he can expect any further support from the United States.

Japanese Cabinet Plans Civil Service Measure

Tokyo, July 8 (AP)—The Japanese Cabinet announced today it would introduce a comprehensive civil service reform bill designed to reduce bureaucracy and increase efficiency.

Other measures also are expected in the new Diet in an effort to revamp the powerful bureaucracy which has changed little since the war and remains highly influential.

One Of Three Major Cliques

Bureau chiefs have been purged, but lower-ranking officers are still in office. And they form a tight group so influential that in the prewar battle for power in Japan, the bureaucracy ranked with militarists and industrialists as a major clique.

Hard Fight Expected

The Cabinet's reform bill limits political or labor-union activities of Government employés; provides for redistribution of presently top-heavy personnel with emphasis on ability, and fixes wages according to performance rather than the size of the worker's family.

Public "inspection committees" would supervise their work.

Premier Tetsu Katayama said he was confident he could break the bureaucrats. Reform bills, however, are expected to meet strong behind-the-scene opposition from cliques seeking to preserve their power.

Japanese Food at New Low

108,000 Tons of Imports Freed After 17-Day Ration Delay

TOKYO, July 8 (AP).—Allied headquarters today authorized the Japanese government to release 108,000 tons of imported food for rationing. Official rations are about seventeen days late.

William Egekvist, of Minneapolis, headquarters price control and ration chief, reported Japanese food supplies at an all-time low. He said the Japanese may have 15 per cent less to eat until the fall harvests.

In the last sixteen months, the United States has helped to alleviate the situation by shipping 1,750,000 tons of food to Japan.

Second prize went to Master Sergeant Douglas W. Dunman, of Buffalo, N. Y. He designed a press for straightening auto bumpers without heating.

REFUGEES SWELL POPULATION IN U.S. KOREA ZONE

SEOUL, Korea, July 8. — (AP) The population of American-occupied South Korea has increased by almost 3,000,000 in the two years since the country was liberated from the Japanese.

The increase is straining South Korea's food and shelter supply, barely adequate before the influx began. An emergency national refugee board of Korean government officials and American advisers has set up a quota system for distribution and resettlement of the newcomers through the provinces on the basis of their ability to absorb the population increase.

American military authorities estimate 1,500,000 have moved in from Russian-occupied North Korea in a continuing migration.

In the first year of the occupation 370,000 returned from Manchuria and China and 1,130,000 from Japan and the Pacific Islands. For the most part these were heavy-duty laborers in Japan's late expansion program.

There now are an estimated 21,000,000 persons in South Korea, an area about the size of Kentucky or Virginia in the United States, and only one-half the size of Uruguay, smallest republic in South America.

Approximately 500,000 North Koreans actually have been counted moving southward across the 38th parallel which separates the Russian and American occupation zones. American officials estimate that two have dodged military government registration for every one that was counted.

The counted flow from North Korea has climbed gradually from one or two hundred a week last winter to an average of more than 8,000 a week this summer. Authorities place the true rate of migration at between 20,000 and 30,000 a week. They said travel from south to north in comparison is "practically nothing at all."

Tent Camps for registering the refugees are located at Kaesong, Uijongbu, Chunchon and Chuninjin, cities two to 20 miles south of the parallel and on the main travel routes.

Camp officials said most arrivals from the north give hunger as their reason for coming to the agricultural south. A few said they left home to escape high taxes and a reshuffling of the wealth in the northern zone or to avoid conscription for military duty.

Some bring down backloads of fertilizer, fish, salt and leather needed in the south and walk back with all the rice, light bulbs and shoes they can carry. Authorities overlook this small scale exchange of critical items, seizing only firearms and narcotics going in either direction.

No attempt is made to check the flow of refugees despite the fact the land-man ratio thereby improves in the Soviet zone and worsens in the United States zone.

South Korea Population Rises

SEOUL, July 8 (AP).—The population of American-occupied South Korea increased 3,500,000 between May, 1944, and last winter, Dr. Clarence Rhee, of the Korean Department of Information, said today. South Korea's population is now estimated at 21,000,000.

Say Laurel Aided Invaders

MANILA, July 8 (AP).—The occupation government of Dr. Jose P. Laurel "placed at the disposal of the Japanese Army all the facilities it required," Jorge B. Vargas, former puppet Ambassador to Tokyo, wrote in a memorandum submitted at Laurel's treason trial today. Defense counsel contended it was unfair to assume that this and other documents taken from Malacanan presidential palace files were not ordered by the Japanese for public consumption.

Arms Smuggling

Manila, July 8 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Jose Casten Zulueta announced today he has ordered an investigation and Government action against reported widespread smuggling of arms and ammunition from Mindanao and the Sulu Archipelago to Indonesia.

Representative Ombra Amilbangsa, Mohammedan Moro Congressman from Sulu, declared he could not see why arms should be smuggled to the Netherlands East Indies. He said it would be like carrying coals to Newcastle; "Indonesians have more arms than anyone else in this part of the world."

He also argued that each gun taken out of the Philippines would be one less for the police to worry about, and "besides, if I had arms I would gladly give them to a people with so much in common with us Filipinos."

Jap Dies In Leap Off Guam Cliff

Guam, July 8 (AP)—A Japanese Army straggler hiding in Guam's lush-green jungles since the war's end leaped over a cliff to his death today and another Japanese, wounded, was being hunted.

The cliff jumper was clothed in United States Navy dungarees and a pair of sandals made from auto tires. In his canvas-roofed hideout, Guam police and United States Marines found a stock of 100 pounds of nuts and five pounds of dried fish.

The police-marine patrol hunted for the second Japanese near the northwest tip of the island.

Six stragglers have been killed in the past year. One was ambushed by Guamanians in a cave June 3 and shot to death when he refused to surrender. The Navy estimates 50 Japanese are still in hiding nearly three years after the American invasion.

KILLED 'LIKE ROBOTS'

Guam, July 8 (A. P.).—An emotional Japanese witness pleaded today that former Navy mates who stabbed to death two war prisoners on Truk atoll did not want to kill the Americans, but blindly obeyed orders.

The United States military commission trying nineteen Japanese for the atrocity deaths of ten Americans in 1944 struck from the record the outburst of Petty Officer Suichi Yamamoto at the conclusion of his testimony against fellow hospital corpsmen.

Yamamoto—not a defendant himself—said the men who carried out the stabbing of two victims with spears and bayonets were ordered to do so by the hospital commandant, Capt. Hiroshi Iwanami, the chief defendant.

"They did not want to kill," said Yamamoto. "I can only think that they acted mechanically—like robots."

Disks Reported In South Africa, Australia

Seen In Sydney

Sydney, Australia, July 8 (AP)—Strange tales of "flying saucers" were told in Sydney today, and the Daily Telegraph headlined the story "It Had To Happen Here."

Several Sydney persons said they had seen disk-shaped objects shooting across the sky last night or early today.

E. J. Walters told the Telegraph he and his wife saw two—"white, shiny and flat."

"Brighter Than Moon"

"The night was so clear and bright we were able to get a good look at them," he said. "They traveled very fast in westerly direction."

Jack Parker said the object he saw was "slightly brighter than the moon" and "appeared to be traveling at terrific speed." He said it left no trail.

"Spots Before Eyes"

These manifestations came several hours after 22 Sydney University students had reported glimpsing flying objects in an experiment organized by psysiology Prof. Frank S. Cotten, who said what they actually saw was "the effect of red corpuscles of the blood passing in front of the retina" of the eye.

In all, 450 students took part in the xperiment. The others didn't see anything unusual.

The Daily Mirror said a photographer and a reporter on its staff tested the professor's theory and both saw "flying disks."

Islanders Reported At War Over Food

Sydney, Australia, Wednesday, July 9 (AP)—United States Army flyers reported today that Malaita Islanders had "declared war" on the British settlement on Guadalcanal in the Solomon Island because of dissatisfaction over food supplies.

The flyers, who arrived on the Australian continent at Townsville-North Queensland, last night from Guadalcanal on a routine flight for supplies, were quoted by a newspaperman as saying the Malaitans, armed with spears and blowpipes, landed on Guadlcanal yesterday morning from war canoes.

One flyer said the British expected the islanders would launch a full scale attack on the 200 inhabitants of the British settlement during the day. British guards armed with shotguns patrolled the shores of Kau Kau bay on the tip of the eastern Guadalcanal to meet any attack, the flyers said. Malaita is 40 miles northeast of Guadacanal.

DEATH UPHELD FOR 3 JEWS

Sentences Confirmed Despite U.N. Group's Protest

Jerusalem, July 8 (AP)—Death sentences imposed on three Jews were confirmed today by the British military commander, despite previous warning by the United Nations Commission on Palestine that the executions might result in "unfavorable repercussions."

Commission delegates almost unanimously expressed surprise at the action of the commander, Lieut. Gen. G. H. A. MacMillan, but pointed out that the case still must go before the Palestine High Commissioner.

Not Definite, Chairman Says

"It is not definite that they will be hanged," Justice Emil Sandstroem, of Sweden, commission chairman, said.

One delegate, who asked that his name not be used, said there was a possibility that the commission "may ask for a stay in the executions—even if not actual commutation—because most of the delegates are concerned about the effects the hangings and their repercussions would have on our work."

The consensus of the delegates, however, appeared to be that the matter was "beyond the scope of our duties."

Linked To Prison Break

The three Jews were convicted last month by a British military court of participating in the Acre prison delivery of May 4, during which 251 prisoners escaped and sixteen persons were killed. MacMillan also confirmed life sentences imposed on two other Jews convicted of taking part in the raid. All five were members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization.

The three under sentence of death are Yacoub Weiss, 23, laborer; Absalom Habib, 20, clerk, and Meier Naker, 21, shoemaker.

The commission's warning of repercussions was made several weeks ago, when it forwarded to Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary general, copies of appeals which the families of the doomed men had filed with the commission.

Partition Discussed

Meanwhile, Dr. Chaim Weizmann, former Zionist president, and David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency, appeared before the commission to discuss partition of the Holy Land into separate Jewish and Arab states.

Weizmann, in a two-hour speech, urged that a Jewish state be composed of the coastal plain, the southern desert and the northern Galilee area.

Ben-Gurion asked for Jewish control of all of Palestine, but said, "We are willing to consider acceptance of a viable Jewish state in less than the whole of Palestine."

Partition Urged To U.N. As Solution In Palestine

Jerusalem, July 8 (AP)—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, former president of the World Zionist Organization, told the United Nations Palestine Commission today that he was "convinced that partition" was the solution to the Palestine problem because it was "final."

Weizmann declared that "all parties are tired of perpetual tensions, etc.—would not thwart the administration of joint trusteeship."

CANTONIZATION—"Two such proposed plans leave the ultimate political future of the country undecided."

AN ARAB STATE—"The Jews in Palestine would be reduced to a position of physical insecurity and sion and friction and want a solution in which relations can be established."

"I am convinced that partition, in spite of its difficulties, in spite of the great sacrifice it means to us, is such a solution because it is final," Weizmann said.

He asserted that "temporary makeshifts . . . will merely prolong the present agony."

Two Recommendations

The "practicability" of partition depends upon two things, he said:

1. A Jewish state area must have accessibility to water and electric power resources "so that the country can be effectively developed for the absorption of large-scale immigration."

2. "It must be given such an area of yet undeveloped and unsettled land as to provide room for these newcomers. If I had therefore to propose a scheme of partition I would urge that it must at least comprise . . . Galilee and the coastal plain and in addition the Jewish area of Jerusalem.

Jewish State Recommended

Meanwhile, the commission had under advisement a political survey in which the Jewish Agency declared that the only satisfactory solution to the Holy Land problem would be the creation of a Jewish state.

The agency admitted the possibility of partition as a "last resort," but declared that "further curtailment of a Jewish national home must involve great sacrifice."

The 71-page memorandum dismissed other suggestions as follows:

CONTINUANCE OF THE BRITISH MANDATE—It demanded a final settlement of the mandate and said "there can be no finality in a return to a mandatory regime."

JOINT TRUSTEESHIP—"There is no reason to assume that considerations of power politics—oil, strategic bases, lines of communica-political oppression which is the lot of Jewish communities in Arab countries."

BINATIONAL PARITY — "What is rejected is the conception that Jews and Arabs can operate a joint state by pulling collectively with equal weight in its councils."

Doom Of 3 Jews Confirmed

Jerusalem, July 8 (AP)— Lieut. Gen. G. H. A. MacMillan, commander of British forces in the Holy Land, today confirmed the death sentences imposed by a British military court June 16 on three young Jews convicted of participating in the Acre Prison delivery.

MacMillan also confirmed life sentences which had been imposed on two other Jews convicted of participating in the delivery last May 4, during which 251 prisoners escaped and sixteen persons were killed. All five convicted men were allegedly members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization.

Relatives Appealed To U.N.

Relatives of the condemned men previously had appealed to the United Nations Commission on Palestine to intervene in their behalf. The appeals were relayed to the British by the commission with a resolution expressing anxiety less execution of the death sentences create disturbances in Palestine which might interfere with the commission's work.

Sandstroem Noncommittal

Advised of MacMillan's action, Emil Sandstroem, chairman of the United Nations commission, declined comment, pointing out that the case still must go before the Palestine High Commissioner.

"It is not definite that they'll be hanged," he said.

The three Jews under sentence of death are Yacoub Weiss, 23, laborer; Absalom Habib, 20, clerk, and Meier Naker, 21, shoemaker.

Those sentenced to life imprisonment were Ammon Michaelov and Naham Ziterbaum.

The sentences were imposed on the same day that the eleven-man United Nations Commission began its on-the-spot inquiry into the Holy Land problem. The commission resolution expressing concern over possible 'unfavorable repercussions" was adopted June 22.

Palestine Government Reply

Publication of the resolution, which was transmitted to United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie for relay to the British, brought from the Palestine Government an immediate reply that discussion was out of order at that time because the sentences had not been confirmed and the case was still in legal process.

The British Government later handed Lie a similar communication saying that it had noted the contents of the resolution and pointing out it still was within the power of Gen. Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, British High Commissioner for Palestine, to pardon the condemned men.

Edith Weiss, sister of one of the condemned trio, arrived here from Czechoslovakia by plane yesterday and visited her brother in Acre Prison last night. She planned to appeal personally today to Karel Lisicky, Czechoslovak member of the United Nations commission, to intervene in Weiss's behalf.

Indonesian Note Averts Strife, Dutch Say

Batavia, Java, July 8 (AP)—The Indonesian Republic offered today to accept four Dutch proposals for the interim government and to compromise the fifth—the critical issue of internal policing upon which may depend maintenance of peace in the Indies.

A highly placed Dutch official said the new Indonesian note "contains such evidence of good will that the danger of military action seems successfully to have been avoided."

Delivered By Plane

The note was brought by an Indonesian delegation which arrived by plane today from Jogjakarta, the Republic's capital. It was a reply to Dutch demands with regard to the interim government of the United States of Indonesia, which is to gain permanent status January 1, 1949.

Previously, qualified Dutch sources had said that should the Republic fail to accept in full the Netherlands plan for the interim government, the Dutch Army was prepared to move against the Republicans.

Police Compromise Up

Deputy Premier Setiadjit said the republic would request internal policing by all Indonesian police as a state right. The Dutch have asked a joint gendarmerie—part Dutch and part native—to police republican areas under the interim government.

Setiadjit said the republic offered to recognize the overall central federal police agency. He said the republic would propose that, should the interim government decide in an emergency that the state police were not maintaining order, the central government could take over police control.

"I think there is a good chance to maintain peace and reach agreement on the basis of these proposals," Setiadjit declared. "They go as far politically and morally as I could achieve."

Outlines Four-Point Note

Setiadjit said the republicans' note would say:

1. That the republic fully accepts the Netherlands' ultimate authority and responsibility in all Indonesia during the interim period and recognizes that the Dutch member in the federal interim government council should have "extraordinary powers."

2. The republic pledges to return all foreign properties.

3. The republic accepts Dutch proposals for federal organs such as customs and economic agencies.

4. Consequent to acceptance of ultimate Netherlands authority, the republic withdraws her request for separate republican representation in foreign capitals.

Java Approves Dutch Plan on Interim Regime

War Fears Fade; Republic Differs on Single Point, Asks Own Gendarmerie

BATAVIA, Java, July 8 (AP).—Fears of war in Indonesia faded tonight when the Netherlands published the text of a new note in which the Indonesian Republic accepted with one exception the Netherlands proposal for an interim national government.

A Dutch communique said only three points remain to be settled as far as the Dutch are concerned.

Informed sources expected that conversations would begin almost immediately on the final points of difference, since both the Dutch and the Indonesian Republic have stressed the urgency of establishing the interim government which gradually will be converted into the federal United States of Indonesia.

A Dutch official said the new note "contains such evidence of good will that the danger of military action seems successfully to have been avoided."

Deputy Premier Setiadjit, of the republican government, said he thought there "is a good chance to maintain peace."

Dutch sources earlier had said the Netherlands Army was prepared to act against the republicans if they failed to accept in full the Netherlands plan for the interim government, which is scheduled to gain permanent status Jan. 1, 1949.

The one exception in the republican note, on which a compromise was suggested, concerns the gendarmerie. The Dutch asked a joint gendarmerie, part Dutch and part native, to police republican areas under the interim government. Mr Setiadjit said the republic would ask internal policing by an all-Indonesian force as a state right.

Calcutta Riots Kill 28 And Injure 141

Calcutta, July 8 (AP)—Continued Hindu-Moslem rioting claimed three more lives today, bringing the official toll of casualties since early yesterday to 28 dead and more than 141 injured.

Unofficial reports of the casualties ran as high as 50 dead and more than 200 hurt.

Police and the military finally brought the situation under control after using tear gas and firing into the milling rioters.

Trams and busses ceased operating on most routes while the riot was on, and many office workers stayed away from work to avoid passing through streets.

Martial Law in Iran, War Minister Quits

Crowds Protest in Tehran, Extremists Rule Army

TEHRAN, July 8 (AP).—Martial law was imposed in Iran today on the order of Premier Ahmad Qavam, and soon afterward angry crowds gathered in Tehran's public squares to protest the re-enactment of military rule.

Following the order, General Ahmad Sepehbod Amir Ahmedi, War Minister in Mr. Qavam's Cabinet, submitted his resignation to Shah Mohammed Riza Pahlevi, who accepted it.

Iranian newsmen predicted that the government's first move under martial law would be the suppression of newspapers and the arrest of editors who recently have made editorial attacks on Mr. Qavam.

Some foreign observers, who recently have predicted a possible coup de'etat by the army, said General Ahmedi's resignation removed a strong nationalist from the Cabinet and left a group of extremists in power in the army.

Syrian Government Candidates Favored

Damascus, Syria, July 8 (AP)—Political observers today predicted victory for Government-sponsored candidates in Syria's first general election since the end of the French mandate as voters trooped to the polls in three-day balloting which will end tomorrow.

Contending for posts in the 138-man Chamber of Deputies are candidates of the Government-backed National party, the Arab Popular party, the National Resurrection party, the Liberal party, the Ulemas Union, the Moslem Brothers and a number of independents.

By Government decree, the Chamber is composed of 114 Moslems, 5 members of the Druze Mountain tribes, 18 Christians and 1 Jew. The French withdrew from Syria in 1944.

Canada Widens Dollar Trading

OTTAWA, July 8 (AP)—The Foreign Exchange Control Board announced today that trade between Canada and Czechoslovakia and Finland now may be carried on either on a sterling or a United States dollar basis. The move represents a further step by the United Kingdom in making sterling earnings of foreign countries available for use generally throughout the world.

DEMOCRAT BLOC'S SUBSTITUTE BILL BEATEN, 261-151

GOP Hopes to Place Measure on President's Desk Before Week Ends.

PREDICT ANOTHER VETO

Speculation Flares on Chances for Needed Vote Margin in Upper House.

WASHINGTON, July 8 — (AP) The Republican-backed $4,000,000,000 income tax reduction for 49,000,000 taxpayers sailed through the House again today by an overwhelming vote of 302 to 112. This is 26 more than the two-thirds needed to override a second presidential veto.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) personally took the floor and asked the body to make its vote so decisive "as to persuade the President that the people should have this delayed justice."

Anticipating another presidential veto, Martin declared the House confronts the fundamental question of whether "Congress shall retain its right to perform its constitutional function of determining what taxes shall be levied on the people."

The measure was tossed over to the Senate, where Republican leaders said they hope to rush it again to President Truman's desk before the week ends.

Predict Another Veto

Some Democratic leaders said another veto is certain.

The measure is identical with the one the President returned June 16 as "the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time"—except that the effective date of the tax cut has been changed from July 1, 1947, to January 1, 1948.

While a veto-overriding vote rolled up in the House, speculation flared to a feverish pitch on the big question:

Can such a two-thirds vote be obtained in the Senate to overthrow another Presidential objection?

No one yet has named two-thirds of the Senators who will vote to override a veto. The President's first veto was sustained in the House when the vote to override 268 to 137, was two votes short of the needed two-thirds.

Immediately after the House action, Senator Lucas (D-Ill) introduced a substitute bill in the Senate which he contended would emphasize relief for the people with low incomes instead of "high tax savings to the big income groups."

Lucas' bill would raise the personal exemption for taxpayers and their dependents from $500 apiece to $650, and would reduce each surtax rate by four percentage points.

He said he might press his substitute when the Senate Finance Committee meets tomorrow on the House bill, and certainly would do so on the floor.

Finance Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) predicted confidently that the committee will clear the House bill tomorrow. It will be taken up in the Senate after the Army-Navy unification bill is out of the way—possibly Thursday.

House Passes Tax Cut By Vote of 302 to 112; Senate Approval Seen

In today's roll call on passage, 233 Republicans were joined by 69 Democrats in support of the bill. Opposing were 109 Democrats and two Republicans—Hull of Wisconsin and H. Carl Andersen of Minnesota—and the American Labor Party member, Rep. Marcantonio of New York.

Sub Bill Defeated

House action, with the Republicans in complete control, followed defeat 261 to 151 of an attempt by administration-supporting Democrats to substitute a bill that would reduce taxes $3,379,000,000 a year and remove 4,000,000 low-income persons from the tax rolls completely.

Sponsors said they oppose any tax reduction now, but offered their bill as "a fairer and more equitable" approach, if tax cutting is inevitable. They argued for reduction of the debt instead of tax cutting now.

Their defeated substitute bill would have provided:

1. An increase to $600 from $500 in the personal exemptions for individuals in computing taxes.

2. A reduction of three percentage points across the board for all surtax bracket rates.

Rep. Forand (D-RI), in offering the substitute said it gave greater relief to small income persons, and declared: "If you want to be fair, you will go along with my proposal. If you don't, you will be forgetting the little fellow and giving the big fellow another handout."

Mr. Truman, in his veto message, said first emphasis should be put on payment of the debt, that the tax cut would aggravate inflationary tendencies, and that the bill gave too much relief to persons with large incomes and too little to persons with small incomes.

Provisions of Measure

Here's how the adopted measure works:

1. Effective January 1, 1948.
2. All withholdings against wages and salaries would be reduced.
3. A 30 per cent cut on taxable incomes of $1,000 or less (income after exemptions and deductions).
4. A 20 to 30 per cent cut on incomes between 1,000 and $1,400.
5. A 20 per cent cut on taxable income between $1,400 and $137,000.
6. A 15 per cent cut on income between $137,000 and $302,000.
7. A 10.5 per cent tax on any income over $302,000.

U. S. Official Fights Curb on Oil Export

Foster Minimizes Effect of Sales to Russia

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP).—Under Secretary of Commerce William C. Foster today opposed the prohibiting or "drastically curtailing" of the export of American oil and petroleum products.

"To do this would upset the world system of distribution and make petroleum a source of international friction," Mr. Foster said at a hearing of the House Foreign Commerce Committee into the possibility of a domestic oil shortage.

Mr. Foster, whose department administers export controls, minimized the effects on this country of oil shipments to Russia.

Several Congressmen, including Representatives Alvin F. Weichel, Republican of Ohio; Raymond S. Springer, Republican of Indiana, and Paul W. Shafer, Republican of Michigan, criticized the shipments to Russia when Congress recently continued until July 15 the authority of the commerce department to control exports of oil and oil products by requiring license for their shipment abroad.

While the Commerce Department has under consideration Russian applications to license oil shipments in tankers now at Los Angeles, Representative Weichel has introduced a bill to authorize the President to embargo all export of oil under certain conditions.

Mr. Foster, however, said that this country has shipped oil to Russia "over a period of many years" and that these shipments are "a part of the normal world supply-demand picture." He told the committee that United States shipments of oil to Russia for the first six months of this year amounted to 730,000 barrels, or "the equivalent of the petroleum we consume in the U. S. in about 3½ hours."

The House Committee's investigation is proceeding while the House and Senate seek to compose differences over long-range continuation of export-controls for oil and other commodities in short supply, including tin and copper.

DENNIS GETS YEAR AND $1000 FINE

Washington, July 8 (A. P.).—Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the United States Communist party, was sentenced today to one year in jail and fined $1,000—the maximum penalty for being in contempt of Congress.

Federal District Judge David A. Pine, in passing sentence, said he will allow Dennis to remain on $10,000 bond pending a ruling by the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. Dennis told Judge Pine he will carry the case to the Supreme Court, if necessary.

He was convicted by a jury of failing to appear before the House Committee on Un-American Activities last April 9 in response to a subpoena.

Judge Pine gave Dennis an opportunity to appear before the committee and purge himself of contempt. Dennis declined.

HOUSE VOTES TO PUBLISH FASCIST DATA

'Fascism In Action' Designed As Counter To 'Communism In Action'

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The House passed today a resolution authorizing publication of a document on "Fascism in Action" after a two-hour floor battle during which it was denounced as a "smoke screen" for Communists and hailed as a "danger signal" of right-wing extremist activities.

The action came on a voice vote after the House refused, 124 to 115, to send the authorization proposal back to the House Administration Committee for further study—a move which probably would have blocked publication during this session.

The document was compiled by the Library of Congress' legislative reference service at the request of Representative Patman (D., Texas).

Counter To Communist Study

It is designed as a counterpart to a similarly prepared treatise on "Communism in Action" which was compiled by the reference service at the request of Representative Dirksen (R., Ill.).

The new document, never made public, deals primarily with the rise of fascism and nazism in Europe.

Under the resolution, approximately 1,500 of the documents will be prepared at Government expense at a cost of about $1 each for official distribution. It does not require Senate approval.

Merits And Costs Debated

The debate stemmed around the merits, costs and demand for the document's publication—as well as whether fascism exists in this country and its dangers as compared with those of communism.

Representative Williams (D., Miss.) said the document had been "played up by the left-wing press as an expose of fascism in the United States," but that it did not mention "a single Fascist organization" in this country.

He contended that all it would do "is just take the spotlight off the Communists, which really constitutes a threat, and go into a witch hunt for Fascists."

Mrs. Norton's Views

Representative Mary Norton (D., N.J.) said, however, that "I think we probably have some fascism in this country, and we should be warned of its danger."

Representative Javits (R., N.Y.), urging "even-handed treatment for extremists on both sides," advocated publication on the grounds such treatment was given "Communism in Action."

Representative Morris (D., Okla.) agreed. He said that he was opposed to "becoming hysterical" or "going on witch hunts," but asserted that the House would be subject to criticism if it failed to give the bill similar treatment.

Representative Fulton (R., Pa.) raised the question of cost, saying that he was opposed to setting up "five-foot shelves" for each congressional committee filled with documents printed at Government expense.

U. S. STEPS UP B-29 FLIGHTS OVERSEAS

Washington, July 8 (A. P.).—The United States is stepping up the frequency of its B-29 training missions to overseas theaters to the point where superfortresses will be on hand in Europe and the Orient most of the time. This was indicated today by Major-Gen. Clements McMullen, deputy chief of the Strategic Air Command, during an interview.

He said that the big bombers will make overseas training flights a little oftener than once a month. Allowing for time spent in operational training in the occupation zones after the arrival of each mission, this suggested that the presence of the strategic bombers in those areas would be virtually continuous.

While this schedule is aimed at for the summer months, bad weather may hold down flights during the winter, McMullen explained.

The General's comments were in response to inquiries about a Frankfurt dispatch reporting that twenty-two of the giant bombers had arrived in Germany and that five others were en route. The number indicated that virtually a full group of B-29s were making this training mission less than two weeks after the departure from Germany of a squadron of nine.

LARGER FUND IS VOTED ARMY

Senate Group Boosts Sum To $5,616,618,799

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee today approved a $5,616,618,799 money bill for the War Department's fiscal 1948 expenses—plus $543,490,000 in noncash contract authorizations.

Senator Gurney (R., S.D.) said the cash outlay is only $100,172,701 less than President Truman requested in his budget estimate and is $35,636,370 more than the House approved.

Mr. Truman had asked $5,716,791,500 cash and $383,490,000 in contract authorizations, all the latter for the Air Corps.

Provides 1,100 More Planes

Gurney, chairman of the subcommittee which handled the bill, said the total increase of $599,126,376 made by the Senate committee will permit the Army to maintain 1,100 more planes than the House approved and to activate the ground and air national guard.

The planes will be of all types, he said, and the Army will be able to keep on a "ready basis" 55 of the 70 air groups for which it asked. The House action would have allowed 38 active and 18 skeletonized groups.

He said the Senate group also voted to restore approximately 10,000 of the 17,000 officers cut out by the House and 2,200 of 2,600 warrant officers.

Air Corps Profits Most

Nearly all the contract authorizations in the bill approved by the Senate committee will go to the Air Corps. It gets $497,490,000 with $25,000,000 going to the National Guard, $11,000,000 to the Signal Corps and $5,000,000 each to the engineer service and the Ordnance Department.

The principal cash appropriation increases as compared with the House-approved bill are $75,374,950 for army pay, $45,056,216 for transportation service, $85,111,083 for the Air Corps, $30,944,036 for the engineer service and $13,194,160 for barracks and quarters.

Bill For $1,674,158,631 Signed

Washington, July 8 (AP)—President Truman today signed a $1,674,158,631 bill financing the Labor Department, Federal Security Agency, National Labor Relations Board, National Mediation Board and Railroad Retirement Board.

GREEKS SIGN AID PACT

Washington, July 8 (A. P.).—Greece agreed today to conditions for receiving emergency food and other relief from the United States.

A State Department announcement said that Premier Demetrios Maximos and American American Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh signed at Athens an agreement which is virtually identical with those accepted by Austria and Italy governing their shares of the $350,000,000 relief program.

It provides for direct American supervision and control of the distribution of supplies and American approval of prices. It also calls for efforts by the Greek Government to contribute the maximum amount of local produce. Greece has agreed to permit the relief distribution to be observed freely and reported fully without censorship by American press and radio representatives.

Britain Draws On U. S. Loan

Washington, July 8 (A. P.).—The Treasury said today that Great Britain has drawn another $150,000,000 of her $3,750,000,000 loan from this country. This brings total withdrawals to $2,200,000,000 since the loan was granted one year ago, leaving Britain with $1,550,000,000 still available.

At the present rate of withdrawals, the entire fund will be exhausted within another nine months, or twenty-one months in all. Original expectations were that the fund would not be exhausted for at least three years.

Sees Contest With Russia

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio, July 8 (AP).—Equipping Latin America with United States arms will push its common people into the lap of Russia by perpetuating the dictatorships, Rayford Logan, dean of the graduate school of Howard University, asserted at the Antioch Institute of International Relations tonight.

Mr. Logan, who reported on his observations of Latin America while a war-time visitor, said a small white aristocracy in those countries ruled and scorned the rest of the people.

"In the world view," Mr. Logan observed, "the United States and Russia are wooing the billion and a half people who are under neither power. Which will succeed in gaining most support depends on which wins the rapidly growing labor movements."

Charges Army Stacks Courts

Jenner Says Lichfield Fame Lawyers Are Hampered in European Zone.

Washington, July 8 (A. P.).—Senator Jenner (R.-Ind.) contended today that "the high command in the European theater is stacking courts against defendants in courts-martial."

In a letter to Secretary of War Patterson demanding a full investigation of Army military trial procedure, Jenner offered what he said was documentary proof that:

1. "Prisoners are not being permitted to employ either civilian or military counsel of their own choice in the preparation and presentation of their defense."

2. "Every effort is being made to prevent attorneys who were connected with the infamous Lichfield prison case to practice in courts-martial in the European theater."

The Indiana Senator made public a copy of an informal routing slip which he said was signed by Brig.-Gen. Cornelius E. Ryan, assistant deputy, Military Government Headquarters for the Military Government for Germany, and written by Col. Francis H. Venderwerker.

The slip called attention to the impending arrival of Earl J. Carroll and Thomas Lester Foley, California attorneys, to act as special defense counsel for five prisoners then awaiting trial by general court-martial at Frankfurt-am-Main.

Jenner identified Carroll as counsel in the court-martial of Col. James A. Kilian in the Lichfield (England) prison brutality case.

Carroll, then an Army captain, resigned as assistant prosecutor in the Lichfield trials after asserting that a deliberate attempt was being made by Army legal authorities to whitewash higher officers in the case. Kilian was later convicted and fined.

"It is probable, in view of their past conducts, that Carroll and Foley will again use every device known to clever civilian criminal lawyers, to prolong trials unnecessarily and to introduce large masses of evidence, which are irrelevant to the issues in the trial, most seriously damaging to this command and the Army.

"It should be borne in mind that if Carroll and Foley succeeded in securing acquittals in all or some of these cases, it is probable that their services will be requested by other accused and they will seek to remain in the theater indefinitely practicing law.

"This would give Carroll and Foley a considerable advantage over other American lawyers, who are not permitted to come here to practice law and would make them semi-permanent thorns in the side of this command and theater."

'Disc' Found on Ranch Identified as Weather Balloon

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 8.—(AP) The discovery of a "flying disc" reported by an army public relations officer proved a dud today when the object was identified as a weather balloon.

Warrant Officer Irving Newton, a forecaster at the army's Eighth Air Force weather station here, said the object found near Roswell, N. M., was a ray wind target used to determine the direction and velocity of winds at high altitudes.

He said there were some 80 weather stations in the United States using this type of balloon and that it could have come from any one of them.

"We use them because they can go so much higher than the eye can see," Newton explained. A radar set is employed to follow the balloon and through a process of triangulation the winds aloft are charted, he added.

When rigged up, Newton stated, the object looks like a six-pointed star, is silvery in appearance, and rises in the air like a kite, mounted to a 100-gram balloon.

Newton said he had sent up identical balloons to this one during the invasion of Okinawa to determine ballistics information for heavy guns.

Maj. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, commander of the Eighth Air Force with headquarters here, also said in a radio broadcast tonight that the "flying disc" was a weather balloon.

He was interviewed over a Fort Worth radio station. Earlier, it was announced that he would broadcast over the National Broadcasting Company, but this was not done.

The weather device had been found three weeks previously by a New Mexico rancher, W. W. Brazell, on his property about 85 miles northwest of Roswell. Brazell, whose ranch is 30 miles from the nearest telephone and has no radio, knew nothing about flying discs when he found the broken remains of the weather device scattered over a square mile of his land.

He bundled the tinfoil and broken wooden beams of the kite and the torn synthetic rubber remains of the balloon together and rolled it under some brush, according to Major Jesse A. Marcel, Houma, La., 509th bomb group intelligence officer at Roswell, who brought the device to Fort Worth.

On a trip to town at Corona, N. M., Saturday night, Brazell heard the first reference to the "silver" flying discs, Major Marcel related.

Brazell hurried home, dug up the remnants of the kite and balloon on Sunday and Monday headed for Roswell to report his find to the sheriff's office.

This resulted in a call to Roswell army air field and to Major Marcel's being assigned to the case. Marcel and Brazell journeyed back to the ranch, where Marcel took the object into the custody of the army.

After Col. William H. Blanchard, 509th commanding officer, reported the incident to General Ramey, he was ordered to dispatch the object to Forth Worth army air field immediately.

At that time, Lt. Warren Haught, public information officer at the Roswell Field announced that a "flying disc" had come into possession of the army air forces.

Lt. Haught said in a statement to newsmen that "the many rumors regarding the flying disc became a reality yesterday when the intelligence office of the 509th (atomic) bomb group of the Eighth air force, Roswell army airfield, was fortunate enough to gain possession of a disc through cooperation of one of the local ranchers and the sheriff's office."

Carolina Joins In The 'Flying Saucer' Jag

[By the Associated Press]

America's "flying-saucer" jag reeled on today. Stiff necks and goggle eyes were the order of the day. Sky watching was a new profession.

North Carolina joined the disk parade.

For the first time the disks were reported whirling through the atmosphere over Asheville in western North Carolina and over Greensboro and Raleigh in the north central portion.

As reports continued to pour in from all over the nation, tabulators ran the tally of states in which the saucers had been seen to 44. Observers in the District of Columbia and Canada also said they had sighted the mysterious objects.

Few Skies Clear

The only states whose skies were still clear of the disks were Nevada, Mississippi, New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

Explanations—Take your choice: They were radio-controlled flying missiles sent aloft by United States military scientists. Or they were merely light reflected on wing tanks of jet-propelled planes. Or—

No one knew for sure.

The World Inventors Congress posted $1,000 for delivery of a flying disk to the exposition which opens in Los Angeles on July 11.

Could they be spotted by radar?

Mass Hops Planned

A spokesman for the Army Air Forces said in Washington that no attempt had been made to spot the spinning, flying, whirling disks because there was not enough equipment to blanket the nation.

Lieut. Col. Harry W. Schaefer, of the Wisconsin Civil Air Patrol, announced in Milwaukee his group planned to conduct a series of mass flights in hopes of learning something about the flying objects.

RUSSIA DEMANDS ANGLO-U.S. TROOPS GET OUT OF GREECE

Tells UN Situation Is Result of British, American Interference.

ASSAILS GREEK RULE

Rejects Report Blaming Red Satellites for Border Disorders.

LAKE SUCCESS, July 8—(AP) Russia late today charged that the situation in Greece was the result of American and British interference and demanded that the United Nations order foreign military personnel off Greek soil.

The Soviet Union also called for U.N. supervision of all economic aid to Greece in a renewed attempt to place the American program of direct support under international control.

"Direct intervention through the presence of foreign troops has been supplemented lately by new forms of intervention in sending to Greece so-called military instructors and in supplying war equipment," Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Cromyko said in his new attack on the American aid program.

Rejects UN Report

Rejecting a U.N. report blaming Soviet Balkan satellites for the Greek border disorders, Gromyko said the Greek government alone was at fault.

Gromyko put forward the Russian rebuttal to a majority report of a Balkan investigating commission in a 78-minute speech, one of the longest ever delivered to the Security Council.

He asked the council to reverse on-the-spot findings and rule Greece guilty of provoking disturbances with Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria.

Gromyko's speech and translations took up the entire afternoon meeting and the council adjourned at 6:42 p.m. (EST) until Thursday when delegates will resume debate on a global police force, a governor for Trieste, and the Balkans.

Gromyko said without qualification that Russia could not accept an American resolution, growing out of the commission report, for establishment of a semi-permanent U.N. watch along the troubled frontiers. American Delegate Warren R. Austin previously had said that nothing less than the border watch would solve the problem and Gromyko thus gave the strongest indications that he would veto the project.

Gromyko gave no figures on military personnel, but a Greek source said there were only about 6,000 foreign troops there now. These were said to be mostly British with the others American training groups.

Regarding American aid, Gromyko asked the council to pass this paragraph:

Seeks UN Supervision

"For the purpose of providing the proper use of foreign economic aid granted to Greece, the Security Council resolves to establish a special commission which through the proper supervision would guarantee the use of such aid only in the interests of the Greek people."

Gromyko's resolution, running almost directly opposite to the commission report, would make these findings:

1. Greek authorities are responsible for the incidents on the frontiers with Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

2. The internal situation in Greece, characterized by a struggle between the Greek people and anti-democratic forces grouped around the present Greek government, is the main factor bringing about the tense situation.

3. The existing situation in Greece is to a considerable degree the consequence of foreign interference into the internal affairs of Greece.

Looking toward a solution, he said Greece should take measures to stop border incidents, establish normal diplomatic relations with her three accused neighbors, and conclude bilateral frontier conventions with the other three Balkan governments.

Gromyko's speech climaxed one of busiest days in U.N. history. A packed chamber of spectators and correspondents, including Editor Henry A. Wallace of New Republic Magazine, listened.

Earlier, Gromyko withheld the veto in losing a major battle over the approach to the questions of world-wide arms reduction. However, he announced curtly after the vote that Russia would not comply with the majority decision and in future arms talks would be guided by her own rejected plan.

Reds Adamant on Arms

Gromyko insisted to the end that the Council should accept the Soviet plan linking arms reduction questions directly with proposals for prohibition of atomic weapons. The plan adopted, however, was broad and provided a wide approach with a provision for safeguards as the only specific item.

During his Balkan speech Gromyko declared the conclusions drawn by the American delegate "do not prove anything, with whatever shrill phrases he interspersed his statement."

He also accused American representatives of coming to the council "with ready-made resolutions in their brief cases" and without waiting for consideration of the commission report.

Gromyko's speech left the council farther than ever from a solution to the turbulent Balkan situation. In addition to the American resolution, which generally wraps up the commission's majority report, the council must now consider the lengthy Russian motion, which contains the arguments constantly made by Russia and Poland.

U.S. Arms Plan Okayed Despite Russ Stand

Lake Success, July 8 (AP)—Russia lost another round today in her continuing fight to link general arms reduction questions directly with the proposed prohibition of atomic weapons, but told the United Nations Security Council that she would not comply with its majority decision.

The big-power veto was not invoked as the Council approved an American-sponsored blueprint for arms discussions despite Russian insistence that the plan would bring about a collapse of arms regulation efforts.

The vote was 9 to 0, with Russia and Poland abstaining.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko gave his warning before the United Nations Security Council in a new effort to revive the Soviet working plan which had already been rejected by the commission for conventional armaments.

Challenge Taken Up

His challenge was taken up promptly by French Delegate Alexandre Parodi and United States Representative Herschel V. Johnson, who announced their opposition to any substitute for the American plan.

Gromyko insisted that no program for arms regulation could succeed unless the plan was linked directly with an absolute prohibition of atomic weapons.

Gromyko opened debate on the arms question as delegates awaited another major declaration from him later in the day in reply to United States and British demands for action to restore order in the critical Balkan situation.

Delegates agreed they were approaching perhaps the gravest moment in United Nations history.

In his arms speech, Gromyko declared that failure to combine arms reduction with the prohibition of atomic weapons "would bring about the collapse of arms reduction."

U.S. Program Not A "Plan"

He said the United States program was not a plan but merely a document outlining a series of broad generalizations. The Soviet proposals, on the other hand, he said, offered specific points which should be dealt with, such as the regulation of war production, distribution of armed forces and military transport.

"It is obvious," Gromyko added, "that the commission cannot work out a plan without linking it to atomic control."

This is directly contrary to the main principle of the United States plan, which provides that all atomic problems should be handled by the Atomic Energy Commission and not by the Commission for Conventional Armaments.

A big question was whether Gromyko would invoke the veto to block an American proposal to set up a United Nations watch along Greece's northern border. Some delegates expressed belief Gromyko might give a definite answer to this question.

In view of their position, it appeared certain that a Soviet veto would provoke the worst crisis yet faced by the United Nations.

Attack On Greece

The nature of Gromyko's statement on the Balkans was carefully guarded, but his associates disclosed that he would speak in Russian, which, in recent months, he has reserved for major declarations.

There was little doubt that Gromyko would defend the three Soviet satellites—Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia—against charges that they were largely to blame for the Balkan troubles. He was also expected to deliver a vigorous attack on Greece.

On the question of the proposed commission to watch over the border area, the only indication of Gromyko's position was found in the action of the Soviet representative on the Balkan investigating commission. During the commission's debate, Russia voted against a proposal similar to that offered by the United States.

Some delegates felt, however, that Gromyko, realizing the seriousness of the situation, might be content to register an objection to the establishment of a Balkan watch and then abstain from voting, as he has on many other occasions.

Another item on the agenda for today was action on applications for United Nations membership resubmitted by Albania, Outer Mongolia, Portugal, Ireland and Trans-Jordan.

Wallace Hears Gromyko On Visit To Lake Success

Lake Success, N.Y., July 8 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, editor of New Republic magazine, sat through a 78-minute Russian speech today in his first appearance as a visiting press correspondent at United Nations headquarters.

Along with other correspondents, the former vice president was provided with an unofficial English translation passed around the press gallery, page by page, as it became available during the long Balkan policy speech by Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister.

Wallace declined to comment afterward, declaring: "This is my first visit. I'm still getting my bearings."

Promises To Return

He said he would be back again but made no application for accreditation as a correspondent. Wallace was handled as a visiting member of the press.

During the speech, Wallace lounged with his chin cupped in his hands. He took no notes.

Wallace said he came here to look around and gather material for articles and that it was just a coincidence that he happened to select the day when Gromyko was making a major speech on the Balkan situation in the Security Council.

He was greeted in the delegates' lounge by Gromyko and Herschel V. Johnson, deputy American delegate. They repeatedly shook hands for photographers and chatted for about ten minutes.

Offers Vitamin Pill

Wallace asked the Russian delegate about Mrs. Gromyko and said he had some new vitamin pills he would like to have her try out. Gromyko agreed that the last ones Wallace gave his wife were very beneficial.

Wallace said arlier that he knew Gromyko very well from his Washington days when Wallace was Secretary of Agriculture and Vice President and Bromyko was Ambassador to the United States.

Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate, also shook hands with Wallace and remarked that the United States apparently was inaugurating the British custom of having "the leader of the opposition on hand."

WALLACE VISITS UN AS CORRESPONDENT

LAKE SUCCESS, July 8 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, editor of New Republic magazine, visited the United Nations for the first time today as a working press correspondent.

The former vice-president said he was here to look around and gather material for articles. He said it was just a coincidence that he happened to select the day when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was delivering a major speech on the Balkan situation.

"It just happens to be a little more dramatic than usual today," Wallace said.

PARIS, JULY 8-(AP)-BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN SAID TODAY THE MARSHALL AID-TO-EUROPE PROPOSAL MIGHT YET MAKE THE GREATEST CONTRIBUTION TO INTERNATIONAL AMITY, BUT INDICATIONS FROM THE EAST ERE THAT STATES IN THE SOVIET ORBIT, WITH ONE EXCEPTION, WOULD STAY AWAY FROM THE PARIS CONFERENCEHON THE PROGRAM.

BEVIN INDICATED IN AN ADDRESS IN LONDON THAT THE DOOR STILL WAS OPEN TO RUSSIA TO JOIN IN IMPLEMENTING THE MARSHALL PROGRAM. HE SAID THE PROGRAM WAS PURELY AN ECONOMIC ONE AND ADDED THAT PREJUDICES, "EITHER RELIGIOUS OR IDEOLOGICAL," SHOULD BE RULED OUT OF THE DISCUSSIONS.

ROMANIA, POLAND AND YUGOSLAVIA WERE REPORTED PLANNING TO AVOID THE MEETING. ALBANIAN, BULGARIAN AND HUNGARIAN CIRCLES IN LONDON FELT THAT THOSE THREE STATES, ALSO, WOULD STAY AWAY.

FINLAND HAS INDICATED THAT "GEOGRAPHICAL AND POLITICAL REASONS MAY KEEP HER AWAY FROM PARIS, BUT FINNISH POLITICIANS FELT THAT CABINET DISCUSSIONS NOW UNDER WAY IN HELSINKI MIGHT RESULT IN SENDING AN OBSERVER TO THE TALKS.

NORWAY, DENMARK AND SWEDEN WILL CONFER TOMORROW IN COPENHAGEN TO DETERMINE THEIR JOINT ATTITUDE TOWARD THE PROPOSAL ADVANCED BY U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL IN A JUNE 5 SPEECH AT HARVARD UNIVERSITY. THE THREE SCANDINAVIAN NATIONS WILL JOIN IN THE PARIS TALKS, THEIR LONDON DIPLOMATIC REPRESENTATIVES SAID, IF CONVINCED THE PROGRAM WOULD NOT LEAD TO A DIVISION OF EUROPE.

SWITZERLAND'S FEDERAL COUNCIL TODAY ACCEPTED THE INVITATION IN PRINCIPLE.

IN ROME, ITALIAN FOREIGN MINISTER CARLO SFORZA WAS REPORTED TO HAVE ESTIMATED AT 350,000,000 THE NUMBER OF EUROPEANS WHO WOULD NEED AID UNDER THE MARSHALL PLAN. THE SOVIET NEWS AGENCY TASS, QUOTED ON A MOSCOW RADIO BROADCAST HEARD EARLY TODAY IN LONDON, SAID ROMANIA, POLAND AND YUGOSLAVIA WOULD NOT TAKE PART IN THE PARIS MEETING.

IN A BUCHAREST DISPATCH, TASS SAID THE ROMANIAN GOVERNMENT HAD DECIDED NOT TO JOIN THE CONFERENCE. UNDER A PARIS DATELINE, THE AGENCY DECLARED THAT POLAND AND YUGOSLAVIA WOULD BE GLAD TO ACCEPT U. S. CREDITS BUT "PREFER TO HAVE RELATIONS DIRECTLY WITH CREDITORS IF POSSIBLE AND WITHOUT INTERMEDIARIES."

SEMI-OFFICIAL PRAGUE SOURCES SAID YESTERDAY THE CZECHOSLOVAK GOVERNMENT HAD DECIDED TO AUTHORIZE JINDRICH MOSEK, AMBASSADOR TO PARIS, TO PARTICIPATE IN THE MEETING.

THE COUNTRY'S PREMIER, KLEMENT GOTTWALD, A COMMUNIST, AND FOREIGN MINISTER JAN MASARYK ARE EXPECTED TO BE IN MOSCOW AT THE TIME.

THE FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTRY YESTERDAY BANNED FURTHER ANNOUNCEMENTS OF ACCEPTANCES UNTIL ALL INVITED NATIONS SHOULD HAVE BEEN HEARD FROM -- THE INVITATIONS GAVE THEM TILL THURSDAY TO REPLY. ONE OFFICIAL, POINTING OUT THAT SO FAR ONLY WESTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES HAD ACCEPTED OFFICIALLY, SAID FRANCE WANTED TO AVOID CREATING THE IMPRESSION THAT A WESTERN BLOC WAS BEING FORMED, FOR FEAR THIS WOULD HAMPER CONTINENT-WIDE COOPERATION.

LATER BOTH THE NETHERLANDS AND ICELAND ANNOUNCED THAT THEY WOULD BE REPRESENTED.

THE HUNGARIAN GOVERNMENT, SAID A TRUSTWORTHY BUDAPEST INFORMANT, WAS SCHEDULED TO CONSIDER TODAY A PETITION DRAWN UP BY SOME MEMBERS SEEKING THE CONSENT OF THE ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL TO HUNGARY'S TAKING PART IN THE CONFERENCE. in a press statement, the ministry said investigations of the "blue plan," which if successful would have reached its climax today with four columns of troops striking paris, revealed the revolutionaries planned to capitalize on the bitterness certain maqui elements held for each other.

since the war, the statement said, many former maquis, french war-time underground fighters, have developed either anti-communist or communist sentiments. the blue plan called for provoking these feelings into uprisings that would have thrown the provinces into turmoil and left them open for armed intervention.

the government has announced the arrest of several persons, including [redacted], in the suppression of the plot.

"most of the arrested members of the plan that was localized in lamballe, brittany, [redacted], have confessed," the statement said. it added that many of them revealed the identities of their accomplices.

six days before "j day," the statement said, the blue plan called for a series of attacks against leading former maquis members to provoke disturbances. then, three days before j day the revolutionists were to strike vannes prison and release several underground fighters now held there. on j day, attacks would have been made throughout brittany and the whole sector would have been thrown into complete disorder.

the plan then called for attacking ammunition dumps and obtaining tanks and other equipment the united states army [redacted] turned over to the french after the war. from these dumps the revolutionists planned to equip their forces and supply four columns, three infantry and one armored, to attack the french capital.

IN ADDITION TO AGRICULTURAL AND INDUSTRIAL GAINS, THE PLANNING COMMISSION REPORTED IMPROVED PERFORMANCE IN ALL BRANCHES OF TRANSPORT.

IT SAID THAT THE PLAN FOR THE SPRING SOWING OF GRAINS HAD BEEN FULFILLED AND THAT PRODUCTION IN THE FOOD INDUSTRY FOR THE QUARTER TOPPED THE GOAL BY 10 PERCENT.

THE STATISTICS SHOWED RAPID IMPROVEMENT IN THE STANDARD OF LIVING. THE TEXTILE AND LIGHT INDUSTRIES WERE REPORTED TO HAVE UPPED PRODUCTION 29 PERCENT OVER THE SECOND QUARTER OF 1946. RETAIL TRADE WAS SAID TO HAVE INCREASED 21 PERCENT, MEASURED BY COMPARABLE PRICES. HOUSING CONSTRUCTION WAS UP 14 PERCENT THE FIRST HALF OF THIS YEAR FROM THE FIRST HALF OF LAST, THE COMMISSION SAID.

THE COMMISSION REPORTED 26 OUT OF 30 INDUSTRIES EXCEEDED THEIR OBJECTIVES FOR THE SECOND QUARTER. THE MARGINS OF EXCESS INCLUDED: MEDICAL 29 PERCENT, CHEMICAL 15 PERCENT, ELECTRICAL 13 PERCENT, RUBBER 14 PERCENT, BUILDING AND ROADLAYING 13 PERCENT, COAL TWO PERCENT, HEAVY ENGINEERING FIVE PERCENT, MACHINE TOOLS FIVE PERCENT.

WHILE THE OVERALL PICTURE GIVEN IN THE COMMISSION'S COMMUNIQUE WAS ONE FILLED WITH WIDE SUCCESSES FOR THE SOVIET UNION'S ECONOMIC PROGRAM, THERE WERE SOME NEGATIVE ASPECTS. AN EDITORIAL IN IZVESTIA, GOVERNMENT ORGAN, SAID TODAY THAT THE CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY, "WHICH PRESENTLY IS NOT REALIZING FULFILLMENT OF THE PLAN, MUST BASICALLY IMPROVE THE ORGANIZATION AND LABOR OF CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS."

IZVESTIA ALSO SAID THAT CERTAIN BRANCHES OF INDUSTRY, DESPITE THE FULFILLMENT OF THE PLAN IN THE SECOND QUARTER, MUST "LIQUIDATE INDEBTEDNESS" AS A RESULT OF FAILURE TO FULFILL THE PLAN IN THE FIRST

30. 94- 10813

QUARTER OF 1947. AMONG SUCH INDUSTRIES, IZVESTIA SAID, WERE COAL, FERROUS METALLURGY, TIMBER, AND FARM MACHINERY.

FIGURES ON HOUSING CONSTRUCTION FOR THE FIRST HALF OF 1947 GIVEN IN THE PLANNING COMMISSION'S COMMUNIQUE SHOWED THAT ONLY A FRACTION OF THE COMMISSION'S BUILDING AND RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM FOR 1947 HAD BEEN COMPLETED.

THE SOVIET OIL INDUSTRY MORE THAN FULFILLED ITS QUOTA. PRODUCTION FOR THE SECOND QUARTER WAS 18 PER CENT OVER THE SAME PERIOD LAST YEAR. THE COAL INDUSTRY ALSO MORE THAN FULFILLED ITS PROGRAM, WITH PRODUCTION 11 PER CENT OVER THE SECOND QUARTER OF 1946. STEEL OUTPUT WAS UP ONLY EIGHT PER CENT, AND PIG IRON WAS UP 12 PER CENT. PROGRESS MADE IN FERROUS METALLURGY WAS STEADY BUT NOT SPECTACULAR.

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE GOVERNMENT INFORMATION OFFICE ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE INSTRUCTION HAD COME OUT BUT DENIED IT CONSTITUTED A MOVE TOWARD RETURN OF CENSORSHIP IN CHINA AS PREDICTED BY VARIOUS CHINESE DAILIES RECENTLY.

HOST QUARTERS IN SHANGHAI AND NANKING TAKE IT FOR GRANTED THAT THE AMERICAN EMBASSY HAS BEEN TRYING TO INDUCE CHIANG TO CARRY OUT A REAL OVERHAUL OF HIS GOVERNMENT. WHAT FORM THIS HAS TAKEN IS NOT KNOWN, BUT IT IS BELIEVED AMBASSADOR J.LEIGHTON STUART HAS TRIED DELICATELY TO CONVINCE CHIANG OF THE NECESSITY FOR GOVERNMENTAL REVISION. THE EMBASSY HAS REMAINED SILENT ON THE SUBJECT.

THE SITUATION POSES A DILEMNA FOR CHINA'S CHIEF OF STATE. HE HAS ALWAYS BEEN LOYAL TO HIS LONG-TIME FRIENDS AND ASSOCIATES. BUT IF HE CARRIES OUT A "PURGE," HE WILL HAVE TO WEED OUT THE VERY ELEMENTS ON WHICH HIS STRENGTH AND POWER SO LARGELY REST.

THERE IS GOOD REASON TO BELIEVE AMERICAN EFFORTS TO INDUCE CHIANG TO OVERHAUL HIS GOVERNMENT--AND THE PROSPECTS THEY OFFER OF SUCCESS OR FAILURE--WILL BE AMONG SUBJECTS WHICH SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL WILL DISCUSS WITH WALTON BUTTERWORTH, AMERICAN MINISTER TO CHINA. BUTTERWORTH IS DUE IN WASHINGTON WEDNESDAY OR THURSDAY ON SPECIAL SUMMONS FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

BY MAX HARRELSON

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 8-(AP)-RUSSIA WAS REPORTED READY TODAY TO DELIVER A MAJOR DECLARATION IN REPLY TO UNITED STATES AND BRITISH DEMANDS FOR UNITED NATIONS ACTION TO RESTORE ORDER IN THE CRITICAL BALKAN SITUATION.

DELEGATES TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL AGREED THEY WERE APPROACHING PERHAPS THE GRAVEST MOMENT IN U.N. HISTORY AS THEY PREPARED TO MEET AT 10:30 A.M. (EDT) AND AGAIN AT 3 P.M. FOR A FULL DAY'S DEBATE ON THIS AND SEVERAL OTHER PROBLEMS.

THE BIG QUESTION WAS WHETHER SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A.GROMYKO WOULD INVOKE THE VETO TO BLOCK AN AMERICAN PROPOSAL TO SET UP A U.N. WATCH ALONG GREECE'S NORTHERN BORDER. SOME DELEGATES EXPRESSED BELIEF GROMYKO MIGHT GIVE A DEFINITE ANSWER TO THIS QUESTION.

BRITISH DELEGATE SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN ALREADY HAS DECLARED THAT IF THE SECURITY COUNCIL COULD NOT SOLVE THE BALKAN PROBLEM, THE UNITED NATIONS MIGHT AS WELL "PACK UP "AND DISBAND. U.S. REPRESENTATIVE WARREN R.AUSTIN WAS EQUALLY INSISTENT THAT THE COUNCIL TAKE SOME ACTION -- FORCE IF NECESSARY.

IN VIEW OF THEIR POSITION, IT APPEARED CERTAIN THAT A SOVIET VETO WOULD PROVOKE THE WORST CRISIS YET FACED BY THE U.N.

THE NATURE OF GROMYKO'S STATEMENT WAS CAREFULLY GUARDED, BUT HIS ASSOCIATES DISCLOSED THAT HE WOULD SPEAK IN RUSSIAN, WHICH IN RECENT MONTHS HE HAS RESERVED FOR MAJOR DECLARATIONS.

THERE WAS LITTLE DOUBT THAT GROMYKO WOULD DEFEND THE THREE SOVIET SATELLITES -- ALBANIA, BULGARIA AND YUGOSLAVIA -- AGAINST CHARGES THAT THEY WERE LARGELY TO BLAME FOR THE BALKAN TROUBLES. HE ALSO WAS EXPECTED TO DELIVER A VIGOROUS ATTACK ON GREECE.

ON THE QUESTION OF THE PROPOSED COMMISSION TO WATCH OVER THE BORDER AREA, THE ONLY INDICATION OF GROMYKO'S POSITION WAS FOUND IN THE ACTION OF THE SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE ON THE BALKAN INVESTIGATING COMMISSION. DURING THE COMMISSION'S DEBATE, RUSSIA VOTED AGAINST A PROPOSAL SIMILAR TO THAT OFFERED BY THE UNITED STATES.

SOME DELEGATES FELT, HOWEVER, THAT GROMYKO, REALIZING THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE SITUATION, MIGHT BE CONTENT TO REGISTER AN OBJECTION TO THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A BALKAN WATCH AND THEN ABSTAIN FROM VOTING, AS HE HAS ON MANY OTHER OCCASIONS.

WHILE TWO OTHER QUESTIONS WERE ON TODAY'S AGENDA AHEAD OF THE BALKAN QUESTION, THE DELEGATES FOCUSED THEIR ATTENTION PRIMARILY ON THE AFTERNOON SESSION, WHEN GROMYKO WAS SCHEDULED TO SPEAK.

1947 JUL

A20

THE OTHER ITEMS ON THE PROGRAM WERE:

1. ACTION ON A WORKING PLAN FOR ARMS REDUCTION, SUBMITTED BY THE U.N. COMMISSION FOR CONVENTIONAL ARMAMENT FOR THE COUNCIL'S APPROVAL.

2. APPLICATIONS FOR U.N. MEMBERSHIP RE-SUBMITTED BY ALBANIA, OUTER MONGOLIA, PORTUGAL, IRELAND AND TRANSJORDAN.

RUSSIA HAS INDICATED THAT SHE MIGHT VETO THE ARMS COMMISSION'S PLAN, WHEN IT COMES TO A VOTE, BUT SOME DELEGATES FELT ACTION MIGHT BE DEFERRED TODAY.

THE COUNCIL WAS EXPECTED TO REFER THE MEMBERSHIP APPLICATIONS TO A SPECIAL MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE FOR CONSIDERATION ALONG WITH APPLICATIONS FROM HUNGARY, ITALY, AUSTRIA, SAN MARINO AND OTHERS WHICH MAY COME IN WITHIN THE NEXT FEW WEEKS.

ML348AED JUL 1947

GROMYKO REPEATED HIS OLD CHARGE THAT THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A BORDER COMMISSION WAS AN ATTEMPT "TO BUILD A SCREEN HIDING THE FOREIGN INTERVENTION ON THE PART OF CERTAIN POWERS INTO THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF GREECE."

HE DENIED THAT THE OPPOSITION TO THE ATHENS GOVERNMENT INSIDE GREECE WAS COMING EXCLUSIVELY FROM COMMUNISTS.

"IN REALITY, DEMOCRATIC GREECE IS FIGHTING AGAINST ANTI-DEMOCRATIC GREECE," HE SAID. "THE YELLING ABOUT THE RED DANGER IS AIMED AT HIDING FROM WORLD OPINION THE REAL DANGER OF THE EVENTS TAKING PLACE IN GREECE. THIS SHOULD BE SAID NOT ONLY TO THE GREEKS BUT TO THOSE GENTLEMEN ABROAD WHO SUFFER UNDER COLOR-BLINDNESS AND CANNOT DISTINGUISH POLITICAL COLORS."

GROMYKO'S SPEECH LEFT THE COUNCIL FARTHER THAN EVER FROM A SOLUTION TO THE TURBULENT BALKAN SITUATION. IN ADDITION TO THE AMERICAN RESOLUTION, WHICH GENERALLY WRAPS UP THE COMMISSION'S MAJORITY REPORT, THE COUNCIL MUST NOW CONSIDER THE LENGTHY RUSSIAN MOTION, WHICH CONTAINS THE ARGUMENTS CONSTANTLY MADE BY RUSSIA AND POLAND.

A115WX (FARLEY ADV)

(600) (ADVANCE FOR AMS OF FRIDAY JULY 11--NOTE RELEASE DATE)

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON,JULY 10-(AP)-JAMES A.FARLEY SAID TODAY THE LATE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT INSISTED ON HENRY A.WALLACE AS HIS RUNNING MATE IN 1940 OVER THE PROTESTS OF FARLEY, MRS.ROOSEVELT AND THE ROOSEVELT SONS, ELLIOTT AND FRANKLIN, JR.

IN THE FIFTH AND LAST OF A SERIES OF ARTICLES IN COLLIER'S ON WHY HE BROKE WITH THE NEW DEAL PRESIDENT, FARLEY REPORTED THAT CORDELL HULL, THEN SECRETARY OF STATE; JESSE H.JONES, THEN CHAIRMAN OF THE RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION, OR PAUL MCNUTT, AN AVOWED VICE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE, COULD HAVE BEEN NOMINATED FOR SECOND PLACE.

BUT HE WROTE THAT HULL DIDN'T WANT THE NOMINATION, JONES DECIDED OF HIS OWN ACCORD TO WITHDRAW HIS NAME FROM A LIST OF 17 POTENTIAL CANDIDATES, AND MCNUTT WITHDREW "AT THE REQUEST OF THE PRESIDENT."

FARLEY SAID HE WENT TO THE 1940 CONVENTION DETERMINED TO LET HIS NAME BE PLACED IN NOMINATION FOR THE PRESIDENCY, NOT BECAUSE HE BELIEVED HE COULD WIN, BUT TO EXPRESS HIS OPPOSITION TO A THIRD TERM.

HE ACCUSED JAMES F.BYRNES AND THE LATE HENRY L.HOPKINS OF "TRYING TO MAKE IT APPEAR THAT THE PRESIDENT WAS BEING DRAFTED, WHEN EVERYONE KNEW IT WAS A 'FORCED DRAFT' FIRED FROM THE WHITE HOUSE ITSELF."

AFTER ROOSEVELT HAD BEEN NOMINATED, HE CALLED FARLEY AND TOLD HIM HE HAD DECIDED ON WALLACE AS HIS RUNNING MATE, WROTE THE FORMER DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CHAIRMAN AND POSTMASTER GENERAL. FARLEY SAID HE REPLIED THAT HE HAD A PERSONAL REGARD FOR WALLACE'S QUALITIES BUT "THE PEOPLE LOOK ON HIM AS A MYSTIC AND I THINK YOU'LL REGRET IT."

"HE'S NOT A MYSTIC," ROOSEVELT SNAPPED. "HE'S A PHILOSOPHER. HE'S GOT IDEAS. HE THINKS RIGHT. HE'LL HELP THE PEOPLE THINK."

FARLEY SAID HE TOLD THE PRESIDENT THAT JESSE JONES WAS HIS CHOICE, THAT HE WOULD "OFFSET THE LACK OF BUSINESS SUPPORT, BIG AND LITTLE, WHICH WILL COME IF WALLACE SHOULD BE THE NOMINEE." THE PRESIDENT WAS SILENT.

LATER, FARLEY RECOUNTED, ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT CAME TO HIM "TO SAY HE THOUGHT IT WOULD BE A GREAT MISTAKE TO NOMINATE WALLACE."

ELLIOTT PROMISED TO SECOND JONES IF FARLEY NOMINATED HIM.

FARLEY MET MRS.ROOSEVELT AT THE CHICAGO AIRPORT WHERE, HE SAID, SHE AND HER SON FRANKLIN, JR., AGREED THAT IT "WAS A MISTAKE TO NOMINATE WALLACE." LATER, AT HER HOTEL, FARLEY SAID MRS.ROOSEVELT HAD THE FOLLOWING TELEPHONE CONVERSATION WITH THE PRESIDENT:

JUL 1947

"FRANKLIN, I'VE BEEN TALKING WITH JIM FARLEY AND I AGREE WITH HIM HENRY WALLACE WON'T DO. I KNOW, FRANKLIN, BUT JESSE WOULD BOLSTER THE TICKET, WIN IT BUSINESS SUPPORT AND GET THE PARTY CONTRIBUTIONS."

THE PRESIDENT ASKED THAT FARLEY BE PUT ON THE PHONE. "I'VE GIVEN MY WORD TO WALLACE, JIM," HE QUOTED THE PRESIDENT. "WHAT DO YOU DO WHEN YOU GIVE YOUR WORD?"

"I KEEP IT," FARLEY SAID HE REPLIED, BUT FELT HE HAD ANSWERED "PERHAPS TOO QUICKLY AND TOO SHARPLY." JUL 1947

WHEN THE SECOND PLACE RACE WAS NARROWED DOWN TO THE LATE SPEAKER BANKHEAD, WALLACE AND MCNUTT, FARLEY SAID, MCNUTT COULD HAVE BEEN NOMINATED BECAUSE THE DELEGATES "DID NOT WANT WALLACE," BUT THE INDIANAN WITHDREW AT THE PRESIDENT'S URGING.

WALLACE FINALLY WAS NOMINATED BY 627 OUT OF 1,100 VOTES, BUT ROOSEVELT DISCARDED HIM FOR HARRY S.TRUMAN IN 1944. FARLEY RESIGNED FROM BOTH CABINET AND PARTY JOBS IN AUGUST, 1940. BEFORE HE LEFT WASHINGTON HE TALKED WITH HULL ABOUT THE CONVENTION. HE SAID THIS CONVERSATION TOOK PLACE:

HULL: "I THINK I WAS TREATED UNFAIRLY BY THE FELLOW IN HIS NOT LETTING MY NAME GO BEFORE THE CONVENTION. (FARLEY PREVIOUSLY HAD WRITTEN THAT HULL COULD HAVE BEEN NOMINATED FOR THE PRESIDENCY AND ELECTED). THAT IS NOT SO BAD AS THE FACT THAT I HAVE RECEIVED NO RECOGNITION FOR WHAT I HAVE DONE AS SECRETARY OF STATE IN A MOST TRYING AND MOST VITAL PERIOD OF THIS COUNTRY'S HISTORY."

FARLEY: "WHAT ABOUT THE VICE PRESIDENCY?"

HULL: "OH, THAT! HE TRIED EVERYTHING HE COULD THINK OF TO GET ME TO TAKE IT. HE ARGUED AND SMILED. THEN HE SMILED AND ARGUED. I SAID, 'NO, BY GOD! AND 'BY GOD, NO! AND THAT'S ALL THERE WAS TO IT. I FELT HE WAS TRYING TO KICK ME UPSTAIRS. I'D RATHER GO."

AFTER THE ELECTION, FARLEY SAID HE WROTE THE PRESIDENT A LETTER OF CONGRATULATION AND RECEIVED A REPLY WHICH WAS UNSIGNED EXCEPT FOR THE TYPEWRITTEN INITIALS "F.D.R."

"LATER I LEARNED," FARLEY WROTE, "THAT THE PRESIDENT HAD DELIBERATELY CHOSEN TO LET IT GO UNSIGNED."

WASHINGTON,JULY 8-(AP)-A "FLYING DISC" WAS REPORTED FOUND TODAY IN NEW MEXICO BUT ARMY AIR FORCES HEADQUARTERS HERE ISN'T SURE THE MYSTERY PLAGUING THE NATION HAS BEEN SOLVED AFTER ALL.

THE ARMY SAID IT MIGHT TURN OUT TO BE ONLY A WEATHER INSTRUMENT. ANYHOW BRIG.GEN.ROGER RAMEY REPORTED THAT THE BATTERED, FLIMSY OBJECT IS BEING SENT BY AIR TO WRIGHT FIELD,OHIO, THE AAF RESEARCH CENTER, FOR EXAMINATION.

THE AAF AT ROSWELL,N.M., ANNOUNCED THE DISCOVERY HAD BEEN MADE ON A RANCH NEAR ROSWELL, CLIMAXING WEEKS OF REPORTS OVER THE COUNTRY OF STRANGE CIRCULAR DISCS SEEN SKIMMING AT HIGH SPEED.

AAF HEADQUARTERS, AFTER TELEPHONIC CONSULTATION WITH OFFICERS AT ROSWELL WHO HAVE SEEN THE MATERIAL, SAID THIS:

"THERE IS A STRONG OPINION BY OFFICERS WHO SAW THE OBJECT, AFTER CONSULTING WITH WEATHER EXPERTS, THAT IT MAY BE A METEOROLOGICAL DEVICE.

"THERE IS SOME INDICATION THAT THE OBJECT MIGHT HAVE BEEN ATTACHED

THE MATERIAL HAD BEEN DESCRIBED AS OF FLIMSY CONSTRUCTION, ABOUT 25 FEET IN DIAMETER, COVERED WITH A TINFOIL-LIKE SUBSTANCE AND BUILT ON A FRAMEWORK OF LIGHT WOOD.

RAMEY, COMMANDER OF THE EIGHTH AIR FORCE WITH HEADQUARTERS AT FORT WORTH, RECEIVED THE OBJECT FROM THE ROSWELL ARMY AIR BASE.

IN TALKING BY TELEPHONE TO AAF HEADQUARTERS AT WASHINGTON, RAMEY DESCRIBED THE OBJECT AS OF "FLIMSY CONSTRUCTION, ALMOST LIKE A BOX KITE." IT WAS SO BADLY BATTERED THAT RAMEY WAS UNABLE TO SAY WHETHER IT HAD A DISC FORM. HE DID NOT INDICATE THE SIZE OF THE OBJECT.

THE OBJECT, AFTER BEING FOUND BY THE RANCHER, WAS TURNED OVER TO THE 509TH ARMORED GROUP AT ROSWELL AIRFIELD.

PHILIPPINE ECONOMY

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, JULY 8-(AP)-THE JOINT PHILIPPINE - AMERICAN FINANCE COMMISSION TODAY RECOMMENDED HIGHER TAXES AND A CAMPAIGN AGAINST TAX EVASION AS PART OF A BROAD PROGRAM FOR STRENGTHENING THE ECONOMY OF THE NEW PHILIPPINE REPUBLIC.

THE COMMISSION REPORTED THAT IF THE SUBSTANCE OF THE PROGRAM IS ADOPTED THE PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT WILL NOT REQUIRE ADDITIONAL FOREIGN LOANS TO MEET INTERNAL BUDGETARY DEFICITS.

IT SAID THE PHILIPPINE ECONOMY "SHOULD BE ABLE TO FINANCE ITSELF" THROUGH A PERIOD OF CONSTRUCTION AND EXPANSION GREATER THAN IT HAS EVER EXPERIENCED.

THE COMMISSION, OF WHICH EDGAR G. CROSSMAN IS AMERICAN CO-CHAIRMAN, ADVISED THE PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT TO MEET NEXT YEAR'S BUDGET BY TAXATION AND INTERNAL BORROWING.

IT SUGGESTED "RIGID ENFORCEMENT OF PRESENT TAX LAWS, PROSECUTION FOR TAX EVASION, AND INCREASES IN THE CORPORATE INCOME TAX, TAXES ON LUXURY GOODS, AND PROCESSING AND OTHER TAXES."

PRESIDENT TRUMAN TRANSMITTED THE REPORT TO CONGRESS FOR ITS INFORMATION IN IDENTICAL LETTERS TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE AND THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE.

A WHITE HOUSE SUMMARY SAID THE PRESIDENT "EXPRESSED CONFIDENCE" IN THE ABILITY OF THE PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT TO ACHIEVE THE OBJECTIVES OF THE REPORT, WHICH WAS FORWARDED TO HIM BY SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY SNYDER.

"THE MOST SIGNIFICANT FINDING OF THE COMMISSION," THE SUMMARY SAID, "IS THAT THE PHILIPPINES IS AMONG THE FIVE COUNTRIES OF THE WORLD HAVING THE HIGHEST DOLLAR BALANCES IN THE UNITED STATES, AND THAT MORE THAN $2,000,000,000 IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE WILL ACCRUE TO THE PHILIPPINE ECONOMY OVER THE NEXT SEVERAL YEARS. "THE COMMISSION ESTIMATED THAT MORE THAN ONE HALF OF THESE RECEIPTS WILL RESULT FROM WAR DAMAGE PAYMENTS, VETERANS' BENEFITS, BACK PAY TO GUERILLA TROOPS AND OTHER UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT OUTLAYS. MOST OF THE BALANCE WILL ARISE FROM PHILIPPINE EXPORTS."

THE COMMISSION RECOMMENDED THAT THE NEW REPUBLIC CONCENTRATE ON SPEEDING UP ITS RATE OF ECONOMIC GROWTH TO BRING ABOUT "A RAPID INCREASE OF PRODUCTION AND A CORRESPONDING RISE IN THE STANDARD OF LIVING WHICH THESE FOREIGN EXCHANGE RECEIPTS WILL MAKE POSSIBLE."

OBSERVING THAT THE PRESENT DEBT OF THE GOVERNMENT IS RELATIVELY SMALL, THE COMMISSION PROPOSED CREATION OF A BROAD MARKET FOR GOVERNMENT SECURITIES, "INITIALLY TO MEET BUDGETARY DEFICITS AND LATER TO PROVIDE FUNDS FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT."

THE REPORT INCLUDED A PLAN FOR A LIMITED ISSUE OF PHILIPPINE TREASURY CERTIFICATES IN EXCESS OF THE PRESENT 100 PERCENT DOLLAR AND SILVER BACKING, IF ADDITIONAL FUNDS ARE REQUIRED TO COVER THE BUDGET FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1948.

"TO PRESERVE THE 100 PERCENT RESERVE PRINCIPLE PENDING THE WORKING OUT OF MORE COMPREHENSIVE MONETARY AND BANKING REFORM," THE SUMMARY ADDED, "THE PLAN RECOMMENDS A TEMPORARY GUARANTEE, IN EFFECT, OF THE LIMITED ISSUE OF TREASURY CERTIFICATES BY THE UNITED STATES EXCHANGE STABILIZATION FUND.

"THE GUARANTEE WOULD REMAIN IN FORCE ONLY UNTIL A CENTRAL BANK IS ESTABLISHED IN THE PHILIPPINES, AND IN NO EVENT FOR MORE THAN TWO YEARS. THE ISSUE OF TREASURY CERTIFICATES COULD NOT EXCEED 100,000,000 PESOS OR $50,000,000."

AN OTHER PROPOSAL WAS ADOPTION BY THE PHILIPPINES WITHIN A YEAR OF A MONETARY SYSTEM IN WHICH AUTHORITY AND RESPONSIBILITY WOULD REST IN SUCCESSFUL ESTABLISHMENT OF A CENTRAL BANK TO ADMINISTER THE MAINTENANCE OF THE 100 PERCENT MONETARY RESERVE REQUIREMENT, THE REPORT SAID.

PENDING ESTABLISHMENT OF THE CENTRAL BANK, THE COMMISSION SUGGESTED

30. 24- 10819

THAT APPLICATION BE MADE TO THE UNITED STATES EXPORT-IMPORT BANK AND THE INTERNATIONAL BANK FOR LOANS TO FINANCE RECONSTRUCTION AND DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMS NOW HELD UP FOR LACK OF FUNDS. IT RECOMMENDED A PROGRAM OF IMPORT CONTROLS LIMITED INITIALLY TO A RELATIVELY FEW COMMODITIES.

THE REPORT PRESENTED WHAT THE COMMISSION REGARDS AS THE MAXIMUM ESTIMATES OF PHILIPPINE CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS FOR A FIVE YEAR PROGRAM TO EXPAND AGRICULTURAL AND INDUSTRIAL OUTPUT AND ADDITIONAL SERVICES. THE TOTAL CAPITAL REQUIREMENT WAS PLACED AT 2,100,000,000 PESOS ($1,050,000,000) OF WHICH 1,400,000,000 ($700,000,000) WOULD BE NEEDED TO FINANCE IMPORTED EQUIPMENT AND SUPPLIES.

Greek Raids Aimed At Foiling Alleged Red Coup Plot

CHAKALES

Bipartisan Senate group weighs formal request to President Truman to lead move to reorganize United Nations. United States serves notice it will reject compromise attempts in the Balkan-inquiry dispute. [Page 3.]

Athens, July 9 (AP)—The Greek Government announced that more than 2,000 persons were arrested in the Athens area early today in raids aimed at stamping out a Communist plot to stage a revolution and spread civil war throughout the entire country.

Minister of Public Order Napoleon Zervas said the zero hour for the Communist stroke was to have been around 1 A.M. tomorrow, when attacks were to have been staged simultaneously in all parts of Greece, bringing the present mountain guerrilla warfare into urban centers.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 police, gendarmes and soldiers staged the lightning raids before dawn this morning, Zervas said. He added that many important Communists already had fled and either were hiding in Athens or in the mountains.

Some Taken To Isles

Most of those arrested, he said, will be taken to islands near Athens while the investigating continues.

The transport already has begun. Some ringleaders, Zervas added, will remain in Athens to await hearings. Those not implicated in the plot will be released and others probably will be exiled, officials said.

A Leftist leader who escaped arrest in the first raids declared:

"They're making a clean sweep."

Free State Planned

In his statement, Zervas said:

"For several days the Government has been on the trail of a Communist plot designed at transferring the whole guerrilla warfare to urban centers of Greece.

"This was absolutely in connection with Communist plans to establish a free state within Greece. The procedure is easy to understand.

"Before creating such a government the Communists wanted to create in Greece a state of general civil war so that this eventual government would appear not only as representing and controlling the bandits in the mountains, but also controlling the forces fighting in the larger cities.

"According to this plan, the revolution was ready to start in Athens at 1 A.M., July 10. Orders already were given for distribution of arms to military units of the Communist party. The entire illegal machinery of the party (that which functions under ground) was put into motion.

"The Government has many more details concerning the plot, but these details are not made public now because it might interfere with subsequent developments.

"Those arrests and inquiries which will follow have absolutely no connection with the present emergency laws. They are regular arrests made under prevailing civil laws and prosecutions will be carried out in civil courts.

No Homes Searched

"Most of those arrested will be taken out of Athens to islands near the city to facilitate the work of the authorities. Some of the ringleaders, however, will reamin in Athens. This transport already has started.

"The whole operation was started this morning at 3 A.M. and the first arrests were made at 5 A.M. No searches of homes were made, in order not to disturb families and lose time. Between 3,000 and 4,000 police, gendarmerie and military units took part in the raid.

"During the past few days the Government observers noted many important party members left this vicinity. We are certain these have gone either to the mountains or are hiding in Athens.

Party Not Prosecuted

"The Communist party, which in fact has outlawed itself, is not being prosecuted. The Government is not arresting persons because they are members of the Communist party. The majority of them are members of the party. However, some are just tools."

Called "Idiotic Lies"

The Left-wing EAM (National Liberation Front) said Government allegations about a Communist coup were "idiotic lies." The party asserted in a statement that the arrests had not been opposed by Tsaldaris and said this "proves" the arrests were made with American approval.

Communist kingpins arrested included Dimitrius Partsalades, secretary general of the EAM and former secretary general of the Communist party, and Dimitri Paparigos, who recently was named secretary-general of the Communists.

Six members of the EAM central committee were arrested, but two of them were released.

The EAM bulletin said the raids were made at a time when the EAM had offered to mediate the "civil war" in Greece. The Government flatly denied that any such negotiations were underway.

All KKE Leaders Held

The arrests were carried out by security police on orders of the Council of Ministers.

All KKE (Communist party) leaders in the Athens-Piraeus sector were reported among those arrested.

The offices of the Communist newspaper Rizospastos were occupied at 4 A.M. and the editor, Andichristo Kavafakis, was arrested.

Coup Reported Timed to Coincide with UN Action on Balkan Probe Report.

ATHENS, July 9. — (AP) Greek police and soldiers, under orders to crush a reported Communist revolutionary plot, arrested several thousand persons today in swift pre-dawn raids conducted simultaneously throughout Greece.

More than 2,000 persons were seized in the Athens area alone, an official announcement said. Reports from Piraeus, the port of Athens, stated that scores of those arrested were being loaded aboard vessels for shipment to nearby islands.

U. S. Not Disapproving

The government's inner cabinet met tonight and agreed the day's roundup was a success. The American and British governments were formally notified of the results. One cabinet member said a cable had been received from Foreign Minister Constantin Tsaldaris, who is in the United States, saying the American government did not disapprove of the action.

Napoleon Zervas, minister of public order, said the zero hour for a Communist uprising—under a "Plan F"—had been set for 1 a. m. tomorrow.

The Communists already had issued orders for the distribution of arms, Zervas declared, and had intended to plunge the entire kingdom into revolution.

Police officials here said "Plan F" was timed to coincide with the meetings in New York of the United Nations Security Council, which is considering the report of its Balkan investigating commission.

Clean Sweep of Leaders

They asserted that the Communists had schemed to "murder political leaders," seize important ministries and conduct a campaign of general sabotage.

The arrests, accomplished without disorders, made virtually a clean sweep of leftist leaders here.

Approximately 4,000 gendarmes, police and soldiers participated in the raids, the minister disclosed.

Most of the persons arrested will be taken to islands near Athens, until the investigation is complete, he said. Some of the ring-leaders, however, will be held in Athens for questioning.

Other officials said that those not implicated in the alleged plot would be released, but that those found guilty would be exiled.

Premier Demetrios Maximos declared in a statement that orders to put "Plan F" into effect had been issued by Gen. Markos Vifiadies, commander of guerrilla forces in northern Greece.

Police Intercepted Order

Police intercepted the order, Demetrios said, and the government decided to move immediately against the leftists.

Unofficial reports said that 1,400 were arrested in Athens proper, 600 in Piraeus and 300 in the suburbs. Zervas, in disclosing that similar raids were conducted throughout the kingdom, said police and troops were particularly active at Kavalla, in northeastern Greece, and Volos and Larisa, in the east-central area.

"For several days the government has been on the trail of a Communist plot designed at transferring whole guerrilla warfare to the urban cities of Greece," Zervas said in a statement.

"This was absolutely in connection with Communist plans to establish a free state within Greece.

"The procedure is easy to understand. Before creating such a government the Communists wanted to create in Greece a state of general civil war so that this eventual government would appear as not only representing and controlling bandits in the mountains, but also controlling forces fighting in the large cities. x x x

"These arrests x x x were made under prevailing civil laws and prosecutions will be carried out in civil courts.

Britain Hinting At Renewal Of Lend-Lease

London, July 9 (AP)—Parliament had a hint from the Government today, only three days prior to the Paris economic conference, that renewal of United States lend-lease before fall might be necessary to save Britain from unproductive poverty.

"We cannot indefinitely go on importing what we cannot pay for," Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison said last night in a House of Commons economic debate. To bring buying down to ability to pay, he declared, Britain would have to cut imports 25 per cent and make "great adjustments" in production and stardard of living.

Offers Proposal

"The only remedy . . . ," he said, "lies in devising some means whereby billions of dollars' worth of North and South American production could be transferred across the Atlantic without the necessity for immediate payment in the form of an equal and opposite flow of European goods."

Observers noted the similarity between this proopsal and wartime lend-lease.

Of London's morning papers, only the ruling Labor party's Daily Hearld refrained from criticizing Government economic policy. The Communist Daily Worker said the policy "appears to be to drift until the Americans come over with a form of lend-lease."

Using Up U.S. Credit Fast

Britain now is running into debt at the rate of 450,000,000 pounds—about $1,800,000,000—yearly to pay for food for her people, still on thin rations, and raw materials for her industry, slowly recuperating from the war. If she keeps on drawing at the current rate on her $3,750,000,000 United States credit, it will be gone by the end of next winter.

Morrison made no direct mention of the offer of Secretary of State George C. Marshall by which the United States would help European countries provided they organized for economic recovery.

This offer has resulted in a British-French call for a 24-nation conference scheduled to begin in Paris Saturday.

"Must Help Themselves"

The Deputy Prime Minister did say, however, that Europe's nations "must agree on methods to help themselves" and that otherwise it would not be "reasonable to expect the full co-operation of the United States and other countries from whom the bulk of the assistance . . . must be drawn."

"Time is very short. . . . We cannot hope for a fully comprehensive agreement before the twelfth hour strikes . . . ," he went on. "Therefore, we must go for the best agreement we can get before the clock strikes, as it will strike this autumn."

In commenting on the debate, the Independent Conservative Daily Mail said that reducing imports 25 per cent would mean "hungry people would be starved of their resources of manufacture."

"Rushing Toward Bankruptcy"

"We are engaged in a jet-propelled Rake's Progress toward bankruptcy and utter ruin," he declared. "But we cannot keep going to the United States for new supplies of dollars."

The Mail declared that if Britain got new dollars under the Marshall plan the money "must be rigorously used to put our economy on a firm basis."

The Independent Conservative Times said use of the United States loan now being drawn upon had been "relatively disappointing," and that Great Britain "shows little undertsanding of the gravity of the crisis or the threat of a dramatic collapse of the standard of living which only further American help can now avert."

Wonders About U.S. Opinion

The Conservative Daily Graphic wondered: "How will this playing with the problem impress American opinion?"

"A great many Americans," said the Conservative Daily Telegraph, "are by no means convinced that this country is pulling its own weight."

The Liberal News Chronicle said Britain had some right to expect outside help in balancing her trade but could not "afford to wait passively for American aid."

Britain To Pay Dollars Soon

London, July 9 (AP)—Great Britain will be ready after July 15 to pay, in effect, for all the goods she buys from her customers overseas in any money they call for, including American dollars.

This nation reluctantly promised to do this in 1945 when the United States agreed to lend her $3,750,000,000.

The United States insisted on the pledge to insure that countries which sent their goods to Britain would not be forced to spend their sterling earnings in the so-called sterling area.

Includes Protectorates

[The sterling area comprised the British Commonwealth and Empire, except Canada and Newfoundland, and included the British mandated territories, British protectorates, Egypt, the Sudan, Iraq, Iceland and the Faroe Islands.]

Under the conditions of the present world-wide dollar famine, Britain's 1945 promise will mean probably that most of her customers will ask to be paid in dollars.

If every seller-nation insisted on dollar payment, Britain would be in an extremely tough, if not impossible, spot. This is so because

30. 24- 10821

Britain's dollar resources presently are made up only of the remains (less than 50 per cent) of the 1945 loan, plus the income she earns from her export to the dollar countries.

Needed For Dollar Nations

Most of these dollar resources are needed to pay for food, tobacco and other essential items she can get only from dollar countries like the United States. These countries demand, of course, payment only in dollars.

Britain will pay for the goods she buys in the kind of money her customers want by what is known officially as the "sterling convertibility" system.

At present she can, if she wishes, pay for her imports in pounds sterling to all but the dollar countries.

But after July 15 the countries which send their goods here will have the right to change those pounds into any currency they please, dollars or francs or Italian lire.

A Treasury spokesman said Britain was confident about the workability of the system. He emphasized that "nothing exciting or magical" was likely to happen on the deadline date.

Franco Poll Discounted

Briton Says Referendum Smacks of Other European Plebiscites

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—A British Foreign Office spokesman today labeled Generalissimo Francisco Franco's referendum last week on the future of the Spanish monarchy as "meaningless."

He expressed the view after telling a new conference question that British diplomatic representatives in Madrid has sent a preliminary report to London on how the referendum was conducted last Sunday.

The voting, the spokesman said, "smacks of plebiscites held elsewhere in Europe which have had no meaning."

15 NATIONS ACCEPT AID MEETING BIDS

Two In Doubt, And Two More Follow Russian Rejection

DYNAM

Paris, July 9 (AP)—Poland and Yugoslavia joined Russia and two other nations in the Soviet orbit tonight in rejecting the British-French invitation to participate in the Paris conference on European recovery under the Marshall plan which opens here Saturday.

On the eve of the deadline for accepting the bids, sent to 22 European nations, Finland and Hungary remained the only two nations whose participation was uncertain.

Albania Refusal Likely

The participation of fifteen nations, in addition to France and Great Britain, definitely was assured. It was anticipated that Albania, who also has not replied to the invitation, would follow Russia's lead in refusing to discuss the American aid proposal advanced last month by Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State.

Poland's refusal, announced in Warsaw after a four-hour Cabinet meeting, was prompted chiefly by the fact that Germany would share equally in reconstruction efforts with other war-torn countries. Bulgaria's rejection of the bid was announced earlier in the day and Romania notified the British and French of their refusal earlier this week.

Observers said there was a "50-50" chance that Finland and Hungary would send representatives to the conference. It was added that acceptances might be hedged with political reservations.

Countries Accepting Bids

Those countries which have officially or unofficially accepted are: Belgium, Italy, Portugal, Eire, Greece, Turkey, Luxembourg, Holland, Czechoslovakia, Iceland, Austria, Switzerland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

In Washington, Norman Armour, Assistant Secretary of State, said Russian participation in the conference was desirable because the more who joined, the better the results would be. He said it would be unfortunate if countries desiring to take part were prevented by pressure but he said he could not comment, when asked whether the United States has knowledge of pressure being exerted.

Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, informed a National Assembly committee that Czechoslovakia had inquired for details on the "American conditions" of aid to Europe. He insisted that the United States had posed no conditions for aiding a European mutual assistance program.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle, in a speech to the Anglo-American Press Association, threw his influence behind the Marshall program, terming it "clairvoyant initiative" which might prove the "world's salvation" from war by unifying Europe under ideals of liberty and human rights.

In his frankest statement on Russia, de Gaulle compared the Soviets with Nazi Germany and said both were menaces to western civilization, nurtured on totalitarian ideology under iron discipline.

Agreed On Joint Action

The Foreign Ministers of Norway, Sweden and Denmark met in Copenhagen. A joint communiqué announced they had agreed on the Scandinavian attitude at the Paris conference, establishing accord on such problems as the tasks of committees and their relation to existing international organizations.

Czechoslovakia's Foreign Minister, Jan Masaryk, meanwhile, arrived in Moscow for consultations with Russian officials.

Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, in a meeting at The Hague agreed to submit a joint plan to the July 12 sessions for closer economic relations within Europe.

Romania Second To Refuse Role In Paris Talks

JOS. DYNAM

Paris, July 9 (AP)—Romania rejected today the British-French invitation to a Paris conference on the Marshall aid-to-Europe proposal and became the second nation in the Russian sphere to decline the bid. Bulgaria's rejection came late last night.

The Romanian Cabinet issued a communiqué rejecting the invitation.

In Moscow, meanwhile, the Soviet press made no mention today of the conference, which will open in Paris on Saturday.

Poles May Accept

Associated Press Correspondent Larry Allen reported from Warsaw that Poland's Foreign Office would probably deliver late tonight notes to the British and French embassies, giving the Poles' decision on the invitation. He added there were indications that the Poles might "accept, with strong reservations."

In London, a British Government spokesman said Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin would attend the conference, but would leave most of the work of organizing European economic co-operation to Government experts.

An Associated Press dispatch from Sofia said the Council of Ministers decided last night that Bulgaria would not take part in the meeting.

Norway Reported Coming

The Oslo newspaper Aftenposten reported that Norway had decided upon participation. The paper quoted Foreign Minister Halvard Lange as saying in Parliament that though Norway would not need any outside help for the next eight months, she was vitally interested in quick European recovery and felt she should join in the conference.

Britain and France last Thursday invited 22 other nations to meet with them with a view to setting up committees for a survey of Europe's needs and resources. Committee findings would be reported to the United States in line with Secretary of State George C. Marshall's June 5 offer of American aid in a common European reconstruction effort.

The invitations were issued a day after Russia had turned down pleas to join Britain and France in sponsoring the parley. They set tomorrow as a deadline for answers.

Ten Formal Acceptances

Up to today, officials and unofficial reports from various capitals indicated that fourteen nations were planning to send representatives to the meeting.

Still unheard from were the governments of Poland, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Albania, Finland and Sweden.

The French Foreign Ministry yesterday said formal acceptances had come from ten—Belgium, Italy, Portugal, Eire, Greece, Turkey, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Czechoslovakia and Iceland.

Associated Press dispatches have reported, in addition to Aftenposten's story of Norway, the favorable decisions of Austria, Denmark and Switzerland.

"No Free Sovereign"

Yugoslavia's Government-controlled Tanjug news agency said today the conference would not be the kind in which participants "might carry on discussions freely or in a sovereign manner."

Tanjug's foreign-policy editor said the idea was for European countries "formally to enter an already existing organization headed by Great Britain and France, who will direct the works in accordance with the wishes of American business men."

William L. Clayton, United States Under Secretary of State for Economic Affairs, issued a statement here today saying the purposed of his Paris visit was to discuss with the United States Ambassador and French officials the French food situation "and other matters."

Clayton, who came from Geneva by plane yesterday, said he would return there tomorrow. He is American delegate to the current meeting of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe and also the Conference on Trade and Employment.

EFFORT URGED BY STRACHEY

Cereals Parley Warned On Obstacles To Aid Plan

MRS MOST

Paris, July 9 (AP)—John Strachey British Food Minister, told European nations today that they must not permit "ideological considerations" to be an obstacle to Europe's economic recovery with American aid.

Strachey spoke to a world emergency cereals conference shortly after delegates of 39 nations convened in their first session. Russia was not represented.

Must Not Impede Production

Three days in advance of the conference on the Marshall aid-to-Europe plan, Strachey declared:

"We as Europeans have no right to come to the United States for further aid unless we are ready to sweep out of our way every single other consideration, no matter what it is, that stands in the way of rapid industrial recovery.

"There are other considerations—ideological considerations perhaps even more, considerations of bitterness that may have same justification even two years after the war.

"But I say to other European countries even those considerations, no matter how strongly held, must not be allowed to impede the rapidity of redevelopment of our production."

Speaks As European

Specifying that he skoke as a "European," Strachey said:

"To put the matter bluntly, we really cannot expect the great exporting country to pour out indefinitely cereals and other foodstuffs unless they are assured those exports are used creatively."

Clinton P. Anderson, United States Secretary of Agriculture, with whom Strachey lunched before speaking, told the conference that the United States would make a "substantial contribution" to meet the cereals crisis but suggested that other countries organize their own resources.

He said food exports from the United States would make a freight train three times as long as the width of the Atlantic Ocean.

Grants Other Nations' Rights

"I cannot too strongly state," Anderson said, "that my Government had and has no thought of trying to propose measures that any individual nations should use in the management of its food supply—imported or domestic. We claim the right of final determination over such matters for ourselves; we defend that same right for other sovereign nations."

Anderson told a news conference later that America's economic aid involved "no question of political advantages."

"The only instructions I have in making allocations came to me from the President, who simply wants me to feed hungry people," Anderson said.

The conference received an estimate that 32,000,000 tons of wheat would be available for export in the year beginning July 1, including 14,500,000 from the United States, 8,000,000 from Canada and 5,500,000 from Argentina.

Australia Crop Hope High

Argentina is not a member of the conference.

John J. Bedman, Australian Minister of State for postwar reconstruction, announced that Australia might have her greatest wheat crop this year, exceeding the previous record of 210,000,000 bushels.

He said that 120,000,000 bushels, perhaps more, would be available for shipment. This would be about twice what the International Emergency Food Council estimated would be available for Australia.

Maquis Revolution Tactics Detailed

Paris, July 9 (AP)—Had it not been discovevred in time, the "Black Maqui" plot to overthrow the French Government would have reached its climax today with four columns of troops marching on Paris, says the Interior Ministry.

Further details of the plot, which the Government announced last week had been smashed, were disclosed in a Ministry press statement declaring that the conspirators proceeded on the supposition that France "is a powder keg and will explode at the first spark."

The revolutionaries, the statement said, planned to capitalize on the bitterness which certain Maquis elements hold for each other and to provoke disorders that would have thrown the provinces into turmoil, leaving them open for armed intervention.

Prison Attack Planned

Under cover of these disorders, the Ministry said, the plotters planned to attack Vannes Prison and release several underground fighters held there and then seize supply dumps to obtain tanks and other equipment which the United States Army turned over to the French after the war.

From these dumps the revolutionaries planned to supply three infantry columns and one armored column which would have been sent against the capital.

The Interior Ministry said that most of those arrested in connection with the conspiracy, which was centered in Brittany, had confessed and had revealed the indentity of accomplices. The exact number of those arrested was not disclosed.

39 Nations Open Grain Conferences In Paris

Paris, July 9 (AP)—French Premier Paul Ramadier, welcoming the delegations of 39 countries to Paris for a world emergency cereals conference, said today that France believed international co-operation must be based on willingness to co-operate economically.

The opening of the grain parley came three days before a projected 24-nation European economic conference on the Marshall plan. Russia, which has declined to take part in the Saturday meeting, was not represented today.

"The organizations that take care of the material needs of men," Ramadier said, "are the ones that succeed without threatening the bases and foundations of their principles."

Calls For Peaceful Ties

He stressed "the need for close and peaceful ties between men for international organization."

Pierre Tanguy-Prigent, French Foreign Minister of Agriculture, was elected conference chairman on the nomination of Britain, Australia and India.

Moen de Fernig, Belgian Food Minister, was chosen vice chairman. He was nominated by the Netherlands and China.

The delegations were told in an official report that "there is no need to emphasize the direct connection between the work of this conference and the wider problems which will soon be considered at another conference in this city."

Prepared By American

This report was prepared by Dr. Dennis Fitzgerald, of the United States, secretary general of the International Emergency Food Council. The conference is sponsored jointly by the Council and the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization. Fitzgerald's report told how the Council initiated it at the suggestion of United States Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson, participating today as chief United States delegate.

Fitzgerald said the conference was faced with an estimated world cereal shortage of 18,000,000 tons this year—12,000,000 tons in food and 6,000,000 tons in feed—almost double last year's 10,000,000-ton deficit.

The United States and Canada, with good wheat crops this year, were understood to be prepared to contribute largely to fill the gap. Besides Russia, another big wheat producer, Argentina, and one needy country, Spain, were not invited to the meeting. None of the three is in the I.E.P.C. nor the F.A.O.

"Can Only Be Lived With"

Fitzgerald's report said the shortage could not be dispelled, "it can only be lived with and made as endurable as possible." He estimated world cereal import need for the 1947-48 crop period at 50,000,000 tons, against 32,000,000 tons available from exporting countries.

Fitzgerald said the conference's task was to determine not only how these exports should be divided but also how "maximum" use could be made of each country's resources.

However, he declared, "this conference will not, it cannot, issue instructions to any country. Programs undertaken in individual countries are the sole responsibility of each country's government."

Italo-Philippine Pact Signed

ROME, July 9 (AP)—Carlo Sforza, Italian Foreign Minister, and the Philippine Vice President, Elpidio Quirino, today signed a treaty of friendship between the countries. The pact—preliminary to a trade agreement—provides for diplomatic and consular relations, conciliation and arbitration of controversies and parity of treatment for Italians in the Philippines and Filipinos in Italy.

GERMAN COURT JAILS NAZI ATOM SCIENTIST

MUNICH, July 9 (AP)—Dr. Johannes Stark, 73-year-old Nobel prize winner and German atomic scientist, was sentenced to four years at hard labor by the German denazification court in Bavaria today.

Stark, who was awarded the Nobel prize in 1919 for work in physics, was found guilty as a "major Nazi offender." The prosecution charged that Stark entered the Nazi party in 1930, did atomic research for the Nazis, was the writer of anti-semitic books and was a close friend of Hitler.

6 HURT AS ARMY PLANE CRASHES IN GERMANY

GIEBELSTADT, Germany, July 9.—(AP) A United States army air force superfortress crashed here today while attempting an emergency landing, injuring six of its crew of eight American fliers.

The big B-29 was one of a squadron of 22 which arrived in Germany Saturday on a trans-Atlantic training flight from the 9th heavy bomb group at Smoky Hills, Salina, Kans.

The injured army fliers were described as "in no immediate danger."

The B-29, the Army Air Forces said, took off this morning with part of the group for a training flight over France and Italy. It developed trouble in one engine and returned to Giebelstadt.

The plane crashed on the air base when its huge wheels struck the ground some 100 feet from the runway while it was making a preparatory approach for a landing.

The Army withheld the names of the injured fliers, who were rushed to the 57th Field hospital at Wuerzburg.

Romania Acts on U. N. Entry

BUCHAREST, July 9 (AP).—The Romanian Foreign Minister was empowered by the Cabinet today to seek Romania's entry into the United Nations. Romania will issue a declaration adhering to the United Nations charter.

Zeiss Plant Expected To Reopen This Month

Jena, Russian-Occupied Thuringia, July 9 (AP)—Efforts to get the famed Carl Zeiss works back into production of camera lenses this month with the use of old machinery brought from elsewhere in Germany are under way, Dr. Hugo Schrade, business manager, told American correspondents during a conducted tour of the Soviet zone.

Once the world's largest producer of optical equipment, the plant has been out of production since October, 1946, when it was dismantled by the Russians and 94 per cent of its machinery shipped off to the Soviet Union as reparations, Schrade said.

The Russians publicly promised at the time that enough machinery would be left for a nucleus around which production for civilian needs could be built.

Schrade said the Russians had removed approximately 10,000 machines, leaving about 700 to 800 for use here. Meanwhile, a machine shop was established in the plant for rebuilding old machinery, and now the Germans have about 1,000 machines in working condition.

U.S. Occupation Acts Assailed In Moscow

Moscow, July 9 (AP)—The Communist newspaper Pravda asserted today that the United States occupation forces in Germany were conducting an export program which "is, in fact, concealed reparations out of current production from German industry."

The other leading newspaper, Izvestia, turned East and accused General MacArthur's occupation staff in Japan of being "Hollywood stooges" because of a ruling that no films, including Russian movies, could be shown without permission.

The Pravda accusation was based on a report dated Frankfurt and credited to Yuri Korolkov, who has been visiting the American Zone with other Russian writers.

"Followed" On Tour

Korolkov wrote that at Wetzlar, visiting the Leitz works, where Leica cameras are made, "We were able to see the factory and talk to workers only in the presence of several brave men dressed in American uniforms who followed us step by step."

He charged, however, that two thirds of all high-grade cameras were "offered to American military authorities with enormous discounts," and that another 30 per cent was marked for export to the United States. He also charged that Americans were paying in devalued marks at about one third the value of the prices allegedly paid.

Discrepancies Charged

The Pravda article asserted that Americans were taking three fourth of production from the leather industry at Offenbach and that "American officers and their dames are trying to get the best things." Discount rate discrepancies was charged again.

"This calculated system set up by the Americans in exchange reminds one of the colonial trade of the last century when enterprising merchants got gold and ivory from tribes for almost nothing," the article asserted. "This is how in reality American 'disinterest' appears to the German people."

Russian Aid For Czechs Hinted On Moscow Visit

Moscow, July 9 (AP)—Premier Klement Gottwald and Foreign Minister Jan C. Masaryk, of Czechoslovakia, arrived in Moscow today, giving rise to speculation that the Soviet Union would offer large-scale economic assistance to the Czechs.

Diplomatic circles in Moscow discussed the object of the journey of the two Czech officials in view that Czechoslovakia, alone among the eastern European nations in the Russian sphere of influence, already had accepted a British-French invitation to participate in the Paris conference on the Marshall plan which opens Saturday.

It is well known here the Czechs desire outside economic aid, and diplomatic circles said it would not be surprising if Gottwald and Masaryk sought credits from Russia and the Russians granted them on an extensive scale.

RUSSIANS SHOW KEEN INTEREST IN THIRD U. S. PARTY

MOSCOW, July 9. — (AP) The Soviet press and radio devoted considerable attention today to formation of a third party in the United States for the 1948 presidential elections, a possibility which is of much interest to the Soviets.

At the same time the Communist newspaper Pravda said that the U. S. occupation force in Germany was conducting an export program which "is, in fact, concealed reparations out of current production from German industry."

A Tass dispatch from London quoted a report from Washington that plans for formation of a third party were being made.

"No definite decision for formation of such a party has been adopted yet," the report said. "Likewise, it is doubtful that any decision will be made until both large parties, the Republican and Democratic, hold their conventions in mid-summer 1948. Then it may be ready to conduct an energetic campaign in the last months of 1948."

"The main machinery which is being formed at present," the dispatch said, "is the organization of the Progressive Citizens of America, which has heavy support in the trade unions and among left-wing intellectuals."

There was no mention of a presidential nominee.

In conversations with Americans, Russians often ask what chance Henry Wallace has of getting the third party nomination and of winning the race. Soviet commentators and others have said they see little difference between the Republican and Democratic parties, both of which they regard as generally anti-Soviet.

Pravda based its statement on a report by Yuri Korolkov from Frankfurt, Germany. Korolkov, who has been visiting the American zone, charged that two-thirds of all high grade Leica cameras made at the Leitz works in Wetzlar were offered to American military authorities with enormous discounts and another 30 per cent were marked for export to the U. S. He also declared that the Americans were taking three-fourths of the production from the leather industry at Offenbach.

'Raids' Reported On Peitashan

Nanking, July 9 (AP)—The Chinese Central News Agency correspondent from Tihwa, capital of Sinkiang province, reported today that the Outer Mongolian cavalry is continuing "raids" against the Chinese-held Peitashan area, in northwest Sinkiang.

The correspondent said 300 cavalry troops, supported by one light bomber and one heavy bomber, had assaulted the village of Peiyangho on Monday, killing "many" civilians before being beaten off in a four-hour skirmish.

[Peitashan, approximately 120 miles northwest of Tihwa and 75 miles from the Sinkiang-Outer Mongolia border, was the scene of earlier "raids" which some Chinese have asserted were Soviet sponsored. Available maps show the village of Peiyangho 60 miles southwest of Tihwa and 130 miles southeast of Peitashan. No village of Peiyangkou is shown and the cable did not indicate whether the villages were the same.]

Col. Evans's Trial Witness 'Disappears'

Shanghai, July 9 (AP)—Wang Tsai-yi, Chinese wanted as a witness in the United States by Col. William K. Evans, who is charged with misappropriation of $100,000 worth of gold in Formosa after the surrender of the Japanese, has mysteriously disappeared.

Evans was arrested at his home in Los Angeles June 6 and had requested that Wang, charged with having co-operated with Evans in sale of the gold on the "black market," be taken to the United States as a witness.

Wang was arrested but released on bail furnished by a friend. Now Shanghai police report both Wang and the friend have disappeared.

UNRRA GIVES REPORTS ON RELIEF TO CHINA

SHANGAI, JULY 9—(AP) UNRRA announced today 2,076,956 long tons of relief goods have been delivered to China so far. Seventy-eight more ships are en route to China with additional relief supplies.

China Aids Exporters

Shanghai, July 9 (AP) — China acted today to circumvent, for the benefit of exporters, the handicap of its unrealistic rate of exchange. Bristles and tung oil, for example, may now be purchased by exporters with United States dollars from a trading department of the Central Bank of China.

In the past, exporters could not afford to buy such items for resale abroad. A pound og bristles selling for $2.40 in New York, for instance, and worth $1.20 in Shanghai's open market, actually would cost $5.50 here when the United States money first had to be exchanged at China's official rate.

The official rate remains 12,000 Chinese dollars to one United States; whereas on the open market—barred to exporters—one American dollar would bring 54,000 or more Chinese dollars.

Life Term For Treason

Manila, July 9 (AP)—Ernest Berg, wealthy German-born Manila business man and naturalized citizen of the Philippines, today was sentenced to life imprisonment for treason.

The Fourth Division of the Philippine Peoples Court convicted Berg of treason, holding that in selling war essentials to the Japanese and displaying the swastika flag he had "openly betrayed his legally adopted land."

In addition to the prison sentence, Judge Emilio Rilloraza assessed a fine of $7,500.

Japanese Warships Delivered To Allies

Pearl Harbor, July 9 (AP)—The break up of the remnants of Japan's once-great fleet, which extended the empire's wartime domain across much of the Pacific, started with the delivery of 32 warships to four Allied powers early this month, the Navy reported today.

Eight destroyers and destroyer escorts were delivered to the Soviet Union, China, Britain and the United States at Pacific ports.

Prober Asks Palestine Rabbi To Define 'Promised Land'

Jerusalem, July 9 (AP) — The United Nations special committee investigating Palestine problems dipped into Biblical history today to seek a definition of the Promised Land.

Bearded, aged Rabbi G. L. Fishman, of the Jewish Agency, was questioned at length on the point by India's Sir Abdur Rahman, the only Moslem member of the commission.

Moslem Poses Question

"What was the Promised Land? Sir Abdur asked.

"It reached from El Arish (near the present Palestine-Egyptian frontier) to the Euphrates River," the Rabbi replied.

"Was Egypt included?"

"No."

"Iraq?"

"No."

"But I take it," Sir Abdur said, "Syria, Lebanon, Trans-Jordan and the Palestine of today are included. When was this promise made by God?"

"Confirmed By Moses"

"About 4,000 years ago."

"When was it confirmed by God?"

"It was confirmed by Moses."

"Has not God also made a promise to the sons of Ismael?" (Ismael, son of Abraham, is regarded by the Moslems as one of their prophets.)

"No," Rabbi Fishman replied. "This promise was given only to Isaac. To the sons of Ismael another part of this world was promised."

"Has it not been left to the Messiah to bring the Jews back to the Promised Land?"

Rabbi Speaks In Hebrew

"No. The Jews shall return before the Messiah comes and the Messiah will come only after their return." Rabbi Fishman said. He spoke in Hebrew, and his words were translated by Eliezer Kaplan, treasurer of the Jewish Agency.

"How long after their return will the Messiah come?" Sir Abdur asked.

"Nobody knows this."

"How Many In Palestine?"

There were several more questions before Sir Abdur inquired:

"How many Christians and Jews in Palestine?"

"I don't know," the Rabbi replied. "I am not in contact with converts, but a Jew, even if he commits a sin and becomes converted, remains a Jew."

"Then," Sir Abdur said, "according to you, all the Christians in Palestine are Jews."

Chairman Emil Sandstroem called a recess at this point.

Irgun Puts Off 'Revenge' In Palestine 1947

Jerusalem, July 9 (AP) — Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, informally pledged itself today to defer any "revenge actions" until the Palestine High Commissioner has ruled upon the death sentences imposed upon three of its members.

The sentences, pronounced by a military court on June 16, were confirmed yesterday by Lieut. Gen. G. H. A. MacMillan, commander of British forces in Palestine, and observers had feared that the underground might carry out threats of reprisals.

Up T' High Commissioner

The sentences still must be confirmed, however, by General Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, the high commissioner, before they can be executed.

In a message received by the Associated Press, Irgun Zvai Leumi declared that "we shall restrain ourselves until the high commissioner has finally decided whether to commute the sentences. Then, should the death sentences be carried out, we shall engage in revenge actions such as Palestine has not yet seen."

Note Appeals To U.N.

Irgun dispatched another note to the United Nations Special Commission on Palestine declaring that "our three soldiers now held captive by the British" may be executed at any moment and appealing to the commission to:

"Take without delay all steps necessary to prevent—not to secure temporary postponement but to prevent altogether—the murder of Hebrew prisoners which, if carried out, will bring in its train the most serious acts of retaliation even during the deliberations of the special committee of the United Nations."

ARABS REFUSE TO AID INQUIRY

Reject Direct Appeal By United Nations Committee

CURTIS

Jerusalem, July 9 (AP)—A high Arab source said tonight the Arab Higher Executive would reject a direct appeal by the United Nations special committee on Palestine to co-operate in the Holy Land inquiry because the boycott "has served our cause."

The executive will meet tomorrow to discuss the special appeal directed to it by the committee at the request of the Indian Moslem delegate, Sir Abdur Rahman.

The United Nations committee heard also from Irgun Zvai Leumi, underground Jewish organization, demanding that three of its members, whose death sentences were confirmed yesterday by the British commander Lieut. Gen. G. H. A. MacMillan, be saved from "murder."

Revenge Acts Threatened

Irgun in another message said "should the death sentences be carried out, we shall engage in revenge acts such as Palestine has not yet seen." General Sir Alan Cunningham, the high commissioner, has not confirmed the sentences, and Irgun asserted it would refrain from "revenge actions" until the commissioner rules.

The Arab informant said that "there has been no change in the Arab position and no changes in the reasons causing the boycott." The Arab leaders invoked the boycott because United Nations instructions to the Palestine committee did not mention specifically independence and the question of further Jewish immigration.

"We also believe our entire existence and natural rights here should not be subject to an investigation," the Arab source said. "We are completely severed from the committee, but we believe from a national point of view that the boycott has served our cause. It has brought us political solidarity."

Indonesians Act To Keep Their Pledges

Batavia, Java, July 9 (AP)—The Indonesian republic moved today to carry out pledges contained in yesterday's note accepting nearly all Dutch demands with regard to an interim national government for the East Indies.

Acting Foreign Minister Tamsil announced that the republic had dissolved formally the "governments in exile," so called, which it had maintained in the republican capital of Jogjakarta for Dutch-controlled outer islands.

To Enforce Strict Truce

Deputy Premier Setiadjit left Batavia for Jogjakarta by special train to enforce a complete cease-fire and a strict truce upon Indonesians along military fronts.

In a conference with Setiadjit, Hubertus J. Van Mook, Dutch governor general, confirmed The Netherlands' relief over yesterday's republican note but asked the republicans swiftly to provide the world with concrete examples of pledges carried out. Before the note was sent, a Dutch-Indonesian deadlock had threatened war.

Immediate Parley Asked

Van Mook also was reported to have requested that conferences begin immediately to bridge the gap between the original Dutch plan for a joint Dutch-Indonesian constabulary and a republican compromise suggestion that individual states under the interim government control the constabulary under ultimate federal control.

Indonesian sources said Setiadjit would ask Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin himself to come to Batavia for talks to settle the constabulary issue.

Iran Martial Law Seen As Gag On Press

Tehran, July 9 (AP)—Martial law was in effect throughout Iran today by order of Premier Ahmed Qavam. Iranian newsmen forecast that it would be used in suppression of newspapers and arrests of editors critical of the Government.

Shortly after military rule was proclaimed yesterday, crowds assembled in the public squares of the capital to protest the order, and Gen. Ahmed Sepehbod Amir Ahmedi resigned the post of War Minister.

Cabinet Ministers said Ahmedi had quarreled with the Premier over the proclamation. The resignation was accepted by Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi. Ahmedi had served in five cabinets under Qavam. The two had been old friends.

Qavam's sternest newspaper critic has been Attash, generally regarded as an army organ. Friends of the editor, A. Mir Ashrafi, reported that the Government was seeking his arrest.

Qavam Bans Six Papers, Says They Created Panic

TEHRAN, July 9 (AP).—Premier Ahmed Qavam's government, following up its proclamation of martial law, suppressed six Tehran newspapers today on charges of "creating panic." GOODWIN

The action was taken after a four-hour session of the Cabinet, at which Mr. Qavam announced the resignation of General Farajullah Aghaveli as Minister of the Interior. General Ahmed Sepehbod Amir Ahmedi resigned yesterday as War Minister.

Three of the editors of the suppressed newspapers were arrested, and police were searching for the other three executives. The majority of Tehran's newspapers have criticized Mr. Qavam since war-time martial law was lifted last month.

The premier told a news conference that military rule had been reimposed so that the Cabinet could suppress elements of the press which, he said, had been "creating panic and anxiety by publication of unfounded and abusive reports."

The premier cited dispatches in local papers which termed Cabinet members "thieves" and himself "chief of thieves."

An official announcement listed the suppressed newspapers as "Eghdam," "Attash," "Dad," "Ghiami Iran," "Sharaf" and "Sedaye Vatan."

Iranians See Exploding Saucers

Tehran, July 9 (AP)—The flying-saucer fever spread to Iran today.

Press reports from Zabool, Shosef and Sarbisheh, near the Afghan frontier said residents there had observed strange "starlike bodies" in the sky which exploded loudly, leaving a cloud of smoke.

The newspaper Mehri Iran said the objects apparently had something to do with a secret weapon, which it dubbed "V-20."

Chile Sends Reds Protest On Envoys 1947

Santiago, Chile, July 9 (AP)—Official circles reported today that Chile has threatened to recall her diplomatic representatives from Moscow unless satisfactory explanation is given to charges that Chilean diplomats in the Russian capital did not receive proper treatment.

The informants said Vice President Luis Alberto Cuevas told Soviet Ambassador Dimitri Zhukov that if the explanation was not forthcoming within 48 hours, the Chilean representative could be ordered back and Zhukov could be declared persona non grata in Chile.

Equality Reported Sought

Cuevas was reported to have insisted that Chilean diplomats in Moscow be accorded the same treatment as that received by the Russians here.

Authorized Government sources said that among the complaints against the Russians was one that the son of former Ambassador David Crub Ocampo had not been permitted to leave Russia because he was married to a Soviet citizen. The informants said also that two Chilean Embassy attachés were unable to find proper housing facilities in Moscow. bring suit

Senators Want U.S. To Try For U.N. Revision

Washington, July 9 (AP)—A half-dozen Republican and Democratic senators are considering a formal congressional request to President Truman that he take the initiative in a move to reorganize the United Nations.

This proposal, still only in preliminary stages, has been discussed at meetings of the group and may be laid before Congress before it adjourns for the summer late this month.

Those mentioned as possible sponsors of such a request include Senators Sparkman (D., Ala.), Byrd (D., Va.), O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), McMahon (D., Conn.), Baldwin (R., Conn.) and Flanders (R., Vt.).

Call Fo' General Conference

One interested senator said it was hoped that others would add their names, if all the original six finally agreed on the form of a resolution.

Under tentative plans, this resolution would put Congress on record as asking the President to direct the American United Nations delegate, Warren R. Austin, to call for a general conference to revise the United Nations Charter. The aim would be to make that organization a more effective instrument for world peace.

Under Article 109 of the Charter, such a conference can be called by a two-thirds vote of the members of the General Assembly and the approval of any seven Security Council members.

Russ Could Block It

A change in the veto procedure by which any of the Big Five—the United States, Russia, Britain, France and China—can halt almost any effective action by the organization undoubtedly would be proposed as the first business of such a conference.

Although every nation would be limited to a single vote in the conference, Russia, which has made most frequent use of the veto, could block any actual amendment of the Charter if she chose. Amendments become effective only after they have been ratified by two thirds of the United Nations members, including all the "Big Five."

Some senators said the outcome might involve the breaking up of the United Nations and the formation of a new organization without one or more of the present members.

Byrd's Remark In April

Byrd suggested in the Senate last April that the time might be near when the United States would be forced to take the lead in trying to reorganize the United Nations without Russia.

Byrd said, "If Russia continues to sabotage every effort toward world peace, then the only thing to do is to recognize the realities and to establish a group of nations who will co-operate effectively and act together."

The proposed sponsors of the congressional resolution have weighed this possibility, along with what some of them called the psychological benefit of an American move to give the international organization more authority.

May Gain In Popularity

Although not hoping for congressional action now, members of the group said they thought it might be wise to have the proposal on file in the possibly turbent months ahead.

If Russia remains adamant in her refusal to join in efforts to rehabilitate Europe, and continues to block agreement on international atomic controls, some of these senators believe such a resolution may have strong appeal to many lawmakers.

TALK PREVALENT OF GOING AHEAD WITHOUT RUSSIA

Move Seen 'Surest Way' to Determine if Soviet Is Bent on Conquest.

3 RESOLUTIONS OFFERED

Reorganization Meeting Suggested to Revise Charter of World Body.

WASHINGTON, July 9—(AP) Three resolutions were introduced today in Congress aimed to give the United Nations a strong arm and a new start—with talk of dropping Russia if she balks.

Ten house members, including Republicans and Democrats, declared the calling of a new charter conference to give UN power to enforce "world law to prevent war" would be the surest way of "determinging whether the Soviet Union is bent on conquest."

Urge Truman to Call Meeting

Ten senators from both parties proposed a reorganization meeting, to be called by President Truman, to propose revisions to strengthen the organization in maintaining world peace. Senators suggested it might be necessary to go ahead without Russia.

The third resolution promptly followed in the Senate. Proposed by one of these senators and two others, it suggested that UN be given authority to enact, interpret and enforce laws to keep peace.

The house proposal was similar. It would have Congress urge the President to take the initiative in calling a general UN conference under provisions of its charter "for the purpose ofmaking the United Nations capable of enacting, interpreting and enforcing world law to prevent war."

Rep. Judd (R-Minn) told the House: "Let us revive the hope of the world for peace."

Sponsors Explain Stand

In addition to Judd, those introducing the resolution were Rep. Hays (D-Ark), William T. Byrne (D-NY), Kefauver (D-Tenn), Richards (D-SC), Mansfield (D-Mont) Mundt (R-SD), Hale (R-Me), Muhlenberg (R-Pa), and Nixon (R-Calif).

The 10 members issued a statement saying:

"The sponsors believe that there is no surer way of determining whether the Soviet Union is bent on conquest than by learning whether she would be willing to go along with other nations in creating a United Nations which could guarantee her security."

"Experience of the last two years has convinced the members of this group that the UN needs strengthening if it is to preserve world peace.

"The sponsors believe that the U. S. direct action in offering aid to Greece and Turkey and in the matter of European rehabilitation—not to speak of American reluctance to place the international control of atomic energy in the hands of UN Security Council—shows clearly that the UN is not—in its present form—adequate to cope with the stresses and strains of a divided world.

Favor Bolstering

"At the same time, debate on the aid to Greece and Turkey bill, they claim, showed not only a general belief among members of Congress that the United Nations is our only hope for peace, but also a very strong tide of opinion in favor of strengthening the United Nations to enable it to do its job."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) offered the first solution to the Senate in which nine others joined. He told reporters that he and others are "coming gradually to the conclusion" that if Russia fails to cooperate, it may be necessary to re-form the United Nations without that country.

"If peace can't be maintained with Russia, naturally we will have to do all we can to maintain it without Russia," he declared.

Baldwin, McMahon are Sponsors

Ferguson was joined in sponsoring the resolution by Senators Tobey (R-NH), Baldwin (R-Conn), Flanders (R-Vt), Cain (R-Wash), Byrd (D-Va), O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), McMahon (D-Conn), Sparkman (D-Ala) and Taylor (D-Idaho).

Taylor subsequently proposed that the call for the United Nations charter conference be directed toward providing the UN with "a legislative branch to enact law, an executive branch with all power necessary to enforce law and a judicial branch to interpret law." Taylor said Senators Chavez (D-NM) and Johnston (D-SC) joined him in sponsorship of this proposal.

In an accompanying statement, Taylor said that the "big five" veto must be eliminated "in the area in which the world laws apply."

"This is the minimum price of peace," he declared. "It must be paid.

"There are some who will object that the Soviet government will never accept these changes.

'Only Way to Find Out'

"Perhaps it will not, but the only way to find out is for the United States to make known its own readiness to accept the restrictions on its sovereign independence essential to peace. If Russia then refuses to cooperate in building a common security, we will know where we stand and will know also that we have done all within our power to prevent the impending catastrophe."

Ferguson said he and others of the group of 10 recognize the difficulties which lie ahead in an attempt to change the UN charter. The resolutions, if passed, would merely be an expression of congressional views, and would not necessarily lead to UN action.

Under Article 109, of the UN charter, a charter conference can be called by a two thirds vote of the general assembly members, plus the approval of any seven Security Council members.

However, the charter cannot be changed unless all of the five permanent members of the Security Council approve. These are the United States, Russia, Britain, France and China.

But Ferguson said he and his colleagues have become convinced that the UN needs strengthening. They believe, he said, that Congress should express its ideas "so that the world will know that the people of this country are back of the United Nations."

Naturally, he continued, discussion of the veto would come up immediately at the conference and Russia could block any charter change it opposed.

Sponsors of the resolutions conceded privately that they have little, if any, chance to bring them to a decision in the remaining weeks before the scheduled July 26 adjournment of Congress.

However, they said, they believe international developments may increase interest in such proposals before Congress meets again in January.

Russia As U.S. Partner Soon Is Doubted

Washington, July 9 (AP)—A conviction that the United States must deal with Russia for many years "as a rival, not a partner," is expressed in a highly authoritative but anonymously published article which is attracting much diplomatic attention.

It outlines the view that if the Soviet Union can be held in check for the next decade or longer, the result may be either a more cooperative attitude or a breakdown of Russian power.

The article is published in the July issue of Foreign Affairs, a quarterly magazine, under the signature of "Mr. X." there is speculation among diplomatic officials that it sets forth the views of George Kennan, chief of Secretary of State Marshall's new policy-planning staff.

Department Mum

The State Department refused comment today as to whether Kennan, a top-ranking diplomat with years of experience in Moscow and great influence here, actually wrote the article. Whether he did or not, the interest displayed in it by responsible officials leaves no doubt that it is authoritative.

The theme of the article is that (a) Soviet leaders hope for and expect an eventual breakdown of the capitalist world (b) that meanwhile they justify their dictatorship by preaching inside Russia "the menace" of capitalist encirclement and (c) abroad they follow a practice of expanding into all areas where other powers are weak.

"Has No Timetable"

One key to Soviet action, according to "Mr. X," is that the Soviets have no timetable and constantly can retreat or expand according to the counter forces set up against them.

The writer argues, however, that they cannot always, as a matter of tactics, wait and accomplish nothing.

He speculates that if the United States, along with other western nations, can follow a policy of "firm containment" of the Soviet Union for ten or fifteen years, the result may be either a "mellowing" or a breakdown of Soviet power.

"Patient But Firm"

"It is clear that the main element of any United States policy toward the Soviet Union must be that of a long-term, patient but firm and vigilant containment of Russian expansive tendencies," the writer declares.

Beyond this, he says, "the issue of Soviet-American relations is in essence a test of the overall worth of the United States as a nation among nations."

The article was written before the Marshall plan for economic recovery in Europe was proposed and thus does not comment on the plan's potential worth as an active American economic move.

"Fact Louder Than Words"

Explaining that Communists recognize only the "master's voice" of the Kremlin and heed its orders, the writer said even top leaders "are not likely to be swayed by any normal logic in the words of the bourgeoisie representatives."

"Since there can be no appeal to common purposes," the article continues, "there can be no appeal to common mental approaches. For this reason, facts speak louder than words to the ears of the Kremlin; and words carry the greatest weight when they have the ring of reflecting, or being backed up by, facts of unchallengeable validity."

Countermeasures

The "patient persistence" by which Soviet political action moves, the writer says, "means that it can be effectively countered not by sporadic acts which represent the momentary whims of democratic opinions but only by intelligent long-range policies on the part of Russia's adversaries: policies no less steady in their purpose and no less variegated and resourceful in their application than those of the Soviet Union itself."

The Soviets, the writer argues, have succeeded in maintaining "internal political security" and in building up heavy industry—their great economic goal—only at a "terrible cost in human life and in human hopes and energies."

Called Disillusioned

Adding the destruction and losses of the war to this, he says that in Russia today "the masses of people are disillusioned, skeptical and no longer as accessible as they once were to the magical attraction which Soviet power still radiates to its followers abroad."

RUSSIA GIVEN OIL DESPITE PROTEST

License Granted After Probe Head Asked Refusal

Washington, July 9 (AP)—The Commerce Department today granted a special export license for shipment of petroleum products to Russia only a few hours after Representative Weichel (R., Ohio), chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, demanded the license be refused.

William C. Foster, Under Secretary of Commerce, acknowledged his office issued the license after Weichel had telephoned him yesterday to halt the movement of 248,000 barrels of petroleum now being loaded aboard three American-owned tankers on the West Coast.

Chairman Appears Angry

Foster's own announcement was made calmly before the Merchant Marine Committee in response to a question by Representative Willis Bradley (R., Cal.).

Obviously taken by surprise and apparently angry, Weichel demanded to know whether Foster had receive the message "on behalf of the committee."

Foster—That's right, sir.

Weichel—What did you do about it?

Plans More Licenses

Foster said that it had been taken "under consideration."

Earlier, he had declared, in response to questions, that the department planned to continue to issue export licenses.

In his prepared statement, he said "we are anxious to preserv, and develop a healthy domestic industry, but it will still be necessary to import in order further to supplement our own production."

He said the department does not believe that exports of petroleum and petroleum products "should be prohibited or drastically curtailed. To do so would upset the world system of distribution and make petroleum a source of international friction."

Proposes Quota Study

But Foster said that future requirements for petroleum exports would be examined "in terms of their urgency, the ability of the United States to supply, with due consideration for the needs of the domestic economy," and export quotas for the various countries then would be fixed.

He explained that ther countries were dependent upon the United States for 45 per cent of their petroleum and petroleum products, that cessation of exports would cause "chaos and confusion" in "friendly" countries; that this country itself was a big petroleum importer, and that a ban on exports might lead to a ban on imports.

The explanation left Weichel far from satisfied.

Blamed For Shortage

He cited figures purporting to show that the United States has exported 220,000,000 barrels of oil since the first of last year, and blamed the exports for a shortage of oil products in the mid-West.

He brushed aside Foster's explanation that lack of transportation, and storage facilities were the basic causes.

"You let it run wild," snapped Weichel.

"I don't consider it (the exports) is running wild," replied Foster.

Russians Pay U. S. 'Pipe-Line' Interest

$4,170,000 Is Installment on Lend-Lease Goods

Washington, July 9 (AP).—Russia has paid $4,170,000 to the United States as part payment for interest due July 1 on the lend-lease "pipe-line agreement," the State Department announced today.

The Soviet payment represents the first installment of the thirty-year credit arrangement agreed to Oct. 15, 1945. How much more is due on the interest payment will not be known until the Treasury has certified the full amount of the credit used by Russia so far.

By the agreement the United States extended Russia $251,000,000 in credit to pay for goods en route or already ordered when lend-lease was shut off on V-J Day. About $18,000,000 of these supplies have been held up by Congressional refusal to authorize shipments.

AID TO GREECE IS DISCUSSED

Marshall And Tsaldaris Confer On U.S. Plans

BOMAR

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, and Constantine Tsaldaris, Greek Foreign Minister, discussed American plans to bolster Greece today as arrangements were made for the United States official mission to leave for Athens.

The meeting followed an unusual conference of cabinet members at the State Department on the Greek aid plans. It was attended by Marshall, John W. Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury; Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War; James V. Forrestal of the Navy; William C. Foster, Under Secretary of Commerce.

Tsaldaris, who came to the capital from sessions of the United Nations Security Council, said he discussed with Marshall "different matters" in connection with the $300,000,000 fund to rstore Greece's economy and bolster her armed forces.

Round Up "Forced"

The Athens Government, he said, was "forced" by evidence of a Communist plot to round up some 2,000 suspects in the Gretek capital today. His Government, he said, has announced willingness nevertheless to extend the general amnesty for the fourth time, and is ready to accept foreign observers to see that its terms are carried out.

The White House disclosed that President Truman's new personal plane, the Independence, would take Dwight Griswold, chief of the aid mission, to Athens along with a five-man vanguard of his official staff.

Eben Ayers, a presidential press secretary, said present plans are to leave Sunday at 12.45 P.M. The plane on a shakedown flight will return to Greece the body of former Ambassador Cimon Diamantopoulos, who died last December. Rear Admiral James K. Foskett, the President's naval aide, is to accompany the party.

80 Military Personnel

Griswold said in a broadcast tonight that his mission would consist initially of about 40 civilian principles and 80 army and navy officers and men.

In addition to the prospective $300,000,000 outlay for economic recovery, Greece will have a share of approximately $50,000,000 in the $350,000,000 program of emergency relief for Europe and China.

"We want to see this long-time friend and brave ally restored to her rightful place in the peaceful family of nations," Griswold said. "We feel that Greece should have the chance to put her house in order, free from the menace of hostile forces across her borders."

Outlining aid plans, Griswold, former Governor of Nebraska, said specifically that the Corinth Canal will be reopened and the port of Piraeus rebuilt. The mission, he said, will control the disbursement of all American funds.

SENATE APPROVES UNIFICATION BILL, REJECTS CHANGES

Measure Places Land, Sea and Air Forces Under Single Cabinet Officer.

GOES TO HOUSE

Revisions Held Necessary to Save U. S. from Destruction if War Strikes.

WASHINGTON, July 9—(AP) The Senate stamped its approval tonight upon a permanent unification of the Army, Navy and Air Forces.

The compromise measure—developed after repeated requests by President Truman during the past two years—now goes to the House where Republican leaders have it on their "must list."

Passed on Voice Vote

The Senate passed the bill on a voice vote after rejecting a series of amendments by Senator E. V. Robertson (R-Wyo), who with some support from Navy and Marine corps enthusiasts, had been battling the measure.

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Senate Armed Services committee and other supporters said the far-reaching revision of the armed forces is necessary to save the United States from destruction when and if a future war strikes.

Under the bill, called "The National Defense Act of 1947", all land, sea and air forces would be placed under a single cabinet officer, the secretary of national security. The air forces would be raised to co-equal status with the Army and Navy.

Lose Cabinet Places

The present secretaries of War (Army) and Navy would lose their cabinet places but along with a new secretary of air would continue to administer the three departments.

Four wartime agencies—most of them set up by presidential order—would be given permanent status within the overall national security organization.

They are:

A national War council headed by the new secretary of national security and composed of the civilian and professional chiefs of the Army, Navy and air force departments.

The joint chiefs of staff composed of the military and navy leaders of the three armed services. They would direct strategic policy but would not have actual command authority.

A munitions board composed of the under or assistant secretaries of the three departments which would direct military purchases.

A national research and development board which would push plans for scientific or "push button warfare" including atomic development and other weapons. It would succeed the wartime office of scientific research and development.

Would Create 3 Agencies

In addition to the three departments and four agencies under the secretary of national security, three other agencies would be created to report directly to the President.

They are: A national security council composed of the secretaries of national security, State, Army, Navy and Air. It is to coordinate all foreign domestic, and military policies at top level in the interests of national defense. These functions were carried on by the state-war-navy coordinating committee during the recent war.

A national security resources board, to be appointed by the president, which is to plan the overall military, civilian and industrial mobilization during peace and take over these actual operations in case of war.

A central intelligence agency which is to obtain and coordinate all information necessary for shaping foreign and military policies.

As a concession to navy and marine interests, the Senate bill definitely provides that functions and size of the marine corps and naval aviation shall not be diminished. This was the reply to contentions that the army wanted to swallow the marines while the army air corps planned to strip away the navy's air arm.

Yanks Bought Opium In India, Note Claims

Washington, July 9 (AP) — An American wartime note to Great Britain, published today by the State Department, said a "considerable number" of American troops became opium addicts during their stay in India.

The note, dealing with postwar plans to control drug traffic in Burma, said the soldiers required special attention upon their return home. No numbers were given.

Congress Interested

The American note of August 8, 1945, and the British reply were published, officials said, because of congressional interest in narcotics problems in the Far East and because of a forthcoming meeting of the United Nations Drugs Commission.

The United States said in its communication that it was convinced from experience that "the only effective method of handling the opium problem is that of prohibition, together with enforcement." Officials said this still is the official American attitude.

Ban Decided On Later

The note raised objections to a proposal by the Burma Government to reopen shops for the sale of opium to licensed consumers once the Japanese invaders were put to rout.

"The smuggling of Burmese monopoly opium into this country will doubtless occur just as opium sold by the British shops in India is now being smuggled into the illicit market in the United States," the 1945 note said.

Britain, in a belated reply dated November 12, 1946, said the Burma Government had decided in the meantime to abolish the system of licensed shops. The British note contended that there were no known cases of addiction by American troops in Burma.

Refugee Priority Is Attacked

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Chairman Fellows (R., Maine) of a House Judiciary subcommittee attacked today as "mbrutal" a priority provision in the Stratton refugee-immigration bill which would give first admission to relatives of United States citizens.

His protest came as a Catholic clergyman, a Labor Department spokesman, and two veterans organizations appeared to support the bill—introduced by Representative Stratton (R., Ill.)—for admission of 400,000 of Europe's homeless war refugees.

Fellows contended the uriority clause would result in "unfair treatment" for groups lacking large representation in this country's present populations. "The others with relatives," he said, without identifying them by nationality or race, "have friends and money backing in this country."

Priority Under Act

The clause would provide that "priority under this act shall be given to the widow, parents, children, and other relatives to the fourth degree of consanguinity of citizens of the United States or of persons who served honorably in the armed services" of this country.

This would mean, for example, that the father, brother, nephew and grand-nephew of a citizen in this country would have the first opportunity among the displaced persons to obtain admission to this country if the bill becomes law.

Representative Celler (D., N.Y.), a member of the subcommittee, declared that the clause is not intended to aid any particular group, but that it follows a "time honored principle" in immigration "of assembling families."

Would Revise Clause

He said he would be willing to have the clause revised if the subcommittee reached agreement on admitting 400,000 refugees.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John O'Grady, secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Charities, declared that the United States has a choice between helping find homes for the refugees or "turning Europe over to communism and the other 'isms."

Distribution Of Skill

Philip Hannah, Assistant Secretary of Labor, declared the displaced persons group "possesses certain skills and industrial experience now in short supply in America."

"The group as a whole is so small and possesses a skill distribution of such character that it should not affect employment opportunities for American workers," he said.

Edward T. McCaffrey, chairman of the national executive committee of the Catholic War Veterans, declared that those veterans organizations which "are on record as opposed to immigration, may find a substantial, if not a majority change of opinion among their rank and file."

He said he appeared also for the Jewish war veterans.

D.P.'s Held No Job Peril

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Philip Hannah, Assistant Secretary of Labor, said today that the admission of 400,000 displaced Europeans into the United States would "actually increase our economic well-being."

Arguing for passage of a bill which would let 100,000 a year through immigration barriers for the next four years, Hannah declared:

"The assumption of this responsibility is entirely in keeping both with our tradition of providing haven for the oppressed, and our present postion of leadership in the world."

Belief "Erroneous"

Hannah prepared his statement for a House Judiciary subcommittee which is considering the measure by Representative Stratton (R., Ill.).

Arguments against the proposal, Hannah said, are based on "the erroneous belief that in any given country during any particular period there are just so many jobs to be filled, and that an increase in population inevitably means that some must go jobless."

He estimated that of the 100,000 who would be admitted each year under the Stratton bill, not more than 60,000 would be of working age or in need of employment.

"This number," Hannah said, "is so small compared to our total labor force of 60,000,000 as to present no problem of competition with native workers."

Skills Of Many Needed

He added that "many of these people will meet labor needs that have gone unfilled for some time."

Among them he listed construction workers, nurses, dentists, physicians, farm help, machinists, railway workers and tool makers—all, he said "in short supply in various parts of the country."

President Truman has urged Congress to adopt such a measure to aid some of the 850,000 persons, uprooted from their homes by the war, who now live mainly in camps in Germany, Italy and Austria.

House Kills Probe Of Greek Packages

Washington, July 9 (AP)—The House today killed a resolution calling for a State Department investigation into the shipment of food packaged from Greece to the United States.

Action came on a voice vote after the Foreign Affairs Committee reported receipt of a letter from the State Department saying the Federal Trade Commission is investigating "the principal American commercial firms involved to ascertain whether unfair trade practices or fraud have been employed."

The department said that an initial inquiry showed that 848 packages inspected by the Greek Government contained "mainly home specialties" and products of which Greece has a surplus.

PRIEST SEES KOREAN PERIL

Father Flanagan Says Reds Will Rule if We Quit Zone

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Father Edward J. Flanagan, Catholic priest just returned from Korea and Japan, asserted today that "Europe and the Orient will be swamped by Communism" if the United States fails to press forward with the teaching of democracy.

Without mentioning Russia by name, Father Flanagan deplored at a news conference the situation in Korea, where the Russians occupy the northern half of the country. He said that if the United States pulled out of southern Korea 'the northern force would come down and spread its virus—there's no doubt of that."

Between 2,000 and 3,000 refugees cross the border from northern Korea into the American zone each day, he reported.

Father Flanagan, famous as founder of Boys Town, Neb., went to Japan at the request of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to advise on child welfare programs in the occupied zones.

MAY ASKS FOR NEW TRIAL

Garssons Join Motion Charging Conviction Was Unjust

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Classing their recent bribery conviction as "unfair," former Representative Andrew J. May and Henry and Murray Garsson, munition makers, applied today for a new trial.

May and the Garsson brothers were accused of a conspiracy involving buying May's services as chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee for more than $50,000 to aid the Garssons' $70,000,000 wartime arms enterprises.

"The verdict of 'guilty,'" the motions said, "was returned under circumstances of prejudice and ill-will against the defendants that rendered the verdict unfair and unjust. It should be set aside in the interests of fair play and justice."

The court is expected to set the motions down for argument soon and dispose of them before sentences are passed. The three men face a maximum penalty of six years in prison and a $30,000 fine for each.

Wainwright's Relief Named

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Gen. Thomas T. Handy, army deputy chief of staff, will succeed Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Corregidor, as commander of the 4th Army, with headquarters at San Antonio, Texas, when Wainwright retires.

Maj. Gen. John T. Lewis, now on duty in the office of the chief of staff, will succeed Eddy as deputy commander of the 2d Army.

The War Department said today that Wainwright will doff his uniform August 31. Handy will assume command the next day.

The new deputy chief will be Lieut. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, wartime commander of the 7th Army Corps in the European campaign and currently chief of information of the War Department.

Eddy Transferred

Succeeding Collins as information chief will be Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, new deputy commander of the 2d Army at its headquarters at Fort Meade, Md.

Wainwright, 64, whose army career dates oack to 1906, has said he will become an executive with a grocery chain with headquarters in San Antonio.

Handy has been mentioned, among others, in speculation over a successor for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief of staff, who will retire next year to become president of Columbia University.

CANADA WILL RETURN EXCESS FREIGHT CARS

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation took steps today to obtain the prompt return of United States freight cars, particularly coal cars, from Canadian rail lines.

Both Government and railroad officials of the two countries participated in a conference in the office of Col. J. Monroe Johnson, ODT director.

There is a continuous interchange of cars between the United States and Canadian railroads in traffic crossing the border. Participants in the conference said Canada now has 15,000 more United States cars than this country has of Canada's.

Colonel Johnson was quoted as advising the Canadian representatives that the tight car situation in this country requires prompt return of the United States rolling stock and as saying this is particularly true of coal cars as the result of the resumption of mining.

Participants said he was assured that action would be taken and that there was no suggestion in the conference that embargo action might be required to bring the interchange into balance.

The Canadian delegation included C. D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction and Supply; B. S. Liberty, Transport Comptroller; G. L. Magann, counselor of the Embassy in Washington; W. A. Kirkpatrick of Canadian National Railways, and R. E. Taylor of the Canadian Pacific.

W. C. Kendall of the car service division of the Association of American Railroads represented the carriers of this country.

To Honor Bonds, Italy Announces

Washington, July 9 (AP)—The Italian Government announced today it has agreed to honor fully $93,000,000 in prewar bonds floated in the United States.

Ivan Matteo Lombardo, head of an Italian financial mission, said this plan has been approved "in principle" by the Foreign Bondholders Protective Council in New York after several discussions.

In addition, the Italian Government will pay $42,000,000 in interest which has accumulated since 1940 when service was suspended. This will make the total obligation the new Italian Republic will assume $135,000,000. The old bonds to be honored include those marketed by the Kingdom of Italy, municipal issues by the cities of Milan and Rome and those of public utilities and private industrial corporations.

The new bonds are expected to bear interest at one per cent from 1947 through 1949, two per cent for 1950 and 1951, and three per cent beginning in 1952. They will have an accumulated sinking fund of one per cent annually from 1952 to 1956 and two per cent yearly beginning in 1957.

Britons Are Protesting Join-U.S. Suggestion

Memphis, Tenn., July 9 (AP)—Margery Lawrence, English playwright, has joined hundreds of other Britons in protesting by mail the suggestion of a Memphis girl that England join the United States.

Doris Winn, who set off the hubbub several weeks ago with an open letter to the London Daily Mirror, said today Miss Lawrence's letter was one of the most interesting replies she has received.

"I would rather see my country sunk and crumble altogether, leaving only a great memory behind," Miss Lawrence wrote, "than lose its identity and become a mere extra province of America or of any other country in the world."

Miss Winn said she has received about 700 letters from England and 300 are yet unopened.

Probe Of Communist Infiltration To Start

Washington, July 9 (AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities announced today it will start its investigation of alleged Communist infiltration into two labor unions during the week of July 21.

Chairman Thomas (R., N.J.) said the investigation will deal with reports that Communists have been active in the United Electrical Workers and the Winston Salem (N.C.) local of the Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers. Both are CIO affiliates.

Thomas said witnesses will include members of the Bridgeport (Conn.) local of the electrical workers' union and the Winston Salem union.

Others to be heard, he said, will include Victor Kravchenko, author of "I Chose Freedom," and Walter Steel, publisher of National Republic.

FBI Recovered A-Bomb Documents Stolen by Two Ex-GIs, Senate Told

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) told the Senate today that two souvenir-hunting soldiers surreptitiously removed "certain important documents" from atomic energy files at Los Alamos, N. M., in March, 1946, but that FBI agents recovered the papers.

So far as he knows no damage was done to the security of the atomic secrets, said Hickenlooper, who is chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy committee.

He said the secret data were taken from the Los Alamos testing station by two former army sergeants before their demobilization. He described them as "souvenir hunters."

Documents Recovered

The department of Justice still has the case under consideration, Hickenlooper reported, but he told his colleagues:

"So far as I know, no effective breach of security x x x was accomplished.

"The documents were, as we believe, completely and fully recovered. x x xThe individuals did not allow unauthorized persons to have any access to these documents, and we have no present information that any unauthorized persons did in fact see the documents other than the two army sergeants."

Hickenlooper said the ex-sergeants apparently kept the documents locked up in their private papers and files.

"The evidence does not disclose that they were displayed to anyone," he said.

No Charges Lodged

FBI headquarters here declined to disclose the names of the two former sergeants, but said they are not in custody at this time and no formal charges have been lodged against them.

"Attorneys of the Department of Justice have been conferring with the Atomic Energy commission staff with regard to the further course of action to be taken," the FBI said in a statement.

The statement said FBI agents took up the trail of the missing documents last April when the Atomic Energy commission referred the case to FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover.

It did not say how long it took the FBI to recover the papers, but said that the matter was reported to Hickenlooper's congressional committee last June 17.

Under the atomic energy law, the penalty for disclosing a-bomb secrets to an enemy is death. Department of Justice officials were uncertain, however, as to the penalty, if any, in the present case.

Hickenlooper's disclosure followed publication of a story by the New York Sun reporting that secret A-bomb data had been stolen by unidentified agents working within the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic energy plant.

No Loss at Oak Ridge, He Says

Hickenlooper threw cold water on this report, declaring:

"So far as the loss of files at Oak Ridge is coicerned, my committee has no information on the subject, and, presently, no reason to believe that important, highly classified secret documents have been surreptitiously removed from that institution."

Then he went on to say that the civilian-administered Atomic Energy commission, headed by David E. Lilienthal, "did appear and report" to the joint congressional committee that "there were certain missing atomic energy files at the Los Alamos plant in New Mexico."

He said this information had been known to the committee for some time, but that it has been considered "vital and secret information".

"Yet perhaps in the light of this news story," he said, "specific facts should be given to the Congress and the country."

Hickenlooper said the documents were removed by the two army sergeants, who had been detailed to the A-bomb project, when it was under the War department.

"The fact that the documents were missing was discovered by the present Atomic Energy commission in the early part of this year, shortly after it took over," he continued.

"Those facts were brought to the attention of the FBI and to the attention of the joint committee."

Hickenlooper said the FBI, acting "with immedate vigor", promptly located the two men and the documents were recoverd intact.

Hickenlooper made no mention of the two sergeants having been arrested, but Senator McMahon (D-Conn) said in a statement that the FBI had done "truly magnificant work in this casex x x in bringing the culprit to book."

Balkans Dispute

Lake Success, N.Y., July 9 (AP)—France and Colombia have approached the United States with compromises aimed at reconciling the opposed American and Russian proposals for settlement of Balkan disorders, it was learned authoritatively today.

The American delegation to the United Nations has rejected both proposals designed to water down the United States resolution calling for a semi-permanent investigating commission to halt Greek border disturbances.

Russia already has rejected the commission idea, put all the blame on Greece, and insisted that the Athens Government itself take steps to correct the situation.

U.S. Declared Confident

Despite off-the-floor maneuvering, the United States was represented as confident that it could muster the necessary seven Security Council votes to pass the resolution, leaving Russia with the veto as the only weapon to block action.

Details of the French and Colombian proposals were lacking but they were understood to call for a commission without power to act except with the express consent of Greece and three Soviet satellites—Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria. The compromise wording would give the commission power only to help the governments work out problems of minorities, refugees and border conventions.

The French move was viewed as an outgrowth of pressure from the Communists at home to follow a line close to Russia. France had abstained on the report of the Security Council's Balkan investigating commission, which brought in findings forming a basis for the American resolution.

Compromise May Reach Floor

The Security Council will renew its discussions on the Greek situation tomorrow afternoon. Some compromise plans may reach the floor.

Meanwhile, Frederick H. Osborn, American delegate, warned the political committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission against any wording in an atomic treaty which would allow nations to pile up enough nuclear fuel to be "of military significance."

Commenting on proposals for research and development, Osborn insisted that an international body should take over research or development operations from an individual nation when the amount of nuclear fuel produced is "dangerous." He defined "dangerous" as meaning when such amounts might be of military significance.

Would Bring Rivalries

Osborn said a suggested alternate in which nations starting research development would have the right to continue with management and operation would open the way for national manufacture of nuclear fuels in dangerous quantities.

"It seems to be inevitable that almost every nation, or rather the army or military people of every nation, would want to be sure that there was such a plant in their nation and that it operated right up to the maximum of the nuclear fuel possible," he said, adding that such a condition would mean national rivalries.

Guise For Making Bombs

He said that under the guise of research a nation could go ahead making bombs.

Sir George Paget Thomson of Britain said he would favor giving an international body the powers of research and development in cases of necessity, "but I should be very sorry to see this function laid upon the agency as a duty."

The committee will meet again next Monday in closed session.

Revision Moves Called Peril To Organization

Lake Success, N.Y., July 9 (AP)—Any attempt to make major revisions in the United Nations Charter at this time might lead to a breakup of the world organization, United Nations officials said today.

Commenting on proposals put forward in Congress today that the United States take the initiative in trying to revise the Charter, one United Nations source said:

"There is absolutely no chance of revising the Charter under present circumstances. Any serious move in this direction by the United States might mean the end of the United Nations."

Delegates Blame Distrust

Delegates were reluctant to comment on the proposals until it was learned whether Congress would act on whether President Truman would eventually implement the resolution. The general feeling among the delegates was that the present difficulties in the United Nations stem primarily from distrust among the big powers rather than from Charter defects.

30. 24- 10827

One source pointed out, for instance, that most of the trouble came from the failure of Russia and the Western powers to cooperate and that this basic factor could hardly be changed by amendments to the Charter.

Support Scattered

The question of Charter revision came up in the General Assembly last fall, but received only scattered support. Almost all the delegates deplored Russia's frequent use of the big power veto in the Security Council but they generally agreed that modification of the Charter was not the answer.

There was no indication that a move to revise the Charter could muster the necessary two-thirds vote in the Assembly and seven votes out of eleven in the Security Council.

Approval of all five big powers is necessary to change the Charter. Any one of them could kill any proposed amendment with the veto.

Soviet Union—and France, with her big Communist vote at home, were viewed as possible originators.

The American delegation was expected to reply to some of Gromyko's more biting accusations against the United States later this week.

Gromyko Doubts Saucer Is Discus

Lake Success, N.Y., July 9 (AP)—Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, gave his observations today on the great mystery of the American skies.

"I have not yet had an opportunity to study the skies for a flying saucer," he said, "and I have not seen one. I should like to see one—in technicolor.

"Some attribute it to the British for exporting too much of their Scotch whisky into the United States. Some say it is a Russian discus thrower training for the Olympic games who does not realize his own strength. I do not think these versions are correct."

U.S. To Reject Compromises In Balkan-Inquiry Dispute

Lake Success, July 9 (AP)—The United States served notice today that it would reject any compromise plans growing out of Russia's counterproposal to the United Nations on Balkan disorders.

A spokesman said American demands for a semi-permanent border commission to watch over Greece's frontiers with Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria were not affected by the latest Russian arguments.

"Feelers" Put Out Already

He added that the Council would eventually have to vote on the American resolution, which embodies the principal points of a majority report submitted by the eleven-nation Balkan Investigating Commission. Such a ballot would force Russia to veto or abstain in view of her announced refusal to accept the American motion.

The spokesman conceded that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's 78-minute speech yesterday, virtually in direct opposition to the American stand, might prompt some delegations to put forward such compromises. He said some "feelers" had already been turned aside by the Americans.

There still was nothing definite on new proposals, but Poland—a constant voting partner with the

JUL 1947

Christian Democrats, Republicans and anti-Communist Socialists led by Giuseppe Saragat voted for immediate ratification, while the Communists and their Socialist allies joined deputies of the far right in favoring postponing ratification until Russia has ratified the treaty.

Giovanni Gronchi, a Christian Democrat, put the motion for immediate ratification, urging it as necessary for further international collaboration in which the motion said it was hoped "all nations, chief among them Russia, now maintaining an attitude of reserve," would join.

The motion exhorted the Italian government to take "appropriate action" to try to persuade these nations to collaborate.

The assembly is expected to begin the debate on the treaty Monday, with former Premier Francesco Nitti leading the fight to defer ratification.

WARSAW, JULY 9-(AP)-POLAND TONIGHT REJECTED AN INVITATION TO ATTEND THE JULY 12 CONFERENCE IN PARIS ON THE MARSHALL PLAN FOR ECONOMIC AID TO EUROPE.

IN REJECTING THE CONFERENCE BID, SENT TO 22 EUROPEAN NATIONS, COMMUNIST-DOMINATED POLAND FOLLOWED THE LEAD OF HER NEIGHBOR, SOVIET RUSSIA, WHO REFUSED TO PARTICIPATE DURING THE RECENT THREE-POWER FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE IN PARIS.

IN RECENT DAYS, HOWEVER, THE POLISH FOREIGN MINISTRY HAD SAID WARSAW WAS "DEEPLY INTERESTED" IN EUROPEAN RECONSTRUCTION AND THE PARIS CONFERENCE.

THERE WAS NO IMMEDIATE EXPLANATION OF THE NATION'S ACTION, BUT THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS MINISTRY CALLED A LATE EVENING NEWS CONFERENCE, PRESUMABLY TO EMPLAIN THE MATTER.

THE DECISION WAS ANNOUNCED AFTER A FOUR-HOUR CABINET SESSION.

PRIOR TO THE NEWS CONFERENCE, THE FOREIGN MINISTRY SENT WORD TO THE BRITISH AND FRENCH AMBASSADORS THAT THE INVITATION HAD BEEN REFUSED.

ONE OF THE MAIN REASONS APPEARED TO BE A BELIEF THAT UNDER THE MARSHALL PROPOSAL GERMANY WOULD SHARE EQUALLY IN RECONSTRUCTION EFFORTS WITH OTHER WAR TORN COUNTRIES.

THE GOVERNMENT'S ACTION PLACED POLAND IN A PECULIAR POSITION, FOR IT HAS BEEN PLEADING FOR AID, ESPECIALLY FROM THE UNITED STATES AT THE PRESENT TIME THERE IS A MISSION HERE TRYING TO DETERMINE POLAND'S ABILITY TO REPAY A $600,000,000 LOAN SHE HAS ASKED FROM THE WORLD BANK.

MOSCOW, JULY 9-(AP)-TRUD, OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE SOVIET TRADE UNIONS, CALLED ON THE UNIONS TODAY TO SEE THAT LEGISLATION PROTECTING WORKERS IS ENFORCED.

IN ITS LEAD EDITORIAL TRUD CITED ABUSES OF LABOR LEGISLATION AND SAID THE UNIONS SHOULD STOP "THE ILLEGAL INTRODUCTION BY CERTAIN POLITICALLY NEARSIGHTED OFFICIALS OF OVERTIME."

THE EDITORIAL DEMANDED THAT EXECUTIVES IGNORING SOVIET LABOR LAWS BE REMOVED FROM RESPONSIBLE POSITIONS.

A CASE WAS CITED IN WHICH THE MANAGEMENT OF A SUGAR FACTORY ILLEGALLY LENGTHENED THE WORKING DAY AND DEPRIVED A WORKER OF HOLIDAYS. A PROTEST BY THE WORKER TO THE MANAGEMENT WAS WITHOUT RESULT. THE WORKER THEN APPEALED TO HIS TRADE UNION AND PARTY OFFICIALS AT THE FACTORY. A PARTY OFFICIAL TOLD HIM THAT "IF IT DOESN'T SUIT YOU, YOU CAN QUIT."

TRUD SAID THIS WAS AN INSTANCE OF A "REVOLTING CASE OF ILLEGAL ACTION!"

ANOTHER CASE CITED WAS THAT OF THE DIRECTOR OF A CHEMICAL COMBINE WHO INTRODUCED OVERTIME WITH THE CONNIVANCE OF THE TRADE UNION HEAD IN THE COMBINE.

DURING THE WAR, THE PUBLICATION SAID, OVERTIME WAS NECESSARY. SINCE THE WAR, IT CONTINUED, THE NORMAL WORK DAY HAS BEEN REESTABLISHED THROUGHOUT INDUSTRY, ADDING:

HE TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS THE SUM WOULD COVER ESTIMATES FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDING NEXT MARCH 31.

ALTHOUGH CANADA HAS BEEN WARY OF GIVING OFFENSE TO RUSSIA AND HAS BEEN EXTREMELY CAUTIOUS IN COOPERATING WITH THE UNITED STATES, CLAXTON'S STATEMENT WAS TAKEN TO MEAN TACIT AGREEMENT WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S VIEWS THAT ARMS THROUGHOUT THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE SHOULD IN EFFECT BE STANDARDIZED FOR THE COMMON GOOD.

Ottawa, July 9-(AP)-Defense Minister Brooke Claxton proposed a $240,000,000 defense budget today, saying one of Canada's aims was "cooperation with countries of the commonwealth, the United States and other like-minded countries in working out common standards, planning and training."

He told the house of commons the sum would cover estimates for the fiscal year ending next March 31.

Although Canad has been wary of giving offense to Russia and has been extremely cautious in cooperating with the United States, Claxton's statement was taken to mean tacit agreement with President Truman's views that arms throughout the western hemisphere should in effect be standardized for the common good.

Introduction of the [redacted] defense budget followed by one day a meeting of Canadian external affairs experts with about 100 members of parliament.

Undersecretary L. B. Pearson was reported to have told the secret session that it would take Russian to to 20 years to develop its war potential to equal that of the United States. The possibility of fighting touching the North American continent by invasion or projectiles in event of another war also was understood to have been mentioned.

FORT WORTH,TEX., JULY 9.-(AP)-AN EXAMINATION BY THE ARMY REVEALED LAST NIGHT THAT A MYSTERIOUS OBJECT FOUND ON A LONELY NEW MEXICO RANCH WAS A HARMLESS HIGH-ALTITUDE WEATHER BALLOON--NOT A GROUNDED FLYING DISC.

EXCITEMENT WAS HIGH IN DISC-CONSCIOUS TEXAS UNTIL BRIG. GEN. ROGER M. RAMEY, COMMANDER OF THE EIGHTH AIR FORCES WITH HEADQUARTERS HERE, CLEARED UP THE MYSTERY.

THE BUNDLE OF TINFOIL, BROKEN WOOD BEAMS AND RUBBER REMNANTS OF A BALLOON WERE SENT HERE YESTERDAY BY ARMY AIR TRANSPORT IN THE WAKE OF REPORTS THAT IT WAS A FLYING DISC.

BUT THE GENERAL SAID THE OBJECTS WERE THE CRUSHED REMAINS OF A RAY WIND TARGET USED TO DETERMINE THE DIRECTION AND VELOCITY OF WINDS AT HIGH ALTITUDES.

WARRANT OFFICER IRVING NEWTON, FORECASTER AT THE ARMY AIR FORCES WEATHER STATION HERE, SAID "WE USE THEM BECAUSE THEY GO MUCH HIGHER THAN THE EYE CAN SEE."

THE WEATHER BALLOON WAS FOUND SEVERAL DAYS AGO IN A DESOLATE SECTION OF NEW MEXICO BY A RANCHER, W.W.BRAZILL. HE SAID HE DIDN'NT THINK MUCH ABOUT IT UNTIL HE WENT INTO CORONA, N M., LAST SATURDAY AND HEARD THE FLYING DISC REPORTS.

HE RETURNED TO HIS RANCH, 85 MILES NORTHWEST OF ROSWELL, AND RECOVERED THE WRECKAGE OF THE BALLOON, WHICH HE HAD PLACED UNDER SOME BRUSH.

BRIZILL HURRIED BACK TO ROSWELL, WHERE HE REPORTED HIS FIND TO THE SHERIFF'S OFFICE.

THE SHERIFF CALLED THE ROSWELL AIR FIELD AND MAJ. JESSE A. MARCEL, 509TH BOMB GROUP INTELLIGENCE OFFICER, WAS ASSIGNED TO THE CASE.

COL. WILLIAM H. BLANCHARD, COMMANDING OFFICER OF THE BOMB GROUP, REPORTED THE FIND TO GENERAL RAMEY AND THE OBJECT WAS FLOWN IMMEDIATELY TO THE ARMY AIR FIELD HERE.

RAMEY WENT ON THE AIR HERE LAST NIGHT TO ANNOUNCE THE NEW MEXICO DISCOVERY WAS NOT A FLYING DISC.

NEWTON SAID THAT WHEN RIGGED UP,THE INSTRUMENT "LOOKS LIKE A SIX-POINTED STAR, IS SILVERY IN APPEARANCE AND RISES IN THE AIR LIKE A KITE."

IN TOSWELL, THE DISCOVERY SET OFF A FLURRY OF EXCITEMENT.

SHERIFF GEORGE WILCOX'S TELEPHONE LINES WERE CLOGGED.

THREE CALLS CAME FROM ENGLAND,ONE OF THEM FROM THE LONDON DAILY MAIL, HE SAID.

A PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICER HERE SAID THE BALLOON WAS IN HIS OFFICE "AND IT'LL PROBABLY STAY RIGHT THERE."

NEWTON, WHO MADE THE EXAMINATION, SAID SOME 80 WEATHER STATIONS IN THE U.S.WERE USING THAT TYPE OF BALLOON AND THAT IT COULD HAVE COME FROM ANY OF THEM.

HE SAID HE HAD SENT UP IDENTICAL BALLOONS DURING THE INVASION OF OKINAWA TO DETERMINE BALLISTICS INFORMATION FOR HEAVY GUNS.

BY JASON KELLAHIN

ROSWELL, N.M., JULY 9-(AP)-W.W.BRAZEL (CQ), THE RANCHER CREDITED FOR A TIME WITH FINDING THE NATION'S FIRST FLYING DISC, IS SORRY HE SAID ANYTHING ABOUT IT.

THE 48-YEAR-OLD NEW MEXICAN SAID HE WAS AMAZED AT THE FUSS MADE OVER HIS DISCOVERY.

JUL 1947

"IF I FIND ANYTHING ELSE SHORT OF A BOMB IT'S GOING TO BE HARD TO GET ME TO TALK," HE TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS HERE EARLY THIS MORNING.

BRAZEL'S DISCOVERY WAS REPORTED LATE YESTERDAY BY LT. WALTER HAUT (CQ BRAZEL'S DISCOVERY WAS REPORTED LATE YESTERDAY BY LT. WALTER HAUT (CQ ROSWELL ARMY AIR FIELD PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICER, AS BEING ONE OF THE FLYING SAUCERS THAT HAVE PUZZLED AND WORRIED RESIDENTS OF 43 STATES THE PAST SEVERAL WEEKS.

LATER, HOWEVER, BRIG. GEN. ROGER RAMEY, COMMANDING GENERAL OF THE EIGHTH AIR FORCE OF WHICH THE ROSWELL FIELD IS A COMPONENT, SAID BRAZEL'S FIND WAS MERELY A WEATHER RADAR TARGET.

BUT BRAZEL WASN'T MAKING ANY CLAIMS. HE SAID HE DIDN'T KNOW WHAT IT WAS.

HE DESCRIBED HIS FIND AS CONSISTING OF LARGE NUMBERS OF PIECES OF PAPER COVERED WITH A FOIL-LIKE SUBSTANCE, AND PIECED TOGETHER WITH SMALL STICKS MUCH LIKE A KITE. SCATTERED WITH THE MATERIALS OVER AN EAREA ABOUT 200 YARDS ACROSS WERE BITS OF GRAY RUBBER. ALL THE PIECES WERE SMALL.

"AT FIRST I THOUGHT IT WAS A KITE, BUT WE COULDN'T PUT IT TOGETHER LIKE ANY KITE I EVER SAW," HE SAID. "IT WASN'T A KITE."

BRAZEL RELATED THIS STORY:

WHILE RIDING THE RANGE ON HIS RANCH 30 MILES SOUTHEAST OF CORONA, N.M., ON JUNE 14 HE SIGHTED SOME SHINY OBJECTS. HE PICKED UP A PIECE OF THE STUFF AND TOOK IT TO THE RANCH HOUSE SEVEN MILES AWAY.

ON JULY 4, HE RETURNED TO THE SITE WITH HIS WIFE AND TWO OF THEIR CHILDREN, VERNON, 8, AND BESSIE, 14. THEY GATHERED ALL THE PIECES THEY COULD FIND. THE LARGEST WAS ABOUT THREE FEET ACROSS.

BRAZEL HADN'T HEARD OF THE FLYING DISCS AT THE TIME. SEVERAL DAYS LATER HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW, HOLLIS WILSON, TOLD HIM OF THE DISC REPORTS AND SUGGESTED IT MIGHT BE ONE.

"WHEN I WENT TO ROSWELL I TOLD SHERIFF GEORGE WILCOX ABOUT IT," HE CONTINUED. "I WAS A LITTLE BIT ASHAMED TO MENTION IT, BECAUSE I DIDN'T KNOW WHAT IT WAS.

"ASKED THE SHERIFF TO KEEP IT KINDA QUIET," HE ADDED WITH A CHUCKLE. "I THOUGHT FOLKS WOULD KID ME ABOUT IT."

SHERIFF WILCOX REFERRED THE DISCOVERY TO INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS AT THE ROSWELL FIELD. MAJ. JESSE A. MARCEL AND A MAN IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES WHOM BRAZEL WAS UNABLE TO IDENTIFY WENT TO THE RANCH AND BROUGHT THE PIECES OF MATERIAL TO THE AIR FIELD.

"I DIDN'T HEAR ANY MORE ABOUT IT UNTIL THINGS STARTED POPPING," SAID BRAZEL. "LORD, HOW THAT STORY HAS TRAVELLED."

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 9-(AP)-ADRIAN PELT, ACTING SECRETARY-GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS, SAID TODAY THAT THE U.N. HAD NOT BEEN INVITED TO SEND REPRESENTATIVES TO THE PARIS ECONOMIC CONFERENCE EITHER AS PARTICIPANTS OR OBSERVERS.

"I DON'T SEE ANY PARTICULAR REASON WHY WE SHOULD BE INVITED," HE SAID. "THE UNITED KINGDOM GOVERNMENT, ACTING FOR ITSELF AND FRANCE, HAS BEEN KEEPING US FULLY INFORMED OF DEVELOPMENTS."

PELT SAID THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT, ARRANGING THE CONFERENCE ON THE MARSHALL AID PROPOSALS, HAD REQUESTED THE LOAN OF TWO U.N. INTERPRETERS UNTIL SEPT. 1. THIS WAS ONE OF THE FIRST INDICATIONS HERE OF THE POSSIBLE LENGTH OF THE SESSION.

IN REPLY TO A QUESTION, PELT SAID THE CONFERENCE WOULD BE CHARGED FULL RATES FOR THE SERVICES OF THE TWO INTERPRETERS, WHO WILL BE SENT FROM HERE OR GENEVA IN TIME FOR SATURDAY'S OPENING MEETING.

COMMENTING ON THE INDICATED ATTITUDE OF EASTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES, PELT REPEATED A STATEMENT BY SECRETARY-GENERAL TRYGVE LIE THAT THE U.N. STILL HOPED THAT THE "LAST WORD HAD NOT YET BEEN SPOKEN."

HE SAID THE U.N. WAS ALWAYS AVAILABLE TO HELP THE CONFERENCE BUT NOTED THAT IT WAS PREMATURE TO GIVE DETAILS OF ANY AFFIRMATIVE MOVES BY THE U.N. AT THIS TIME.

PELT, A HOLLANDER, IS ASSISTANT SECRETARY-GENERAL IN CHARGE OF CONFERENCES AND GENERAL SERVICES. HE PRESIDED AT THE WEEKLY NEWS CONFERENCE IN THE ABSENCE OF LIE, NOW VACATIONING IN NORWAY.

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 9-(AP)-THE REPORTED THEFT OF SECRET U.S. ATOMIC FILES CAUSED A STIR TODAY AT THE CONCLUSION OF A CLOSED MEETING OF THE UNITED NATIONS ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION'S CONTROL COMMITTEE.

IN THEIR FIRST REACTION, AMERICAN SOURCES, WHO DECLINED TO PERMIT IDENTIFICATION, DISCOUNTED THE IMPORTANCE OF ANY LOSSES THAT MIGHT AFFECT "SECRECY" SURROUNDING ATOMIC PRODUCTION.

A5 JUL 1947

THE RUSSIAN DELEGATE FOLLOWED UP THIS ASSERTION WITH CHARGES THAT THE TURMOIL IN GREECE RESULTED FROM AMERICAN AND BRITISH INTERFERENCE AND DEMANDED THAT THE U.N. ORDER FOREIGN MILITARY PERSONNEL OFF GREEK SOIL.

HE ALSO CALLED FOR U.N.SUPERVISION OF ALL ECONOMIC AID TO GREECE IN RENEWED EFFORTS TO PLACE THE AMERICAN PROGRAM OF DIRECT SUPPORT UNDER INTERNATIONAL CONTROL.

GROMYKO OFFERED NO FIGURES ON MILITARY PERSONNEL, BUT GREEK SOURCES SAID THERE WERE ONLY ABOUT 6,000 FOREIGN TROOPS THERE NOW. THESE WERE SAID TO BE MOSTLY BRITISH, WITH THE OTHERS AMERICAN TRAINING GROUPS.

GROMYKO'S SPEECH WAS PRINCIPALLY A REITERATION OF ALL PREVIOUS SOVIET ARGUMENTS, SET FORTH IN THE COUNCIL AND IN THE BALKAN COMMISSION. HE AGAIN CHARGED THAT THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A BORDER COMMISSION WAS AN ATTEMPT "TO BUILD A SCREEN HIDING THE FOREIGN INTERVENTION ON THE PART OF CERTAIN POWERS INTO THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF GREECE."

OBSERVERS HERE GENERALLY AGREED THAT GROMYKO'S COUNTER-PROPOSALS, WITH THE PROBABILITY OF COMPROMISES, WOULD DELAY A DECISION ON THE GREEK CASE FOR WEEKS. GROMYKO CERTAINLY WILL INSIST ON A FULL DEBATE ON HIS PROGRAM AND THAT ALONE WILL TAKE SEVERAL MEETINGS.

AN OFFICIAL OF THE MINISTRY SAID THE GOVERNMENT WOULD ISSUE A LIST BEFORE JULY 14 OF THE SECURITIES WHICH MUST BE SURRENDERED, AND THE PRICE WHICH WOULD BE GIVEN THE HOLDERS IN COMPENSATION. THE PRICE WILL BE PAID IN FRANCS.

THE OFFICIAL WAS UNABLE TO ESTIMATE THE AMOUNT OF DOLLARS THE GOVERNMENT HOPED TO OBTAIN BY THIS STEP.

BUENOS AIRES, JULY 9-(AP)-ACTION OF THE CENTRAL BANK TUESDAY IN LIFTING WARTIME RESTRICTIONS ON THE INFLUX OF FOREIGN CAPITAL WHILE LIMITING THE OUTWARD MOVEMENT OF PROFITS ABROAD HAS RESULTED IN A SLIGHT INCREASE IN THE VALUE OF THE PESO, BANKING SPOKESMEN SAID TODAY

THE LATEST QUOTATIONS SHOWED PESOS DROPPING FROM 410 PER $100 TO 408 PER $100, WHERE THE GOVERNMENT BEGAN BUYING DOLLARS AND MAINTAINED THE PRICE.

THE BANK'S ORDER LIMITED PROFITS WHICH FOREIGN INVESTORS MAY TAKE OUT OF THE COUNTRY TO FIVE PERCENT DURING THE FIRST YEAR OF INVESTMENT IN ARGENTINA.

JUL 1947

PROFITS WHICH MAY BE SENT ABROAD WILL INCREASE ON A SLIDING SCALE UP TO 12 PERCENT ON CAPITAL IN THE COUNTRY SIX YEARS OR MORE. ALL PROFITS BEYOND THIS FIGURE ARE CONSIDERED AS ARGENTINE CAPITAL WHICH MUST BE REINVESTED IN THE COUNTRY OR EXPORTED ONLY UNDER PERMIT FROM THE CENTRAL BANK.

ARGENTINES ARE PROHIBITED FROM TRANSFERRING FUNDS ABROAD EXCEPT BY PERMIT.

THIS PROVISION IS SAID TO BE THE PRINCIPAL REASON FOR IMPROVEMENT IN THE PESO'S POSITION, BECAUSE ARGENTINE BUYERS WERE NOT SURE THEY COULD OBTAIN DOLLARS TO SEND ABROAD AND HENCE DEMAND FOR THE DOLLAR LESSENED.

RESTRICTIONS ON THE INWARD FLOW OF FOREIGN CAPITAL WERE ADOPTED IN 1943 AS AN ANTI-INFLATION MEASURE WHEN THERE WAS A FLOOD OF "REFUGEE" CAPITAL. UNDER THEIR TERMS, BANKS WERE PROHIBITED FROM SELLING MORE THAN 1000 PESOS ($248) TO ANY ONE PERSONS A DAY.

LATELY, THE GOVERNMENT BEGAN ISSUING PERMITS FREELY, ON THE THEORY THE INTRODUCTION OF NEW FOREIGN CAPITAL DID NOT REPRESENT AN INFLATIONARY THREAT. THE GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED THAT EVENTUALLY FOREIGN CAPITAL WOULD BE GIVEN THE SAME TREATMENT AS ARGENTINE CAPITAL.

THE OFFICIAL BANK ORDER PAID TRIBUTE TO THE PART PLAYED BY FOREIGN CAPITAL IN BUILDING UP THE COUNTRY AND SAID THAT IN FUTURE SPECIAL CERTIFICATES WOULD BE ISSUED WHEN CAPITAL IS BROUGHT IN AND ON THE BASIS OF THESE FOREIGN CAPITAL COULD BE TAKEN OUT OF THE COUNTRY FREELY. HOWEVER, ARGENTINE CAPITAL MAY BE TAKEN OUT OF THE COUNTRY ONLY WHEN IT IS UNNEEDED FOR INVESTMENT LOCALLY.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE BUYERS ON FREE MARKETS WERE WARNED THEY MUST OBTAIN THE CENTRAL BANK'S PERMISSION BEFORE BUYING.

Finland Follows Czechs In Spurning Paris Parley

JUL 1947

MOVE COMPLETES EUROPEAN SPLIT INTO TWO CAMPS

Czechoslovakia Reverses Stand After Premier Talks with Stalin.

HUNGARY BOWS OUT

14 Nations to Be Represented at Conference Opening Tomorrow.

LONDON, Friday, July 11—(AP) The Moscow radio said early today Finland had declined to participate in Paris economic conference, thus lining up eight nations behind Russia in rejecting U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall's proposal for putting Europe on its economic feet.

If the broadcast is confirmed, Finland will have joined Czechoslovakia, Poland, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Albania in spurning invitations sent to 22 European nations by Great Britain and France to attend the Paris sessions opening tomorrow.

The small Baltic state announced its refusal, according to the Moscow radio, after Czechoslovakia last night backed down from previous decision to participate.

Completes European Division

The Finnish refusal apparently completed the division of Europe into two economic camps—a group of 14 "western" states swinging to British-French leadership and the "eastern" group which followed the lead of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who quit the preliminary, three-power talks in Paris last week. At that time Molotov angrily denounced the Marshall Plan for the reconstruction of Europe and the manner in which British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault believed it should have been put into operation.

Molotov contended British-French proposals that each European state take stock of its ability to implement its own reconstruction before determining how much outside aid it required, constituted an infringement upon the sovereignty of the smaller European countries.

The States which have accepted the invitation and plan to have representatives in Paris by tomorrow are Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Eire, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, the Netherlands, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland and Turkey.

Spain Not Invited

Spain was the only European country which was not invited to attend the conference, whose prime task is determining methods of making the Marshal proposal workable.

Marshall first suggested American aid for European reconstruction in a speech at the Harvard University graduation exercises last month.

The American secretary of state never made public any details concerning his proposal, and the financial extent to which the United States might aid the British Isles and the continent has never been mentioned officially. However, a United States congressman estimated recently the plan might cost his country between $18,000,000,000 and $24,000,000,000.

Hungary Shuns Bid To Parley; Boycott Seen

Paris, July 10 (AP)—A boycott of the European Economic Conference by virtually all states within the Soviet sphere developed today as Hungary joined Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia and Poland in rejecting a British-French invitation to meet at Paris Saturday.

With today the deadline for replies, attendance by at least fifteen of the 22 invited nations was certain. Only two nations in the Russian sphere, Finland and Albania, remained to be heard from.

Albania was expected to follow the lead of Russia, whose Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov opposed the plan for economic co-operation in three-power talks last week. Observers last night said there was only a 50-50 chance that Finland would accept.

Move Is A Surprise

Hungary's Council of Ministers announced after a long session this morning that "Hungary regrets it cannot participate in a conference in which all the big powers do not take part together."

To some observers, the decision was a surprise because of Hungary's grave economic condition.

A Polish Government spokesman in Warsaw, commenting on Poland's rejection of the bid, said the Poles still looked to the United States, principally, to supply what would be necessary to rebuild the ravaged nation.

Poland recently sent notes to envoys of the four big powers expressing Poland's willingness to participate in European reconstruction through coal deliveries, but regretting that the nations invited to the Paris conference would be excluded from making amendments and changes in the Marshall proposal.

Swiss List Conditions

Switzerland meanwhile announced three conditions for her participation:

The Swiss will assume no obligations contrary to Switzerland's traditional status as a neutral; conclusions reached at Paris concerning Swiss economy will be subject to Swiss Government approval, and the Swiss reserve the right to maintain trade agreements with nations not represented at the conference.

Czechoslovakia, which has close political and economic ties with the Soviet Union, and Austria, where some Russian troops still are stationed, have decided to take part in the conference.

Spain Not Invited

In the invitations, distributed last Thursday, Britain and France proposed that conference participants set up committees to survey Europe's resources and needs in a move to get United States aid in continental reconstruction.

Other countries which have signified their intention of taking part: Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Iceland, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Eire, Portugal, Italy, Greece and Turkey.

Franco Spain was not invited.

Poland and Yugoslavia rejected bids last night. The Polish action was announced after a four-hour Cabinet meeting in Warsaw.

Slavs Cite Own Pacts

Yugoslavia complained that she had not been consulted before the invitations were issued.

She added that she already had made long-term agreements with numerous countries and done much toward reconstruction with her own means and, that "therefore we cannot accept a program which would hamper the revival" of economic life.

Some blocs of countries may offer their own plans to supplement the tentative agenda proposed by Britain and France.

Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg representatives at The Hague yesterday agreed on a joint plan.

End Bilateral Pacts

A well-informed Belgian source said the Low Countries would call for the abolition of bilateral trade treaties and payments between European nations.

They were expected to cite their customs union as a pattern. The treaty setting up the union contains a clause allowing any other nation to join it.

The Norwegian, Swedish and Danish Foreign Ministers, meeting in Copenhagen yesterday, announced the formulation of a common attitude.

Preliminary announcements from Prague appeared to indicate that the Czechoslovak Government would shun committments until Jindrich Nosek, Ambassador to Paris, had reported on the parley's trend.

Czech Communist Premier Klement Gottwald and Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk were in Moscow for what Gottwald said would be "political and economic conversations." Czechoslovakia seemed due for a full briefing on Moscow's attitude before entering the conference.

CZECHS WITHDRAW ACCEPTANCE OF BID TO PARIS MEETING

Say Participation in Talks Might Be Construed as Anti-Soviet Act.

Prague, July 10 (A. P.).—Czecho-Slovakia tonight withdrew her acceptance of the invitation to the European economic conference in Paris on the ground that participation might be construed as an action against the Soviet Union.

The Government informed the British, French and United States embassies in Prague that Czecho-Slovakia could not "under our situation" accept the Anglo-French invitation to discuss the Marshall Aid-to-Europe proposals. Czecho-Slovakia had stated three days ago that she would be represented.

The withdrawal was reported reliably to have been the result of telephoned instructions from Communist Premier Klement Gottwald, who is in Moscow for talks with Prime Minister Stalin.

The Cabinet had gone into hasty special session after the call, informants close to the Government said.

Czecho-Slovakia's withdrawal virtually completed boycott of the talks by Russia and the States within her orbit in eastern Europe.

Albania's rejection of the invitation was announced by the French Foreign Ministry today. Only Finland remained to be heard from and there seemed little likelihood of acceptance by that Scandinavian neighbor of Russia.

Hungary earlier today joined Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia and Poland in rejecting the British-French invitation to the Marshall plan talks. Fourteen other nations already have accepted the invitation to the Paris conversations which will open Saturday. Today is the deadline for replies.

The Prague Cabinet session came only seventy-two hours after the Czecho-Slovaks decided, apparently of their own volition, to accept the Paris invitation with some reservations. The reasons which might have prompted Premier Gottwald to call from Moscow with a request for a withdrawal could not be ascertained here immediately.

Czecho-Slovakia continued meanwhile, to tighten her trade links with nations in the Soviet orbit. The Government announced a provisional trade exchange pact with Hungary and waited for results from another mission in Moscow pressing for increases in the existing Russian commercial agreement.

U. S. Aid Still Sought.

A Polish Government spokesman in Warsaw, commenting on Poland's rejection of the bid, told a news conference the Poles still looked to the United States, principally, to supply what would be necessary to rebuild the ravaged nation. Poland recently sent notes to envoys of the four big powers expressing Poland's willingness to participate in European reconstruction through coal deliveries, but regretting that the nations invited to the Paris conference would be excluded from making amendments and changes in the Marshall proposal.

Switzerland, meanwhile, announced three conditions for her participation. The Government announced that the Swiss would assume no obligations contrary to Switzerland's traditional status as a neutral; that the conclusions reached at Paris concerning Swiss economy would be subject to Swiss Government approval, and that the Swiss reserved the right to maintain trade agreements with nations not represented at the conference.

Countries which have signified their intention of taking part are Austria, Britain, France, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Iceland, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Eire, Portugal, Italy, Greece and Turkey. Franco Spain was not invited.

HUNGARIAN REJECTION ALSO NOTED

Budapest Report Blames Threats Of Russian Reprisals.

JUL LONG

Prague, July 10 (AP)—Czechoslovakia tonight backed down from a decision to attend the Paris conference on the Marshall plan. The Cabinet acted upon telephoned instructions from Communist Premier Klement Gottwald in Moscow.

The Czechs gave as their reason that participation in the conference might be construed as an action against the Soviet Union.

The Czech withdrawal made it virtually certain that no nation in the Soviet orbit in eastern Europe would attend the conference at its opening Saturday.

By Unanimous Consent

The Cabinet decision was made by the unanimous consent of all parties of the National Front Government at an extraordinary session lasting six hours. The meeting was called hurriedly when Premier Gottwald telephoned from Moscow, where he was received last night by Premier Stalin.

The Cabinet announcement to the British, French and United States embassies was reported to have said that "under our situation" Czechoslovakia could not accept the invitation extended by Britan and France to the conference.

Warned Of Russian Reprisals

Hungary announced today that she would not attend. A reliable Hungarian informant said tonight in Budapest that warnings by Communist leaders of Russian reprisals induced the Hungarian Government to reject the invitation.

The informant said Communist leaders, at an interparty conference and at a Cabinet council, declared that if Hungary accepted the invitation, Russia would:

1. Cut off immediately the return of Hungarian war prisoners.

2. Demand immediate payment of war reparations in arrears.

Confiscation Threatened

3. Extend immediately Russian confiscation of Hungarian livestock.

4. Delay indefinitely ratification of the Hungarian peace treaty.

Members of the Social Democratic party said they would hold a private meeting and there was a rumor that a new group called "the Defenders of the Constitution" would force an immediate reconvening of the Hungarian Parliament.

The only other nation in the Soviet sphere remaining to be heard from was Finland, but her participation appeared highly doubtful.

[The Moscow radio, in a broadcast heard in London, said Finland had rejected the British-French invitation.]

Other Refusals Cited

The reasons Gottwald gave for requiring urgent and immediate reversal of Czechoslovakia's position were not immediately disclosed.

However, an announcement was issued which said:

"The Czech Government has been advised that other Slav nations were unwilling to join in the Marshall plan. In such a case acceptance of the invitation might be construed as an action against the Soviet Union. Therefore, the entire Cabinet has voted against Czechoslovakia's attendance at the conference.

"Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimer Clementis has conveyed this announcement to the embassies of the United Kingdom and France."

The length of the Cabinet session alone indicated that some parties in the Government must have objected seriously to the reversal.

"What Else Could We Do?"

Afterward, however, an unofficial spokesman from one major party said "what else could we do?"

There was no indication here what had been the attitude of Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister, on the reversal. He was in Moscow with Gottwald.

It could not be foretold tonight what the national reaction to the reversal would be, whether it might cause any serious challenge in the Government.

Most early editions in Prague went to press with the bare announcement and with no comment.

Trade Pact Emphasized

Today's editions had buried stories of the Paris talks and displayed leading articles on the Czech delegation's hope of obtaining still stronger trade agreements with Russia.

The French Foreign Ministry said in Paris that refusals had been received from six nations, all of them within the Russian sphere. They were Poland, Hungary, Romania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

Formal acceptances previously had been received from fifteen states—Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Eire, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, the Netherlands, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and Czechoslovakia.

Twenty-two were invited by France and Britain.

Dispatches from Paris said France severely criticized Poland and other eastern European nations for standing aside from continental economic co-operation.

Self-Help For Europe

London, July 10 (AP)—A survey of European capitals disclosed today that many of the nations which will co-operate in the Marshall plan will come to the Paris conference Saturday with something definite to offer toward rebuilding the European economy.

The reports from the capitals indicated that as an expression of good faith the delegations will go to Paris not merely to ask for United States dollars but to state how far they can go toward organizing a program of self-help.

The survey disclosed that the knottiest problem facing the economic planners will be—as it has been since the war—the shortage of coal. Reports from all but Czechoslovakia indicated that the fuel shortage is the number one stumbling block to restoring industrial production.

European Pool Likely

Well-defined economic blocs such as the Scandanavian countries and Benelux — Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — will be represented. They are expected to join with few reservations in setting up a European pool of food, transport, coal and raw materials needed to put the Continent and Britain back on their feet.

Of the nations that have rejected the invitation, Poland is regarded as being in a position to have contributed the most. Polish coal would have gone far toward relieving the fuel famine that has industry in a strait jacket.

Czechoslovakian co-operation would have meant much for the success of the Marshall plan. The Czechs are exporting large quantities of coal and lumber and could contribute large surpluses of sugar and limited amounts of potatoes and vegetables.

British, French Contribution

British spokesmen were not explicit as to what the United Kingdom could offer. A Foreign Office source said the contribution would include machinery, industrial products and plastics. Britain could not supply coal or food, he added.

Official French sources said their preliminary balance sheet of needs and contributions was not complete, but is was reliably learned that France will have exhausted her dollar credits, including private holdings, by the end of 1947.

France could contribute iron, phosphate, bauxite, potash, motor tires, manufactured products of various kinds, including textiles, and mechanical equipment. France needs foodstuffs as well as industrial and mining equipment, machine tools, textile machinery, and such raw materials as cotton, wool and silk.

Italy To Offer Manpower

Italy's principal contribution, Government informants said, can be manpower, skilled and unskilled. A labor survey showed 2,177,489 registered unemployed. 1,179,673 from industry. In addition, Italy could contribute precision and electrical appliances, motors, including cars and trucks, and textiles—if she can get the coal.

The situation in other countries as reported by Associated Press correspondents:

DENMARK—An official source said that if Denmark could get dollar credits to purchase fodder, fertilizer and agricultural machinery the country could fully exploit its agricultural potential and boost food exports as much as 50 per cent.

Turkey Wants $500,000,000

TURKEY — Informed quarters said Turkey will be able to furnish unspecified amounts of coal and grain, and in return will need credits, probably as much as $500,000,000, to bring her economy to proper standards. Informants said that with machinery for transport and factories Turkey could triple industrial production.

PORTUGAL—Needs coal, tinplate, copper sulphate, wheat, rice, fuel oil. Officials declined to disclose their contributions, but reaffirmed a desire for co-operation.

EIRE—The Irish will emphasize they can make a very valuable food contribution, provided the country can get fertilizer and machinery. With such aid Eire may be able to boost food exports as much as 50 per cent, Government sources said.

Needs Of Switzerland

SWITZERLAND—Authorities were reluctant to discuss possible contributions or needs. Unofficial estimates said Switzerland would need in the first years of the Marshall plan 3,500,000 tons of coal, 500,000 tons of iron and steel, 200,000 tons of gasoline, 610,000 tons of feed stuffs, 517,000 tons of bread grains and 180,000 tons of sugar.

SWEDEN — Outside of coal the greatest need was manpower. The coal shortage is causing wide repercussions in the Swedish economy. Wood which could be used for pulp, paper and construction now goes for heating.

NORWAY—Qualified sources refused to discuss needs and contributions. Principal Norwegian imports include transport equipment, machines and other factory equipment. Exports are expected to increase by twenty per cent this year over 1946, made up chiefly of whale oil, wood and paper and fish products.

Greece On Receiving End

GREECE—Despite an allocation of $150,000,000 for civilian needs from American aid, $50,000,000 in post-UNRRA help and $90,000,000 in exports, Greece is likely to call on the European economic pool for another $30,000,000. She will be able to export little.

A dispatch from Berlin, quoting the best views on fitting the British-American zones of Germany into the Marshall plan, said western Germany would be on the receiving end in the beginning, but could contribute much later, including machinery, chemicals, leather goods and coal.

An Associated Press dispatch from Vienna said Austrian officials had been ordered to give no figures on Austrian participation in the Marshall plan. As a liberated but still occupied country Austria has to ask the Allied Council approval of all international agreements, and is uncertain how far the Soviet delegate on the Council will go.

JINNAH IS NAMED TO HEAD PAKISTAN

Attlee Agrees To Moslem Chief As Governor General

London, July 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee disclosed today that Britain had yielded to demands of the Moslem League and had designated its 70-year-old leader, Mohamed Ali Jinnah, for governor general of Pakistan, the new Moslem state to be created in India.

Viscount Mountbatten, of Burma, the present and last Viceroy of India, will become Governor General of the Dominion of India—the name by which the separate Hindu state of Hindustan will be known.

Attlee told the House of Commons that Britain had hoped to name Lord Mountbatten Governor General of both Pakistan and India, but "that was not to be" because of the Moslem League's insistence on complete severance.

Princely States Urged To Join

Attlee announced the British decision in opening debate on the second, decisive reading of a bill to create the two new dominions on August 15, out of what has been British India for 90 years. It represents the next-to-last-step before full independence next June.

The bill was given its second reading without a major vote. Thus it won approval in principle, but there were indications several points would be raised for possible amendment in committee stage next week.

Attlee said also that the 562 princely states outside the dominions were urged to join one or the other of the new commonwealths and to "think again" before carrying out intentions, as announced by some rulers, of becoming independent states.

Jinnah would be the first governor general in the empire to come from the ranks of a conquered people.

Attlee Hopes For United India

Attlee, reiterating that his Government still hoped a partitioned India not only would remain within the British Commonwealth but would reunite, disclosed with unconcealed regret that he had failed in efforts to designate Lord Mountbatten as the key link between Hindustan and Pakistan.

A dispatch from New Delhi said the idea of two governnor generals was known to be opposed to the convictions of Lord Mountbatten, who would have preferred to be joint governor general for both dominions.

Moslem League leaders made it plain they approved of Mountbatten personally, and of his efforts in India, but refused to have any connection with former "political enemies," the dispatch added.

Peerage For Jinnah?

Some informed British sources speculated that Jinnah's appointment, probably to be followed by a knighthood or even peerage, might enhance the chances that Pakistan would remain within the commonwealth, regardless of the choice made by the predominantly Hindu Dominion of India.

The honor of a governor generalship for the Moslem League's silver-haired lawyer leader was a high one, these sources said, and dominion status carries all the rights of independence plus the advantages of membership in the British Commonwealth.

Mountbatten To Direct Defense

Attlee said the Moslem League had consented to one slender tie—that Lord Mountbatten will be chairman of a joint defense committee until the Indian army can be divided between the dominions. Field Marshal Lord Auchinleck will continue as commander in chief of all forces.

British troops now in India—about 15,000 are left—will leave as soon as shipping arrangements can be made, probably by the end of this year, Attlee said.

JINNAH IS CHOSEN AS PAKISTAN HEAD

LONDON, July 10 — (AP) Prime Minister Attlee disclosed today that Britain had yielded to demands of the Moslem League and had designated its 70-year-old leader, Mohamed Ali Jinnah, for governor general of Pakistan, the new Moslem state to be created in India.

Viscount Mountbatten of Burma, the present and last viceroy of India, will become governor general of the Dominion of India—the name by which the separate Hindu state of Hindustan will be known.

Attlee told the House of Commons that Britain had hoped to name Lord Mountbatten governor general of both Pakistan and India, but "that was not to be" because of the Moslem League's insistence on complete severance.

Plans Near Completion

Attlee announced the British decision in opening debate on the second, decisvie reading of a bill to create the two new dominions on Aug. 15, out of what has been British India for the past 90 years. It represents the next-to-last-step before full independence next June.

Attlee said also that the 562 princely states outside the dominions were urged to join one or the other of the new commonwealths and to "think again" before carrying out intentions, as announced by some rulers, of becoming independent states.

Jinnah would be the first governor general in the empire to come from the ranks of a conquered people.

Attlee, reiterating that his government still hoped a partitioned India not only would remain within the British commonwealth but would reunite, disclosed with unconcealed regret that he had failed in efforts to designate Lord Mountbatten as the key link between Hindustan and Pakistan.

A dispatch from New Delhi said the idea of two governor generals was known to be opposed to the convictions of Lord Mountbatten, who would have preferred to be joint governor general for both dominions.

RULERS SELECTED FOR DIVIDED INDIA

London, July 10 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Attlee announced today that Great Britain had agreed to name a Governor-General for each new dominion in divided British India.

They will be Mohamed Ali Jinnah, leader of the Moslem League, for Pakistan, and Viscount Mountbatten, the present Viceroy, for the predominantly Hindu Dominion of India (Hindustan).

Attlee told the House of Commons during a debate on the bill granting British India dominion status by August 15 that it was hoped that the 500-odd Indian princely states, now outside both dominions, would join one or the other of the new states.

The Prime Minister said that the Labor Government had hoped to appoint Mountbatten Governor-General of both Pakistan and India, but had yielded to demands of the Moslem League for a separate representative to the King, thereby making Jinnah the first Indian ever accorded that distinction.

Attlee said that the Congress party (predominantly Hindu) recommended Mountbatten and had agreed with the Moslem League that he be chairman of a joint defense council to act until the armed forces are divided.

Mountbatten, Jinnah Slated As Governors

London, July 10 (AP)—Mahomed Ali Jinnah, India's Moslem League leader, has been recommended as governor general of the new Dominion of Pakistan to be created August 15, and Viscount Mountbatten, present viceroy, as governor general of India, Prime Minister Attlee announced today.

Attlee made his announcement in moving the second, decisive reading in the House of Commons of the Government bill to grant a divided dominion status next month.

He said that, while the formal announcement could not be made until the act was formally passed, the King had intimated he would be prepared to accept the recommendations of Jinnah and Lord Mountbatten as governors general.

Anglo-Russ Trade Parley Dragging

London, July 10 (AP)—A Government source reported today that British-Russian trade talks in Moscow were "proceeding but not making a great deal of headway."

J. Harold Wilson, British overseas trade secretary, is remaining in the Soviet capital, but so far the Russians have not offered wheat and timber in the amounts wanted by the British.

The source declared that Britain was interested in getting a Russian commitment to supply as much as a million tons of wheat per year. To date, there has been no indication the Soviets were interested in a deal of such score.

Observers speculated the Russian attitude may be dictated by a desire to keep large stocks of wheat in hand to strengthen her bargaining position or to have supplies on hand for satellite countries adhering to the Soviet position of rejecting the Marshall plan for European economic co-operation.

Honduras to Ask To Float Loan

London, July 10 (A. P.).—A British Honduras appeal for Britain's permission to float a $6,000,000 agricultural development loan will be presented tomorrow by a Honduras delegation, its leader said today.

W. H. Courtney, head of the Honduras group, said the appeal would be placed before Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech-Jones together with another request to free the colony from British Treasury control.

Query Petain on War Crash

French Committee Goes to Marshal's Island Prison

PARIS, July 10 (AP).—Fifteen members of an investigating committee which is trying to establish responsibility for France's collapse in 1940 were en route to the Ile d'Yeu today to question former Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, former Vichy chief of state.

He has been a prisoner on the island, situated off France's Atlantic coast, since he was convicted of treason in 1945. He originally was sentenced to death, but the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by General Charles de Gaulle, then head of the French Provisional Government.

Italy Calls Grain Need Desperate

Paris, July 10 (AP)—Italy told the World Emergency Cereals Conference today that unless she received new grain supplies immediately her distribution system would soon be in danger.

Prof. Antonio Segni, Italian Agricultural Minister, said on the conference floor that "in case this urgent problem were not to find its solution in immediately delivered allocations, all the Italian systems of supplies would find themselves in a state of crisis very shortly, surely before September."

Egypt, Czechoslovakia, Eire, France and Austria also were presenting their countries' needs at the session.

Meanwhile the conference's three working commissions made a second start on their work after having to break up early yesterday because of noise from the loudspeakers in the main session hall.

10 Followers Taken, But Sicily 'Robin Hood' Is Still Free

Palermo, Sicily, July 10 (AP)—A drive against banditry in which soldiers, carabinieri and police took part today had netted ten alleged followers of the outlaw, Salvatore Giuliano, but Sicily's haughty "king of the mountains" remained at large.

It was the second time this week that Giuliano—a thorn in the side of the new regional government but a sort of Twentieth Century Robin Hood to the country folk of the area where he operates—had eluded capture.

Tuesday police thought they had him surrounded in the Fossa di Longo gulch, but when they invaded it he was gone.

Anti-Red Leader

Dispatches to Rome newspapers said Giuliano, fleeing from the gulch, left behind a scarecrow bearing a placard reading "Do not eat the grain that God has reserved for the people."

Giuliano has recently set himself up as the leader of an anti-Communist drive in the island.

In the Constituent Assembly at Rome, however, Leftist deputies have charged that recent raids on Communist party offices for which Giuliano claimed credit were actually organized or inspired by Sicily's big landholders, fighting the island's land-distribution program.

In yesterday's operations around Montelepre, the region where Giuliano is most active, the police and soldiers—who went into action riding in armored cars—captured arms and a field telephone.

Umberto Denies He'll Buy U. S. Home

Lisbon, July 10 (A. P.).—Former King Umberto of Italy today denied reports from the United States that his agents were negotiating for the purchase of a home in Connecticut. Umberto said he might make a short visit to the United States when the time was opportune but declared he had no intent of taking up residence there.

Poles Honor 2 Americans

A. M. G. Officials Decorated for Their Post-War Help

BERLIN, July 10 (AP).—Two officials of the American Military Government were decorated yesterday by Major General J. Vrawin, chief of the Polish military mission here.

Colonel John H. Allen, chief of the restitution branch of the American Military Government, a former industrial engineer of New York, received the Order of Polonia Restituta, fourth class, "for services rendered in connection with the restitution of Polish property from Germany."

Frederick Holse, of Monroe, N. Y., deputy chief of the restitution branch, received the Golden Distinguished Service Cross "for services rendered the Polish cause during the trial before the international military tribunal at Nuernberg."

German Grain Imports at Top

BERLIN, July 10 (AP)—American food imports for western Germany, which set a monthly record during June of 483,000 tons of grain, continued at a high rate the first week in July with arrival of 113,000 tons of breadgrains and flour and 5,000 tons of miscellaneous foodstuffs, the American Military Government announced today.

Illicit Cigarettes

Berlin, July 10 (AP)—A Berlin court today sentenced Guenter von Papen, 35-year-old nephew of the former Nazi diplomat, Franz von Papen, to four months imprisonment and fined him 1,000 marks ($100) for black-marketing.

Police testified they had found papen and a companion in possession of 16,000 cigarettes which he admitted buying from a foreign national for 24,000 marks to sell at a profit in the black market.

German Girl Annoying U. S. Officer Gets Jail

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, July 10 (AP).—Anne Marie Brenneis, nineteen, was sentenced to thirty days in jail and fined 500 marks ($50) today for "malicious mischief" in making embarrassing telephone calls to the home of a United States Army officer.

A German girl, she was convicted by an American Military Government court at Heidelberg of having told the officer's wife over the telephone that she was a "close friend" of the officer and that he had "stood her up" on a date. When she telephoned a second time, the officer, Captain Earl Davis, trapped her by arranging a rendezvous at a place surrounded by military police.

Army officials said several instances of similar telephone attempts to embarrass married American soldiers had been reported in recent months but police had not been able to trace the other calls.

RUSSIAN ACCUSES U. S.

Vienna, July 10 (A. P.).—Russia charged the United States today with trying to "control and supervise the entire economic life" of Austria through its $100,000,000 aid agreement signed June 25.

Lieut.-Gen. L. V. Kurrasov, Russian high commissioner to Austria, told the Allied Council in a 700-word statement that the agreement violated the Moscow Declaration of October, 1943, the European Advisory Agreement of July, 1945, the Allied Control Agreement of June, 1946, and the Allied Council decision of December, 1946.

Kurrasov said that the United States had attached conditions which placed Austria in a position entirely dependent upon America.

Russian Attacks Austrian Aid Pact

Vienna, July 10 (AP)—Russia's representative on the Allied Control Council for Austria accused the United States today of attempting to dictate Austria's entire economic life through the $100,000,000 aid agreement signed June 25.

In a 700-word statement to the Control Council, Lieut. Gen. L. V. Kurrasov said certain provisions of the agreement violated previous Allied decisions and "represent nothing else than the evidence of distrust of the Austrian Government on the part of the United States."

Kurrasov demanded an immediate discussion of his statement, but Lieut. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, United States representative, said he would reply at a later date. The British and French members of the Council reserved comment pending Keyes's reply.

British Charge Russians Reneged On Oil Pledge

Vienna, July 10 (AP)—Brig. Gen. R. B.B. Cooke, British high commissioner to Austria, told the Allied Council today there was "a great discrepancy" between Soviet promises for adequiate distribution of Austria's indigenous oil supplies and actual deliveries from field inside the Russian zone.

Cooke said that in no single month from 1945 to ate had the Russians delivered the amount specified from oil fields in their zone.

The oviet delegate replied that oil distribution was an Austrial problem and complaints should be directed to Austrian authoritit, but he promised to investigate the British charges.

Yugoslav Goes on Trial As Spy for U. S. Officers

BELGRADE, July 10 (AP).—A former employee of an American graves registration unit and six others went on trial here yesterday accused of espionage. He was Borivoje Pantelic, charged with organizing contact with remnants of Chetnik bands for American officers of the unit, none of whom is now in Belgrade.

The court asserted that in May, 1946, Pantelic was given grenades, a revolver and machine-gun ammunition which he turned over to Chetniks. The prosecution said he and his followers gathered information about the strength of the Chetniks (foes of Marshal Tito) and arranged meeetings with American officials.

Reports from the trial asserted that Pantelic admitted his guilt on all counts and "declared his remorse for having committed acts of espionage and maintaining contacts with a foreign service."

Cannon in Belgrade To Assume Post

Belgrade, July 10 (A. P.).—Cavendish W. Cannon, new United States Ambassador to Yugoslavia, arrived in Belgrade by train last night.

President Truman appointed Cannon last March 31 to succeed Richard C. Patterson, who had resigned the week before. Cannon at that time was first secretary of the Lisbon legation.

Hungary Rejection Reported Coerced

Communists Said to Have Itemized Soviet Reprisals

BUDAPEST, July 10 (AP).—A reliable Hungarian informant said tonight that Communist warnings of Russian reprisals induced the Hungarian government to reject the British-French invitation to the European economic conference in Paris.

The Hungarian Cabinet announced this morning that "Hungary regrets it cannot participate in a conference in which all the big powers do not take part together."

The informant said that Communist leaders, at an inter-party conference and at a Cabinet council, declared that if Hungary accepted the invitation, Russia would:

1. Cut off immediately the return of Hungarian war prisoners.
2. Demand immediate payment of war reparations in arrears.
3. Extend immediately Russian confiscation of Hungarian live stock.
4. Delay indefinitely ratification of the Hungarian peace treaty.

Members of the Social Democratic party said they would hold a private meeting, and there was a rumor that a new group called "the defenders of the constitution" would force an immediate reconvening of parliament.

Polish Army Is Cut Down To 165,000

Warsaw, July 10 (AP)—Finance Minister Konstanty Dabrowski told a parliamentary committee Poland's army had dwindled to 165,000 men as of April 1.

The Polish Army numbered 600,000 men at the end of the war. It presently is the intention of the defense ministry to maintain forces about one-fourth that size but more compact and more highly trained.

Dabrowski said proposed expenditures for national defense, for public security and for the Foreign Ministry in 1947 amounted to 25.2 per cent of the total budget estimates.

Those estimates foresee an income of 185,000,000,000 zlotys ($1,850,000,000) and expenditures of 174,000,000,000 zlotys ($1,740,000,000), thus leaving the Government an anticipated 11,000,000,000 zlotys ($110,000,000) balance at the end of 1947.

Johnston In Warsaw

Warsaw, July 10 (AP)—Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, arrived here by special plane from Oslo yesterday with a group of Hollywood film officials. They planned to inspect Polish film studios at Warsaw and Lodz before continuing to Paris and London.

GREEKS HOLD 3000 IN LEFTIST PURGE

Athens, July 10 (A. P.).—Nearly 3,000 persons were reported in custody today as the Greek Government continued a roundup of Leftists in connection with a purported Communist plot to spread civil war to urban centers. Original plans of the Government called for 4,000 arrests, it was learned. The raids began early yesterday.

No abnormal violence was reported at 1 A. M. today—the time which Minister of Public Order Napoleon Zervas said was to have been the zero hour for the Communists' "Plan F."

The Communist newspaper Rizospastis and Eleftheria Ellada, organ of the Leftist E. A. M. (National Liberation Front), both were published today. Both attacked the Government for making the arrests and declared that the roundup was ordered by the United States.

Angelo Evert, Athens police chief, told a newsman that John Ioannides, who purportedly was in charge of the execution of "Plan F," left Athens about a month ago and had not been picked up in the raids.

GREECE SEIZES MORE LEFTISTS IN PLOT MOP-UP

CHAKALES

ATHENS, July 10—(AP) Minister of Public Order Napoleon Zervas declared today the government's sudden crackdown on leftists had foiled entirely plans by 50,000 to 60,000 Communist followers to foment civil war in Athens and Pireaeus.

Scattered arrests continued today in the wholesale roundup of leftists launched yesterday. Zervas said nearly 3,000 were seized. The government had aimed at 4,000 arrests.

1947

Reds Accuse U. S.

A charge that the arrests were ordered by the United States was made by the Communist newspaper Rizospastis and the left wing Eleftheria Ellada. They continued publication despite the arrests, and both contained editorials attacking violently the government's action.

(In France the Communist party announced its "indignation" at what it termed the arrest of 2,500 democrats and patriots" in Greece and in a communique called on the French people "to aid martyred Greece.")

Zervas asserted that the 50,000 to 60,000 who were to join in nationwide uprisings had filtered into Athens the past year as part of a Communist program which also sent recruits into the mountains to join guerrilla commander in Chief Markos Vifiades.

He said the Communists had decided at a meeting on Oct. 6, 1945, to eventually try to seize the government by force in the "Plan F" uprising which the arrests foiled.

He declared that Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia, was headquarters for the Communist International for European operations and said that Greek Communist leader Nichlas Zachariades had transmitted to a Balkan Communist superdirectorate at Prague the plan of the Greek Communists to seize the government.

Anti-Soviet Bloc Seen By Tass

Moscow, July 10 (AP)—The official Russian news agency Tass, in a Paris dispatch, accused British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault today of being instruments of an American plan to form a western European bloc of nations and isolate the Soviet Union.

The dispatch, published prominently by all central Soviet newspapers, was the plainest speaking yet by the Soviet press in connection with United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall's proposal for economic aid to Europe.

Tass also accused the United States, Britain and France of trying to bring Western Germany into a Western bloc and suggested that Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson, who visited Germany this week, had gone there to help the project along.

"Orders From Washington"

"The entire preparation for the (economic) conference of July 12 (in Paris)," said the article, "bears proof of a definite Anglo-French plan carried out by orders from Washington.

"It is now perfectly clear that this plan is designed to use the Paris Conference for creation of a Western bloc and accomplish the division of Europe into two opposite groups of states, making one of these groups the weapon for fulfilling the policy of some American circles.

"These circles are trying to place European nations under their control by the aid of uncertain promises of credits."

Churchill's "Hostility"

[Russia split with Britain and France last week over the idea of the Paris Conference to implement the Marshall plan. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov warned that to hold the meeting would "divide Europe."]

The agency said Bevin—"influenced by Churchill's hostility to the Soviet Union"—was "trying more than anyone else to create a situation whereby the U.S.S.R. would be isolated." It asserted he went to Paris last month to "involve Bidault" and used the three-power talks to "block agreement."

Czech sources in Moscow, meanwhile, said that Premier Klement Gottwald of Czechoslovakia, who arrived here yesterday by plane with Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk, was received by Prime Minister Stalin at the Kremlin in a "friendly, warm atmosphere" last night.

[Unlike other Soviet-influenced countries, Czechoslovakia has accepted a British-French invitation to the conference to begin in Paris Saturday.]

Egypt Honors U. S. Generals

CAIRO, July 10 (AP).—King Farouk I of Egypt has conferred the Grand Ribbon of Ismail upon General Dwight D. Eisenhower, United States Army chief of staff, a court circular said today. The Grand Ribbon of the Nile was conferred upon General Carl Spaatz, United States Army Air Force commander; General Jacob L. Devers, Ground Forces commander, and Lieutenant General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force deputy commander.

GANG OF TERRORISTS IN CALCUTTA BARED

CALCUTTA, July 10—(AP) An armed gang of terrorists who travel through Calcutta in jeeps firing and tossing bombs at market crowds and automobiles was reported by a high official today.

An Indian national ambulance corps announcement said 11 persons had been killed and 73 injured in communal fighting between Hindus and Moslems in Calcutta today, although a government report listed only four deaths.

In Lahore, capital of the Punjab, seven Sikhs were killed and 39 wounded when Moslems attacked a group of Sikh workers in the northwest railway locomotive workshop, a railroad official reported.

Pakiston, Hindustan To Swap Population

Karachi, India, July 10 (AP)—The Karachi correspondent of the Statesman of Calcutta and Delhi reported today a spontaneous exchange of population was about to begin between India's projected two new dominions—Pakistan for the Moslems and Hindustan for the Hindus.

He noted that landlords and business men anxious to get out of "hostile" areas were ready to exchange properties and businesses and that newspapers were full of advertisements seeking such exchanges.

Every day wealthy Moslems from Hindu-majority provinces, the correspondent said, are arriving in Karachi, which will be the capital of Pakistan, to negotiate deals personally, and the price of landed property has soared.

REDS AGAIN STRIKE CHINESE RAIL LINE

Tong Says Artery Is Attacked in Shantung—Troop Move By Russians Reported

NANKING, July 10 (AP)—New Communist advances in Shantung Province and reports of Russian movements in southern Manchuria marked China's civil war today.

Dr. Hollington K. Tong, Government Minister of Information, told correspondents that the Communists again were threatening to cut the Tsinan-Suchow north-south railway in the vicinity of Taian, about thirty-five miles south of Tsinan, and Feihsien, 100 miles southeast of Tsinan.

He gave no details, but the Communist radio reported that Communist troops already had captured Feihsien and a vast stretch of surrounding countryside. The broadcast said other Communist forces were on the offensive on both sides of the Peiping-Hankow Railway, main north-south route, in northern Honan Province just north of the Yellow River.

Dr. Tong acknowledged that the Communists had captured two towns in northern Honan and had reached the north bank of the Yellow River.

Some Progress Reported

Elsewhere, he said, Government forces were making progress, having cut the Communist supply route from the port of Chefoo to central and southern Shantung and pushing the Communists east and west from the Szepingkai area of Manchuria.

Dr. Tong said, however, that the Manchurian Communists "appear to be regrouping in preparation for fresh attacks."

The independent newspapers Shih Chieh Jih Pao and Hsin Min Pao both reported that Soviet Army units had established an advance command post at Fuhsien, fifty-five miles north of Russian-occupied Dairen.

Neither paper indicated the size or intent of the Russian forces, but both said Government military circles in Mukden which originated the report were "agitated."

Reds Threaten Vital Shantung Railroad Line

Nationalist Spokesman Says Communists Are Losing on Other China Fronts

NANKING, July 10 (AP).—A new Chinese Communist offensive in Shantung Province is threatening to cut once more that Tsinan-Suchow north-south railroad, Government Information Director Hollington K. Tong told a news conference today.

He named Taian, thirty-five miles south of Tsinan, as a danger spot.

Elsewhere on the civil-war battle fronts, he said, government forces are cleaning up Communist units.

Mr. Tong said the government in the last week blocked the former Communist supply line linking Chefoo (Shantung port nearest Soviet-held Dairen, Manchuri) with central and southern Shantung. This forced the Communists to use a roundabout route through Tsingtao and Weihsien. The second route, he added, is now threatened by government troops.

The Communists are retreating both eastward and westward from Szepingkai, Manchuria, the information director reported, "but they appear to be regrouping in preparation for fresh attacks."

In eastern Hopeh Province, North China, government columns from the north effected a junction with Paoting garrison forces north of that city.

In Northern Honan Province, Mr. Tong reported, Communist troops of General Chen Keng occupied Pongan and Hsinyang, and reached the northern bank of the Yellow River.

Mr. Tong also told newsmen he was unaware of any government plan to adopt censorship.

Soviet Army Advance Reported

PEIPING, July 10 (AP).—Two independent Chinese newspapers reported today that Russian Army units have set up an advance command post at Wafangtien, well north of the Port Arthur-Dairen demarcation zone in Manchuria.

Neither "Shih Chiehh Jih Pao" or "Hsin Min Pao," which carried the story, indicated the size of the purported military movement, but indicated that Mukden military sources, who supplied the reports, were "agitated."

Wafangtien is on the railway connecting the two Soviet-occupied ports with Mukden in normal times. It is twenty miles north of Pulantien, which Chinese government forces recently evacuated under fire. Chinese Communists took over this commanding rail point, and later were reported moving on Wafangtien.

Parley With Ili Rebels Unsuccessful

Tihwa, China, July 8 (AP—Delayed) — Attempts by Chinese authorities to reach an agreement with rebel leaders in Ili district of Sinkiang province, adjacent to Soviet territory, broke down yesterday. Chinese still are barred from the district.

Officials in this Sinkiang capital said the deadlock resulted from refusal of rebel chiefs to recognize Masud Sabri as Governor of Sinkiang—a post to which he was named May 20. Masud, 59, is one of the leading Moslems of the province, and has been a member of the Chinese Kuomintang (governing party) since 1945.

Rebel leaders said they might resume negotiations in November. Masud issued a statement expressing regret at the failure of negotiations. He said the Government was reluctant to use force and would do its best to revive parleys and try to induce rebel leaders to open Ili district to Chinese.

Talk Of New China Ambassador Renewed

Shanghai, July 10 (AP)—A fresh flurry of speculation over possible replacement of Dr. J. Leighton Stuart as United States Ambassador to China developed today as the result of the summoning to Washington of United States Minister-Counselor Walton Butterworth for consultation with Secretary of State Marshall.

Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, many observers pointed out, would be a likely successor should Stuart resign. They said Wedemeyer was originally slated to replace Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley as Ambassador, but was not given the post because peace talks were then under way between Chinese Communists and the Government—and the Reds considered Wedemeyer pro-Nationalist.

Since then, peace talks have failed, war rages openly and America has offered to sell 130,000,000 rifle bullets for Chiang Kai-shek's Government.

Wedemeyer came to China during the war to succeed the late Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell as commander in the China theater, and worked closely with Generalissimo Chiang as the latter's chief of staff. Chiang is known to like and admire him.

When Hurley resigned, however, Stuart became Ambassador on Marshall's recommendation. Marshall was endeavoring then to mediate China's civil strife, and Stuart enjoyed the full respect of both Government and Communist leaders. But despite his high reputation and wide knowledge of China, and despite Marshall's best efforts, peace efforts failed.

Russians in Shanghai BuyFurs

SHANGHAI, July 10 (AP).—Shanghai's 4,000,000 residents sweltered in 100-degree-plus heat today—but furriers reported their best business in years. Reason for the upswing in the fur trade was brisk purchases by Russians who have registered for repatriation to their homeland. Prices rose accordingly.

Repatriates To Be Told True Condition Of Japan

Tokyo, July 10 (AP)—Japanese repatriates returning home filled with rumors—and perhaps Soviet indoctrination—now will learn something of current conditions in Japan before they land.

For the first time, the Government will send newspapers and other literature aboard vessels bringing former servicemen and civilians back to the country they have not seen for years.

Millior To Be Repatriated

The program, which also will include lectures by ship captains, will be inaugurated under a special 2,000,000 yen ($40,000) appropriation by the Education Ministry.

Nearly all of 1,000,000 Japanese yet to be repatriated will come from Soviet-controlled regions.

Officials said the information campaign, offering to acquaint newcomers with the new Constitution and occupation policies, was decided as the result of repatriates' complaints they were confused by various rumors in camps and aboard ship as to the real conditions at home.

Some repatriates from the United States thought they were being returned to a victorious Japan. Others have been unprepared for the country's present poverty. Many from Soviet zones brought newspapers printed in Japanese describing "failure" of the occupation and the people's "resentment" against General MacArthur.

officials said that comparatively few Japanese—probably less than 5,000—are now out on strike.

Assails Cabinet

Kikunami did not elaborate except to say "last year's CIU meeting was held in the midst of a capitalist offensive. This meeting also is being held in the midst of a capitalist offensive . . . following cancellation of the Februray 1 general strike."

The CIU took the lead in preparing for the general strike, which was approved publicly by Japanese Communists. General MacArthur halted the threatened walkout.

Kikunami assailed the present Cabinet, headed by Socialist Tetsu Katayama. Through a three-party coalition, he said, the policies of the conservative Yoshida Cabinet are being carried over by the Katayama Cabinet.

Jap Hits 'Offensive' By Capitalism

Tokyo, July 10 (AP)—President Katsumi Kikunami of Japan's Congress of Industiral Unions told an extarordinary national convention today that the CIU's prime current problem was "how to fight against the present capitalist offensive."

Declaring this "offensive" was impeding the progress of Japan's laboring class, he charged that captalists were "trying to overthrow" organized labor while unions are out on strike.

Allied headquarters labor statistics show that 81 per cent of an estimated 5,500,000 unionists work under wage-hour contracts, but

91 Million Korea Aid Was Gift 1947

Seoul, Korea, July 10 (AP)—Korea received $91,000,000 worth of American supplies between May, 1946, and March, 1947, for which it "will not be obliged to repay the United States one cent," Brig. Gen. C. G. Helmick said today.

The supplies, including food, petroleum products, fertilizers, medicines, cotton and locomotives, were given to the American southern zone under a Congress-approved civilian supply program to further an occupation which would help Korea establish its own government.

"The United States is giving this aid to Korea as one brother might help another," Helmick, acting Military Governor said. He added that the United States wished to help Korea but "as soon as my country has fulfilled its pledge to Korea and has established a government that the people want and will follow, we will no longer exert any—I repeat—any influence" on the nation, now jointly occupied by the United States and Russia.

Attack On Guadalcanal By Islanders Reported

Auckland, N.Z., July 10 (AP)—The New Zealand Press Association today quoted officials of the Western Pacific High Commission in Suva, Fiji, as saying they had no confirmation of a report that Malaita islanders were preparing to attack a British settlement on Guadalcanal.

A Fiji correspondent of the association said the officials told him Kau Kan, reported target of the attack on the eastern tip of Guadalcanal in the Solomons, was an abandoned Lever Brothers plantation where there were no Europeans. Malaitans often land there on their way elsewhere to buy supplies, he quoted the officials as saying. Malaita lies 40 miles northeast of Guadalcanal.

[A dispatch from Sydney, Australia, yesterday said a newspaper man reported that United States flyers from Guadalcanal told him the Malaita Islanders had "declared war" on 200 British on Kau Kan Bay and had disembarked near by from war canoes, carrying spears and blowguns. The motive was reported to be dissatisfaction over food supplies. The flyers landed at Townsville, North Queensland, Australia, Tuesday night.]

U.S. Editors Reach Hawaii

Honolulu, July 10 (AP)—A group of ten newspaper and magazine executives paused here today en route to the Orient as guests of the Secretary of War.

William C. Bullitt, former United States Ambassador to Moscow and Paris, arrived aboard the same plane last night. He, too, is on his way to the Far East "to see what goes on over there."

Bullitt said he was traveling as a private citizen with no official mission. "I just want to see what is going on in Japan, China, Korea and Indo-China, and then tell the people about it when I get home," he said.

Wright Bryant, of the Atlanta Journal, said the party of editors and publishers was "going to see what progress had been made by the occupation forces." He said it was an excellent opportunity to "see what we are doing in Japan and Korea, particularly."

Lee Hills, managing editor of the Miami Herald, said he was particularly interested in comparing the occupation of Europe and that in Japan and Korea.

Others in the group are James Packman, managing editor, Milwaukee Sentinel; Hamilton Owens, editor in chief, Baltimore Sunpapers; Sidney F. Harris, copublisher of Kansas and Iowa newspapers; Marshall N. Dana, Oregon Journal; Lee F. Payne, managing editor, Los Angeles News; Earl J. Johnson, vice president, United Press; Walker Stone, Washington editor for Scripps-Howard newspapers, and William Chenery, publisher, Colliers magazine.

THERE WAS GOLD IN THEM MILLS

Manila, July 10 (A. P.).—When the Japanese took Baguio, in the last days of 1941, Frank E. Delahunty, of La Porte, Cal., general superintendent of the Baguio Gold Mining Company, buried two cones of impure gold under the mine's mills. Then he was interned. The mill was torn down. Floods covered the area, but the cones of gold remained. Delahunty found them last week and flew in to Manila yesterday with the unexpected $35,000 recovery.

MEXICO CITY, July 10—(AP) The Mexican government announced tonight drastic restrictions on the importation of luxury and non-essential goods to protect her dwindling dollar balance in the United States.

The restrictions will go into effect tomorrow.

The announcement was made by Secretary of the Treasury Ramon Beteta, who said Mexico's dollar balance in the United States at the end of the war was about $355,000,000 and that it had dwindled now to about $200,000,000.

23 General Categories

Beteta said the importation of goods in 23 general categories would be prohibited.

Among prohibited items will be furniture, washing machines, rugs, automobiles, pianos, watches and radios.

In another list, containing 16 categories, the import duties will be raised to the 1942 levels, which will make it difficult for importers to bring in goods.

The restrictive measures will be temporary, Beteta said, but will be maintained until Mexico feels her economic position is sound.

The United States, he said, has been notified of the restrictions as provided under article 10 of the 1942 trade treaty.

To Protect Dollar Balance

Mexico has tried to protect her dollar balance in the United States through increased production, but "this has been successful only partially," he declared.

On the basis of the minister's figures, the useful dollar balance in the United Sttes is not the $200,000,000 he quoted, but about $70,000,000.

From the U. S. dollar balance of $200,000,000 must be deducted the Bank of Mexico's 25 per cent legal reserve against bank note circulation and sight obligations, which in May totaled nearly $140,300,600. That leaves about $60,000,000 in New York, which may be bolstered by a few miscellaneous items.

The drop in the dollar balance will not, officials said, jeopardize the value of the peso which is backed separately by $50,000,000 of U. S. money by an agreement made by President Aleman last May in Washington.

On top of the shortage of dollars, trade experts said, Mexico is faced with a business recession which, although not critical, is being felt in both wholesale and retail markets.

MARSHALL MOVES TO BOOST BACKING OF FOREIGN POLICY

WASHINGTON, July 10—(AP) Secretary of State Marshall today undertook a new working relationship with congress apparently designed to bolster bi-partisan support on U. S. foreign policy in the critical months ahead.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, announced that Marshall will appear before the committee tomorrow for a review of world conditions as he knows them behind the scenes.

Closer Contacts

Marshall's personal liaison role will mark a resumption of close contacts maintained by the State Department with the senate during the war, when a bi-partisan subcommittee met often with former Secretary Cordell Hull for off-the-record sessions on key developments.

Those contacts have dwindled in the interim. Now both Marshall and Vandenberg are represented as anxious to renew them with the Republican-controlled committee.

Although Vandenberg would not comment on the agenda for tomorrow's meeting, other committee members said they expect the Marshall plan for economic rehabilitation of Europe to be discussed fully.

This plan, involving expected large American expenditures abroad, is likely to be submitted to the next session of congress in January.

Vandenberg announced that Marshall's conference with the committee is only the first of a regular schedule to be carried out when the lawmakers return from their vacations next year.

UN Revision Urged

Committee members also are expected to question Marshall about the outcropping of congressional resolutions calling for a United Nations charter revision conference.

A resolution sponsored by 10 house members, as well as a similar proposal by three senators, frankly calls for a change in the charter to set up a form of world government to enforce the peace. House members laid this down as a challenge to Russia to go along or get out of the United Nations.

Sponsors of a senate resolution said their plan conceivably might lead to a reorganization of the UN without Russia as a member.

Marshall apparently raised no specific objection to the senate version when several senators discussed it with him yesterday. But there was no indication, either, that he wishes to see it debated in congress at this time.

Vandenberg's attitude is that no one could object to the aim of making the UN stronger, but he said that "the question remains as to how to do it, and when to do it."

Senator Hatch (D-NM) said he would support the charter revision move, but two other members of the foreign relations committee, Senators George (D-Ga) and Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), tore into it as "premature."

CRUEL INTERFERENCE SEEN

United States Sources Say Poles and Czechoslovaks Will Suffer

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—United States diplomatic officials said tonight Czechoslovakia's decision not to attend the Paris conference was the "crudest demonstration yet" of Soviet control over the Governments of Eastern Europe.

In spite of the Czechoslovak withdrawal, officials were determined to go through with the Marshall plan for European recovery—of which the Paris conference, called to draft an international economic program, is the first essential step.

Officials said the Czechoslovak reversal emphasized dramatically the bitter opposition to the Marshall plan that Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov expressed when he rejected cooperation with Britain and France in the Big Three meeting in Paris two weeks ago. There is no doubt here that the Soviet Union intends to fight the undertaking every inch of the way.

Some authorities say the Kremlin's next major move may be made through Communist parties in Western Europe. In France and Italy the Comunists are strong enough to cause considerable trouble.

But prevailing opinion at the State Department is that they could not force the Italian and French Governments to boycott the conference.

Authorities said they were certain that Poland and Czechoslovakia had acted against their own best interests. Both Czechoslovakia and Poland traditionally look to the Western World for trade. Both need outside assistance in their reconstruction programs — assistance the Soviet Union is believed unable to offer.

The Marshall plan offered aid to both countries in trade and recovery. Both Governments announced at least limited cooperation with the plan before they reversed themselves.

There is widespread belief here that the action of the Soviet Union and the other Communist nations means a period of stiff economic warfare between the East and West. One of the Soviet countermoves, Washington believes, may be some sort of Russian cooperative plan for the economic integration of the Eastern European countries.

Special Session If Need Arises, Says Truman

Washington, July 10 (AP)—President Truman said today a special session of Congress will be called this fall if one is necessary to carry out the Marshall plan for European recovery. But, the President added, he sees no present need for such a session.

Mr. Truman told a news conference it will be impossible to say definitely whether it will be necessary to call the lawmakers back to Washington before next January until the results of the Paris conference are assayed.

[The Paris conference opens Saturday at the call of Britain and France, with attendance by at least 15 of the 22 nations invited already assured. The session will consider Secretary of State Marshall's proposal that Europe work out a self-help program of rehabilitation and then advise the United States what additional help may be needed.]

May Be Topic Monday

Mr. Truman said the Marshall plan may come up in his scheduled meeting Monday with House and Senate leaders, although he said the meeting was not called for that purpose.

Primary purpose of Monday's White House session, the President said, is to discuss the problem of displaced persons. He has asked Congress for special legislation to admit a "substantial number" from occupied zones where nearly a million of the European wanderers have refused to return home.

The President was asked for comment on the refusal of most of the eastern European countries except Czechoslovakia to attend the Paris conference.

He said he had no comment.

Russ "Iron Control" Blamed

Poland's refusal to attend the Paris conference was blamed by American officials today on Russia's "iron control."

At the same time authorities here expressed increasing respect for the earlier decision of the Czechoslovak Government to take part in the meeting. In view of Poland's action, it is now generally assumed that the Czechs acted in defiance of Moscow's wishes.

There has been official apprehension here for some time that the Soviets might force changes in the Czech election laws and take other restrictive measures against the Prague Government.

Disappointed In Poland

At the State Department some surprise and disappointment were expressed over the decision reached in Warsaw last night. This arose from the fact that the Polish Embassy here had declared more than two weeks ago the Warsaw Government's "adherence" to the Marshall plan for European recovery.

Moreover, there was no doubt among officials most familiar with conditions in Poland that the country actually would be greatly benefited by joining in a general reconstruction program and that it could contribute to recovery, especially through proper use of its coal resources.

May Snag Aid To Poles

The Poles themselves have asked for outside assistance, and their current stand, some authorities say, may weaken their chances of getting it.

They have a pending request for urgent action on their needs under the $350,000,000 American relief program. Stanton Griffis, New American Ambassador to Warsaw, was instructed to discuss a relief agreement with the Polish Government as one of his first tasks.

Now, however, official have raised the question whether American aid should be given to a country which "refuses to help itself" under the Marshall plan.

Loan Request Pending

Another Polish request is pending before the International Bank —a reconstruction loan of $600,000,000. The bank has declared its independence of political considerations in making loans, but some American authorities believe the Poles may not be able to show as good an economic basis for sound financing as they might have by joining in the Paris meeting.

What Russia stands to gain by barring Polish co-operation and that of such other eastern European countries as Bulgaria, Romania and Yugoslavia is a much-debated question here.

Russ Face Resentment

Knowledge of the Marshall proposal—with its promise of American help—is believed to have spread widely through eastern Europe. The assumption here is that ordinary people there must regard it as a means of improving their conditions and that they will judge harshly Russia's denial to them of the benefits of economic co-operation.

One political effect of the whole undertaking, therefore, may be to stir up new forces of discontent with Soviet mastery in eastern Europe.

Two Senators Hit Plan To Change U.N. Charter

JUL 1947

Washington, July 10 (AP)—Senators George (D., Ga.) and Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) today branded as premature a proposal by 22 members of Congress that the United States take the lead in trying to put peace enforcement teeth into the United Nations Charter.

George, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called the suggestion "a bad move at a bad time" and one that might bring dissolution of the United Nations in a critical world period.

Hickenlooper, who heads the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee and is a member of the foreign relations group, said it would mark the United Nations prematurely with having failed. He added that he wants to give the international organization more time to see if it can reach agreement on world atomic controls.

Hatch Offers Support

Senator Hatch (D., N.M.), also a foreign relations member and close friend of President Truman, said he would support any move to strengthen the United Nations.

That is the avowed purpose of resolutions offered in different form by twelve senators and ten House members of both parties. Behind each of these proposals, however, is the belief that if Russia continues to block international agreement on atomic energy and other world problems the United States must act to align other nations in a new organization.

The ten House members put it this way in a formal statement:

"The sponsors believe that there is no surer way of determining whether the Soviet Union is bent on conquest than by learning whether she would be willing to go along with other nations in creating a United Nations which could guarantee her security."

Calls For World Government

Their resolution proposed that the United Nations be set up as a world government with legislative, judicial and enforcement branches.

Senators Taylor (D., Idaho), Chavez (D., N.M.) and Johnston (D., S.C.) joined in a similar proposal.

A resolution offered by Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) with the support of nine others, including Taylor, did not go that far. It called only for a Charter revision session of the United Nations "to propose and adopt amendments and revisions that will strengthen the United Nations as an instrument to prevent war and maintain world peace."

Senator Sparkman (D., Ala.), one of the sponsors, said this resolution was drafted in final form after a group of senators had conferred with Secretary of State Marshall.

No Commitments Made

The group did not ask and did not receive any commitments from Marshall on the proposal, Sparkman said.

Ferguson said that the "Big Five" veto, under which the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France or China can stop any important United Nations action, would be the prime subject of any charter-revision conference.

Since the Charter cannot be changed without agreement of all of the members, he said the possibility arises that a new organization might have to be formed if Russia or some other country blocked changes.

Differ On Veto

Although Sparkman said he thinks sentiment in this country would back elimination of the veto, George disagreed.

"This proposal overlooks the fact that the United States would not have gone into this international organization unless it had a veto on our participation in any general war and unless it could veto an arbitrary assessment of an inequitable troop quota against us," George declared.

ATOMIC SECRETS ARE STILL SAFE, BOARD HEAD SAYS

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Chairman Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy said today that after "checking and double-checking", he is satisfied that no unwarranted use was made of secret atomic information taken from the Los Alamos, N. M., installation last year.

The Department of Justice has announced that action will be taken against two sergeants from whom the missing information was recovered.

Hickenlooper also told a news conference that he can say "with certainty" and "on the highest authority" that no "material or facts of any substantial importance" are missing from the big atomic plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Says Secret Still Safe

The New York Sun had reported yesterday that agents had stolen several highly secret files from the Tennessee installation.

Hickenlooper delivered his assurance that atomic energy secrets still are safe—his second in two days—at a news conference following a closed session of the joint committee with Rear Admiral R. H. Hillenkoetter, head of the central intelligence group.

The senator said the meeting with Hillenkoetter had been arranged for some time and amounted only to a routine discussion of the relationship between the intelligence group and the atomic energy commission.

"The revelations of yesterday did not enter into the discussions at all," he said. "They weren't brought up."

Hickenlooper told reporters that he is satisfied that the information taken from Los Alamos did not get into the hands of anyone who could use it against this nation's interests.

A reporter asked whether he knew if any foreign agents are in this country trying to dig out information on atomic fission. Hickenlooper said he had no knowledge of the extent of spying activities, but assumed, as an individual, that lots of people would like to get all available information on atomic energy.

The chairman said that security precautions are greater now than when the civilian atomic energy commission took over from the Army's Manhattan District the first of this year. He aded that the security program is being increased rather than diminished. The problem is under constant study, he said, observing that there is no such thing as "perfect security."

May Double 'A' Security Staff

JUL 1947

Hickenlooper Committee Insists on Funds— Commission's Practices Studied.

Washington, July 10 (A. P.).—Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa), chairman of the joint congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said today that that committee hopes to double its staff assigned to study ways of protecting "A" bomb secrets.

He said that his disclosure yesterday that highly secret papers had been filched from the Los Alamos (N. M.) atomic testing station had no bearing on the matter, but he added that the committee now has three experts inquiring into the security practices of the Atomic Energy Commission and that the number may be increased to six if the committee's pending $225,000 budget is approved by Congress.

Mentions Benedict Arnold.

Meanwhile today Hickenlooper's statement of yesterday was described by President Truman as a clear explanation of what happened. Asked whether any other papers were missing besides those taken from Los Alamos, the President replied that Hickenlooper had clearly explained the situation to the Senate..

In the House, Representative Rankin (D.-Miss.) voiced a demand that Congress be given the names and backgrounds of the two Army sergeants involved.

"It is simply silly to say the men took the files as souvenirs," Rankin told the House. "Why didn't Benedict Arnold and his crowd think of that?"

The Senate appropriations committee approved the Hickenlooper committee's $225,000 budget yesterday after the House had voted the group only $50,000 of the $254,000 it asked for the year which began July 1.

'International' Circumstances.

In this connection, testimony by Hickenlooper before the appropriations group, added an air of mystery to the Atomic Committee's activities which the chairman steadfastly declined to clear up.

When he appeared before the appropriations group on July 2, Hickenlooper told members: "Within the past ten days, and since the submission of the estimate to the House Appropriations Committee, a number of circumstances of vital importance have arisen in connection with the responsibilities and duties of the joint committee.

"These circumstances and conditions are national in scope and some, in fact, are international. It is now apparent that if the joint committee is to perform its full duties, that additional responsibilities, studies and investigations must be undertaken in some detail. . . . It also appears that the Joint Committee of the Congress may be the only co-ordinating medium involving a number of phases of this entire program."

Other than to insist that this had no connection with the Los Alamos incident, Hickenlooper declined to elaborate.

Taken As Souvenirs.

The action of two demobilized sergeants in taking along as souvenirs "some secret files when they left the New Mexico station may be discussed further when the committee meets tomorrow with the Atomic Energy Commission.

30. 24- 10845

In his report to the Senate, Hickenlooper said that the commission told the Joint Committee it had discovered more than a month ago that some "important and classified" files had been missing from the Los Alamos station since March, 1946. As an F. B. I. investigation was pursued, Hickenlooper said, the commission later reported that two former Army sergeants had been located with the files in their possession. Describing the former service men as "souvenir hunters," the Iowa Senator said that the F. B. I. was satisfied that the files had not been seen by any outside person since their disappearance and that there was "no effective breach of security."

A-File Incident 'Clearly' Explained, Truman Says

JUL 1947

Washington, July 10 (AP)—The statement yesterday by Senator Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) on the removal and recovery of atomic-energy files was described by President Truman today as a clear explanation of what happened.

The subject came up at a news conference when Mr. Truman was asked if any other papers were missing besides those taken from a New Mexoci project by two army sergeants.

The President replied that Senator Hickenlooper had clearly explained the situation to the Senate yesterday.

Rankin Wants Names

In the House, Representative Rankin (D., Miss.) voiced a demand that Congress be given the names and backgrounds of the two sergeants involved.

"It is simply silly" to say the men took the files as souvenirs, Rankin told the House. "Why didn't Benedict Arnold and his crowd think of that?"

Hickenlooper said, meanwhile, that the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee hopes to double its staff assigned to study ways of protecting A-bomb secrets.

The Iowa Senator said his disclosure yesterday that highly secret papers had been filched from the Los Alamos atomic testing station had no bearing on the matter.

But he declared the committee now has three experts inquiring into security practices of the Atomic Energy Commission and the number may be raised to six if the committee's pending $225,000 budget wins final congressional approval.

Senate Okays Funds

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved that sum yesterday after the House had voted the joint group only $50,000 of the $254,000 it asked for the year which began July 1.

In this connection, testimony by Hickenlooper before the appropriations group added an air of mystery to the Atomic Committee's activities which the chairman steadfastly declined to clear up.

When he appeared before the appropriations group July 2, Hickenlooper told members, in part:

"A number of circumstances of vital importance have arisen in connection with the responsibilities and duties of the joint committee.

International Scope

"These circumstances and conditions are national in scope and some, in fact, are international. It is now apparent . . . that additional responsibilities, studies and investigations must be undertaken in some detail. It also appears that the joint committee of the Congress may be the only co-ordinating medium involving a number of phases of this entire program."

Other than to insist that this had no connection with the Los Alamos incident, Hickenlooper declined to elaborate.

REDS DENY ATTEMPTS TO STEAL A-BOMB DATA

WASHINGTON, July 10—(AP)—The Russian embassy issued a statement today officially denying reports which it said accused Soviet agents of seeking to steal atomic bomb secrets in this country.

A-Bomb Double Nagasaki's Is Envisioned

Washington, July 10 (AP)—A War Department scientist said today it might be possible to make atom bombs more than twice as powerful as the one that burst over Nagasaki—but that there are practical reasons why the size cannot be increased indefinitely.

Even if the "technical difficulties" are overcome, he added, bigger bombs might prove unprofitable from the standpoint of damage inflicted for the increased amount of scarce and costly plutonium involved.

Dr. R. E. Lapp, physicist of the department's research and development division, said the result might be an "ultimate feasible size" beyond which the bombs "may not be progressively increased in destructive power."

"Subcritical Masses"

Lapp, a member of the Bikini test staff, set forth his views in a paper prepared for a recent meeting of the American Medical Society. The War Department made it public today.

Lapp cited the fact that the Nagasaki-type bombs used so far involved the rapid bringing together of two "subscritical masses" of fissionable material, which upon contact produced an instantaneous release of energy in the form of an explosion.

He reasoned that to build bigger bombs, more than two such subcritical masses would have to be brought together, a matter "easier said than done."

Must Be Rationed

"Furthermore," he wrote, "there is no guarantee that when one successfully detonates such an improved atom bomb it will have the same efficiency per pound of plutonium as obtained with a smaller bomb. In view of the scarcity of this man-made element, it must be carefully rationed in peace and war.

"These two factors, which are obvious to any nuclear physicist, might alone limit the ultimate feasible size for atom bombs, but there is another even more convincing reason why plutonium bombs may not be progressively increased in destructive power. This reason, simply stated, is that one 20,000-ton high-explosive blast (this has been the officially expressed equivalent for the power of the bombs exploded so far) does not do as much direct damage as two 10,000-ton explosions. This rule holds true for all explosives."

No Mysterious Mechanism

In a section devoted to the question of "Defense Against Atomic Attack," Lapp said:

"The atom bomb is a new type of high explosive and as such it is the same as any other high explosive in that you can protect against it only by deflecting it from its trajectory or by blowing it apart before it reaches its object.

"There is absolutely no mysterious mechanism in the bomb that one can detonate prematurely by radio waves, ultrasonics or other means."

Succession Bill Is Passed, Truman Approval Expected

Puts House Speaker Next in Line if Both Top Offices Become Vacant.

WASHINGTON, July 10—(AP) Congress sent a bill to President Truman today which would make a Republican his successor if the president fails to finish his present term.

But both Democrats and Republicans said they hope Mr. Truman continues in good health.

The legislation, passed today by a 365-11 House vote, puts the speaker of the House, now a Republican, next in line for the presidency if the offices of president and vice president both become vacant. The Senate passed the bill June 27.

Approval Seen Certain

Presidential approval of the measure is considered certain, since Mr. Truman asked for it in 1945 and again this year.

If the bill becomes law, the "heir apparent" to the presidency will be Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Massachusetts Republican. Martin, a bachelor, is 63 years old.

The legislation would apply not only to the present situation but to the future as well.

It provides that the speaker of the House shall rank behind the vice president in the line of succession, followed by the acting president of the Senate (a senator who presides over that body when there is no vice president) and then the ten cabinet officers.

Under an 1886 law now in effect, the cabinet officers rank next to the vice president, starting with the secretary of state.

Before the 1886 act, the president pro tem of the Senate and then the speaker of the House were next in line.

The new proposal provides that the acting president of the Senate would move into the picture only if there were no speaker or if the speaker were unable to qualify (he would have to have the same qualifications as the president).

In either case, the president's successor, would fill out the unexpired term unless an elected president or vice president who had failed to qualify subsequently removed the disqualification.

However, a cabinet officer acting as president would step down if a speaker or a president pro tem later qualified.

Praises President

Chairman Michener (R-Mich.) of the judiciary committee told the House President Truman "is to be complimented" for having advocated the legislation at a time when the speaker is a member of the opposite political party.

"He still stood by his principle," Michener said, recalling that when Mr. Truman first asked for the law, a Democrat, Sam Rayburn of Texas was speaker.

"We express the hope that he (Mr. Truman) may live out his full term," said Rep. Robsion (R-Ky.).

Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.) expressed similar sentiments and said "our present president should be mighty careful in his travels."

Celler told the House there probably never will be an occasion to use the legislation. There have been 15 vice presidential vacancies, he recalled, but no cabinet officer ever has ben called upon to fill the presidency because of a vacancy in both offices.

Rep. Gwynne (R-Iowa) opposed the bill and called for a study of the entire succession problem by Congress. The chances of the bill being needed, he said, are about 1,000 to one.

When the president asked for the legislation, he said he believed a person representing the voters should be next in line for the presidency after the vice president. The speaker, chosen by the 435 representatives, was the most representative, he added.

The president said he opposed the old law which in effect allowed the president to name his own successor in an emergency through his power to appoint cabinet officers.

Ten Democrats and one Republican, Gwynne of Iowa, voted against the bill. The Democrats are Abernethy (Miss.), Bulwinkle (N.C.), Camp (Ga.), Harrison (Va.), Madden (Ind.), O'Toole (N.Y.), Rankin (Miss.), Stanley (Va.), Whitten (Miss.) and Winstead (Miss.).

RATES TO ALASKA DECLARED UNJUST

Bartlett Charges the Maritime Commission Has Added to Ship Operators' 'Plunder'

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Delegate E. L. Bartlett of Alaska says the Maritime Commission has authorized Seattle shipping companies operating the Alaskan service an "unjust increase (in rates) made legal by an edict of a United States governmental agency."

"Living in an area where maritime rates have always been higher than elsewhere," Mr. Bartlett said in a statement in The Congressional Record, "Alaskans had pretty well adjusted themselves to a condition of legalized plunder.

"Since man is always hopeful and optimistic they had hoped and expected that which was bad eventually would become better as population increased and as Alaskans became more able to raise their voices effectively.

"In this hope and this expectation they simply did not comprehend the strength and the ruthlessness of their masters, the Seattle operators of the steamship lines which serve the territory."

The delegate reviewed the Government's action in arranging an interim steamship service to Alaska with rates which he said were increased 60 per cent after the Seattle steamship lines refused to operate the service without the raise.

He said:

"After making incredible wartime profits—incredible compared with pre-war earnings and incredible compared to their insignificant investments in ships afloat, three Alaska carriers decided to try to perpetuate those earning levels by crying * * * that they needed the stupendous increase of 118 per cent over and above their pre-war rates for post-war carrying between Seattle and Alaska."

He recited that this plea was rejected by the Maritime Commission and then Congress approved the interim plan which permitted the Maritime Commission to furnish ships at charter of $1 a year to the companies, pay the insurance and recapture 75 per cent of the profit after taxes, 10 per cent on capital, and insurance costs are deducted. He described a protest by Alaska against the proposed rates and said the commission denied the territory a hearing because of threats by the companies to refuse the service if the rates were suspended pending a hearing.

"Now with the zealous protection of the Maritime Commission the carriers have one hand in the Federal treasury for their capital costs," Mr. Bartlett said, "and the other in the pockets of Alaska for $4,000,000 more than they justly deserve."

Mr. Bartlett said that the principal owners of two of the Alaska ship lines is a large-scale fish canner.

"He has seen to it that he and his fellow canners will pay only a small part of the increases," Mr. Bartlett said. "He does not have to justify a rate for canned fish southbound from Kodiak to Seattle that is one-half the rate for dry groceries northbound to Kodiak."

Mr. Bartlett asked the House to keep the Alaska situation in mind and said he feared that not much could be done to aid the territory.

Weichel Admits He's Foiled In Halting Oil To Russia

Washington, July 10 (AP)—Chairman Weichel (R., Ohio) of the House Merchant Marine Committee acknowledged today that he is stumped in his efforts to block oil shipments to Russia.

He blasted as "arrogant" the action of the Commerce Department in granting export licenses that will permit the departure of three Soviet-bound tankers now being loaded on the West Coast.

Under Secretary of Commerce William C. Foster conceded to the committee yesterday that his office had granted the licenses only a few hours after Weichel phoned him to insist that they be refused.

Foster said (a) the shipments were normal, (b) the department intends to continue to export petroleum products and (c) a halt might upset the world market and result in a drop in this country's own petroleum imports.

He added that such a stoppage would cause "chaos and confusion" in "friendly" countries. Foster said, however, that export quotas will be fixed soon on the basis of this country's requirements and supplies.

Weichel has introduced a resolution which would require the War, Navy and Commerce departments to certify that future petroleum exports—on a shipment-by-shipment basis—would not impair the national defense nor interfere with full domestic requirements.

Slaughter Says Presidency May Be Faced With 'Scandal'

Tulsa, Okla., July 10 (AP)—Former Representative Roger C. Slaughter, Missouri Democrat, whom President Truman helped to defeat for renomination last year, charged today "scandal threatens" the presidency, a statement the President said left him unworried.

Slaughter, speaking before the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce's Public Affairs Forum, assailed the Pendergast Democratic organization of Kansas City and declared Mr. Truman's request of it for help in the 1946, Democratic primary was "the public admission of a partnership that has brought the presidency into disrepute."

"An Honest Man"

The President's reaction to Slaughter's remarks came at his Washington press conference. He said he considered the source of the speech and added it didn't worry him any.

Slaughter said he considered the President "personally an honest and honorable man," but that "like Grant and Harding, he has been misled by false friends, and has likewise been the victim of his own impetuosity."

After he was informed of the President's comment on the statement in his prepared text, the former congressman issued this statement:

"If the President is not worried he is in a different state of mind from hundreds of Democratic candidates who will be running for office in 1948. Through no fault of their own they will be forced to carry the load of stolen ballots and blasted vault doors, all occurring as the aftermath of an election where Mr. Truman admitted he had enlisted the aid of the Pendergast machine.

"His Teeth Chatter"

"A small boy walking by a graveyard at midnight 'is not worried,' but his teeth chatter just the same."

In his address, Slaughter also referred to the theft of ballot boxes from the Kansas City election commissioners' vault after the return of a number of indictments alleging vote fraud in the 1946 primary. He called it "a sordid tale, and a perfect example not only of the cupdity but of the stupidity of city machines."

Refused By Roosevelt

He mentioned the Kansas City vote fraud convictions which followed the 1936 election, and said the Pendergast organization "finally fell of its own weight" but "like the phoenix, it managed to arise from the ashes—helped, in part, by a friendly national Administration."

Recalling that "a great many of those convicted had been pardoned by the White House," Slaughter added that "numerous ones had made application for such pardons under the Roosevelt Administration, but so far as I knew were without exception turned down."

The Missourian cited the "credit mobilizer" affair of the Grant Administration and the Teapot Dome investigations during the Harding regime, then added:

"Now again a scandal threatens the great office of the President of the United States, and will inevitably become an issue in the campaigns which will be waged next year."

Concedes President's Rights

Of the President's intervention in the campaign which resulted in the nomination of Slaughter's Truman-backed rival, he commented, "I have never said, nor have I felt that the President was without right to take such a position.

"Experience has shown that Presidents who dabble in local politics invariably suffer thereby, but as far as I am concerned I concede the right of the President, at least the titular head of the Democratic party, to get into a race if he is willing to incur all the risks that such action entails."

Truman Not Worried Over 'Scandal Threat'

Washington, July 10 (AP)—President Truman said today that in view of the source, he isn't worried about a statement of former Representative Roger Slaughter that a "scandal threatens" the office of the President.

Slaughter, former Missouri congressman who was defeated for renomination last year by a Truman-indorsed candidate, made the assertion before a public affairs formum in Tulsa, Okla., today.

Slaughter said he considered Mr. Truman "personally an honest and honorable man, but "like Grant and Harding, he has been misled by false friends, and has likewise been the victim of his own impetuosity."

Didn5t Worry Him

Mr. Truman was asked whether he had heard about Slaughter's remarks. He replied that all he knew was what he learne dfrom a memorandum sent in to him by a reporter.

He said he considered the source of the speech and then added it didn't worry him any.

Mr. Truman also said he does not plan to make a cross-country trip this fall as has been urged by officials of the Democratic National Committee.

Rose From Ashes

Slaughter, in his speech, assailed the Pendergast Democratic organization of Kansas City, asserting it "finally fell of its own weight" but "like the Phoenix, it managed to arise from the ashes—helped, in part, by a friendly National Administration."

"Its present importance," he asserted, "lies in the effrontery with which it seeks to trade upon the prestige of the Presidency of the United States. It brags of the fact that the President of the United States is a dues-paying member. Its letterhead lists the President as the vice president of that organization.

Of President Truman's intervention in the Missouri primary, Slaughter said:

"The impetuosity of the President has sometimes gotten him into trouble. Certainly that was the case July 18, 1946, when he told the representatives from every metropolitan paper of any size in the United States that he had 'asked my old friend, Jim Pendergast, to help.'"

That request, Slaughter said, was "the public admission of a partnership that has brought the presidency into disrepute."

RUSSIA FAILS IN U.N. FIGHT

Austria's Application Filed Despite Opposition

Lake Success, N. Y., July 10 (AP). Russia failed today in an effort to block consideration of Austria's application for membership in the United Nations.

The Security Council voted 9 to 0 to place the application on its calendar for discussions after Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, had objected on the ground that an Austrian peace treaty had not yet been completed. Russia and Australia abstained from voting.

Hershel V. Johnson, United States representative on the Security Council, indirectly blamed Russia for delaying the Austrian peace treaty.

"Reasons Known To World"

Johnson said the drafting of the treaty had been "retarded for reasons well known to the world." The Council of Foreign Ministers, at the recent Moscow session, failed to reach agreement on the Austrian pact when Russia rejected the major proposals of the other major powers.

Later, at the same Security Council session during a discussion of the proposed global police force, Gromyko again refused to submit Russian estimates on the initial size of United Nations forces.

The other four big powers suggested figures early last week, but Russia contended that no estimates could be made until the Security Council decided on the principle which would govern contributions. Gromyko repeated his contention today.

Palestine Action Sought

There were these other United Nations developments:

1. Saudi Arabia, ignoring the efforts of the special committee on Palestine now investigating the Holy Land situation, called on the General Assembly, meeting in September, to terminate the British mandate and declare Palestine a single independent nation.

2. At the opening committe-of-the whole session of the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East, India renewed her effort to gain nationalist representation here for Burma, Ceylon, Malaya, Indonesia and Indo-China.

3. The Security Council failed to reach agreement on a candidate for Governor of Trieste and tossed the problem to a committee of Poland, Australia and Colombia.

Balkan Issue May Go To Assembly

Lake Success, July 10 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today that the United Nations General Assembly might be asked to settle the Balkan problem if Russia vetoes a United States proposal for a border watch along Greece's northern frontiers.

The possibility of such a step was suggested as French and Colombian efforts at reconciling the opposed American and Russian proposals for settlement of Balkan disorders appeared doomed.

The United States made it clear that she would settle for nothing less than a semi-permanent United Nations border commission to watch over Greece's frontiers with Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Showdown Vote Seen

An American spokesman said the Council eventually would have to vote on the United States resolution. Such a ballot would force Russia to veto or abstain in view of her announced refusal to accept the American motion.

The Security Council prepared to resume discussions of the Balkan problem today, but hopes for reaching a vot this week appeared slim.

Authoritative sources said if Russia used the veto to block United Nations action in the Balkans at this time, then other steps would have to be taken.

Different Vote Setup

They suggested that one step would be to hand the problem to the General Assembly when it meets in September. Only a two-thirds-majority vote is required for Assembly action.

An Assembly commission, however, would be somewhat restricted in its work. For instance, it could not call upon individual governments to aid in any required action in the Balkan area.

Authoritative sources declared the United States had turned down French and Colombian approaches on possible compromises aimed at reconciling American and Soviet views.

Russ Blame Greeks

Russia already has rejected the commission idea, put all the blame on Greece and insisted that the Athens Government itself take steps to correct the situation.

Details of the French and Colombian proposals were lacking, but they were understood to call for a commission without power to act except with the express consent of Greece and the three Soviet satellites—Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria.

An authoritative French source said that in view of United States reluctance to accept such a compromise it was doubtful that the French delegation would formally introduce the proposal.

World-Police Debate

Also before the Security Council today was a continuation of the debate on a world police force.

Here again Russia and the Western powers are deadlocked on how contributions shall be made to such an international body. Russia is insisting on "equitable" contributions while the Western powers favor "comparable" contributions in men, planes and ships.

CANADIAN IS VICTOR IN UN POSTER CONTEST

LAKE SUCCESS, July 10—(AP) Henry Eveleigh of Canada was awarded first prize today in the first United Nations "Poster of the Year" competition.

Eveleigh's design, showing a pair of hands planting a young tree whose leaves are the flags of the 55 nations, brought the Canadian $1,500.

Jan Bons of the Netherlands received second prize of $1,000 for his "One World or None" poster, showing half the globe in sunlight and the other half a skull in shadow.

The prize winners were chosen from among 30 member nations' entries.

"The present result," said Sir Norman Angell, British writer and critic who headed the international jury which examined the entries, "should encourage the efforts of the United Nations in this field."

GUAM, JULY 10-(AP)-A PROSECUTION WITNESS TESTIFIED TODAY HE DUMPED TWO BOXES OF BONES OF SLAIN AMERICAN PRISONERS INTO THE SEA AFTER THE WAR'S END WHEN FRIGHTENED JAPANESE OFFICERS ATTEMPTED TO CONCEAL THEIR CRIMES.

PETTY OFFICER SECOND CLASS HAMADA TASHIHISA TOLD A U.S. MILITARY COMMISSION HIS ORDERS CAME FROM WARRANT OFFICER HACHIRO HOMMA, ONE OF 19 JAPANESE ON TRIAL FOR THE ATROCITY DEATHS OF 10 AMERICAN CAPTIVES ON TRUK ATOLL IN 1944.

NEARLY EVERY WITNESS HAS NAMED HOMMA AS THE FIRST MAN TO BAYONET TWO AMERICANS EXECUTED ON A HILL BEHIND TRUK'S FOURTH NAVAL HOSPITAL.

ON THE FIRST ATTEMPT, TASHIHISA SAID, THE BOXES FAILED TO SINK. SO HE PUT THEM IN RICE SACKS WEIGHTED WITH ROCKS. HE LOOKED IN ONE BOX AND SAW IT WAS "FULL OF BONES." WHEN HE REPORTED BACK THAT THIS MISSION WAS COMPLETED, HE SAID HOMMA COMMENTED, "THAT'S GOOD -- FINE." LATER, TASHIHISA SAID, HE LEARNED THE BOXES HELD THE BONES OF THE TWO AMERICAN BAYONET VICTIMS.

EX-NAVY CAPTAIN EIIJI TAMURA TESTIFIED THAT AT A FOURTH FLEET CONFERENCE, CAPTAIN HIROSHI IWANAMI, CHIEF DEFENDANT IN THE PRESENT TRIAL, COMPLAINED THE WEAPONS USED IN THE BAYONETING WERE NOT SATISFACTORY.

"HE SAID THAT THEY BENT AT THE HANDLE AND SHOULD BE THICKER AT THE HANDLE SO THE MEN COULD USE THEM MORE EASILY," TAMURA SAID.

GUAM, JULY 10-(AP)-ONE RESULT OF THE EXPERIMENTAL SLAUGHTER OF 10 AMERICAN PRISONERS OF WAR ON TRUK WAS A RECOMMENDATION THAT JAPANESE SPEARS BE THICKENED AT THE HANDLE FOR GREATER EFFICIENCY, A WITNESS TESTIFIED TODAY AT THE TRIAL OF 19 JAPANESE CHARGED WITH MURDER.

THE UNIDENTIFIED AMERICANS WERE KILLED IN 1944, TWO BY BAYONETING AND SPEARING, AND THE OTHERS BY TOURNIQUET APPLICATIONS, BACTERIAL INJECTIONS, DYNAMITING AND STRANGLING.

THE PRINCIPAL DEFENDANT, NAVAL CAPT. HIROSHI IWANAMI, HAS BEEN ACCUSED BY WITNESSES BEFORE THE U.S. TRIBUNAL OF CONCEIVING AND DIRECTING THE DEATHS IN SEARCH OF KNOWLEDGE INTENDED TO AID THE JAPANESE NAVY.

TODAY CAPT. LIJUI TAMURA TESTIFIED THAT IWANAMI TOLD A FLEET CONFERENCE THE STANDARD SPEARS WERE NOT SATISFACTORY BECAUSE "THEY BENT AT THE HANDLE AND SHOULD BE THICKER SO THE MEN COULD HANDLE THEM MORE EASILY."

ANOTHER WITNESS, HAMADA TASHIHISA, FORMER PETTY OFFICER, TESTIFIED THAT AFTER THE JAPANESE SURRENDER THE BONES OF THE SPEAR VICTIMS WERE DUMPED AT SEA TO TRY TO HIDE THE CRIME.

MARSHALL PLAN

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, JULY 10-(AP)-POLAND'S REFUSAL TO ATTEND THE PARIS CONFERENCE ON THE MARSHALL PLAN WAS BLAMED BY AMERICAN OFFICIALS TODAY ON RUSSIA'S "IRON CONTROL."

AT THE SAME TIME AUTHORITIES HERE EXPRESSED INCREASING RESPECT FOR THE EARLIER DECISION OF THE CZECHOSLOVAK GOVERNMENT TO TAKE PART IN THE MEETING. IN VIEW OF POLAND'S ACTION, IT IS NOW GENERALLY ASSUMED THAT THE CZECHS ACTED IN DEFIANCE OF MOSCOW'S WISHES.

WHETHER THIS WILL PROMPT THE SOVIETS TO CRACK DOWN ON CZECHOSLOVAKIA, AS OFFICIALS BELIEVE THEY DID ON POLAND, IS NOT KNOWN. BUT THERE HAS BEEN OFFICIAL APPREHENSION HERE FOR SOME TIME THAT THE SOVIETS MIGHT SEEK TO ASSURE CONTINUED STRONG COMMUNIST REPRESENTATION IN THE PRAGUE GOVERNMENT BY FORCING CHANGES IN THE ELECTION LAWS AND BY TAKING OTHER RESTRICTIVE MEASURES.

AT THE STATE DEPARTMENT SOME SURPRISE AND DISAPPOINTMENT WERE EXPRESSED OVER THE DECISION REACHED IN WARSAW LAST NIGHT. THIS AROSE FROM THE FACT THAT THE POLISH EMBASSY HERE HAD DECLARED MORE THAN TWO WEEKS AGO THE WARSAW GOVERNMENT'S "ADHERENCE" TO THE MARSHALL PLAN FOR EUROPEAN RECOVERY.

MOREOVER THERE WAS NO DOUBT AMONG OFFICIALS MOST FAMILIAR WITH CONDITIONS IN POLAND THAT THE COUNTRY ACTUALLY WOULD BE GREATLY BENEFITED BY JOINING IN A GENERAL RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM AND THAT IT COULD CONTRIBUTE TO RECOVERY, ESPECIALLY THROUGH PROPER USE OF ITS COAL RESOURCES.

THE POLES THEMSELVES HAVE ASKED FOR OUTSIDE ASSISTANCE AND THEIR CURRENT STAND, SOME AUTHORITIES SAY, MAY WEAKEN THEIR CHANCES OF GETTING IT.

THEY HAVE A PENDING REQUEST FOR URGENT ACTION ON THEIR NEEDS UNDER THE $350,000,000 AMERICAN RELIEF PROGRAM. STANTON GRIFFIS, NEW AMERICAN AMBASSADOR TO WARSAW, WAS INSTRUCTED TO DISCUSS A RELIEF AGREEMENT WITH THE POLISH GOVERNMENT AS ONE OF HIS FIRST TASKS.

NOW, HOWEVER, OFFICIALS RAISED THE QUESTION WHETHER AMERICAN AID SHOULD BE GIVEN TO A COUNTRY WHICH "REFUSES TO HELP ITSELF" UNDER THE MARSHALL PLAN. (...02)

ANOTHER POLISH REQUEST IS PENDING ᴮEFORE THE INTERNATIONAL ᴮANK--A RECONSTRUCTION LOAN OF $600,000,000. THE ᴮANK HAS DECLARED ITS INDEPENDENCE OF POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS IN MAKING LOANS, ᴮUT SOME AMERICAN AUTHORITIES ᴮELIEVE THE POLES MAY NOT ᴮE AᴮLE TO SHOW AS GOOD AN ECONOMIC ᴮASIS FOR SOUND FINANCING AS THEY MIGHT HAVE ᴮY JOINING IN THE PARIS MEETING.

WHAT RUSSIA STANDS TO GAIN ᴮY ᴮARRING POLISH COOPERATION AND THAT OF SUCH OTHER EASTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES AS ᴮULGARIA, ROMANIA AND YUGOSLAVIA IS A MUCH DEᴮATED QUESTION HERE.

KNOWLEDGE OF THE MARSHALL PROPOSAL--WITH ITS PROMISE OF AMERICAN HELP--IS ᴮELIEVED TO HAVE SPREAD WIDELY THROUGH EASTERN EUROPE. THE ASSUMPTION HERE IS THAT ORDINARY PEOPLE THERE MUST REGARD IT AS A MEANS OF IMPROVING THEIR CONDITIONS AND THAT THEY WILL JUDGE HARSHLY RUSSIA'S DENIAL TO THEM OF THE ᴮENEFITS OF ECONOMIC COOPERATION.

ONE POLITICAL EFFECT OF THE WHOLE UNDERTAKING, THEREFORE, MAY ᴮE TO STIR UP NEW FORCES OF DISCONTENT WITH SOVIET MASTERY IN EASTERN EUROPE.

TO COUNTER THIS REACTION, HOWEVER, THE SOVIETS MAY PRODUCE AN ECONOMIC PLAN OF THEIR OWN FOR THEIR SPHERE OF INFLUENCE. ᴮUT THERE IS CONSIDERAᴮLE QUESTION HERE WHETHER THEY HAVE THE RESOURCES TO MAKE ANY SUCH PLAN WORK.

THE ISSUE WAS RAISED BY INDIAN DELEGATE R.K.NEHRU AS THE COMMISSION'S COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE OPENED A SESSION HERE TO SETTLE THE CONTROVERSIAL MEMBERSHIP QUESTION.

THE PHILIPPINES AND SIAM JOINED INDIA IN FIGHTING WHAT BRIG.GEN. CARLOS P.ROMULO OF THE PHILIPPINES CALLED THE LACK OF "REAL REPRESENTATION" IN THE COMMISSION FOR MILLIONS OF ASIANS.

RUSSIA, REPRESENTED BY PAVEL M.CHERNYSHEV ALSO DEMANDED A VOICE FOR ASIA'S NON-SELFGOVERNING PEOPLES, BUT INDICATED SHE WAS NOT PREPARED TO GRANT FULL MEMBERSHIP STATUS TO ANY TERRITORIES EXCEPT SOVEREIGN STATES WHICH WERE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

BRITISH DELEGATE SIR ANDREW CLOW THEN ANNOUNCED THAT BRITAIN WAS PREPARED TO PROPOSE LATER IN THE SESSION THAT THE DEPENDENT TERRITORIES BE ADMITTED AS ASSOCIATE MEMBERS. THIS WENT FURTHER THAN A SOVIET PROPOSAL THAT THEY BE GIVEN A CONSULTATIVE STATUS WHICH ALSO WILL BE SUBMITTED FORMALLY AT A LATER MEETING.

NEHRU DECLARED AT THE OPENING OF THE DEBATE THAT ONLY FOUR OF THE 10 GOVERNMENTS ON THE COMMISSION WERE ASIAN. HE APPARENTLY REFERRED TO CHINA, INDIA, SIAM AND THE PHILIPPINES. THE OTHER MEMBERS ARE THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN, FRANCE, RUSSIA, THE NETHERLANDS AND AUSTRALIA.

"COLONIAL PROPRIETORSHIP OR RESPONSIBILITY SHOULD NOT BE ACCEPTED AS A BASIS FOR DETERMINING THE MEMBERSHIP OF THE COMMISSION," NEHRU SAID. "NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVES OF THE COUNTRIES OF ASIA SHOULD BE IN A CLEAR MAJORITY ON THE COMMISSION."

ROMULO, BACKING UP NEHRU'S DEMANDS, SAID IT WAS "HIGHLY IMPERATIVE" THAT ALL THE PEOPLE OF ASIA HAD A VOICE IN THE COMMISSION WHICH WAS TO PLAY A MAJOR ROLE IN DETERMINING THEIR FUTURE.

AT THE PRESENT TIME, HE SAID, THESE PEOPLE WERE REPRESENTED ON THE COMMISSION " BY GOVERNMENTS 10,000 MILES AWAY."

TACKLES PROBLEM DESPITE BOYCOTT OF RUSSIAN GROUP

Moscow Out to Sabotage U.S. Economy Program, Diplomats Say. (N)

SPLIT IS GRAVE ISSUE

Soviets May Initiate Own Aid Plan for Eastern Group of States.

J. E. DYNAN

PARIS, July 11—(AP) Sixteen nations of western Europe tomorrow will launch an attempt to rebuild their war-torn economy with the promise of United States aid. Soviet Russia and the states within her orbit will not participate.

Emphasizing the gravity of the split between east and west, Russia will be absent from a major conference involving the future of Europe for the first time since the end of World War II.

Diplomats gathering for the opening meeting of the Marshall Plan conference at 11 a.m. (5 a.m. EST) tomorrow declared they were convinced the Soviet Union was out to break the Marshall program if possible, or at least limit its effectiveness.

Red Bloc in Boycott

Russia refused to act with Britain and France as a sponsoring power for the conference and all eight nations now tied to the Soviet orbit rejected invitations issued by the British and French.

Finland was the last nation to decide. Its cabinet turned down the invitation at a meeting this morning.

A Finnish communique said that Finland, "which will stay outside the world political conflicts, unfortunately finds it impossible to participate in the Paris conference."

(The Moscow radio, heard in London, quoted Finland's reply as saying:

"Since the state and situation of Finland is not yet confirmed in a peace treaty and inasmuch as the Marshall Plan has become the reason for a serious difference among the great powers, Finland, wishing to remain outside world political conflicts, is of the opinion that she unfortunately cannot take part in the above conference."

(The radio added that Finland said further that she "sincerely wishes to assist in purely economic cooperation between states and for her own economic restoration she needs foreign help. Therefore, the government of Finland is ready to give material information concerning the government's economy.")

In Warsaw a spokesman for the Polish foreign ministry told newsmen that Poland, another to decline the Paris invitation, was anxious to get foreign assistance for reconstruction and would consider it "lamentable" if her refusal to discuss the Marshall Plan created an unfavorable impression in the United States.

The spokesman added that while failure to obtain American aid would delay rebuilding of Poland the nation would come back through the energy and enthusiasm of its workers. The government would like quick action from the world bank on its application for a $600,000,000 loan, he said.

Czechs Reverse Stand

Czechoslovakia alone of the Russian bloc accepted, but later withdrew under what western diplomats said was Soviet pressure.

With the co-sponsors, Britain and France, the nations attending the conference will be Belgium, Italy Portugal, Eire, Greece, Turkey Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Iceland, Austria, Switzerland, Norway Sweden and Denmark.

The conference grew out of a statement by U. S. Secretary of State Marshall on June 5 at Harvard university that the United States would aid European rehabilitation, provided the European countries would see what they could do for themselves and come up with a definite program.

The French and British foreign ministers met in Paris with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, but the conference collapsed when Molotov refused to accept the Marshall plan which he charged would mean interference into internal affairs of the European countries, and divide Europe into east-west blocs.

Molotov flew to Moscow from Paris on July 3. France and Britain issued invitations on that same day.

The conference is expected to set up committees to determine what European nations can do for themselves and how much U. S. aid might be required.

Veteran observers agreed there was no doubt that Russian pressure had forced the Czechs and the other Slav bloc states to stay out of the conference.

Reds May Initiate Program

Some diplomats noted with interest reports that the Soviet shortly would initiate an aid program for eastern states which stay out of the Marshall plan. This was taken as evidence of direct competition with the United States in backing continental reconstruction.

Delegates were streaming into Paris.

Ernest Bevin, British foreign minister, who had intended to remain in London until the middle of next week, arrived by plane with a group of advisors after telling a London airport crowd that "I hope this will do some good."

Italy, making her first appearance since the war as an equal in a major international conference, sent a large delegation headed by Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza.

Georges Bidault, French foreign minister, will welcome the delegates tomorrow with an address outlining the British-French project. The conference then will organize itself, elect its presiding officer and settle down to work.

Foreign ministry quarters announced Bidault would press for complete publicity for the sessions, proposing that newsmen and photographers be permitted to attend all plenary sessions. If other delegates agree, the press will be escorted to a section of the conference meeting hall for the formal opening.

PRAGUE TALKS ENDED 5 TIMES, CZECHS SAY

Non-Communists Reported Insisting On Showing Russ Pressure

J. M. LONG

Prague, July 11 (AP)—Political informants said tonight the emergency Cabinet session which withdrew Czechoslovakia from the Paris conference broke up five times before non-Communist ministers won their sole point—that the announcement make clear the action was taken under Soviet pressure.

The informants, who were well posted on events of the bitter six-hour Cabinet discussion, said that was the best the non-Communists could do. They added that Communist Premier Klement Gottwald had demanded from Moscow that the Cabinet action must be unanimous.

Benes Message Quoted

The informants said the opposition gave up all hope of Czechoslovak participation in the Paris talks on the Marshall proposal when the Cabinet received a message from nonpartisan President Eduard Benes stating simply:

"Under these circumstances I can do nothing."

Benes was reported to have played a large part in getting Government leaders to make their original acceptance of the British-French invitation to Paris. Benes was not in Prague, having departed two days ago for a vacation in southern Bohemia.

In the wording of the official announcement—that Czechoslovakia could not take action which might be construed as unwelcome to Russia—the Czechoslovak people found evidence their country was caught in the Soviet orbit.

Called Propaganda

Heretofore they had been told that talk of Slav interference was Western propaganda, and that since the liberation Russia had never interfered in their country's affairs.

Actually it has been pretty well known that the Russian Government, through the Soviet charge d'affaires here, had been consulted in the past on virtually every important move.

Political informants said that this was the procedure in the present case, but for reasons unknown there was no Soviet objection to the original Czechoslovak acceptance to attend the Paris conference.

Isolation Of Soviet

Left-wing newspapers said the country's sudden withdrawal was dictated by a conviction that the Paris talks were aimed at economic isolation of the Soviet Union.

It was realized plainly here that the withdrawal came as a result of direct instructions from the Kremlin, where Premier Gottwald had seen Prime Minister Stalin. Gottwald was in Moscow ostensibly for the purpose of discussing the Slav trade bloc. He telephoned instructions back to Prague and the withdrawal was the inevitable result.

treaty just concluded between Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union might be made public tonight.)

It was realized plainly in Prague that Czechoslovakia's withdrawal from the Paris talks came as the result of direct instructions from the Kremlin. There was no question of an ultimatum.

Czechoslovakia lies between Poland and Hungary, with the Soviet frontier on the east and a still-feared Germany on the west. She was previously closely committed to a Soviet alliance.

"Left Us Nothing Else To Do"

Gottwald ostensibly was in Moscow for discussion of the Slav trade bloc. He telephoned instructions back to his National Front Government with such urgency that even the non-Communist members agreed to the reversal. One non-Communist party official said "our position left us nothing else to do."

The best the non-Communist leaders were able to win from the decisive six-hour Cabinet session was the point that the announcement make reasonably clear why the decision was taken.

The communique said Czechoslovakia could take no action which "might be construed as against Soviet Russia."

Both Actions Unanimous

Indications at present are that the Government will not face a serious challenge from Parliament because of the reversal.

Both the original acceptance of the British-French invitation to Paris and the subsequent withdrawal were issued as unanimous actions of the Cabinet.

The trade union organ, Prace, said the Government's decision would be welcomed by the workers because the "Marshall plan is a danger to the economic sovereignty of smaller countries."

"It is unthinkable that Czechoslovakia would join in any plan which would work for the economic isolation of the Soviet Union," Prace added. ADD

Finns Reject Bid to Paris Talk

Communique Says Nation 'Unfortunately Finds It Impossible' to Join.

Paris, July 11 (A. P.).—Finland joined all the other States in the Russian orbit tonight in rejecting invitations to the Paris economic conference, completing a cleavage between eastern and western Europe.

A Finnish Cabinet communique said that Finland "unfortunately finds it impossible to participate." It said Finland wished to "stay outside world political conflicts."

The Moscow radio announced this morning that Finland had rejected the bid and said the Cabinet decision was unanimous.

The talks on the Marshall proposal for American-backed aid for European reconstruction will open tomorrow at 11 A. M., with Britain and France as the sponsoring nations. Fourteen nations have accepted invitations from the sponsors.

But seven others besides Russia, all in eastern Europe and all tied politicaly or economically to the Soviet Union, had turned down such invitations. ADD

Czech 'World Position' Explained By Reversal

JUL 1947

Prague, July 11 (AP)—Non-Communist Czechoslovaks took the view today that the Moscow-directed collapse of the nation's gesture of economic independence dramatically explained her position to the world. J. M. LONG

The Left-wing press said the country's sudden withdrawal from the Paris European economic conference was dictated by a conviction that the talks were aimed at the economic isolation of the Soviet Union.

But the extent of outside pressure applied against Czechoslovakia and other nations within the Soviet orbit might never have come to light so dramatically had it not been for Czechoslovakia's original acceptance of the Paris invitation before Communist Premier Klement Gottwald went to Moscow for consultation at the Kremlin.

Albania Assails U.S., Moscow Radio Reports

London, Saturday, July 12 (AP)—Albania's rejection of its invitation to the Paris economic conference, the Moscow radio said today, accused the United States of a persistent "hostile attitude" toward Albania.

Albania, the radio said, "doubts whether by proposing the Marshall plan the American Government sincerely offers aid to small European countries and especially to Albania."

The Albanian rejection, Moscow said, asserted that the economic plan "will result in several big European powers and the United States imposing their will upon small European countries."

Russia Hints At Aid To Paris Absentees

E. GILMORE

Moscow, July 11 (AP)—Prospects of definite Soviet aid for European nations—especially those which do not associate themselves with the Marshall proposal—appeared to foreign observers today to be a distinct possibility.

On the eve of the Paris conference, Moscow's press and radio maintained attacks upon the American offer, repeating things they have said in past, but making new points also.

Soviet Viewpoint

The Soviet viewpoint of several issues was more clearly outlined. These included:

1. The prospect that Russia may offer aid in one form or another to European nations.

2. A growing belief by the Russians that they never really were wanted in the arrangements and that they were originally invited to Paris as a polite or necessary gesture.

3—Hopes expressed in some quarters of the world that the U.S.S.R. might eventually come into the setup are ill-founded.

4—Mounting apprehension that there is a plan afoot somewhere to get western Germany into the Marshall proposal and eventually to include western Germany in what the Russians describe as the "western bloc."

Blame Is Distributed

The Russians say they look on the Truman doctrine and the Marshall proposal—which they do not separate—as primarily aimed at them.

They blame what they chose to call "certain circles" in the United States, Britain's Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

Russians Seen Set For Fight On Aid

JUL 1947

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Russia appears ready today to throw into a bitter fight against the Marshall plan for European recovery every weapon of political, economic and propaganda power at its disposal.

The division of Europe over the issue is virtually complete and a series of critical tests of relative Soviet and American strength are at hand.

Concern over the situation in Europe was focused here by Czechoslovakia's decision—under direct dictation from Moscow—not to attend the Marshall plan conference opening tomorrow in Paris. Diplomatic officials placed considerable emphasis on the fact the Czechs explained that Moscow might regard their attendance as "an action against the Soviet Union."

Fear Of Reprisal

The Prague Government thus was compelled to shelve what American officials had regarded as that country's primary interest—aid in economic recovery—to avoid possible reprisals from its powerful eastern neighbor.

Some authorities here called this the "crudest demonstration yet" of ruthless Soviet domination of border governments. They said it showed also the extreme concern with which the Soviets view the Marshall plan and the vigor with which they can be expected to oppose it at every point.

With Czechoslovakia and the Moscow-reported Finnish decision, every country in eastern Europe has said "no," some with obvious reluctance, to the British-French invitation to attend the Paris conference.

Propaganda Expected

It is expected that Russia will turn its propaganda mills and those of western European Communists loose to attack every phase of the Marshall project as it develops.

In such countries as France and Italy, moreover, the Communists are in a position to employ political strikes and other disruptive tactics to try to block final acceptance of the plan or its application.

These difficulties, are seen confronting the Russians:

They now stand as declared opponents of American-backed, organized European recovery.

They have probably been forced into a premature disclosure of the extent of their domination over such governments as the Polish and Czechs. The belief here is they would have preferred no showdowns such as those of the past few days.

May Be Protest

They have cut off millions of people from access to the aid in reviving trade and industry which the Marshall plan is designed to provide, and the political forces which develop in protest against this situation may be powerful.

They have also put the Communist party in western Europe in a political dilemma. The Communists in France, for instance, evidently face a tough choice. As a result the party may find itself hard-pressed in the western countries.

One incidental subject of speculation among diplomats today is whether Jan Masaryk would remain as Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia after the public showing that the Kremlin and Czechoslovakia's Communist Premier Klemente Gottwald can produce such an extraordinary turnabout in Prague's foreign policy.

Ruhr Mine Socialization Plan Splits Britain, U.S.

London, July 11 (AP)—Authoritative Government informants said today British and United States occupation authorities in Germany had divided seriously over an American proposal that British plans for nationalization of the Ruhr coal mines be deferred for five years.

The deadlock came after nearly twelve months of discussion.

The British and United States governments have now agreed to continue their search for a compromise formula over the question at a conference to be held in Washington shortly, the sources added.

Byrnes View Dropped?

The view expressed last summer by James F. Byrnes, then Secretary of State, was that socialization could be carried out if it was clear that the German people favored it.

Whitehall sources said the United States now proposed to Britain that public ownership be postponed for five years and that production could be increased substantially with private owners operating directly under a board of trustees.

But a source in close touch with Cabinet opinion said the British Government still "adheres to the principle of socialization" for the Ruhr mines.

Disclosure of the difference was made after Foreign Office officials reported an Anglo-American agreement had been reached "at a working level" over the question of raising the industrial level of the economically merged British and United States zones.

To Raise Capacity Level

The Potsdam pact limited the annual output of German steel to 5,800,000 tons, with a capacity for production of 7,500,000 tons. The new agreement, according to the officials, will raise the capacity-production level to between 11,000,000 and 13,000,000 tons annually.

They said the accord was being submitted to the two governments for approval.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the Washington talks were directly related with the Paris conference on the Marshall aid proposal for Europe. He said this was because Germany's economy was an integral part of the continental economy, and revival of one would have to take in revival of the other.

3 British Atomic Centers Made "Prohibited' Area

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—Great Britain tightened her atomic research security precautions today. The Ministry of Supply announced that three atomic experimental centers would henceforth be "prohibited areas" as defined by the official secrets act. Other such "prohibited areas" include the Royal Arsenal at Woolwich and other military establishments.

"This does not mean that we are pursuing military atomic research in these centers," a ministry spokesman explained. "However, every one knows there is an atomic pile at Harwell and the pursuit of any atomic-energy experiments leads to the production of plutonium which could eventually be put to military use."

The areas affected in the new order included the Harwell Laboratories, the Department of Atomic Energy at Risley, Lancashire, and a Ministry of Supply factory at Springfield, Lancashire.

The security of these centers already was covered under last year's atomic energy act, which provided a maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment for any violations. Their inclusion under the official secrets act lengthens the possible maximum penalty to seven years for any person convicted of spiriting away information which would be "useful to the enemy."

De Gaulle Saved Him, Says Petain

Paris, July 11 (AP)—Philippe Petain believes his death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by Gen. Charles de Gaulle in return for Petain's preventing the death of de Gaulle by the Vichy regime, a member of the Chamber of Deputies reported today.

The deputy, one of a committee charged with investigation of events in France between 1933 and 1945, said Petain, former marshal and chief of state during the German occupation, parried most of the investigators' questions when they interviewed him on the island of Yew where he is imprisoned.

But when asked about Vichy's condemnation of de Gaulle, Petain replied:

"I was the one who vetoed the condemnation judgment of the Special War Council, and de Gaulle knows it very well, since he rendered me the same service."

When asked to explain his activities between the two world wars, Petain, according to one committee member, replied:

"I know nothing. I'm 92 years old. If you want to question me on the war of 1914-18, I can answer you. I won that one. I know nothing of the one of 1939. No one ever wanted to listen to me. Moreover, my military activity ended in 1918."

FRENCH CIVIL SERVANT STRIKE THREAT FADES

PARIS, July 11—(AP) The threat of a general strike of French civil servants faded tonight as government sources reported Premier Paul Ramadier and union leaders near accord on wage issues.

Ramadier met with top French labor leaders and promised to give his decision on compromise proposals tomorrow. These proposals were approved earlier in the day by Deputy Christian Pineau, president of the national assembly's finance commission.

At the same time, the cabinet approved a proposed new law overhauling civil service classifications and salaries, another move which served to mollify the union.

Sources in the premier's office were confident that, even if negotiations continued for several days, there would be no strike of government employes, which would paralyze transportation and communications.

Fight Against Grains As Stock Feed Failing

Paris, July 11 (AP)—The United States appeared tonight to have lost its fight at the World Cereals Conference for a strong resolution against using grains as livestock feed.

Britain had supported the United States' stand, while France and Eire had led those favoring feeding of grains to livestock. But because a united front as a precedent for the opening tomorrow of the European Economic Conference assumed so much importance, Britain, in the end, preferred to compromise.

Price Of Wheat Fixed By French Cabinet

Paris, July 11 (AP)—The French Cabinet today decided to fix the price of wheat at 1,850 francs ($15.50) the quintal (200 pounds).

A Government spokesman said this would raise the price of bread to 22 francs (18 cents) the kilogram, double the present price.

Philippe Lamour, a Farmers Union leader, said this new price, an increase from 1,350 francs but 50 francs less than the 1,900 the union had sought, would lead the farmers "to cultivate potatoes."

Clay Denies Report

Berlin, July 11 (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor, today denied reports published in London which said that he had "refused" a State Department request to attend conferences in Washington to solve the question of nationalization of the Ruhr coal mines and industry.

Social Democrats Leave Berlin Assembly

Berlin, July 11 (AP)—German political administration of this seat of a four-power government virtually halted today as the largest political party in the City Assembly declined to participate further, except in "emergency matters."

The Social Democratic party—majority winner in the last election which spelled a crushing defeat for the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity party (SED) declared that conflicts among the four occupation powers made self-government in Berlin a sham. The party refused to accept further responsibility.

The Social Democrats' action followed a Soviet veto in the Allied Control Council of the approval of Dr. Ernst Reuter as Lord Mayor. Reuter, a Communist turned Social Democrat, had been elected by the City Assembly.

A leader of the Communist-dominated SED party indicated that, with the Social Democrats abstaining, the SED planned to try to "take" over the Berlin government.

Wartime Deserter Given Ten Years

Heidelberg, Germany, July 11 (AP)—United States constabulary headquarters announced today Private Clifford A. Blake had been convicted of desertion during wartime and sentenced by a court-martial to ten years' imprisonment and dishonorable discharge.

Blake, who entered military service from Superior, Wis., left his military unit in Belgium December 7, 1944, headquarters said, and lived in Paris until returned to military custody March 8, 1947.

List Concert Nets $2,250 for Trieste

Rome, July 11 (A. P.).—The United States 88th Division commander, Major-Gen. Bryant E. Moore, has presented $2,250—proceeds of a concert by American pianist Eugene List—to the city of Trieste for welfare work, army Public Relations announced today.

List played in Trieste under the auspices of army special services.

U.S. Graves Unit Acted As Spies, Slavs Charge

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, July 11 (AP). The Yugoslav News Agency Tanjug attacked a former United States Army graves registration unit today for what it called developing a spy network "under the mask of registering graves of American flyers."

The comment was in connection with the continuing espionage trial of Yugoslav citizens allegedly hired by the unit and now accused of espionage.

Tanjug asserted the trial had "provoked deep resentment and disgust of the entire Yugoslav public not only against these traitors, but also against their employers."

"Gave Every Assistance"

The graves unit reached Yugoslavia in October of 1945.

"Considering the task deeply humane and desirous of paying homage to the fallen American fighters, our authorities were always at its disposal and gave it every assistance," Tanjug said. "Certain members of the mission did not regard the matter in the same light. They attempted to make use of Yugoslav hospitality for different sinister and foul aims."

The indictment of the Yugoslavs on trial asserted there was a connection between the defendants and Pfc. Walter Florek, of College Point, N.Y., a member of the graves unit, who later was fined $25 by a court-martial in Italy for disorderly conduct for an incident in Belgrade.

Flag Insult Alleged

[Florek testified at the trial that he "took down a decoration bearing Yugoslav colors" in a Belgrade bar when he heard Yugoslavs say "the Americans had no right to fly over our territory. . . . It's a good thing those flyers were killed."

[He said the threw the colors at the Yugoslavs, because the men in question, who had been killed when Yugoslav fighters shot down an American Army transport plane, were his personal friends.]

Tanjug said the graves unit used the services of Louisa Modric, former employé of the United States Embassy. Miss Modric is now believed to be in Washington.

Albania Revises Currency

BELGRADE, July 11 (AP).—The news agency Tanjug reported today that the Albanain government had passed a decree calling up all money based on the Albanian franc and will reissue currency based on the lek. Another economic decree, according to Tanjug, introduces uniform prices throughout the country. It was not announced what the value of the lek will be. The franc was quoted at 36 cents American.

Yugoslavia Extending Civil Air Service

Belgrade, July 11 (AP)—The Yugoslav Government announced today plans for a considerable increase in civilian air lines inside and outside the country.

New lines will be started to all important points of Yugoslavia from Belgrade to the Dalmatian coast. Commercial flights will be started to Tirana, Budapest, Bucharest and Sofia. Lines are already in operation to Bratislava and Prague.

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 11 (AP)—Newspapers said that a transport air line to make ten flights a month between Sofia and Moscow, by way of Bucharest and Odessa, had started operations today.

50 Hurt as Reds Disrupt Budapest Political Rally

BUDAPEST, July 11 (AP).—About fifty persons were injured, some of them seriously, in a street fight that followed Communist efforts to break up a Budapest meeting of the Hungarian Freedom party today.

The fight, similar to one which occurred a few weeks ago at Szeged, began when about twenty Communists forced their way into the Freedom party meeting, shouting Communist slogans and preventing the principal speaker, a member of Parliament, from delivering his address.

The Freedom party members, numbering about 250, attacked the Communist intruders and forced them into the street. There they were met, witnesses said, by 300 to 400 more Communists, most of them armed with clubs, and the street brawl ensued. Police halted the fighting after about an hour and arrested about 100 persons.

Army Buys Schillings

Starts 'Pay as You Go' Program With $500,000 Austrian Fund

VIENNA, July 11 (AP).—In the first transaction of its kind since the Army announced its "pay as you go" plan, the United States today bought $500,000 worth of schillings from the Austrian government to defray occupation costs.

A United States Treasury check for that amount was delivered to Paul Hagenmuller, deputy director of the Austrian National Bank. In return, the Army received credit for 5,000,000 schillings at the legal rate of ten schillings to a dollar.

Ousted Correspondent Leaves Czechoslovakia

Prague, July 10 [AP—Delayed]. Franz van der Bijl, newspaper correspondent who sent the London Daily Mail a story last month that a Communist coup d'état was expected in Czechslovakia June 11, left Prague by plane today for London.

Associates reported he said the Interior Ministry security police told him he would be subject to arrest if he remained in the country beyond Friday of this week.

[In London, an editor of the Daily Mail's foreign news staff said: "We understand that Can der Bijl was ordered to leave Czechoslovakia, but we have been given no official reason for his expulsion." He said Van der Bijl was an Englishman born of South African parents.]

International Brigade Fights For Guerrillas, Greece Says

L. S. CHARALIS

Athens, Saturday, July 12 (AP)—The Greek Ministry of War announced early today that army air force and artillery units were inflicting heavy losses on guerrilla forces in a battle on Mount Grammos. Press reports from Salonika said an international brigade had appeared on the guerrilla side in another clash north of Kozone.

The ministry's report said guerrilla resistance points were being wiped out one by one in a battle of increasing violence on Mount Grammos and that casualties were heavy.

The press reports from the Kozone region, south of Mount Grammos, said 150 guerrillas had been killed and told of discovery of a unit of 120 members of an international brigade taking part in the action. No details of the brigade's composition were given.

Appearance Expected

This was the first news of an international brigade actually participating in the Greek strife, although its appearance has been expected for several months since Communist organs over Europe predicted its formation.

Mount Grammos is in the Albanian border area where a Greek Cabinet minister yesterday said the guerrillas were trying to establish a Communist state.

A general staff communiqué said the guerrilla force was being pushed westward despite stiff resistance at fortified points. It added that a "great" number of rifles, 10,000 rounds of ammunition, 15 cases of hand grenades and 13 mortars were seized.

The Greeks said a force of some 4,000 guerrillas was fighting on the 6,000-foot peaks of Mount Grammos only 15 miles from Albania.

Communist State Aim

George Stratos, Minister of War, told a news conference that the objective of the guerrillas was to seize territory for establishment of a KKE (Communist) Government in the area roughly west and north of Kastoria, east and north of Konitsa, and southeast of Koritza, Albania.

The battle began June 27. It was the first time the guerrillas had put up a determined resistance from behind fortified points since April 9. Previously, it was said, they had been told by their leaders not to meet the Greek Army or gendarmerie in a frontal war.

The struggle is being waged on difficult terrain. The country is mountainous with communications primarily over paths. There are no roads of any consequence and all movement must be by foot or by donkey.

U.N. Commission Visit

An investigating team of the United Nations Balkan investigating commission visited the area last March in a vain attempt to make contact with the guerrilla commander in chief, Markos Vifiades.

Meanwhile, Napoleon Zervas, Minister of Public Order, gave new details of what he said was Communist "plan F" for the uprisings and said large stores of arms and ammunition had been uncovered in Athens, Kavalla, Salonika and other points.

Zervas said one phase of "plan F" called for organization of strikes and sabotage to "cultivate the revolutionary spirit."

Another phase, he said, was a "plan G" (or gamma) which dealt specifically with an uprising in Athens set for 1 A.M. on July 10.

He said Communists, many of them high ranking members of the party, had confessed to a program for uprising all over Greece which was frustrated by the arrest of nearly 3,000 Leftists earlier in the week.

Greek Guerrillas Retreating

Athens, July 11 (AP)—The Greek general staff said in a communiqué today that Greek troops, despite stiff resistance, were pushing westward 4,000 guerrillas who were attempting to seize territory near Albania.

Official informants said the guerrillas were fighting along a pitched battle line in 6,000-foot peaks of Mount Grammos, 15 miles from the Albanian border. War Minister George Stratos said the rebel aim was to establish a Communist state.

The struggle had been in progress since June 27. It is centered 22 miles southwest of Kastoria. War Minister George Stratos said an international brigade of 2,500 had been spotted in the Yugoslav port of Split.

Resistance Determined

The rebels were reported offering determined resistance from behind fortified points for the first time since the Greek army offensive started April 9. The communiqué said two more fortified points had been taken and that the army captured 10,000 rounds of ammunition, 15 cases of hand grenades, 13 mortars and a "great" number of rifles.

Previously, the guerrillas had been reported ordered by their leaders not to make frontal war with the army or gendarmerie.

The bulk of the insurgent force of 4,000 around Mount Grammos was believed to be remnants of rebel bands broken up in the Pindus, Olympus, Hassia and Antihassia mountains during previous months.

Some military circles said the determined guerrilla resistance indicated an attempt to keep open supply lines to Albania.

All Terrain Mountainous

All terrain in the battle area is mountainous. All movement is by foot or by donkey, because roads of consequence do not exist.

Gen. Napoleon Zervas, Minister of Public Order, told a news conference that large stores of arms and ammunition has been seized in Kavalia, Salonika and other points and that Communists had expected to use the equipment in their "Plan F" uprising throughout Greece. Zervas said the plot had been smashed and that more than 3,000 leaders were under arrest.

Tardy Aid Charged

Zervas said guerrilla Gen. Markos Vifiades had accused revolutionary comrades in Greek cities of being slow in giving his mountain fighters needed assistance.

The Minister said Plan F orders were issued by insurgents on April 25 and that Plan G—dealing with an uprising in Athens scheduled for 1 A.M. on July 10—was dated July 3.

Zervas said arrested Communists, many of them high-ranking members of the party, had confessed to parts in the plans, which Vifiades signed as "Supreme Commander of the Democratic Army."

During the investigation yesterday, Zervas continued, an arms cache had been discovered in Athens which contained 23 automatic rifles, 6 machine guns, 2 grenades, 2 pistols and 22 bayonets.

Communist Need Stressed

Zervas said orders issued in connection with Plan F emphasized the necessity of the "creation of a complete Communist army to be ready for immediate action."

"We have the original order in this case," the Minister declared.

One phase of the plot, he said, called for organization of strikes and sabotage "to cultivate the revolutionary spirit."

He said the arrests and the swift Government action in thwarting the plot, had prevented bloodshed of innocent persons and plotters as well. He said those under arrest could be charged with "high treason," for which the penalty is death.

Soviet Paper Hits Russian Officials

Moscow, July 11 (AP)—The Soviet trade-union newspaper Trud devoted a lead editorial and a full page of type today to criticism of certain Government offices and ministries in Moscow for inefficiency, rudeness to visitors, delay in carrying out decisions and lack of office discipline.

Trud, one of the most authoritative of Soviet newspapers, called upon the Government offices to clean house and end petty bureaucracy.

Long-Term Trade Accord

Moscow, July 11 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today the talks here in the past few days between Soviet and Czechoslovak leaders had resulted in agreement for greatly expanded trade on a long-term basis between the two nations.

The informants said Premier Gottwald and his Foreign Minister, Jan Masaryk, talked with Prime Minister Stalin and other Soviet leaders in working out the general outlines of the agreement, which was said to call for a large increase in the volume of goods to be exchanged over a large number of years.

The Czechoslovak delegation talked yesterday with Anastase Mikoyan, Soviet Minister for Foreign Trade.

Gottwald and Masaryk and their staff will leave for Prague tomorrow, but a Czechoslovak group will remain here to work out the details of the new agreement.

Turk Premier Charges Plot By Opponents

Istanbul, July 11 (AP)—Premier Recep Peker accused the opposition Democratic party today of attempting to incite a revolt and seize the Government through a coup d état.

His denunciation, issued in a statement to Ulus, official organ of the ruling People's party, emphasized the internal dispute which has led to recurring reports that Peker's Cabinet might collapse.

It came in reply to a statement Tuesday by Jelal Bayar, leader of the Democratic party, calling the Government a regime of violence, determined to throttle opposition.

Peker said he talked with Bayar in the presence of President Ismet Inonu and "let escape my fear of an eventual coup d état."

Peker said the Democratic deputy recently shouted before party leaders in Istanbul that "dictators will pay for their crimes with their lives" and another Democratic leader "incited the people not to obey the police of the Republic."

Peker's statement came after Inonu conferred last evening with Bayar and then called in Vice Premier Mumtaz Okmen for a conference. Informed sources said that President Inonu had hoped to induce Peker to be more moderate in his statement but failed.

Coup Feared In Turkey (N)

Istanbul, July 11 (AP)—Premier Recep Peker charged the opposition Democratic party today with trying to kindle a revolt in Turkey at a time when the country's security was threatened by "those who spy on us at the frontier and look for the days of our downfall."

He said the Democrats wanted to seize power by a coup d'état.

Peker's statement heightened the dispute over domestic policies which had led to recurring reports that his Cabinet might collapse. Peker succeeded Sukru Saracoglu as Premier in August, 1946.

Premier's Regime Attacked

Last Tuesday Celal Bayar, leader of the Democratic party, called Peker's Government one of violence determined to throttle all opposition. E. GREENWALD

Peker, in a reply issued through Ulus, official newspaper of the ruling People's party, disclosed that he talked with Bayar in the presence of President Ismet Inonu and "let escape my fear of eventual coup d'état."

"I am convinced that those who speak of pressure from a government of 'terror' do so in order to conceal the grave responsibility of revolt which they wanted to ignite, which they did not succeed in provoking and which weighs on their shoulders," the Premier added.

Dictator Cry Raised

Peker said a Democratic deputy shouted recently before party leaders in Istanbul that "dictators will pay for their crimes with their lives" and another Democratic leader "incited the people not to obey the police of the republic." Peker added:

"Could the Government, whose duty it is to protect the security of the nation from those who spy on us at the frontiers and look for the days of our downfall consider words of this sort as amusing and ignore them?

Dut; To Take Measures

"It was our duty to try and discover what was the harm that was being prepared behind this mist, and take measures against disturbances which we did not know where or when might break out."

Some Turkish papers predicted five days ago that Peker's Government might fall under protest against its domestic policies, and that a coalition Cabinet might be formed. Normally well-informed sources said, however, that Peker did not feel his position was insecure.

CAIRO BALKS A PROTEST

State of Emergency Prevents Anti-British Demonstration

CAIRO, Egypt, July 11 (AP) — The Government declared a state of emergency in Cairo today and quelled an attempt of a Wafdist youth organization to demonstrate against the British in the mosque of Al Azhar Square.

A large force of police, armed with truncheons, patrolled the area where the young nationalists were to protest what they called "British invasion day," the anniversary of the landing of British troops in Alexandria in 1882.

Students and workers were prevented from entering the mosque. Police peacefully dispersed those leaving the congregation.

Letter Warning Stern Gang Is Opened 1947

Jerusalem, July 11 (AP)—Tel Aviv police today opened a letter addressed to "the head of the Stern gang" and found inside a note warning the Jewish underground organization against "further killing of British soldiers." The note was signed "Jewish Service Men in Britain."

"Further killing of British soldiers in Palestine," the latter declared, "may result in arousing revenge feelings among their former comrades in Britain."

British military authorities meanwhile lifted an out-of-bounds order which for the last two weeks had banned British soldiers from Tel Aviv streets while off duty. The order was invoked after three soldiers had been shot and killed by unidentified persons.

Charge Christians Persecuted

Meanwhile, two British church leaders told the United Nations Palestine Committee today that converts to Christianity in the Holy Land, "whether from Islam or Judaism, have neither freedom from fear nor often freedom from want."

In a joint memorandum submitted to the committee, Bishop W. H. Stewart, of the Church of England in Jerusalem, and the Rev. Clark-Kerr, moderator of the Church of Scotland Presbytery of Jerusalem, declared:

"In spite of theoretical religious liberty, converts to Christianity in Palestine are liable to be and frequently are deprived of their inheritance, turned out of their houses, pilloried in the press, 'framed' in the law courts and threatened with and often subjected to personal violence." ADD

CHINA BLAMES U.S. FOR LOSSES

Admits Communist Gains In Shangtung Province (N)

Nanking, July 11 (AP)—Chinese Government troops suffered new setbacks in Shantung province today while the National Defense Minister blamed the United States for the Communists' strength and the Foreign Office directed a second protest to Moscow over the month-old Sinkiang incident.

The official Chinese Central News Agency said the Government garrison of Taian, 33 miles south of Tsinan, Shantung provincial capital, had "moved to new positions in the face of Red attacks." This is a usual Chinese way of acknowledging a loss.

[The Communist radio broadcast without qualification that its forces had captured Taian and, also Feihsien, 75 miles farther southeast.]

Protracted Mediation

Taian, a strategic station on the Tientsin-Pukow railway, has changed hands three times since the first of the year.

Meanwhile, Pai Shung-Hsi, Minister of Defense, told the standing committee of the People's Political Council that the American policy of protracted mediation (which finally was abandoned last January) had prevented the Government from attacking the Communists a year ago when they were weak and had allowed them to grow strong under the guise of negotiating for peace.

Pai also said he had been able to collect only about one-seventh of the 40,000,000 piculs (about 267,000 tons) of foodstuffs scheduled to be furnished to the army during the current year.

Soldier Pay Increased

He said the pay of common soldiers had been raised 80 per cent from 18,000 Chinese dollars a month, but that this was only enough to buy a pair of straw sandals. [The raise would make the pay 32,400 Chinese dollars, or 60 cents a month, United States, at the latest open exchange rate.]

The Chinese Foreign Office announced it had instructed its Ambassador in Moscow to reiterate "the previous Chinese protest against air attacks made by Soviet military planes on Peitashan."

The Chinese charged that forces from Soviet-connected Outer Mongolia, aided by Russian planes, invaded western Sinkiang province in mid-June.

Answer Called Falsehoods

The Foreign Office statement today said Outer Mongolia's answer to a previous protest "gave an account composed mainly of falsehoods and evasions" and that "the conduct of Outer Mongolia clearly indicated she has no regard for either peace or international law as observed and respected by other nations."

Manchuria, center of some of the bitterest battles of the civil war, remained relatively quiet, but observers predicted a new turn there shortly as a result of a current inspection trip by Gen. Chen Cheng, Government chief of staff.

China Sends a New Protest to Moscow

Says Soviet Planes Helped in Attack on Sinkiang

NANKING, July 11 (AP).—China sent a second protest to Moscow today over the Peitashan incident, which involved a Sinkiang (China) border clash between Chinese and troops of pro-Russian Outer Mongolia last month. The Foreign Ministry addressed a new note to the U. S. S. R., reiterating the previous Chinese protest against "air attacks made by Soviet military planes of Peitashan."

Mongolian cavalrymen raided Peitashan, 120 miles within China, in what the Chinese charged was a Soviet-sponsored attack. Outer Mongolia—once a part of China—denied Soviet planes had supported its troops, and asserted it had acted only to drive out Chinese "invaders" from Mongolian territory.

A statement from the Foreign Ministry said China demanded punishment of those responsible for the Peitashan incident, a guaranty against further such occurrences and withdrawal of Outer Mongolian troops from Sinkiang Province. It reserved the right to claim damages.

The official Chinese Central News Agency reported two days ago from Urumchi (Tihwa), capital of the far northwestern province, that Mongolian cavalry had renewed "raids" against Peitashan.

China Vote Dates Set

Nanking, July 11 (AP) — China's voters will cast ballots October 21 through October 23 for members of the National Assembly, which will inaugurate constitutional government December 25, the General Election Office announced today. December 21 to 23 was set for the election of legislative Yuan members

Chinese Parley Due, New Turn In War Seen

Peiping, July 11 (AP)—General Chen Cheng, Nationalist chief of staff, summoned North China military commanders and political leaders to a meeting today, and the Chinese press speculated that fighting in Manchuria will take a new turn.

Chen called the meeting ostensibly to outline the Government's recent general mobilization order in its fight against Chinese Communists. Perhaps significantly, however, he is due to leave tomorrow for Manchuria to visit Mukden and Szepingkai.

The situation in Manchuria has been quiet in the past week. One of the few reports of action was Nationalist recovery of Hsifeng, 42 miles southeast of battle-blasted Szepingkai and one of two major points to which the Communists had withdrawn.

Would Use Ancient System

Meanwhile, Pai Chung-hsi, Minister of National Defense, suggested adoption of a system in use in China 1,000 years ago to overcome the "favorable" military position of the Communists—which he attributed in part to American policy of protracted mediation with the Communists.

He urged return to the system under which Government armies expanded through use of manpower in localities which came under its control, and advocated establishment of local arsenals to produce weapons of war.

Million Chinese Facing Starvation

Shanghai, July 11 (AP)—UNRRA estimated today 1,000,000 Chinese are facing starvation in Hunan, Kwangsi, Shantung and Honan provinces. It mobilized transport facilities to distribute 50,000 tons of relief food.

Part of the relief supplies will be flown into the affected areas by Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation Administration Air Transport—the airline operated by Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, wartime commander of China's "Flying Tigers."

Jap Government Seeks Funds 1947

Tokyo, July 11 (AP)—The Japanese Government staggered the Diet (Parliament) today with a request for 100,000,000,000 yen ($2,000,000,000) in special appropriations—virtually duplicating the size of the present budget.

Officials agreed to prune the total but insisted that the rising Government costs and other expenditures necessitated what would be an all-time record outlay in Japan.

The Diet is talking now of granting 60,000,000,000 yen ($1,200,000,000) of the special appropriations, which the Government says it can balance by heavy taxation on new fortunes and increased revenue from state monopolies.

Part Is Unspecified

The working budget for 1947-48 totals 114,500,000,000 yen ($2,290,000,000) as passed by the last Diet, including some 27,000,000,000 ($540,000,000) for occupation costs.

The Government's request for additional appropriations does not include an unspecified amount which it will seek later for costs of preparing plants and other equipment for reparations shipment.

The national budget totaled 120,000,000,000 yen ($2,400,000,000) for 1946-47 when the Government finished up 31,000,000,000 ($620,000,000) in the red.

Reds Hit At Labor Meet

Meanwhile, the question of Communist influence on Japanese labor organizations got a brief airing before the extraordinary convention of Japan's Congress of Industrial Unions today.

The communications workers' delegate charged that wildcat walkouts occurring after the February general strike was forbidden by General MacArthur, were engineered by Communists.

Delegates from unions which struck shouted in reply that the action at that time was the policy of individual organizations and not of Communist instigation.

CIU Chairman Katsumi Kikunami diverted the argument by repeating a favorite one of his own—that the current "capitalist offensive" was aimed at "impending progress of Japanese labor classes and trying to overthrow it at a stroke."

Reopening Cleared For Banks in Japan

Allies License British and Dutch Branches

TOKYO, July 11 (AP).—Allied Headquarters announced today four Dutch and British banks been licensed to reopen branches in Japan to help prepare facilities for foreign trade.

Authorized to reopen branches in Tokyo were Hong Kong & Shanghai Banking Corp., chartered Bank of India, Australia & China, and Netherlands India Commercial Bank. The Netherlands Trading Society received permission to resume business in Kobe.

Headquarters banking officials said a survey is now under way to determine what additional foreign banking facilities are needed in Japan. Now operating here are National City Bank of New York and Banque de Indochine.

Officials said authority had not yet been granted for a branch of Bank of America, although A. P. Giannini, president, has announced plans to establish a branch here soon. They said the application had not been referred as yet to General MacArthur for his final authorization.

Tom B. Coughran, vice-president, of Bank of America's international banking department has continued a Far Eastern inspection trip after surveying the situation here.

Christmas Cotton

Tokyo, July 11 (AP)—Allied headquarters today authorized the Japanese Government's Board of Trade to release 25,000 pounds of cotton yarn and 26,000 linear yards of cotton fabrics to producers of miniature Santa Clauses and Christmas ornaments.

Holland Insists That Indonesia Accept Terms (N)

Van Mook Says Entire Plan for an Interim Regime Must Be Approved Now

BATAVIA, Java, July 11 (AP).—Governor General Hubertus J. Van Mook of the Netherlands East Indies told the Indonesian Republic today that "the time for decision has come" and again demanded acceptance of all the Dutch proposals for the establishment of an interim government for the United States of Indonesia.

"The Netherlands proposals constitute a coherent and indivisible whole," Mr. Van Mook said in a radio address. "The republican government has accepted a considerable part, but we have reached the stage where such acceptance must be complete if we wish to establish peace and start work."

The principal issue now is the Dutch insistence upon a joint Dutch-Indonesian gendarmerie to police Java. The Indonesians want maintenance of law and order within the area of the Republic to be the responsibility of Indonesian agencies. President Soekarino in a broadcast today from Jogjakarta reiterated his insistence on that point.

Mr. Soekarno said the Republic did not reject the idea of co-operation with other federal partners and the Dutch in securing law and order on a federal level, but that republican agencies should handle such matters within the Republic.

He offered a personal guaranty that all foreign properties would be restored and conditions established within the Republic to permit their normal operation.

He also said the Republic is prepared to undertake promptly measures to restore normal traffic into the Republic from Dutch areas and to lift the food blockade against Dutch-controlled cities.

The Indonesian News Agency said sharp clashes between their forces and Dutch troops took place near Bandoeng on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Deputy Premier D. Setiadjit went to the troublesome East Java front to make sure that the republicans honor the cease-fire order ending hostilities with the Dutch, a dispatch from Jogjakarta said.

Dutch Urge Java To Accept Plan (D)

Batavia, Java, July 11 (AP)—Governor General Hubertus J. Van Mook demanded today that the Indonesian Republic accept in full all the proposals of the Netherlands for establishing an interim Government for a United States of Indonesia.

"The time for decision has come," the Governor General said in a radio address.

The Indonesians have accepted four of the five principal Dutch proposals, but have demanded that internal policing within Republican sectors be assigned to Republican agencies. The Netherlands has proposed a force of Indonesians and Dutch.

President Soekarne repeated today the Indonesian insistence on the internal policing issue. He added, however, that the republic was prepared to undertake promptly measures to restore normal traffic into the republic from Dutch areas and to lift the food blockade against Dutch-controlled cities.

Dutch 'Strafed Town' In Java

Batavia, Java, July 11 (AP)—The Indonesian Republican Army reported in a communiqué today that Dutch aircraft had strafed and bombed the west Java town of Tanggerang last Monday when the Dutch-Indonesian crisis was at its peak.

Ground clashes in which the Dutch used mortars occurred in the same area last week end, the communiqué said.

The Indonesian News Agency reported othe rsharp clashes near Bandoeng on Tuesday.

There was no Dutch confirmation of these reports.

Australian Official To See MacArthur

Sydney, July 11 (AP)—Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Minister of External Affairs, left Sydney on the navy transport Kanimbla today to confer with General MacArthur in Tokyo.

Philippine Trial Recessed

MANILA, July 11 (AP)—The treason trial of Jorge B. Vargas, chairman of the Japanese-sponsored Executive Commission in the wartime puppet Philippines Government, today was continued to Aug. 29 by the People's Court. The recess came after Solicitor General Lorenzo M. Tanada completed the task of introducing 309 exhibits of what he called "damning testimony" against Mr. Vargas.

Soldier Is Identified In Pacific Plane Crash

Honolulu, July 11 (AP)—Seventh Air Force today identified the young Army radioman who lost his right arm and leg in a plane crash at Palmyra Island—and lived.

He is Pfc. Buster Bailey, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Bailey, of Dallas, Texas.

Bailey and five fellow crewmen survived a night crash of their C-46 cargo plane early Wednesday on a reef at tiny Palmyra, 100 miles south of Hawaii. They were brought here by rescue plane the same day.

Doctors credited three blood plasma transfusions with helping to save the radioman's life. One of them was given by an expectant mother, Mrs. Robert Steed, with instructions via amateur radio. A registered nurse, she is the wife of a CAA mechanic on Palmyra.

EGYPT DEMANDS (N) U.N. OUST BRITISH

Cairo Charges English Troops Threaten Peace

Lake Success, N.Y., July 11 (AP)—The Egyptian Government today accused Britain of a hostile policy toward Egypt and demanded that the United Nations order the evacuation of all British troops immediately.

Egypt warned that continued presence of British soldiers threatened world peace.

In a bristling complaint to the Security Council, the Cairo Government said Britain was taking advantage of an outmoded treaty to maintain troops "in Egyptian territories against the unanimous will of the people."

Outlived Its Purpose

Egypt said that the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of 1936 covering the presence of troops "cannot bind Egypt any longer, having outlived its purposes, besides being inconsistent with the (United Nations) Charter."

Egypt also asked the United Nations to terminate the British regime in the Sudan to halt "a policy designed to sever the Sudan from Egypt."

The charges, capping long-smouldering friction between the two countries, said a dispute existed which threatened international peace and security as well as the "liberty and unity of a free and independent nation."

Figures Not Offered

Neither Egyptian nor British sources were ready to offer definite figures on how many troops were now on Egyptian soil, the London War Office saying only "a few thousand" troops were there "liquidating" military establishments.

Previously the British cited the withdrawal of wartime forces from cities—mainly Cairo and Alexandria—and claimed to be down to the treaty limit of 10,000 troops and 400 pilots plus auxiliary personnel to safeguard the Suez Canal zone, which is sovereign Egyptian territory. Egyptians termed the British figures too low.

The complaint, signed by Prime Minister Nokrashy Pasha, was handed to the United Nations by Ambassador Hassan Pasha. He said the Premier would arrive here shortly to personally argue the case before the eleven-nation council.

Bulgarian Accusation

The Egyptian charges, expected for weeks, reached the Council while delegates were listening to Bulgaria accuse the United States of intimidation in seeking to establish a United Nations border watch over the Balkans.

Dr. N. Mevorah, Bulgarian representative, said the statement by Warren R. Austin, American delegate, that the Council might have to resort to force if a border commission was not established, was intimidation.

United Nations officials said the Egyptian charges could not be taken up before Tuesday at the earliest under Council rules, but it was indicated that there might be a much longer delay due to the current jam in the Council over the Balkan situation and a proposed world police force.

The British said they were ready to begin debate immediately.

A spokesman for the London Government declared that an Anglo-Egyptian treaty covering presence of British troops did not expire until 1956. He said the British had agreed to consider revision but that negotiations had broken down over Egypt's efforts to assert her sovereignty in the Sudan.

The spokesman said Britain looked on any unilateral cancellation of a treaty "as a serious move which undercuts the whole framework of international life." As for the Sudan, he said:

Egyptian Contention

"Our view is that the Sudan must be free to choose its future government."

Egypt previously has contended that no free plebiscite could be held in the Sudan while British troops were stationed there.

The Government announced in Cairo several months ago that it would file the complaint with the council and no explanation ever was offered for the delays.

Simultaneously with submitting the charges here formally, the Government declared a state of emergency and quelled an attempt by the Waftist youth organization to demonstrate against the British in Cairo. The young nationalists had planned to protest what they called "British Invasion Day," British troops having landed in Alexandria on July 11, 1882.

Ending Of Sudan Regime

The complaint asked the Council to direct:

1. Total and immediate exacuation of British troops from Egypt including the Sudan.

2. Termination of the present administrative regime in the Sudan.

The Sudan, a large unexploited area of almost a million square miles, has been held under "condominium" rule and flying the flags of Britain and Egypt since 1899. Its absorption under the Egyptian crown would extend Egyptian rule from the Mediterranean to the equatorial headwaters of the Nile and greatly increase Egyptian frontage on the Red Sea.

Romania Seeks U.N. Seat

Lake Success, N.Y., July 11 (AP)—Romania applied today for membership in the United Nations.

Like the Italian, Hungarian and Austrian bids, the Romanian membership application must await final action on peace treaties.

Egypt Protests About British (T)

Lake Success, July 11 (AP)—Egypt demanded formally today that the United Nations Security Council order "immediate and total" withdrawal of all British troops from Egypt and the Sudan.

At the same time the Council was asked to terminate the present British "regime" in the Sudan, which has long been a source of friction between Egypt and Britain.

The Egyptian complaint was signed by Prime Minister Nokrashy Pasha and dated July 8. Nokrashy Pasha was expected to arrive here over the week end or early next week to present Egypt's argument personally before the Council.

Delay Until Tuesday

United Nations officials said the Council could not take up the case before Tuesday at the earliest, because of Council rules.

The British were understood to be ready to begin the discussion immediately.

British sources said discussions on the Egyptian complaint might not come up for a week or two at least because of the backlog of work before the Council and because of the apparent reluctance of the Egyptians to press for immediate action.

Revision Of Treaty

A British spokesman, reviewing the background of the dispute, said the British had agreed to consider revision of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty, although it did not expire until 1956.

He said Britain and Egypt had reached an agreement on the withdrawal of British troops, but that the negotiations had broken down when Egypt sought to assert her sovereignty over the Sudan.

"Our view is that the Sudan must be free to choose its future government," the spokesman said.

The spokesman said Britain looked on any unilateral cancellation of a treaty "as a serious move which undercuts the whole framework of international life."

The document was handed to Izan Kerno, Assistant Secretary General of the United Nations, by Mahmoud Hassan Pasha, Egyptian Ambassador to the United States.

Hassan Pasha said the complaint was based on Articles 35 and 37 of the United Nation's Charter providing for an appeal to the Security Council in any case threatening to lead to international friction.

Long Expected

Filing of the case had long been expected, but was delayed pending instructions from Cairo. Hassan Pasha reached New York from Washington two days ago.

Egypt's Petition to U. N.

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 11—Following is the text of an appeal against Britain presented by Egypt to the United Nations through Secretary General Trygve Lie today.

Mr. Secretary General:

British troops are maintained in Egyptian territories against the unanimous will of the people. The presence of foreign troops within the territory of a member of the United Nations organization, in time of peace and without its free consent, constitutes an offense to its dignity, a hindrance to its normal development, as well as an infringement of the fundamental principles of sovereign equality, and is therefore contrary to the letter and spirit of the United Nations Charter and to the resolution adopted unanimously by the General Assembly on Dec. 14, 1946.

30. 24- 10863

The unwarranted occupation of Egypt by British troops in 1882 and, as a consequence, their occupation of the southern part of the Nile valley, the Sudan, have enabled the Government of the United Kingdom, since 1899, to force upon Egypt their partnership in the administration of the Sudan and subsequently to assume exclusive authority therein. Taking advantage of this situation, they have adopted a policy designed to sever the Sudan from Egypt, discrediting Egypt and the Egyptians, creating discord between them and the Sudanese and dissension among the Sudanese themselves, instigating and encouraging artificial separatist movements. By this policy, the Government of the United Kingdom have endeavored, and are endeavoring, to impair the unity of the Nile valley, notwithstanding that this unity is urged by the common interest and aspirations of its people.

The occupation of the Nile valley by the British armed forces and the pursuance of the aforesaid hostile policy, being unjustified threats to the liberty as well as to the unity of a free and independent nation, have given rise to a dispute between the Egyptian Government and the Government of the United Kingdom, and continuance of which is likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security.

In conformity with Article 33 of the Charter of the United Nations organization, and despite the fact that the presence of foreign troops is in itself incompatible with the freedom of negotiations, the Egyptian Government attempted with good faith to reach a fair settlement of this dispute by means of direct negotiations with the Government of the United Kingdom. These long and arduous negotiations having failed to achieve their end, the Government of the United Kingdom are striving to avail themselves of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of 1936. That cannot bind Egypt any longer, having outlived its purposes, besides being inconsistent with the Charter.

Consequently, the Egyptian Government bring their dispute with the Government of the United Kingdom to the Security Council under Articles 35 and 37 of the Charter, requesting the Security Council to direct:

(a) The total and immediate evacuation of British troops from Egypt, including the Sudan;

(b) The termination of the present administrative regime in the Sudan.

In asking you to place this dispute on the agenda of the Council, the Egyptian Government are at the Council's disposal to expound their demands and submit the necessary documentation when so invited according to Article 32.

I avail myself of this opportunity to renew to your excellency the assurance of my very high consideration.

MAHMOUD FAHMY NOKRASHY,
Prime Minister,
Minister for Foreign Affairs of the Kingdom of Egypt.

Balkan Pressure Laid To U.S. By Bulgars

Lake Success, July 11 (AP)—Bulgaria accused the United States today of intimidation in seeking to establish a United Nations border watch over the Balkans.

Dr. N. Mevorah, Bulgarian representative, told the Security Council that such a commission as proposed by the United States would place Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania "in a state of trusteeship which contradicts the principle of sovereignty."

He declared that the proposals of the Balkan Inquiry Commission which held the three Soviet satellites primarily responsible for Greek border disturbances were "unnecessary and dangerous."

Austin Statement

Referring to a statement by United States Chief Delegate Warren R. Austin that the Security Council might have to resort to force if the border commission is not established, Mevorah said:

"It is evident that these intimidations, though not contained in Mr. Austin's draft resolution, but alluded to in his speech and probably implied in the first paragraph of his draft, are a sequel to an admission of our guilt and of our responsibility."

"We deny that we are guilty," he said.

The Bulgarian argued that under the United Nations charter the Security Council could not establish such a commission without the consent of the parties involved.

Trieste As Example

But Herschel V. Johnson, deputy United States delegate, replied that the Security Council did have such powers and pointed out that Triste was an example.

The council adjourned until Tuesday when the Balkan case will be resumed.

Meanwhile, chief French Delegate Alexandre Parodi was considering whether to submit a compromise in an attempt to reconcile the opposed American and Russian proposals for settlement of the Balkan disorders.

BROADER U.N. ASIA COUNCIL PROPOSED

India And Philippines Want Dependents Included

Lake Success, N.Y., July 11 (AP)—India and the Philippines proposed formally today that membership of the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East be broadened to include all dependent territories in Asia either as members or as consultants.

The proposals were submitted to the commission's ten-nation committee of the whole along with resolutions from Russia and Britain to give the non-self governing territories a voice in the commission's deliberations but nto full membership.

Territories affected by the proposals were Burma, Ceylon, Malaya, Indonesia and Indochina.

Soviet Provisions

The Indian resolution provided that all "countries and territories" in Asia and the Orient be invited to apply for membership in the commission and that pending action on their applications they be given a consulative status.

The Philippine proposal was similar, except that it provided for consultation of the territories in the event they were not admitted to membership.

The Soviet proposal had two provisions:

1. That all Asian countries which were members of the United Nations, except Turkey, be admitted to membership in the commission. Turkey was excluded because she has membership in the Economic Commission for Europe.

Consult Nonmembers

2. That non-members of the United Nations should be consulted when the commission is considering questions concerning them.

The primary effect of the Soviet proposal would be to include Iraq, Iran, Syria, Lebanon and Afghanistan in the commission.

The British proposal provided that dependent territories be admitted to associate membership in the commission if proposed by the government responsible for the international relations.

It provided also that these territories should be entitled to participate without a vote in all meetings of the commissoin, and that they would be eligible to serve as members of field teams or other subordinate bodies.

U. S. SPEEDS ARMS TO GREECE TO AID IN GUERRILLA WAR

Maintaining Security Vital Part of Aid Program, Griswold Says.

NEW FIGHTING FLARES

Greek Forces Inflict Heavy Losses on Rebels in Mountain Battle.

WASHINGTON, July 11—(AP) The United States is speeding an initial $35,000,000 shipment of artillery, ammunition, and other military equipment to Greek armed forces before actual reconstruction efforts in Greece get into full swing.

Dwight Griswold, chief of the American economic aid mission, announced the move today on the eve of his departure for Athens. He said the shipment is going on an "anti-bandit basis" and that maintaining internal security in Greece is a vital part of the $300,000,000 enterprise.

The former Nebraska governor told reporters that "it would be useless to rebuild a bridge and have it blown up" by Communist-supported guerrillas.

First Shipment on Way

The first munitions shipment, already en route to American ports for loading aboard ship, includes light mounted artillery deemed particularly suitable for the rugged Greek terrain, ammunition, mules, trucks and jeeps, and food for the Greek army.

"Some" planes and a number of light navy motorcraft designed for operation close to shore also are to be supplied in the military phase of the recovery enterprise.

Griswold told a news conference that munitions share top priority with emergency food, of which a first $7,000,000 shipment is currently being prepared. He also gave for the first time the tentative allotments for civilian reconstruction.

Carrying out these plans hinges upon congressional willingness to vote the full $300,000,000 authorized. The appropriations request is now in the hands of the House Appropriations Committee, whose chairman, Rep. Taber (R-NY) has criticized the State Department's justification of estimates.

Estimates Flexible

Griswold said on this point that estimates had to be flexible to permit decisions to meet local conditions.

"It would be a mistake in the field of international politics to reduce the program," Griswold said. "This would be accepted all over the world as a softening of our policy."

The present estimates call for these outlays:

Military—$150,000,000 to enable the Greek army and navy to maintain internal security. Of this sum, $15,000,000 is for naval craft and supplies. The munitions are largely U. S. government surplus or material which will be declared surplus.

Agricultural rehabilitaion—$19,000,000 for equipment, seeds and other supplies to spur particularly the production of tobacco, olives, and dried fruits because of their export importance. Fishing also will be aided.

Reconstruction—$48,000,000 for rebuilding railways, highways, industry, mining and telecommunications. Contracts to rebuild thirteen small railway bridges already are being negotiated. Most of the contracts are expected to go to American firms, although others are not excluded. They will be largely on a cost-plus-fixed fee basis.

Civilian goods—$75,000,000 for food, clothing, fertilizer, seed, and other goods.

Public health—$3,000,000 to cope with tuberculosis and malaria particularly.

Training — $1,500,000 to train Greek nationals both in Greece and the United States in modern government administration, industry and other lines.

Supplementing the $300,000,000 economic-military program will be about $50,000,000 from the $350,000,000 emergency relief enterprise for Europe and China. Griswold explained that both these relief supplies and the $75,000,000 consumer goods will be sold under American direction by the Greek government and the proceeds plowed back in wages paid in Greek currency.

Griswold said he would leave probably Sunday by plane for Athens with a vanguard of his official staff of about forty. He will travel in President Truman's new personal plane on a shakedown flight.

Marshall, Senate Group Meet

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee discussed United States foreign policy behind closed doors today amid the strictest kind of secrecy.

Marshall, Chairman Vandenberg (R. Mich.) and other committee members refused to comment even in a general way on the nature of their conference, which lasted an hour and 45 minutes.

The lid appeared to have been clamped on tighter than ever before, with committeemen repeating over and over that it was an "executive session."

U.N. Charter Proposals

Marshall had been expected to give the committee his opinion on several proposals to put Congress on record as favoring a United Nations Charter-revision session.

After the meeting, Senator George (D., Ga.) said "nothing starling" took place, but Senator Wiley (R., Wis.) said Marshall's statement, given informally, was "very illuminating."

Senator Barkley (D., Ky.) said: "We discussed a lot of things, but I'm not saying what was discussed or what was said."

Members said there was no plan to call Marshall back at any definite date, although more or less regular meetings with him on what one member called the "developing" Marshall aid-to-Europe plan are expected later.

Meanwhile, there were these other developments:

1. Official word was said to have been delivered to Chairman Vandenberg (R., Mich.) that present plans call for Congress to receive the Marshall plan for European recovery next January, with no special session call this fall.

2. Republican leaders agreed to ask final action in the remaining two weeks of this session on legislation approving (a) American trusteeship of the former Japanese-mandated islands in the Pacific and (b) the United Nations headquarters site in New York.

3. The GOP leadership decided to delay action on a measure to standardize the arms of Latin-American countries, but left up in the air final disposition of both the Mundt bill authorizing a permanent State Department foreign information service and the Anglo-American oil compact.

Information Measure

The committee may decide next Tuesday whether to risk Senate debate on the information measure written by Representative Mundt (R., S.D.) and already passed by the House. Action on the oil agreement apparently depends on whether Senator Connally (D., Texas) is willing to withdraw his opposition.

The Republican leaders expect to obtain Senate approval in the next two weeks of the island trusteeship agreement, already cleared by the Foreign Relations Committee.

And the committee has received word from both Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, and Mayor O'Dwyer, of New York, that the United Nations site agreement will encounter no state or city objections.

With these questions out of the way, the Senate leaders will be about ready to shut down shop for this session. That would leave the Latin-American arms bill hanging until the next meeting of Congress.

It is Vandenberg's attitude that Senate debate on the proposal might hamper American delegates at the proposed inter-American conference in Rio de Janeiro this summer.

GEN. WEDEMEYER TO SURVEY KOREA, CHINA CONDITIONS

WASHINGTON, July 11—(AP) Lt. Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer, former chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, is going to China and Korea for a six-week survey of conditions there.

A White House announcement today said the wartime American army commander in China will "make an appraisal of the over-all situation" in the two Far Eastern nations. He will have the rank of ambassador.

The United States has been faced by diplomatic problems in both countries:

U.S. Faces Diplomatic Problems

1. In Korea, a joint Russian-American commission is now trying to thresh out the question of what political groups should be consulted in setting up a provisional government. Korea has been split into Russian and American occupation zones for more than a year.

2. A civil war between Chiang's nationalist government and Communist forces has complicated U.S relations with China.

Before he was named secretary of state, Gen. George C. Marshall spent several months there as ambassador in a vain effort to bring the two sides together.

Last week, the State Department said $130,000,000 worth of rifle cartridges had been sold to Chiang's troops, under an authorization to buy munitions from American manufacturers.

But Secretary Marshall said that did not mean that this country had decided to back the nationalists all the way in their fight against the Communists.

There has been some talk reported from Shanghai that Gen. Wedemeyer might be named ambassador to China, succeeding Dr. Leighton Stuart. Wedemeyer has been commanding the Second Army, with headquarters at Ft. Meade, Md.

On his inspection trip, the general will act as special representative of President Truman. He will submit a report of his findings to the President on his return.

Accompanying him on the trip will be:

Mark Watson of the Baltimore Sun, public relations adviser; David Jenkins of the Treasury Department, fiscal adviser; Philip Sprouse of the State Department, political adviser; Rear Adm. Carl A. Trexel, engineering adviser and Melville Walker of the State Department economic adviser.

Britain To Join U.S. In Planning Reich Coal Boost

Washington, July 11 (AP)—The United States, acting on the eve of the Marshall plan conference in Paris, fostered a direct boost to European recovery today with the announcement that an effort will be made to increase Germany's vital coal production.

The State Department, in making the announcement, said coal is the key to success in any recovery program.

The department said in response to American invitation, the British Government will send a mission to Washington to discuss improvement of coal production in the conquered Reich. The talks are expected to begin in ten days.

Essential To Recovery

The State Department's announcement said:

"It is recognized by the two governments that improvement of production of coal in the bizonal area (the American and British occupation zones) is essential to the success of any European recovery plan which may be developed by the European countries who are meeting in Paris on July 12."

It was also learned on excellent authority that at least three other methods of American co-operation with the European countries which are trying to make the Marshall plan work against Soviet opposition are favored by American officials.

Active Co-Operation

These are:

1. Active assistance from United States occupation authorities in Germany with whatever planning committees are set up by the Paris conference, assuming that the committees invite such help.

This project is based on the State Department's theory that no European economic program can be worked out effectively without the co-operation of the authorities controlling Germany's vital industrial resources.

2. A new study of overall German industrial production, aimed at making German output more directly serve the needs of Europe.

This may mean a shift of emphasis away from the production of those goods which would most readily find markets in the United States.

Closer Relationship

3. Closer relation between United States occupation authorities and European countries most directly dependent on the German economy.

For example, one project already approved is a conference with Dutch and Belgian officials on channeling more German imports through the ports of Rotterdam and Antwerp which formerly handled a large volume of German trade.

Officials here attached the utmost importance to the German coal talks and there was speculation that the American zonal commander, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, might participate.

Ruhr coal production, economic experts said, is now about 216,000 tons daily, or only a little more than half of prewar output. These informants said that to meet Europe's essential needs for coal from this source, production should be boosted to about 350,000 tons a day.

The importance to European recovery is illustrated by the fact that European countries now draw heavily on American coal which costs them about $20 or more a ton. The cost of Ruhr coal, if available, would be somewhat under $10.

Patterson Asks U.S. Ships for Occupied Areas

Would Charter Idle Liberty Vessels to Japanese and Germans to Carry Food

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP).—Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson recommended to Congress today that the government charter idle Liberty ships to German and Japanese citizens for carrying food to occupied areas.

Secretary Patterson filed with the Speaker of the House a War Department bill which would authorize the Maritime Commission to charter the vessels, including types which could be converted for deep set fishing, until March 31, 1951.

Both United States shipowners and maritime union officials have opposed the plan on the grounds it would not result in any saving. But Secretary Patterson estimated in a statement submitted with the bill that the plan would save $14,000,000 a year in the operation of seventy-five Liberty ships by Germany alone. The savings on fishing vessels cannot be estimated, he added, but they "would certainly be very substantial."

He added that the bill would "effect a substantial economy in supplying food to Germany and Japan by authorizing the execution of a plan suggested by Mr. Herbert Hoover in his report to the President upon completion of an economic mission to Germany and Austria."

Owners Also Oppose It

President Hoover's plan is opposed by maritime unions on grounds that it would deprive about 3,000 American seamen of employment. Ship operators also oppose it, saying the government will have to pay unemployment compensation to seamen put out of jobs, that the German merchant marine will be encouraged at the expense of the American fleet, that the government would only be paying for the service out of another pocket because it is guaranteeing German marks and because the activation of laid-up ships will entail considerable expense.

Jap-Occupation Policy Formulated

Washington, July 11 (AP)—The eleven-nation Far Eastern Commission today set forth the basic principles which should guide Allied postsurrender policy toward Japan.

American Government officials said the commission's lengthy document, which comes 22 months after United States forces began occupation duty, in effect approves the occupation directive President Truman sent General MacArthur on September 6, 1945.

Debate In Closed Sessions

The eleven nations, including Russia, debated the policy during numerous closed meetings at commission headquarters in Washington.

Allied policy toward Japanese assets outside the home islands was omitted from the document because of the commission's inability to determine whether they should be included among war reparations.

The original American directive called for an inventory of such assets to permit their inclusion in reparations discussions.

FELICITATION FOR FRANCE

Attorney General Sends Formal Bastille Day Greeting

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP) — Attorney General Tom Clark, in a Bastille Day message addressed to the people of France, transmitted through the State Department today, said:

"The celebration of Bastille Day, July 14, by France has its counterpart in the celebration by the United States of July 4, ringing out to the world the triumphant voice of liberty.

"The people of both countries are liberty-loving, with good will toward all and enmity toward none. Twice in one generation we have been united on battlefields against despotism and totalitarianism. We shall remain united in the effort to bring an enduring peace and everlasting freedom to people everywhere.

"My sincere wishes to the great Republic of France and its warm-spirited people on the observance of Bastille Day in the year 1947, and in the years to come when all the world will live in blessed harmony."

ICAO CHANGE TO SENATE

Amnedment Would Complete the Ouster of Spain

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—President Truman sent to the Senate for ratification today an amendment to the International Civil Aviation Convention which completes the ouster of Spain from the world air body.

The proposed amendment was adopted by the assembly of the International Civil Aviation Organization at Montreal in May. Spain's ouster was required by a Russian-sponsored resolution as a prerequisite to affiliation of the air body with the United Nations.

TRUMAN SOON TO WARN ANEW ON INFLATION

Will Send Off-Season Message To Congress Next Week

Washington, July 11 (AP)—President Truman is expected to hoist anew his storm warnings of inflation, in a special midyear economic report to Congress next week.

The White House announced that the President and Cabinet decided today, in a Cabinet meeting, to send the off-season message. They had just listened to the reading of a state-of-the-economy memorandum from the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

The council study, on which Mr. Truman's message will be based, includes a discussion of the big wage gains made by John L. Lewis's 475,000 soft and hard coal miners this week.

Wage Picture "Exaggerated"

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said that the Cabinet and council agreed there had been "a tendency to exaggerate the importance of the coal settlements on the overall wage picture."

He added, however: "If prices should go up as a result, that would be a matter of concern." Price jumps in coal, steel and other products have been freely predicted in industry and in Congress since the coal agreements.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company, biggest commercial producer, announced that its is making "tentative" price increases to cover the higher wage costs, but will not announce a price schedule for a month. Other Pittsburgh sources said increases of 73 to 75 cents a ton are in prospect.

Price Probe Urged

Simultaneously, a congressional investigation of the "reasons causing the high prices of consumer goods" was urged by Senator Baldwin (R., Conn.).

Baldwin asked the Senate Banking Committee to approve his resolution for an inquiry into prices "at the level of the housewife, the producer, the retailer, the wholesaler and the home seeker."

Ross gave only a few clues to the content of the economic council's memorandum, read to the Cabinet group by Edwin G. Nourse, council chairman. Ross said the "whole thing" would be covered in Mr. Truman's message "within a week or ten days."

Council's Position

But persons close to the council reported privately that the council has taken this position:

1. That the country must combat an apparent tendency to "relax its resistance to the inflationary mood."

2. That a continued high-price pressure, if continued, holds the threat of a serious slump.

3. That the coal wage settlement, since it actually nets miners $1.20 more a day, is not far out of line with the 15-cent hourly "pattern" set this spring. The miners' hourly rate is boosted 44½ cents, but this is partly offset by a shorter work day which does away with overtime pay previously received.

Price Rise "Unfortunate"

4. That a new round of price increases in steel and consumer goods set off by the coal agreement would be unfortunate and unjustified.

5. That the decline in consumers' income after taxes has not yet been felt by industry, partly because export demands have sustained high production and employment.

6. That the record volume of exports, being supported in large part by foreign loans, may sag if the Government curtails its foreign-aid program.

Jobs Hit New Peak

The message will reach Congress, however, at a time of almost unprecedented business activity. The Census Bureau reported today that the number of civilian jobs rose to a new record high in June—60,055,000 — surpassing the one-time "dream goal" of 60,000,000 jobs.

Ross said that the Cabinet felt it would "be a very useful thing" to embody the findings of the Nourse memorandum in a White House message "for the benefit of Congress and the country." He said he did not know whether Mr. Truman would recommend any legislation.

The Cabinet heard a rather more optimistic view on grain prospects, Ross indicated, than was given in the corn crop forecast of the Agricultural Department last night. The department foresaw a 2,612,909,000-bushel harvest, generally regarded as too small to relieve high-price pressures on grain, livestock and meats.

Weather "Favorable"

But Under Secretary of Agriculture Norris E. Dodd told the cabinet, Ross said, that this was about equal to the average of the last ten years and that growing weather had been "favorable" since the check up was made a fortnight ago.

The council's view that the coal-wage settlement need not jar the economy is not shared in all quarters of the Capital. Representative Hartley (R., N.J.), coauthor of the Taft-Hartley Act, says the coal contract is "an irreparable blow to the economic stability of the country."

Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt, research director of the United States Chamber of Commerce, testified Wednesday that he believes it will set off a general demand for higher wages.

CAPITOL UNITS O.K. SPENDING OF 13 BILLIONS

Federal Funds Include $4,000,000,000 For 'Fighting Navy'

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Congressional Committees agreed today on $13,342,000,000 for a variety of Government expenditures in the fiscal year, which started July 1, including just over $4,000,000,000 for "an effective fighting Navy."

Besides funds for seagoing forces, the total includes money for the Federal farm program and more than a score of independent agencies, including the Atomic Energy Commission.

It represents approximately $621,000,000 less than President

30. 24-10865

Truman requested in his budget, and some $502,000,000 more than the House approved. The sums still are subject to change.

Action Speeded Up

Far behind on appropriating money for the new fiscal year, the lawmakers put on full steam ahead to complete the job of providing the Government with operating funds before they adjourn for a five-month vacation late this month.

Senator Saltonstall (R., Mass.) said the $4,000,000,000 granted by a Senate-House conference committee will allow the Navy 395,000 men and 42,000 officers.

The figure includes $3,268,766,100 cash, plus contractual authority and carried-over funds making the four-billion total. It is more than $200,000,000 below Mr. Truman's budget request and about $176,000,000 more than the House voted.

"I think this will give us the numbers of men, ships and aircraft needed for an effective fighting Navy during the next year," Saltonstall said.

Delay In Plans Seen

But, he added, the cuts will "delay some of the ultra-moderinzation plans such as increased radar installations."

In another huddle, the Senate Appropriations Committee wrapped up the needs for a score of independent Federal agencies into an $8,294,006,027 bill—approximately $126,137,000 more than the House voted and $281,000,000 les than Mr. Truman requested.

Senator Bridges (R., N.H.), committee chairman, said, "After a hot argument and a very close vote," the group approved a $75,000,000 increase for the Atomic Energy Commission over the amount voted by the House.

Agency Gets $250,000,000

This would give the A-bomb agency a cash operating fund of $250,000,000 plus another $250,000,000 in contractual authority.

"Some of us didn't have too much confidence in some of the personnel down there," Bridges said, referring to the Atomic Commission which is headed by former TVA chairman, David E. Lillienthal.

The bulk of funds in the omnibus bill—$6,871,532,080—would go to the Veterans Administration. The figure includes $27,075,000 additional for the VA to retain some 10,000 employés who would have been dismissed under House cuts.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, VA administrator, has testified that loss of these employés would cripple his agency.

Boost Recommended

For the Federal farm program, the Senate appropriations committee unanimously recommended a $1,048,266,136 outlay—a boost of $200,000,000 more than the House vote, but some $140,000,000 less than Mr. Truman's budget estimate.

Among major changes from the House version, the Senate bill would provide $295,000,000 to make payments on this year's crops to farmers who complied with the conservation and use program. The House had allowed only $165,000,000.

Senator Brooks (R., Ill.), chairman of the Senate subcommittee which handled the farm bill, said it was agreed that the Government is "morally obligated" to make the payments because Congress specifically authorized it last year.

Changes In Bill Listed

The Senate group also made these changes in the House bill:

1. Loan funds for the Rural Electrification Administration were increased $25,000,000 to a total of $250,000,000 and administrative funds were increased $1,000,000 to a total of $5,000,000.

2. The full $75,000,000 of Federal aid for school lunches was approved, compared with $45,000,000 voted by the House.

3. Funds for Federal inspection of meat were increased to $11,000,000 instead of $5,000,000 and a House plan requiring meatpackers to pay these costs was eliminated.

4. A $20,000,000 fund for loans to veterans and tenants to purchase farms was authorized. The House had eliminated this item as tending to add to the inflated value of farm lands.

5. A $500,000 fund for flood control surveys on farms approved by the House was increased to $1,500,000.

TWO-WEEK AGENDA SET FOR SENATE

Ten Bills Listed For Action Before Adjournment Of Congress

Washington, July 11 (AP)—The Senate Republican leadership drew up a schedule today for the last two weeks of this session of Congress and left off the work sheet bills to cash terminal-pay bonds and to undertake a long-range housing program.

However, Senator Taft (R., Ohio) said both of these measures and a number of others might be crowded into the adjournment schedule if senators would agree to "avoid lengthy debate."

Special Session Today

Taft added that Republicans expected to complete action on the income tax reduction bill and some major appropriation measures by Tuesday.

He said a special Saturday session would be necessary tomorrow and probably also on July 19 and 26. Adjournment is scheduled on July 26.

An immediate protest against failure to include the terminal pay bill on the Senate must list came from Senator Baldwin (R., Conn.).

Baldwin is chairman of an Armed Services subcommittee which already has approved the measure, and the full committee is expected to bring it to the floor on Tuesday.

Senate Action Urged On Pay Bill

Baldwin pointed out that the House had unanimously approved the veterans' pay bill and he promised to work for Senate action "ahead of other matters of more secondary matter." Involved are $1,800,000,000 worth of five-year bonds held by veterans.

Taft offered no detailed comment on this bill nor on the long-range housing program which he has been backing for two sessions of Congress with Senators Wagner (D., N.Y.) and Ellender (D., La.).

He said there was no chance for congressional approval this session of any of the numerous proposed Federal health programs.

Immediate Schedule Listed

Taft listed the immediate schedule in this order:

1. President Truman's Reorganization Plan No. 3, which proposes to unify Federal housing and home finance agencies. The House has disapproved this, but the Senate Banking Committee approved and unless the Senate reverses its committee the plan will become effective.

2. A Senate bill for increasing the Government allowances to war veterans who are students under the GI Bill of Rights.

3. A Senate bill to authorize the purchase of automobiles for disabled war veterans who are blind or amputees.

Puerto Rico Governorship

4. A House-approved bill that would allow citizens of Puerto Rico to elect their governor. The governor now is appointed.

5. A Senate bill to reinstate the Federal Mine Safety Code that operated while the Government held the coal mines.

6. A House-approved bill to freeze social security taxes at the present one per cent each on employers and employés instead of allowing an increase to 2½ per cent each at the end of this year.

Sugar Quota System

7. A Senate bill to extend the present sugar quota system for five years. Similar legislatioin is before the House.

8. A Senate resolution to approve the United Nations convention establishing United States trusteeship over numerous Pacific islands.

9. A Senate resolution approving terms of the location of United Nations headquarters in New York city.

10. A House-approved bill increasing pensions for Spanish-American War veterans.

Tax Bill Vote Delayed By Long Senate Debate

Wherry to Insist on Final Action 'Today or Tonight.'

WASHINGTON, July 11 — (AP) Sponsors of the $4,000,000,000 income tax reduction bill aimed for a Senate vote tomorrow or Monday after abandoning hope for a decision tonight.

The House has passed the bill.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, assistant Republican floor leader, announced just before adjournment tonight that he is prepared to insist on a night session tomorrow if the Senate does not reach a vote during the day.

As for a Sunday session, Wherry said, "we'll cross that river when we come to it."

To Seek Vote Today

"I will say that the present intention is to conclude it (the bill) Saturday."

Senator Morse (R-Ore) tossed in eight amendments to the measure and explained them in a speech which lasted several hours. He described his proposals as a program to expand consumer buying power without hurting business investment.

After looking them over, however, Senator Millikin (R-Colo), manager for the bill, told a reporter they involve "fundamental revisions which would have to receive full consideration" in finance committee hearings.

One of Morse's proposals calls for a tax reduction program which would not take effect until either congress or the President determined that there was danger of a substantial drop in employment and production.

Another amendment would set up new schedules of normal and surtax rates, which would give low-bracket taxpayers proportionately greater relief than those in the higher levels.

Other Morse proposals included lower exemptions and rates on estate and gift taxes, ending tax exemption from certain types of securities, revision of the regulations governing capital gains, and a reduction in the exemptions for estate and gift taxes.

The big, unanswered question remains: Will the Senate sustain the veto which President Truman has promised on the tax bill? The Senate roll call on passage of the bill will clarify the prospect.

A two-thirds majority in both houses is necessary to make the bill law over the President's objections. House Republicans say that an overriding majority is certain in that body, citing the 302 to 112 vote by which the bill passed last Tuesday.

Truman Veto Stand Rapped

Rep. Vursell (R-Ill) told the House today that President Truman, in saying he would veto the bill struck "a dangerous blow at our constitutional government."

He said the President put the White House in the position of a powerful lobby, seeking to influence Congress.

Both Senator Millikin and Wherry (R-Neb), the "whip" — who rounds up the Republican votes—agreed that a final senate vote could not come before tomorrow or Monday in view of the amendments offered by Senators Morse, McClellan (D-Ark) and Revercomb (R-W-Va).

Senator McClellan by this afternoon had lined up 23 co-sponsors for an amendment which would permit husbands and wives in all the states to split their income for tax purposes. This procedure, now legal in only 12 states, lowers the family's total tax in most instances.

McClellan said he counts on at least 40 votes for the amendment, and added that its inclusion in the bill would make it certain that the veto could be overridden.

The other Democratic senator from Arkansas, J. William Fulbright, had opened the second day's debate with an assertion that a tax cut effective next Jan. 1, as proposed in the bill, would be "premature" and "add fuel to inflation."

Millikin rejoined that Congress has no right to take money out of a taxpayer's pocket on the theory it knows how to spend it better than the taxpayer.

Fulbright said he wasn't talking about spending—he wanted to use any available surplus to help reduce the national debt.

Millikin contends a multi-billion dollar cut in the debt can be made along with the tax relief.

In urging adoption of his amendments, Morse declared the bill is "but a revival in new form of the same bankrupt philosophy that led us into the boom and bust tragedy of the 1920's and 1930's."

Before discussing the amendments, the Oregon Republican outlined his ideas for a progressive Republican program and declared that Congress should stop talking about anti-poll tax, anti-discrimination and anti-lynching bills, and do something about them instead.

N.A.M. Plan Seeks Bigger Tax Cut

Washington, July 11 (AP) — A $6,000,000,000 cut in individual income taxes and a 50 per cent limit on the taxation of big earnings was proposed to Congress today by the National Association of Manufacturers.

Tax rates now reach 85.5 per cent on the highest-bracket incomes.

Don G. Mitchell, chairman of the N.A.M.'s taxation committee, told the House Ways and Means Committee the N.A.M. program was designed to insure full production and employment by encouraging investments.

"In Right Direction"

The proposed tax slash would not be in addition to the $4,000,000,000 Republican-backed bill now before Congress, but an alternative means of reducing taxes.

Mitchell described the GOP bill as "a step in the right direction" at a committee hearing on possible tax revisions to be considered next year.

While not calling for reductions in corporate rates now, the N.A.M. said these should be lowered "as the Federal budget is brought down to a stable postwar level."

Deduction And Reduction

Mitchell, who is president of Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., of New York, outlined N.A.M.'s program for individuals as follows:

1. Reduce the maximum individual tax rate (normal and surtax combined) to 50 per cent., applicable at the taxable-income level of $100,000 and above; revise the entire tax-rate scale downward from the 50 per cent maximum to a rate of 12 per cent on the first bracket of taxable income. The first-bracket rate is now 19 per cent.

2. Permit a deduction up to $500 for life-insurance premiums paid by the taxpayer on his own life and a deduction for medical expenses actually paid by the taxpayer for himself, his spouse or a dependent, up to $1,250 for a single person and $2,500 for a married person.

3. Authorize for general use the division of income between husband and wife for tax-computing purposes. This is now permitted under local laws in a dozen community-property states, resulting in lower overall Federal taxation of family income.

Would Return To States

Mitchell said there should be some adjustments of excise tax rates to diminish "the discriminations and inequities of tax among different classes of goods."

He declared that estate and gift taxes should ultimately be returned to the jurisdiction of the states.

Mitchell said that under the program for individual incomes, the largest relief would go to those who receive less than $5,000.

Easing Of Credit Backed

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Legislation extending controls on consumer installment buying through December 31 but requiring more liberal credit terms was approved 7 to 4 today by the Senate Banking Committee.

The House Banking Committee has voted to eliminate such controls, currently in effect under a presidential executive order.

Time Period Set

The resolution approved by the Senate committee would prohibit the Federal Reserve Board from fixing less than a 24-month period for paying for consumer goods on credit

All such goods now covered by the board's Regulation W must be paid for in at least fifteen months.

A committee official told newsmen that under the proposed extension of controls it would be up to the board to decide whether 24 months or some longer period would be the maximum.

Down Payment Figure

The resolution also prohibits the board from requiring a down payment of more than twenty per cent. At present twenty per cent is required for furniture, but a down payment of one third is required on installment buying of automomiles, refrigerators, stoves, washing machines and other consumer items.

Marriner Eccles, chairman of the board, had urged the committee to extend credit controls through July 31, 1948.

reporter:

"You've got a hell of a job getting a house. That's a big enough reason."

Revercomb said the inquiry would be a "substantial step toward revealing and solving one of the most difficult problems giving the public trouble today—the building and the high cost of homes."

McCarthy said he favors referring any action by congress on a long-range housing program until the proposed joint committee makes its study. This applies, he added, to the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill designed to encourage construction of 15,000,000 new homes by 1948.

This bill has been cleared for senate action, but the prospect for any before adjournment is dim.

McCarthy said the joint committee should investigate, among other things, the high cost and the shortage of materials, the high cost of new homes, and the extent to which archaic building codes contribute to the existing shortage an excessive cost of housing."

Meanwhile a "private taxpayin, ownership" slum clearance program, with a minimum of federal aid, was proposed by Rep. Fletcher (R Calif).

The Californian introduced legislation permitting a state, country or city to acquire the land under slum houses and then sell it, cleared of the slums, for development by private enterprise.

will continue controls beyond next March 1.

Controls May Be Continued

"Certainly," he said, "Congress is not going to sit by and permit hardships to exist when the present law expires. If the housing problem isn't licked by then, I believe we will continue the controls."

Wolcott said many tenants have the mistaken idea that the new rent control law allowing 15 per cent voluntary increases by agreement between landlords and tenants is mandatory.

Increase Only Voluntary

"The law means just what it says," he said. "A voluntary increase is one which is agreed to by both parties. No tenant has to submit to an increase if he doesn't think it is justified."

On the other hand, he said, many tenants agree that their landlords are entitled to the extra money.

He said that if the housing problem is acute next March 1 and additional protection is needed for tenants, the law will have to be continued.

House Passes Sugar Bill Setting Output Quotas

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP).—The House passed today by voice vote and sent to the Senate a bill to allocate sugar quotas to domestic and foreign producing areas and fix the sugar price during the next five years. The measure also would:

1. Provide for incentive payments to sugar beet and cane growers.

2. Require the Secretary of Agriculture to determine what "fair and reasonable" price will be paid by processors to growers.

3. Require the Secretary of Agriculture to determine every year the minimum wages to be paid sugar industry agricultural workers.

4. Allocate a quota of 375,000 tons of refined sugar to Cuba and 126,000 tons to Puerto Rico.

The bill would allocate the following quota to domestic areas: Domestic beet, 1,800,000 tons; domestic cane, 500,000; Hawaii, 1,052,000; Puerto Rico, 910,000, and the Virgin Islands, 6,000.

Cuba would be allowed to sell in the United States market about 28.6 per cent of United States consumption, plus 95 per cent of the sugar the Philippines cannot supply of their 952,000-ton quota.

CALLS FOR ENDING EXPORTS OF STEEL

Independent Oil Counsel Tells Senate Inquiry Fuel Scarcity May Result This Winter

JUL 1947

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Russell Brown, counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association today expressed fear that continued exports of steel needed by the petroleum industry will result in a Midwest oil and gasoline shortage this winter.

He told a Senate small business subcommittee that most of the steel being exported is for the use of American companies that have holdings overseas. The Senators are investigating the steel shortage.

Mr. Brown advocated that the steel, needed for drilling and transportation, be kept at home until the domestic industry is in a position to meet demand and build reserves.

Senator Ellender said he is glad to see that American companies are increasing foreign production. He said this will help conserve domestic holdings, and that he prefers to have imports fill the gap between American production and consumption.

Chairman Martin said that he hopes America's oil and gas reserves will be kept in the ground and that excess oil requirements be met through imports.

Mr. Brown replied that too much importing of oil might discourage American exploration and development of petroleum resources.

OILS, FATS FOR EXPORT CUT

Allocations for Shortage Areas Below Those for 1946

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The Department of Agriculture today allocated 153,100,000 pounds of fats and oils for exports to shortage areas in the July-September quarter.

This compares with 179,800,000 shipped in the corresponding quarter last year.

The allocation for occupied zones in Europe and countries receiving aid under the U. S. Foreign Relief program administered by the State Department was 42,900,000 pounds.

WORLD PAPER CRISIS TOLD

Official Says U. S. and Canada Are Only Potential Suppliers

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—J. L. Muller of the State Department said today that amid a growing world demand for paper the United States and Canada alone were potential suppliers.

The acting chief of the department's forest products section testified before the public lands subcommittee on natural resources.

Another witness, R. E. Marsh, assistant chief forester of the Agriculture Department, told the committee that the present drain on domestic forests was exceeding growth by 50 per cent and that United States exports of paper were only 1.5 to 2 per cent of domestic production.

HOUSE SOON TO GET UNIFICATION BILL

WASHINGTON, July 11—(AP) Admiral Chester Nimitz said today foot soldiers will play as large a part in the next war as ships or airplanes because "the ground soldier must go in to hold the ground."

The chief of naval operations told a Senate Armed Services Subcommittee he does not think, therefore, that any future war will be fought primarily from the sea or the air.

Meanwhile, legislation to unify all three forces was moving through a House Expenditures Subcommittee, whose members were reported by Chairman Michener (R-Mich) in "substantial agreement" on the bill.

The unification measure, already passed by the senate, is expected to reach the house floor next week.

Admiral Nimitz was testifying in support of a different bill—a measure to put into law the wartime extension of powers granted the navy's chief of operations. He said that bill is "sound, well-considered and practicable."

MILITARY TRAINING HEARINGS ENDED

Norman Thomas Opposes Plan Before House Group

Washington, July 11 (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee formally concluded public consideration of universal military training today with a barrage of opposition testimony and complaints of "unbalanced" hearings.

After hearing Norman Thomas, the last of 22 witnesses since the hearings started on June 18, Chairman Andrews (R., N.Y.) referred the subject of universal military training to a subcommittee headed by Representative Towe (R., N.J.) "for such future action as they may take."

Towe's group will meet early next week to decide what to do. It may order more hearings, since Representative Short (R., Mo.), second-ranking committeeman, has demanded them with the argument that opposition witnesses haven't had a full opportunity to present their case.

JUL 1947

No Action At This Session

Private polls indicated that the ten-member Towe subcommittee has a majority in favor of universal military training, but not a majority in favor of action at this session of Congress. The group will have before it several bills, including one embracing recommendations of President Truman's special commission. The commission called for a universal training program as a national security measure.

The decision to end full committee hearings drew an outburst of complaints from groups that have not been heard. Among the complainers were the National Farmers Union, several church organizations, the National Commission on Christian Higher Education, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and the National Council for Prevention of War.

Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the latter organization, protested that the hearings have not been "balanced" and have shown favoritism for proponents. More than one hundred groups, he said, unsuccessfully sought a chance to be heard.

Thomas Opposes Training

Norman Thomas, long-time leader of the Socialist party, brought the hearings to an end with testimony that by adopting universal military training now, Congress would embark on a policy "which contemplates war against Russia" in Europe or Asia within the next ten years.

"There is not the slightest evidence that Stalin . . . would be scared" by universal military training, Thomas said.

"The last great chance for world peace depends upon an American appeal for universal disarmament under effective but strictly limited world government."

Thomas was preceded by Jesse P. Bogue, executive secretary of the American Association of Junior Colleges; Representative Adam Clayton Powell (D., N.Y.), and J. M. Dawson, executive secretary of the Joint Committee for American Baptists on Public Relations.

Would Show Distrust

Dawson told the committee the United States, if it adopted universal military training, would display distrust of other nations.

Bogue said a recent poll indicated that a majority of school administrators oppose universal military training, faculty members are split, and students generally favor the proposal.

Declaring he spoke as a citizen, a minister and a member of the Negro race, Powell said "conscription will not in any way" prepare this country for modern warfare.

HOUSING SHORTAGE PROBE DEMANDED

WASHINGTON, July 11—(AP) A full investigation of the housing shortage and building costs because it's "a hell of a job getting a house," was demanded today by Senators Revercomb (R-WVa) and McCarthy (R-Wis).

The spending of $150,000 on an "A to Z" review of the nation's housing situation was suggested by the two senators in a resolution they introduced.

The study would be undertaken by a 14-member committee drawn from both the house and senate with a report to be given the congress by next March 15.

'Big Enough Reason'

Asked what the major purpose of the resolution is, McCarthy told a

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Representative Wolcott (R., Mich.), chairman of the House Banking Committee, suggested today that tenants refuse to agree to a 15 per cent rent increase "unless they are convinced it is fully justified."

They should not, he declared, "be blackjacked into agreeing to voluntary increases under the threat of eviction or larger boosts when the present rent control law expires next March 1."

New Atom-Smashing Machine Hailed by Scientists

PALO ALTO, Calif., July 11—(AP) Two top researchers on the atom bomb said today for the first time an atom has been extensively smashed by a man-made machine.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg and Dr. Isador Perlman reported an entirely new layout of strange new transmuted elements as the first formal achievement of the multi-million volt cyclotron in papers presented before the American Physical Society meeting here.

Hitherto broken down, chipped off, fused and exploded, the atom has been subjected to a devastating smashup in mankind's newest machine for atom experimentation, the giant post-war cyclotron at the University of California.

The results were achieved by hurling 200,000,000-volt bullets at atoms of arsenic in the 4000-ton concrete-caged monster.

Arsenic nuclei were shattered into at least 22 and possibly as many as 30 pieces. At least 10 pieces were themselves elements of regular matter.

At one stroke, one relatively heavy element had been turned into many different lighter elements with spare bits left over.

This initial finding opened the way for production of 100 new radioactive elements for scientific research. There are now about 450 radioactive and 275 stable forms of the conventional elements.

Atomic medicine will benefit directly from the awesome achievements of the cyclotron, which is capable of hurling atomic particles with energies up to 400,000,000 electron-volts.

This big punch, Seaborg and Perlman reported, was approximately 10 times that the most powerful cyclotron previously in existence.

The hitherto unknown products of its operations will increase the versatility of both atomic medicine and the branches of research using radioactive substances.

The smashing, devastating effects reported by the experimenters, were said to be similar in some respects to the shattering of atoms by low energy cosmic rays—which are still more powerful than anything man has yet devised.

There is still a chance, however, man may get up into the cosmic voltages, since Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, builder of the cyclotron has predicted the machine eventually will produce bullets with energies up to a billion volts.

The cyclotron, likened to a huge and lethal pillbox, whirls the nuclei of heavy hydrogen or helium atoms around and around. Everytime they go halfway around, they are given an added electrical "kick." When finally turned loose on their target, they have energies of between 200,000,000 and 400,000,000 electron volts.

The old machines used to "chip"—the cyclotron "smashes."

"It's like changing a building," a scientist explained. "With the old cyclotron, which was pretty good in its way, we could knock two or three floors off a 50-story building, or maybe add a floor or two.

"Now, with the new cyclotron, we can knock that 50-story building into a flock of four-room bungalows—with nails and shingles left over."

Doctors Seaborg and Pearlman were among a group of researchers of the new atomic machine which included Doctors B. B. Cunningham, H. H. Hopkins, Manfred Linder, D. R. Miller, P. R. O'Conner and R. C. Thompson.

Bomb Negatives Reported Taken

Washington, July 11 (AP)—An informed official in Congress said tonight that the atomic documents and files taken from the Los Alamos (N.M.), atomic energy plant were actually negatives of photographs of parts of the atomic bomb.

This official, who refused use of his name, added that Federal Bureau of Investigation agents still are checking the two army sergeants, who took the negatives, to learn if any prints were made of the negatives.

An Atomic Energy Commission official said tonight that all missing material had been recovered.

Hickenlooper Is Silent

The congressional contact said that he had been told that the Justice Department has not prosecuted the sergeants because it then would be necessary to bring into court the actual atomic bomb negatives for possible public display.

This information appeared to differ in some detail from a public statement by Senator Hickenlooper (R., Iowa), chairman of the special congressional atomic committee, on the floor of the Senate Wednesday regarding the Los Alamos incident.

Hickenlooper tonight said he had no comment to make on the remarks of the unidentified official.

"Documents Not Displayed"

Hickenlooper told the Senate that "certain missing atomic energy files" and "documents" were taken by the two sergeants, but that FBI reports indicated they had not been displayed "to anyone."

He added that the matter "is under the present consideration of the Department of Justice" of which the FBI is a part.

Hickenlooper said there appeared to have been "no effective breach of security" through this incident "even though there was a surreptitious removal of certain important documents and information at that time."

He said the sergeants as "souvenir hunters" took the "documents and information" in March, 1946, when they were demobilized.

DEWEY CHANCE FOR COLORADO GOP HELD GOOD

N.Y. Governor Confers With Party Leaders At Denver

Denver, July 11 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York has a "fighting chance" of capturing the Colorado delegation at the Republican national convention, Rex C. Eaton, committeeman from this State, said tonight.

Eaton and four other Colorado GOP leaders rode 100 miles into Denver with Dewey from Limon, Col., as the Governor carried his undeclared campaign for the presidential nomination into the Rocky Mountain area.

William L. Lloyd, chairman of the Colorado Republican Committee, said the fight for the State's approximately thirteen delegates was "wide open."

"Slight Lead Over Taft"

One Colorado Republican leader, who declined to be quoted by name, said he believed Dewey is holding a "slight lead" over Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio in this State.

En route from Kansas City to the governors' conference at Salt Lake City, the Dewey party stopped in Denver for 90 minutes.

More than 200 persons lined the Union Station platform. The Governor and his family paused frequently to shake hands and acknowledge greetings.

Called "Taft State"

Among the Dewey forces, Colorado has been tagged tentatively as a Taft state. One reason for this is the friendship between the Ohio Senator and Colorado's GOP Senator Eugene D. Millikin.

En route to Denver it was learned that Dewey had talked by telephone with former Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas before leaving Kansas City last night. Landon, GOP presidential nominee in 1936, had passed up a Dewey luncheon at Kansas City, explaining he had seen the Governor recently in New York State.

24 GOP Governors Expected

Dewey, like other senior members of the governors' conference, will play a relatively minor role at the conference meetings. The speeches, by and large, will be made by new governors. However, Dewey will have an opportunity to push his fight for the presidential nomination among the 24 other GOP governors or as many of them as go to Salt Lake City.

Dewey, his wife and two sons will remain in Salt Lake City until Thursday night, a day later than scheduled, so they can accept the invitations of Governor Maw of Utah to make a sight-seeing trip Thursday.

During the 27-hour stopover at Kansas City Dewey received assurances from several highly placed Missouri and Kansas Republicans that those states would support him at the convention.

F.D.R. 'Desired To Lose 3d Term'

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt asked members of his family to vote for him for a third term in 1940, but also told them to pray that he would be defeated, James A. Farley reported today.

The former Democratic national chairman, in the last of a series of articles in Collier's on why he broke with Roosevelt, said the New Deal President told him of his desire to lose at a conference July 26, 1940. That was shortly after Roosevelt won a third nomination over Farley's protest.

"Jim," Farley reported the President as saying, "I've told the family I want them to vote for me, but I also told them I wanted them to pray I will be defeated."

Won Over Willkie

"That is the best thing that could happen to you," Farley said he replied seriously, "and I'm not certain it won't happen. If anyone considers this one a walkaway he is crazy."

[Roosevelt won 449 electoral votes to 82 for the late Wendell Willkie.]

Farley titled his fifth article "The Parting of the Ways." He wrote that Roosevelt insisted on Henry A. Wallace as his running mate in 1940 despite protests from Farley. Mrs. Roosevelt and two of the Roosevelt sons, Elliott and Franklin, Jr.

Three Other Favorites

He said Cordell Hull, then Secretary of State; Jesse H. Jones, at that time chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, or Paul McNutt, an avowed vice-presidential candidate, could have been nominated.

Huil, he added, did not want it. Jones decided of his own accord to withdraw his name, and McNutt withdrew "at the President's request."

BRUCE CONFIRMED AS AMBASSADOR TO ARGENTINA

WASHINGTON, July 11—(AP) The senate late today confirmed the nomination of James Bruce, of Baltimore, to be ambassador to Argentina. Senator Langer (R-ND) in a long opposition speech, protested Bruce's industrial connections.

Langer read for more than an hour and a half a list of companies he said the National Dairy Products Co., of which Bruce is vice president, had purchased "to wipe out competition."

In almost every case, he added the company purchased only the assets of the concerns so as to "circumvent the anti-trust law" ban against such mergers by purchase of stock.

Bruce, who succeeds George Messersmith, resigned, is a son of the late Senator William Cabell Bruce of Maryland and a brother of David K. E. Bruce, assistant to Commerce Secretary Harriman.

NEW RUBENSTEIN INQUIRY IS URGED

Washington, July 11 (A. P.).—Representative Buck (R.-N. Y.) today introduced legislation calling for the creation of a special five-member House committee to investigate "all the facts" of the case of Serge Rubenstein, New York financier, convicted of draft evasion. Terming Rubenstein's case "one of the most shocking in the entire history of our country," Buck declared in a House speech:

"While American boys suffered and died, Serge Rubenstein was mulcting millions of dollars from American investors. He utilized those ill-gotten gains to hire highly placed and high-priced lawyers to exempt him from battle by befuddling, delaying and defeating the draft law."

Prior to his present request for the special investigation, Buck introduced two resolutions on June 24, directing the State and Justice Departments to turn over to the House Judiciary Committee complete files an all of their investigation into Rubenstein's affairs, including "alleged expenditures for the purchase of influence" in Washington.

The information eventually received, Buck said, "was not adequate.

"It is true," he continued, "that Serge Rubenstein was given an additional penalty of a $50,000 fine. But that is small change to Rubenstein."

Contract-Fraud Probe Planned

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Chairman Michener (R., Mich.) said today that the House Judiciary Committee will investigate promptly charges by Comptroller General Lindsay Warren that at least nineteen war contractors defrauded the Government of more than $2,000,000 in contract settlements.

Warren declared in a report to Congress that "certain war and navy officers and employés engaged on termination settlements went to work immediately thereafter with the very war contractors on whose termination claims they had worked."

Nest Feathering Charged

He said there was no doubt "some officers and employés" were guilty of "feathering their nests" when reaching the postwar settlements.

One Judiciary Committee member said about the only action the group could take would be to ask the Justice Department for action in any case where criminal responsibility could be shown.

Warren said Congress had failed to heed his request that the General Accounting Office be authorized to make an independent audit of proposed contract settlements. The Settlement Act, he said, gave the GAO power only to see that payments conformed to terms of the act to report whether records submitted after settlement indicated "a reasonable doubt that the settlement was induced by fraud."

Evidence Indications

"Regardless of these impediments, however," he continued, "in the examination thus far made, evidence has been found which, after careful analysis, has convinced me that at least 79 termination settlements, involving 107 contracts of nineteen war contractors, were induced by fraud."

He added that there seems cause for a "reasonable belief" that the same was true of "at least 57 additional settlements, involving 61 contracts of fifteen war contractors."

The comptroller general said he opposed the contract termination system from the start because it "opened such a fertile field for fraud."

He concluded:

"We have no idea, and, unfortunately, never will have any idea, just how many former officers and employés of the Government worked—and still work—for war contractors."

NON-COMMUNISTS IN PRAGUE HELD THAT CZECHOSLOVAKIA'S 11TH HOUR REVERSAL OF HER PREVIOUS ACCEPTANCE DRAMATIZED THE SITUATION OF THE EASTERN EUROPEAN STATES AND DEMONSTRATED THAT HEAVY PRESSURE WAS APPLIED FROM MOSCOW. THE LEFTIST PRAGUE PRESS SAID THE WITHDRAWAL WAS DICTATED BY THE CONVICTION THAT THE TALKS WOULD BE AIMED AT THE ECONOMIC ISOLATION OF RUSSIA. ADD-PARIS-(DAY-CO FR-)XXX INVITATIONS

THE SLAV STATES HAVE CHARGED THAT THE MARSHALL PROGRAM WOULD IMPOSE POLITICAL CONDITIONS ON COUNTRIES AIDED, BUT IN LONDON TODAY U.S. SECRETARY OF COMMERCE W. AVERELL HARRIMAN REJECTED THIS CONTENTION, SAYING "THERE HAS NEVER BEEN ANY DISCUSSION IN THE (U.S) GOVERNMENT OF ANY POLITICAL CONDITIONS."

FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTER GEORGES BIDAULT WILL PRESS FOR FULL PUBLICITY FOR THE CONFERENCE SESSIONS, THE FOREIGN MINISTRY ANNOUNCED. THE MINISTRY SAID THAT IN HIS WELCOMING SPEECH TO THE DELEGATES TOMORROW THE FOREIGN MINISTER WOULD PROPOSE THAT REPORTERS AND PHOTOGRAPHERS ATTEND ALL SESSIONS.

OF THE NON-PARTICIPATING COUNTRIES, CZECHOSLOVAKIA HAD SAID EARLIER THIS WEEK SHE WOULD ATTEND THE CONFERENCE, BUT LAST NIGHT ANNOUNCED SHE HAD CHANGED HER MIND BECAUSE "ACCEPTANCE OF THE INVITATION MIGHT BE CONSTRUED AS AN ACTION AGAINST THE SOVIET UNION."

THE ANNOUNCEMENT IN PRAGUE SAID THE ENTIRE CABINET HAD APPROVED THE DECISION. THE CABINET HAD BEEN IN SESSION SIX HOURS AFTER A TELEPHONE CALL FROM COMMUNIST PREMIER KLEMENT GOTTWALD IN MOSCOW. GOTTWALD NIGHT BEFORE LAST SAW SOVIET PRIME MINISTER STALIN.

THE LINEUP ON TOMORROW'S CONFERENCE:

OUT--RUSSIA, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, POLAND, YUGOSLAVIA, HUNGARY, ROMANIA, BULGARIA AND ALBANIA.

IN--BRITAIN, FRANCE, AUSTRIA, BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS, LUXEMBOURG, EIRE, ICELAND, NORWAY, SWEDEN, DENMARK, SWITZERLAND, ITALY, PORTUGAL, GREECE AND TURKEY.

DOUBTFUL--FINLAND.

NOT INVITED--SPAIN.

JUL 1947

IN THREE-POWER TALKS ENDED HERE JULY 2, SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V. M. MOLOTOV AND FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTER GEORGES BIDAULT HAD WARNED EACH OTHER OF ANY ACTION THAT MIGHT DIVIDE EUROPE.

BIDAULT AND BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN FAILED IN THOSE TALKS TO GET MOLOTOV'S AGREEMENT TO PLANS FOR THE CONFERENCE, WHICH THEY CALLED THE DAY AFTER THE THREE-POWER MEETING BROKE UP.

UNDER BEVIN AND BIDAULT'S PROPOSAL, EUROPEAN NATIONS WOULD SET UP COMMITTEES TO LIST THE CONTINENT'S RESOURCES AND NEEDS AS A STEP TOWARD GETTING UNITED STATES AID IN ECONOMIC REHABILITATION.

SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE C. MARSHALL PLEDGED SUCH AID IN A HARVARD UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT SPEECH JUNE 5, WITH THE PROVISION THAT EUROPE MUST DRAW UP ITS OWN PLAN.

THE FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTRY DISCLOSED LAST NIGHT THAT IT HAD CHANGED THE SCENE OF THE CONFERENCE FROM THE CLOCK ROOM TO THE LARGER STATE DINING ROOM WITH A VIEW TO ALLOWING MORE ROOM FOR REPORTERS AND PHOTOGRAPHERS IN EVENT THE DELEGATES DECIDED TO DELIBERATE IN THE OPEN.

HERVE ALPHAND, DIRECTOR OF THE FOREIGN MINISTRY'S ECONOMIC SESSION, TOLD THE AMERICAN CLUB IN PARIS YESTERDAY EUROPE MUST DO ALL SHE COULD TO MAKE U.S. [illegible] TEMPORARY AND CONSTRUCTIVE BECAUSE "WE DO NOT WANT AMERICA TO PRACTICE A SANTA CLAUS POLICY."

RUSSIA AND POLAND HAD OBJECTED THAT THE MARSHALL PLAN MIGHT MEAN INTERFERENCE WITH NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY. BUT ALPHAND SAID HE NEVER HAD HEARD "ONE WORD WHICH MIGHT MAKE ME BELIEVE THAT THE UNITED STATES WISHED TO INTERFERE IN ANY WAY IN THE AFFAIRS OF MY COUNTRY."

IN BUDAPEST LAST NIGHT, A TRUSTWORTHY HUNGARIAN SOURCE SAID HUNGARY'S DECISION YESTERDAY NOT TO ATTEND THE CONFERENCE HAD BEEN MADE IN THE LIGHT OF COMMUNIST LEADERS' WARNINGS OF RUSSIAN REPRISALS IF THE COUNTRY ACCEPTED.

HE SAID THE COMMUNISTS TOLD AN INTER-PARTY CONFERENCE AND A COUNCIL OF MINISTERS' MEETING THAT ACCEPTANCE WOULD LEAD THE SOVIET UNION TO STOP SENDING HOME HUNGARIAN WAR PRISONERS, DEMAND IMMEDIATE PAYMENT OF OVERDUE REPARATIONS, SEIZE MORE HUNGARIAN LIFE STOCK AND HOLD UP RATIFICATION OF HUNGARY'S PEACE TREATY.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA WITHDREW FROM THE CONFERENCE LAST NIGHT, REVERSING HER PREVIOUS ACCEPTANCE OF THE FRENCH-BRITISH INVITATION AFTER HER COMMUNIST PREMIER, KLEMENT GOTTWALD, CONFERRED IN MOSCOW WITH SOVIET LEADERS. RUSSIA HAS BOYCOTTED THE CONVERSATIONS ON THE MARSHALL AID-TO-EUROPE PROPOSAL, SCHEDULED TO OPEN TOMORROW.

"THE OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE WITHDRAWAL OF OUR REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE PARIS CONFERENCE HAS CERTAINLY SURPRISED OUR PUBLIC," SAID AN EDITORIAL IN PRAVO LIDU, ORGAN OF THE SOCIAL DEMOCRAT PARTY. ADD - PRAGUE-(DAY-LONG) - XXX PRACE ADDED

"UNFORTUNATELY IT IS BECOMING MORE AND MORE OBVIOUS THAT THE PARIS CONFERENCE IS GROWING INTO A BIG POLITICAL PROBLEM. XXX IT IS FURTHER DISCOVERED THAT THE PARIS CONFERENCE DOES NOT LOOK AS INNOCENT AS IT HAD SEEMED."

THE LEFTIST, THOUGH NON-COMMUNIST, NEWSPAPER SAID THE CONFERENCE APPARENTLY WOULD DEAL WITH QUESTIONS CONCERNING GERMANY WHICH PROPERLY SHOULD BE WITHIN THE SPHERE OF THE FOUR-POWER COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS, IN WHICH RUSSIA IS REPRESENTED.

"NATURALLY THE SOVIET UNION COULD FEEL SLIGHTED BY SUCH ACTION," IT SAID.

"CZECHOSLOVAKIA HAS ALWAYS WANTED TO BE A KIND OF BRIDGE BETWEEN THE EAST AND WEST. WE WANTED TO COOPERATE FOR A RAPPROCHEMENT, BUT IT SEEMS THAT, AT THE MOMENT, IT IS ABOVE OUR STRENGTH."

A91

THE RIGHT WING AND CENTRIST PRESS, WHOSE GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVES FOUND IT NECESSARY TO GO ALONG WITH THE NATIONAL FRONT CABINET IN ITS DECISION REJECTING THE INVITATION, PRINTED THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE REVERSAL WITHOUT EDITORIAL COMMENT.

THE OFFICIAL COMMUNIST NEWSPAPER, RUDE PRAVO, SAID:

"WE CANNOT CLAIM WE ARE NOT INTERESTED IN REAL AND WELL-MEANT AMERICAN AID, BUT THE INTEGRITY OF OUR SOVEREIGNTY, MAINTENANCE OF INTERNAL ORDER WHICH WE OURSELVES CHOOSE, AND PURSUING OF THE FOREIGN POLICY WHICH WE NEED MUST REMAIN THE BASIC CONDITION."

MOST NEWSPAPERS CARRIED A DISPATCH OF THE RUSSIAN NEWS AGENCY TASS REPORTING THAT THE AIM OF THE PARIS CONFERENCE WAS THE CREATION OF AN ANTI-SOVIET WESTERN BLOC.

PARIS, JULY 11-(AP)-THE COUNTRIES OF THE WORLD WILL BE ASKED BY THE PARIS EMERGENCY CEREALS CONFERENCE TO ENACT DRASTIC LAWS AND REGULATIONS ALLOWING ONLY DESIGNATED PARTIES TO DEAL IN, OWN OR HOLD GRAIN IF A RESOLUTION DRAFTED IN COMMITTEE IS PASSED AT TOMORROW'S FINAL SESSION.

JUL 1947

THE DRAFT RESOLUTION, WHICH BECAME KNOWN TODAY, ALSO DEMANDS THAT ALL DEALINGS IN GRAINS BE REGISTERED WITH A GOVERNMENT AGENCY AND THAT EACH GOVERNMENT SET UP AN "ADEQUATELY STAFFED" AGENCY WHICH SHOULD INSPECT ALL PRIVATE RECORDS TO MAKE SURE THAT "ALL TRANSACTIONS ARE IN ACCORDANCE WITH AUTHORIZED DISTRIBUTION."

AN EVEN MORE DRASTIC RESOLUTION IN COMMITTEE WILL ASK THAT ALL COUNTRIES KEEP THEIR YEAR-END STOCKS AT THE CLOSE OF THE COMING CROP SEASON AS LOW AS THAT AT THE END OF THE LAST, WHICH WAS A RECORD LOW IN MANY BIG WHEAT PRODUCING COUNTRIES LIKE THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA WHICH HAVE HAD GOOD WHEAT CROPS SINCE THEN.

ANOTHER RESOLUTION APPLIED THE SAME PRINCIPLE TO THE AMOUNT OF GRAIN ALLOWED FOR INDUSTRIAL USES--INDICATING A CONTINUATION OF THE LIQUOR SHORTAGE. THE COMMISSION ON COLLECTIONS MET THROUGH THE NIGHT UNTIL EARLY TODAY OVER THE PLIGHT OF ANGLO-SAXON COUNTRIES (EXCEPT SOUTH AFRICA) TO REDUCE THE GRAIN ALLOTMENTS FOR LIVESTOCK AS PART OF THE "SELF-HELP" PRINCIPLE OF ECONOMY. MINISTER OF WAR GEORGE STRATOS SAID IN A NEWS CONFERENCE LAST NIGHT THAT THE ARMY HAD DISLODGED THE REBELS FROM THEIR FORTIFICATIONS ON MOUNT GRAMMOS AND PUSHED THEM BACK TO WITHIN A FEW MILES OF THE ALBANIAN FRONTIER.

HE DECLARED THAT THE GERRILLAS' OBJECTIVE WAS TO MAKE ROOM FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF A KKE (COMMUNIST) GOVERNMENT IN THE AREA LYING ROUGHLY WEST AND NORTH OF KASTORIA, EAST AND NORTH OF KONITSA AND SOUTHEAST OF KORITSA, ALBANIA. THEY TRIED TO NEUTRALIZE THE ARMY ATTACK, HE SAID, BY INFILTRATION.

THE EMBATTLED SECTION WAS VISITED LAST MARCH BY AN INVESTIGATING TEAM OF THE UNITED NATIONS BALKAN COMMISSION ON AN EXPEDITION TO SEE GEN. MARKOS VIFIADES, GUERRILLA COMMANDER IN CHIEF.

THE GRAMMOS MOUNTAIN COMMAND THEN WAS UNDER CAPT. YANNOULIS, WHO FAILED TO MAKE CONTACT WITH THE GUERRILLA CHIEF TO ARRANGE FOR A MEETING WITH THE COMMISSION OF KASTANOFITON NEAR THE FRONTIER.

MOSCOW, JULY 11-(AP)-TASS, OFFICIAL SOVIET NEWS AGENCY, TODAY ACCUSED THE CHINESE FOREIGN MINISTRY OF "TENTENTIOUSLY DISTORTING FACTS" AND DENIED THAT RUSSIA IS HAMPERING THE CIVIL ADMINISTRATION OF PORT ARTHUR AND DAIREN.

THE AGENCY SAID THAT THE SOVIET UNION HAD GIVEN ITS CONSENT TO ESTABLISHMENT OF A CHINESE CIVILIAN ADMINISTRATION IN THE TWO CITIES AND THAT THERE WERE NO OBSTACLES IN THE WAY.

FROM CHINESE DESCRIPTIONS OF THE SITUATION, TASS ADDED, IT APPEARED THAT THE CHINESE, "AND SOME FOREIGN CIRCLES CLOSE TO THEM," WERE CARRYING ON A CAMPAIGN HOSTILE TO THE SOVIET UNION IN AN EFFORT TO DISTRACT ATTENTION FROM THE REAL STATE OF AFFAIRS.

FOLO WASHN WEDEMEYER (190)
BY SPENCER MOOSA
SHANGHAI, SATURDAY, JULY 12-(AP)-THE PROSPECTIVE FACT-FINDING MISSION OF LT. GEN. A. C. WEDEMEYER IN CHINA AND KOREA WAS VIEWED BY OBSERVERS HERE TODAM AS LIKELY TO LAY THE BASIS FOR A CLEAR-CUT UNITED STATES POLICY TOWARD THOSE COUNTRIES.
IT WAS TAKEN FOR GRANTED IN SHANGHAI THAT HIS MISSION WOULD BE CONCERNED LARGELY WITH THE MILITARY AND POLITICAL EFFECTS AND POTENTIALITIES OF COMMUNISM -- BOTH RUSSIAN AND CHINESE COMMUNISTS.
GENERAL WEDEMEYER IS CONSIDERED EXCEPTIONALLY WELL-QUALIFIED TO MAKE A COMPREHENSIVE ASSESSMENT OF THE MILITARY SITUATION IN CHINA, AND TO DETERMINE:
1) EXTENT OF THE AID ALLEGEDLY GIVEN CHINESE COMMUNISTS BY THE KOREAN COMMUNISTS;
2) WHETHER, DIRECTLY OR INDIRECTLY, SOVIET RUSSIA IS IMPLICATED IN CHINA'S CIVIL WAR; AND
3) WHETHER THE GENERAL SITUATION CALLS FOR STRONGER AND A MORE AFFIRMATIVE UNITED STATES POLICY.
DURING HIS PREVIOUS SERVICE IN CHINA, AS COMMANDER OF U. S. FORCES AND CHIEF OF STAFF TO GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK, WEDEMEYER BECAME ACQUAINTED WITH CHINA'S TOPFLIGHT MILITARY AND POLITICAL LEADERS.
THERE SEEMS TO BE NO DISPOSITION TO VIEW HIS FORTHCOMING VISIT AS AN EFFORT TO REVIVE PEACE PARLEYS BETWEEN THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT AND THE COMMUNISTS, ALTHOUGH THIS POSSIBILITY WAS NOT DISCOUNTED COMPLETELY.

MEXICO CITY, JULY 11-(AP)-MEXICO PUT INTO EFFECT TODAY SHARP RESTRICTIONS ON THE IMPORTATION OF LUXURIES AND NON-ESSENTIALS IN AN EFFORT TO PROTECT HER DIMINISHING DOLLAR BALANCE IN THE UNITED STATES.

THE RESTRICTIONS WERE ANNOUNCED LAST NIGHT BY SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY RAMON BETETA, WHO SAID THAT MEXICO'S DOLLAR BALANCE IN THE UNITED STATES HAD DWINDLED FROM $355,000,000 TO ABOUT $200,000,000 SINCE THE END OF THE WAR.

JUL 1947

BETETA DECLARED THAT THE IMPORT RESTRICTIONS, WHICH AFFECT 23 GENERAL CATEGORIES OF GOODS, WOULD BE TEMPORARY, BUT WARNED THAT THEY WOULD BE RETAINED UNTIL MEXICO FEELS HER ECONOMIC POSITION IS SOUND.

THE TREASURY MINISTER EXPLAINED THAT MEXICO HAD TRIED TO PROTECT HER DOLLAR BALANCE IN THE UNITED STATES THROUGH INCREASED PRODUCTION, BUT SAID THAT THIS HAD BEEN "ONLY PARTIALLY SUCCESSFUL."

THE GOVERNMENT'S ACTION PROHIBITS UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE THE IMPORTATION OF AUTOMOBILES, RADIOS, WASHING MACHINES, FURNITURE, PIANOS, WATCHES AND RUGS.

IN ADDITION, IMPORT DUTIES ON 16 OTHER CATEGORIES OF LUXURY GOODS WILL BE RAISED TO 1942 LEVELS, MAKING IT DIFFICULT FOR IMPORTERS TO BRING THEM INTO THE COUNTRY.

WHILE THE MEXICAN DOLLAR BALANCE IN THE U.S. WAS GIVEN BY BETETA AS $200,000,000, FINANCIAL CIRCLES SAID THE USEFUL BALANCE ACTUALLY IS ONLY ABOUT $70,000,000.

THEY EXPLAINED THAT FROM THE $200,000,000 FIGURE THERE MUST BE DEDUCTED THE BANK OF MEXICO'S 25 PERCENT LEGAL RESERVE AGAINST BANK NOTE CIRCULATION AND SIGHT OBLIGATIONS, WHICH TOTALED ALMOST $140,300,000 IN MAY. THIS, THEY SAID, WOULD LEAVE ABOUT $60,000,000 IN NEW YORK, WHICH MIGHT BE BOLSTERED BY A FEW MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

IT WAS EXPLAINED, HOWEVER, THAT THE DROP IN THE DOLLAR BALANCE WOULD NOT AFFECT THE VALUE OF THE MEXICAN PESO, WHICH IT BACKED SEPARATELY BY $50,000,000 OF U.S. MONEY UNDER AN AGREEMENT NEGOTIATED WHEN PRESIDENT ALEMAN VISITED WASHINGTON LAST SPRING.

ALTHOUGH THE IMPORT RESTRICTIONS ARE EFFECTIVE AS OF TODAY, BETETA SAID THAT DELIVERIES OF MOST FOREIGN GOODS NOW EN ROUTE TO MEXICO WOULD BE PERMITTED.

A37

INASMUCH AS AUTOMOBILE PARTS ARE NOT INCLUDED ON THE LIST OF BANNED IMPORTS IT WAS ASSUMED THAT FORD, GENERAL MOTORS, CHRYSLER AND NASH, WHICH OPERATE ASSEMBLY PLANTS HERE, WOULD CONTINUE TO TURN OUT AUTOMOBILES FOR THE MEXICAN MARKET.

BRANCHES OF U.S. STORES HERE, SUCH AS SEARS-ROEBUCK AND A. AND P., WHICH DEPEND UPON U.S. GOODS IN THE NON-ESSENTIAL OR LUXURY CLASSES, WILL BE AFFECTED, HOWEVER. PRESUUMABLY THEY WILL FILL THE GAPS ON THEIR SHELVES WITH MEXICAN GOODS.

LAST YEAR MEXICO IMPORTED $543,000,000 WORTH OF U.S. MERCHANDISE. HER POST-WAR ADVERSE TRADE BALANCE HAS RISEN TO $12,000,000 PER MONTH.

CANADA, ENGLAND AND SWITZERLAND ALSO HAVE BEEN LARGE POST-WAR EXPORTERS TO MEXICO.

BY MAX HARRELSON

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 11-(AP)-EGYPT CHARGED TODAY THAT BRITAIN WAS ENDANGERING INTERNATIONAL PEACE BY MAINTAINING TROOPS IN EGYPT AND CALLED ON THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL TO ORDER IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL OF ALL BRITISH FORCES FROM EGYPTIAN SOIL.

IN A SHARPLY WORDED COMPLAINT, MADE PUBLIC LATE TODAY, THE EGYPTIAN GOVERNMENT MADE THESE OTHER CHARGES:

1. THAT BRITAIN WAS ATTEMPTING TO "SEVER THE SUDAN FROM EGYPT."

2. THAT BRITAIN'S POLICY WAS AIMED AT "DISCREDITING EGYPT AND THE EGYPTIANS."

3. THAT BRITAIN WAS TRYING TO CREATE DISCORD BETWEEN THE EGYPTIANS AND THE SUDANESE AND TO SPREAD DISSENTION AMONG THE SUDANESE THEMSELVES.

"THE PRESENCE OF FOREIGN TROOPS WITHIN THE TERRITORY OF A MEMBER OF THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION, IN TIME OF PEACE AND WITHOUT ITS FREE CONSENT," THE COMPLAINT SAID, "CONSTITUTES AN OFFENSE AGAINST ITS DIGNITY, A HINDRANCE TO ITS NORMAL DEVELOPMENT, AS WELL AS AN INFRINGEMENT OF THE FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLE OF SOVEREIGN EQUALITY."

DESPITE AMERICAN COOLNESS TO PARODI'S PROPOSAL, WHICH WAS DISCLOSED TO THE U.S. DELEGATION IN INFORMAL TALKS, THESE SOURCES SAID THE FRENCH DELEGATE HAD NOT DECIDED TO SHELVE HIS COMPROMISE PLAN.

THE FRENCH PLAN WAS UNDERSTOOD TO BE DESIGNED TO WATER DOWN THE U.S. RESOLUTION CALLING FOR A SEMI-PERMANENT INVESTIGATION COMMISSION TO HALT GREEK BORDER DISTURBANCES.

DETAILS OF THE FRENCH PROPOSAL WERE LACKING, BUT IT WAS REPORTED TO CALL FOR A COMMISSION WITHOUT POWER TO ACT EXCEPT WITH THE EXPRESS CONSENT OF GREECE AND RUSSIA'S THREE SATELLITES--YUGOSLAVIA, BULGARIA AND ALBANIA.

THE COMPROMISE WORDING WOULD GIVE THE COMMISSION POWER ONLY TO HELP THE GOVERNMENTS WORK OUT PROBLEMS OF MINORITIES, REFUGEES AND BORDER CONVENTIONS.

THE AMERICAN DELEGATION HAS MADE IT CLEAR THAT IT WOULD SETTLE FOR NOTHING LESS THAN A COMMISSION WITH POWER TO HANDLE THE BORDER DISPUTES AND HALT THEM.

RUSSIA ALREADY HAS REJECTED THE COMMISSION IDEA, PUT ALL THE BLAME ON GREECE, AND INSISTED THAT THE ATHENS GOVERNMENT ITSELF TAKE STEPS TO CORRECT THE SITUATION.

THE SOVIET UNION SUGGESTED THAT AS A STEP TOWARD CLEARING UP THE SITUATION ALL FOREIGN TROOPS SHOULD BE PULLED OUT OF GREECE.

SINCE THE SECURITY COUNCIL DID NOT TAKE UP THE BALKAN QUESTION YESTERDAY, ALL HOPE OF REACHING A VOTE ON THE ISSUE TODAY FADED. MOST DELEGATES, HOWEVER, BELIEVED THAT THE COUNCIL WOULD REACH A VOTE NEXT WEEK.

MEANWHILE, THE SECURITY COUNCIL FAILED AGAIN TO REACH ANY AGREEMENT ON A CANDIDATE FOR THE GOVERNORSHIP OF TRIESTE.

COLOMBIA SUBMITTED THE NAMES OF FOUR NEW CANDIDATES FROM PANAMA, CHILE, PERU AND MEXICO, WHICH WILL BE CONSIDERED BY THE THREE-NATION COMMITTEE.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS (350)

JUL 1947

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

WASHINGTON,JULY 11-(AP)-YOUNG DEMOCRATIC LEADERS OFFERED THEIR PARTY ELDERS TODAY WHAT THEY TERMED AN "AGGRESSIVE PROGRAM TO PROTECT OUR PEACE AND ECONOMIC STABILITY."

A "STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES" ADOPTED BY DELEGATES OF THE YOUNG DEMOCRATIC CLUBS OF AMERICA AFTER PRIVATE CONFERENCES WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND NATIONAL PARTY LEADERS CALLS FOR:

1. CONTINUING THE ADMINISTRATION'S "FRIENDLY BUT FIRM FOREIGN POLICY."

2. ELIMINATION OF HUNGER AND SUFFERING AS BREEDING GROUNDS OF "ISMS."

3. BUILDING UP THE UNITED NATIONS "AS A WORKING WEAPON FOR PEACE."

4. PLANNED REDUCTION IN THE COST OF FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AND IN THE NATIONAL DEBT WITH SAFEGUARDS TO AVOID "HELTER-SKELTER SLASHING OF GOVERNMENT COSTS BY ABANDONING ESSENTIAL PEACETIME OPERATIONS."

"WE DO NOT WANT TO SAVE MONEY AT THE COST OF NATIONAL SECURITY," THE STATEMENT SAID.

ADOPTED LATE YESTERDAY, IT IS SUBJECT TO AMPLIFICATION AND APPROVAL BY THE NATIONAL CONVENTION OF YOUNG DEMOCRATS AT CLEVELAND OCTOBER 3-4.

THE PROGRAM--AVOWEDLY INTENDED "TO ENLIST THE FAITH AND ENERGY OF YOUTH"--WILL SEEK TO RALLY 1,000,000 NEW MEMBERS TO THE YOUNG DEMOCRATIC CLUBS BY AUTUMN. LATER IT IS EXPECTED TO BE URGED AT LEAST AS PART OF THE PARTY'S NATIONAL PLATFORM OF 1948.

THE YOUNG DEMOCRATIC ORGANIZATION CLAIMS A PRESENT MEMBERSHIP OF 1,000,000.

ON DOMESTIC ISSUES, THE "STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES" CONTENDED THE REPUBLICAN LEADERSHIP IS "TRYING TO MOVE BACK TO THE 1920'S" AND URGED:

3. A "DECENT EDUCATION" FOR EVERY AMERICAN.

4. ENCOURAGEMENT OF SMALL BUSINESS, AND PROTECTION "FROM CRUSHING COMPETITION OF RICH, PRICE-FIXING MONOPOLIES."

5. FEDERAL ACTION TO ASSURE HOUSING FOR VETERANS AND YOUNG PEOPLE "INSTEAD OF THE GUN-POINT RENT-INCREASES WHICH THE REPUBLICANS HAVE GIVEN THEM."

6. A PROGRAM TO "ENCOURAGE FAIR AND SUCCESSFUL COLLECTIVE BARGAINING RATHER THAN LITIGATION AND STRIFE."

7. "TAX REDUCTION TO COME FIRST AND IN GREATEST MEASURE TO THOSE WHO NEED IT WORST, AND NOT A TAX CUT THAT WILL GIVE THE MOST TO THOSE WHO NEED IT LEAST."

WASHINGTON,JULY 11-(AP)-SOME MEMBERS OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE TODAY CALLED THE EUROPEAN AID SITUATION "RATHER GRAVE" AFTER THEY HAD HEARD SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL SUM UP AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY IN A LENGTHY--AND SECRET-SESSION.

THE FORMER ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF WAS REPORTED TO HAVE DESCRIBED CONDITIONS AROUND THE GLOBE, PARTICULARLY IN EUROPE.

SENATORS SAID LATER THE UNITED STATES IS WATCHING A "DEVELOPING" SITUATION ON THE MARSHALL AID PLAN BEFORE DETERMINING A FUTURE COURSE.

MARSHALL WAS WITH THE COMMITTEE FOR ONE AND THREE-QUARTER HOURS, BUT REPORTERS WERE NOT GIVEN EVEN A VAGUE IDEA OF HIS TESTIMONY.

THE SECRETARY DECLINED TO TELL NEWSMEN WHETHER HE THINKS LEGISLATION TO CARRY OUT THE AID-TO-EUROPE PROJECT MIGHT BE DELAYED UNTIL NEXT JANUARY, THUS MAKING A SPECIAL CONGRESS SESSION THIS FALL UNNECESSARY.

THERE HAD BEEN REPORTS EARLIER THAN VANDENBERG WAS TOLD THERE ARE NO PLANS NOW TO PRESENT THE PROPOSAL TO A SPECIAL SESSION. THE CURRENT SESSION IS EXPECTED TO CLOSE LATE THIS MONTH.

VANDENBERG IS BELIEVED TO FEEL THAT A DEFINITE PROGRAM OF AID SHOULD AWAIT (1) THE PARIS CONFERENCE RESULTS, (2) AN ANALYSIS OF EUROPEAN REQUESTS FOR HELP, AND (3) A PRESIDENTIAL COMMITTEE SURVEY OF HOW MUCH AMERICA MIGHT OFFER EUROPE WITHOUT DAMAGING HER OWN ECONOMY.

THIS MIGHT REQUIRE THE REMAINDER OF 1947.

SENATOR GEORGE (D-GA), A MEMBER OF THE FOREIGN RELATIONS GROUP, SAID HE BELIEVES FUTURE DEVELOPMENTS, INCLUDING THE PARIS MEETING--WHICH MIGHT LAST A MONTH OR LONGER--WILL DETERMINE AMERICA'S NEXT STEP.

HE ADDED THAT "NOTHING STARTLING" OCCURRED AT TODAY'S MEETING.

OTHER MEMBERS GIVING THEIR PERSONAL OPINIONS TOOK A "RATHER GRAVE VIEW OF THE REFUSAL OF THE RUSSIA AND HER SATELLITES TO PARTICIPATE IN THE AID PLAN.

MARTIN PERSONALITY (800)

JUL 1947

BY WILLIAM F.ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON,JULY 11-(AP)-JOSEPH W.MARTIN,JR., PROMINENT BACHELOR POLITICIAN OF NORTH ATTLEBORO,MASS., EARNESTLY EXPRESSED THE HOPE TODAY THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN WILL CONTINUE TO ENJOY "THE BEST OF HEALTH."

THE 63-YEAR-OLD REPUBLICAN SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE HAD A SPECIAL REASON: "I DON'T WANT TO BE PRESIDENT."

HE MADE HIS VIEWS KNOWN IN AN INTERVIEW AFTER THE HOUSE SENT TO MR.TRUMAN A BILL PLACING THE SPEAKER NEXT IN LINE FOR THE PRESIDENCY IN CASE OF VACANCIES IN THE OFFICES OF BOTH PRESIDENT AND VICE-PRESIDENT.

SINCE THERE PRESENTLY IS NO VICE-PRESIDENT, MR.TRUMAN'S SIGNATURE ON THE NEW LEGISLATION WHICH HE HIMSELF REQUESTED AUTOMATICALLY WOULD MAKE MARTIN "NEXT IN LINE."

"I REALLY MEAN IT WHEN I SAY THAT I DON'T WANT TO BE PRESIDENT," MARTIN SAID. "I SINCERELY HOPE PRESIDENT TRUMAN WILL FINISH OUT THE REST OF HIS TERM."

MR.TRUMAN'S PRESENT TERM HAS ABOUT A YEAR AND A HALF TO RUN.

MARTIN TURNED THE GAVEL OVER TO REPUBLICAN LEADER CHARLES A. HALLECK OF INDIANA YESTERDAY WHILE THE HOUSE WAS APPROVING THE BILL PREVIOUSLY PASSED BY THE SENATE.

"I DIDN'T THINK IT WOULD LOOK RIGHT FOR ME TO BE PRESIDING WHEN THAT BILL WAS PASSED," HE EXPLAINED. "I DIDN'T EVEN STAY AROUND TO HEAR THE DEBATE."

MARTIN, PUBLISHER OF A DAILY NEWSPAPER IN HIS HOME TOWN, BECAME SPEAKER LAST JANUARY WHEN REPUBLICANS ORGANIZED THE HOUSE. HE HAD BEEN REPUBLICAN, OR MINORITY, FLOOR LEADER IN THE DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS SINCE 1939.

MARTIN HAS ALWAYS BEEN A "PARTY MAN"--A DYED-IN-THE-WOOL REPUBLICAN. HE WAS AN OUTSPOKEN CRITIC OF FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT'S "NEW DEAL."

NEVERTHELESS ONE OF HIS MAJOR ASSETS AS REPUBLICAN LEADER HAS BEEN HIS ABILITY TO GET ALONG WITH PEOPLE OF ALL SHADES OF POLITICAL THOUGHT.

SMALL, WIRY AND ENERGETIC, HE WAS ALL OVER THE FLOOR OF THE HOUSE DURING MANY POLITICAL BATTLES THAT MARKED HIS YEARS AS MINORITY CHIEF. NOT GIVEN MUCH TO SPEECH-MAKING, HE LET OTHERS DO THE TALKING WHILE HE LINED UP THE VOTES. HE IS RAZOR-SHARP ON PARLIAMENTARY STRATEGY.

MARTIN WAS BORN IN NORTH ATTLEBORO ON NOVEMBER 3, 1884, ONE OF SEVEN CHILDREN OF A BLACKSMITH. HE BECAME A NEWSBOY WHEN ONLY FIVE YEARS OLD.

BY THE TIME HE ENTERED HIGH SCHOOL HE HAD DEVELOPED HIS DELIVERY BUSINESS TO THE POINT WHERE HE HIRED HIS BROTHERS TO HELP HIM. THIS GAVE MARTIN HIMSELF MORE TIME FOR RECREATION. HIS HOBBY WAS SPORTS. HE BECAME THE HIGH SCHOOL TEAM'S BEST SHORTSTOP.

MARTIN BECAME A CUB REPORTER FOR THE NORTH ATTLEBORO LEADER WHEN HE GRADUATED FROM HIGH SCHOOL AT THE AGE OF 18. HE TURNED DOWN A SCHOLARSHIP TO DARTMOUTH IN ORDER TO TAKE UP NEWSPAPER WORK.

B3WX CEGS

HIS FIRST REPORTORIAL JOB LASTED ONLY SIX MONTHS: THE PAPER WENT OUT OF BUSINESS. HE LOST NO TIME LANDING A JOB WITH THE ATTLEBORO SUN, LATER BECOMING NORTH ATTLEBORO CORRESPONDENT FOR THE PROVIDENCE, R.I., JOURNAL.

BY CAREFUL MANAGEMENT MARTIN SAVED $1,000, ORGANIZED A PARTNERSHIP AND PURCHASED THE NORTH ATTLEBORO CHRONICLE. HE BECAME PUBLISHER OF THE CHRONICLE AT THE AGE OF 24, CLAIMING THE DISTINCTION OF BEING THE YOUNGEST PUBLISHER IN THE COUNTRY AT THAT TIME.

EVENTUALLY HE BECAME SOLE OWNER OF THE CHRONICLE. JUL 1947

PARIS CONFERENCE OPENS WITH 16 NATIONS PRESENT

JUL 1947

Bevin Elected President as Marshall Plan of U. S. Aid Is Taken Up.

SOVIET, 8 SATELLITES ABSENT

Briton Pledges Commonwealth's Entire Resources, 'In So Far as We Can Influence It.'

Paris, July 12 (A. P.).—Delegates of sixteen nations began a conference today on European economic recovery with United States aid and were told that Britain and France would give the Marshall plan firm backing.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was elected president of the conference and immediately pledged in support of the plan the resources of the whole British Commonwealth of Nations—"insofar as we can influence it."

Earlier, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault in opening the meeting in the Foreign Ministry's grand dining hall, said Britain and France would spare no effort to make the conference a success.

Russia and eight other Eastern Nations were not represented. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had declined to join Bevin and Bidault in sponsoring the meeting, and the other countries, following Ruusia's lead, had turned down invitations to the affair.

Economic Not Political.

The conference started at 11:05 A. M. (5:05 A. M., Eastern Standard Time). France was seated at the head of the conference table.

"I am authorized to state for the British Government," Bevin said, "that not only the resources of Britain but, in so far as we can influence it, the resources of the entire British commonwealth of nations will be thrown into the support of this effort."

He stressed that the conference was economic and not political.

"I emphasize again," he declared, "that this is a voluntary arrangement. We are attempting to organize the economic resources of the continent for the benefit of all Europe."

Bidault said the primary objective of the conference would be to form an organization to determine Europe's resources and needs as a preliminary to requesting United States financial assistance. Secretary of State Marshall in a Harvard University speech on June 5 offered United States support of a common European reconstruction program.

Denies Sovereignty Threat.

Bidault praised the initiative of the United States in offering financial aid and declared that England and France would spare no effort to make it a success.

In a reference to the British-Soviet-French conference of Foreign Ministers here two weeks ago, Bidault denied that economic co-operation constituted a threat to national sovereignty—an objection voiced by Molotov at that time.

"The time has come to remake Europe," Bidault declared, "and this conference is not in any way directed against any State or group of States."

At the start of the session the French Government distributed a yellow book among the delegates reporting results of the recent Three Power ministers' meeting.

It contained speeches and documents relating to that meeting.

The flags of Russia, Finland and Albania were among those flying from the roof of the Ministry's building on the banks of the Seine, though those three countries had refused to attend.

The conference was the first major meeting on Europe's future since the war in which Russia was not represented. Molotov had warned that it would divide Europe.

Anglo-French invitations to the meeting went out to twenty-two nations a week ago last Thursday. Nations that accepted the bids were Austria, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Eire, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland, Italy, Portugal, Greece and Turkey. Franco Spain was not invited.

5 Committees Proposed.

Nations that followed Russia's lead and declined to participate were Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania and Finland. Czecho-Slovakia first accepted and then, on word from Premier Klement Gottwald visiting Moscof, turned it down.

Before the conference was an Anglo-French proposal that five committees be set up to begin work next Tuesday.

These would include a steering committee representing Britain, France and "certain other" nations, and sub-committees on agriculture, power and fuel, metal industries, and transportation—each representing the two sponsors and the three other nations most directly concerned.

AID PARLEY NO U.N. RIVAL, BEVIN SAYS

Russia And Satellites Still Welcome, Opening Session Told

Paris, July 12 (AP)—Britain, France and Italy told the opening session of the Marshall plan conference today that Russia and the absent eastern European nations still would be welcome to help in a continent-wide effort to rebuild a war-shattered economy.

Moreover, Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, declared the conference was not intended to set up a permanent organization rivaling the United Nations. He said the conference members remained loyal to the United Nations and wanted to work in the fullest co-operation with appropriate United Nations organs.

Bevin To Preside

Bevin also pledged the resources of the British Commonwealth, insofar as the British Government can influence them, to the task of European rehabilitation.

Statesmen from sixteen European nations met for an hour in the gilded grand banquet hall of the French Foreign Ministry. They elected Bevin presiding officer and named a working committee which immediately began a study of the British-French draft for European recovery with American aid.

Fails To Reach Accord

The working committee met for four and a half hours without achieving agreement on the organization of the conference. At its second meeting tomorrow at noon it is to consider a compromise proposal designed to meet demands of smaller nations that all sixteen nations at the conference be represented on the projected international co-operation committee. Britain and France originally proposed that this committee have only five or six members.

The conference was called by Britain and France after Russia declined to have anything to do with the Marshall plan, enunciated by the United States Secretary of State at Harvard University June 5.

The plan, briefly, envisions American aid to Europe after the nations of Europe have decided how far they can help themselves and just what help they will need from the United States.

Independence Interference

Russia charged that this would mean interference in the independence of the European countries and she held aloof with eight neighbors.

However, the hammer and sickle flag of the Soviet and the banners of the absent countries flew in the conference hall with those of the delegates present. Observers saw this as emphasis on the conference feeling that the door always would be open to those desiring to co-operate.

Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, told the delegates in his welcoming speech that it was not the fault of anyone present that all European nations were not represented.

Speak For Europe

Then he said:

"The whole of Europe is not here. But those who are present have the right to speak in her name and to act for her. Reinforcements will come, I am sure of it, when our loyal work will have proved to all what was the path of genuine independence."

Bevin said:

"It is a matter of regret that certain countries in eastern Europe have not been able to attend this conference, and if one follows the news and views expressed I am sure they regret it as much as we regret their absence.

Expresses Sympathy

"We fully understand, and we express our sympathy. But I think that I voice the general sentiment of all the countries, not only in this conference but outside Europe, when I say that I think it is their wish, as certainly it is ours, that the door shall remain open to all those of good will who want to contribute to the healthy life of Europe."

Carlo Sforza, Foreign Minister of Italy, said the conference was assembling on the eve of a "transformation of the Old World."

"We shall achieve it," Sforza said, "conscious that our reconstruction will keep all its doors wide open to the confident collaboration of eastern Europe. Fear and suspicion still divides the minds of men. This conference must destroy these ills."

Sole Reference To U.N.

There has been considerable speculation how the conference would fit with the United Nations but Bevin made the sole reference to the United Nations. He said that the business of the conference was not to set up a permanent organization rivaling the United Nations but to create machinery to grapple with this special problem.

He said:

"Our loyalty to the United Nations remains as it always has, complete and firm, and we are anxious to work in co-operation to the fullest possible extent with the appropriate organs of the United Nations; but I repeat again that the prime purpose of our action was to respond to the United States proposal."

Charge Called Nonsense

Answering the charge from the east that the independence of countries would be threatened, Bevin said that was "just nonsense."

"For a country like ours and France to be accused of interfering with the sovereignty of small nations after the suffering that we have incurred in their defense in two world wars, is a charge which, the history itself of our actions proves, I think, to be just nonsense."

German Benefits

Bidault asserted that the aim of the conference was "simply to establish an organization which can tally the balance sheet of Europe's resources and needs" and warned this must be done quickly since many nations—France is one of them—were nearing the end of their assets.

He emphasized that the nations must voluuntarily organize their efforts to reduce the necessary American aid to a minimum.

Referring to assertions from Eastern nations that Germany might benefit from the reconstruction, Bidault said:

Invitations To 22 Nations

"It has been alleged that the unavowed aim of our meeting is to rebuild Germany first. The resources of Germany ought to be utilized for Europe, Germany included. I want to emphasize in the name of the French delegation that any other interpretation is improper."

British-French invitations went to 22 nations after Russia refused to join in sponsoring the parley. Those present at the first session today were: Austria, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Eire, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland, Italy, Portugal, Greece, Turkey and the sponsoring powers.

Czechoslovakia accepted but reversed that decision later on receipt of a telephone call from Czech Premier Klement Gottwald in Moscow, where he had gone after his Government accepted the bid. Others refusing to come to the conference were: Poland, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania and Finland.

Franco Spain was not invited.

Expansion Proposed

Herve Alphand, the French representative, proposed expansion of the international co-operation—or steering—committee at the meeting of the conference working committee, the first real business session of the conference.

Alphand made his proposal after some small nations, notably Belgium, Turkey and Denmark, had objected to the Anglo-French proposal giving supervisory power to a steering committee of only five or six members.

Under terms of Alphand's compromise, the steering committee would be topped by a permanent executive committee of a few members, the exact number not yet fixed.

Technical Subcommittees

Alphand was named to draft details of his compromise proposal for presentation to the second working committee meeting. The working committee's first report to the full conference is to be presented at the second plenary session tomorrow afternoon.

The working committee today also decided to expand membership in the four technical subcommittees which would deal with fuel, power, metal industries, transport and food, but the exact membership was left for future determination. It also was agreed to authorize new subcommittees for new fields if necessary and to allow changes in each group's scope for borderline cases.

All these points are to be fully stated in Alphand's compromise proposal to be ready tomorrow.

Disadvantages Cited

Some working committee members questioned the wisdom of establishing a rehabilitation program to last four years as the French and British have suggested, saying that a rigid timetable might have disadvantages. The British and French members, however, pointed out that four years was the period mentioned by Secretary Marshall in his Harvard address.

September 1 was fixed as the target date for a complete report on the development of essential production, on indispensible European trade and on deficit needs which the United States would be asked to fill.

Bevin and Bidault Speeches

PARIS, July 12 (AP).—Following are the complete texts of the speeches by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault at the Paris conference on the Marshall plan today:

Bevin's Address

Gentlemen, I would like to express to you my thanks for electing me chairman of this conference.

I regard this as an historic conference.

On behalf of my government I desire to express our thanks to so many countries for their prompt response to the invitation which the French government and His Majesty's government took the responsibility of issuing.

The political difficulties which have inevitably arisen as a result of the war will take a considerable time to settle. In the mean time, there is the vexed problem of the economic problems from which Europe is suffering today. The speech of Mr. Marshall (at Harvard on June 5), we felt, gave an opportunity and a challenge for a prompt reply, and called upon us to grapple immediately with the European problem as a whole. It was continent speaking to continent.

We believe that an energetic approach to the economic problems of Europe will not only bring immediate benefit and reduce the sufferings caused by the war, but, if our handling of this problem is successful, it will in fact facilitate ultimately the right political settlement in Europe as well. For a country like ours and France to be accused of interfering with the sovereignty of small nations, after the suffering that we have incurred in their defense in two world wars, is a charge which, history itself by our actions proves, I think, to be just nonsense.

The motive, therefore, that prompted us in taking this step was a desire to utilize by voluntary—I emphasize voluntary—arrangement the resources of Europe in order that they may benefit the whole of Europe and, indeed, assist her to get back to the proud independence she enjoyed so long, only utilizing the supplementary assistance offered by Mr. Marshall to facilitate that end.

I repeat, therefore, that this conference is economic and not political in its conception or intention.

On behalf of the British government I am authorized to state that not only its own resources but, in so far as it can influence them, the resources of the great Commonwealth will be directed as far as possible to help rehabilitate Europe. We regard that not only as our duty but as our interest, since the quicker Europe can be brought back to a state of economic health the more we shall all mutually benefit.

It is a matter of regret that certain countries in eastern Europe have not been able to attend this conference, and if one follows the news and views expressed I am sure they regret it as much as we regret their absence. We fully understand, and we express our sympathy. But I think that I voice the general sentiment of all the countries, not only in this conference but outside Europe, when I say that I think it is their wish, as certainly it is ours, that the door shall remain wide open to all those of good will who want to contribute to the healthy life of Europe.

But this is a business meeting, and it is essential to expedite our business with the greatest possible speed. We have no idea of setting up a permanent organization rival to the United Nations. It is a piece of ad hoc machinery to grapple with this special problem, and, I repeat, effective and quick action is required.

Our loyalty to the United Nations remains as it always has, complete and firm, and we are anxious to work in co-operation to the fullest possible extent with the appropriate organs of the United Nations; but I repeat again that the prime purpose of our action was to respond to the United States proposal.

The British and French governments, in their invitations, have made certain suggestions. These suggestions are based on the principle that the relief of the European countries must relate to European resources as well as European needs. We must pay particular attention to the commodities in short supply in Europe, particularly food and agricultural products, coal and power, iron and steel, transport, balance of payments, immigration and problems of that character.

Our first immediate step, therefore, should be to agree that an organization be set up. I suggest that it would be inappropriate for ministers to work out the details relating to the organization, and I would suggest that our first step should be to create a working committee representing all the members of the conference to examine these questions and to report back to this conference in the shortest possible time. I suggest that this working committee ought to be appointed at once and get to work at once. To this end I would propose to submit a suggestion for consideration to the conference, which I suggest we should proceed to discuss forthwith.

The resolution which I would suggest in order that the committee might get to work and obtain the views of all the governments is as follows:

"Submitted by the United Kingdom delegation.

"This conference, having noted the suggestions contained in the annex to the invitations issued by the British and French governments on July 4, further resolves to set up as a matter of urgency a series of committees which shall meet in Paris to prepare a response to the suggestions of the United States through their Secretary of State, and, for this purpose,

"Appoints at once a working committee on which all countries, members of this conference, shall be represented to consider the question of the organization of the committees concerned, with particular reference to the conduct of business and membership of these committees and to produce a report for consideration by the conference on July 15."

Bidault's Address

For the first time since the end of World War II nations which history parted before reuniting them again are gathered in a common will of mutual and peaceful help. I am happy that Paris has been chosen as the place of the meeting, which, out of the solidarity of unhappiness, must create for everybody's sake the assertion of a brotherly will.

It is not the fault of any one of us that all the European nations are not represented at this meeting. Everything that was in our power has been done to obtain a favorable answer from a unanimous Europe to the appeal made by the United States Secretary of State. Faithful to the thought that has constantly inspired us, we will take care not to say or do anything that would set aside any nation. We still hope that seats, empty today, will be occupied some day. This seems to us, without any doubt, in conformity with the collective interest of Europe, as well as with the particular interest of every one of the absentees.

We are today facing a task whose amplitude and urgency are evident to any honest mind.

Following a terrible ordeal which repeated in the same generation the first universal disaster that struck humanity, Europe, our continent, cradle of modern civilization, is weakened and ravished. A great statesman, Mr. Marshall, addressed to Europe on June 5 an appeal which we want to answer in such a way that Europe's mutual self-aid will create conditions for temporary but indispensable American aid to the Continent.

It is obviously unnecessary to recall today the events since General Marshall's offer and until the Anglo-Franco-Soviet talks in Paris ended the way you know. The documents have already been published. Any one may draw his conclusions after studying them, learn what has been done for the sake of conciliation and by whom, what was the obstacle to this conciliation, and how.

It has been alleged with a certain tendency toward uniformity, in a bold assertion which I notice without wishing to explain it, that this conference was a menace not only to the sovereignty of nations, but also to their independence. In opposition to this charge, whose insistence does not compensate for its inexactness, the sovereignty and the independence of the nations are here, today, being affirmed.

What is the object of this present conference? Simply to establish an organization which can tally the balance sheet of Europe's resources and needs.

It is indispensable that this be done quickly. This is the reason why the Franco-British invitation was handed to you the day after the break-up of the three-power conference at Paris. This is also the reason why such a short period was left for an answer.

Tomorrow, numerous nations will no longer know how to meet the purchase of essential goods which they are forced to make by the current distress of our continent without holding corresponding resources in foreign currency.

Such is the motive for the initiative taken in common by Great Britain and France in the mutual interest of Europe, having failed to associate the Soviet Union in their invitation.

We have absolutely no intention of imposing views or methods, even less to employ this conference to establish in Europe a hegemony with which you know, gentlemen, that you are not here threatened.

What we are proposing to you is to organize, freely and according to what we decide altogether, the effort of European nations here present so as to limit the assistance of the United States to strict necessities, that is, what we ourselves can not do for ourselves by our own means.

It has been alleged that the unavowed aim of our meeting is to rebuild Germany first. The resources of Germany ought to be utilized for Europe, Germany included. I want to emphasize in the name of the French delegation that any other interpretation is improper.

The hour has come to construct a Europe, not—as a great French voice, that of Aristide Briand, proclaimed already twenty years ago—not against other nations, not against any other country or group of countries, but for a better disposition of the immediate conditions of peace to put an end to a state of anarchy which gives rise to conflicts by maintaining distress.

The whole of Europe is not present here, but those who are present have the right to speak in her name, and to act for her.

Reinforcements will come, I am sure of it, when our loyal work will have proved to all, with obvious interest, what was the path of genuine independence.

The hour has come to accomplish the destiny of Europe by returning her to the place which was hers, since the deepness of the ages, in the life of the civilized world.

The noble initiative of the government of the United States is for our peoples an appeal which we cannot ignore without betraying them.

Together, then, we will make, and make it quickly, the effort of mutual self-aid which will make us worthy of being aided.

For generations men of all countries who rejected a selfish nationalism have longed for this assembly which is being held today. Let us be proud to be witness to it and to be the good craftsmen of a task dreamed of for centuries and, at the present time, urgently necessary.

I repeat that we did not want any refusal, that we spared no effort to make our gathering more numerous. Such as it is, our meeting is a great motif for hope for all of us who are here and for all those who will follow.

Soviet Blasts Paris Parley; Calls It U. S. Concocted Deal

Using Radio and Press for Propaganda Campaign Against Conference—Cites Dawes Plan as Precedent.

London, July 12 (A. P.).—Russian press and radio spokesmen hammered today on the theme that the European Economic Conference would fail, while some Eastern nations pined openly for the dollar aid they may have lost by following Russia's lead in staying away from the conference.

Moscow radio commentator Viktorov, speaking in Russian, called the conference a repetition of the post world war I Dawes Plan—which was designed to help Germany—and said it was "doomed to failure."

"The Anglo-French plans are fraught with new international difficulties which in the final analysis will turn against their initiators," he declared.

Mikhail Mikhailov, broadcasting in English, said refusal of Russia and eight other countries to sit down in Paris with sixteen other European nations had "overturned Anglo-French plans to a considerable extent."

Tass Reviews Plans.

The official Soviet news agency Tass distributed a review of preparations for the conference and concluded with the opinion:

"It is easy to perceive that such a conference cannot yield practical results or justify the hopes placed in it by the Anglo-French organizers of this entire scheme concocted under United States patronage."

Throughout the night the Russian agencies repeated the theory that the non-participating nations stayed away because joint British-French preparation of the conference agenda would have infringed their national sovereignty if they had accepted.

One example after another of this national sovereignty angle was hammered out with the absence of any referee to Czecho-Slovakia, which accepted its bid and then tore it up three days later after Czech Premier Klement Gottwald called on Soviet Prime Minister Stalin.

Finland's Need Cited.

But Finland's rejection, as quoted by the Moscow radio, contained the recognition that Finland "needs foreign help" for economic reconstruction and "is ready to give material information concerning the country's economy."

A few hours earlier a Polish foreign ministry spokesman in Warsaw made it plain that Poland too was eager for foreign help in rebuilding and would be sorry if the rejection of the invitation angered the United States.

In Albania's case, the Moscow radio said she accused the United States of a "hostile attitude" toward her and doubted whether in the Marshall plan the United States "sincerely offers aid to small European countries and especially Albania."

BAN IS CONSIDERED ON U. S. AID TO POLAND, HUNGARY

WASHINGTON, July 12—((AP) A group of House members today considered cutting Poland and Hungary out of the $350,000,000 European relief program because the two countries boycotted the Paris conference on the Marshall plan for aid to Europe.

The House Appropriations committee on deficiency expenditures was reported planning such a ban in a bill setting aside money to pay for foreign policy measures already authorized by Congress.

These include the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid measure, allotments for the Army's civilian relief program in the occupied areas of Germany, Japan and Korea, as well as the $350,000,000 foreign relief bill.

As passed by Congress earlier in the year, the $350,000,000 measure would pay for relief in Italy, Greece, Hungary, Austria, Poland, China and Trieste. It was passed before Secretary of State Marshall advanced his plan for Europe's self-help rehabilitation.

The proposed ban, as contemplated by members of the Appropriation Committee, would be the first direct Western counter-blow to the action of Russia and the Soviet border states in moving toward an economic split of Europe.

Russians Cite Need

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, July 12 (AP)—There is reason to believe the Russians do not want anyone to get the impression that the eastern European nations—including the Soviet Union—desire economic isolation from the United States or other countries.

Aid in the form of credits is needed by all the eastern European countries, and apparently they have not closed their doors or eyes to the idea of receiving American credits, despite their refusal to join in the Paris conference on the Marshall aid-Europe proposal.

While the Moscow press and radio assailed the Paris meeting and said it was doomed to failure, two of the best-informed Soviet correspondents wrote in Pravda that the eastern European nations were interested in getting American credits, but directly from the United States and not through Britain and France.

The two commentators, Marinin and Leontiev, asserted that France and Britain were not capable of acting as "administrators" of the Marshall plan.

"The fact is the way they themselves use American credits gives them no right to teach others in this cause," they said.

The article said that "there is no doubt that, for speedy successful fulfillment of the planned development of the industry and agriculture of Poland, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and other countries, foreign credits are required.

Seek Mediator Role

"The governments of these nations expressed more than once the desire to obtain credits on just terms. However, in the case of obtaining American credits it is wholly natural that eastern European nations prefer to do business directly with creditors, not with mediators, which the British and French are trying to be in this issue."

Informed persons in foreign missions said direct American credits to the European nations outside the Paris Conference would not be likely to be looked upon by Russia as an unfriendly gesture.

SOVIET-CZECH PACT SIGNED

Russia To Exchange Food For Machinery And Products

Prague, July 12 (AP)—Czechoslovakia and Russia announced tonight a five-year agreement exchanging Russian food for Czech machinery and manufactured goods.

It was viewed as possibly setting up a basis for an eastern European economy of barter for nations not participating in the Marshall plan.

Informed sources said it seemed likely here that Poland and other eastern European nations which turned their backs on the Paris conference at a nod from Moscow might have been offered similar increased trade pacts to make up for the assistance they had hoped for in the general European recovery plan.

Vast Increases

The Slav nations already are bound together by trade alliances but the new Czech-Russian pact called for immediate and vast increase in exchanged goods.

A communique announcing the agreement said that in 1948 Czechoslovakia would receive from Russia 200,000 tons of wheat, 200,000 tons of fodder and maize, 65,000 tons of potassium and sodium fertilizers, 20,000 tons of cotton and unspecified quantities of oil, seeds, peas, lentils, phosphates, wool and iron, manganese, and chromium ores.

The amount of wheat alone exceeds the 151,000 total tons of food exported from the United States to Czechoslovakia in the year ending last June 30, according to figures released a week ago in Washington by President Truman.

Equipment For Russia

In return, Czechoslovakia will send Russia rails, engines and other railway equipment, pipelines for oil industry, equipment for use in setting up shoe and sugar factories, hemming machines, electric motors, dredging equipment, motor vehicles, a power station, sugar, shoes, textiles and breeding cattle.

The amounts Czechoslovakia must send were not disclosed.

The communique said that a "permanent and continual" exchange of goods was envisioned.

"Both governments therefore reached agreement about the mutual deliveries of goods for five years," it said. "The agreement is signed on the basis of firm commitments of goods which must be fixed in advance each year. Commitments for 1948 are fixed by the signing of this treaty. At the same time, approximate commitments must be fixed wherever possible for the whole five years."

It added that the Czech and Soviet representatives in Moscow discussed "important questions of foreign policy and especially relations of the U.S.S.R. and Czechoslovakia."

The agreement met little surprise here. The strengthening of trade pacts with the Soviet Union had been the reason given by Premier Klement Gottwald and Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister, for their trip to Moscow this week, the trip from which Gottwald telephoned back word that the Government must withdraw immediately its acceptance of the British-French invitation to the Paris conferenc

Gottwald announced the new economic treaty in a brief radio speech 30 minutes after returning from Moscow.

Gottwald said the results of the Moscow trip were a "great victory" and that the visit had shown "what a great help the friendship of the Soviet Union is both from the standpoint of our security and our economy."

Prague's Red Premier Says Accord Calls for 200,000 Tons of Soviet Wheat; Communist Press Increases Attacks on Marshall Plan

By The Associated Press

PRAGUE, July 12.—Klement Gottwald, Communist Premier of Czechoslovakia, announced today a new five-year economic treaty with Russia by which Czechoslovakia would receive 200,000 tons of Russian wheat.

In a brief speech on the Prague radio thirty minutes after returning from Moscow with Foreign Minister Jan G. Masaryk, Mr. Gottwald said the text of the pact would be announced tomorrow.

"Among its provisions," he said, "Czechoslovakia is to receive from Russia 200,000 tons of wheat and 200,000 tons of fodder, presumably within the next twelve months. This will be in return for exports and manufactured products of Czechoslovak heavy and light industries."

Mr. Gottwald said the results of the Moscow trip were a "great victory," and that the visit had shown "what a great help the friendship of the Soviet Union is both from the standpoint of our security and our economy."

A telephone call from Mr. Gottwald in Moscow to the Cabinet last Thursday night caused the government to reverse its decision to attend the economic conference which opened in Paris today. Mr. Gottwald in his speech made this short reference to the conference: "It is impossible to talk about economic reconstruction without it being explained how this is intended to operate."

Communist newspapers, which gyrated from one side to the other during the shift in position on the Marshall plan, settled down to steady propaganda against it.

"Rude Prago" ("Red Light") declared in large headlines that the Marshall plan was purely an agency of American capitalists trying to capture the world markets.

The Constituent Assembly adjourned for one month's vacation without a challenge to the government's withdrawal from the Marshall plan conference.

Greek Reds Get Order to Set Up Separate State

Fugitive Leader Calls for 'Democratic Regime' in the Greek Communist party, declared in a signed article in the Communist newspaper "Rizospastis" that the Communists had come to an open break with non-sympathetic political parties. He added: "The material separation can take effect only with creation in free democratic areas of Greece of a free democratic government."

This was interpreted as meaning that immediate declaration of a free state was the only alternative left for the Communists.

The reports to the conservative Athens newspapers said a band of 200 men under a Captain Eleftheriadis raided the village of Vasilitsa less than a mile from the Yugoslav border in the Lake Doiran region. The captain made a speech saying he represented "the free democratic government of Greece," and took twenty-eight youths back across the Yugoslav border with him, the dispatches added.

"Rizospastis" said that Mr. Zachariades, who is facing sentences of one to five years for criminal libel, had returned to Athens last week after an absence of two months.

The newspaper said he had been attending a "democratic meeting" in Europe. Previous reports said that Zachariades was at a Communist meeting in Strasbourg when Miltiades Aporfyrhoghennis, described as a Greek Communist, advocated a "free state" in Greece.

Police said that if Mr. Zachariades returned to Athens it was to take part in the alleged Communist uprising which the government said was foiled early this week by the arrest of nearly 3,000 Leftists.

Minister of Public Order Napolean Zervas said he did not believe Mr. Zachariades had returned, and added that if found he will be arrested.

The Athens public prosecutor said Mr. Aporfyrhoghennis and Demitrius Partsalides, Communist secretary general of the Left-wing E. A. M. coalition, had been charged with high treason in connection with the revolutionary plot. All others will be charged with treason. The maximum penalty for high treason is death.

The latest word from the War Ministry was that the Greek Army was inflicting heavy casualties on Leftists in the Mount Grammos battle area near the Albanian border.

A dispatch from Salonika quoted [illegible] as at $35,000,000 were en route to equip Greek Government forces on an "anti-bandit" basis. Griswold said the equipment was largely from United States Army and Navy surplus.]

The War Ministry's report said the Government offensive was overcoming guerrilla resistance points one by one on Mount Grammos, which is on the Albanian border.

Stratos told newsmen yesterday that insurgent forces in that area had an approximate strength of 4,000 and that one of their objectives was to clear a path into Greece for an international force of 2,500, which he said was at the Yugoslav port of Split on the Adriatic.

Guerrillas Fall Back at Mount Grammos—International Brigade Reported.

Athens, July 12 (A. P.).—Loyalist air and artillery units were reported today by the Greek War Ministry to be inflicting heavy casualties and gaining ground on guerrilla forces on Mount Grammos, where War Minister George Stratos said the insurgents were seeking to establish a Communist state.

Unconfirmed press dispatches said that an International Brigade unit of 120 members had appeared in action on the guerrilla side in the Kozane region east of Mount Grammos. The Communist press throughout Europe has been predicting the formation of such an outfit for some time.

[In Washington yesterday Dwight Griswold, chief of the American aid mission to Greece, said that military supplies val-

Area Ruled by Rebels

ATHENS, July 12 (AP).—The fugitive leader of the Greek Communists called today for a separate government in Greece's "free democratic areas," and dispatches to conservative Athens newspapers said military conscription for such a government had begun in Macedonia.

The Greek army was pressing a strong campaign against the guerrillas in the north, where government officials said Leftist fighters were attempting to carve out a Communist state.

U.S. and Britain Raise German Industry Level

Bi-Zonal Agreement Will Be Signed Wednesday; Clay Declines Paris Bid

BERLIN, July 12 (AP).—Great Britain and the United States agreed today on a new level of industry for their economically merged occupation zones in Germany, General Lucius D. Clay announced.

The American Military governor said legal authorities would draw up the agreement for signature Wednesday, and that terms of the pact would not be announced until that time.

Authoritative sources predicted the industrial level would be based on steel producton of about 12,000,000 tons yearly. The agreement was reached at a meeting attended by General Clay and Lieutenant General Sir Brian Robertson, British deupty commander.

General Clay said he would be represented at a British-American conference at Washington late this month on Ruhr coal by his economic adviser, Major General William H. Draper.

Authoritative sources said General Clay had declined an invitation to be represented at the Paris economic conference on the Marshall plan for United States aid to Europe.

Clay Declines Paris Bid

These sources said General Clay did so to avoid any charges that the United States is interfering in European nations' plans to help themselves. But it was pointed out that British representatives at the conference would keep American occupation authorities informed, although they would have no power to commit the United States to any proposals on Germany.

The conference at Washington will discuss an American proposal that a political moratorium be declared for bi-zonal Germany on nationalization and socialization plans for coal and steel industries. Socialist Britain opposes such a moratorium.

The American Military Government position is that, with such a moratorium and with coal and steel plants operated privately, American private capital would be willing to make necessary dollar loans to revitalize the industries. American private banking representatives visiting in Germany recently indicated willingness to do his, informed sources said.

These banking interests pointed out that in the event of socialization or nationalization, which would take place without any responsible central German government, private capital would have no protection for its investment, since neither the British nor the A. M. G. can be brought into court and sued if loan payments are not met.

Showdown on Socialization

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—A showdown between the United States and Britain this month over socialization of the Ruhr coal mines in the British zone of Germany was predicted by diplomatic officials today. The occasion is the forthcoming Anglo-American conference here on methods of boosting Ruhr coal production.

Economic authorities of the State Department said Ruhr coal output must be raised from around 216,000 tons daily to near 350,000 tons if any kind of real European recovery is to be put over.

These authorities said the relationship between German coal production and European recovery now makes the need for some decision on socialization and other issues extremely critical and that a showdown at the Washington talks appears certain.

The basic purpose of the Washington conference is to investigate the factors responsible for the relatively low level of present Ruhr coal output—about 50 per cent of pre-war—and to try to find means of improving conditions. These factors include food supplies for miners, the availability of mining machinery, labor relations and management efficiency.

Steps taken to improve management efficiency presumably will depend on whatever decisions are reached about socialization. At present the mines are operated by a North German Coal Control Authority under British occupation officials.

British And U.S. Commanders Reach Agreement

Berlin, July 12 (AP)—An agreement was reached today on a new level of industrial production for bi-zonal Germany in a conference between the United States occupation commander, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, and Britain's deputy commander, Sir Brian Robertson.

General Clay said the agreement would not be "finalized" or made public until Wednesday, when it is scheduled to be signed.

12,000,000-Ton Steel Basis

It was said authoritatively that the level of industry for the economically merged British-American zones would be based on the figure of an annual steel production of about 12,000,000 tons.

Clay said he would not attend the British-American conference in Washington on increasing the output of Ruhr coal, but that his economic advisor, Maj. Gen. William Draper, would represent the United States Military Government.

Authoritative sources disclosed that General Clay turned down an invitation for American military government representatives to sit in on the Paris economic conference and represent economic interests in Germany. This decision was made, it was said, to avoid any charges that the United States was interfering in plans of European nations to help themselves.

Britain To Provide Data

The source also said the British representatives at the conference would keep United States occupation authorities informed, but would have no power to commit the United States to any proposals on Germany.

CLAY BARS AIDS FROM PARIS TALK

Berlin, July 12 (A. P.).—Authoritative sources said today that Gen. Lucius D. Clay had declined an invitation for American Military Government representatives to sit in on the Paris conference regarding the Marshall aid-to-Europe plan and represent the economic interests of Germany.

These sources said that Clay, United States Militray Governor for Germany, did so to avoid any charges that the United States was interfering in European nations' plans to help themselves.

Forest Hills Man to Head Hess's Prison in Berlin

BERLIN, July 12 (AP).—Henry Frank, former military police captain of 68-11 Burns Street, Forest Hills, Queens, has been appointed as the American director of Spandau prison at Berlin, which now is awaiting the arrival of Rudolf Hess and six other major Nazi war criminals sentenced at Nuernberg.

Mr. Frank succeeds Major Walter Giese, of Cleveland, who will become chairman of the four-power directorate, taking over from the Russian director, in August. The American director, his wife and their infant child live in the American sector of Berlin.

The prison, which has been cleared of all other prisoners for the arrival of the convicted Nazi leaders, is manned by thirty-six Allied guards. Mr. Frank presides over an American guard staff of eight, all of them combat veterans.

RIOTING IN BUDAPEST

Budapest, July 12 (A. P.).—Some fifty persons nursed injuries today as a result of street rioting yesterday in which, witnesses said, Communists attempted to break up a Budapest meeting of the Hungarian Freedom party.

Witnesses reported that the fight began after about twenty Communists had crashed a Freedom party meeting in a boarding house and shouted down the main speaker.

They said the Freedom party members, numbering about 250, forced the intruders into the street and there were met by 300 or 400 more Communists, many armed with clubs. The brawl followed. Police restored order within an hour and arrested about 100 persons.

Rennes Bars DeGaulle Rally

Rennes, France, July 12 (AP)—The Rennes City Council, by a vote of 18 to 7, has refused Gen. Charles de Gaulle's French People's Rally a permit to use the city square for a public meeting. The council offered no explanation of the action.

Romania Bars U. S. Protest

Calls American and British Notes on Arrests Interference

BUCHAREST, July 12 (AP).—Romania announced today the rejection of American and British protests against recent political arrests.

The government's reply to Washington said the protest, dated June 24, constituted interference in Romania's internal affairs. A similar message was delivered to the British political representative here.

[The American note protested against the "arbitrary arrest without warrant or charge" of hundreds of opposition party members and others. It added that the arrests appeared to be "a deliberate effort at the suppression or terroristic intimidation of democratic elements" opposing the present Communist-dominated regime. The British note was in similar vein.]

Poland Investigating American Army Private

Warsaw, July 12 (AP)—A Foreign Ministry spokesman said today the Polish Government was investigating the activities of a United States Army private, John William Szczubrowski, under arrest in Rzeszow, south Poland.

The ministry asserted Szczubrowski had deserted an American constabulary unit in Germany several months ago and came to Poland bearing a falsified passport. The spokesman said it had been charged that the soldier had connections with outlawed underground bands.

Americans Held Up in Rome

ROME, July 12 (AP).—Four Americans reported to police today that they had been held up by a gunman in the heart of Rome last night and forced to surrender cash and sign over travelers' checks totaling $320. The four were Harry Carper, of Winchester, Va.; Stuart Landa, of New York, and the Misses Anne Frank and Margaret Wrenne, of Tennessee.

Mrs. Peron Shifts Plans Again, Will Visit London

ROME, July 12 (AP).—Members of Mrs. Eva Duarte Peron's entourage said at Genoa today that the wife of the Argentine President had changed her plans again and now would visit London. She was expected to leave Wednesday.

A British Embassy spokesman at Rome said the Embassy transmitted to Mrs. Peron a message from the British Foreign Office saying she would be a "very welcome guest" if she chose to visit Great Britain.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said Queen Elizabeth had intimated previously she would be glad to meet the visitor if Mrs. Peron arrived while the royal family was in London. The Argentine President's wife intends to make brief visits to Portugal and France, London sources said.

Germans Divert Vessel From Britain to Ireland

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, July 12—Eight German sailors and their captain, signed on to carry timber from their own hungry country to rationed Britain, were disclosed today to have made an unscheduled side trip to food-rich Ireland—and stayed a week.

Furthermore, their vessel, the 277-ton Hamburg freighter Adelaar weighed anchor today at the southern Irish port of Waterford, still without reporting to her charter holders, the British Control Commission for Germany and Austria, a commission spokesman said.

"Today's news from Waterford was the first we had heard of the Adelaar since she left Southampton July 2 for Emden, in ballast after unloading," he said.

A harbor official in Southampton recalled today that he had walked to the customs house with the Adelaar's captain, Otto Schneider, when he got his orders to return to Emden. He said Captain Schneider had told him:

"Ach, I thought we'd be going back there."

Inonu Reassures Turkey There Will Be No Revolt

ISTANBUL, July 11 (Delayed) (AP).—President Ismet Inonu of Turkey today took a personal hand in the squabble between Premier Recep Peker's government and the powerful opposition Democratic party.

In an unprecedented statement, broadcast by the Ankara radio and distributed by the official Anatolia news agency, President Inonu informed the nation he had obtained a pledge that the Democrats would not pursue "any methods outside the law" and that he had the word of Premier Peker that his government would refrain from applying pressure against the Democrats. "I want to believe these guaranties," President Inonu said.

Mr. Inonu's message followed an accusation by the Premier that the Democrats were seeking to foment a revolt to seize the government.

The President said he had conferred several times with Premier Peker and Celal Bayar, leader of the Democrats, in an effort to reconcile the growing differences between the two factions, which had reached such an acute stage as to produce persistent reports that Premier Peker's Cabinet might fall.

Both the Democrats and the ruling Republican People's party, of which Mr. Inonu is president, must have mutual trust and good will and work together for the good of the nation, the President asserted.

Ethiopian Hospital Ready for Russians

Mission Waited Year for Chance to Go to Work

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, July 12 (AP).—After waiting a year, a Russian medical mission to Ethiopia has finally begun to move into the Dejazmatch Baltcha Hospital, now in the final stages of completion.

Consisting originally of twenty-four persons, the mission, headed by Dr. Vyacheslav Kazmin, arrived in Ethiopia in May, 1946. It had expected to find a hospital building ready to take over, but found that construction was only beginning.

With nowhere to work, some dissatisfaction arose and five of the original group left. It was reported that some of these were transferred to work in the Russian hospital in Tehran.

There are now nine doctors—five men and four women. Five nurses, a pharmacist and two administrators complete the present personnel.

All of the original medical equipment and instruments and medical supplies were brought from Russia, according to Dr. Nikolai Lamin, acting head of the mission.

Although invited here by the Ethiopian government, Dr. Lamin said all the expenses of the group, including salaries, are being paid by the Soviet government.

BRITAIN ACCUSES EGYPT OF MOVE TO BREAK TREATY

LAKE SUCCESS, July 12—(AP)—British officials charged today that Egypt was attempting to break a legal treaty in a move to ensure complete dominance over the Sudan.

The officals disclosed this would be the principal argument to the Egyptian demand for United Nations Security Council action to force "total and immediate" withdrawal of British forces from Egypt and the Sudan.

These sources said Sir Alexander Cadogan, Britain's chief delegate, was prepared to answer the Egyptian complaint with a counter-demand that it be tossed out of the Council on the grounds that it is not justified.

The Egyptian complaint, which grew out of failure to revise the Anglo-Egyptian treaty which expires in 1956, is not expected to be taken up by the Security Council for at least one and possible two weeks because of a heavy crush of work including the Balkan problem, Establishment of an international police force, disarmament and control of atomic energy.

The Egyptian appeal filed yesterday with the Security Council charged that Britain had adopted a policy designed to sever the Sudan from Egypt.

JEWS KIDNAP TWO BRITONS IN PALESTINE

Sergeants Believed Seized by Extremists to Be Held as Hostages.

MARTIAL LAW THREATENED

Moderate Underground Staging Hunt for Victims to Stave Off Such Reprisal.

Jerusalem, July 12 (A. P.).—Two British Sergeants were kidnaped from Natanya early today by Jews who the police believed to be extremist underground fighters, and later a Jewish source said that Hagana, moderate Jewish underground army, was searching for the two under threat of British martial law if they were not found.

The Jewish informant said that Hagana, so-called Jewish national defense army and military organization of the Jewish Agency, was hunting through between thirty and fifty Jewish coastal-plain settlements north of all-Jewish Tel Aviv and had thrown several hundred men into the search. Natanya itself, with a Jewish population of 10,000, lies forty miles north of Tel Aviv.

The informant reported that authorities had informed Hagana that martial law would be clamped down throughout the area unless the kidnaped men were produced before a given deadline. He did not specify the time set.

Seized Near Police Station.

Officials said Jews in a taxicab kidnaped the two sergeants shortly after midnight from a public sidewalk only a hundred yards from a Natanya police station.

They asid that one of the sergeants was struck on the head and that the two were hurried off toward the Tel Aviv-Haifa highway five miles away. The kidnaped men were identified as members of the Army's special investigation squad.

A Jewish civilian, clerk at an Army installation near Natanya, was seized with them, but was left behind tied in an orange grove before the group had gone far.

The police said that they believed the kidnapings might have been a Jewish underground act to get hostages for the lives of three Irgun Zvai Leumi gunmen under sentence to hang for the May 4 Acre prison raid. The hanging sentences were confirmed by the Palestine military commander this week and now are awaiting possible commutation by the high commissioner.

Scuffling Ignored.

First reports said the sergeants and the Jewish clerk were captured inside the Cafe Rimon, but a later official version was that the place was closed and that they were talking outside on a sidewalk when a taxicab pulled up and the Jews seized them.

"There was a lot of scuffling and shouting," an army informant said, "but nobody paid much attention because passersby apparently thought it was the usual nightly occurrence of military policemen rounding up soldiers at night clubs."

This informant said that when the captors found one of the men was a Jew, "they tied him up and ordered him not to move until 4:03 A. M. on pain of death." The civilian reported at a leave camp near Natanya at 5:05.

The brigadier in command of troops in the area summoned Mayor Ben Ami to a headquarters consultation. Police and military patrols cordoned off Natanya but a few hours later relaxed the cordon and Natanya's beaches, the historic shoreline once a part of an ancient camel caravan route from Arabia northward, swarmed with Shabata (Jewish Sabath) bathers.

Natanya was named for Nathan Straus, an American financier, and is the center of Palestine's diamond industry.

2 KIDNAPPED IN PALESTINE

Martial Law Threatened Unless Sergeants Are Freed

Jerusalem, July 12 (AP)—Military authorities announced tonight that martial law and an intensive search in the area around the all-Jewish town of Natanya would begin at dawn tomorrow, unless two British sergeants kidnapped and beaten today are returned alive by that time.

A reliable source said Mayor Oved Ben-Ami of Natanya had been notified by Irgun Zvai Leumi, underground Jewish fighters, that the two men, apparently taken as hostages for three Irgun members held under death sentences, would not be returned.

Ben Ami conferred with Brig. J. N. R. Moore, British military commander, and reported that Moore "reluctantly decided" to begin combing Jewish settlements and Arab villages around Natanya at dawn.

Troops Search Area

Army and Palestine police cordoned off a 200-square-mile area of the Holy Land's rolling coastal plain and large numbers of troops were thrown into the area to seek the men who were abducted early today.

This action provoked the withdrawal from the hunt of many members of Hagana, the so-called Jewish National Defense Army. Hagana previously had joined the soldiers and police as part of the organization's intention to "stamp out in its own way violence caused by underground Jewish dissidents in Palestine.

Hagana members said they were withdrawing because of "interfearence" b ythe army and police which they considered a violation of the military's promise to give Hagana an opportunity to free the men.

The two sergeants were seized in front of a cafe in Natanya, 40 miles north of Tel Aviv, by a group of eight to twelve men. The police report on the kidnapping said they were chloroformed.

Police said the sergeants may have been kidnapped as hostages for the three Irgun members, who were condemned to death by the British for participating in the May 4 prison break at Acre.

Their sentences have been confirmed by the Palestine military commander and are before Sir Alan Cunningham, the high commissioner, for possible commutation.

The two sergeants, Clifford Martin and Mervin Paice, members of the Army's special investigation squad, and a Jewish civilian clerk named Weinberg, were seized by the abductors shortly after midnight.

Reported Abduction

Weinberg was tied up and placed in an orange grove later. He liberated himself with the aid of persons from a near-by house and reported the abduction to military authorities.

Weinberg said the two sergeants were both "rather badly beaten. While we were in the car my shirt and trousers were stained all over with blood from their wounds."

A month ago two British policemen were abducted from a Ramat Gan swimming pool apparently as hostages for Irgun Zvai Leumi, but they escaped the following day.

U.N. Probe Day Off

Meanwhile, delegates of the United Nations special committee on Palestine took the day off before starting tomorrow their fourth week of fact-finding. In an effort to get the Arabs to change their minds on the boycott of the committee invitations were sent last week to the Arab countries offering to switch the hearings to any capital the Arabs choose. The only reply to date has been a flat "not interested" from the Palestine Arabs.

The committee has completed most of the testimony from Jewish groups, which simmers down in most instances to reluctant acceptance of the idea of partition.

To Admit 500 Orphans

The Palestine Government decided today that, as a "humanitarian measure" 500 orphaned Jewish refugee children now being detained at Cyprus with 17,000 other uncertified immigrants, would be admitted to Palestine.

The announcement said, however, that the children, to be placed in the care of Jewish welfare organizations, would not receive certificates until their turns came in the regular process of admitting detained immigrants.

INDONESIANS, DUTCH SEEN NEAR AGREEMENT

BATAVIA, July 12—(AP) The Indonesian Republic and the Dutch were closer today toward agreement than in nearly two years of complicated maneuvering, but the single important issue remaining was threatening still another crisis.

That issue was the Dutch demand for a joint Indonesian-Dutch gendarmerie to protect Dutchmen and foreigners when they return to their holdings in the interior of republican Java and Sumatra.

H. J. Van Mook, the Dutch governor general, stated flatly that unconditional republican acceptance of the entire Dutch plan for creating an interim national government is necessary "to establish peace."

Russians Given U.S. Korea View

Seoul, Korea, July 12 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Albert E. Brown said today the Russians had been given a "complete statement" of the United States position regarding oral consultations with Koreans on the formation of a provisional government. The issue has been in dispute for the past five weeks.

The chief of the American delegation to the United States-Soviet joint commission on Korea told a news conference that Col. Gen. Terenty Shtikov, commander of the Russian (northern) zone, promised a statement on Russia's position later today.

General Brown expressed hope a joint communique would evolve from the two statements by July 15 detailing Soviet-American views and any decision reached. He added that Shtikov rejected Brown's proposal that American correspondents atend the joint sessions beginning Monday.

However, he said, the Russian commander had agreed that the maters taken up would be discussed with the press—presumably after the meetings.

EgyptianMissionGloomy On Japan Trade Outlook

TOKYO, July 12 (AP).—Egyptian trade mission members see only a "slender" chance of resuming trade with Japan and little or no possibility of renewing pre-war commerce in which the two countries exchanged an average of $15,000,000 worth of goods annually.

Pre-war Japan bought an average of 125,000 bales of Egyptian quality cotton yearly at an estimated cost of $15,000,000, and Egypt purchased a similar dollar volume of Japanese tobacco and textiles.

Members of the Egyptian mission said today they started negotiating sixteen months ago in Washington to renew trade with Japan. They said they were told by American officials they might sell up to 50,000 bales of cotton annually to Japan.

Arriving here, however, the trade mission found Japanese manufacturers handling only cotton imported by Allied headquarters—in most cases American cotton.

MacArthur Gives Aim For Jap Pact

Tokyo, Sunday, July 13 (AP)—General MacArthur declared today the peace treaty with Japan, "without yielding firmness in its essential mandates," should avoid "punitive, arbitrary and unrealistic provisions," and by its terms set the pattern for future peace throughout the world.

The supreme commander outlined his views on the principles to be embodied in the peace treaty in a statement lauding the Far Eastern Commission's policy decision as "one of the great state papers in modern history."

Approved In Effect

The action by the eleven Pacific nation commission announced yesterday in effect approved the occupation directive MacArthur received from President Truman September 6, 1945.

MacArthur said the agreement on basic Allied policy provides the entire framework for the peace which "we shall win" in Japan. The treaty, he added, "may now be approached with assurance of complete understanding in principle and full unity of purpose in evolving its detail."

No date has been set as yet for the Japanese peace conference. MacArthur has advocated it be held as soon as possible.

Omits Outside Assets

The commission's decision omitted Allied policy on Japanese assets outside the home islands because of the commission's inability to determine whether they should be included among repatriations.

MacArthur commented, however, the decision "sweeps aside fears currently felt that great nations of the world are unable to reconcile divergent views on such vital issues in the international sphere and demonstrates with decisive clarity that from an atmosphere of conflicting interests and opposing predilections may emerge common agreement."

The supreme commander's statement said the basic element of Allied policy—disarmament and demilitarization of Japan—has been completed. And even without "external controls," he said, "Japan could not rearm for modern war within a century."

Marks Unity Of Purpose

The FEC decision not only ratified the course taken thus far, MacArthur declared, but signifies the "complete unity of future purpose among the eleven nations and the people concerned."

In this agreement, he said, "we have been firmly resisting two insidious concepts" — one seeking "harsh and unjust treatment of our fallen foe," and another proposing partial preservation of institutions and leadership which bear the responsibility of war guilt.

Confirms Moderate Course

MacArthur said the FEC decision confirms for Japan "a sound, moderate course based upon a concept embodying firmness but justice, disarmament but rehabilitation, lower standards but opportunity for life —a concept shunning both the extreme right and the extreme left, and providing for the great middle way of ordinary man."

"Viewing this international accord in the light of great strides made by the Japanese themselves toward achievement of those very objectives which it prescribes without confusion, without disorder and with steady progress toward economic recovery despite the destruction of war and defeat, it becomes unmistakably clear that here in Japan we shall win the peace."

POLICY REVIEW ON CHINA SEEN

Wedemeyer Mission Leaves for Far East Next Week.

Washington, July 12 (A. P.).—A sweeping review of American policy in strife-ridden China was assured today by announcement that Lieut.-Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer will direct a fact-finding survey there and in Korea for President Truman.

Wedemeyer, wartime China theater commander and Chief of Staff for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, will head a group of experts leaving the first of next week by plane for a six-week "appraisal of the over-all situation."

The White House announcement of the mission coincided with a mounting military and economic crisis for Chiang's Nationalist regime.

Wedemeyer, commander of the Second United States Army, will be accompanied by representatives of the State, Treasury and Navy departments.

Might Become Ambassador.

His selection added to public speculation that he might be slated to succeed Dr. J. Leighton Stuart as American Ambassador, although friends say he wants to remain in the Army.

In China, diplomatic authorities said, Wedemeyer will undertake a general re-examination of American policy in the light of what has taken place since Marshall's own unsuccessful mission there.

From Ambassador Wellington Koo and officials in Nanking have come suggestions that China would need a "politcial loan" of up to $2,000,000,000 for reconstruction, aside from lesser sums which might be advanced by the Export-Import Bank for specific projects.

In Korea, the Wedemeyer mission will survey the laborious Soviet-American efforts to agree on terms for a joint Provisional Government for the entire country, which is now split into rival American and Russian occupation zones.

Express Welcome.

Nanking, July 12 (A. P.).—Foreign Minister Wang Shih-chieh said today that the "Chinese Government as well as President Chiang Kai-shek welcome the appointment of Gen. Wedemeyer as a special envoy . . . on a fact-finding mission to China and Korea."

"He is a staunch old friend of China," Wang said in a statement.

NANKING, July 12 (AP)—The official Chinese Central News Agency reported today that 3,000 troops of "a certain nation" were erecting land defenses at Fuhsien, fifty-five miles north of Soviet-occupied Dairen.

The independent newspapers Shih Chieh Jih Pao and Hsin Min Pao two days ago said Russian troops had established an advance command post at Fuhsien.

The sources of all the reports were given as Mukden military quarters.

The Chinese Communist radio in North Shensi reported that Communist forces had captured three towns in western Shantung, Honan and Anhwei, according to The Associated Press. The broadcast said the towns were east and southeast of Kaifeng. Of possibly more significance is the fact they are eighty to 100 miles northwest, west and southwest of Suchow, principal Government base and military headquarters for that area.

DAIREN PROBE HOPES VOICED

Chinese Look For Wedemeyer Study Of Russian Action

Nanking, July 12 (AP)—Sources in this Chinese capital expressed belief tonight that Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer's new mission to China and Korea might include inquiry into Soviet failure to turn Dairen and Port Arthur over to Chinese administration.

Status of these two Manchurian ports, in which Russia has special treaty rights, including a naval base at Port Arthur, has been an increasing irritation to China. Both remain in Russian military occupation.

[Tass, official Soviet news agency, only yesterday denied that Russia was hampering entry of Chinese administrators and said the Chinese Foreign Ministry was "distorting the facts."]

Reports Defenses Erected

The official Chinese Central news agency said today that 3,000 troops of "a certain nation" were erecting defenses at Fuhsien (Wafangtien), 55 miles north of Dairen on the Dairen-Mukden railway.

The papers Shih Chieh Jih Pao and Hsin Min Pao said these troops were Russians. There was no explanation of why they might have advanced after sticking closely in Dairen for a year and a half.

Whatever the nature of Wedemeyer's fact-finding mission, any change in American policy towards China was unlikely for at least two months. The mission was announced as a six-weeks affair, and two weeks is a fair estimate of the time for traveling.

Predict Purge Demand

Foreign quarters in China were convinced that any American help to Nanking resulting from the mission would be conditioned upon a real purge of corrupt and reactionary elements in the Government and possibly easing of some of the present trade restrictions.

[There was no fresh civil war news from the Government side, but the Communist radio in North Shensi province reported that Communist forces had captured Tigtao in western Shantung, Luyi in Honan and Pohsien in Anhwei.

[The broadcast located these towns as being east and southeast of the railway junction of Kaifeng. Of possibly more significance, however, is the act they are respectively 100, 80 and 90 miles northwest, west and southwest of Suchow, principal Government base and military headquarters for that entire north-central area.]

TIBET LEADER PUT TO DEATH

Paper Reports Former Regent Slain For Alleged Plot

Shanghai, July 12 (AP)—The independent newspaper Ta Kung Pao said today that Jecheng, pro-Chinese former regent of Tibet, had been blinded and then killed by poison on charges of plotting to overthrow the present regent at Lhasa.

The newspaper's dispatch—datelined from Yaan, in the western province of Sikang, adjoining Tibet —throws some light on the obscure occurrences in that Lama-ruled country. First vague accounts reached the outer world in mid-June.

A spokesman for the Chinese Government — which has a loose nominal authority over Tibet—told correspondents in Nanking, June 14, that order had been restored after an outbreak of fighting between lamas in revolt against China and nonmonastic elements loyal to China.

Gives Different Version

The Ta Kung Pao dispatch gives an entirely different version.

It said thepro-Chinese Jecheng—abbot of the Sala monastery—was arrested in mid-April on charges of plotting against the present regent, who rules on behalf of the minor Dalai Lama.

"Early in May," it said, "his eyes were gouged out, and a few days ago he was poisoned to death," despite appeals from Nanking to the Tibetan regime to insure his safety.

Other leaders of the plot, it said, "we're punished in accordance with a unaminous decision reached at a mass meeting of Tibetan priests and the populace."

The New Delhi Statesman reported June 19 that this punishment was 250 lashes and life imprisonment in chains, but the regent, a priest named Da[illegible] had "commuted" the sentences to blinding by eye-gouging—a favored Tibetan punishment.

Called Object Of Envy

Ta Kung Pao described Jecheng as having been an object of the "envy and attention of pro-British elements."

[This is a possible clue to origins of the affair, as the modern history of Tibet is one of rivalry between Chinese and British influences, with neither managing to exercise much control over that isolated, priest-ridden region.]

The paper said that Jecheng also had made many enemies by eye-gouging and executions when he was regent.

It concluded that although the situation was quiet at present, "manifold dangers are lurking in that province which may lead to fresh outbreaks."

'Huk' Chief's Capture Near in Luzon

Manila, July 12 (A. P.).—The Filipino Military Police Command reported today that Luis M. Taruc, elusive leader of the anti-administration Hukbalahap, was surrounded in the Candabas swamp north of Manila "and his capture is expected momentarily."

Taruc has been sought since last fall, when negotiations for disarmament of his Central Luzon peasant followers broke down. The peasants have been demanding reforms aimed at large land holders.

Argentina Signs Pact To Buy Chilean Nitrate

BUENOS AIRES, July 12 (AP).—Argentina today signed an agreement with Chile to purchase a large quantity of nitrate from the country. In return, Chile guaranteed to supply Argentina's needs, and Argentina will abandon plans to construct factories for the manufacture of synthetic nitrates

The two countries, in another agreement, pledged themselves to recognize the other's rights in the Antarctic region, take common action in material explorations in the south polar regions and conduct studies with a view to reaching a boundary treaty. The brief statement did not mention claims of other countries.

The nitrate pact was signed shortly before Chilean President Gonzalez Videla was scheduled to end his official visit.

Fugitive U.S. Chutist Captured In Canada

Windsor, Ont., July 12 (AP)—Ontario provincial police said today they had recaptured a man they identified as Elmer Robinson, 21, United States paratrooper, who they said escaped from an immigration detention room several hours earlier by squeezing through iron bars and jumping 18 feet to the street.

He is being held in Windsor jail pending arrival of United States Army officials.

Robinson was reported a.w.o.l. from Fort Bragg, N.C., police said.

Last night while being escorted by Sergt. R. J. Tate through Detroit, he robbed the sergeant of his automatic and $90, police added.

Immigration authorities said Robinson was stopped at the bridge when he tried to cross to Windsor in a taxi.

BYRD ECONOMY GROUP NEARING END OF FUNDS

Six Billions Saved By Its Recommended Cuts, Says Senator

Washington, July 12 (AP)—The Byrd Economy Committee is getting down to its last few thousand dollars after recommending savings amounting to billions.

Senator Byrd (D., Va.), who has headed the committee since its organization in 1941, said in an interview approximately $6,000,000,000 have been saved in governmental expenditures through cuts recommended by the group.

The committee itself, he added, has been operating "economically" at an "average cost of only $18,000 a year. This figures out about $17.50 per million dollars saved."

No More Funds Requested

The committee is now running on what is left of a $7,500 appropriation for finishing out the fiscal year ended June 30. No request is pending for additional funds, and the committee is now preparing what may be its last report.

Byrd, who has the unique position of being the only Democratic chairman in a Republican-controlled Congress, said he asked Senate Republican leaders last December to appoint another chairman. His resignation, however, was never accepted.

The committee staff, working with an average of about four employés, has aided in turning out 24 committee reports and 40 monthly summaries of changes in governmental personnel.

Ceiling On Personnel

One of the largest savings recommended by the committee came in the form of a ceiling on personnel. A reduction in personnel in the fiscal year 1946 saved approximately $2,000,000,000.

This week Byrd fought on the Senate floor against what he termed an attempt to breach that ceiling. He said amendments to the War Department appropriation bill would add "25,000 certainly, and perhaps 30,000 or 40,000 civilian employés to the War Department."

Byrd told the Senate that the personnel ceiling has resulted "in a large reduction in the civilian personnel of the various departments."

2 ARRESTED IN LOSS OF ATOM DATA

JUL 1947

FBI Identifies Former Sergeants—No 'Foreign Connections' Found

Washington, July 12 (AP)—FBI agents late today arrested two former army sergeants accused of taking atomic-bomb documents—some of them said to be "top secret"—from the Los Alamos (N.M.) testing station.

The FBI, making the announcement, told of recovering the documents and photographs of "the various phases" of the A-bomb from a variety of places—student's room at Princeton University, a wall safe in Pennsylvania and a photography studio in Chicago.

The two men were identified as:

Alexander von der Luft, 23, arrested at his home in Mount Labanon, Pa.

Ernest D. Wallis, 34, of Chicago. He was arrested at his Paul Stone Raymor Studio in Chicago.

While FBI agents reserved comment on this phase, informed Government officials said no evidence was uncovered that any of the documents were seen by anyone besides the two former sergeants.

Lou Nichols, FBI public relations officer, said information uncovered by investigators "indicated no connection between these boys and foreign agents or foreign espionage."

No "Foreign Connections"

He said the FBI agents ascertained this in a preliminary inquiry, before the two former army men were interviewed directly.

After it was established to the satisfaction of the agents that there were no "foreign connections," Nichols said, the men were questioned directly and the searches disclosing the notes, files and photographs were made.

In Santa Fe, N.M., United States Commissioner Albert Gonzales said complaints were filed before him this afternoon charging Von der Luft and Wallis with wilfully and unlawfully removing and concealing records and documents in violation of Section 234, Title 18, United States Criminal Code.

Penalties Provided

This section covers removal and concealment of classified documents.

The offense, upon conviction, carries a penalty of a fine of not more than $2,000 or not more than three years' imprisonment, or both.

Von der Luft will be arraigned before the United States commissioner at Pittsburgh, the FBI said, while Wallis will be arraigned before the United States commissioner at Chicago.

The FBI explained that no charge could be filed under the Atomic Energy Act since "the offenses occurred prior to its enactment."

The Justice Department said the two former army men were taken in custody at the direction of Attorney General Tom C. Clark.

Hoover Statement On Case

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, said in a statement that "on the evening of April 30, 1947, the FBI learned that certain documents of an extremely confidential nature were missing from the files of the Los Alamos installation.

"An immediate investigation was inaugurated which revealed that von der Luft, 23, who enlisted in the Army in April, 1943, was discharged therefrom on March 9, 1946, after having been assigned to the Manhattan Engineer District and detailed to the Los Alamos project.

"After his discharge, von der Luft resumed his studies at Princeton University, where he was located and interviewed."

200 Pages Of Notes

Hoover said a search of von der Luft's room at the university resulted "in the recovery of approximately 200 pages of handwritten notes and other documents marked 'secret' pertaining to the atomic bomb."

"In addition," Hoover continued, "a folder was located in the family vault at Mount Lebanon containing confidential and highly restricted data pertaining to the development and construction of the atomic bomb.

"These documents, which von der Luft secured while assigned to the Manhattan Engineer District by the Army prior to his discharge on March 9, 1946, were all recovered and promptly delivered by FBI agents to the Atomic Energy Commission."

Second Instance Disclosed

Hoover said that in connection with the investigation of Von der Luft, "it was further disclosed that Ernest D. Wallis, who was assigned by the Army in November, 1944, to the Los Alamos installation as an official army photographer, might be in possession of restricted data."

The FBI chief said Wallis was interviewed and that "some 200 photographs and negatives were located and seized" in his studio.

Hoover said these pictures "showed the various phases of the atomic bomb and the test explosion and were promptly turned over to the Atomic Energy Commission where atomic experts found that numerous of the photographs and negatives were classified as 'top secret.'"

Hoover pointed out that at the time the restricted data was "unlawfully taken by Von der Luft and Wallis, the Atomic Energy Commission was not yet in existence and the FBI had no responsibility for the security of the data which was under the sole and exclusive jurisdiction of the Manhattan Engineer District."

The Manhattan Engineer District, before the Atomic Energy Commission took over at the first of this year, was under the control of the War Department.

Hoover said the FBI investigation "disclosed no connection between the two men arrested and in fact they did not know each other."

Called "Souvenir Hunters"

Senator Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) first disclosed disappearance of "important and classified" files from Los Alamos in a speech to the Senate Wednesday.

The Iowa Senator, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, described the two former army sergeants as "souvenir hunters" and said the FBI was satisfied that the files had not been seen by any outside person and that there was "no effective breach of security."

Informed officials confirmed that Hickenlooper was right, that the FBI uncovered no evidence that the information was seen by any one else.

Asked about this, however, Lou Nichols, FBI public-relations officer, said the agency could not comment on evidence that would be presented in court.

Truman Withdraws Biddle's Nomination, Ending Deadlock

Washington, July 12 (AP)—President Truman today broke a five-month deadlock over his nomination of Francis Biddle to be United States representative on the United Nations Economic and Social Council by withdrawing the appointment at Biddle's request.

Biddle, former attorney general under President Roosevelt, accused Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of bottling up the nomination since January 29. Biddle preferred a showdown, he said, but there was no chance of action before Congress adjourns.

He asked that another appointment be made since the Council already had held one meeting without American representation in March and another is scheduled for next Saturday.

Nominates Thorp

The President complied by nominating Willard L. Thorp, of Westport, Conn., now Assistant Secretary of State for Economic Affairs. He will serve in both jobs concurrently without added compensation if confirmed to the new post.

Thorp, a native of Oswego, N.Y., is 48. He held several high economic posts in the Government after serving as an economics teacher at the University of Michigan and Amherst. He was director of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce for the first three years of the New Deal.

Republican opposition to Biddle, a member of a prominent Philadelphia family, is reported to have stemmed from his "New Deal" viewpoint. Some GOP members of Vandenberg's committee expressed the view last May that such a viewpoint should not be carried to the United Nations Council.

Showdown Is Demanded

Biddle was called before the committee last May when Democratic members, said they would demand a showdown with the Republican majority on the appointment. Vandenberg at the time would not say why it was being held up. He said only that the "usual flow of complaints" had been received against the nomination, but none of sufficient force to require calling of witnesses.

Democratic members at that time reported Vandenberg had placed an informal freeze order on the nomination.

In a letter to the President dated June 30, Biddle said: "It would appear that Senator Vandenberg has no intention of allowing my name to go to the Senate to be voted on for confirmation or rejection. I believe that no action will be taken by the committee before Congress adjourns, presumably in about a month. I am therefore asking you to withdraw my name from the Senate."

Representation Imperative

He said if his name was not withdrawn the United States for the second time would not be represented on the Council. It is imperative it should be, he added, particularly in view of the meeting of Foreign Ministers in Paris and the "importance of having the Council function fully in the economic crisis."

The President replied under today's date that he was acceding to Biddle's request with "great reluctance." He added the withdrawal "indicates no lessening of my belief that you are highly qualified for the position in question."

Vandenberg said he had no comment on withdrawal of Biddle's nomination, but he called Thorp's nomination "an excellent one."

He said the choice is excellent "because the assignment calls for a seasoned economist with wide experience in Government and international relations."

TURKISH AID PACT FORMALLY SIGNED

See ANKARA story

30-24-10889

Washington, July 12 (A. P.).—The United States and Turkey signed today a formal agreement under which approximately $100,000,000 of American assistance will be supplied to "strengthen the security forces which Turkey requires for the protection of her freedom."

Announcement of the signing at Ankara after a month and a half of negotiation was made here by the State Department.

This is the second agreement signed under the Greek-Turkish $400,000,000 aid program which Congress authorized in May. The Greek agreement for $300,000,000 of economic and military assistance was the other.

The agreement with Turkey provides for full publicity on the American assistance both inside and outside the country to the extent that this is consistent with the security of the United States and Turkey.

U. N. Site Accord Voted By Committee in Senate

WASHINGTON, July 12. (AP) The Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously recommended today that the President be authorized to sign an agreement with the United Nations covering actual operation of the U. N. headquarters within New York City.

The authorizing resolution was sent on for action by the Senate where it is on the must list of Republican leaders. The House also must approve.

Under the agreement the usual diplomatic immunities and privileges will be provided for all official U. N. delegates and staffs both inside the six block U. N. area and in transit to it. Service by utilities and fire and police protection also will be provided, with the U. N. to reimburse proper authorities for these costs.

CAPITOL FIGHT SEEN ON ATOMIC FUND USE

WASHINGTON, July 12 — (AP) A congressional argument loomed today over how much of Atomic Energy commission may spend in the battle against cancer.

Senator Reed (R-Kan), floor manager for the bill carrying atomic energy funds, said he is today over how much the Atomic confident that the Senate will accept a $5,000,000 limit on cancer outlays—$20,000,000 less than the amount earmarked by the House.

Reed pointed out that Chairman David Lilienthal and L. L. Strauss of the commission believe radioactive isotopes may prove an effective weapon in cancer control "but also believe that $5,000,000 is a reasonable sum for these purposes during the next year".

The argument over the amount of atomic funds to be spent on cancer is part of a Senate-House dispute over total funds for the agency.

Former Captain Durant Seeks Prison Release

Charleston, W.Va., July 12 (AP)—Kathleen Nash Durant, former WAC captain, Monday will try to obtain release from the Federal Women's Reformatory at Alderson, W.Va., where she is serving a five-year sentence for theft of the Hesse crown jewels.

Her petition for a writ of habeas corpus charges the Army used "third degree methods" in "extorting" a confession from her. The case comes up before Judge Ben Moore in United States District Court.

The 43-year-old former Arizona hotel manager, originally from Hudson, Wis., contends she already had been discharged and was not subject to the action of an Army court-martial which last fall convicted her of helping to remove the $10,000,000 jewel cache from Kronberg Castle at Frankfurt, Germany. She was in charge of an officers' club there.

HOOVER URGES U. S. TO CONSERVE FOOD

JUL 1947

Calls for Voluntary Rationing to Insure Adequate Supplies for World.

PIOCHE, Nev., July 12.—(AP) Former President Herbert Hoover today called for Americans to institute voluntary food conservation, "restrictions on abnormal feeding of wheat to animals, and some regulation of the processing trades" to insure adequate food supplies for the world next year.

In a statement issued here prior to his departure for his Palo Alto, Calif., home, Hoover warned that an adequate food supply, which he termed "the foundation of world recovery," must be assured by American action unless the world crop outlook improves in the next two months.

His statement read:

"Unless there is improvement during the next 60 days in crop prospects over the report issued

Wednesday by the Department of Agriculture, there will need to be systematic food conservation in America if we are to meet the barest food necessities of the world during the next year. And food supply for hungry people is the foundation of world recovery.

"These reports on our probable crops show that while we have about 7,500,000 tons more wheat than we did last year, we have over 22,000,000 tons less corn and coarse grains than we had last year, and because of the latter, we are likely to have less animal products for export. Moreover, in our magnificent effort to supply foreign nations during the past year, we irrefutably over-exported as is proved by the great rise in food prices and its consequent spiral of increased cost of living and wages.

"The foreign signs point also to little or no improvement in crops this year in western Europe, China, Japan or Korea. There are signs of improved crops, but there is not likely to be such substantial increases over those of last year as to effect materially the situation.

"The only way to replace less production and a loss of proportional exports in order to stabilize our internal economy is to reduce our consumption. If the situation does not improve, all countries outside the war - devastated areas should join in concerted measures.

"It does not mean rationing, for that has proved less successful in reducing consumption and eliminating waste than organized voluntary action by consumers, restrictions on abnormal feeding of wheat to animals, and some regulation of the processing trades."

Royall SeesWar Oil Need 8 Million Barrels a Day

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—Under Secretary of War Kenneth C. Royall said today that in the event of another war the United States might need as much as 8,000,000 barrels of oil daily—almost 3,000,000 barrels over this year's record rate of production.

Speaking on a nation-wide radio broadcast over the National Broadcasting Company network, he said that "there is a question whether the productive capacity of the United States could give us that much oil."

Secretary Royall estimated American war-time needs this way: World War II showed that the Army and Navy need at least 2,000,000 barrels of oil a day, but "future military needs may well increase that total to 4,000,000 barrels a day."

To this Mr. Royall added the 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 barrels daily, estimated as the country's minimum for civilian use in war time. Total: between 6,000,000 and 8,000,000 barrels.

He pointed out that oil cannot be stockpiled economically, and indicated that the War Department is depending on Middle Eastern oil production to make up the possible difference between United States production and war-time requirements.

Mr. Royall and Assistant Secretary of the Navy, W. John Kenney, who also spoke on the program, said the country's precautionary stockpiling program is running behind schedule and probably will not be completed until 1953.

V.F.W. Asserts Congress Curbs G.I. Home Buying

WASHINGTON, July 12 (UP).—The Veterans of Foreign Wars accused Congress tonight of making house-seeking veterans "victims of a secondary financial boycott."

Commander Louis E. Starr said that Congress had "limited the opportunities of veterans to purchase homes under liberal financial terms provided by the government." He denounced "new legislation denying the Reconstruction Finance Corporation authority to buy up G. I. loans from small bank and loan companies." This, he said, "means only that veterans are the victims of a secondary financial boycott."

"Our offices are swamped with complaints from banks and loan companies which are unable to carry all these loans to veterans for the purchase of homes," Mr. Starr said.

U. S. Cattlemen Send Gift to Channel Isles

Fond du Lac, Wis., July 12 (A. The money will be turned over on July 24. The island's annual cattle show.

Hill said about a third of the sum will go to the Island of Alderney, with the suggestion it be used to rehabilitate the only hospital there. Both Guernsey and Alderney were occupied by the Germans during the war.

HOUSE GROUP BACKS SERVICE MERGER BILL

Adds Provision Designed To Prevent Creation Of A 'Gestapo'

JUL 1947

Washington, July 12 (AP)—The bill to unify the Army, Navy and Air Force was approved today by a House subcommittee, after it added a provision its authors said was designed to prevent creation of a "Gestapo" within the armed services.

Chairman Hoffman (R., Mich.) said he will call together the full expenditures committee Monday in an effort to rush the measure to the floor. In slightly different form, it already has been approved by the Senate.

The measure would establish a National ecurity Council to keep the President posted on military matters and national security, and substitute for the Secretaries of War and Navy a single Secretary of National Security.

Sets Up Resources Board

Under the Secretary of National Security would serve three secretaries—without Cabinet rank—or War, Navy and Air.

The bill also would set up a National Security Resources Board to supervise resources and procurement of war material and to determine policies on industrial and civilian mobilization.

Under the National Security Council would be a central intelligence agency, heded by a director to be named by the President. It was with this provision that the subcommittee made its major changes in the Senate measure.

It wrote into the bill a requirement that the director of the intelligence office must be a civilian after the present director's term expires.

Would Bar A "Gestapo"

And it would prohibit the office from having police or internal security powers or subpoena powers.

Hoffman said that this is intended to prevent creation of a "Gestapo."

At the same time, the subcommittee wrote in a guarantee of the Marine Corps as a fighting outfit. It said there must be no change brought about by the unification which would result in the "alteration or diminution" of the corps.

Marine Corps officers had expressed fear that the proposed merger might reduce their units to "dress parade" outfits.

DISK HOAX LANDS BOYS IN TROUBLE

JUL 1947

Twin Falls, Idaho, July 12 (A. P.).—Four boys with imaginations that run to flying disks may or may not be laughing up their sleeves today after their version of a flying saucer had practically the entire local populace, the FBI, Army Intelligence officers and the police on the run.

The boys created and planted in a local yard yesterday an object that looked to them, as well as to the army and civilian officers, just like a flying disk should look. Their hoax was exposed after Assistant Police Chief L. D. McCracken was tipped that one of the boys knew somethig about the disk.

From parts of an old phonograph, burned out radio tubes and other discarded electrical parts, It had a plexi-glass dome, radio tubes, burned wires and glistening gold and silver sides.

---DASH---

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

BUDAPEST, JULY 12-(AP)-THE SECTION OF EUROPE UNDER THE SHADOW OF SOVIET RUSSIA'S BIG STICK LINED UP TODAY IN AN APPARENTLY RELUCTANT BOYCOTT OF THE PARIS CONFERENCE TO DRAFT ECONOMIC COOPERATION FOR THE ENTIRE CONTINENT.

RUSSIAN DIPLOMACY, WHICH CHARGED THAT THE CONFERENCE WOULD BRING NEW AMERICAN ENCROACHMENT ON EUROPE, LEFT ALLIED AND OCCUPIED COUNTRIES ALONG THE SOVIET FRONTIER WITH NO CHOICE BUT ABSTENTION.

NO MILITARILY ISOLATED NATION IN PROXIMITY TO THE SOVIET ARMY DARED TO RISK A STEP WHICH MOSCOW SAID WOULD BE POLITICALLY ANTAGONISTIC AS WELL AS ECONOMICALLY MENACING TO RUSSIA'S FUTURE. THE MEMORY OF THE SOVIET INCORPORATION OF THE BALTIC SEABOARD IN 1940, AND THE CARPATHO-UKRAINE IN 1945 IS STILL VIVID HERE.

THE FACT, HOWEVER, IS THAT THE APPARENT SOVIET POLICY OF RESISTANCE AT ALL COSTS TO AMERICAN INFLUENCE ON THIS CONTINENT HAS DISAPPOINTED EVEN SOME NATIVE COMMUNIST LEADERS IN BORDER STATES.

RUSSIA'S REQUIREMENTS FOR POSTWAR RECONSTRUCTION HAVE CAUSED A HEAVY DRAIN OF RESOURCES FROM SMALL NEIGHBORS AND THEIR MAJOR HOPE OF RELIEF HAS BEEN THE UNITED STATES.

THE PARIS CONFERENCE, ENVISAGING THE POOLING OF EUROPEAN SUPPLIES FOR THE COMMON BENEFIT OF THE CONTINENT AS WELL AS DRAWING UP A JOINT PROGRAM FOR AMERICAN AID, WAS AN ATTRACTIVE PROPOSITION ON THE FACE OF IT.

IF MOSCOW HAD NOT SHAKEN THE BIG STICK, ACCORDING TO MANY RELIABLE SOURCES IN EASTERN EUROPE, VIRTUALLY ALL ABSENT MINOR POWERS WOULD BE REPRESENTED IN PARIS TODAY EXCEPT YUGOSLAVIA.

"YUGOSLAVIA," A COMMUNIST OFFICIAL IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA REMARKED THIS WEEK, "SEEMS TO BE MORE RUSSIAN THAN THE RUSSIANS."

A112

IN THE LITTLE COUNTRIES EAST OF THE STETTIN-TRIESTE LINE THERE OBVIOUSLY IS STILL HOPE THAT WHAT WAS RAISED THIS WEEK WAS NOT AN ECONOMIC IRON CURTAIN; THAT THE WEST WILL NOT BE IMPATIENT TO WRITE OFF EASTERN EUROPE AND DENY A FUTURE CHANCE OF RESTORING NORMAL BUSINES INTERCOURSE.

RUSSIA HAS ASSUMED GERMANY'S FORMER DOMINANCE IN THIS AREA, BUT OBSERVERS ASSERT THAT ECONOMIC TOTALITARIANISM IN THE SOVIET SPHERE CAN BE MODIFIED PIECEMEAL IF THE WEST HAS PATIENCE.

AN ALMOST IDENTICAL POLITICAL PATTERN HAS BEEN SPONSORED BY RUSSIA IN EACH OF THE BORDER STATES--A COALITION GOVERNMENT WITH NATIVE COMMUNISTS HAVING THE LEADING VOICE. NOWHERE ARE COMMUNISTS A MAJORITY OF THE PEOPLE. BUT BY GRASPING MOST OF THE REINS OF GOVERNMENT THEY HAVE MADE THEMSELVES RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR PEOPLE'S WELFARE.

IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA, POLAND AND HUNGARY -- TO NAME THE MOST STRATEGIC BORDER STATES -- COMMUNISTS SEEM AS KEENLY APPREHENSIVE AS NON-COMMUNISTS THAT DENOUNCEMENT OF ALL ECONOMIC TIES WITH THE

JUL 1947

WEST WOULD SINK THEIR STANDARD OF LIVING TO THE LEVEL OF IMPOVERISHED RUSSIA.

BOOMING CZECHOSLOVAKIA, FOR EXAMPLE, IS IN THE MIDST OF A COMMUNIST-FAVORED INDUSTRIAL TWO-YEAR PLAN WHICH AIMS AT RAISING THE LIVING STANDARD 10 PER CENT ABOVE THE PREWAR HIGH AND WHICH, TO SUCCEED, REQUIRES THAT 40 PER CENT OF NATIONAL IMPORTS COME FROM THE WEST.

POLAND IS YEARNING FOR CAPITAL EQUIPMENT WHICH RUSSIA CANNOT FURNISH NOW.

OCCUPIED HUNGARY IS PERSISTING IN DIFFICULT NEGOTIATIONS WITH MOSCOW DESIGNED TO REDUCE REPARATIONS PAYMENTS AND GIVE A MARGIN FOR WESTERN TRADE.

THUS THE UNDERLYING CURRENT OF FEELING AMONG SOVIET-DOMINATED COUNTRIES TODAY CAN BE SUMMED UP AS A PRAYERFUL WISH THAT A FAST AND HARD ECONOMIC HEGEMONY OF WESTERN EUROPE WILL NOT BE CREATED AT PAR H

THEY WANT A DOOR TO THE WEST LEFT OPEN.

BELGRADE,JULY 12-(AP)-BORIVOJE PANTELICH, FORMER EMPLOYE OF A U.S. ARMY GRAVES REGISTRATION UNIT, WAS CONVICTED OF ESPIONAGE TODAY AND SENTENCED TO BE SHOT.

SIX OTHER DEFENDANTS TRIED WITH HIM WERE SENTENCED TO FROM EIGHT MONTHS TO 16 YEARS AT FORCED LABOR.

PANTELICH WAS CHARGED WITH ORGANIZING CONTACT WITH REMNANTS OF CHETNIK BANDS IN YUGOSLAVIA FOR THE AMERICAN OFFICERS OF THE GRAVES REGISTRATION UNIT, NONE OF WHOM NOW IS IN THE COUNTRY.

THE PROSECUTION ASSERTED THAT IN MAY, 1946, PANTELICH WAS GIVEN GRENADES, A REVOLVER AND MACHINEGUN AMMUNITION WHICH HE TURNED OVER TO THE CHETNIKS. IT ALSO CLAIMED PANTELICH AND HIS FELLOW-DEFENDANTS GATHERED INFORMATION ON THE CHETNIKS AND ARRANGED MEETINGS BETWEEN THEM AND THE AMERICAN OFFICERS.

THE CHETNIKS, ORIGINALLY AN ORGANIZATION OF RESISTANCE TO THE GERMANS, LATER BECAME THE RIVALS AND FOES OF THE YUGOSLAV UNDERGROUND LED BY MARSHAL TITO AND SINCE ESTABLISHMENT OF TITO'S GOVERNMENT HAVE BEEN PROSECUTED AS COLLABORATORS WITH THE NAZIS.

the Sudan's future status.

British officials said they would show that the question of the removal of British troops from Egypt and the Sudan has already been settled by free agreement between the two governments.

The British claim that they have withdrawn their wartime forces from Egyptian cities--mainly Cairo and Alexandria--and now are down to the 1936 treaty limit of 10,000 troops and 400 pilots plus auxiliary personnel to safeguard the suez canal zone, which is sovereign egyptian territory.

JUL 1947

The officials said the British government would charge that the Egyptian demand for withdrawal of troops is a "red herring" to obscure the real issue--the rights and freedom of the Sudanese people.

The British insist that in negotiations last year the treaty failed to secure Egyptian approval only because the Egyptian government insisted that one phase in the protocol on the sudan should mean that the sudanese could never choose to be independent of the Egyptian crown.

THE NEW CABINET OF PREMIER AMIR SJARIFOEDDIN, PLEDGED TO CARRY OUT A "POLICY OF PEACE," HAS AGREED TO ALL THE DUTCH PROPOSALS SAVE THE JOINT GENDARMIE AND PRESIDENT SOEKARNO HAS ANNOUNCED THE REPUBLIC WILL NEVER ACCEPT IT.

BOTH SIDES HAVE GOOD REASONS FOR MAINTAINING THEIR POSITIONS.

THE DUTCH SAY AMERICAN AND BRITISH PROPERTY HOLDERS ARE PROTESTING THAT THEY ARE UNWILLING TO RETURN TO THE INTERIOR UNLESS THE DUTCH POLICE ARE ON HAND TO GUARANTEE THEIR SAFETY. THE DUTCH FEEL THAT UNLESS THE JOINT GENDARMERIE IS ACCEPTED NORMAL PRODUCTION CANNOT BE RESUMED AND THE ENTIRE DUTCH-INDONESIAN AGREEMENT WOULD BE MEANINGLESS.

THE INDONESIAN VIEWPOINT, AS OUTLINED BY A CABINET MEMBER WAS THIS:

1. THE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT HAS PLEDGED ITS EXISTENCE AND THE HONOR OXITHE INDONESIAN PEOPLE UPON ITS ABILITY TO FULLY SAFEGUARD FOREIGNERS AND ASSURE NORMAL PRODUCTION, AND HAS OFFERED TO CREATE A SPECIAL POLICE UNIT AS A DOUBLE SAFEGUARD IN ANY QUESTIONABLE AREAS.

2. DESPITE THE APPARENTLY SINCERE DUTCH DECLARATION THAT SUCH WAS NOT THEIR PURPOSE, THE INDONESIAN PEOPLE WOULD REGARD THE APPEARANCE OF FOREIGNERS UNDER THE PROTECTION OF THE GUNS OF DUTCH POLICEMEN AS FORCIBLE REIMPOSITION OF PREWAR COLONIAL CONDITIONS. THE IMMEDIATE DOWNFALL OF ANY INDONESIAN CABINET WOULD FOLLOW AND THUS A JOINT GENDARMERIE CAN NEVER BE ACCEPTED BY THIS OR ANY OTHER CABINET.

3. THE REAPPEARANCE OF THE ARMED DUTCH WOULD PROBABLY CAUSE A POPULAR UPRISING, WHICH THE REPUBLICAN WOULD BE UNABLE TO CONTROL, OHUS NULLIFYING THE DUTCH DESIRE FOR LAW AND ORDER AND RAISING THE THREAT THAT EXTREMIST ELEMENTS WOULD TAKE OVER THE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT. THAT WOULD GIVE THE DUTCH AN EXCUSE FOR MILITARY INTERVENTION WHICH WOULD MEAN THE END OF THE REPUBLIC.

JUL 1947

B11 (Q)

THE INDONESIANS FEEL THE DUTCH SHOULD GIVE WAY ON THIS FINAL POINT, SINCE THE INDONESIANS HAVE YIELDED ON ALL OTHER POINTS. THE INDONESIANS BELIEVE IF THE ISSUE CANNOT BE SOLVED A THIRD PARTY SHOULD BE CALLED IN TO MAKE A JUDICIAL DECISION AGREEABLE TO BOTH SIDES. THE DUTCH HAVE STATED THEY DO NOT WISH A THIRD PARTY TO BE CALLED INTO A MATTER THEY CONSIDER AN INTERNAL AFFAIR.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., JULY 12-(AP)-BRITAIN STOOD ACCUSED BY EGYPT BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS TODAY OF ENDANGERING INTERNATIONAL PEACE BY KEEPING TROOPS ON EGYPTIAN SOIL.

THIS ACCUSATION WAS CONTAINED IN A COMPLAINT MADE PUBLIC LATE YESTERDAY AFTER IT WAS FILED WITH THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL HERE. THE COMPLAINT ASKED THE COUNCIL TO ORDER IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL OF BRITISH FORCES FROM EGYPT.

THE SECURITY COUNCIL, WHICH HAS BEEN CONSIDERING THE BALKAN BORDER DISPUTE, ADJOURNED YESTERDAY UNTIL NEXT TUESDAY.

"THE PRESENCE OF FOREIGN TROOPS WITHIN THE TERRITORY OF A MEMBER OF THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION, IN TIME OF PEACE AND WITHOUT ITS FREE CONSENT," THE COMPLAINT SAID, "CONSTITUTES AN OFFENSE AGAINST ITS DIGNITY, A HINDRANCE TO ITS NORMAL DEVELOPMENT, AS WELL AS AN INFRINGEMENT OF THE FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLE OF SOVEREIGN EQUALITY."

THE PAPER ALSO CHARGED THE BRITISH WITH PURSUING "A POLICY DESIGNED TO SEVER THE SUDAN FROM EGYPT" AND STIRRING UP DISSENSION IN THE SUDAN AND DEMANDED THAT THE BRITISH RULE IN THAT AREA BE TERMINATED.

THE EGYPTIANS SAID THAT IN MAINTAINING TROOPS IN EGYPT UNDER THE 1936 BRITISH-EGYPTIAN TREATY, BRITAIN WAS TAKING ADVANTAGE OF A PACT WHICH EGYPT NO LONGER CONSIDERED BINDING BECAUSE IT WAS "INCONSISTENT WITH THE (U.N.) CHARTER."

NEITHER EGYPTIAN NOR BRITISH SOURCES WOULD ESTIMATE HOW MANY BRITISH SOLDIERS STILL WERE IN EGYPTIAN TERRITORY.

BRITISH OFFICIAL QUARTERS IN LONDON SAID BRITAIN STILL CONSIDERED EGYPT BOUND BY THE ANGLO-EGYPTIAN TREATY OF 1936, EVEN THOUGH EGYPT DOES NOT. IN THE BRITISH VIEW, THE TREATY STILL HAS UNTIL 1956 TO RUN.

JUL 1947

FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN'S PREVIOUSLY EXPRESSED BELIEF THE TREATY STILL HELD.

BEVIN'S POSITION, AS OUTLINED TO THE LABOR PARTY CONFERENCE LAST MAY, WAS "IF YOU ENTER INTO A TREATY WHICH IMPOSES OBLIGATIONS ON BOTH PARTIES AND THAT TREATY IS SOLEMNLY AND FREELY ARRIVED AT AND HONORABLY HONORED, IT CANNOT BE DENOUNCED."

THE EGYPTIANS OFFERED THEIR RAW COTTON WHICH THEY SAY IS ON THE AVERAGE OF BETTER QUALITY THAN AMERICAN AT SIMILAR OR IN SOME CASES LOWER PRICES. THEY SAID THEY WERE TOLD BY HEADQUARTERS OFFICIALS THAT JAPAN COULD USE LITTLE MORE THAN 5,000 BALES AND THAT IF THIS AMOUNT OF EGYPTIAN COTTON WERE IMPORTED, THERE WOULD BE LITTLE ELSE EXCEPT COTTON TEXTILES WHICH THE EGYPTIANS COULD OBTAIN IN RETURN.

THE EGYPTIAN DELEGATES ARE DEFINITELY PESSIMISTIC ABOUT THEIR COUNTRY'S CHANCES OF PRIVATE TRADE WITH JAPAN, WHICH HAS BEEN AUTHORIZED TO RESUME FOREIGN COMMERCE AUG. 15.

THEY FEEL THE JAPANESE HAVE NEITHER THE MANUFACTURING CAPACITY NOR THE RAW MATERIALS TO PRODUCE IN QUANTITY, AND THAT HEADQUARTERS HAS PRICED TOO HIGHLY THOSE ARTICLES WHICH WILL BE AVAILABLE TO FOREIGN BUYERS.

ONE WAS CHOCOLATE-COLORED MESENIBIK SANICHI, WHO SEEMED TO TAKE PARTICULAR DELIGHT IN WALKING AMONG THE DEFENDANTS AND POINTING THE FINGER ON HIS FORMER MASTERS. HE SAID HE CROUCHED BEHIND A COCOANUT TREE AND WATCHED THE JAPANESE NAVY MEN STAB TWO AMERICANS TRUSSED TO A CROSS BEAM.

"THE JAPANESE HUNG THEM A FOOT FROM THE GROUND, THEN 12 SAILORS RAN AT THEM WITH BAYONETS AND SPEARS AND KILLED THEM," SANICHI SAID.

HE TESTIFIED HE WAS ORDERED TO BURY THE BODIES OF FOUR AMERICANS KILLED IN MEDICAL EXPERIMENTS TO TEST THE EFFECTS OF STREPTOCOCCUS BACTERIA WHICH PRODUCED SEPTICEMIA.

SANICHI SAID "THEIR BODIES WERE WHITE AND THEIR BELLIES WERE SPLIT OPEN." PREVIOUS TESTIMONY ACCUSED THE PRINCIPAL DEFENDANT, NAVY CAPTAIN HIROSHI IWANAMI, TRUK HOSPITAL COMMANDANT, AND OTHER JAPANESE OF DISSECTING THE BODIES AND REMOVING THE ORGANS FOR STUDY.

SANICHI WAS PRECEDED ON THE STAND BY TWO TRUK WOMEN DRESSED IN FLOUR SACKING AND SO UNACCUSTOMED TO WEARING SHOES THAT THEY ALMOST FELL DOWN THE STEPS LEAVING THE WITNESS BOX.

BOSTON, JULY 12-(AP)-A WORLD-WIDE MOVE TO ENLIST "MIDDLE OF THE ROAD PEOPLE" IN THE INTERESTS OF PEACE WAS MADE PUBLIC TODAY BY PROFESSOR KIRTLEY F.MATHER OF HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

MATHER LEAVES TONIGHT FOR EUROPE WHERE HE PLANS TO CONFER WITH SOCIAL LEADERS IN EFFORTS TO GET THEIR CO-OPERATION IN THE MOVEMENT. HE WILL ACT IN HIS CAPACITY AS CHAIRMAN OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE WORLD BROTHERHOOD MOBILIZATION FOR THE EMERGENCY WORLD PEOPLE'S CONGRESS.

THE ORGANIZATION IS MADE UP OF SEVERAL SOCIAL, CHURCH AND LABOR GROUPS IN THIS COUNTRY. AMONG THEM ARE THE AMALGAMATED CLOTHING WORKERS OF AMERICA, AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FOR ADULT EDUCATION, AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FOR HEALTH, PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND RECREATION AND THE NATIONAL WOMEN'S LEAGUE OF THE UNITED SYNAGOGUE.

SPEAKING AT A NEWS CONFERENCE YESTERDAY, PROFESSOR MATHER EXPRESSED A HOPE THAT, BY GETTING SUPPORT FROM INFLUENTIAL PERSONS IN ALL COUNTRIES, THE CONGRESS CAN BRING ABOUT PERMANENT PEACE IN THE WORLD.

"WE ARE NOT PROMISING ANYTHING," HE ASSERTED, "BUT WE DO FEEL THAT IF WE CAN GET THE MIDDLE OF THE ROAD PEOPLE--NOT THE RIGHTS NOR THE LEFTS--BEHIND US, WE CAN MAKE A PERMANENT PEACE. IF THE MIDDLE OF THE ROAD PEOPLE CAN'T TAKE COMMAND, WE ARE DOOMED."

DR.MATHER SAID HE WOULD VISIT NORWAY, SWEDEN, DENMARK, ENGLAND, SCOTLAND, AND PROBABLY RUSSIA DURING THE COMING SEVEN WEEKS.

HE SAID THE CONGRESS' PLAN WAS TO GET SUPPORT FROM EVEN A FEW INFLUENTIAL PEOPLE IN THE VARIOUS COUNTRIES AND THEN ENTRUST THEM WITH THE TASK OF FORMING LARGER GROUPS. THE CONGRESS WILL THEN HOLD A WORLD CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK IN OCTOBER.

WASHINGTON, JULY 12-(AP)-SOVIET RUSSIA, WITH ITS ONCE GREAT VETO POWER IN WORLD AFFAIRS MUCH CURTAILED, IS PLAYING A LOSING GAME IN TRYING TO SPLIT EUROPE AND WRECK THE MARSHALL PLAN FOR EUROPEAN RECOVERY, AMERICAN OFFICIALS SAID TODAY.

JUL 1947

THE PLAN WILL GO THROUGH TO THE FULLEST EXTENT POSSIBLE WITHOUT THEM AND IN SPITE OF THREATS AND PROTESTS, IT WAS SAID HERE. THERE IS CONSIDERABLE SPECULATION EVEN THAT IN THE LONG RUN THEY WILL BE UNABLE TO HOLD THEIR OWN EASTERN BLOC COUNTRIES IN LINE.

"THE RUSSIANS APPEAR TO HAVE WON AN EMPTY VICTORY," SAID ONE OFFICIAL.

SURPRISING NEW EVIDENCE THAT THE SOVIETS THEMSELVES AS WELL AS THEIR SATELLITE GOVERNMENTS MAY BE BEGINNING TO REALIZE THIS WAS SEEN TODAY IN AN EXTRAORDINARY OUTBURST OF REPORTS THAT RUSSIAN BLOC COUNTRIES WOULD LIKE TO SHARE IN AMERICAN ASSISTANCE TO EUROPE DESPITE THEIR BOYCOTT OF THE MARSHALL PLAN MEETING AT PARIS.

THIS SUDDEN AND PERHAPS VERY SIGNIFICANT TURN OF EVENTS FOUND AMERICAN OFFICIALS PRIVATELY EMPHASIZING WHAT SECRETARY MARSHALL IS REPORTED TO HAVE TOLD THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE'S SECRET SESSION YESTERDAY:

AS A MATTER OF POLICY THE UNITED STATES DOES NOT YET ADMIT A SPLIT EUROPE, IS WORKING WITH A VERY VLUID SITUATION IN RELATION TO RUSSIA AT THE MOMENT AND HAS A WAIT AND SEE ATTITUDE TOWARD THE PARIS CONFERENCE AND THE WHOLE EUROPEAN RECOVERY PICTURE.

HOWEVER, SEVERAL OTHER POINTS DESCRIBING STATE DEPARTMENT VIEW TOWARD THE CURRENT CRITICAL ISSUES CAN BE ADDED ON EXCELLENT AUTHORITY:

1. THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT IS DETERMINED TO SUPPORT TO THE LIMIT ANY REASONABLE PLAN FOR EUROPEAN RECOVERY WORKED OUT AT PARIS AND NO AMOUNT OF RUSSIAN OPPOSITION WILL CHANGE THIS. RUSSIA NO LONGER HAS THE VETO SHE ONCE HAD BY VIRTUE OF AN ANGLO-AMERICAN CONVICTION THAT GREAT POWER UNITY WAS MORE IMPORTANT THAN ANYTHING ELSE.

2. THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT DOES NOT NOW DESIRE TO FORCE A SHOWDOWN WITH RUSSIA ALL ALONG THE LINE OF POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC RELATIONS AND IN THE UNITED NATIONS--WHERE, OF COURSE, RUSSIA'S VETO IS STILL GOOD. BUT IT WILL MEET ANY CHALLENGE THE SOVIETS FORCE. THUS IN GERMANY IT IS PRESSING ECONOMIC REVIVAL JOINTLY WITH THE BRITISH AND INSPITE OF MAJOR SOVIET DISAGREEMENTS ON THIS POINT.

3. THERE ARE SOME RUSSO-AMERICAN ISSUES THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT WILL PRESS IN ALL PROBABILITY. AMONG THEM ARE POLITICAL CONDITIONS IN HUNGARY AND PERHAPS THROUGHOUT THE BALKANS DUE TO RUSSIAN DOMINATION. THIS PROBABLY WILL BE ONE OF THE GREAT CONTROVERSIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY MEETING AT NEW YORK IN SEPTEMBER.

4. THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT IS UNWILLING AT THIS TIME TO CLOSE ANY AVENUE OF COOPERATION BETWEEN EASTERN AND WESTERN EUROPE. IT DOES NOT RECOGNIZE FIXED EASTERN AND WESTERN BLOCS. IF THE EASTERN COUNTRIES CAN FIGURE OUT SOME WAY TO COOPERATE THEY MAY YET BENEFIT TO THE EXTENT OF ANY CONTRIBUTIONS THEY CAN MAKE TO OVERALL EUROPEAN TRADE AND ECONOMIC REVIVAL.

5. THE GREAT TEST WHICH IS INVOLVED IN THE PRESENT STRUGGLE OVER EUROPE IS A TEST (AS SEEN HERE) BETWEEN THE TOTAL POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC RESOURCES OF THE UNITED STATES AND THOSE OF RUSSIA, AMERICAN CAPITALISM AND DEMOCRACY AGAINST SOVIET COMMUNISM AND DICTATORSHIP. THIS TEST WILL GO ON FOR MANY YEARS AND EUROPEAN ECONOMIC RECOVERY IS ONE PHASE OF IT IN WHICH THE STAKES ARE VERY HIGH.

A17OWX

JUL 1947

AGAINST THE BACKGROUND OF THESE POLICY VIEWS. STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS STUDIED MOUNTING REPORTS FROM EASTERN EUROPE TODAY THAT POWERFUL FORCES ARE WORKING BELOW THE SURFACE THERE TO OVERCOME THE EFFECT OF THE KREMLIN'S EDICT THAT BARRED EIGHT RUSSIAN SATELLITE GOVERNMENTS FROM ATTENDANCE AT PARIS.

IN MOSCOW ITSELF TWO WRITERS ASSERTED IN PRAVDA, COMMUNIST PARTY PAPER, THAT "FOREIGN CREDITS ARE REQUIRED" TO FULFILL PLANNED ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENTS IN ALL COUNTRIES UNDER RUSSIA'S THUMB. THEY IMPLIED THAT RUSSIA COULD NOT FURNISH THE VOLUME OF CREDITS NEEDED, AND THAT AMERICA COULD, BUT SAID THE WOULD-BE BORROWERS WOULD PREFER TO DEAL DIRECTLY WITH AMERICA RATHER THAN THROUGH THE PARIS CONFERENCE COUNTRIES.

THIS WAS MORE OR LESS IN LINE WITH SENTIMENTS EXPRESSED BY VARIOUS SPOKESMEN IN SUCH SATELLITE CAPITALS AS HELSINKI AND WARSAW WHERE WILLINGNESS WAS EXPRESSED ON THE PART OF THE FINNS, POLES AND OTHERS TO COOPERATE IN A GENERAL WAY WITH EUROPEAN RECOVERY EFFORTS EVEN THOUGH NOT REPRESENTED AT PARIS.

BEHIND ALL THESE OFFERS OF COOPERATION, IT IS SAID HERE, IS THE FACT THAT ONLY OUT OF AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION CAN THE COUNTRIES OF EASTERN EUROPE, LIKE THOSE OF THE WEST, OBTAIN THE HELP THEY NEED TO RECOVER.

THE UNITED STATES PROBABLY WOULD BE WILLING UNDER SOME FUTURE ARRANGEMENT TO SUPPLY THIS HELP, BUT EMPHATICALLY NOT ON ANY TERMS LAID DOWN BY RUSSIA OR IN A MANNER TO TIGHTEN RUSSIAN CONTROL OVER ITS BLOC.

WASHINGTON, JULY 12-(AP)-FRANK P.SHEA, 38, WASHINGTON NEWSMAN AND GOVERNMENT INFORMATION OFFICIAL, WAS NAMED TODAY AS CHIEF OF THE PUBLIC RELATIONS DIVISION OF THE AMERICAN MISSION FOR AID TO GREECE.

HE IS SLATED TO ACCOMPANY DWIGHT GRISWOLD, MISSION CHIEF, TO ATHENS. THEY LEAVE BY PLANE AT 11:30 P.M. E.S.T. TOMORROW.

SHEA HAS BEEN IN NEWS WORK FOR 16 YEARS.

AFTER YEARS OF REGULAR REPORTING HE JOINED THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS IN 1941 AS A PUBLICATIONS EDITOR. HE LATER WENT WITH OWI AND HAD GOVERNMENT INFORMATION AND PSYCHOLOGICAL WARFARE EXPERIENCE IN THE MIDDLE EAST AND BALKANS DURING AND AFTER THE WAR.

HE HAS RECENTLY BEEN ON ASSIGNMENT IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT HERE.

PITTSBURGH,JULY 12-(AP)-THE FATHER OF ALEXANDER VON DER LUFT (CAP L SAID TONIGHT HE WAS "TERRIBLY SHOCKED" THAT HIS SON, HAD BEEN ARRESTED BY THE FBI ON CHARGES OF TAKING ATOMIC BOMB SECRETS.

"HOWEVER, WE THINK ALEXANDER IS INNOCENT--THAT HE ABSOLUTELY DIDN'T DO ANYTHING WRONG EXCEPT ENGAGE IN A LITTLE SOUVENIER HUNTING JUST LIKE A LOT OF OTHER SOLDIERS," OSCAR VON DER LUFT TOLD A REPORTER AT HIS NEARBY MT.LEBANON HOME. HE ADDED:

"MY WIFE AND I DIDN'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT THE CASE UNTIL THE AGENTS CAME TO OUR HOME TONIGHT AND TOOK ALEXANDER AWAY. WE'RE JUST TERRIBLY SHOCKED BY THE WHOLE THING."

AS VON DER LUFT TALKED OF HIS SON, MRS.VON DER LUFT STOOD

NEARBY SHAKING HER HEAD SORROWFULLY. SHE OFFERED NO COMMENT, BUT HER HUSBAND ADDED:

"I GUESS SHE'S TAKING IT ALMOST BETTER THAN I AM. THIS IS A TERRIBLE THING TO HAPPEN WHEN WE BOTH KNOW THAT ALEXANDER IS JUST AS INNOCENT OF ANY WRONGDOING AS ANY AMERICAN BOY WHO BROUGHT A SOUVENIER HOME FROM THE WAR."

JUL 1948

VON DER LUFT SAID THAT HE, HIS WIFE, ALEXANDER, AND TWO YOUNGER SONS HAD JUST RETURNED FROM A VACATION TRIP IN THE SOUTH.

"IT JUST IS TOO AWFULLY BAD THAT THIS HAD TO HAPPEN. WE WERE HAVING SUCH A GOOD TIME."

AS VON DER LUFT TALKED HIS TELEPHONE RANG ALMOST CONSTANTLY, MOST OF THE CALLS BEING FROM CLOSE FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS.

"WE LIVED IN THIS HOUSE FOR TWO YEARS," HE SAID RUEFULLY. "WE'VE ALWAYS TRIED TO BE GOOD PEOPLE."

VON DER LUFT SAID THAT HE WAS SEEKING TO CONTRACT COUNSEL FOR HIS BOY AND WOULD DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO AID HIM. HE DECLARED:

"HE'S A PRETTY YOUNG LAD AND, AS I SAID BEFORE, WE KNOW HE IS INNOCENT. WE'LL BACK HIM TO THE LIMIT." -H-

WASHINGTON, JULY 12-(AP)-INFLUENTIAL REPUBLICANS REPORTED TONIGHT THAT HERBERT HOOVER WILL BE APPOINTED A MEMBER AND "PROBABLY CHAIRMAN" OF A NON-PARTISAN COMMISSION CREATED BY CONGRESS TO MODERNIZE THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

THESE GOP CONGRESSMEN SAID THE FORMER PRESIDENT WILL BE NAMED BY HOUSE SPEAKER MARTIN (R-MASS), WHO ALSO WILL APPOINTED THREE OTHER MEMBERS OF THE 12-MEMBER GROUP.

MARTIN DECLINED TO COMMENT ON THE REPORT. HE TOLD A REPORTER THAT HE WOULD NOT DISCLOSE THE NAMES OF ANY APPOINTEES UNTIL HE MAKES ALL FOUR PUBLIC NEXT WEEK.

UNDER A RESOLUTION PASSED BY BOTH HOUSES, THE COMMISSION WAS AUTHORIZED TO MAKE A COMPLETE STUDY OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT BRANCHES AND AGENCIES AND RECOMMEND ANY CHANGES NECESSARY TO PROMOTE EFFICIENCY AND ECONOMY AND ELIMINATE OVERLAPPING OF FUNCTIONS. THE COMMISSION WOULD REPORT ITS RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE 81ST CONGRESS IN JANUARY, 1949.

IN ADDITION TO THE FOUR MEMBERS TO BE NAMED BY THE HOUSE SPEAKER, FOUR OTHERS ARE TO BE SELECTED BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE, AND A LIKE NUMBER BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN.

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., JULY 12-(AP)-ANTIOCH COLLEGE'S INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS NEARED ITS CLIMAX TODAY AND THOSE ATTENDING WERE TOLD THAT INDIA'S FOUR HYXXXX HUNDRED MILLION PEOPLE WANTED NEITHER "AMERICAN CAPITALISM NOR RUSSIAN COMMUNISM."

THIS WAS MESSAGE OF EDDY ASIRVATHAM, PROFESSOR OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MADRAS, INDIA, IN THE FIRST OF TWO SPEECHES TODAY, EVE OF THE CLOSING OF THE 10-DAY CONFERENCE THAT HAS ATTRACTED PROMINENT INTERNATIONAL PERSONAGES.

ASIRVATHAM REMARKED THAT WHILE ASIA WAS IMPRESSED WITH AMERICA'S UNPRECEDENTED TECHNOLIGICAL DEVELOPMENT, THE ORIENT HAD NOT BEEN IMPRESSED BY "HER RACIALISM OR CHAOTIC FREE ENTERPRISE PHILOSOPHY."

LAST NIGHT THE OBERLIN (O.) COLLEGE PRESIDENT, DR.WILLIAM E. STEVENSON, HAD STRESSED THAT UNITED STATES' ATTEMPTS TO SELL FREE ENTERPRISE AND DEMOCRACY TO THE WORLD MET SEVERE SETBACKS WHENEVER WHAT HE DESCRIBED AS "BILBOISM AND JIM CROWISM" OCCURRED HERE.

THE INDIA PROFESSOR SAID THE ASIATIC WORLD WAS NOT IMPRESSED WITH RUSSIA'S METHODS IN HANDLING HER PROBLEMS BUT ADMIRED THE ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE SOVIET UNION IN "ABOLISHING ILLITERACY, SETTING UP A NON-RACIAL COUNTRY, AND MAKING RAPID ADVANCES."

BRITAIN, HE SAID, HAD IMPRESSED INDIA BY HER "TENACITY OF PURPOSE AND CAPACITY TO FIT HERSELF INTO A FAST-CHANGING WORLD, BUT NOT WITH ANY OF HER ARGUMENTS FOR THE CONTINUANCE OF THE EMPIRE IN ONE FORM OR ANOTHER."

HE ASSERTED THAT THE WESTERN WORLD WAS BECOMING SPIRITUALLY BANKRUPT AND WAS "DIGGING ITS OWN GRAVE" WITH ITS "ATOMIC POWER, NATIONAL JEALOUSIES, RACIAL PERSECUTION, EXPLOITATION OF BACKWARD PEOPLES AND ITS PATHETIC IFAITH IN SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY."

THE ORIENT, ASIRVATHAM COMMENTED, WAS DETERMINED TO END COLONIAL RULE AND THAT ALTHOUGH INDIA HAD GONE THROUGH A "BLOOD BATH" DURING THE LAST YEAR, NEITHER HINDUS NOR MOSLEMS WANTED TO DELAY "BRITAIN'S DEPARTURE BY EVEN A DAY."

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., JULY 12-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES HAS THE RESPONSIBILITY OF CREATING CONDITIONS OF PEACE WHICH WOULD MAKE THE WORLD COMMUNITY A REALITY, A PROFESSOR OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS FROM INDIA TOLD THE ANTIOCH INSTITUTE OF INTERFATIONAL RELATIONS TONIGHT.

EDDY ASIRVATHZM, HINDU SCHOLAR AND ACQUAINTANCE OF THE INDIAN LEADER JAWEHARLAL NEHRU, DECLARED THE U.S. FOREIGN POLICY WAS BASED ON A GROUNDLESS FEAR OF RUSSIA.

THE INDIAN PROFESSOR OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MADRAS SAID THE UNITED STATES WAS SUPREME IN MATERIAL POWER AND ARMAMENTS, BUT HAS BEEN PLAYING THE PART OF A "BLUNDERING GIANT."

"IF THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES HAVE FAITH IN THEMSELVES AND THE RIGHTNESS OF THEIR CASE, NO ONE CAN KEEP THEM UNDER SUBJUGATION OR DESTROY ANY GENUINELY DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTION THAT THEY MAY POSSESS," HE DECLARED, TERMING RUSSIA'S PART IN WORLD AFFAIRS "EXASPERATING."

HE DECLARED THE ARMING OF SOUTH AMERICAN COUNTRIES AND REACTIONARIES IN EUROPE AND ASIA WAS A "DISSERVICE TO WORLD PEACE", AND SAID U.S. ACTION IN THE NEAR EAST WAS "MOTIVATED BY A GREED FOR OIL."

"COMMUNISM CANNOT BE ARGUED DOWN. IT CAN ONLY BE LIVED DOWN. INSTEAD OF MOVING HEAVEN AND EARTH TO ENACT COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING, THE U.S. SHOULD BEND HER EFFORTS TO PROMOTE PEACE AND PROSPERITY FOR ALL," THE HARVARD AND EDINBUROUGH EDUCATED SPEAKER DECLARED.

IN THE AFTERNOON SESSION TODAY, BERTRAM WOLFE, BIOGRAPHER OF LENIN, TROTSKY AND STALIN, SAID THE MARSHALL PLAN IS THE LAST CHANCE TO INSIST THAT COUNTRIES OF THE WORLD CEASE AGGRESSION AND ADOPT, IN ITS PLACE, PRINCIPLES BASIC TO A PEACEFUL WORLD.

SCOTT NEARING, EDITOR OF THE WEEKLY NEWSLETTER "WORLD EVENTS," SPEAKING ON THE SAME PANEL WITH WOLFE, SAID THE MARSHALL PLAN, COUPLED WITH THE TRUMAN PLAN, PLAYS DIRECTLY INTO THE HANDS OF THE MILITARISTS IN BOTH RUSSIA AND AMERICA.

NEW YORK, JULY 12-(AP)-THIRD NAVAL DISTRICT HEADQUARTERS TODAY ANNOUNCED THAT THE 51 OFFICERS AND 829 ENLISTED MEN ABOARD THE USS OMAHA AND THE USS SOMERS MAY SHARE $322,211 IN SALVAGE MONEY FOR PREVENTING THE GERMAN MOTORSHIP ODENWALD FROM SINKING IN NOVEMBER, 1941.

DISTRICT HEADQUARTERS SAID THE U.S. DISTRICT COURT FOR PUERTO RICO HAD AWARDED $3,000 TO EACH OF THE 64 OFFICERS AND ENLISTED MEN WHO FORMED THE BOARDING AND SALVAGING PARTY, AND TWO MONTHS' PAY AND ALLOWANCES TO OTHER OFFICERS AND MEN OF THE TWO WARSHIPS.

JUDGE ROBERT A. COOPER MADE THE AWARD IN A DECISION HANDED DOWN APRIL 30 IN A SUIT FOR SALVAGE, THE NAVY SAID, ON THE BASIS OF A $3,000,000 VALUATION OF SHIP AND CARGO.

JUL 1947

THE ODENWALD, DISGUISED AS AN AMERICAN FREIGHTER, THE WYDAMOTO, AND FLYING AN AMERICAN FLAG, WAS OVERHAULED ENROUTE FROM YOKOHAMA TO BORDEAUX WITH A CARGO OF RAW RUBBER AND AMERICAN-MADE TIRES. HER CREW SET OFF TWO BOMBS WHEN THE AMERICAN SHIPS CAME ALONGSIDE, BUT THE BOARDERS SAVED HER AND TOWED THE VESSEL TO SAN JUAN, P.R.

RENAMED THE BLENHEIM, THE SHIP WAS OPERATED THROUGH WORLD WAR TWO BY THE WAR DEPARTMENT. SHE NOW IS PART OF THE MARITIME COMMISSION RESERVE FLEET AT OLYMPIA, WASH.

THE NAVY ANNOUNCEMENT, HOWEVER, SAID THAT SWISS MORTGAGEES OF THE GERMAN VESSEL HAVE TAKEN AN APPEAL FROM THE DISTRICT COURT RULING, WHICH PROBABLY WILL BE HEARD IN THE U.S. CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS IN BOSTON THIS FALL.

ARLINGTON, IA., JULY 12-(AP)-PAMPILIO ORTEGA, DIRECTOR GENERAL OF AGRICULTURE OF HONDURAS, SAID TODAY HE LIKES "IOWA FARMS, AMERICAN DEMOCRACY AND INDIGENT BOYS OF AN NATIONALITY."

ORTEGA, IN THE UNITED STATES AS A GUEST OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT, IS VISITING THE HOME OF CLARENCE WILHELMI NEAR HERE. HE AND WILHELMI WERE FORMER CLASSMATES AT NOTRE DAME.

ORTEGA IS STUDYING AMERICAN FARM METHODS WITH AN EYE TO IMPROVING AGRICULTURE IN HIS NATIVE LAND.

HE SAID THAT PROBABLY THE FIRST INSTITUTION TO BENEFIT FROM HIS NEW LEARNING WILL BE HIS OWN SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE, WHERE HONDURAN BOYS WITHOUT FUNDS ARE TAUGHT MODERN FARMING METHODS FREE OF CHARGE.

THE SCHOOL, ORTEGA EXPLAINED, IS FINANCED WITH PROCEEDS FROM A 6,000-ACRE COFFEE PLANTATION, WHICH HE OPERATES IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE SCHOOL.

HE SAID THAT IN HIS OPINION A LARGE-SCALE DAIRY FARM WOULD BE PROFITABLE IN HONDURAS, AS THE HONDURAN HILLS SUPPLY LUXURIANT GRASS THE YEAR ROUND FOR GRAZING CATTLE.

(WX) MISSWA, MINN., JULY 12-(AP)-DR. FRANK OPPENHEIMER, PHYSICIST WHO TOOK PART IN DEVELOPMENT OF THE ATOMIC BOMB, DENIED IN A FORMAL STATEMENT TONIGHT AN ALLEGATION IN THE WASHINGTON (D.C.) TIMES HERALD THAT HE HAS BEEN A MEMBER OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY.

HE CALLED IT A "COMPLETE FABRICATION."

THE TIMES HERALD STORY, PUBLISHED TODAY, LISTED THE NUMBERS OF COMMUNIST PARTY BOOKS WHICH IT SAID THE SCIENTIST CARRIED IN 1937, 1938 AND 1939. IT SAID THAT WHAT IT CALLED THE RECORD OF HIS "AFFILIATION WITH THE COMMUNIST PARTY" HAD BEEN IN THE FILES OF AT LEAST ONE GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATORY AGENCY FOR A PERIOD OF SIX TO 10 YEARS, AND HAD BEEN KNOWN FOR MONTHS TO OFFICIALS CHARGED WITH PROTECTION OF ATOMIC SECRETS.

DR. FRANK OPPENHEIMER IS A BROTHER OF DR. J. ROBERT OPPENHEIMER, WHO DIRECTED ATOMIC DEVELOPMENTS AT LOS ALAMOS, N.M., WHERE THE FIRST BOMB WAS EXPLODED.

JUL 1947

DR. FRANK OPPENHEIMER'S STATEMENT:

"THE ALLEGATIONS MADE BY THE WASHINGTON TIMES-HERALD THAT I HAVE BEEN A MEMBER OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY IS A COMPLETE FABRICATION. DURING THE WAR I WORKED ON THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE ATOMIC BOMB AT BERKELEY, OAK RIDGE AND LOS ALAMOS. I WORKED WITH AS MUCH INTENSITY AS I WAS CAPABLE OF AND SPENT AN AVERAGE OF EIGHTY HOURS A WEEK IN THE LABORATORY. I AND MY COLLEAGUES WORKED SO FEVERISHLY, FIRST BECAUSE WE WERE SCARED FOR THE LIFE OF OUR NATION AND WANTED TO CREATE A WINNING WEAPON. TOWARD THE LATTER YEARS OF THE WAR WE WORKED IN THE HOPE THAT EACH WEEK GAINED BY OUR EFFORT WOULD SHORTEN THE WAR BY THAT WEEK AND SAVE AMERICAN LIVES IN THE PACIFIC.

"AFTER THE WAR I TOOK EVERY OPPORTUNITY THAT PRESENTED ITSELF TO ME TO ACQUAINT THE PUBLIC WITH THE IMPLICATION OF THE WEAPON WE HAD DEVELOPED AND OF THE SUPREME NECESSITY OF ELIMINATING MAJOR WARS. I DISCUSSED THESE PROBLEMS WITH AS MANY PEOPLE AS POSSIBLE. I HAVE NEVER THOUGHT IT FRUITFUL TO DISCUSS MATTERS WITH ONLY THOSE PEOPLE WHO AGREE WITH ME AND I AM PROUD THAT I HAVE BEEN ABLE TO ASSOCIATE WITH A WIDE VARIETY OF PEOPLE.

"THE STORY PUBLISHED ABOUT ME IN THE WASHINGTON TIMES-HERALD CONTAINS, I REPEAT, PURE FABRICATION. NEVERTHELESS IT CAN HAVE THE EFFECT OF INTIMIDATING NOT ONLY ME BUT ANYONE ELSE WISHING TO EXPRESS HIS OPINION, BOTH IN PUBLIC AND AMONG FRIENDS. THE PUBLISHING OF SUCH FALSE STATEMENTS CAN THEREFORE ONLY RESULT IN A FEAR AND PERHAPS A HYSTERIA THAT WILL MAKE IT IMPOSSIBLE FOR THE PUBLIC TO MAKE WISE DECISIONS ABOUT PUBLIC MATTERS AND IN PARTICULAR ABOUT CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY."

DR. OPPENHEIMER ALSO EXPRESSED THIS OPINION IN ANSWER TO A QUESTION:

"THERE MUST BE GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY AND CERTAINLY THERE SHOULD BE CIVILIAN CONTROL OF IT."

DES MOINES, JULY 12-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES SHOULD CONCENTRATE ITS FINANCIAL AID ON ENGLAND AND THE DEMOCRACIES OF WESTERN EUROPE BECAUSE "NEEDS OF THE ENTIRE WORLD ARE SO GREAT WE CANNOT POSSIBLY MEET THEM ALL," GARDNER COWLES TOLD A DRAKE UNIVERSITY AUDIENCE LAST NIGHT.

JUL 1947

COWLES, PRESIDENT OF THE REGISTER AND TRIBUNE COMPANY, RETURNED RECENTLY FROM A GLOBE-GIRDLING FLIGHT WITH 20 OTHER PUBLISHERS.

THE SPEAKER SAID HE STRONGLY FAVORED THE MARSHALL PLAN BUT DECLARED "IT WILL TAKE SO MUCH MONEY THAT WE ARE GOING TO HAVE TO PICK AND CHOOSE AS TO WHOM WE WILL HELP AND HOW MUCH AND LET THE REMAINDER OF THE WORLD WANT."

COWLES SAID IN ANSWER TO A QUESTION FROM THE AUDIENCE THAT COUNTRIES TO WHICH AID SHOULD BE EXTENDED INCLUDE THE PARTS OF GERMANY NOW IN THE AMERICAN, BRITISH AND FRENCH OCCUPATION ZONES.

"I WOULD NOT GIVE AID TO ANY COUNTRY UNDER RUSSIAN DOMINATION," HE SAID.

BY SIGRID ARNE

(ADVANCE)-WASHINGTON, JULY 12-(AP)-RUSSIAN TRADE EXPERTS IN THE COMMERCE DEPARTMENT SAID TODAY THAT THE SOVIET REFUSAL TO JOIN THE MARSHALL PLAN, OR TO PERMIT HER SATELLITES TO DO SO, IS A SELF-HARMING AND "STUPID" COURSE.

THESE OFFICIALS, WHO ASKED THAT THEY NOT BE QUOTED BY NAME, PREDICTED THE MOVE WILL MAKE RUSSIA EVEN MORE "LOP-SIDED" IN INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE THAN IT HAS BEEN. THE 196 MILLION RUSSIANS WILL NOW BE LUMPED TOGETHER WITH SOME 90 MILLION MIDDLE EUROPEANS, ALL OF WHOM ARE BESET BY THE SAME NEEDS: MORE MACHINES, MORE SKILLED LABOR.

THE LACK OF BOTH, THESE EXPERTS THINK, CAN SLOW DOWN THE KREMLIN'S ATTEMPT TO "SELL" COMMUNISM TO THE SATELLITES BECAUSE, INSTEAD OF RUSSIA'S LIVING STANDARD GOING UP, MIDDLE EUROPEAN STANDARDS MAY FALL.

THESE TRADE EXPERTS SAID THEY DRAW THEIR CONCLUSIONS MOST IMPORTANTLY FROM RUSSIAN PUBLICATIONS, AND FROM GENERAL MIDDLE EUROPEAN TRADE FIGURES.

HERE, THEY SAID, ARE SPECIFIC BLOCKS ON THE RUSSIAN ROAD:

1. EXCEPT FOR CZECHOSLOVAKIA THE WHOLE RUSSIAN ORBIT HAS NO LARGE GROUPS OF SKILLED INDUSTRIAL WORKERS. YET THE WHOLE 287 MILLION PEOPLE NEED BOTH MACHINES AND CONSUMERS' GOODS.

2. RUSSIA COULD HAVE GOTTEN SOME OF THE NEEDED MACHINERY FROM THE U.S. THERE ARE STILL NO GOVERNMENT EMBARGOES TO PREVENT HER FROM DOING SO. BUT THE COMMERCE DEPARTMENT REPORTS A GROWING, TACIT EMBARGO ON THE PART OF AMERICAN MANUFACTURERS WHO ARE REFUSING TO SELL TO THE RUSSIANS. COMMERCE EXPERTS WHO HAVE LIVED IN MOSCOW SAY THIS WILL COME AS A SHOCK TO THE KREMLIN SINCE, AS COMMUNISTS, THE RUSSIANS THINK CAPITALISTS WILL SELL ANYWHERE THERE IS PROFIT.

3. RUSSIAN PUBLICATIONS SHOW THAT MOSCOW HAS ORDERED FOR MANUFACTURE THIS YEAR TWICE AS MUCH HORSE-DRAWN FARM EQUIPMENT AS POWER-DRIVEN. THEY FIGURE THIS MEANS DISAPPOINTING PRODUCTION IN THE TRACTORS FACTORIES.

4. FIGURES BEAR OUT THE ASSUMPTION. AT TANKOGRAD, IN THE SOUTH URALS--THE TOWN ON WHICH RUSSIA HAS DEPENDED FOR TRACTORS--THE PRODUCTION LINES WILL ROLL OUT ONLY 32,000 TRACTORS THIS YEAR. THAT COMPARES WITH 112,000 TRACTORS IN 1936.

5. RUSSIA HAS ENOUGH OF HER OWN: GRAINS, TIMBER, BASIC ORES, COTTON.

6. BUT SHE NEEDS TUNGSTEN, OIL, TIN. SHE IS NOW SHOPPING WORLD MARKETS FOR MOLYBDENUM.

7. IT LOOKED AS THOUGH SHE MIGHT GET MUCH MACHINERY THROUGH THE RECENT TRADE DEAL WITH SWEDEN. BUT THE SWEDES REPORT THEY CAN'T BEGIN TO DELIVER FOR TWO YEARS, AND THOSE TO RUSSIA WILL BE ONLY 15 PER CENT OF THEIR EXPORTS.

8. RUSSIA DID GET $6,000,000 WORTH OF MACHINERY FROM GREAT BRITAIN THE FIRST QUARTER OF 1947. BUT SHE WENT INTO DEBT TO DO IT. SHE SOLD BRITAIN ONLY $2,000,000 OF GOODS.

MIDDLE EUROPEAN TRADE FIGURES SHOW THE MANNER IN WHICH MOSCOW IS ATTEMPTING TO SEW HER ORBIT INTO WHOLE CLOTH:

THE RUSSIANS HAVE FORMED A RUSSIAN-HUNGARIAN CORPORATION TO GET OUT HUNGARIAN BAUXITE.

THERE IS A RUMOR OF A NEW RUSSIAN-BULGARIAN TOBACCO CORPORATION.

RUSSIANS ARE DRAWING ON FINLAND FOR PAPER, PULP, AND PRE-FABRICATED HOUSES.

THEY ARE SENDING RUSSIAN COTTON TO HUNGARIAN TEXTILE MILLS, AND TAKING HALF THE RESULTANT WOVEN GOODS. AMERICAN EXPERTS BELIEVE THE DEAL PROVES EITHER RUSSIA'S LACK OF TEXTILE MACHINES, OR OF TRAINED WORKERS.

SHOES HAVE JUST SHOWN UP IN MOSCOW SHOPS WHICH ARE NOT "RUSSIAN TYPE SHOES". THE SUSPICION IS THAT RUSSIA IS GETTING CZECH SHOE PRODUCTION.

THE RUSSIAN PRESSURE TO USE ALL AVAILABLE MAN-POWER TO THE HILT IS SO GREAT THAT:

RECENT RUSSIAN PROPAGANDA URGED FARMERS TO USE THEIR SPARE TIME TO SWELL THE VOLUME OF CONSUMER GOODS BY (A) WEAVING BASKETS FROM RIVER REEDS, AND (B) PICKING WILD MUSHROOMS FOR THE MARKET.

RUSSIAN TRANSPORTATION WAS A GREAT PROBLEM BEFORE THE WAR, AND COULD BECOME GREATER IF RUSSIA-PRESSES FOR A COMPLETE BREAK WITH THE WESTERN WORLD.

THE TRADE EXPERTS SAY RUSSIA PURCHASED MUCH TIMBER, FOR EXAMPLE, FROM EUROPE WHERE RIVERS COULD CARRY THE CARGOES. THE NEEDS ARE TOO GREAT FOR RAILROADS. IF NOW RUSSIA HAS TO DEPEND ON HER OWN TIMBERLAND SHE MUST FACE THE FACT THAT ALL HER RIVERS RUN IN THE WRONG DIRECTION: NORTH, INSTEAD OF WEST TO THE POPULATION CENTERS. HER RAILROADS ARE SO SHORT OF NEEDS THAT SHE USED TO BUY OIL FOR HER SIBERIAN FISHING FLEET FROM THE AMERICAN WEST COAST WHERE SHIPS COULD DELIVER THE OIL.

EVEN SO RUSSIA MAY BE PLANNING TO KNIT THE WHOLE AREA INTO A PRODUCTION NET. EUROPEAN RUMORS REPORTED HERE SAY MOSCOW PLANS AN ECONOMIC CONFERENCE SHORTLY FOR ALL HER SATELLITES.

(ADVANCE)-WASHINGTON,JULY 12-(AP)-A HERETOFORE SECRET DOCUMENT RELEASED TODAY BY THE NAVY SHOWS THAT THE JAPANESE MADE THREE MAJOR MISTAKES IN PLANNING THEIR JUNE, 1942 ATTACK ON MIDWAY ISLAND--AN ATTACK WHICH ENDED DISASTROUSLY FOR THEM.

A REPORT ON THE BATTLE--WHICH THE NAVY DESCRIBED AS "PERHAPS THE DECISIVE BATTLE" OF THE WAR--WAS SUBMITTED TO THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT BY ADMIRAL NAGUMO, COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE JAPANESE FIRST AIR FLEET.

IN HIS PRE-BATTLE FIGURING NAGUMO MADE THREE BAD GUESSES:

1. HE THOUGHT THAT "THE ENEMY LACKS THE WILL TO FIGHT."

2. HE SAID "IT IS NOT BELIEVED THAT THE ENEMY HAS ANY POWERFUL UNIT, WITH CARRIERS AS ITS NUCLEUS, IN THE VICINITY."

3. HE WAS SURE THAT "THE ENEMY IS NOT AWARE OF OUR PLANS."

HE FOUND OUT DIFFERENTLY.

JUL 1947

A UNITED STATES FLEET--INCLUDING THE CARRIERS ENTERPRISE, HORNET AND YORKTOWN--WAS AWAITING THE SUPERIOR JAP FORCE, WHICH WAS BUILT AROUND SEVEN AIRCRAFT CARRIERS.

REAR ADM.ROSCOE F.GOOD, WHO WAS ASSISTANT OPERATIONS OFFICER AT FLEET ADM.CHESTER W.NIMITZ'S HEADQUARTERS AT PEARL HARBOR AT THE TIME EXPLAINED TO REPORTERS IMPLICATIONS OF THE JAPS' REPORT.

HE DECLINED TO SAY JUST WHEN THE AMERICAN NAVQ LEARNED OF THE JAPANESE PLANS AGAINST MIDWAY.

BUT IT IS GENERALLY KNOWN THAT THE AMERICAN NAVY HAD BROKEN THE JAPANESE CODE. IT HAD A CLEAR IDEA BOTH OF THE MAKE-UP OF THE JAPANESE ARMADA WHICH CAME OUT OF THE INLAND SEA ON MAY 27 AND ITS OBJECTIVE.

ON THE OTHER HAND, THE REPORT SHOWS THAT JAPANESE INTELLIGENCE WAS SO BAD--EVEN ON ACTIVITIES OF THEIR OWN FORCES--THAT ADMIRAL GOOD WITH A CHUCKLE SAID:

"I ALMOST FELT SORRY FOR THAT JAP COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF." EITHER TO "SAVE FACE" OR AS A DIVERSION TACTIC, OR BECAUSE THEY DIDN'T KNOW IT THEY SENT ORDERS TO CARRIERS ALREADY SUNK.

ADMIRAL NAGUMO HAD THE UNENVIABLE JOB OF EXPLAINING TO HIS SUPERIORS THE LOSS OF FOUR BIG CARRIERS AND A HEAVY CRUISER, THE RETIREMENT OF ONE OF THE MOST POWERFUL ARMADAS EVER ASSEMBLED AND ABANDONMENT OF THE ATTACK ON MIDWAY. HE SAID:

"WE HAD PRACTICALLY NO INTELLIGENCE CONCERNING THE ENEMY. WE NEVER KNEW TO THE END WHERE OR HOW MANY CARRIERS THERE WERE. IN OTHER WORDS, WE PARTICIPATED IN THIS OPERATION WITH MEAGER TRAINING AND WITHOUT KNOWING THE ENEMY".

A131WX

THE JAPANESE LOST HEAVILY IN EXPERIENCED PILOTS IN THE BATTLE OF CORAL SEA EARLY IN MAY. ADMIRAL NAGUMO SAID THAT OF THOSE HE HAD AT MIDWAY "PRACTICALLY NO ONE GOT BEYOND BASIC TRAINING.

"INEXPERIENCED FLIERS BARELY GOT TO THE POINT WHERE THEY COULD MAKE DAYTIME LANDINGS ON CARRIERS. IT WAS FOUND THAT EVEN SOME OF THE MORE SEASONED FLIERS HAD LOST SOME OF THEIR SKILL."

HE RELATES THAT DURING THE MIDDLE OF MAY MOCK TORPEDO ATTACKS WERE STAGED. "THE RECORDS DURING THESE TESTS WERE SO DISAPPOINTING THAT SOME WERE MOVED TO COMMENT THAT IT WAS A MYSTERY HOW MEN WITH SUCH POOR ABILITY COULD HAVE OBTAINED SUCH BRILLIANT RESULTS AT CORAL SEA."

FURTHERMORE, THERE WAS NO OPPORTUNITY FOR CARRYING OUT JOINT TRAINING, WHICH, "OF COURSE MADE IMPOSSIBLE ANY COORDINATED ACTION BETWEEN CONTACT UNITS, ILLUMINATIONS UNITS, AND ATTACK UNITS". THE JAPS HAD TO GIVE UP HOPE OF SATISFACTORY NIGHT ATTACKS.

THE AMERICAN NAVAL COMMAND WAS AWARE OF THE IMPORTANCE OF THE IMPENDING ATTACK ON MIDWAY. "IF THE JAPS HAD WON AT MIDWAY, THEY WOULD HAVE BEEN IN A POSITION TO COMMAND THE ALEUTIANS AND HAWAII, AND THE WAR COULD HAVE BEEN PROLONGED 20 YEARS," SAID ADMIRAL GOOD.

ADMIRAL GOOD DISCLOSED AN UNREVEALED EPISODE WHICH OCCURRED BEFORE THE BATTLE OF MIDWAY.

AFTER THE CORAL SEA BATTLE, THE CARRIERS, ENTERPRISE AND HORNET, HAD BEEN SENT WITH GREAT SECRECY UNDER ADM.WILLIAM F.HALSEY WITH ORDERS TO PLACE THEMSELVES BETWEEN THE JAP FORCE AND ITS BASE AT TRUK.

BUT HALSEY'S FORCE WAS SPOTTED BY A LONE JAP RECONNAISSANCE PLANE. HE WAS SHOT DOWN BUT NOT BEFORE IT WAS BELIEVED HE HAD INFORMED THE JAPS.

"THERE WAS PLENTY OF CREPE AROUND PEARL THAT DAY," SAID ADMIRAL GOOD.

"BUT IT MAY HAVE BEEN PROVIDENTIAL, BECAUSE WE PULLED HALSEY RIGHT BACK--AND THE LAST RECORD THE JAPS HAD OF THOSE TWO CARRIERS WAS THAT THEY WERE IN THE SOUTH-WEST PACIFIC, GOING FAST IN THE DIRECTION OF NEW GUINEA."

THIS MAY HAVE CAUSED ADMIRAL NAGUMO'S BELIEF THAT THE AMERICANS HAD NO CARRIERS NEAR MIDWAY.

Strong Force Attacks Greek Frontier Town; Cabinet Maps Action

JUL 1947

REINFORCEMENTS RUSHED BY AIR TO BATTLE INVADERS

Government Calls Assault 'A Serious Attack Against Greece.'

STRIKE FROM ALBANIA

'International Forces' Reported Concentrated Close to Border.

ATHENS, July 13 — (AP) The Greek government said today a force of more than 1,000 men, moving and fighting as an organized army rather than as a guerrilla band, crossed into Greece from Albania and attacked the town of Konitsa, six miles from the Albanian border.

"On Albanian territory near the frontier," said a communique issued by the foreign ministry's press office, "are large continents, including parts of an international brigade."

Air Minister Panayotis Kanellopoulos said the Konitsa assault and the concentration of fighters in Albania was viewed by the government as "a serious attack against Greece."

A general staff spokesman termed the dawn attack a "desperate move" to relieve Greek guerrilla forces on Mount Grammos, 20 miles to the north, where government troops and guerrillas have been fighting a major battle for two weeks. The government has reported its operations on Grammos have been successful and that guerrilla losses have been heavy.

Reinforcements Rushed

When the attack was launched, two companies of about 200 soldiers were defending the town of 2,000. Air Minister Panayotis Kanellopoulos said the defenders still held the town tonight and that the government was sending reinforcements to Konitsa by air.

Kanellopoulos said the attacking force contained a large number of Elasites, members of the fighting arm of the leftist national liberation front (EAM), many of whom had left Greece. He added that a force of Chamourans, Moslems living along the Greek-Albanian frontier, were being held as reserve troops by the attackers.

The Chamourans frequently have accused the Greek government of persecution, while the Greeks charge the Chamourans collaborated with the Axis during World War II.

Some sources said the attack might be a forerunner to the proclamation of a Communist "provisional government" onGreeksoil. The government's onslaught to wipe out guerrilla forces on Mount Grammos was said to have been ordered to forestall any possible communist political coup.

The general staff spokesman said the attack definitely was to be regarded as a phase of the Mount Grammos battle and that the attackers had been infiltrating across the Albanian frontier for several days.

Rebels Well Equipped

A cabinet member said the attackers were well armed and equipped, possessing heavy machine guns, automatic rifles and mortars.

Meanwhile, in Athens the Greek cabinet was called into an emergency session. Premier Demetrios Maximos said the Greek government would provide three planes for transportation if the United Nations Balkan investigating sub-commission wished to make a spot probe of the Konitsa attack.

Athens police and gendarmerie were mustered in full force as part of the extraordinary precautionary measures set up in the capital.

The text of the foreign ministry's communique:

"Greek bandits, including Albanians, invaded Greek territory from Albania this morning in the direction of Konitsa. x x x Konitsa was surrounded. Konitsa is resisting. The invading force consists of more than 1,000 men. According to accurate reports, on the Albanian territory near the frontier are large contingents, including parts of an international brigade.

"The same reports say the leadership of bands on Mount Grammos, Khassia and Pierra are now on Albanian territory northwest of Konitsa. Concentrations of Chamourans near the Greek-Albanian frontier were noticed with the purpose, according to accurate reports, to occupy Thesprotia. Our forces have been moved rapidly and transported even by air to the front."

The Sprotia is an area in northern Greece opposite Corfu, along the Albanian frontier.

The communique did not explain what the ministry meant by an "international brigade."

The latest reported development in the warfare in the north came on the eve of the expected arrival of Dwight Griswold, U. S. head of the Greek-aid mission. (Griswold left Washington today for Athens in President Truman's new plane.)

West Of Mount Grammos

Konitsa lies in the Saranta River valley north of Ioannina (Yannina) and west of Mount Grammos.

The Saranta River valley winds sharply to the east at the Albanian border and cuts through the Grammos Mountain range, leaving gorges which tower from 6,000 to 7,000 feet. In Albania the river is known at the Viosa. The river sometimes runs dry through the mountains.

The Greek Army and guerrillas have been fighting a major battle in the Mount Grammos area for two weeks.

Some informants said that if Konitsa was captured and held it would result in the Communists declaring their free state. Konitsa offers strategic possibilities for such a state because the Saranta valley offers a natural line of communication from Albania.

Albanian Troops Reported

The information was that the brigade was composed largely of Albanian troops, probably dispatched to relieve the guerrillas on Mount Grammos.

The Greek Government asked the United Nations Balkan subcommission in Salonika to make an immediate, on-the-spot investigation.

Reinforcements of tanks and other mechanized units were reported rolling up from Yannina and planes from the Yannina and Salonika air bases were reported in action.

Staff Chief Near Scene

One of the invading units was said to have crossed a bridge at Bourges, forcing the Greek frontier guards to retreat. The guards said that the unit whoch took the bridge was composed entirely of Albanians.

Gen. Constantin Ventris, the Greek chief of staff, was scheduled to return to Athens today following (See Page 2) an inspection of troops in the north, but he advised headquarters in Athens he would remain close to the scene of action.

The Greek government was plainly concerned over the danger in the expressed Communist intention to establish a free state in the north as a possible countermeasure to American aid.

The government's fears were reflected in the decision by the Political Council last night that if the present Greek law is deemed inadequate to outlaw the Communist party the Ministry of Justice should prepare such legislation for council approval on Wednesday.

Some government sources believe the Communists are awaiting the decision of the U. N. Security Council on the Balkan Investigation Commission. A majority of the commission recommended that a semi-permanent commission be established on the northern borders to maintain order. Russia and Poland dissented.

Some sources said that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania might recognize any free state established on Greek soil and send arms and supplies.

Meanwhile, subsidiary parties in the Communist-dominated Left Wing E. A. M. coalition were making unavailing overtures to opposition political leaders, including eighty-six-year-old Themistocles Sophoulis, chief of the Liberal party. But these have been met with firm refusal until the Left disavows all violence in seeking control of the government and joins in the demand that the guerrillas surrender their arms.

Only yesterday, Nicholas Zachariades, secretary general of the Greek Communist party, declared that all parties in the E. A. M. must break with other groups and support formation of a "new free democratic government" in the "free democratic regions" of Greece. Mr. Zachariades declared that the Liberal party "accepts and sometimes exceeds the Rightists in subjugation of the country to foreigners."

These and other Communist declarations were interpreted by some observers as meaning they are determined to establish a free state.

AID PARLEY STILL OPEN TO RUSSIA

Paris Conference Emphasizes Again Desire for Full Participation.

PARIS, July 13—(AP) The European economic conference established machinery late today to implement the Marshall program for European recovery, and emphasized again that Russia and her satellites were welcome to participate.

The action came after spokesmen for the Scandinavian countries—Sweden, Norway and Denmark—all expressed opposition to any political implications of the aid-Europe plan, and said their countries desired economic cooperation, but nothing more.

Claude Bouchinet-Serreulles of France was elected secretary general of the conference, which named British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin as its president at the opening session yesterday.

Set Up Machinery

The conference, in its second plenary session, adopted unanimously a rules committee report setting up a steering committee, an executive committee and four technical sub-committees to survey Europe's assets and define her needs for United States assistance.

The steering committee will be composed of 16 members—one from each state attending the conference.

The conference also decided to reserve places on the steering committee for "all other European states which declare themselves willing to participate in its work."

Herve Alphand of France, chairman of the rules committee, said in presenting his report that this would mean "the door will remain open to all European countries." The makeup of the executive committee and the four technical subcommittees will be decided at the third plenary session Tuesday.

On a motion by Sweden, the rules committee also inserted a clause providing that the new economic organization should maintain "close relations" with the United Nations and its specialized branches as well as with existing inter-governmental organizations.

Sept. 1 Is Target Date

The conference set Sept. 1 as its target date for the submission to the American government of a report on Europe's needs and resources for the next four years, and directed its steering committee to seek "the friendly assistance of the United States for the preparation of the report."

The steering committee also was instructed to request data on the assets and requirements of Germany from the four commanders-in-chief on the allied control council for Germany.

Two other changes written into the conference rules during a noon session of the rules committee and later adopted by the plenary session provided that the organization to supervise recovery be a temporary one, and that it take no action "implying" any violation of sovereignty.

The original British-French draft merely prohibited "actions" which violated sovereignty.

Taking the floor before the conference voted on its rules of procedure, Karl Ivan Westman, Sweden's envoy to Paris, said it was of utmost importance that the new organization fully respect the independence and sovereignty of member nations.

Russia had refused to participate in the conference on grounds that economic cooperation would constitute a threat to her sovereignty, and eight other eastern states in the Soviet sphere of influence followed suit.

Westman hailed modifications of the original British-French draft as "indispensable and fortunate," and expressed regret it had not been possible to unite all European nations at the conference table.

He said the admittance of all 16 participating nations to the steering committee was "most important," and emphasized that Sweden was ready to discuss only the problems in the text of the British-French invitation to the meeting—that is, only economic issues. He suggested the rules have permitted a "deeper exchange of views."

Norwegian Delegate Arne Skaug seconded Westman, saying Norway would approve the rules committee's report only with the understanding the conference would have a chance later to debate issues of principle which were not within the committee's jurisdiction.

J. C. W. Kruse, Danish ambassador to Paris, backed up both the Swedish and Norwegian statements.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault intervened to point out that the rules committee's work was strictly technical, and said he hoped the three Scandinavian countries were satisfied by changes written into the original draft.

"The door is always open to other states," Bidault said.

Bevin, as presiding officer, then called for a vote and found no objections.

Spokesmen for Denmark, Greece and Eire closed the session with general statements on their nations' policies.

Press To Be Admitted

The conference voted formally to admit the press to all plenary sessions, and instructed its secretariat to inform newsmen on the proceedings at closed committee sessions.

The Rules Committee will meet tomorrow to draft recommendations on the makeup of the Executive Committee and the four technical sub-committees, which will handle food, metal industries, transport, and fuel and power.

It is taken for granted that Britain and France, as the two most important participating nations, will be represented on all five groups.

CENSORSHIP OF DECALOGUE

Yugoslavia Rules Out 5th Commandment, Cardinal Says

London, July 13 (AP)—Bernard Cardinal Griffin, Archbishop of Westminster, appealed today for a United Nations inquiry into "crimes against humanity" in Yugoslavia.

Cardinal Griffin declared that some Roman Catholic priests in Yugoslavia had been warned not to refer in their sermons to the Fifth Commandment ("Thou shalt not kill").

"Any mention of the Fifth Commandment is looked upon as a criticism of the Government," the British prelate said in an address at a Catholic rally this afternoon.

Job's Troubles Also Censored

The Cardinal said that in one sector, where their sermons were interrupted "with insults and attacks" on their persons, priests also were told not to speak about the troubles of Job—"it might be a reflection on the Government."

Cardinal Griffin said that public worship had become impossible in many areas because of executions and imprisonment of priests and confiscation of churches for other uses, such as storing grain.

The prelate said that more than 200 Yugoslav priests now languished in prison—including Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac, convicted several months ago as a war criminal. He added that of 1,916 priests in the country in 1939, fewer than 400 remain in their parishes.

180 Executed Without Trial

"One hundred and eighty have been put to death without trial, 32 have been sentenced to death and executed, 85 have been sentenced to life imprisonment, 409 forced into exile and the rest are in prison or unaccounted for," he said.

"All Catholic printing presses have been confiscated by the state," the Cardinal added. . . . "The government not only controls the press but uses it as a means of spreading Communist propaganda."

British Papers See Menace To Press In Newsprint Slash

London, July 13 (AP)—The new cut in newsprint ordered by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Hugh Dalton, carries a grave threat to the freedom of the press, Britain's national Sunday newspapers charged editorially in unison today.

They pointed out the effect will be to reduce the size of the daily newspapers again to four pages—they now print six pages three times weekly—and the Sunday newspapers will drop from eight to six pages. The cut is expected to go into effect July 21.

Dalton told the House of Commons a reduction of 96,000 tons of newsprint was necessary to save dollars. He estimated the yearly saving at between $4,000,000 and $8,000,000.

Annual consumption now is 420,000 tons. Before the war it was 1,200,000 tons.

The newspapers, however, said a saving of $4,000,000 in the next six months would be "out of a total trade deficit of approximately 500,000,000 pounds ($2,000,000,000) a year," and thus would be "a trifling sum."

"No press is free which has no space to say what it wants and which lies at the mercy of ministers who have powers to control its size whenever they think it worth while to do so," said the Observer.

No cuts have been announced for the weekly journals of opinion, including the Economist, the Right-wing Spectator, and the Leftist Tribune and New Statesman and Nation.

Queen Elizabeth And Senora Peron

London, Monday, July 14 (AP)—The Daily Express said today a formal invitation to visit Queen Elizabeth had been sent to Senora Eva Duarte Perón, wife of President Juan D Perón of Argentina, "in the hope of dissuading her from cancelling her trip to England."

Senora Perón, now in Italy on her European tour, planned originally to visit Great Britain, but it has been reported without confirmation that she might return to Argentina without visiting the British Isles.

Neither Government nor court sources could be reached tonight to comment on the newspaper story.

Winant in London for Visit

LONDON, July 13 (AP).—Former Ambassador John G. Winant arrived in London today by plane from New York for what the American Embassy said was a "private visit." He is expected to go on to Europe later. Mrs. Winant, who arrived earlier, was a judge of the West Highland terrier class at a London dog show last week.

Anderson Leaves for Washington

LONDON, July 13 (AP).—Clinton P. Anderson, American Secretary of Agriculture, who has been in Paris and London on official business, left today in a military plane for Washington.

France and Manchuria Get In on Disk Stories

PARIS, July 13 (AP).—The newspaper "Parisien Libere" said today that a resident of Le Mans, 100 miles southwest of Paris, reported that he had seen two "strangely shaped things" which he thought were "flying saucers." He said they were of a "greenish-gray" color.

HIAS AIDING EMIGRANTS

Promises Ships and Planes for Jews With Entry Credentials

PARIS, July 13 (AP)—The Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society promised airplans and ships today to relieve the transportation problems of European Jews stranded despite credentials to migrate to Western Hemisphere countries.

A group of thirty-six left here yesterday aboard a skymaster for Colombia. The society chartered the plane. Lewis Neikrug, its director, said 1,000 Jews in France alone were awaiting passage. He said there were 5,000 in other European countries.

ANGLO-U. S. UNITY URGED

General Calls It 'Essential to Joint Defense Against 'Ungodly'

ROME, July 13 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. John C. H. Lee, acting supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean theater, said in a lay sermon in St. Paul's Episcopal Church here today that British-American unity was essential for a common defense against "anything the unGodly may launch against us.

"We must expect the hate of the unGodly," he said. "They hate, and would destroy, all who stand against their scheme of domination."

To avert catastrophe, General Lee said, it is "obvious that either we must convince them that their way is wrong or eventually face the full impact of their world-wide program of domination."

Harriman Arrives In London

Rome, July 13 (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, United States Secretary of Commerce, arrived here from London today for talks with leaders of the Italian Government.

TB UP 50% IN GERMANY

General Clay Makes Report On American Zone

Berlin, July 13 (AP)—Tuberculosis, the No. 1 disease problem in Germany, has increased more than 50 per cent in the American zone in the last year, Gen. Lucius D. Clay's monthly report said today.

Close to 14,500 cases of open, infestious tuberculosis are walking the streets because hospital facilities are unavailable, it said, and this "must be regarded with grave concern."

General Clay said the weekly average of new cases of pulmonary tuberculosis increased from 923 per week in March to 1,259 in May, far in excess of the weekly average of 578 in May a year ago

Syphilis Increase Reported

The known cases of active tuberculosis of the lung and larynx under medical supervision increased from 93,821 in July last year to 121,842 in April, 1947. Of these, the report said 35,539 were classed as open, infectious cases.

Slightly more than 21,000 beds are available for isolation and treatment of tuberculosis patients in hospitals, the report continued.

Syphilis also was reported at a rate more than 50 per cent above May, 1946. Otherwise, the incidence of all major communicable diseases in the American zone was lower in May than a year ago.

Prisons Filled To Overflowing

The report also recorded:

Industrial production in the United States zone continued upward during May, reaching 46 per cent of the 1946 average, but the outlook for further progress was "not so favorable" because the coal situation was not improving as rapidly as had been hoped.

American zone prisons are filled to overflowing. Of the total of 27,089 inmates, more than 7,500 are unsentenced prisoners awaiting trial. Court operations are hampered by a shortage of qualified personnel, the report said.

Exports from the United States zone netted $10,589,000 at the end of May, an increase of $1,808,389 over the previous month.

REDS USE WOMEN IN URANIUM MINES

Germans Pressed into Service in Saxony to Speed Atomic Research.

BERLIN, July 13—(AP) The Soviet-controlled newspaper Nacht Express said today the Russians were putting hundreds of German women to work in uranium mines in southern Saxony, near the Czechoslovak border.

The Russian-authorized report was published following circulation of unconfirmed rumors that many German men were going into hiding to escape compulsory labor in the uranium mines, which the Soviets are reported working at top speed to advance their atomic research.

The Express said in a Dresden dispatch that the women between ages of 18 and 40, were being recruited in the Schneeberg region.

"The employment of women in the uranium mines is being expanded," the dispatch added.

No information was given about working and living conditions for the women. Unofficial reports have said that many of the men employed in the mines lived in barracks surrounded by wire fences, and that portions of the area were closely guarded.

SWISS EXPAND GERMAN TIES

Sign Agreement for Trading With Soviet Occupation Zone

BERLIN, July 13 (AP)—The Soviet Military Administration announced today the conclusion of a new trade agreement between the Russian occupation zone of Germany and Switzerland.

No estimate was given of the amount of goods expected to be exchanged. The agreement, effective July 20 for one year, replaces a previous pact negotiated in August, 1946.

Last month Switzerland also concluded an agreement with the combined British-United States zones of western Germany.

C-47 in Germany Crash; 10 Americans Uninjured

BERLIN, July 13 (AP).—Ten Americans on board a C-47 Army transport plane which crash-landed yesterday in the Russian occupation zone when an engine caught fire were back in Berlin today uninjured.

Four of the occupants parachuted before the pilot, Captain Walter Berger, of Wingate, N. C., landed the plane near Sangerhausen, in Thuringia. Among them was Mrs. Herbert Schiller, twenty-one, wife of a Military Government employee and formerly of 730 Grand Concourse, the Bronx, New York. Mrs. Schiller and the other jumpers landed in trees. Russian soldiers assisted them.

Two other women passengers, Mrs. H. J. Thorkelson, formerly of 350 West Fifty-seventh Street, New York, and Miss Dorothy Stell, Military Government secretary from Milwaukee, remained in the plane until it landed. Air Forces public relations reported erroneously last night that Mrs. Thorkelson also had bailed out.

At the time of the forced landing, the plane was en route to Paris to pick up Military Government personnel attending a conference on civil affairs.

GERMANS FLEE RUSSIAN ZONE BY THOUSANDS

Migration Into Bavaria Attributed To Fear Of Forced Labor

Munich, Germany, July 13 (AP)—Germans are fleeing from the Russian zone into Bavaria in such numbers that the American Military Government described the situation today as serious.

L. M. Minicliер, the AMG chief of public welfare in Bavaria, said "we are aware of the seriousness of the situation" and that a report would be made to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, theater commander.

Dr. Adolf Uhsler, assistant commissioner for refugees in the German administration, said 30,000 had sneaked across the borders into Bavaria in the past two months. The refugees said they left the Russian zone to avoid forced labor.

Bavarians Prefer Them

Some effort to stop the flow was made July 3, when the Army sent 1,200 back to the Soviet Zone. But it apparently has failed to discourage others.

Surprisingly, the Bavarians themselves have little objection to the new refugees. Minicliер said the authorities would rather accept them as Reichsdeutsche than the expellees from the Sudetenland or Czechoslovakia, known as Volksdeutsche.

Afraid Of Russ Forced Labor

Eight hundred of the latest group to flee from Thuringia and Saxony are housed now at one of seven transit camps set up around Bavaria for such problem cases. This band is in a camp near Dachau in rude shelters once used by the Nazis to house slave labor.

These Germans all said they ran away because they were afraid they would be shipped into Russia to labor in mines or factories.

Several commented that all former German soldiers in the Soviet zone now were being registered.

They said they saw fellow Germans in what seemed to be new Wehrmacht uniforms being marched through several communities under Soviet guard. Many are working in uranium diggings at Oberschlema, in Saxony, others said.

Bavarian officials sympathize with the refugees but call the whole problem a "big headache" now, because of food and housing shortage.

Soviet Troop Trains Reported in Hungary

BUDAPEST, July 13 (AP).—A reliable Hungarian source reported today that Russian occupation authorities had ordered the Hungarian government to produce immediately 120 railway trains for transportation of Russian troops from east to west inside Hungary.

The informant declared he had seen the written order for the trains sent to Minister of Communications Jozef Gero, a leading Communist. He added that if the trains were required for infantry troops, 120 of them could transport 40,000 men.

Bulgaria Approves Soviet Trade Pact

$87,000,000 Agreement to Cover 1947 and '48

SOFIA, July 13 (AP).—Vice-Premier Triacho Kostov, who recently returned from Moscow, said last night that the Bulgarian Cabinet had approved an $87,000,000 trade agreement with Russia covering 1947-'48 imports and exports.

Bulgaria's chief imports from Russia are cotton, rubber, railway cars, automobiles, trucks and tractors, spare parts, machinery and medicine. Twenty thousand tons of tobacco valued at $36,000,000 will represent more than 88 per cent of Bulgaria's exports to Russia.

The Russians also are crediting Bulgaria with $5,000,000,000, payable over several years.

Bulgaria also has concluded a $10,000,000 trade pact with Hungary.

Russia's Watch On Sweden

Moscow, July 13 (AP)—The Soviet Government will watch closely the position of Sweden at the Paris conference on the Marshall proposal for American economic aid to Europe, informed sources here said today.

These sources said the Russian Government was concerned over Sweden's participation in the Paris conference and the possibility that the Scandinavian nation would take part in the program of European reconstruction proposed by United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

On "Economic Penetration"

Russian concern was indicated in an article today in Izvestia, the official Government newspaper, which assailed "American economic penetration" of Sweden and asserted that Sweden's economic interests were at odds with those of the United States, France and Great Britain.

The newspaper expressed Soviet concern over what it termed "the attack of the American dollar on Sweden."

A Tass dispatch from Paris scoffed at the use of the word "European" to describe the Paris conference and declared that of the sixteen participating nations, "only half fought against Hitlerite Germany."

Again Expresses Doubt

The brief dispatch of the official news agency was the only notice paid directly in the Soviet press to yesterday's opening of the Paris meeting. Tass reiterated previous Soviet expressions of doubt that the conference would succeed.

The Tass dispatch said that "the so-called conference of European states cannot be considered even by a fertile imagination to be a European conference."

Tass said that attempts of Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, and Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, to bring at least 22 nations into the conference met with failure, and added that the "small attendance" caused an attitude of reserve among those who attended.

Mentions Turk War Trade

In making the observation that "only half" of the participating nations fought against Germany, Tass mentioned the presence of Italy and Austria, who "fought against the Allies," and neutral Turkey, Eire and Portugal. Turkey, said Tass, was a country "which did not do so badly trading chrome and ores with Germany" while the Allies were at war with the Axis.

[Other "neutrals" represented at Paris are Sweden, Switzerland and Iceland. After Italy's surrender she came into the war on the side of the Allies. Austria was annexed by Germany before the outbreak of war.]

Izvestia's article on Sweden was written by P. Grinn, who said that American economic penetration of that country was "not limiting itself to industry and trade, but extending to questions of Sweden's external political orientation."

Viewed As Admonishing Sweden

In London the Izvestia article, which was broadcast from Moscow, was interpreted as a Soviet admonition to Sweden that she had nothing to gain from participation in the Marshall aid-Europe setup.

American interference in Swedish affairs takes "many and various forms," the broadcast account said, including distribution in Sweden of films, radio programs and what it called "putrid literature" at cut prices.

Izvestia quoted Stockholm papers for charges that United States industrialists were angling for control of Swedish firms, strengthening ties with "certain Swedish banks" and had blocked a proposed state monopoly on distribution of oil products.

Charges Military Turn

"The increasingly insistent attempt of the United States to incline the Swedes for collaboration in the military sphere also speaks volumes," Izvestia added.

The radio also carried a comment on the Marshall plan from the publication New Times asserting that any American credits would be "contingent" upon control of the countries accepting such aid.

"The very suddenness and vagueness of this (Marshall) offer was a tactical maneuver with the aim of promoting far-reaching plans for the economic and political expansion of American monopolies in Europe," New Times said.

IRGUN DEFIES BRITISH ARMY

Kidnapped Pair Held In Face Of Martial Law Threat

Jerusalem, July 13 (AP)—Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, announced today that two British army sergeants kidnapped at Natanya yesterday as hostages for three Irgunists under death sentence were unharmed and defied the British army and police to free them.

"The men are in a place where they can be kept a month or more," the Irgun announcement said.

British authorities still held the threat of martial law over Natanya as they directed an intensive search for the abducted sergeants. They warned that unless the men were returned by tomorrow night military rule would be imposed on a 60-square-mile area. Previously the deadline had been reported as midnight tonight.

Irgun's Ultimatum

Irgun Zvai Leumi has admitted kidnapping the sergeants, Clifford Martin and Mervin Paice, from in front of a cafe in Natanya, Palestine diamond capital, 40 miles north of Tel Aviv.

Irgun subsequently informed Mayor Oved Ben Ami, of Natanya, that the sergeants would not be turned loose unless Sir Alan Cunningham, the British High Commissioner, commuted the death sentences imposed on three Jews convicted of participating in the Acre Prison delivery last May.

Top Palestine Government officials were reported unofficialy to be meeting in Jerusalem to decide whether to declare Natanya a "controlled area" and subject to military rule.

Hagana May Rejoin Search

Leaders of Hagana, the so-called Jewish national defense army, also were reported meeting here to decide whether to rejoin the search for the kidnapped pair.

Hagana, which is pledged to maintain order in the Holy Land during sessions of the United Nations special commission on Palestine, threw 500 men into the hunt yesterday, but withdrew at dusk because of what it called the "interference" of British troops.

The troops, meanwhile, made house-to-house searches in the villages of Evan Yduda, Kraf Neter Mishman Hasharon, Maabaroth and Kraf Haiim.

Seeking Only The Kidnapped Pair

Mayor Ben Ami said the soldiers had been ordered—in an apparent move to obtain the utmost co-operation from the villagers—to seek only the kidnapped men and their captors, and to ignore any discoveries of illegal arms or suspects not connected with the abduction.

A military source said if Natanya and vicinity were declared "controlled area," residents would be subject to house curfew, soldiers would take over the usual civil facilities, and the area would be isolated from other parts of Palestine.

Martial law was imposed for two weeks last March on a Jewish district of Jerusalem and all of Tel Aviv, after a series of underground attacks including the blasting of a British officers' club in Jerusalem.

U.N. Commission In Session

The United Nations Commission, which has warned that execution of the three convicted Irgun members might provoke "repercussions," continued hearings today on the future of Palestine.

Samuel Mikunis, secretary of the Jewish Communist party of Palestine, called for British evacuation of the Holy Land and said "we advocate a plan that Palestine should be constituted as an independent, democratic, bi-unitarian state."

He said Jews and Arabs would have equal rights.

"An Investigation, Not A Show"

Dr. W. Erhlich, member of the party's central committee, told the commission it should demand the "evacuation of British forces from Palestine."

Persons attending the hearing applauded Erhlich's speech, and were warned by Chairman Emil Sandstroem, of Sweden, "not to show your feelings by demonstration."

"I emphasize that this is an investigation and not a show for the education of the public," Sandstroem said.

Natanya, named for the late American Jewish philanthropist Nathan Straus, is a center of the Holy Land's diamond industry. Immigrants from Belgium and the Netherlands developed the industry there since 1939.

Arab Youths Back Boycott

JAFFA, Palestine, July 13 (AP).—Delegates asserting they represented 50,000 Arab youths today swore, "in the name of Allah," that they would support decisions by the Arab Higher Executive to boycott Jewish goods and prevent sales of land to Jews.

Kemal Effendi Arikat, second in command of the Arab Youth movement, told the delegates that 'Britons, Americans and Jews must come to know that we will fight and throw them into the sea." Another leader, Mohammed Nimer Huwari, said: "If liberty is not given us, we must fight for it."

Chinese Claim Local Gains in Shantung Area

Nationalists Report Success at 'Key Points' South of Tsinan, Also in Hopeh

PEIPING, July 13 (AP).—Heavy fighting in the area of Wanteh and Chiehshou, a score of miles south of Tsinan, the Shantung provincial capital, was reported today in Chinese government dispatches, which said several "key points" had been wrested from the Communists.

No mention was made of Taian, important town thirty-three miles south of Tsinan, which the Communists claimed to have captured two days ago and from which the official Central News Agency admitted government forces had withdrawn.

Accounts in pro-government newspapers credited government troops with better success farther north, saying they had recaptured Pahsien, forty miles west of Tientsin, in Hopeh Province, and three towns flanking the northern sector of the Peiping-Hankow Railway, which last week was reopened for the ninety miles between Peiping and Paoting.

[The Communist radio said nothing of the reported threat to Tsinan, but announced a series of advances by Communist General Chen-yi in southern Shantung near the much more important government base of Suchow. Among the towns taken, it said were Tsaochuang, coal-mining center forty-four miles northeast of Suchow, and Yihsien, on a railway thirty-seven miles northeast of Suchow.]

Cheng in Mukden

Meanwhile, General Chen Cheng, government chief of staff, has arrived at Mukden for conferences on the Manchurian situation, according to reports from that city.

General Tu Li-ming, government commandant for Manchuria, told reporters at Mukden that the Communists were regrouping at distances of fifty to eighty miles for new attacks on the Szepingkai area, but that he did not think they would be ready for at least three months.

80 Tinted Blue Over Mukden

NANKING, July 13 (AP).—In Manchuria, those flying saucers are milk colored, tinted blue. The Chinese Central News Agency reported from Mukden today that a man saw eighty of them in one hour on the night of July 10. They were about one foot in diameter, he said, and were milk colored, tinted blue. Nobody else reported having seen them.

Japanese Labor Backs CIO, AFL

TOKYO, July 13 (AP)—Japan's Congress of Industrial Unions notified the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Federation of Labor today of its "serious interest" in the Taft-Hartley Act. It pledged to support American Labor in the "struggle" against the act.

White-Collar Immigrants

Buenos Aires, July 13 (AP)—Sources in the Italian colony here said today the first of the Italian immigrants who arrived here recently were "almost exclusively" professional men, but that later groups would be the trained workers Argentina wanted.

Italia Libre, a weekly newspaper, said that nearly all the first group were chosen through the influence of leaders of the Italian Christian Democratic party, the clergy, or members of the Argentine commission which went to Italy to arrange for the movement of immigrants.

One Dismissed, Other Resigned

Shortly after the first group arrived on the steamer Santa Fe, Adolfo Scilingo, codirector of the Argentine mission in Rome, was dismissed from the diplomatic corps for "administrative reasons." A few days later the Rev. Clemente

30.24-1090K

Silva, the other codirector, resigned.

Italia Libre said that professional men had been "captiously" classified as farmers, electricians or skilled aviation workers.

The paper suggested the Italian Government should make sure the immigrants were correctly classified.

MISSION SEEKS POLICY IN CHINA

Hope For More Positive Plan Put In Wedemeyer Trip

Washington, July 13 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer's presidental mission to China this week has American officials hoping it will show the way toward a more positive United States policy in the Orient.

Involved in this hope apparently is the feeling that American activities in the Far East are out of line with those in Europe where a policy of "firm containment" of Soviet expansion is being developed.

However, official belief that Wedemeyer may find a way out of the Chinese dilemma for American diplomacy is not very strong. Many responsible authorities here take the view that the tragic condition in which China's 400,000,000 people exist today makes a proper realization of American aims there almost if not entirely impossible.

Failure Of Marshall Mission

It has been more than six months since Gen. George C. Marshall left China at the end of a futile year of trying to unify the Nationalist and Communist political forces.

His failure was in keeping with the American record in China which consists of an impressive list of shortcomings in attaining the main objectives of helping China grow into a strong self-reliant country, economically healthy, politically sound and able to exercise a stabilizing influence throughout Asia.

With such a China there would be no problem with Russia in Asia.

War Service In China

Wedemeyer, who is expected to review latest Chinese developments with State Department officials the first part of the week, is familiar with all this, having served as American commander in China in the last years of the war with Japan.

His present job is to find as exactly as he can what the facts are.

Among other things he presumably will investigate Soviet conduct in neighboring Korea and in the Dairen-Port Arthur section of Manchuria which the Russians still actually control, though the Chinese are supposed to have a civil government in Dairen.

Question Of Moscow Backing

He presumably will also look into evidence of relationships between the Chinese Communists and the Soviet Government. American policy today has been based generally on the assumption that they were not real Communists, subservient to Moscow, so much as rebellious farmers.

Authorities agree that Wedemeyer will find conditions in China worse than when Marshall left. Inflation is more extreme. The civil war is more advanced, with less chance of a peaceful settlement seen.

Such "liberals" as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has put into the Government at General Marshall's request have not, according to information here, been given any real authority.

European Policy Compared

In Europe the policy of "firm containment" of Russia is being developed partly on the Truman doctrine as expressed in Greece and Turkey and partly on the Marshall plan for economic recovery of Europe. But conditions in China are so out of line with those of Europe that neither type of solution appears to be applicable.

The United States thus far has been reluctant to take a position in support of Chiang Kai-shek which would give the Russians excuse for outright vigorous support of the Chinese Communists.

Moreover, diplomatic authorities say that whereas a few hundred million dollars may go far toward rehabilitating Greece it would take untold billions to do much for China until the Chinese themselves do something.

BUDGET SAVINGS LARGELY OFFSET BY FOREIGN AID

WASHINGTON, July 13 — (AP) Government officials said today a steep rise in unbudgeted costs of foreign aid threatens to cancel out much of the domestic budget savings Congress is effecting.

This is so, they told a reporter, without counting a cent for further foreign aid under the Marshall Plan for "help to those foreign nations who help themselves."

Two Large Items

Two items of foreign aid already committed add $900,000,000 to costs not counted in President Truman's January budget, which called for spending $37,500,000,000. One, almost completely overlooked and beyond the reach of this Congress, is a $500,000,000 increase over budget estimates in British loan spending.

(Although the $3,750,000,000 loan voted Britain a year ago was then expected to last at least three years, the British are now expected on both sides of the Atlantic to exhaust the entire sum before next summer.

(Britain, unrestricted as to spending speed, used $2,050,000,000 in the fiscal year just ended and is now expected to spend the remaining $1,700,000,000 by next spring although the U. S. budget estimate for it, now obsolete, remains $1,200,000,000 for the next 12 months.)

The other item is the $400,000,000 aid program for Greece and Turkey which has been authorized by Congress although the money itself has not yet been appropriated. This program was not in sight when the budget was compiled.

Meanwhile, executive agency scorekeeping on completed and preliminary budget action by Congress to date shows prospective reductions—much lower than the Republicans in Congress claim—of about $1,200,000,000, apart from an $800,000,000 in appropriations for tax refunds that the administration calls a "phony" reduction.

Even these reductions in domestic budget items are cancelled out in part by other appropriations of Congress that were not foreseen in the budget.

The latter include $74,000,000 voted for control of foot and mouth disease among cattle, and about $6,500,000 to cover costs of administering two labor laws.

May Cancel All Cuts

Some well-placed Democratic officials say unbudgeted additions to costs may in the end cancel all the cuts effected by Congress' economy drive.

As one put it, after all the economizing Congress does, spending may be higher instead of lower than the $37,500,000,000 the President budgeted before Congress went into action.

On the other side of the developing budget picture, revenues give promise of soaring perhaps $4,000,000,000 above the budget estimate of $38,800,000,000.

If that happens, a budget surplus of over $5,000,000,000 would follow although spending stayed up to original budget expectations.

Whether this surplus actually comes about will depend upon whether the business boom continues or, as some officials fear, a recession sets in to cut down revenue and simultaneously increase spending for relief and the like.

Administration strategy is reported by reliable sources to protect the potential surplus against a tax cut so that Marshall's plan can be allowed for and something—at least $1,000,000,000—be left to use in paring down the $258,000,000,000 Federal debt.

All of the officials who discussed the budget asked not to be quoted by name.

France Is Urged To Guard Liberty

Washington, July 13 (AP)—Senator Wiley (R., Wis.) said today it is "the prayerful hope of the American people that heroic France may conquer the Red menace, as well as other dictator threats to her hallowed freedom."

He made public a letter he sent to the French Ambassador, Henri Bonnet, extending his best wishes to the country on Bastille Day tomorrow and adding:

"The peoples of Europe are looking to France to help bring about the fall of another Bastille, the entrenched citadel of communistic reaction, which is to be found in almost every land in Europe; in some lands seeking control of the people, in other lands already possessing control."

Wiley, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Bastille Day, the French independence celebration, falls this year in a time of grave crisis.

"The meeting in Paris on the Marshall plan may well prove as monumental a landmark in human freedom as was the fall of the Bastille over a century and a half ago," he observed.

Senator Flanders Asks End Of U.N. Veto Power

Washington, July 13 (AP)—Senator Flanders (R., Vt.) today declared Russia should be "forced" to accept an amendment permitting her United Nations veto power to be overridden.

Flanders proposed that the United Nations Charter be changed to allow a three-fourths vote of the Assembly to offset a veto. The veto allows big powers to nullify important decisions.

"The United States must take leadership in putting firm pressure on Russia, to force her to change tactics and accept this veto amendment," the Senator declared in a broadcast interview.

"It was never intended that the veto be used freely," he added.

Flanders is one of ten senatorial authors of a resolution before Congress calling for a charter conference looking to amendments to strengthen the United Nations.

Flanders said that Russia "is using the veto power in withdrawing herself and her satellites from the Marshall plan [to aid European economic recovery], which, while not a provision of the United Nations, is a move toward world peace."

He said he believed enough pressure could be brought on Russia to bring about a change in the United Nations charter veto provision within a year.

GRISWOLD IS ENROUTE TO GREEK AID POST

WASHINGTON, July 13—(AP) Dwight Griswold, head of the Greek-aid mission, took off today for Athens in President Truman's new plane.

The plane is to stop at Frankfurt, Germany, to pick up Mrs. Griswold and then go on to Greece.

Also aboard was the body of the late Greek ambassador, Cimon P. Diamantopoulos, who died several months ago.

Griswold told a news conference Friday that $35,000,000 in military equipment is being sent to Greece as a start on the program of aiding the Greek government stem Communism. A total of $400,000,000 has been authorized for the Greek-Turkish program.

ATOMIC BOMB SECRETS KEPT SAFE, SAYS FBI

Abstracted Data Did Not Fall Into Other Hands, Officials Believe

Washington, July 13 (AP)—A Federal Bureau of Investigation official today said the FBI believes the atom-bomb secrets that two ex-army sergeants are accused of taking did not get away from them before they were arrested.

"It is our best information that none of the secrets they had in their possession got beyond these two boys," the official said.

Similar belief was expressed by members of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy. Chairman Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican Senator, said the committee is "comfortably satisfied on that."

The FBI previously had said that evidence indicates no link with "foreign espionage."

The two accused men, formerly stationed at the Los Alamos (N.M.) atomic-testing station, were arrested yesterday, swiftly following authorization by the Justice Department of their prosecution.

Both To Be Arraigned

Both will be arraigned tomorrow, Alexander Von Der Luft, 23, in Pittsburgh, and Ernest D. Wallis, 34, in Chicago. The charge is removing and concealing documents, which carries a possible maximum penalty of a $2,000 fine and three years in jail. The FBI refused permission to interview them and they have made no statements. They did not even know each other and apparently had no connection, the FBI said.

The FBI said the secret data were turned up in Von Der Luft's room at Princeton University, a family wall safe at Mount Lebannon, Pa., where he was arrested, and in Wallis's photographic studio in Chicago.

Souvenir Hunting Charged

Hickenlooper, in disclosing to the Senate last week the disappearance of the documents, said they were, "as we believe, completely and fully recovered." He said the men were souvenir hunters.

A full year appears to have elapsed during whcih the information was missing—some of it labeled by the FBI "top secret" and some "highly confidential."

The men were discharged in the Spring of 1946 after service at Los Alamos where they were assigned to the Manhattan district project, the name by which atomic research was known when it was under Army direction until this year when control came under the Civilian Atomic Energy Commission.

Investigation Is Begun

The FBI said it learned April 30, 1947, that certain documents were missing and began its investigation.

Von der Luft was interviewed at Princeton University, where he had resumed study after his discharge.

"A search of his room at the university resulted in the recovery of approximately 200 pages of handwritten notes and other documents marked 'secret' pertaining to the atomic bomb," the FBI said.

"In addition, a folder was located in the family vault at Mt. Lebanon containing confidential and highly restricted data pertaining to the development and construction of the atomic bomb."

Pictures Called "Top Secret"

Turing to Wallis, the FBI said he was interviewed and his studio searched, disclosing about 200 photographs and negatives showing various phases of the bomb and test explosions. Numerous pictures and negatives were classified "top secret," the FBI said.

Asked whether the confidential information would have to be made public when the cases come up in court, the official said "that problem will have to be faced when we come to it."

Committee Is Satisfied

Recent suggestions that unfound prints might have been made from the negatives were not taken seriously by Hickenlooper. He said the committee was satisfied on that point, also on the basis of representations by the FBI and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Hickenlooper's committee this week plans to conduct an inquiry into various published reports of possible leaks of atomic information.

Von Der Luft's Parents Expect His Vindication

Pittsburgh, July 13 (AP)—The parents of Alexander Von Der Luft, recovering from the initial shock of his arrest by FBI agents on charges of taking atomic bomb secrets, today expressed complete confidence their son would be vindicated.

"I just know everything will be all right," his mother said in a firm voice. "I have every confidence in this boy of mine. He's always been a perfect son and he wouldn't do anything wrong now."

"It's just a circumstance he got caught in," she continued. "He wasn't doing anything he thought was wrong. He just wanted a souvenir."

The boy's father, Oscar Von Der Luft, manager of a Pittsburgh district chemical plant, added:

"We think Alexander is innocent—that he absolutely didn't do anything wrong except engage in a little souvenir hunting just like a lot of other soldiers."

The senior Von Der Luft said he had engaged counsel for his son, but declined to give his name, pending a conference with the lawyer tonight.

"He's a pretty young lad and we know he is innocent," his father repeated. "We'll back him to the limit."

Man Now Held In Atom Case Reassured By FBI, Says Wife

Chicago, July 13 (1947)—The Chicago Tribune today quoted the wife of a former army sergeant accused by the Government of taking atom-bomb secrets as saying that the FBI had assured her husband that because he had been "so co-operative and so frank, he had nothing to worry about."

The Tribune said that Mrs. Sylvia Wallis, 28, told Julius Schwartz, attorney retained by Ernest D. Wallis, 34, Chicago photographer, that the assurance was given her husband last May by an FBI agent after Wallis had turned over to the Government a drawer full of negatives.

Neither Mrs. Wallis nor Schwartz was available for comment on the Tribune story.

"Took Negatives Openly"

Wallis, arrested in Chicago yesterday at his studio, will be arraigned here tomorrow on charges of removing and concealing documents. The charge carries a possible maximum penalty of a $2,000 fine and three years in prison.

The Tribune said that Schwartz told the newspaper Wallis had told him the negatives were taken from the Los Alamos (N.M.) atomic laboratory openly and in good faith.

The story said the attorney quoted Wallis as saying that when he left Los Alamos prior to his discharge in March, 1946, he tossed into his luggage a "bunch of duplicate negatives which he thought had outlived their value as secret records."

Some Reported Published

The newspaper account said Schwartzr related that Wallis had told him many of the negatives already had been released for publication in newspapers and magazines and that Wallis thought some time in the future he might write a magazine article on his experience and use some of the photographs to illustrate it.

The Tribune said that Schwartz quoted Wallis as saying that when he and Mrs. Wallis bought a photography studio in Chicago, the negatives were tossed into a drawer with other negatives and that he had not had the opportunity to sort and classify them when the FBI took the whole drawerful.

Questioned Last April

The FBI first questioned Wallis last April, Schwartz said in the story, and told Wallis he should not have taken the negatives, but took no other action. The Tribune quoted Schwartz as declaring he was convinced that Wallis acted without knowledge that he was violating any directives or regulations.

Wallis was a photographer in Cleveland, Ohio, from 1939 to July 1943, when he entered the Army. After assignment to Camp Claiborne, La., he was transferred to the Manhattan project and was placed in charge of one section of the photographic work.

Purchased Studio

Following his release from the Army, Wallis purchased the business and name of the Paul Stone-Raymor Studios in Chicago, paying $2,900 as down payment.

Also seized by the FBI yesterday, was Alexander Von Der Luft, 23, a Princeton University student, who was taken into custody in Mount Lebanon, Pa., his home. The FBI announced that his arrest was made in connection with the taking of documents marked "secret" from the Los Alamos laboratory.

The FBI in Washington said Wallis and Von Der Luft were not acquainted.

U.S. BACKS AUSTRIA AND ITALY IN U.N.

May Oppose Membership Bids Of 3 Russ Satellites

HAUCK

Lake Success, N.Y., July 13 (AP)—The United States will plump for early admission of Austria and Italy to the United Nations, but may oppose the entry of three Russian satellites in the Balkans, authoritative sources said today.

A Security Council membership committee begins work tomorrow on nine bids, including three previously vetoed by Russia.

The old applicants are Ireland, Portugal and Trans-Jordan, blocked by Russia, and Albania and Outer Mongolia, voted down by the Council.

Four New Applicants

The new ones are Italy, Austria, Hungary and Romania. Finland and Bulgaria also may apply in time for summer consideration.

The United States is considering opposing Hungary, Romania and Albania by questioning whether they are peace-loving states and are willing and able to carry out the obligations of the charter.

Sources close to Delegate Warren R. Austin said the American position would not solidify until the conclusion of talks being carried on in Paris, Moscow, London and Nanking by United States ambassadors. These conversations augment preliminary conferences here among delegates from the Big Five powers, which hold the power individually to veto any applicant.

Russ Stand Against Austria

On the basis of Andrei A. Gromyko's vigorous objection to prevent consideration of Austria at this time, the Soviet Union can be expected to reject any move to add that country to the present 55 members.

Russia previously agreed that Austria was not to be considered an ex-enemy state, and the United States contends that, as long as a Government is now functioning in Vienna, there is no reason to await the signing of a peace treaty. Treaty negotiations, bogged down over Soviet demands for indirect reparations, may drag on for months.

The crux of the disagreement there is Russian insistence that Austria's oil and shipping interests, backbone of her economy, are German assets and, therefore, subject to reparations. The United States holds the view that yielding on that point would give Russia economic—and, eventually, political—control of Austria.

Italy And Russ Satellites

Italy stands in the same position as Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary, with their treaties awaiting Moscow's signing. Under these conditions, the Soviet Union cannot hope to get its satellites into the organization without also approving Italy.

In addition to the necessity of avoiding a veto, seven of the eleven council votes are necessary for approval of a candidate. In the 1946 tests Albania mustered five votes and Outer Mongolia six. Britain and the United States both voted no, but were not required to exercise the veto as both bids failed of passage regardless.

Both British and American sources indicated their governments felt that Albania had certainly not improved her standing in the eyes of the world during the past year. For one thing, the Albanian Government so far has refused to summit the Corfu Channel mining case, where she was accused of damaging two British ships, to the International Court of Justice as directed by the council.

The Case Of Outer Mongolia

Recent clashes between troops from China and Soviet-sponsored Outer Mongolia have not helped the case of the rugged Asiatic country either. Last year China voted to admit that neighbor. Nanking's attitude this time will be watched by the western powers for possible guidance on their decision.

There was still an outside possibility that the United States would reiterate its original stand of last year when it asked for the blanket admission of all applicants. Russia quickly opposed that on the grounds that she could not approve Ireland, Portugal and Trans-Jordan because they had no diplomatic relations with Moscow.

Fall Freedom Move By Morocco Forecast

New York, July 13 (AP)—A Moroccan spokesman today advised the United Nations that Morocco would formally demand independence from France and Spain this fall.

Mahdi Bennouna said he represented the Independence party in French Morocco, the Democratic party in French Morocco, the National Reform party in Spanish Morocco, the Popular Algerian party and the Tunisian Constitutional party.

He did not say who would formally file such a demand or to which United Nations body it would be directed.

In a letter to Trygve Lie, Secretary-General, the Moroccans offered a long list of charges against France and Spain. They contended that natives were ruled with an "iron hand" and deprived of elementary rights.

Disks Bob Up In France And Manchuria—Texas Mystery Solved

New York, July 13 (AP)—Flying saucers, once a peculiarly American phenomenon, are getting about more these days.

The Chinese Central News Agency reported today from Mukden, Manchuria, that a man saw 80 of the disks in one hour on the night of July 10. It quoted the man as saying the objects were about 1 foot in diameter, milk-colored, tinted blue, and were flying in a southerly direction.

Two Sighted Over France

A resident of Le Mans, French town 100 miles southwest of Paris, reported that on Saturday morning he had seen two "strangely shaped things" which he thought were flying saucers, the newspaper Parisien Libere said.

He was quoted as saying the things "were flying noiselessly westwards" at a height of about 2,500 feet and were of a "greenish-gray color."

Brought To Earth In Texas?

Meanwhile, the Amarillo (Texas) Globe-News reported that a metal object 2 feet wide, 6 inches thick and 3½ feet long, was found in an alley in the Texas City Saturday night following an explosion and brief fire and that some residents of the area were of the opinion it was one of the elusive flying disks.

The burned apparatus, containing a mass of wires and some instruments, was identified by a label as a micropositioner and the name of the manufacturer was given as the Barber Colman Company, of Rockford, Illinois.

Gadget From Wing Of Plane

Amarillo, Texas, July 13 (AP)—Detective Captain J. L. King of the Amarillo police force said today a metal apparatus, found afire in an alley here following an explosion, had been identified as equipment from the wing of an army plane.

Many residents felt a flying disk had come to earth when the object, containing a mass of wires and electrical apparatus, was found, the Amarillo Globe-News reported.

King said an ex-service man on the Amarillo police force had identified the object as being from the wing of an army plane. An investigation is continuing.

Son of King of Yemen Will Seek to Broaden U. S. Trade Ties

Prince Seif el Islam Abdullah, son of King Yehya of Yemen, arrived at La Guardia Field last night from Cairo on the Trans World airliner Arc de Triomphe. The Prince was greeted by a number of Arabs.

Asked as to the purpose of his visit, the Prince said he was here "in reply to an official invitation from the United States Government and to establish the best possible relations with this country."

The Prince said he hoped to see something of the nation's industries, schools, hospitals and museums.

Asked about reports he was coming here to sign an agreement on sugar and for the development of mining in Yemen, he said he hoped for the establishment of broad trade relations. He said his country "is rich in coffee, mining and other mineral possibilities." Asked if the latter included oil, he replied, "No one knows yet."

The Prince and his party will go to Washington today.

LONDON, SUNDAY, JULY 13—(AP)—THE SOVIET PRESS CONTINUED ITS ATTACK ON THE MARSHALL AID-EUROPE PLAN TODAY BY LITTLING THE EUROPEAN ECONOMIC CONFERENCE AND ASSERTING THAT ANY AMERICAN CREDITS WOULD BE "CONTINGENT" UPON THE CONTROL OF THE COUNTRIES ACCEPTING AID.

THE TASS AGENCY QUOTED THE SOVIET PUBLICATION NEW TIMES AS SAYING THAT "THE VERY SUDDENNESS AND VAGUENESS OF THIS (MARSHALL) OFFER WAS A TACTICAL MANEUVER WITH THE AIM OF PROMOTING FAR-REACHING PLANS FOR THE ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL EXPANSION OF AMERICAN MONOPOLIES IN EUROPE."

THE NEW TIMES DECLARED THAT THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN WERE "CASTING ABOUT FOR A WAY OUT OF THEIR POSTWAR ECONOMIC DIFFICULTIES SEEKING TO ESCAPE THE APPROACHING CRISIS AT THE EXPENSE OF THE EUROPEAN PEOPLE."

PARIS, JULY 13-(AP)-THE 16-NATION STEERING COMMITTEE OF THE EUROPEAN ECONOMIC CONFERENCE MET AN HOUR AND A QUARTER TODAY, REAFFIRMED THAT SOVIET RUSSIA AND HER SATELLITES WOULD STILL BE WELCOME, AND SET ASIDE MOST OF ITS ORGANIZATION WORK FOR A LATER MEETING.

AN ACCOUNT OF THE SESSION INDICATED AT LEAST SOME OF THE NATIONS REGARDED THE SOVIET ATTITUDE WITH CONCERN.

MOST OF THE WORK TOWARD SETTING UP SUB-COMMITTEES TO ASSESS EUROPE'S ASSETS AND NEEDS BEFORE APPLYING FOR UNITED STATES FINANCIAL AID WAS DEFERRED.

INSTEAD THE COMMITTEE PAID PARTICULAR ATTENTION TO AMENDING THAT PHASE OF ITS REPORT WHICH ORIGINALLY SPECIFIED THAT "THE ORGANIZATION SHALL DO NOTHING TO VIOLATE NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY."

(RUSSIA HAS CHARGED THAT IMPLEMENTATION OF THE MARSHALL PROPOSAL AS PLANNED BY BRITAIN AND FRANCE WOULD INTERFERE WITH THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF PARTICIPANTS.)

THE AMENDED VERSION SAID NO ACTION SHALL BE TAKEN "IMPLYING A VIOLATION OF SOVEREIGNTY."

A FULL SESSION OF THE CONFERENCE WAS SCHEDULED FOR 4 P.M. (10 A.M. EST).

BRITISH SOURCES EARLIER HAD INDICATED SATISFACTION AT THE SPEED AT WHICH THE CONFERENCE HAS BEEN WORKING. THEY WERE KNOWN, HOWEVER, TO WANT TO HURRY THE WORK OF PICKING SUB-COMMITTEES TO DEAL WITH FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, IRON AND STEEL, FUEL AND POWER AND TRANSPORT.

A TIME TABLE ALREADY HAS BEEN WRITTEN FIXING SEPT. 1 AS THE DEADLINE FOR A COMPLETE REPORT ON EUROPE'S ABILITY AT SELF-HELP AND THE DEFICIT WHICH THE UNITED STATES WILL BE ASKED TO MEET.

ALL NATIONS AT THE CONFERENCE, WHICH OPENED HERE YESTERDAY, ARE REPRESENTED ON THE STEERING COMMITTEE. SOVIET RUSSIA AND EIGHT OF HER NEIGHBORS DECLINED TO TAKE PART IN THE CONFERENCE.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE PROBABLY WILL HAVE MEMBERSHIP ON ALL FOUR SUB-COMMITTEES, A BRITISH SPOKESMAN SAID. OTHER MEMBERS PROBABLY WILL BE CHOSEN FROM SIX OR SEVEN COUNTRIES MOST DIRECTLY CONCERNED WITH THE QUESTIONS TO BE CONSIDERED.

THE STEERING COMMITTEE APPROVED A FRENCH PROPOSAL REITERATING THAT THE DOOR WAS STILL OPEN TO RUSSIA AND THE EIGHT OTHER NATIONS WHICH REFUSED TO COOPERATE UNDER THE MARSHALL PROPOSAL.

THE FRENCH AMENDMENT SPECIFYING THAT ALL 16 NATIONS ATTENDING THE CONFERENCE WOULD BE REPRESENTED ON THE COMMITTEE, ADDED:

"AND ALL OTHER EUROPEAN STATES WHICH DECLARE THEMSELVES DESIROUS OF PARTICIPATING IN THE MUTUAL EFFORT."

PARIS, JULY 13-(AP)-PREMIER PAUL RAMADIER TODAY WARNED EASTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES HOLDING ALOOF FROM THE EUROPEAN ECONOMIC CONFERENCE THAT "THE HOUR HAS COME FOR EUROPE TO ORGANIZE OR DIE."

IN A SPEECH AT CHAMBERY DEDICATING A MONUMENT TO RESISTANCE LEADERS, RAMADIER SAID THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT "PROFOUNDLY REGRETTED" THAT RUSSIA "HAS REMAINED ALOOF." HE ADDED THAT THE DOOR WAS STILL OPEN FOR THE SOVIETS TO PARTICIPATE IN THE MARSHALL AID-EUROPE PROPOSAL.

"EUROPE DOESN'T STOP AT THE RHINE OR AT THE ODER OR AT THE VISTULA," HE SAID. "I FEAR GREATLY THAT IF EUROPE IS NOT CAPABLE OF ACHIEVING ITS UNITY AND LIFTING ITS VOICE, HUMANITY MAY BE DRAWN INTO I KNOW NOT WHAT MONSTROUS CATASTROPHE."

HAMMERING AWAY AT THE NEED FOR EUROPEAN COOPERATION WITH AMERICAN AID, RAMADIER SAID THAT "UP TO THIS DAY NO COUNTRY (OF EUROPE) HAS BEEN ABLE TO FIND THE MEANS FOR COMPLETE RECOVERY WITHIN HER OWN FORCES ALONE."

THE PREMIER SAID THAT "NO DOUBT IT IS RIGHT TO PROCLAIM THE NEED TO GUARANTEE THAT THROUGH THE MARSHALL PROGRAM ONE DOES NOT AIM TO CONSTITUTE A BLOC AGAINST THE SOVIET UNION, ANY MORE THAN AGAINST ANY OTHER COUNTRY."

"THE MARSHALL PROGRAM MUST NOT BE A PROGRAM OF SEPARATION BUT A PROGRAM OF COMMON WELFARE," HE ADDED.

"PEOPLE HAVE SEEMED TO FEAR THAT THERE WILL BE ECONOMIC SUBORDINATION CREATED TOWARD THE INTERESTS OF CAPITALISTIC GROUPS. NOBODY IN EUROPE WOULD ACCEPT SUCH SUBORDINATION AND I AM CONVINCED THAT THE PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES NEVER HAVE DREAMED AND NEVER WILL DREAM OF ASKING IT.

"EUROPE'S EFFORT MUST BE ACCOMPLISHED IN TOTAL INDEPENDENCE."

IF THIS IS CORRECT, WEDMEYER'S FIRST JOᴰ WILL ᴰE TO ASCERTAIN HOW LONG GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S GOVERNMENT CAN STAND UP UNDER THE MILITARY THUMPINGS IT IS RECEIVING FROM THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS.

WIDELY EXPERIENCED IN CHINA, WEDEMEYER IS NOT LIKELY TO ᴰE TAKEN IN ᴰY EXAGGERATED CLAIMS WHICH SOME MILITARY LEADERS ARE PRONE TO PUT FORTH AS FACT.

SOME OᴰSERVERS SAY THAT THE WEDEMEYER MISSION MAY ᴰE PRELIMINARY TO APPLYING THE TRUMAN DOCTRINE IN THE FAR EAST AS IN EUROPE, IF SUCH A DRASTIC STEP APPEARS WARRANTED ᴰY INVESTIGATION.

NEW BATTLE RAGES AS SECOND FORCE INVADES GREECE

Federal Troops Clash with Strong Guerrilla Units at Kalpaki.

OTHER DISORDERS FLARE

'Bandits' Attack 3 Towns, Fire Houses Before Being Routed.

ATHENS, Tuesday, July 15 (AP)—Greek government forces and strong guerilla units described by the government as the second invasion force from Albania in two days clashed late last night at Kalpaki in northwestern Greece, it was announced officially today.

Minister of Public Order Napoleon Zervas telephoned a report of the beginning of the battle to Premier Demetrios Maximos and advised him that government reinforcements were necessary, the official announcement said.

No details of the battle were reported.

"Bandits" Attack Town

The governor general of northern Greece, meanwhile, announced from Salonika that the town of Kastoria had been attacked by "bandits" who penetrated and set six houses on fire before they were driven out. He said also there had been two other minor attacks on communities in the same area.

The report of the battle at Kalpaki was preceded by a government announcement last night that "a new invasion of Greece took place this morning." A cabinet minister said the invasion was by a force of 2,500 men advancing on the city of Ioannina, 2 miles from the Albanian border.

Earlier the government said that Greek troops, reinforced by airborne combat veterans, had repelled a 1,000 man guerilla force from the gates of besieged Konitsa, 25 miles north of Ioannina and only six miles from the frontier in that sector. This announcement said the attackers had been driven back to the border.

The cabinet minister earlier said Greek troops were moving to intercept the new guerrilla force.

The minister described the situation as serious, but quoted Greek military leaders as saying "all is going well for us."

Ioannina (Yanina), largest city in the Epirus, has a population of approximately 20,000. It is a trade and industrial center, and during the latter part of the Middle Ages was an important town in that once Turkish-controlled section of Europe.

Kalpaki, also known as Elaia, is approximately 10 miles east of Corfu Channel.

The new force apparently is independent of the guerilla band which the government said invaded Greece from Albania yesterday and attacked Konitsa.

Cabinet In Emergency Session

There was some indication that the new unit was composed of Chamourans, Moslems living along the Greek-Albanian border who previously had been reported ready to attack Greece from Albania.

The announcement of the "new invasion" was made after an emergency meeting of Premier Dmetrios Maximos and heads of his three defense ministries—war, air and navy. Deputy Chief of Staff Gen. Tsakalotos also attended.

The "point of invasion" was not disclosed.

Existence of an "international brigade" was discounted as a "rumor," but the announcement said "there are foreign elements among the invaders."

The information concerning the newest action was received in a telephone call to Minister of War George Stratos from Gen. Napoleon Zervas, minister of public order, who flew to Ioannina.

"Considerable Greek forces are being concentrated to face the menace," the announcement added, "and efforts will be made to make a frontal contact with the invaders. The new contingent crossed into Greece this morning. Despite the serious situation, there is justified optimism over the eventual outcome."

Another conference will be held tomorrow of the three defense ministers and chiefs of their respective staffs and Minister of Finance Demetrios Helm's to determine the immediate needs of the army.

It was learned that the bulk of army reinforcements sent northward from Athens and Central Greece had been routed through Ioannina, and that strong concentrations of forces were there now.

There were no reports that light tanks or armored vehicles had been used in the Konitsa fighting, and it was regarded as highly unlikely that they were in action, because af the mountainous terrain.

Air Power Restricted

Use of air power near the Albanian frontier has been restricted by bad weather. However, light and heavy artillery pieces have been utilized.

A usually well informed source said the cabinet was gravely concerned about the reaction of the Allies to the attack, and that the ministers discussed whether help could be expected from abroad in case of an extreme emergency.

Acting swiftly to forestall what the government said was a Communist plot to overthrow the government, police and troops arrested 1,200 to 1,500 persons during the night. This brought the total number of arrests to more than 4,000 since an alleged plot to seize control of Greece's largest cities announced last week.

(An Associated Press dispatch from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, quoted Premier Enver Hoxha of Albania as saying that Greek-Albania border incidents were part of a plan by British-American "reactionaries whose aim is to bring about a new war, recommended by Truman's doctrine.")

Meanwhile, a sub-committee team of the United Nations Balkans investigating commission left Salonika by plane for Ioannina 25 miles south of Konista, to conduct an on-the-spot investigation.

The team was composed of representatives of the United States, Russia, Brazil, Australia and Syria.

Greeks Thrust Rebels Back To Albania

Athens, July 14 (AP)—Greek officials reported today a 1,000-man force that attacked the village of Konitsa yesterday had been pushed back to the Albanian border, six miles away.

The guerrilla ring around Konitsa apparently was broken during the night. Greek veterans of resistance fighting during the German occupation under Gen. Napoleon Zervas were engaging the rebels.

One official report said fighting was still in progress at an unidentified village about two miles from the Albanian frontier.

Government forces were reported officially to have recaptured the Greek half of the Saranta River bridge at Borozani.

U.N. Probers Coming

A subcommittee of the United Nations Balkan Commission flew from Salonika toward Konitsa for a spot investigation of what the Greek Government said was an invasion by an "international brigade." Representatives of the United States, Russia, Brazil, Australia and Syria were on the team.

A letter from the Greek liaison officer yesterday told the commission that an "international brigade" had invaded Greece from Albania and that this comprised a "flagrant violation of Greek territory which constitutes unprovoked aggression on the part of Albania."

(The commission has already reported to the United Nations that Yugoslavia and, to a less extent Albania and Bulgaria, were responsible for Greek internal strife. All three states are under Russian influence.)

Return Of Planes

Official concern had been expressed that the attackers would be reinforced during last night by elements of an "international brigade" declared concentrated on Albanian territory. No mention was made by officials today of any increased attacking strength, however.

An attaché of the Greek General Staff said civilian air line planes requisitioned yesterday to transport troops to the battle area, would probably be returned to owners tomorrow. His statement indicated pressure had eased.

New Arrests Reported

The arrest of another 1,200 to 1,500 persons in connection with the alleged Communist plot to start an uprising was disclosed today, lifting the total number held to more than 4,000.

The latest arrests were made yesterday and last night. Greek officials had announced the detention of some 3,000 previously.

Government informants said Greek forces had been strengthened greatly during daylight hours yesterday and were counterattacking in two columns north of Konitsa.

Still Arriving

Reinforcements were reported still arriving in the general area. There was no report of battling in the Grammos mountains, where the guerrillas started fighting on a fixed line for the first time last week.

Zervas, Minister of Public Order, said the "danger to Konitsa is over for the time being at least."

An emergency Cabinet meeting was scheduled for early afternoon.

A Foreign Ministry communique said the attacking force included "parts of an international brigade," and Air Minister Panayotis Kanellopoulos characterized the operation as "a serious attack against Greece."

Mount Grammos "Relief"

The general staff described the rebels' thrust as a "desperate move" to relieve Greek guerrilla forces on Mount Grammos itself, twenty miles from Konitsa, where Government troops have been fighting a major battle against a guerrilla force for two weeks.

The Government has reported the operations on Mount Grammos highly successful and has told of heavy guerrilla losses.

The Foreign Ministry did not explain its reference to an "international brigade." However, Kanellopoulos said the attacking force included a reserve of Chamourans, Moslems living along the Greek-Albanian border, who have frequently accused the Greek Government of persecution.

Most Are Elasites

Kanellopoulos indicated that the main body of the attackers was composed of members of the Elas—fighting arm of the leftwing National Liberation Front (E.A.M.), many of whom had left Greece following establishment of the present government.

Griswold Reaches Greece To Administer Program

ATHENS, July 14 (AP).—Dwight P. Griswold, administrator of the American program of aid to Greece, arrived at the Hassani Airport tonight. He declined to make any statement other than that he had "a fine trip."

Mr. Griswold flew from Washington to Rome in President Truman's new personal plane, the Independence, then transferred to the American military attache's plane for the remainder of the trip.

Sources here said he changed planes because the President's aircraft also was carrying the body of the late Greek Ambassador to the United States, Cimon P. Diamantopoulos, who died in New York last December, and Greeks regard travel with a dead man as an ill omen.

GREEK SUPERSTITION DELAYS GRISWOLD

Athens, July 14 (A. P.).—A Greek superstition changed the plans of Dwight Griswold, head of the American mission to aid Greece, who is en route to Athens.

Griswold took off from Washington yesterday in President Truman's new plane, which also carried the body of the late Greek Ambassador to the United States, Cimon P. Diamantopoulos, who died on December 6, 1946. American embassy spokesman said that Griswold was making a five-hour stop in Rome and would transfer there to the Military Attache's plane for the remainder of the trip because the Greeks regard travel with a dead man as an ill omen.

Whitehall Notes Greek Arrests

London, July 14 (AP)—Whitehall sources said today the British Government was concerned over the wholesale arrests of Communists, trade unionists and Left-wing liberals in Greece.

Greece reported the roundup of more than 4,000 persons suspected of complicity in a plot to start "a Communsit" uprising.

The Whitehall informants said that, in the British view, the Greek Government appeared to have been motivated by bitterness rather than restraint. They said restraint was "a policy that Britain has always counseled."

Two Main Worries

A Foreign Office spokesman said the Greek Government told Britain "four to six weeks ago" of the existence of an international brigade pledged to fight the Greek regime. The information, he said, was "not necessarily," accepted as clear evidence.

The sources who reported Britains "concern" over the arrests said the Cabinet was worried over:

1. Signs that the Greek Government's 100,000-man offensive against leftwing guerrillas was failing.

2. A virtual stalemate in the efforts of the United Nations Balkans Commission, which set out to report on, and possibly solve, the country's northern border troubles.

U.S. "Responsibility"

The sources said high-level British and American talks might be initiated to consider possible future steps in Greece if the situation there did not improve.

Asked whether intervention by British or United States troops was a possibility—one source replied:

"Britain has only 5,000 troops left in Greece. We certainly will not send more. And the 5,000 there could be used as a final resort. Greece is more a United States than a British responsibility today, anyway."

He declined to amplify this statement.

BRITONS SEE HASTE ON 'MOLOTOV PLAN'

9 Soviet Satellites Said to Be Hooked Up in Economic Union Rushed as Reply to Marshall

ARTHUR CAUTION

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—British officials said today there was reason to believe that the Soviet Union had undertaken a "Molotov Plan" to aid the economic recovery of eastern Europe as a countermeasure to the Marshall Plan.

These officials, all in close touch with the Foreign Office and Cabinet opinion, said at least nine eastern European states would join such a program, which would aim at the coordination and integration of their individual recovery plans.

They listed the states as the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, Finland, Yugoslavia and Albania. None of these is attending the Paris conference on the Marshall Plan. The Soviet occupation zone of Germany may later come into the picture, which would represent more than one-fifth the world's surface, the informants said.

The lowest common denominator in such a program was held to be a renunciation of any form of dollar aid from the United States that might, in the participants' views, imply acceptance of any political conditions.

Features of such a program would be an interchange of food and raw-material resources, credit agreements, planned production of the most needed consumer goods and even the formation of a customs union.

Reply to West Rushed

The officials said that although negotiations for trade pacts between Russia and countries in her orbit had been taking place for some time, several "undoubtedly" have been speeded up as a means of giving an answer to Western supporters of a dollar plan for all Europe.

30.24-10909

They cited the following recent announcements:

(1) Bulgaria and Russia have reached an $87,000,000 agreement for 1947-48 covering the exchange of cotton, rubber, railroad coaches, automobiles, trucks, tractors, spare parts, machinery, medicines, tobacco and food. Russia has promised a large-scale credit to Bulgaria repayable over several years.

(2) Bulgaria and Hungary have reached an interim trade agreement amounting to $10,000,000. Bulgaria's Vice Premier, M. K. Kostov, has announced that negotiations for similar deals are proceeding with Poland and Finland.

(3) Russia and Czechoslovakia have reached a five-year trade pact, one feature of which provides for Russia's sending the Czechs 200,000 tons of grain annually. Annual quotas under the pact will be fixed in advance by both Governments.

(4) Petru Groza, Rumanian Premier, and Gen. Enver Hoxha, Premier of Albania, are in Moscow. Presumably trade pacts will be among the subjects discussed.

Czechoslovakia and Poland concluded a cultural and economic unity agreement last week. Some persons regarded this as the final link in an interlocking network of eastern European pacts stopping a stage or two short of an outright pan-Slav alliance.

Friendship Accords as Prelude

Similar pacts were concluded a year ago. They included friendship and mutual-aid treaties between Russia and Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia and Poland as well as economic treaties between most of the others.

Meanwhile Britain is doing everything possible to reach full-scale food and trade agreements with the eastern European nations, a Board of Trade spokesman said. Apart from negotiations with Russia, talks were proceeding or were scheduled with Hungary, Bulgaria, Rumania and Yugoslavia.

The spokesman said the British had high hopes that the British-Soviet trade talks would end successfully in Moscow this week. He deprecated reports in the British and American press that a breakdown was imminent, and said latest reports from the British trade delegation in Moscow indicated that there were grounds for "at least cautious optimism."

The spokesman said the Russians had made proposals that would increase trade between the two nations to the highest level since the Soviet revolution. They envisaged a four-year pact that would give Britain 1,500,000 tons of cereal from the 1947 harvest and an additional 5,000,000 tons over the next three years.

In return, Britain would supply Russia with a wide range of goods, including steel rails, timber-cutting machinery, machine tools, engineering equipment, scientific instruments and other machinery.

Government leaders kept mum on the election and coalition talk. Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton made the last official statement two months ago, saying neither was under consideration.

Cabinet Shakeup, Vote Called Likely In Britain

London, July 14 (AP)—British politicians talked today of a possible shakeup in Prime Minister Attlee's Labor Cabinet and speculated that a coalition government or a new general election might be in the offing.

Some Cabinet changes were held certain. The Indian Office will go out of business soon and another post will undoubtedly be found for the present India Secretary, the popular Earl of Listowel.

Some political writers suggested that Herbert Morrison, Attlee's chief deputy and Lord President of the Council, might resign, and that Ernest Bevin would leave the Foreign Office after the Foreign Ministers meet in London in November. Bevin's health has been poor.

"Twelfth Hour" Nears

The general-election talk revived after Morrison's bleak pronouncement last week that the "twelfth hour" in Great Britain's economic crisis would strike next autumn.

"The view ... is that with the expiry of the American and Canadian loans by next spring . . . and the drastic import cut that will inevitably be necessary, a new mandate will be required from the electorate," the Sunday Chronicle said yesterday.

Government Silent

A possible Conservative party bid for a share in the Government came from Robert Boothby, Scottish industrialist and member of Parliament, who wrote in News of the World that a drastic economic overhaul was necessary. He declared:

"If this requires a national [coalition] government, then we should have one, for the good of Great Britain is more important than the Labor or Conservative parties."

British Believe Romania May Attack Oil Interests

LONDON, July 14 (AP).—Romania is demanding dismissal of Romanian nationals from the staffs of British oil companies in the Ploesti fields and may be preparing "the ground for an attack on the oil companies on the pretense of sabotage of production and managerial incompetence," Minister of State Hector McNeil told the House of Commons today.

Mr. McNeil expressed the British government's concern at what he called the "victimization" of the nationals "on unsubstantiated charges such as sabotage, negligence and anti-democratic sentiments."

He said the removal of key men such as engineers was bound to cause a serious fall in ooutput.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin is considering what action to take in the matter, Mr. McNeil added.

Queen 'Glad To See' Eva, If She Comes

London, July 14 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today that Queen Elizabeth had "intimated" she would be glad to see Mrs. Eva Perón if the Argentine President's wife comes to Britain.

The unsolicited statement was made at a news conference as the Argentine Embassy and British officials awaited Mrs. Perón's decision wether she would carry out her off-again-on-again trip here.

"Although this is not a matter that directly concerns the Foreign Office," the spokesman said, "I can state that her Majesty the Queen has not sent an invitation to Senora Perón to visit this country, but has intimated that if the lady does come to Britain she will be glad to see her."

The statement followed a morning newspaper report saying that the Queen had "invited" Mrs. Perón.

The spokesman said the Queen's views "presumably" were conveyed to Mrs. Perón through the Argentine Embassy.

Mrs. Perón said in Italy Saturday night that she was leaving for Portugal this week. She will go on to Paris, she said, and decide there whether to visit Britain.

Paris Conference Speeds Setup Of Committees for European Aid

PARIS, July 14—(AP) The economic conference's rules committee, swiftly and unanimously approving a final draft to implement the Marshall program, today named Britain, France, Italy, Norway and Holland to the key executive committee for European reconstruction.

The committee also agreed on the membership of four technical sub-committees which will supervise continental cooperation. Britain and France will be represented on all of the sub-groups.

The committees will be presented tomorrow, for formal endorsement, at the third plenary session of the conference. French sources said tomorrow's meeting would be the last plenary session until late August, when the committee work is completed.

The target date for reporting to the United States on the amount of Europe's resources and the needs for American assistance is Sept. 1.

Under the approved setup, the five-nation executive committee would stand at the apex of the new international economic organization, representing the 16 western and southern European nations attending the conference. Russia and eight of her satellites are not present.

The membership of the four technical sub-committees:

Food and agriculture—France, Britain, Denmark, Greece, Eire, Iceland, Italy and Holland.

Steel and iron industries—France, Britain, Luxembourg, Norway and Turkey.

Transport—France, Britain, Belgium, Norway, Portugal, Switzerland and Turkey.

Fuel and power—France, Britain, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Italy, Sweden and Switzerland.

All 16 nations are represented on the economic organization's steering committee, approved yesterday at the second plenary session. The steering group will have general supervisory authority over the executive committee's decisions.

The rules committee voted to establish an international general secretariat for economic cooperation under Claude Bouchinet-Serreulles of France. The secretariat will begin its work Wednesday in the Grand Palais, large exposition hall in the center of Paris.

The absence of Sweden from the executive committee and from all but one of the technical committees aroused speculation among diplomats over whether this was an indication of Swedish reserve toward the new economic organization.

It was noted that Sweden was not on the steel and iron industries committee although steel is one of Sweden's main industries. She was placed on the fuel and power group.

Dutch sources, meanwhile, indicated that the Lowlands would press for inclusion of western Germany in the recovery program.

A Dutch spokesman said Germany always had been the natural hinterland of his country, and that the western occupation zones of Germany must be brought into the 16-nation organization.

One of the first consequences of German participation, he said, would be a joining of the French and the economically merged British and American zones.

Continued Russian interest in the proceedings of the conference was evident both in Paris and Moscow.

Alexander Bogomolov, Russian ambassador to Paris, called on Italian Foreign Minister Sarlo Sforza at the Italian embassy here. The call was described officially as "a courtesy visit."

The Russian embassy's counsellor, Fedor Vidiassov, who doubles as press attache, protested to the French foreign ministry against what he said was discrimination against Tass, the official Soviet news agency, in the distribution of conference press credentials.

Tass, like all foreign agencies, was given one card to attend the conference plenary sessions. Vidiassov said American correspondents, who work for various agencies and newspapers, were more adequately represented than Russian reporters.

Parley Names Five-Nations Committee

Paris, July 14 (AP)—France, Britain, Italy, Norway and the Netherlands were chosen by the sixteen nations' rules committee today as members of an executive committee to supervise the operation of the Marshall proposal for European recovery.

The rules committee completed a draft plan for organizing the economic recovery along lines laid down by the United States Secretary of State. The recommendations will be submitted to a plenary session of the conference at 4 P. M. (10 A.M., E.S.T.) tomorrow.

French informants said the rules committee also had agreed upon four subcommittees which will assess European resources for self-help before making a bid for United States financial aid. It appeared that these committees would be announced at the plenary meeting tomorrow.

Dutch sources indicated the Lowlands would advocate prompt inclusion of Western Germany in the recovery program.

Addition "Inevitable"

A Dutch spokesman said western Germany inevitably must be added to the sixteen-nation organization, embracing all western Europe except Spain and excluding Russia and eight eastern nations under her influence. One of the first consequences of including western Germany, the spokesman suggested, would be a merger of the French with the combined American-British occupation zones.

The Dutch informant said representatives of Benelux—the Belgian, Netherlands and Luxembourg customs union—would ask for a general statement defining the lines along which the conference will work, including clarification of economic policy toward Germany.

The conference voted yesterday to request commanders in chief of all four German occuupation zones, including the Russian, to supply statistics needed for any integrated recovery plan. [European economy for generations has been dependent on the coal and heavy industries of western Germany.]

Russ Interest Evident

Swedish spokesman showed considerable interest in an article in Izvestia, the official Russian Government organ, asserting that "American capital penetrating Sweden is not limiting itself to industry and trade, but is extending itself to the questions of Sweden's political organization."

Perhaps mindful of the Izvestia article, those Swedes who talked reiterated that Swedish participation in the conference was strictly on an economic and financial plane.

Russian interest in the conference was evident, despite the Kremlin's displeasure. Russian Ambassador Alexandre Bogomolov made an unexplained call on Italian Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza, chief of the Italian delegation.

Italy remains under direction of the Allied Control Council, which includes Russia, the only ally which has not ratified the Italian peace treaty.

Entertained By Caffery

While the United States is not participating in the conference and there has been no hint of Washington influence in the deliberations, the friendly interest of the American Government was manifested last night when delegation heads of the sixteen nations represented here were entertained at dinner by United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery.

Caffery was reported to have talked informally with the delegates, many of whom are eager to know more precisely what the United States is prepared to do to give practical effect to the Marshall plan.

All Represented

The dinner followed a plenary session at which the conference adopted unanimously a rules committee report setting up a steering committee, an executive committee and four technical subcommittees which will handle food, metal industries, transport and feul and power.

It was decided that each of the sixteen states should be represented on the steering committee. The size of the other committees was not specified.

The conference also decided yesterday that its report on Europe's needs and resources should be ready for submission to the American Government by September 1 and agreed that the recovery program should be set up on a four-year basis.

In deciding that all nations attending the sessions should be represented on the steering committee, the conference reserved places for "all other European states which declare themselves willing to participate in its work."

The conference thereby left the door open for Russia or any of her satellites to take part in the program.

The possibility of this development, however, appeared more remote than ever as the Russian press and radio continued attacks on the Marshall plan and Moscow further cemented its economic ties with the smaller nations in the Soviet orbit.

Austrians Fight Cleavage

PARIS, July 14 (AP).—Spokesmen for the Austrian delegation to the Paris economic conference said today their country hoped to maintain historical relations with the East.

"We, as an occupied country, know the difficulties of being split into compartments," a spokesman said, "and we want certainly to prevent any sharp division of all Europe. We need both the East and West."

Ernst Lemberger, a member of the delegation, said that although Austria appeared to be a dreary place, "prospects for a fine recovery in a reasonable number of years are actually very good." He said Austria needed food, German coal, capital and machines, and, "if we are able to work properly," we shall have surpluses of electric power, wood, wood and paper products and certain ores."

Discrimination on Tass Charged

PARIS, July 14 (AP).—The Russian Embassy counselor, Fedor Vidiassov, who doubles as press attaché, protested to the French Foreign Ministry against what he said was discrimination against Tass, the official Soviet news agency, in the distribution of conference press credentials.

Tass, like all foreign agencies, received one card to attend the conference plenary sessions. Mr. Vidiassov said United States correspondents, who work for various agencies and newspapers, were more adequately represented than Russian reporters.

Bastille Day Sees U.S. Cummunists

Paris, July 14 (AP)—More than 1,000 Communists from Britain, Canada and the United States marched in a Bastille Day parade here today with their French comrades.

Marching behind a 30-foot banner that proclaimed, "Make friends with our Allies and don't submit to dollar imperialism," 750 Communists from Britain clasped their right hands into fists and held them high in salute. Throngs along the curb screamed "Comrades Anglais."

A contingent of about 250 Canadian and American Communists was made up mostly of students taking summer courses here.

Celebrating the one hundred and fifty-eighth anniversary of the storming of the Bastille, the parade formed in the Place de la Bastille and marched about a mile to the Place de la Republique.

Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, in a Bastille Day address broadcast to the French nation tonight, said Britain and France were firmly resolved to work together, "not to dominate others, but to co-operate with everyone."

"Be of good cheer," he said, "the future is with those who love and live for liberty."

ITALY'S NAVY REMNANTS START ON MANEUVERS

ROME, July 14—(AP) The remains of Italy's navy, once one of the world's biggest, left various ports in Italy today for the first summer maneuvers since Italy surrendered in September, 1943.

Led by the aged, small battleship, Duilio, 15 other units, mostly torpedo boats and corvettes, swung away from berths for a one-month Mediterranean cruise.

During the cruise they will meet an American squadron at the Sardinian naval base, La Maddalena, for an "exchange of courtesies," an unofficial announcement said.

By the terms of the Italian peace treaty all of the Italian fleet's surviving new, big ships, including such units as the 35,000-ton battleships Italia and Vittorio Veneto, are to be handed over to the allies as war booty.

The treaty leaves Italy two old battleships, four cruisers, four destroyers, and a covey of corvettes, torpedo boats and service ships.

HARRIMAN REACHES ROME

Says European Problems 'All Boil Down to Wheat, Coal'

ROME, July 14 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman said today that his survey of European economic problems indicated that "they all boil down to wheat and coal."

Mr. Harriman, who said the trip to Europe had been planned before the Marshall proposal was made, flew here yesterday from London at the invitation of Ambassador James C. Dunn. "America is most anxious to help Italy," he said. He said information he took home with him would naturally be used in assessing "any proposals" made to the United States as a result of the Paris economic conference.

American, Briton Held On Trieste Money Charge

ROME, July 14 (AP).—A spokesman for the Allied Military Government in Trieste said today that charges of illegal possession of American, British or Swiss currency had been preferred against one American officer and one British officer.

The spokesman, Major George Bowlby, A. M. G. public relations officer, said the American was identified as Major E. H. Richardson, of Wayne, Pa., "until recently" chief public works officer for the A. M. G. in Venezia Giulia. Major Richardson, he said, was charged with illegal possession of American currency.

Major Bowlby identified the Briton as Major J. R. Squire, also "until recently" a member of the A. M. G.'s public works division. Major Squire, Major Bowlby said, was charged with illegal possession of British and Swiss currency.

Pact Is Foreseen On Empire Trade

Geneva, July 14 (AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the British Board of Trade, said today that "decision can and will be reached" on differences between the United States and the United Kingdom on the empire trade preferential system.

He told a news conference that he had conferred here with William L. Clayton, United States Under Secretary of State for economic affairs.

The United States delegation at the international trade talks has been asking for drastic revision of Britain's preferential system in favor of America's exporters. Australia has asked reduction of United States woo' import duties.

U. N. BOARD ZONAL TIE IS FOUGHT BY RUSSIAN

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 14 (AP) — Valerian A. Zorin of Russia lashed at the Western powers today in the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe while seeking to block direct contact between the commission and the individual occupation zones of Germany.

The commission's debate on a draft resolution that would authorize the Executive Secretary to open offices at the headquarters of each zone as well as in Berlin was adjourned until tomorrow after Mr. Zorin had described it as "an attempt to confirm the division of Germany and of Europe * * * which is being sought by certain powers."

In a speech before a plenary session, he maintained that the commission should deal only with the central authority in Germany, the four-power Allied Control Commission. He said direct contact with zonal headquarters might "lead to most undesirable political consequences for this commission."

Britain, France and the United States supported the resolution and disputed Mr. Zorin's contention that they aimed at the division of Germany.

Direct liaison between the commission and zonal authorities, said Paul A. Porter, the United States delegate, is necessary because, pending the treatment of German economic problems on an all-Germany basis, it is possible to act only on a zonal or bi-zonal basis.

"Effective collaboration between the commission and the zonal authorities of Germany for the purpose of furthering trade could itself be a factor leading to the unity of Germany," he said.

Talks on U.S. Shipments Via Lowlands Will Open

BERLIN, July 14 (AP).—A delegation of officials of the American and British Military Governments will leave tomorrow night for The Hague to open negotiations with the Dutch and Belgian governments on proposals for diverting some American shipments for Germany via the ports of Rotterdam and Amsterdam.

The conference, opening Wednesday, will seek to put into specific terms a decision by the State Department to use ports in the low countries for some supply shipments, instead of Bremen and Hamburg.

The Dutch and Belgians have long sought to obtain some of this freight for their ports, which in pre-war years handled huge volumes of German commerce, but the American Military Government has argued that it had no funds to spend for port costs. Now, according to Washington reports, the governments of the low countries have offered to bear whatever extra expenses are involved in using their ports for such shipments.

Assails Anglo-U. S. Talks on Ruhr

Berlin, July 14 (A. P.).—The Russian-controlled newspaper Nacht Express today attacked the forthcoming Anglo-American conferences in Washington to discuss means of increasing coal production in the Ruhr.

"Why hold these conferences regarding the Ruhr in Washington?" it asked. "And why are not representatives of the other occupying powers (Russia and France) and German experts admitted to such discussions?"

Report On Reich Refugee Rush Scheduled

Munich, July 14 (AP)—The American Military Government, openly concerned over a mass flight of Germans from the Russian occupation zone into Bavaria, drafted today a report on the situation for submission to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States theater commander.

"We are aware of the seriousness of the situation," said L. M. Miniclier, public welfare chief for the AMG in Bavaria, who declared that, while Bavarian officials sympathized with the refugees, they were faced with a major problem to provide food and shelter.

30,000 Have Entered

In the past two months about 30,000 refugees have entered Bavaria, according to Dr. Adolf Uhsler, assistant commissioner for refugees in the German administration.

Last week military authorities sent 1,200 back to the Soviet zone, but the influx continued at an unabated pace. Many said they left the Russian zone because they feared they would be shipped into Russia to labor in mines or factories.

Some of the refugees said that all former German soldiers in the Russian zone now were being registered. They added that they saw men in Wehrmacht uniforms being marched through several communities under Soviet guard. Many are working in uranium mines at Overschlema, Saxony, they asserted.

Hoxha Blames U. S., Britain in Greek Incident

Premier Sees a 'Ruthless' Struggle Against Albany and Aim of a New War

BELGRADE, July 14 (AP).—General Enver Hoxha, Communist Premier of Albania, declared today at Tirana that Greek-Albanian border incidents "are part of a general anti-democratic plan of Anglo-American reactionaries whose aim is to bring about a new war, recommended by Truman's doctrine."

Premier Hoxha spoke before the Albanian National Assembly. He declared his government had documents testifying that certain American and British representatives had made preparations to overthrow his regime. He charged that the Americans and Britons (who were not mentioned by name) were conducting a "ruthless struggle against Albania and the justified, correct policy of Albania."

Referring to Albania's refusal to participate in the Paris conference, General Hoxha denounced the Marshall plan as a second Truman doctrine of "dollar policy and enslavement." He said his government was in the process of drafting a five-year plan for Albania.

He complained that the United States and Britain did not recognize Albania diplomatically. "Were Quislings and Fascists in power these countries would undoubtedly recognize Albania," he stated.

Referring to the two British warships damaged by mines in Corfu Strait, off Albania, General Hoxha charged that British vessels or "their servants in Athens" laid the mines. He asserted that Albania neither had mines nor the means of laying them.

[The Moscow radio said Premier Hoxha arrived Monday in the Soviet capital, where he was met by Foreign Miniter Vlacheslav M. Molotov.]

Poles Sentence 5 for Rumors

WARSAW, July 14 (AP).—The semi-official newspaper "Rzeczpolita" said today military tribunals had sentenced five persons to from two to five years in prison for circulating rumors that Russia planned to seize the ministry of posts and telegraphs and take over the entire Polish government.

Scandinavian Economic 'Aim' Of U.S. Irks Russ

Moscow, July 14 (AP)—Pravda accused the United States today of seeking economic domination over Scandinavia and trying to hinder Sweden, Norway and Denmark from developing "normal relations" with eastern Europe.

"Unquestionably, loans and credits offered by a transoceanic power serve as the goal of economic control of the United States of America over the internal affairs of these countries," said the Pravda writer, Pavel Ryssakov. "There is also a powerful demand that they deviate in their development of normal relations with the states of eastern Europe.

Shifted From Europe, He Says

"These are exactly the terms on which $100,000,000 was proposed recently to Norway. Judging from press reports, the Norwegians found sufficient prudence to look rather coolly upon the proposition."

Ryssakov said that before the war the foreign trade of the three northern nations was "principally European," but declared it was "now American."

"The import operations of Sweden have lost their former European character," Pravda said. "Almost the same can be said of Denmark and Norway, but in a lesser degree so far. In comparison with the prewar period, the total capacity of American export to Norway has increased three times and to Denmark it has more than doubled."

Soviet Disputes Harmony

MOSCOW, July 14 (AP)—A Tass dispatch from Paris declared today the British and French were trying to give the impression that 'harmony prevails" at the Marshall aid-Europe conference.

The official Russian news agency said the French and British were "guarding with real diligence the real turn of events there."

Tass said journalistic circles in Paris were attributing much significance to the statements of the Scandinavian countries yesterday expressing opposition to any political implications in the Marshall plan and saying they desired economic cooperation but nothing more.

The Scandinavian countries got more attention today in Pravda, the official Communist newspaper, which reiterated charges made by Izvestia yesterday that the United States was seeking economic domination over Norway, Denmark and Sweden.

Foreign missions in Moscow were watching closely the continuing criticism in the Soviet press of the Marshall plan, and sending reports to their capitals on the Russian attitude.

Tass charged that the British and French were trying to control the business of the conference or at least put it in "narrow hands." The agency said a British-French attempt to eliminate debate failed because the Scandinavian nations "asked questions."

Hoxha In Moscow

Moscow, July 14 (AP)—Gen. Enver Hoxha, Communist premier of Albania, arrived here today for conferences with Russian government leaders, leading to speculation the two nations soon would be bound by tighter economic and political ties.

Some sources predicted a trade agreement between Albania and Russia might result from Hoxha's visit. The Albanian was met at the airport by a large delegation of Russian officials, headed by Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Foreign Minister.

Palestine Area Placed Under Military Rule

Jerusalem, July 14 (AP)—Military rule was clamped down tonight on 10,000 to 14,000 persons in the Natanya area to facilitate the search for two British Army sergeants kidnapped early Saturday by Irgun Zvai Leumi, a Jewish underground organization.

A communiqué said: "It has now been decided that this area shall be a controlled area. . . . This has been done to facilitate a thorough searching of the area and to prevent further activities of this nature within it."

A curfew was imposed immediately, officials said, for the "first hours" of the operation.

Effect Of Order

The term "controlled area" describes a district subject to imiltary rule, with all normal services such postal, banking and telephone denied the population.

Earlier Irgun defied the British Army and police to free the two sergeants it boasted of seizing and confining as hostages for three Irgunists under death sentence.

The Irgun announcement said the sergeants were unharmed and in a place where they can be kept a month or more."

The sergeants—Clifford Martin and Mervin Paice—were abducted from in front of a Natanya cafe.

Tonight's deadline was the third the British have announced since the kidnapping occurred Saturday.

Binational State Urged

Dr. J. L. Magnes, president of the Hebrew University, proposed today to the United Nations Palestine Committee the establishment of a binational state where Jews and Arabs would have "equal political powers, regardless of who is the majority or minority."

"We have no belief in partition for many reasons—religious, historical and political," said Magnes. "Indeed, we regard partition as not only impracticable, but . . . as a great misfortune for both Jews and Arabs."

Magnes asserted that binationalism had never been "given a chance."

"Neither the British Government nor Jewish and Arab leaders have ever made a determined and systematic attempt to make Jewish and Arab co-operation the chief objective of a major policy," Magnes contended.

Equal Representation Urged

In the beginning, Magnes said, binationalism would call for political parity—equal representation in the Government, with a provision made for ending deadlocks.

On immigration, which he termed "in many ways the crux of the situation," he suggested that the Jews be permitted to reach numerical parity by bringing in approximately 600,000. He added that Jewish immigration should be regulated to the country's ecnomoic absorptive capacity, which should be enlarged by an ambitious development plan.

Immigration should begin, he added, with "the rapid admission of the 100,000 displaced persons about whom President Truman first talked almost two years ago." He added that children should be given priority. Further immigration to achieve numerical parity would come from North Africa, Romania and Hungary, he said.

Proposed System

Asked by Chairman Emil Sandstroem how binationalism would operate territorially, Magnes said the English county or Swiss canton system would be used. There would be Arab and Jew counties and in some cases mixed counties, he said.

"Partition," he said, "would put the Jews in one compartment of an insane house and the Arabs in another. What we propose is to bridge the building between the groups, which should have been the task of the mandatory power and will be the task of those framing Palestine's future."

ARMY RULES OVER NATANYA

British Reject Mayor's Plea Against Martial Law

Jerusalem, July 14 (AP)—The British imposed military rule tonight on the Natanya area in an effort to find two army sergeants kidnapped by Irgun Zvai Leumi as hostages for three members of the Jewish underground organization under sentence of death.

The British rejected a last-minute appeal from the Mayor of Natanya against military rule, which the mayor said would amount to "catastrophe" for the 10,000 to 14,000 persons in the coastal area.

5,000 Troops Circle Area

Approximately 5,000 British troops put a ring of arms around an area of approximately 200 square miles on the coastal plain in an attempt to find the two sergeants, who were kidnapped from in front of a cafe in the diamond center town of Natanya early Saturday.

Irgun issued an announcement saying the sergeants were unharmed, and defied the British to find them. Irgun said they were in a place "where they can be kept for a month or more."

The official communiqué establishing military rule cited five additional instances of terrorist activity in the Natanya area and added that "it has now been decided that the area shall be a controlled area. . . . This has been done to facilitate a thorough searching of the area to prevent further activities of this nature within it."

House-To-House Curfew

A house-to-house curfew was imposed for "the first hours" of the military operation, under which such normal services as postal, banking and telephone are denied the population.

Shipments of food in an out of the area were baned except by the military. Earlier extra food supplies had been taken into Natanya, which is also a sea resort town.

The controlled area measures 6 miles long and four miles across at the widest point.

Chinese Admit Red Drive On Arms Base

Nanking, July 14 (AP)—A Communist drive through southern Shantung toward Suchow, Government military center for all East China, was reported today as the Government acknowledged the loss of Taian, strategic rail town to the north.

Field reports said 20,000 Communists were converging on Taierchuang, 35 miles northeast of Suchow. The Communist radio yesterday reported the capture of Tsaochuang and Yihsien, 44 and 37 miles, respectively, northeast of the military base.

The first official word of the loss of Taian, 33 miles south of Tsinan, Shantung capital, was contained in a Government news agency dispatch that said the city might be retaken "within a short time." A dispatch to the army organ Peace Daily said Nationalist troops had reached the suburbs of Taian yesterday and might recapture the town today.

Moving On Coal Area

The Government announced a victory today—the recovery of Feicheng, rail town 35 miles southwest of Tsinan. Other dispatches said seven Red detachments of unknown strength were moving toward the important Poshan coal-mining area 50 miles east of Tsinan.

Renewed military activity was reported in the inland province of Shansi. Gen. Kuo Tsung-fen, chief of staff of Nationalist headquarters at besieged Taiyuan, provincial capital, said sufficient supplies had been flown in to permit Government troops to open an offensive.

News Ban On Student Groups

In Shanghai, the Chinese Newspaper Association notified the press of an official ban on news concerning the National Student Federation of China and the Shanghai Student Union. City police and the Bureau of Social Welfare were quoted as saying that the two groups were "not legally recognized organizations" and that the Ministries of Education and Social Affairs had prohibited the publication of news about them.

Meanwhile, the National Student Federation distributed a statement by mail opposing continuation of the civil war, the issue which brought widespread demonstrations by students last spring. The statement urged all students to shout such slogans as "Oppose hunger, fight for existence," "Oppose the civil war, fight for peace," and "Oppose oppression, fight for liberty."

ADVANCE IMPERILS CHINA ARMY BASE

Communists Converge On Town Near Suchow

Nanking, July 14 (AP)—A critical Communist threat to Suchow, Government military headquarters for East-Central China, was acknowledged today by Nationalist Chinese newspaper dispatches from the field.

These said 20,000 Communist troops were converging on Taierchuang, 35 miles northeast of Suchow. Heavy fighting was reported on a broad, broken front stretching northward almost to the gates of Tsinan, Shantung provincial capital 165 miles to the north.

Concedes Loss Of Taian

The official Chinese Central News Agency also conceded Communist capture of Taian, 33 miles southeast of Tsinan. That strategically-situated railway town has changed hands three times in recent months. The Communists said they had taken it four days ago.

Typical of the seesaw conflict, both sides announced today capture of Feicheng, 35 miles southwest of Tsinan. The Communists said they took it last Thursday. The Government reported its recapture at an unspecified date.

Shanghai Russians Balk At Going Home

Shanghai, July 14 (AP)—A few Russian residents who had registered for repatriation to Russia have changed their minds, they said today, because they were told they would have to take whatever jobs were assigned them in the Soviet Union.

The repatriation from China is scheduled to begin in August. Soviet authorities have been giving priority to doctors, engineers and other professional and technical men.

One hotel manager here who has canceled his registration said some others (without technical skills) also had done so.

"I am not going to be a road mender or anything like that," he explained.

Disk Lands In —Black Mart

Shanghai, July 14 (AP)—Among Chinese reports of dazzling flying saucers and some even made of jade, one man said today he had seen a disk land on the Shanghai Bund.

When he reached the scene, the Chinese told newspapers, the saucer already had disappeared into the black market.

North China News Agency said crowds of Chinese near the summer palace in Peiping's suburbs reported seeing "an enormous saucer emitting bright beams in all directions and dazzling the eyes of all who saw it."

MacArthur Chooses Milwaukee For His Home After He Retires

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Tuesday, July 15.—General Douglas MacArthur wants to settle down in Milwaukee upon his retirement, after conclusion of a Japanese peace treaty, which he expects to be signed within eighteen months.

His announcement, made personally Monday afternoon to a group of visiting editors, was the first indication that the Allied Supreme Commander does not intend to return to Manila when he retires—a frequent rumor here. He lived in Milwaukee as a schoolboy.

During his meeting with the editors yesterday, General MacArthur discussed the occupation situation in great detail, but in confidence.

Reminiscing about Milwaukee, he recalled that it was while he was living there that he took the entrance examinations for West Point. He mentioned his close ties to the city.

Mrs. MacArthur also discussed the future, and told some of the editors during luncheon that the general probably would select some place in the United States to live when he retires.

"After all, we are Americans," she added.

The MacArthurs have not been in the United States for nearly ten years. During much of that period, their lives have been interwoven with the Philippines. Before then, General MacArthur passed two tours of duty in the islands.

He has announced repeatedly he would not return until his job in Japan is finished. In a recent written interview with an American correspondent he further defined that time element by saying he would remain on the job until after a Japanese peace treaty is signed. He repeated this to the visiting editors.

On earlier occasions, he has said he expects the treaty to be signed within a year or eighteen months.

Called "Favorite Son"

MILWAUKEE, July 14 (AP).—The Wisconsin MacArthur for President Club is "very happy" to hear the General expects to settle down in Milwaukee when he retires.

Lansing Hoyt, chairman, said tonight the announcement from Tokyo indicated General MacArthur would be a candidate in 1948. He declared the General would be the "favorite son" of the Wisconsin delegation at the Republican convention.

"I'm positive he will be available, because he has never refused to accept the call of duty," Mr. Hoyt said.

Mr. Hoyt added he had learned from a "source on the highest level in Tokyo" that General MacArthur would accept the nomination.

General MacArthur was born in Little Rock, Ark., but came to Milwaukee with his mother in 1898. His father, Lieutenant General Arthur MacArthur, then was commander of the United States Army in the Philippines. His grandfather, Judge Arthur MacArthur, was city attorney here and later became Governor of Wisconsin.

Police Ban Welcome For Wife Of Brooke

Singapore, July 14 (AP)—Police banned anti-British demonstrations which had been planned as a welcome today for Mrs. Anthony Brooke, wife of the former "Crown Prince" of Sarawak, on her arrival by plane from England.

Members of the United Sarawak Nationalist Association had sought permission to hold a parade and exhibit banners demanding the return of Brooke rule to Sarawak, now under British control.

Acting Police Commissioner E. V. Fowler said permission was denied because it would be a "demonstration against a Government which is friendly to us."

Supporters of the organziation said they would erect their banners within the grounds of "Sarawak Lodge," home of Brooke who has been living here since the Sarawak Government denied him entry last April as an "undesirable person."

IRAN INDICATES BAN ON RUSSIAN OIL DEAL

TEHERAN, Iran, July 14 (AP)—A spokesman for the Iranian Foreign Office said today that defeat was "certain" for the proposed Russo-Iranian oil company when it comes before the Parliament, which will convene Thursday.

The proposed concession to permit the Russians to share in exploration of northern Iranian oil resources was assessed generally as a "dead duck."

Agreement to establish a Russian-controlled oil company in the north was reached more than a year ago when Russian troops were occupying the northern Iran province of Azerbaijan. The agreement was subject to approval of the Iranian Parliament.

Instead of the oil pact, the chief issue before the Parliament was expected to be foreign credit for public improvements and modernization of the national economy.

"We are asking a $250,000,000 loan from the International Bank, of which we are a member," said a Cabinet member. "We propose to liquidate that debt in thirty-five years from oil royalties."

Iran, fourth greatest oil-producing country in the world, now receives $7,000,000 annually in royalties from the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

In addition to the International Bank loan application, Iran has applied successfully for a $30,000,000 military credit from the United States Government.

One Cabinet member in support of the loans said that "Iran has now definitely cast her lot with the western democracies and is ready to pattern her way of life on western lines."

Although the present government may hold power constitutionally until Aug. 7, observers said the Premier might resign before that time. In that event, President Shukri al Kuwatly is expected to ask him to form another government.

Government leaders who must enter the run-offs include Avaid Sharabati, Defense Minister; Adnan Attassi, Public Works Minister; Dr. Hikmat Hakim, National Economy Minister; former Premier Lutfi Haffar; Nabih Asmeh, National party leader, and Agmad Khalil Moudarres, all are members of the National party.

Evatt left Sydney by ship July 11 and is due in Tokyo the end of this month.

Chifley told a news conference that "you can forget all suggestions that Evatt is going to Japan to quarrel with General MacArthur."

"We have, of course, our differences of opinion," Chifley said, "but you can dismiss any suggestion of friction."

Australia recently protested decisions by MacArthur permitting the Japanese to send a second whaling expedition to the Antarctic and to mine phosphates on Anguar Island.

Argentine Italians Deny Migrants Are Laborers

BUENOS AIRES, July 13 (AP).—Sources in the Italian colony here said Sunday the Italian immigrants who arrived here recently were "almost exclusively' professional men, but that later groups would be the trained workers Argentina wanted.

"Italia Libre," a weekly newspaper, said that nearly all the first group were chosen through the influence of leaders of the Italian Christian Democratic party, the clergy or members of the Argentine Commission which went to Italy to arrange for the movement of immigrants. It said professional men had been "captiously" classified as farmers, electricians or skilled aviation workers.

Soon after the first group arrived on the steamship Santa Fe, Adolfo Scilingo, co-director of the Argentine mission at Rome, was dismissed from the diplomatic corps for "administrative reasons." A few days later the Rev. Clemente Silva, the other co-director, resigned.

U.S. MUST PROTECT 'STAKE' IN EUROPE, MARSHALL WARNS

More Aid Needed or Continent Will Forsake Democracy, He Tells Governors.

WARNS OF RED THREAT

Says America at Turning Point in 'Its Relations with Traditional Friends.'

SALT LAKE CITY, July 14—(AP) Secretary of State Marshall declared tonight the United States must protect its "incalculable stake" in Europe by enlarged economic aid or see that continent turn away from democracy.

The cabinet member, addressing the annual state dinner of the governors' conference, said this country now stands at a "turning point" in its relations with the rest of the world.

"There is no blinking the fact," he said in a prepared manuscript, "that this country now stands at a turning point in its relations to its traditional friends among the nations of the old world."

Asks Support for Plan

Calling on the governors for their support of the economic rehabilitation plan he has proposed for Europe, Marshall did not mention Russia by name in his address.

But he told the state executives' gathering that either the United States must "finish the task" of helping European countries get on their feet again or "reconcile" itself to a drift in government among those nations away from principles consistent with democracy.

He said the rehabilitation program which is expected to be proposed late this year for congressional consideration in January would be "fully consistent with our own national interests and yet equally considerate of the incalculable stake which this country has in the preservation of European civilization."

3024-10913

The secretary said many contended that previous efforts to aid European countries were "piecemeal and certainly not fully effective."

Calling attention to the efforts of 16 nations to draft an economic blueprint at the current Paris conference, the secretary of State said he hopes Americans can "avoid prejudiced viewpoints" in their judgments on the proposals to be forthcoming.

Urges Understanding

He called for a "keen and sympathetic understanding for the efforts now under way in Europe to overcome the limitations of national barriers in the approach to a solution for common economic problems."

Marshall made no specific proposals for Germany, a point on which Moscow has been acridly critical. The Soviets have charged that any effort to include the Ruhr in what they have called a "western bloc" economic unit would involve a violation of the Potsdam agreement.

Outlining the difficulties which have confronted him in the turbulent diplomatic exchanges in the last few months, Marshall urged the governors to help form public opinion behind the nation's foreign policy.

Alluding to America's relations with its "traditional friends" of the old world, Marshall told the governors:

"Either it (the United States) must finish the task of assisting these countries to adjust themselves to the changed demands of a new age, or it must reconcile itself to seeing them move in directions which are consistent neither with their own traditions nor with those of this country.

"In this latter case, the United States would be faced with a radical alteration of its own position [illegible]. I ask you to consi[illegible]fully the implication o[illegible]elopment for the future [illegible] and security of our c[illegible]

Ma[illegible] there are many who [illegible]t as to the course this na[illegible]ld now pursue.

Rea[illegible] Understandable

"They [illegible]t the aid granted thus far t[illegible]countries of Europe has been [illegible]meal and certainly not fully [illegible]ctive," the cabinet member se[illegible] "And they wonder whether we [illegible] pursuing the right course.

"These rea[illegible]ons are understandable. It is t[illegible] that the efforts to put Europe[illegible] countries back on their feet h[illegible] thus far been largely to meet a series of crises and therefore of a somewhat disjointed character. It is also true that they have not accomplished all of the tasks which it was hoped they would accomplish, though I think they have been far more beneficial than is generally realized.

"The uncertainties of the postwar period made it difficult to predict developments and coordinate approaches to Europe's problems, Marshall said.

He added that it is now possible to calculate more exactly the needs which must be met and the sources from which help will be forthcoming.

"Furthermore," he declared, "the urgent need for a carefully coordinated European effort is now widely recognized."

Vital to All Americans

Noting that studies are under way in Washington of "the various possible solutions from the standpoint of the interests of the United States," Marshall told the governors that "whatever course is adopted will affect the lives and fortunes of people in every state of the union."

He said that to make up its mind the country will need facts of the sort that should come out of the Paris meeting and studies of domestic resources now being made by three committees appointed by President Truman.

"With the facts before them," he declared, "I am confident of the response of the American people."

Then addressing the governors directly, Marshall said:

"With your help I feel it will be possible for our government to find a course of action fully consistent with our own national interests and yet equally considerate of the incalculable stake which this country has in the preservation of European civilization."

Marshall listed as his "greatest problem" the necessity of bringing the American public "to a general understanding of the conditions involved at home and abroad which influence all negotiations and therefore all efforts to reestablish the peace and prosperity of the world."

He suffered, Marshall hinted, at being confined to couching his statements in diplomatic language. Unless one is a master of the English language such as former Prime Minister Churchill, Marshall observed that "it is very difficult to combine these requirements with the urgent necessity of making impressively clear to the ordinary citizen the matters under discussion.

For that reason he said he welcomed the opportunity to meet with the governors as he did during the war but did not like the "obligation to make a formal public statement."

"If it had been practicable for me to talk to you off the record and in great confidence," he said "there is much I would like to discuss with you. However, I must confine myself to the niceties of the time and the occasion."

Governors Back Foreign Policy

The secretary's visit found the governors apparently united in support of the nation's over-all foreign policy, although there were sharp differences between Republican and Democratic executives on domestic political issues.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, Ohio Republican, seemingly voiced the sentiment of most of his colleagues when he told reporters he thinks that the operation of the bipartisan foreign policy has "washed out" international issues as far as the coming presidential campaign is concerned.

There were differing opinions among the Democrats and Republicans, however, over many other matters.

Sees Taxes Prime Issue

Gov. Frank Carlson, Kansas Republican, said he is certain a majority of the people of the country want federal tax reduction. He forecast that this will become a prime 1948 issue if President Truman's expected veto of the income tax cutting bill is sustained in Congress.

Gov. Maw, Utah Democrat who is host for the conference, told a reporter he thinks passage of the Taft-Hartley labor bill has "united labor against the Republican party." He said that unless House cuts in reclamation funds are restored by Congress, that will be a "major issue" in the west.

Gov. Horace A. Hildreth, Maine Republican, expressed the view that the outcome of the presidential race will be determined by "not whether, but how far, to the right the country is going in 1948." He said he thinks the trend is away from the Democrats to the Republicans.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, New York Republican, who generally seemed to be accorded a leading position in the race for the GOP presidential nomination, presided over a tax round table highlighting today's sessions.
